MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:16 their disciples. Just as Jesus had disciples, so also did other famous religious figures, such as John the Baptist (9:14; 11:2) and, in this case, the Pharisees. Herodians. See p 1557. way of God. See p 844. not swayed by appearances. Excessive and insincere flattery that frames this question is intended to disarm Jesus and set Him up for a fall.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:17 See note, Lk 20:22.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:18 hypocrites? See note, Lk 6:42.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:19–20 Coin minted by Rome for paying this tax bore the image of Tiberius Caesar and identified him as "son of the divine Augustus." Ironically, the question was put to Jesus, the true Son of God. The fact that they possessed this coin tacitly acknowledged Caesar's rule.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:21 Jesus here distinguishes the two realms—the civil and the heavenly—under which all believers live. Though our first allegiance is always to God (Ac 5:29), we are also bound to obey the legitimate civil authorities God has established (Rm 13:1–7). Luth: "It is the duty and obligation of those who participate in this earthly regime to administer law and punishment, to maintain the distinctions that exist among ranks and persons, to manage and distribute property…. But the Gospel does not trouble itself with these matters. It teaches about the right relation of the heart to God" (AE 21:108).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:15–22 Jesus' followers owe loyalty and obedience not only to Him, but also to the human rulers that God Himself has established. Though Christians may be tempted to avoid taxes and shirk civic responsibilities, they must "render to Caesar." Civil authority and good governmental leaders are beneficial means whereby God blesses us. • "Thou who art ever nigh, Guarding with watchful eye, To Thee aloud we cry: God save the State!" Amen. (LSB 965:2)
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:23 Sadducees. See p 1557.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:24 Moses said. Sadducees held only the five Books of Moses to be authoritative. Accordingly, they choose a Mosaic passage (Dt 25:5–6) as the basis for a hypothetical question.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:25–28 Sadducees' drawn-out question is absurd. Who can imagine a woman being widowed by seven men, much less seven brothers?
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:28 By asking such a far-fetched question, the Sadducees mock belief in the resurrection.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:29 Jesus immediately exposes their hypocrisy. They ask such a thing because they fail to believe in God's power to raise the dead.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:30 Jesus' point is that earthly marriages are no longer binding once one partner dies. Cf Rm 7:1–3. like angels. Comparison. Believers do not become angels after death.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:31–32 See note, Lk 20:37–38.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:33 The crowd's astonished reaction emphasizes the brilliance of Jesus' scriptural interpretation.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:23–33 Jesus vindicates Israel's resurrection hope by masterfully interpreting the Scriptures given them through Moses. Dismissing the bodily resurrection denies the Lord, who promises to raise us from the dead. The God who promised to bring life and immortality to light has fulfilled this promise by raising His Son, our Lord Jesus Christ. • "He lives and grants me daily breath; He lives, and I shall conquer death; He lives my mansion to prepare; He lives to bring me safely there." Amen. (LSB 461:7)
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:34 After Jesus trumped the Sadducees and their trick question (vv 23–33), the Pharisees gathered together (lit, "synagogued") to have another go at Jesus.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:35 lawyer. Expert in religious laws of the Jews; in modern terms, a biblical scholar.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:36 great commandment. God had given the Israelites a great variety of laws, including moral, ceremonial, and civil. Jesus' interrogator asks which of these was the most important.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:37–39 Significantly, Jesus' answer is thoroughly traditional. Luth: "But you may say: Oh, it is utterly impossible for a person to keep these two commandments. Yes, it is impossible for you to keep or perform them. You cannot do it; God must do it in you, for him it is possible" (AE 51:104).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:37–38 First recorded in Dt 6:5, where it follows the great Shema of Israel: "Hear, O Israel: the LORD our God, the LORD is one" (Dt 6:4).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:39 Found in Lv 19:18, amid that book's "holiness code."
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:40 Along with a majority of rabbis of His day, Jesus sees these twin commandments at the heart of the OT revelation. In contrast to the Jewish ceremonial laws, which Christ fulfilled and suspended, these moral commandments remain binding.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:34–40 Jesus avoids another trap set by His opponents, correctly identifying love for God and for neighbor as the two main concerns of the divine Commandments. Among our many sins, none is more grievous than our failure to love God above all else. Thankfully, God does not respond to our selfishness by reciprocating. Instead, He gives us the greatest gift: His only-begotten Son. • "Living God, Your almighty power is made known chiefly in showing mercy and pity. Grant us the fullness of Your grace to lay hold of Your promises and live forever in Your presence; through Jesus Christ." Amen. (LSB Altar Book, p 835)
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:42 son of David. See note, Mk 12:35.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:43–44 in the Spirit. Jesus simply shows that the Holy Spirit inspired David's words (cf 1Pt 1:10–12; 2Tm 3:16) and the heavenly Father applied them to Him. See note, Ps 110:1.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:45 See note, Mk 12:37.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:46 that day. After Monday of Holy Week, Jesus' opponents no longer challenged Him publicly. Reduced to silence, they continued plotting against Him in secret.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 22:41–46 Jesus' authoritative interpretation of the OT proves that the Messiah is not merely human but also divine. While some people accept His humanity, only those who acknowledge Him as Savior and God have the certain hope of salvation. Jesus Christ, God's eternal Son, descended from heaven, assumed our flesh, suffered, died, and rose again, that we might share in His glory. • "Beautiful Savior, Lord of the nations, Son of God and Son of Man! Glory and honor, Praise, adoration Now and forevermore be Thine!" Amen. (LSB 537:4)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON Ch 23 Exasperated at the Pharisees' obstinacy, Jesus makes His last word about them a sustained and scathing condemnation.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:2 sit on Moses' seat. Jesus does not deny that the scribes and Pharisees are Moses' successors and teach with his authority. Granting that, Jesus lambastes them for their miserable stewardship of the sacred duties entrusted to them. See note, Lv 10:11. "The Sacraments and Word are effective because of Christ's institution and command, even if they are administered by evil men" (AC VIII 2).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:3 This command must be understood in light of Jesus' disagreement with, and corrections of, pharisaical teachings elsewhere (e.g., 12:1–8; 15:1–20). Jesus stresses that, insofar as the Pharisees rightly interpret and uphold God's Word, their teaching should be affirmed and followed. At the same time, Jesus warns against their hypocrisy.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:4 Because the Pharisees often went beyond God's commands when they interpreted the Law, Jesus described them as "laying heavy burdens" on the people. See notes, 11:28–30.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:5 phylacteries. Small leather boxes containing Scripture verses. They were tied around one's forehead or arms (see note, Dt 6:8). fringes. Tassels containing blue strands that Jews attached to the corners of their garments to remind them of the Commandments (cf Nu 15:38–40).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:6–8 best seats … greetings … being called rabbi by others. Pharisees flaunted the privileges their teaching office afforded them, misusing them to exploit others. one teacher … brothers. Jesus, of course, is the one authoritative teacher among Christians. Under His headship, all Christians, esp leaders, exhibit fraternal love and respect for others.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:9–10 call no man your father. Not speaking of biological relations. In ancient Judaism, "father" referred to esteemed teachers and the revered dead. Cf 2Ki 2:12; see p 555.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:10 instructors. Gk kathegetes, "one who leads the way." See notes, 8:19; Mk 9:5. Instruction might take place in a group at a school (as today) or through tutoring and mentoring. See notes, Pr 1:2, 8; see also application note, Pr 4. Because Jesus is God's Son, He is the Scripture's ultimate interpreter and revealer of divine things. Only He teaches with full authority.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:11–12 Jesus previously defined greatness in terms of humble service. Here He adds a promise: God will exalt those who humbly serve for His sake. In contrast, the proud will be abased.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:13–36 First of seven "woes." Such woes also appear in the OT prophets (e.g., Am 5:18; Is 5:8–30; Mi 2) and function as a negative counterpart of the Beatitudes (or blessings) Jesus promises throughout Mt (most notably in 5:1–12). The first six woes are presented in pairs of themes (vv 13–15 [proselyte], 16–24 [matters of Law], 25–28 [cleansing]).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:13 woe. See note, Mk 13:17. shut the kingdom of heaven. By demanding a righteousness based on human achievement and by insisting on an obedience to human rather than divine commands. See note, 16:19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:15 travel … to make a single proselyte. Emboldened by the reign of the Maccabees, first-century Judaism was mission-minded, though not as zealous in proselytizing as Christianity. See note, Mk 1:4; see also p 1557. child of hell. The Pharisees' zeal for making converts was laudable, but the content of their preaching was deficient.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:16–22 Jesus refers to His adversaries' practice of swearing by sacred things (e.g., the temple, its gold, the altar) rather than by God's name, so as to avoid breaking the Second Commandment. Jesus dismisses such hypocrisy. See "vow," p 7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:16 blind guides. Ironic, in view of their responsibility to lead Israel (v 2). They could not even recognize the Messiah.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:17 God's presence (1Ki 8:27–30) made the temple holy, not its furnishings. sacred? See "holy," p 7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:18–20 The temple's altar is similarly greater than the gifts placed on it, for it is the source of an offering's holiness. It is the height of presumption to imagine that an offering placed on the altar gives value to God's temple.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:21–22 All such vows ultimately invoke God's name and are to be used cautiously. See "vow," p 7. Jesus warns His followers against making frivolous vows in 5:33–37.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:23 tithe … cumin. Some Pharisees were so scrupulous about tithing that they even gave 10 percent of their garden herbs. See note, Sg 4:13–15. justice … mercy … faithfulness. See pp 842–43. Compared to the Pharisees' failure to keep the weightier portions of the moral law—the commands to act justly and mercifully toward others—their painstaking tithing of garden produce is absurd. without neglecting. Jesus does not condemn their scrupulousness in tithing but rather their failure to act with love and compassion. In other words, the Law of God applies and is good. But God's people live by the full teaching of God's Word—both Law and Gospel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:24 While obsessing over trivial things, they ignore truly weighty matters (cf 15:1–10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:25–26 The Pharisees are more concerned with outward religious observances than with the heart and its unending battle with sin. See notes, Mk 7:3–4, 19–22.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:27–28 Affirms the point made in vv 25–26. A piety that is merely external is like a beautiful tomb. It may look good from the outside, but it is dead within.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:27 whitewashed tombs. Clean, whitewashed limestone facades. See diagram, p 1823. uncleanness. Jewish purity system held that contact with human remains rendered one ceremonially unclean (Nu 19:11). See note, Mk 7:3–4.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:28 Jesus has repeatedly charged His opponents with hypocrisy. This charge of lawlessness is even more serious.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:29–33 As Jesus pronounces this seventh and climactic woe, He completes His denunciation. The charge shifts from hypocrisy and defective observance to rejection of the prophets and violence against them.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:29 build … decorate. Building and adorning the tombs of great people can be a positive thing if it reinforces the good values embodied by those resting within. The Pharisees were not following the prophets' teachings, even as they claimed to honor them.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:30–31 Jesus accuses His opponents of being the spiritual heirs of those who rejected and killed the prophets, as His opponents' words and actions reveal.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:31 The people of Israel had a long history of rejecting and oppressing God's messengers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:32 Sarcasm. Jesus mockingly commands His opponents to do exactly what they ought not to do. This is a tragic recognition that some of Jesus' adversaries are beyond correction.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:33 Repetition highlights the hard-heartedness of those denounced. Only repentance and faith can save such people from eternal condemnation. Cf Jn 3:7.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:34 send. Remarkably, God's gracious revelation was sent first to those who rejected and crucified Jesus (cf Ac 1:1–8:3). prophets … scribes. Jesus includes Himself in this company, along with the apostles He sent (10:5–15). flog. Peter, John, and Paul were flogged by Jewish religious leaders, as were other Christian preachers (Ac 5:40; 2Co 11:23–25).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:35 righteous blood. Many prophets were innocently killed. blood of innocent Abel … Barachiah. I.e., all the prophets, from first to last. between the sanctuary … altar. Cf 2Ch 24:20–22 for the story of this murder in the temple.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:36 upon this generation. In AD 70, the Romans leveled Jerusalem and its magnificent temple. This destruction partially fulfilled Jesus' woes.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:1–36 Jesus criticizes the Pharisees' hypocrisy and obstinacy. Of all the charges that will be laid against God's people on Judgment Day, none is more damning than the accusation that they despised God's Word. Even Jesus' most acrimonious denunciations are motivated by His sincere desire that people turn from sin and death and receive the gift of eternal life. • Lord Jesus, thank You for loving us enough to warn us when we stray from Your Word. Keep us steadfast in Your truth. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:37 Jerusalem, Jerusalem. Jesus begins to direct His words to the entire city. For His double address, see note, Lk 10:41. How often. Indicates that Jesus often visited Jerusalem. Cf Ex 23:17. as a hen gathers her brood. See note, Lk 13:34. you would not! "The human will rejects or perverts the means and instrument of the Holy Spirit, which God offers it through the call" (FC SD XI 41).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:38 Another reference to the destruction of the temple in AD 70.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:39 Different use of the psalm sung earlier (21:1–9). Those who rejected and killed Jesus did not see Him after the resurrection. They will, however, see Him when He returns in glory (Php 2:10–11).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 23:37–39 Just days before His sacrificial death for all people, Jesus laments the fact that so many of His people reject Him and the gift of eternal life. In the end, those who reject Jesus and refuse His offer of eternal life will be judged. Even when hated and rejected by many, Jesus never stopped loving and sincerely reaching out to them. He does the same with us. • Fill us with Your unbounded love, O Lord, that we never cease to love and long for the salvation of all, even for those who revile You and hate us as Your disciples. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON Chs 24–25 Jesus' fifth and final discourse. See "Order and Meaning in the Story," p 1577.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:1 See note, Mk 13:1.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:2 Given the scale and splendor of the Jerusalem temple, Jesus' prediction is all the more astounding. Yet it unfailingly came to pass, under the Roman general Titus, c 40 years later.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:1–2 In response to His disciples' admiring comments about the temple, Jesus predicts its destruction. The things of this world do not endure. All earthly splendor will be forgotten on the Last Day. Understanding the provisional nature of material things leads us to place our highest hopes in the Lord and what He has in store for us in the new heavens and new earth. • You alone are our life and hope, O Lord. Help us to set our hearts and affections on You, for in the end everything else will give way. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:3 Mount of Olives. Just east of the temple, on the opposite bank of the Kidron Valley. See map, p 1584. privately. Jesus taught publicly on many occasions (e.g., 5:1–7:29; 13:1–52). At other times, He revealed things only to His disciples. when. First of the two questions concerns the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple; vv 15–22 hold Jesus' answer. what. Second question involves the end times. Jesus describes the end of the age in vv 4–14 and speaks of His second coming in vv 21–31.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:4 Significantly, the first statement about the end times is a warning against deception. See p 307. Cf v 36, where Jesus teaches that no one can know or calculate when the Last Day will come.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:5 I am the Christ. History has seen many examples of messianic pretenders. Cf Ac 5:35–40.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:6–7 Because geopolitical conflicts and natural disasters are common, they cannot be used to determine the date of the end of the world. The frequency of such signs reminds us that we always need to be prepared for Jesus' return.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:8 Birth pains typically become more frequent and intense as the time of delivery approaches. So also it will be in the end times. The severity and frequency of cataclysmic events will increase.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:9 they. Jesus does not identify those who will persecute His followers. In every generation, of course, there are some who oppose Jesus' cause and so seek to harm His Church. all nations. All peoples. Accordingly, one should not interpret this oracle in exclusively political terms.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:10 fall away. See note, 1Tm 4:1; see also pp 2059–60.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:11 false prophets. Just as an abundance of messianic pretenders have appeared over the centuries, so also many false prophets and subverters of sound doctrine will appear. See note, v 4.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:12 Doctrinal corruption always produces a deterioration of morality and ethics.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:13 Amid His dire predictions about things continually worsening, Jesus offers a word of encouragement: those remaining faithful will be saved. "This does not mean that faith lays hold of righteousness and salvation only in the beginning and then resigns its office to works as though they had to sustain faith, the righteousness received, and salvation. It means that the promise, not only of receiving, but also of retaining righteousness and salvation, is firm and sure to us. St. Paul (Romans 5:2) ascribes to faith not only the entrance to grace, but says that we stand in grace and boast of the future glory. In other words, he credits the beginning, middle, and end to faith alone" (FC SD IV 34).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:14 The world will have the chance to hear the Gospel before Jesus returns in glory. This is not only a testimony to God's all-encompassing grace but also to Jesus' universal lordship and role as judge. On the spread of mission work, see maps, pp 2239–41.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:1–14 Jesus prophesies about things leading up to the end of the world. Today, stories of military conflicts, political intrigues, and natural disasters continue to fill the news. All this should remind us of the nearness of the end of this age. In that we may rejoice!

Though the world is indeed increasingly evil and hostile to God, Christians are ever nearer the great day of Christ's return. • Keep us faithful in a world spinning out of control, Lord Jesus, that in the end, we may receive the salvation You are even now preparing for us. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:15 See note, Mk 13:14. let the reader understand. Matthew provides an editorial comment to underline the significance of the temple's destruction.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:16 Many Christian residents of Judea fled on the eve of the revolt that brought Jerusalem's destruction in AD 70. See note, Lk 21:21.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:17–19 Jesus warns that the inhabitants of Judea will be extremely rushed when they are forced to flee the attacking Roman legions (this began in AD 67). There will not even be time for gathering a few prized possessions or grabbing a coat. See notes, Mk 13:15–17.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:20 Sabbath. Violating the day of rest by fleeing on it would be permissible (see note, Mk 3:4).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:21 great tribulation. The days leading up to Jerusalem's destruction would be unprecedented in the intensity of suffering and would require extraordinary means of survival.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:22 had not been cut short. Jesus characterizes the days leading up to the destruction of Jerusalem as horrible and long. the sake of the elect. God's special love and concern for His people moves Him to lessen the severity of what befalls the land in AD 66–70. He graciously rescues His people in the midst of suffering. Cf Gn 18:22–33.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:23–24 false christs and false prophets. When things turn desperate, people instinctively recognize the need for a spiritual answer. Under such wretched conditions, it is no wonder that false teachers would attract so many followers. even the elect. God's people, however, will not fall for charlatans. The power of God's Spirit helps believers in Jesus to remain true.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:25 The fact that Jesus is able to predict things even before they happen helps demonstrate the truth of His Word.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:26 Yet another warning against false christs. Jesus will return from heaven on the clouds of the sky, according to Ac 1:11. Any other claims should be rejected.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:27 When the sun breaks the horizon, its light comes so fast it seems instantaneous. When Christ returns in glory, He will suddenly appear in the heavens (cf v 30; 26:64).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:28 False teachers will swoop down on the confused and suffering people just as vultures unfailingly spot carrion and gather around it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:15–28 While prophesying concerning Jerusalem's destruction, Jesus again warns His disciples against being deceived by false messiahs. During crises, people instinctively seek spiritual aid. In such times, God's people are tempted to join those fleeing to charlatans and the false hopes they offer. Christ's return in glory will be unmistakable. In an instant, He will raise the dead, transform believers into His likeness, and so effect our final deliverance. • You have revealed to us the manner of Your return, O Lord. Therefore, keep us watchful for You so we do not follow those who seek to deceive us. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:29 tribulation. Used broadly for the troubles described in vv 5–28, some of which were fulfilled in AD 70; others will be fulfilled just before Christ returns. The character of the prophecy warns us against trying to calculate the exact time of Jesus' return. darkened. See note, Mk 13:24.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:30 sign of the Son of Man. Cf Dn 7:1–14, where the final enthronement of Christ is depicted as occurring before all people. See p 2098. mourn. Those who opposed the Messiah will mourn their actions, esp those who pierced Him (Rv 1:7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:31 His angels. Mt frequently portrays angels as assisting the Lord on Judgment Day (e.g., 13:39–41, 49; 16:27; 25:31). gather His elect. Christians are drawn together to separate them from unbelievers. See note, 25:32. four winds. The directions of the compass, the "ends of the earth." Jesus will send His angels to gather all believers, regardless of where they are.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:29–31 Jesus describes the manner (though not the exact time) of His second coming. He will come in glory on the clouds of heaven as your Savior. Rejoice! For all Christians will unfailingly be gathered to reunite with their fellow believers and enter the Lord's presence. • "O Jesus Christ, do not delay, But hasten our salvation; … Come, mighty judge, and set us free From death and ev'ry evil." Amen. (LSB 508:7)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:32 See note, Mk 13:28.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:33 all these things. Jesus refers not only to His prediction about Jerusalem's destruction (vv 15–22) but also to the other signs that will accompany the end of the world and His return. He … at the very gates. Jesus is the one standing at the gate, ready to appear suddenly in glory.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:34 this generation. Repeatedly rebuked by Jesus for rejecting Him and the prophets, demanding signs, and otherwise failing to recognize the coming of the messianic kingdom (11:16; 12:41–42; 23:36; cf 16:4; 17:17). Accordingly, this passage is best taken as a prediction that there will always be a "generation" that rejects the Gospel, demands signs, and dismisses the inevitability of judgment.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:35 Though the delay of Christ's second coming might lead some to conclude that He will not appear, His promised return will indeed come to pass. Then, everything else will fail. In contrast, Jesus' Word will stand forever vindicated (cf 2Pt 3:3–14).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:32–35 Jesus again reminds us that there will be constant and unmistakable signs that the end is near. For those who reject Jesus and the Gospel, the reminder that He is standing at the gate is a threat of judgment and condemnation. However, believers in Christ may be encouraged when reminded that Jesus is near, for they know that this means their salvation is drawing near. • "O Thou Long-expected, weary Waits my anxious soul for Thee…. O my Savior, O my Savior, When wilt Thou return to me?" Amen. (TLH 606:2)
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:36 Important interpretive key for everything Jesus says about the end times: no one can decipher the day (or even the year) of His return in glory. Flee from those who claim they can. nor the Son. "'Christ according to His human nature' … knows some things and is ignorant of others" (FC SD VIII 74).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:37–39 Noah's preaching and building of the ark were clear warnings that God was preparing to judge wickedness by sending a flood. Still, people were unprepared when the flood came. So it will also be at the end of time.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:38 Eating, drinking, and marrying are not inherently evil. The people in Noah's generation were not condemned for doing these things, but rather for their cavalier disregard of God and His prophets.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:40–41 Emphasizes the suddenness and finality of the separation that will occur on the Last Day. See note, Lk 17:34–35.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:42 The sudden nature of Christ's return requires that His people remain ever vigilant.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:43–44 master of the house. Though Jesus is plainly the master of the house in the parable that follows (vv 45–51), here that character represents those called to watch for His second coming. thief. Just as a thief comes when least expected, so also Jesus' appearing will catch people sleeping.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:44 See note, Lk 12:40.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:45–51 In this parable, the master represents Jesus; the servant in charge of feeding the others stands for Christian leaders; and the other slaves are the rest of the Christians.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:46–47 Before any word of judgment is heard in this parable, blessing is promised to those servants found faithfully at work for their master.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:47 over all his possessions. Those found faithful to Jesus are promised that in heaven they will share with Him in ruling over all things (cf 2Tm 2:12; Rv 22:5).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:48–49 The wicked servant's monstrous behavior flows from his sense that his master is not returning. This implies that Christians may slip into bad behavior in part because they begin to doubt or underestimate the importance of Jesus' second coming.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:49 fellow servants. Following the logic of this parable, the evil servant not only associates with outside drunkards but also injures fellow brothers and sisters within the Christian community.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:51 cut him in pieces. Jolting conclusion serves as a sobering reminder to all Christians that Jesus will not only call His disciples to account for their behavior but also severely punish their unfaithfulness. hypocrites. Those who are finally excluded from the community. See note, Lk 6:42. weeping and gnashing of teeth. Describes hell as a place of torment and eternal regret (13:42, 50; 22:13; 25:30). See note, 8:12.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 24:36–51 The suddenness of Christ's second coming, along with His promise that faithfulness will be richly rewarded, moves us to watch eagerly for Jesus. Sadly, many Christians today seem to have lost their expectation of Christ's imminent return. Countless sins and vices follow. Christians who are found faithful when called home will be unbelievably privileged: they will share in Christ's everlasting reign! • Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly. Come, save us from this dying world, and lead us into Your everlasting kingdom, where we shall reign with You. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:1 Scripture repeatedly compares the relationship between Christ and the Church to that of husband and wife (most famously in Eph 5:22–33). This parable uses similar though distinct imagery. Jesus is the Bridegroom; the virgins represent members of the Church on earth. For more on Jewish wedding customs, see pp 54–55.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:2 foolish … wise. Cf 7:26; see pp 775–78.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:3 Streets of even large cities had no public lighting. The foolish virgins do not consider the possibility that the bridegroom might be delayed, and so they bring no extra oil for their lamps. The oil represents a faith continually sustained by the means of grace, thus able to endure until Christ's return.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:5 delayed. Many early Christians expected Jesus' return in their generation (cf 1Th 4:13–18). This parable implies that Jesus might not come as quickly as some expected, while encouraging the Church not to lose hope.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:6 The bridegroom suddenly appears at midnight, when many eyes are heavy.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:7 trimmed. Adjusted the wicks to make them burn brightly.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:8–9 By the time the bridegroom arrives, it is too late to prepare. Hil: "In other words, no one can be aided by the works and merits of another, because it is necessary for every one to buy oil for his own lamp" (Ap XXI 30).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:10 marriage feast. The future glory of heaven is repeatedly compared to the joy and intimacy of a wedding feast (cf 22:1–14; Is 25:6–9). shut. Once this door was shut, there was no possibility of entry into the feast.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:11–12 Lord, lord … I do not know you. Words echoing 7:21–23, where Jesus warns His audience that He will recognize and admit into the kingdom of heaven only those who do the will of His Father.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:13 day nor the hour. See note, 24:36.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:1–13 Jesus warns that many invited to share in the eternal joy of His kingdom will miss out by failing to have a living faith at the end. Though some will be condemned for heinous crimes and gross sins, many more will fail to enter heaven because they neglected their faith. Even so, no matter how depleted our faith is, Jesus' grace can fill us to overflowing with a single word. • Keep us ever filled to overflowing, O Lord, that we continually abound in faith, hope, and love for You. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:14–15 The master represents Jesus, the servants stand for believers, and the talents symbolize the various gifts God places into their stewardship. it will be like. Another parable about the end times. entrusted to them his property. Masters frequently put trusted servants in charge of their estate (cf Gn 24:2).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:15 talents. Gk monetary unit. See p cx. A silver talent was worth c 7,300 denarii (a denarius equals one day's wage), and a gold talent could be 30 times more valuable. Sizable amounts of money are in play here.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:16–17 traded. Though the nature of their business is not specified, both men earned 100 percent profit.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:18 hid his master's money. Third servant tries to keep from losing his master's money rather than putting it to productive use. Later, he will pay for this lack of effort.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:19 settled accounts. The master wanted a report of how each servant had administered the funds left in his charge.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:20 First servant does not try to take any cut for himself, but turns over everything to his master. Cf Lk 17:7–10. "He will also strengthen, increase, and support to the end the good work that He has begun in them [Philippians 1:6], if they cling to God's Word, pray diligently, abide in God's goodness, and faithfully use the gifts they received" (FC SD XI 21).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:21 set you over much. The faithfulness and productivity of this servant is rewarded with an even larger sum to administer. Enter into the joy. The greater reward for this servant is being called into the presence of his lord. This passage symbolizes the Christian's entry into eternal life.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:22–23 Second servant produces the same margin of profit and therefore receives the same commendation and rewards. He differs from the first servant only in that he began with fewer talents.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:24 Third servant characterizes his master as "hard" to blame his own failure on his master. The description has a variety of unflattering connotations: cruel, demanding, strong, or violent.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:26–27 The master responds with righteous indignation rather than sympathy. Even granting that the master was "hard," would that not make it even more urgent for this servant to produce some growth with the talent entrusted to him?

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:28–29 Most productive servant ends up entrusted with even more of his master's property, while the unproductive one loses his stewardship altogether.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:30 See note, 24:51.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:14–30 Our relationship to God and the world is one of stewardship. We are to use everything entrusted to us in such a way that it benefits God's kingdom. Though modern people often have far more material and technological means than any previous generation, they often use these tools selfishly. An unfailing promise attaches to faithful stewardship: if we use the things entrusted to us for God and His purposes, we will be blessed here and in heaven. • "Give me a faithful heart, Likeness to Thee, That each departing day Henceforth may see Some work of love begun, Some deed of kindness done, Some wand'rer sought and won, Something for Thee." Amen. (TLH 403:3)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:31 Son of Man. See p 2098. glory. See p 6–7. glorious throne. Cf Dn 7:13–14, where the Son of Man is presented as holy but never actually sits on heaven's throne. Here, the Son of Man sits in glory as God.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:32 Sheep and goats are not described as being judged on this day, but rather separated. Accordingly, this parable is not primarily about judgment but about the revelation and public vindication of true believers.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:33 In the ancient world, the right hand was regularly associated with privilege or honor. See p 843.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:34 King. Fitting title, given the coronation theme in Dn 7. prepared for you. Bern: "Your present justification is the revelation of the Divine counsel, and a preparation for future glory…. Let none, therefore, doubt that he is loved who already loves. The love of God freely follows our love which it preceded" (SLSB, p 155).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:35–36 This story does not teach that people are justified before God on the basis of works. The sheep receive their blessing and inheritance from the Father before a single word about their good works is spoken. (See "portion," p 7.) Scripture teaches that people do good works in God's sight only after they have come to faith and been justified by Christ. Good works are the result of salvation, not its cause. See Ap V 250–51.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:37 righteous. See p 847. Interestingly, those called righteous are surprised at what is being said about them. Far from being boastful about the good deeds worked in them by God's Spirit, they are completely ignorant of them.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:38 welcome. This word is particularly connected to the early Christian practice of providing hospitality for traveling missionaries. Examples of hospitality are found in Ac 16:14–15; 17:5–9; 18:7–8; 21:8. See note, Gn 18:4.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:39 in prison and visit. Held special significance for the first Christians, because many of them, particularly their leaders, were arrested for the faith (e.g., Ac 5:18; 12:3–4; 16:23).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:40 Important theme in Mt is that Jesus is Immanuel, "God with us" (1:23; 18:20; 28:20). This verse stresses that Jesus is with the Christian community in such a way that we serve Him when we serve others.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:41 cursed. See p 6. eternal fire … angels. Hell was not prepared for human beings. Those who reject the Lord will go there because the wicked cannot stay with the righteous. Cf Rv 20:10.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:42–43 The undone works are only a symptom of the real problem: lack of faith. If they had called on the Lord in faith, He would have forgiven them, prepared them, and completed good works in them. See LC I 191–92.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:44 minister to You? Offer service, particularly in physical needs. Cf Heb 11:6.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:45 Apart from faith in Christ and His forgiveness, all of our sins and shortcomings remain offenses against God, for which He shall hold us fully accountable.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:46 The difference between those who are in Christ and those who stand outside of His forgiveness cannot be stated more clearly. The difference is as great as heaven and hell. See AC XVII.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 25:31–46 On the Last Day, Jesus will separate true believers from hypocrites and those who reject Him. The faithful will be vindicated and welcomed into heaven, while unbelievers will be condemned. Having received forgiveness through faith in Christ, God's flock eagerly await the day on which they shall be publicly vindicated and receive eternal life. • Grant us a faith that perseveres until the end, O Lord. Move us by Your Spirit, that our good works continually glorify You and benefit our neighbors. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:2 after two days … coming. Since the Passover began Thursday night (Maundy Thursday), this would have been spoken on Tuesday. Son of Man. See p 2098.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:3 chief priests. Caiaphas, the current high priest, as well as his father-in-law and former high priest, Annas. See notes, Lk 3:1–2; Jn 11:49. elders. See p 228. palace of the high priest. Earlier, Jesus' opponents had been primarily the Pharisees (12:14; 22:15); now the high priest and his associates oppose Him too.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:5 As Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem demonstrated (21:8–11), He had quite a following. His opponents did not wish to provoke the anger of these crowds.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:1–5 Both Jesus and His enemies long for His impending death. They plot to kill Him, but He longs to offer up His life for them and for the whole world. Pray for those who oppose the Gospel. Despite such opposition, the Lord is at work for the good of His people. • How great is Your love, O Jesus! Grant me courage in the face of all trouble. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:6 Bethany. On the Mount of Olives, 2 mi E of Jerusalem. See color map 4. Simon the leper. See note, Mk 14:3.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:7 alabaster. Semiprecious stone often cut into beautiful containers to hold perfumes. ointment. Sweet-smelling oil used for anointing, much as perfumes and colognes are used today. on His head. People were usually anointed on their heads; Jn 12:3; Lk 7:38 mention that Jesus was anointed on His feet too. reclined. See note, 8:11.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:8–9 Jesus had taught concern for the poor (e.g., 11:5; 19:21), which now led the disciples to oppose such extravagant expense.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:10 beautiful thing. Lit, "a good work." Her service rendered to Jesus was out of faith.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:11 As Dt 15:11 teaches, every age will have its poor; Jesus, however, would not always be present visibly with His disciples. Jesus does not set aside the command to be generous to the poor, but rather honors a woman who has honored Him.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:12 prepare Me for burial. Dead were commonly anointed with spices (cf Lk 23:56). This woman has anointed Jesus before His death rather than after.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:13 this gospel. Not just Mt, but the Christian message proclaimed by the apostles. See pp 1571–74. in memory of her. See note, Mk 14:9.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:6–13 A woman anoints Jesus, which greatly offends His disciples. They take offense where no offense should be taken. Jesus, however, commends the woman, because her action points to His death for the world, which in turn points to His love for you. • Strengthen our faith, dear God, to focus on Christ's death and resurrection for us and not on distractions. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:14 Judas Iscariot. See notes, Lk 6:16; 22:3; cf Jn 12:4–6.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:15 Fulfills the prophecy of Zec 11:12 and alludes to Ex 21:32, where the value of a dead slave is affixed at 30 pieces of silver.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:16 opportunity. Judas had to find a time when Jesus would be isolated from the crowds and defenseless.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:14–16 Judas agrees to betray Jesus for 30 pieces of silver. How often we, too, have betrayed Christ and sent Him to the cross for a lot less than 30 pieces of silver. Christ, however, still loves us. He died for Judas's sin and for ours. Repent of all insincerity, doubt, and fear to bear witness. The Lord is ever ready to hear your prayer and forgive your sin. So great is His mercy! • Hear my cry, O Lord, and answer when I call. Grant me a sincere faith. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:17 first day of Unleavened Bread. Technically speaking, the Feast of Unleavened Bread did not begin until the day after the Passover (cf Lv 23:5–6). However, leaven had to be removed before the Passover (cf Ex 12:18). This is probably the reason for the term here. eat the Passover? See pp 200–201.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:18 Teacher. See note, 8:19. My time is at hand. Jesus' death was impending.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:20 evening. Like the Sabbath, the Passover celebration began at sundown. reclined. See note, 8:11. the twelve. The only participants at the meal.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:21 betray Me. See note, Lk 22:21.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:22 Is it I, Lord? Lit, "It isn't I, Lord?"
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:23 Banqueters often dipped their bread into a common dish of sauce. See note, Lk 22:8.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:24 woe. Judas's betrayal brings a horrible judgment upon him (cf 18:7–9; 23:13–26). better … not been born. It would have been better if Judas had never existed rather than betray Jesus, commit suicide, die without faith, and experience eternal damnation.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:25 Rabbi? See notes, 8:19; Mk 9:5. Judas is the only disciple to address Jesus with this term in Mt; see also his salutation in v 49. You have said so. Jesus indirectly says yes (cf v 64).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:17–25 Jesus celebrates the Passover with His disciples, even as He warns Judas against betraying Him. In the same way, God warns us daily not to yield to sin and thus betray Him. He also invites us to partake of fellowship with Him, as Christ did with His disciples at the Passover, freely offering His forgiveness. • Lord Jesus, forgive my betrayal, and strengthen me to follow You. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:26 blessing. See p 842. broke it. To distribute. this is My body. With the bread, Christ gives His very body for the disciples to eat.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:27 cup. Wine for the Passover meal. given thanks. See note, Mk 14:23. all of you. "The laity are given both kinds in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper because this practice has the Lord's command" (AC XXII 1).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:28 this is My blood of the covenant. With the wine, Christ gives His blood. It is the blood of a new covenant; as the first covenant was established by blood, so Christ's blood establishes the new covenant (Ex 12:7–13; 24:5–8). poured out. The blood that communicants receive is the same blood Christ shed for us on the cross. Cf Is 53:12. "We see how He has completely poured forth Himself [Matthew 26:28] and withheld nothing from us" (LC II 26). many. Hbr expression for "all people." for the forgiveness of sins. Christ's death absolved the world of its sin; the Sacrament applies that forgiveness to individual communicants. Cf 1:23; Jer 31:34. "It is just like when I go to the Sacrament trusting not in my faith, but in Christ's Word. Whether I am strong or weak, I commit that to God. But I know this, that He asks me to go, to eat and to drink, and so on, and He gives me His body and blood [Matthew 26:26–28]. That will not deceive me or prove false to me" (LC IV 56). Bern: "Where there is reconciliation there is remission of sins. And what is that but justification? Whether, therefore, we call it reconciliation, or remission of sins or justification, or, again, redemption, or liberation from the chains of the devil, by whom we were taken captive at his will, at all events by the death of the Only Begotten, we obtain that we have been justified freely by His blood" (SLSB, pp 287–88). See p 2230.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:29 fruit of the vine. Hbr idiom for "wine." Christ would not drink wine again until His saving work was finished. See note, 8:11; see also "vow," p 7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:26–29 Christ institutes His Supper. He continues to offer His body and His blood for us Christians to eat and to drink for the forgiveness of sins whenever we come to His Table. Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for His righteousness! • "Lord, may Thy body and Thy blood Be for my soul the highest good!" Amen. (LSB 618)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:30 sung a hymn. Possibly Ps 113–18, commonly sung at the end of the Passover meal. See note, Ps 113–18. Mount of Olives. Just east of Jerusalem, across the Kidron Valley in the direction of Gethsemane. See map, p 1584.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:31 All the disciples will abandon Jesus, the shepherd. The sheep (in this case, the disciples) flee when the shepherd is killed.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:33 Peter was overconfident.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:34 rooster crows. Before first light. three times. Peter would not only deny Jesus once before first light, but three times—something Peter thought impossible.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:35 As in 16:16, Peter said what the rest of the disciples were also thinking.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:30–35 The disciples, especially Peter, do not perceive the danger. They think they are strong enough to face anything without denying Christ. How often we foolishly copy Peter and substitute recklessness for humble faith. Fortunately, Jesus knows our weaknesses and is ready to restore us, even as He restored Peter. • Grant us grace to trust Your strength, O Lord, and not our own. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:36 Gethsemane. Walled garden where olives were pressed for oil. On the lower western reaches of the Mount of Olives, across the Kidron Valley to the east of Jerusalem. Jesus and His disciples frequently met here (cf Jn 18:2). See Mount of Olives on diagram, pp 1690–91.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:37 On several occasions, Jesus took this inner circle of disciples with Him (cf Mk 5:37). sons of Zebedee. See note, Mk 1:19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:38 sorrowful, even to death. Fully human, Jesus experienced the horror and difficulty of death; unlike all others, He had done nothing to deserve this death.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:39 little farther. C 30 yd. See note, Lk 22:41. fell on His face. Common posture of overwhelmed worshipers. See p 1276. this cup. See note, Is 51:17. pass from Me. See note, Mk 14:35. not as I will, but as You will. Christ's will is to conform to the Father's will, even if it means pain for Himself.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:40 Peter, the boldest in saying that he would never fall away, shows that he is not strong enough to pray with Jesus for even one hour.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:41 not enter into temptation. Requested in the Lord's Prayer (6:13). spirit … weak. Our new spiritual nature may be strong, but it is burdened by the flesh, our old sinful self (Rm 8:1–14). Luth: "O Father, we are faint and ill, and the trials in the flesh and in the world are severe and manifold. O dear Father, hold us and do not let us fall into temptation and sin again, but give us grace to remain steadfast and fight valiantly to the end. Without your grace and your help, we are not able to do anything" (AE 42:80).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:44 third time … same words. Cf v 39. Jesus illustrates that repetition in prayer is not wrong, so long as one's heart is sincere in the asking. See note, 6:9.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:45 take your rest later on. Since Jesus' betrayal is impending, there is little time for sleep now. betrayed … sinners.

Jesus is handed over to sinful men (Judas and company) to suffer what sinners deserved. See p 959.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:36–46 Jesus prays three times in Gethsemane, while His disciples give themselves over to sleep rather than to prayer. How often we get ourselves into trouble because we do not bother to pray! Pour out your heart to the Lord in sincere prayer again and again. Christ's prayer and obedience to the Father open the portals of heaven to your prayers. • Let us hasten to bring our petitions before God's throne of grace! Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:47 great crowd. Most likely drawn from the temple guards (cf Jn 18:3). chief priests … elders. See p 1556.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:48 a sign … kiss. See note, Mk 14:44.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:49 Rabbi! See notes, 8:19; Mk 9:5.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:50 Friend. Ironic. Can mean "comrade." Jesus knew the reason for Judas's presence: to betray Him. See note, 20:13. they. The crowd (v 47).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:51 one … with Jesus. One of His disciples; Jn 18:10 says it was Peter. sword and struck. Peter had forgotten the blessings of persecution (5:10–12). servant of the high priest. Malchus (Jn 18:10).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:52 Violence brings down violence on those who practice it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:53 Jesus had already declined to call on the angels' help (4:6–7). He will not call on them now to prevent His death. twelve legions. C 72,000 soldiers; here it means countless angels.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:54 Scriptures be fulfilled. Christ's death was God's will, as foretold in the OT. See p 1245.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:55 crowds. Cf v 47.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:56 Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled. See p 1245. all the disciples left Him and fled. All but Peter and John fled into hiding until the resurrection (cf Jn 18:15), and these two would soon join the rest (Jn 20:19).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:47–56 Judas betrays Jesus, but Jesus refuses to allow His disciples to use violence to defend Him. Evil permeates the scene: there is treachery, cowardice, and false bravado. But the sinless Son of God stands in the midst of these evils and allows these things to take place so He can redeem us. • Dear Savior, thank You for redeeming me, a sinner. Grant me wisdom and courage in the hour of temptation. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:57 Caiaphas. See note, v 3. scribes … elders. See pp 1556–57.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:58 Peter wanted to see what would happen to Jesus, but from a distance. Though he had fled in confusion, he continued to show greater bravery than most of the disciples. courtyard of the high priest. Placed Peter close enough to overhear the results of the trial without endangering his life by being inside. See note, Jn 18:15. see the end. What would happen to Jesus.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:59 Council. See p 1556. seeking false testimony. Judas's cooperation had put the Council ahead of schedule (cf v 5); they had not quite prepared their case. See note, v 60. put Him to death. Though there were many irregularities about the trial, the Council still wanted to preserve an appearance of justice, esp in putting such a popular man to death.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:60 found none. Testimony of at least two witnesses had to agree (Dt 17:6). Because the testimonies were false, they were inconsistent.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:61 destroy the temple. Such a statement would arouse the fear of the priests; not only was the temple God's house, it was also their source of income. See Jesus' words and actions in 21:12–13, 18–19; 22:7; 23:37–38; 24:3–35.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:63 Jesus remained silent. He did not defend Himself because He did not want to derail His conviction. adjure. Put under oath. living God. See note, 16:16. Christ, the Son of God. The Messiah foretold by the OT. Though Caiaphas may not have understood the full divinity of the Messiah, he at least must have believed in the unique honor of the Messiah. See p 2098.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:64 Son of Man. See p 2098. right hand of Power. See note, Lk 22:69. coming on the clouds. See note, Dn 7:13.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:65 tore his robes. Sign of distress and grief in reaction to distressing news. See note, Jb 1:20. blasphemy. The high priest thought Jesus was a mere mortal claiming divinity.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:66 Blasphemy bore the death penalty in Jewish law.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:67 spit. Insulting gesture. some slapped Him. Probably some of the guards, not members of the Council.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:68 Prophesy. As Messiah, Jesus was expected to be able to identify His tormentors without seeing them. See note, Mk 14:65.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:57–68 Jesus stands trial before the Council. Christ notes that He will come again to judge them and all who have sinned. He makes this confession so He can go to the cross and die for all who have perverted justice. Today, deal fairly with others, and pray for your persecutors. The death of Jesus atones for your sins and avails for them too. • Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world, have mercy on us. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:69 servant girl. See note, Lk 22:56. the Galilean. Person from Galilee in northern Israel.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:72 with an oath. See note, v 74; see also "vow," p 7.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:73 your accent betrays you. Peter spoke like a Galilean and thus could not have been ignorant of who Jesus was.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:74 curse … swear. Jesus had warned against taking casual oaths (5:33–37). Peter, like Herod (14:7–9), succumbed to this form of blasphemy.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:75 Rooster crowed near first light, fulfilling Christ's prophecy (v 34). wept bitterly. Indicating true sorrow for his sin.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 26:69–75 Peter denies Jesus three times. His failure teaches us that mere bravado cannot keep us from sinning. But Jesus will restore Peter, even as He forgives us when we fall into sin. • Thank You, Lord, for Your constant forgiveness. Keep our hearts even when we fail to mind our tongues. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:1 morning. Early Friday morning. chief priests … elders. See p 1556. took counsel. Jewish law demanded that the trial take place in the daytime; this would fulfill that legal requirement.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:2 Pilate was the Roman governor (prefect) of the province of Judea. Only he had the legal authority to put people to death (cf Jn 18:31).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:1–2 Christ is handed over to Pilate. When others betray you or falsely speak evil against you, take counsel with Jesus. He knows your sorrows and has borne your sins. He will sustain you in the hour of trial. • Lord Jesus Christ, let us die to sin and live to You. Lift up our hearts. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:3 saw that Jesus was condemned. Pilate had not yet condemned Jesus, but Judas saw what they intended to do to Him. changed his mind. Not repented (sorrow and faith), but had deep regret.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:4 I have sinned. Judas took a bribe to shed innocent blood and thereby fell under a curse (Dt 27:25). What is that to us? Judas seeks absolution from these corrupt priests, but they refuse to give it to him. Despite their sacred calling, they hate Jesus more than they love to minister to sinners. See to it yourself. They leave Judas to deal with his own sin rather than directing him to God's grace.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:5 into the temple. Judas hurls the blood money into the sanctuary itself. hanged himself. Judas executes himself for murder (cf Lv 24:21). As he felt cursed by the Law (Dt 27:25), so he died an accursed death (Dt 21:23). "This faith shows the distinction between the contrition of Judas and Peter, of Saul and David. The contrition of Judas or Saul [Matthew 27:3–5; 1 Samuel 31:4–6] is useless because faith is not added. Faith grasps the forgiveness of sins, given as a gift for Christ's sake. So the contrition of David or Peter [2 Samuel 12:13; Matthew 26:75] helps because faith, which takes hold of the forgiveness of sins granted for Christ's sake, is added to it" (Ap XIIA 36). "Whenever the Law alone exercises its office, without the Gospel being added, there is nothing but death and hell, and one must despair, as Saul and Judas did" (SA III III 7).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:6 not lawful. Ill-gotten gains could not be brought into the temple (Dt 23:18). By this statement, the priests tacitly acknowledge that they have unjustly prosecuted Jesus. treasury. For the upkeep of the temple and its activities. Cf 1Ch 26:20–32. blood money. Money used for a violent sin.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:7 potter's field. Good clay for pottery in this area; the En-rogel Spring south of Jerusalem in the Kidron Valley is nearby. See diagram, p 1690. burial place. Cemeteries were unclean because corpses were unclean by OT Law (cf Nu 19:11, 14). Tainted money could be used to buy such land, esp since it was intended for Gentile burials.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:8 Field of Blood. So called because of the origin of the money used to buy it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:9–10 Quotes Zec 11:12–13, but adds phrases from Jer 19:11 (a potter's field is used for burial) and an allusion to Jer

32:6–11 (Jeremiah's purchase of land). For more on this style of quotation, see p 1646.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:3–10 Peter's denial is followed closely by Judas's suicide. The two commit similar sins in betraying Christ, but things turn out differently for each. Both are sorry for their misdeeds—perhaps Judas is even sorrier in that he tries to undo the damage. But Judas ends his life in despair, while Peter ultimately trusts in Christ, who alone can save us from guilt and despair. • Oh, let us ever flee to You, Christ, when overwhelmed by our sin! Let us not despair but know the depth of Your mercy. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:11 governor. Pontius Pilate (v 2). King of the Jews? The Council translated their accusation against Jesus into political terms Pilate could understand. You have said so. See note, Mk 15:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:12 no answer. Jesus did not defend Himself, because He was willing to be crucified.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:11–14 Jesus silently listens to His accusers. His silence leads to His condemnation, but also to our forgiveness. When foes accuse you, curb your tongue. Loose your tongue in prayer to the One who takes away your sin. • Thank You, dearest Jesus, for Your silence before Your accusers and Your sacrifice for us. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:15 feast. Passover. accustomed to release. As a favor to those Pilate governed, he usually released one prisoner every year.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:16 Barabbas. See note, Lk 23:19.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:17 Jesus who is called Christ? See note, Php 2:11.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:18 Pilate hoped the crowd's decency would lead them to ask for a man they did not like (Jesus) instead of one who had committed serious crimes (Barabbas).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:19 judgment seat. Bench, often outdoors, where the presiding judge sat. Cf Ac 18:12. People could gather around the judge (Jos, War 2:175). See note, Ac 25:6. his wife … dream. Pilate's wife, like the Wise Men and Joseph (2:12–13), was warned in a dream. This Gentile woman sees what the chief priests and the crowd could not see. See p 74.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:20 chief priests … elders. See p 1556. crowd. Probably a mob formed by people employed in the temple and under the chief priests' sway. They are to be distinguished from the majority of people in Jerusalem, who may have been more sympathetic to Jesus; see notes, 26:5; Lk 23:27. destroy. Kill Him and obliterate His movement.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:22 Let Him be crucified! See note, Mk 15:13.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:15–23 The crowd chooses to release Barabbas instead of Jesus. They prefer the sinful ways of Barabbas and seek to crucify their true Lord. Just as the Lord's ways disturbed and threatened the people of Jerusalem, His ways disrupt our self-security. The silent Lamb of God would lead us away from the ways of the world to walk in His ways. He was condemned to death, that we might go freely into His kingdom. • Thank You, Lord, that You did not choose freedom for Yourself but life for me. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:24 riot. Pilate gave the crowd what they wanted rather than risk their displeasure. washed his hands. Symbol of innocence used by both Jews and Gentiles. innocent. Pilate recognized that he was putting an innocent man to death and did not want to be held guilty for this miscarriage of justice. see to it yourselves. Pilate will crucify Jesus, but he puts the blame on the mob.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:25 If Pilate hesitates to accept responsibility for his role in Christ's death, the mob does not. However, this is a mob of temple partisans, not a representative sample of the Jewish people; the temple crowd bears the responsibility, not all Jews. Rather than simply blaming the Jews, the apostles proclaimed the Gospel to them, and even to those who had called for Jesus' death (cf Ac 3:17).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:26 scourged … crucified. See p 1178.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:24–26 Pilate condemns Jesus to death while he seeks to absolve himself of responsibility for it. No matter how a sinner tries to evade responsibility for sin, he cannot wash himself of it. Thanks be to God that Christ took responsibility for the sins of the whole world and let Himself be crucified for our sakes. • I am guilty, Lord; grant me Your forgiveness and a new heart. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:27 soldiers of the governor. Pilate's Roman soldiers now take over; the temple guard had previously arrested Jesus (Jn 18:3). governor's headquarters. The crowd had previously stood outside of the building (cf Jn 18:28).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:28 stripped. Clothing that had been put on Jesus after His scourging was removed. scarlet robe. Most likely a soldier's cape; this color was also used by royalty. Cf Mk 15:17; Jn 19:2; dye baths can yield different hues from the same dye materials, depending on their strength, quality, mordant, and the receptivity of the fabrics being treated. The different terms for hues are likely a reflection of this trade issue. See p 141.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:29 crown of thorns. See note, Mk 15:17. reed in His right hand. Mock scepter, symbol of royal power. mocked. They honored Christ as King, but only in sport.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:30 spit. Cf 26:67–68; Is 50:6.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:27–31 Jesus is mocked as a false king by the Roman soldiers. They despise His weakness, but it is the way that He would win His kingdom—He will redeem the world and win His subjects on the cross. How different are the Lord's ways by which He rescues us! • Hail, O true King of the Jews and of all the world. I confess You as my King. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:32 Cyrene. City in Libya on the northeast coast of Africa. Simon. Common Jewish name. carry His cross. After His scourging, Jesus was unable to carry the heavy crossbeam, so the Romans pressed Simon into carrying it.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:33 Place of a Skull. Aram; so called because people were crucified there or because of the shape of the rock.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:34 gall. Bitter substance made from plants; perhaps a narcotic or even poisonous, here mixed with wine. He would not drink it. Christ would not lessen the pain until all was finished (cf Jn 19:28).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:35 crucified Him. Nailed Him to the cross. casting lots. They gambled as a way to divide His clothes. See note, Jsh 14:2.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:36 kept watch. Implies that they knew Jesus was no ordinary prisoner facing execution. They still feared the crowds who had followed Him.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:37 charge. Placard explaining the reason for His execution.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:38 robbers were crucified. See note, Mk 15:27.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:39 derided Him, wagging their heads. Gesture of scorn. The whole Passion evokes Ps 22.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:40 save Yourself! Christ's mockers assume that one with divine powers would use it to save Himself. If You are the Son of God. See note, Lk 4:3.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:41 chief priests … scribes … elders. See pp 1556–57.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:42 King of Israel. Jews used this title for the Messiah rather than "King of the Jews." we will believe in Him. A mocking claim. Most likely, they would still have refused to trust in Him.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:43 He said, "I am the Son of God." Cf 26:63–64.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:44 Mt emphasizes that even those executed used their last breaths to mock Jesus. Lk 23:39–41 clarifies that one robber repented of his sin.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:32–44 Jesus is crucified and reviled on every hand. Here we see the full depth of our sin: the pain of the cross and the reviling of the whole world is what we deserve. But we also see the full depth of God's mercy in that He willingly submitted Himself to this torture for our sakes. • Grant, O God, that I boast in nothing but in the cross of Your Son. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:45 See p 1567. darkness. Sign of sorrow and judgment (Jl 2:2; Am 8:9).
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:46 Poignantly portrays the separation of Christ from His Father. However, see also "Jesus' Human Nature," p 2237. loud voice. Cry of pain and loneliness. Eli, Eli. Hbr. lema sabachthani? Aram.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:47 calling Elijah. "Eli" sounds similar to "Elijah."
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:48 sour wine. Cheap beverage that quenched thirst quickly.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:49 others. Probably Jews passing by. Crucifixions typically took place along a roadway to inspire fear in would-be criminals.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:50 loud voice. See note, v 46. yielded up His spirit. He died.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:51–53 Earthquakes were often associated with manifestations of God. Moreover, they were considered a sign of the end and the final judgment. The destruction of the temple's veil and the resurrection of the dead also point forward to the end.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:51 curtain of the temple. See notes, Ex 30:6; Mk 15:38; Lk 23:45.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:52–53 bodies of the saints … coming out. Their resurrection demonstrated the purpose of Christ's death: to bring eternal life to those doomed to die.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:53 holy city. Jerusalem.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:54 centurion. See note, 8:5. Truly this was the Son of God! Gentile centurion sensed what the unbelieving leaders of Israel did not.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:55 women. See note, Lk 8:2–3.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:56 Mary Magdalene. She had followed Christ ever since He expelled seven demons from her (Lk 8:2). Mary … Joseph. Possibly Mary the wife of Clopas (Mk 15:40; Jn 19:25), a sister to Mary the mother of Jesus. mother … Zebedee. Mother of James and John. See note, Mk 1:19.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:45–56 After Jesus cries in agony at His abandonment, He dies. His death is followed by supernatural signs. His cry shows the abandonment that we should have experienced. But by His death, He destroyed the power of death and removed the barrier that separated us from God. • We praise You, O Christ, and we bless You. By Your holy cross, You have redeemed the world. Amen.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:57 Arimathea. City in Judah; exact location unknown. disciple of Jesus. See note, Jn 19:38.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:58 asked for the body. See note, Mk 15:43.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:59 Burial customs included anointing the corpse with spices and wrapping it in a shroud.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:60 tomb … cut in the rock. Graves were often hollowed-out clefts in a rock. See p 1651. great stone. Disk-shaped and several feet in diameter, it was thick enough to keep out animals. It was rolled in a hewn channel to seal off the tomb's entrance and would require several men to move it.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:61 See note, Mk 15:47.
MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:57–61 Jesus is buried. By sharing our human grave, He sanctifies our tombs and makes them places where our bodies can rest, confident in the resurrection. Honor the faithfully departed by remembering their graves and by praying for their families. As Christ burst from His tomb, so shall He raise all the dead on the Last Day. • Thank You, Lord, for the life and sacrifice of others and for the certain hope of the resurrection. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:62 after the day of Preparation. The Sabbath. chief priests … Pharisees. See pp 1556–57.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:63 that impostor. Jesus' enemies did not understand who He was. After three days I will rise. Jesus had foretold His resurrection to the Pharisees (12:40), who ironically paid more attention to His words than did the disciples.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:64–66 Chief priests request a guard from Pilate, but he tells them to use their temple guards to make the tomb as secure as possible. Ironically, these guards are among the first human witnesses of the resurrection. See note, Lk 24:9; see also diagram, p 1823.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 27:62–66 The chief priests and their allies secure Jesus' tomb to prevent a faked resurrection. Their act, done out of unbelief, will ironically give them compelling evidence for the resurrection. Christ permits this to happen so His disciples could be confident that His resurrection was no hoax, but fact. • Living Lord, You triumphed over all Your enemies. Be with us always and deliver us. Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:1 after the Sabbath … first day. Early Sunday morning. Mary Magdalene. See note, Lk 8:2–3. other Mary. Presumably "Mary the mother of James and Joseph" (27:56).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:2 The angel opens the tomb, but Christ has already risen. sat on it. Resting; symbolizing Christ's victory over death.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:3 His face was bright, causing his garments also to be brilliant.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:4 became like dead men. Fainted or collapsed.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:6 He has risen, as He said. Cf 16:21; 17:23; 20:19. see the place. This proves the angel's testimony.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:7 tell His disciples. The 11 remaining disciples. See, I have told you. The angel emphasizes his trustworthiness.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:8 They were still frightened, but glad at the news. See note, Mk 16:8.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:9 Jesus met them. The women saw more than the empty tomb that morning; they saw the risen Christ Himself. took hold of His feet. Sign of homage. worshiped. They bowed before their Lord. Cf 2:2; see p 1276.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:10 afraid. As earlier (cf vv 5, 8), the women are awed by the events. brothers. Jesus still refers to His disciples as family (12:48–50; 25:40). See p 1901.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:1–10 The women see the empty tomb and the angel, who proclaims that Christ has risen. Though Christ's resurrection terrifies His enemies, such as the guards at the tomb, it brings great joy to His followers. Rejoice today in His resurrection and pray for His reappearing. • Christ is risen! He is risen indeed! Alleluia! Amen.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:11 city. Jerusalem.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:12 assembled. As in 26:3–4, it may not have been a full meeting of the Council. a sufficient sum. Amount unclear.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:13–15 Story concocted by the chief priests does not work. How would the soldiers know that the disciples came if they had been sleeping? How could they not have heard the door of the tomb being opened? But the story was enough to convince those who wanted to reject Jesus. See note, 27:64–66.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:11–15 The guards report Christ's resurrection to the authorities, but the authorities prefer to create and spread a lie. Though many have been deceived over the centuries, the Good News of Christ's resurrection has triumphed over the skepticism of Christianity's critics. • "Jesus lives! The vict'ry's won! Death no longer can appall me; Jesus lives! Death's reign is done! From the grave will Christ recall me. Brighter scenes will then commence; This shall be my confidence." Amen. (LSB 490:1)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:16 eleven disciples. The Twelve minus Judas. mountain. Location unknown. Traditionally thought to be the Mount of Transfiguration.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:17 worshiped. Cf 2:2; 28:9. some doubted. Though not in rank unbelief, they had a hard time absorbing the events that had transpired. Cf Lk 24:38.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:18–20 Though all God's people are to bear witness to the Lord (cf Ps 145; Is 43:10), the focus here is on the apostles and their calling as leading witnesses and representatives of Jesus. (Compare to the authorization in Mt 10:1–7.)

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:18 All authority. Christ's human nature, which had refrained from exercising the divine authority belonging to the person of Christ, now is fully exalted and given free use of divine authority (cf v 19). "He can also powerfully effect and do everything that He says and promises" (FC SD VII 43). "The Church's authority and the State's authority must not be confused. The Church's authority has its own commission to teach the Gospel and to administer the Sacraments [Matthew 28:19–20]. Let it not break into the office of another. Let it not transfer the kingdoms of this world to itself. Let it not abolish the laws of civil rulers. Let it not abolish lawful obedience" (AC XXVIII 12–13).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:19 make disciples. See note, 5:1. Jesus gives us the tools to make disciples: Baptism and His teaching. all nations. Not just the Jews, but Gentiles too (cf 10:5–6). baptizing them in the name. "Name" is singular, followed by the threefold naming of the divine persons. This illustrates the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. See p 1815. Those baptized in the name of the Father have God as their Father; baptized in the name of the Son, they receive all the benefits of the Son's redeeming act; baptized in the name of the Spirit, they receive the life-giving, life-sustaining power and presence of the Spirit. Christian Baptism is founded on this institution. See note, Nu 6:22–27. baptizing. Washing with the water of new birth. "Baptism is no human plaything, but it is instituted by God Himself" (LC IV 6). "It is necessary to baptize little children, that the promise of salvation may be applied to them, according to Christ's command to baptize all nations (Matthew 28:19). Just as in this passage salvation is offered to all, so Baptism is offered to all, to men, women, children, infants. It clearly follows, therefore, that infants are to be baptized, because salvation is offered with Baptism" (Ap IX 52).

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:20 teaching. Disciples are made not only through Baptism, but through the ongoing catechetical work of the Church. observe all. Christians are called to do more than "obey"; they are called to treasure God's Word in their hearts. commanded. Not only Christ's moral injunctions (the Law) but also His invitation to trust in Him (the Gospel). I am with you always. Not only in Spirit but also according to His human nature. See "be with," p 5. "He is present especially in His Church and congregation on earth as Mediator, Head, King, and High Priest. This presence is not a part, or only one half of Him. Christ's entire person is present, to which both natures belong, the divine and the human—not only according to His divinity, but also according to, and with, His received human nature" (FC SD VIII 78). end of the age. When He returns visibly.

MATTHEW—NOTE ON 28:16–20 Christ commissions His disciples to go and make disciples of all nations through Baptism and teaching. Christ promises to be with us, and He is the one who makes disciples through our baptizing and teaching. Today, remember your Baptism and confirmation in the faith, which are precious blessings for the Lord's disciples. His love and care are new for you every morning. • Send us, Lord, to make disciples in Your name in accordance with our callings in life. Amen.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

1 [1]†† The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.[1]
[2]†† As it is written in Isaiah the prophet,[2]

"Behold, I send my messenger before your face,
who will prepare your way,
[3]† the voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare[3] the way of the Lord,
make his paths straight,'"

[4]† John appeared, baptizing in the wilderness and proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. [5]† And all the country of Judea and all Jerusalem were going out to him and were being baptized by him in the river Jordan, confessing their sins. [6]† Now John was clothed with camel's hair and wore a leather belt around his waist and ate locusts and wild honey. [7]† And he preached, saying, "After me comes he who is mightier than I, the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to stoop down and untie. [8]† I have baptized you with water, but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit."

The Baptism of Jesus

9 ††In those days Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan. 10 † And when he came up out of the water, immediately he saw the heavens being torn open and the Spirit descending on him like a dove. 11 †And a voice came from heaven, “You are my beloved Son;[4] with you I am well pleased.”

The Temptation of Jesus

12 The Spirit immediately drove him out into the wilderness. 13 And he was in the wilderness forty days, being tempted by Satan. And he was with the wild animals, and the angels were ministering to him.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

14 ‡ † Now after John was arrested, Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the gospel of God, 15 † and saying, “The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent and believe in the gospel.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

16 ‡† Passing alongside the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew the brother of Simon casting a net into the sea, for they were fishermen. 17 † And Jesus said to them, “Follow me, and I will make you become fishers of men.” 18 † And immediately they left their nets and followed him. 19 † And going on a little farther, he saw James the son of Zebedee and John his brother, who were in their boat mending the nets. 20 † And immediately he called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants and followed him.

Jesus Heals a Man with an Unclean Spirit

[21] And they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath he entered the synagogue and was teaching. [22] And they were astonished at his teaching, for he taught them as one who had authority, and not as the scribes. [23] And immediately there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit. And he cried out, [24] "What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God." [25] But Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be silent, and come out of him!" [26] And the unclean spirit, convulsing him and crying out with a loud voice, came out of him. [27] And they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, "What is this? A new teaching with authority! He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey him." [28] And at once his fame spread everywhere throughout all the surrounding region of Galilee.

Jesus Heals Many

29 ‡ † And immediately he[1] left the synagogue and entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. 30 † Now Simon's mother-in-law lay ill with a fever, and immediately they told him about her. 31 † And he came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and the fever left her, and she began to serve them.

32 † That evening at sundown they brought to him all who were sick or oppressed by demons. 33 † And the whole city was gathered together at the door. 34 † And he healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons. And he would not permit the demons to speak, because they knew him.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

35 ✝ ✝ And rising very early in the morning, while it was still dark, he departed and went out to a desolate place, and there he prayed. 36 And Simon and those who were with him searched for him, 37 and they found him and said to him, “Everyone is looking for you.” 38 ✝ And he said to them, “Let us go on to the next towns, that I may preach there also, for that is why I came out.” 39 And he went throughout all Galilee, preaching in their synagogues and casting out demons.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

40 And a leper[2] came to him, imploring him, and kneeling said to him,
“If you will, you can make me clean.” 41 Moved with pity, he stretched out his hand and touched him and said to him, “I will; be clean.” 42 And immediately the leprosy left him, and he was made clean. 43 And Jesus[1] sternly charged him and sent him away at once, 44 and said to him, “See that you say nothing to anyone, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing what Moses commanded, for a proof to them.” 45 But he went out and began to talk freely about it, and to spread the news, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter a town, but was out in desolate places, and people were coming to him from every quarter.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

2 [1]†‡†And when he returned to Capernaum after some days, it was reported that he was at home. [2]And many were gathered together, so that there was no more room, not even at the door. And he was preaching the word to them. [3]†And they came, bringing to him a paralytic carried by four men. [4]†And when they could not get near him because of the crowd, they removed the roof above him, and when they had made an opening, they let down the bed on which the paralytic lay. [5]†And when Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Son, your sins are forgiven." [6]†Now some of the scribes were sitting there, questioning in their hearts, [7]†"Why does this man speak like that? He is blaspheming! Who can forgive sins but God alone?" [8]†And immediately Jesus, perceiving in his spirit that they thus questioned within themselves, said to them, "Why do you question these things in your hearts? [9]†Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Rise, take up your bed and walk'? [10]But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins"—he said to the paralytic — [11]‡"I say to you, rise, pick up your bed, and go home." [12]†And he rose and immediately picked up his bed and went out before them all, so that they were all amazed and glorified God, saying, "We never saw anything like this!"

Jesus Calls Levi

13 ‡ † He went out again beside the sea, and all the crowd was coming to him, and he was teaching them. 14 † And as he passed by, he saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax booth, and he said to him, “Follow me.” And he rose and followed him.

15 † And as he reclined at table in his house, many tax collectors and sinners were reclining with Jesus and his disciples, for there were many who followed him. 16 † And the scribes of[1] the Pharisees, when they saw that he was eating with sinners and tax collectors, said to his disciples, “Why does he eat[2] with tax collectors and sinners?” 17 † And when Jesus heard it, he said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners.”

A Question About Fasting

18 ✝ ✝Now John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting. And people came and said to him, "Why do John's disciples and the disciples of the Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not fast?" 19✝And Jesus said to them, "Can the wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast. 20The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast in that day. 21✝No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment. If he does, the patch tears away from it, the new from the old, and a worse tear is made. 22And no one puts new wine into old wineskins. If he does, the wine will burst the skins—and the wine is destroyed, and so are the skins.
But new wine is for fresh wineskins."[3]

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

23 ‡† One Sabbath he was going through the grainfields, and as they made their way, his disciples began to pluck heads of grain. 24 † And the Pharisees were saying to him, “Look, why are they doing what is not lawful on the Sabbath?” 25 ‡ And he said to them, “Have you never read what David did, when he was in need and was hungry, he and those who were with him:
26 how he entered the house of God, in the time of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the bread of the Presence, which it is not lawful for any but the priests to eat, and also gave it to those who were with him?” 27 † And he said to them, “The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. 28 † So the Son of Man is lord even of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

3 [1] ‡† Again he entered the synagogue, and a man was there with a withered hand. [2] † And they watched Jesus,[1] to see whether he would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse him. [3] And he said to the man with the withered hand, "Come here." [4] † And he said to them, "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to kill?" But they were silent. [5] † And he looked around at them with anger, grieved at their hardness of heart, and said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He stretched it out, and his hand was restored. [6] † The Pharisees went out and immediately held counsel with the Herodians against him, how to destroy him.

A Great Crowd Follows Jesus

7 ‡ ‡ Jesus withdrew with his disciples to the sea, and a great crowd followed, from Galilee and Judea 8 and Jerusalem and Idumea and from beyond the Jordan and from around Tyre and Sidon. When the great crowd heard all that he was doing, they came to him. 9 † And he told his disciples to have a boat ready for him because of the crowd, lest they crush him, 10 † for he had healed many, so that all who had diseases pressed around him to touch him. 11 ‡ And whenever the unclean spirits saw him, they fell down before him and cried out, “You are the Son of God.” 12 And he strictly ordered them not to make him known.

The Twelve Apostles

13 ‡ † And he went up on the mountain and called to him those whom he desired, and they came to him. 14 ‡ And he appointed twelve (whom he also named apostles) so that they might be with him and he might send them out to preach 15 and have authority to cast out demons. 16 † He appointed the twelve: Simon (to whom he gave the name Peter); 17 † James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James (to whom he gave the name Boanerges, that is, Sons of Thunder); 18 † Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the Cananaean, 19 † and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed him.

20 † Then he went home, and the crowd gathered again, so that they could not even eat. 21 † And when his family heard it, they went out to seize him, for they were saying, “He is out of his mind.”

Blasphemy Against the Holy Spirit

22 ‡ † And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem were saying, “He is possessed by Beelzebul,” and “by the prince of demons he casts out the demons.” 23 † And he called them to him and said to them in parables, “How can Satan cast out Satan? 24 If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. 25 † And if a house is divided against itself, that house will not be able to stand. 26 And if Satan has risen up against himself and is divided, he cannot stand, but is coming to an end. 27 † But no one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. Then indeed he may plunder his house.
28 † “Truly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the children of man, and whatever blasphemies they utter, 29 ‡ but whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is guilty of an eternal sin”— 30 for they were saying, “He has an unclean spirit.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers

31 And his mother and his brothers came, and standing outside they sent to him and called him. 32 And a crowd was sitting around him, and they said to him, “Your mother and your brothers[1] are outside, seeking you.” 33 And he answered them, “Who are my mother and my brothers?” 34 And looking about at those who sat around him, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers! 35 For whoever does the will of God, he is my brother and sister and mother.”

The Parable of the Sower

4 [1]‡‡‡†Again he began to teach beside the sea. And a very large crowd gathered about him, so that he got into a boat and sat in it on the sea, and the whole crowd was beside the sea on the land. [2]And he was teaching them many things in parables, and in his teaching he said to them:
[3]†"Listen! A sower went out to sow. [4]†And as he sowed, some seed fell along the path, and the birds came and devoured it. [5]‡Other seed fell on rocky ground, where it did not have much soil, and immediately it sprang up, since it had no depth of soil. [6]And when the sun rose, it was scorched, and since it had no root, it withered away. [7]†Other seed fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no grain. [8]†And other seeds fell into good soil and produced grain, growing up and increasing and yielding thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold." [9]†And he said, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear."

The Purpose of the Parables

10 And when he was alone, those around him with the twelve asked him about the parables. 11 And he said to them, "To you has been given the secret of the kingdom of God, but for those outside everything is in parables, 12 so that > "they may indeed see but not perceive,

> and may indeed hear but not understand, > lest they should turn and be forgiven."

13 And he said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables? 14 The sower sows the word. 15 And these are the ones along the path, where the word is sown: when they hear, Satan immediately comes and takes away the word that is sown in them. 16 And these are the ones sown on rocky ground: the ones who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with joy. 17 And they have no root in themselves, but endure for a while; then, when tribulation or persecution arises on account of the word, immediately they fall away.[1] 18 And others are the ones sown among thorns. They are those who hear the word, 19 but the cares of the world and the deceitfulness of riches and the desires for other things enter in and choke the word, and it proves unfruitful. 20 But those that were sown on the good soil are the ones who hear the word and accept it and bear fruit, thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold."

A Lamp Under a Basket

[21] And he said to them, “Is a lamp brought in to be put under a basket, or under a bed, and not on a stand? [22] For nothing is hidden except to be made manifest; nor is anything secret except to come to light. [23] If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.” [24] And he said to them, “Pay attention to what you hear: with the measure you use, it will be measured to you, and still more will be added to you. [25] For to the one who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.”

The Parable of the Seed Growing

[26] ‡ ‡ ‡ And he said, “The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground. [27] † He sleeps and rises night and day, and the seed sprouts and grows; he knows not how. [28] † The earth produces by itself, first the blade, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear. [29] † But when the grain is ripe, at once he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come.”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

30 ‡ † And he said, “With what can we compare the kingdom of God, or what parable shall we use for it? 31 † It is like a grain of mustard seed, which, when sown on the ground, is the smallest of all the seeds on earth, 32 † yet when it is sown it grows up and becomes larger than all the garden plants and puts out large branches, so that the birds of the air can make nests in its shade.”

33 † With many such parables he spoke the word to them, as they were able to hear it. 34 † He did not speak to them without a parable, but privately to his own disciples he explained everything.

Jesus Calms a Storm

35 ‡ † On that day, when evening had come, he said to them, “Let us go across to the other side.” 36 † And leaving the crowd, they took him with them in the boat, just as he was. And other boats were with him. 37 † And a great windstorm arose, and the waves were breaking into the boat, so that the boat was already filling. 38 † But he was in the stern, asleep on the cushion. And they woke him and said to him, “Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?” 39 † And he awoke and rebuked the wind and said to the sea, “Peace! Be still!” And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.
40 † He said to them, “Why are you so afraid? Have you still no faith?”
41 † And they were filled with great fear and said to one another, “Who then is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?”

Jesus Heals a Man with a Demon

5 [1]†‡†They came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gerasenes.[1] [2]†And when Jesus[2] had stepped out of the boat, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit. [3]He lived among the tombs. And no one could bind him anymore, not even with a chain, [4]† for he had often been bound with shackles and chains, but he wrenched the chains apart, and he broke the shackles in pieces. No one had the strength to subdue him. [5]†Night and day among the tombs and on the mountains he was always crying out and cutting himself with stones. [6]And when he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and fell down before him. [7]† And crying out with a loud voice, he said, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I adjure you by God, do not torment me." [8]For he was saying to him, "Come out of the man, you unclean spirit!" [9]†And Jesus asked him, "What is your name?" He replied, "My name is Legion, for we are many." [10]†And he begged him earnestly not to send them out of the country. [11]‡Now a great herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, [12]† and they begged him, saying, "Send us to the pigs; let us enter them." [13]† So he gave them permission. And the unclean spirits came out, and entered the pigs, and the herd, numbering about two thousand, rushed down the steep bank into the sea and were drowned in the sea.

[14]† The herdsmen fled and told it in the city and in the country. And people came to see what it was that had happened. [15]†And they came to Jesus and saw the demon-possessed[1] man, the one who had had the legion, sitting there, clothed and in his right mind, and they were afraid. [16]And those who had seen it described to them what had happened to the demon-possessed man and to the pigs. [17]†And they began to beg Jesus[2] to depart from their region. [18]As he was getting into the boat, the man who had been possessed with demons begged him that he might be with him. [19]‡And he did not permit him but said to him, "Go home to your friends and tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how he has had mercy on you." [20]And he went away and began to proclaim in the Decapolis how much Jesus had done for him, and everyone marveled.

Jesus Heals a Woman and Jairus's Daughter

21 ‡ ‡And when Jesus had crossed again in the boat to the other side, a great crowd gathered about him, and he was beside the sea. 22 †Then came one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name, and seeing him, he fell at his feet 23 †and implored him earnestly, saying, "My little daughter is at the point of death. Come and lay your hands on her, so that she may be made well and live." 24 ‡And he went with him.

And a great crowd followed him and thronged about him. 25 †And there was a woman who had had a discharge of blood for twelve years, 26 †and who had suffered much under many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was no better but rather grew worse. 27 †She had heard the reports about Jesus and came up behind him in the crowd and touched his garment.
28 For she said, "If I touch even his garments, I will be made well." 29 †And immediately the flow of blood dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of her disease. 30 ‡And Jesus, perceiving in himself that power had gone out from him, immediately turned about in the crowd and said,
"Who touched my garments?" 31 And his disciples said to him, "You see the crowd pressing around you, and yet you say, 'Who touched me?'" 32 And he looked around to see who had done it. 33 †But the woman, knowing what had happened to her, came in fear and trembling and fell down before him and told him the whole truth. 34 †And he said to her, "Daughter, your faith has made you well; go in peace, and be healed of your disease."

35 †While he was still speaking, there came from the ruler's house some who said, "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?" 36 But overhearing[3] what they said, Jesus said to the ruler of the synagogue,
"Do not fear, only believe." 37 ‡And he allowed no one to follow him except Peter and James and John the brother of James. 38 They came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and Jesus[1] saw a commotion, people weeping and wailing loudly. 39 †And when he had entered, he said to them, "Why are you making a commotion and weeping? The child is not dead but sleeping." 40 †And they laughed at him. But he put them all outside and took the child's father and mother and those who were with him and went in where the child was. [41]†Taking her by the hand he said to her, “Talitha cumi,” which means, “Little girl, I say to you, arise.” [42]And immediately the girl got up and began walking (for she was twelve years of age), and they were immediately overcome with amazement. [43]† And he strictly charged them that no one should know this, and told them to give her something to eat.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

6 [1] ‡ † He went away from there and came to his hometown, and his disciples followed him. [2] † And on the Sabbath he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astonished, saying, “Where did this man get these things? What is the wisdom given to him? How are such mighty works done by his hands? [3] † Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?” And they took offense at him. [4] † And Jesus said to them, “A prophet is not without honor, except in his hometown and among his relatives and in his own household.” [5] † And he could do no mighty work there, except that he laid his hands on a few sick people and healed them.
[6] † And he marveled because of their unbelief.

And he went about among the villages teaching.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

7 ‡† And he called the twelve and began to send them out two by two, and gave them authority over the unclean spirits. 8 ‡ He charged them to take nothing for their journey except a staff—no bread, no bag, no money in their belts— 9 but to wear sandals and not put on two tunics.[1] 10 † And he said to them, “Whenever you enter a house, stay there until you depart from there. 11 † And if any place will not receive you and they will not listen to you, when you leave, shake off the dust that is on your feet as a testimony against them.” 12 † So they went out and proclaimed that people should repent. 13 † And they cast out many demons and anointed with oil many who were sick and healed them.

The Death of John the Baptist

14 King Herod heard of it, for Jesus'[2] name had become known.
Some[3] said, "John the Baptist[4] has been raised from the dead. That is why these miraculous powers are at work in him." 15 But others said, "He is Elijah." And others said, "He is a prophet, like one of the prophets of old." 16 But when Herod heard of it, he said, "John, whom I beheaded, has been raised." 17 For it was Herod who had sent and seized John and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, because he had married her. 18 For John had been saying to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife." 19 And Herodias had a grudge against him and wanted to put him to death. But she could not, 20 for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a righteous and holy man, and he kept him safe. When he heard him, he was greatly perplexed, and yet he heard him gladly.

21 But an opportunity came when Herod on his birthday gave a banquet for his nobles and military commanders and the leading men of Galilee.
22 For when Herodias's daughter came in and danced, she pleased Herod and his guests. And the king said to the girl, "Ask me for whatever you wish, and I will give it to you." 23 And he vowed to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half of my kingdom." 24 And she went out and said to her mother, "For what should I ask?" And she said, "The head of John the Baptist." 25 And she came in immediately with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter." 26 And the king was exceedingly sorry, but because of his oaths and his guests he did not want to break his word to her. 27 And immediately the king sent an executioner with orders to bring John's[5] head.
He went and beheaded him in the prison 28 and brought his head on a platter and gave it to the girl, and the girl gave it to her mother. 29 When his disciples heard of it, they came and took his body and laid it in a tomb.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

30 ‡† The apostles returned to Jesus and told him all that they had done and taught. 31 ‡ And he said to them, “Come away by yourselves to a desolate place and rest a while.” For many were coming and going, and they had no leisure even to eat. 32 † And they went away in the boat to a desolate place by themselves. 33 Now many saw them going and recognized them, and they ran there on foot from all the towns and got there ahead of them. 34 † When he went ashore he saw a great crowd, and he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. And he began to teach them many things. 35 ‡ And when it grew late, his disciples came to him and said, “This is a desolate place, and the hour is now late. 36 Send them away to go into the surrounding countryside and villages and buy themselves something to eat.” 37 † But he answered them, “You give them something to eat.” And they said to him, “Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii[1] worth of bread and give it to them to eat?” 38 † And he said to them, “How many loaves do you have? Go and see.” And when they had found out, they said, “Five, and two fish.” 39 † Then he commanded them all to sit down in groups on the green grass. 40 So they sat down in groups, by hundreds and by fifties. 41 † And taking the five loaves and the two fish he looked up to heaven and said a blessing and broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples to set before the people. And he divided the two fish among them all. 42 ‡ And they all ate and were satisfied. 43 And they took up twelve baskets full of broken pieces and of the fish. 44 And those who ate the loaves were five thousand men.

Jesus Walks on the Water

45 ‡ † Immediately he made his disciples get into the boat and go before him to the other side, to Bethsaida, while he dismissed the crowd. 46 † And after he had taken leave of them, he went up on the mountain to pray.
47 † And when evening came, the boat was out on the sea, and he was alone on the land. 48 † And he saw that they were making headway painfully, for the wind was against them. And about the fourth watch of the night[2] he came to them, walking on the sea. He meant to pass by them, 49 ‡ but when they saw him walking on the sea they thought it was a ghost, and cried out, 50 for they all saw him and were terrified. But immediately he spoke to them and said, “Take heart; it is I. Do not be afraid.” 51 ‡ And he got into the boat with them, and the wind ceased. And they were utterly astounded, 52 † for they did not understand about the loaves, but their hearts were hardened.

Jesus Heals the Sick in Gennesaret

53 ‡ † When they had crossed over, they came to land at Gennesaret and moored to the shore. 54 † And when they got out of the boat, the people immediately recognized him 55 ‡ and ran about the whole region and began to bring the sick people on their beds to wherever they heard he was. 56 And wherever he came, in villages, cities, or countryside, they laid the sick in the marketplaces and implored him that they might touch even the fringe of his garment. And as many as touched it were made well.

Traditions and Commandments

7 [1] ‡ † Now when the Pharisees gathered to him, with some of the scribes who had come from Jerusalem, [2] † they saw that some of his disciples ate with hands that were defiled, that is, unwashed. [3] ‡ (For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash[1] their hands, holding to the tradition of the elders, [4] and when they come from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash.[2] And there are many other traditions that they observe, such as the washing of cups and pots and copper vessels and dining couches.[3]) [5] † And the Pharisees and the scribes asked him, "Why do your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat with defiled hands?" [6] ‡ And he said to them, "Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written,

> "'This people honors me with their lips,
> but their heart is far from me;
> [7] in vain do they worship me, > teaching as doctrines the commandments of > men.'

[9] ‡ And he said to them, "You have a fine way of rejecting the commandment of God in order to establish your tradition! [10] For Moses said, 'Honor your father and your mother'; and, 'Whoever reviles father or mother must surely die.' [11] But you say, 'If a man tells his father or his mother, "Whatever you would have gained from me is Corban"' (that is, given to God)[1]— [12] then you no longer permit him to do anything for his father or mother, [13] † thus making void the word of God by your tradition that you have handed down. And many such things you do."

What Defiles a Person

14 And he called the people to him again and said to them, “Hear me, all of you, and understand: 15 There is nothing outside a person that by going into him can defile him, but the things that come out of a person are what defile him.”[2] 17 And when he had entered the house and left the people, his disciples asked him about the parable. 18 And he said to them, “Then are you also without understanding? Do you not see that whatever goes into a person from outside cannot defile him, 19 since it enters not his heart but his stomach, and is expelled?”[3] (Thus he declared all foods clean.) 20 And he said, “What comes out of a person is what defiles him. 21 For from within, out of the heart of man, come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, theft, murder, adultery, 22 coveting, wickedness, deceit, sensuality, envy, slander, pride, foolishness. 23 All these evil things come from within, and they defile a person.”

The Syrophoenician Woman's Faith

24 ‡ † And from there he arose and went away to the region of Tyre and Sidon.[4] And he entered a house and did not want anyone to know, yet he could not be hidden. 25 But immediately a woman whose little daughter had an unclean spirit heard of him and came and fell down at his feet. 26 † Now the woman was a Gentile, a Syrophoenician by birth. And she begged him to cast the demon out of her daughter. 27 † And he said to her, "Let the children be fed first, for it is not right to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs." 28 † But she answered him, "Yes, Lord; yet even the dogs under the table eat the children's crumbs." 29 ‡ And he said to her, "For this statement you may go your way; the demon has left your daughter." 30 And she went home and found the child lying in bed and the demon gone.

Jesus Heals a Deaf Man

31 ‡† Then he returned from the region of Tyre and went through Sidon to the Sea of Galilee, in the region of the Decapolis. 32 † And they brought to him a man who was deaf and had a speech impediment, and they begged him to lay his hand on him. 33 † And taking him aside from the crowd privately, he put his fingers into his ears, and after spitting touched his tongue. 34 ‡ And looking up to heaven, he sighed and said to him,
"Ephphatha," that is, "Be opened." 35 And his ears were opened, his tongue was released, and he spoke plainly. 36 † And Jesus[1] charged them to tell no one. But the more he charged them, the more zealously they proclaimed it.
37 † And they were astonished beyond measure, saying, "He has done all things well. He even makes the deaf hear and the mute speak."

Jesus Feeds the Four Thousand

8 [1]‡†In those days, when again a great crowd had gathered, and they had nothing to eat, he called his disciples to him and said to them, [2]†“I have compassion on the crowd, because they have been with me now three days and have nothing to eat. [3]†And if I send them away hungry to their homes, they will faint on the way. And some of them have come from far away.” [4]† And his disciples answered him, “How can one feed these people with bread here in this desolate place?” [5]‡ And he asked them, “How many loaves do you have?” They said, “Seven.” [6]† And he directed the crowd to sit down on the ground. And he took the seven loaves, and having given thanks, he broke them and gave them to his disciples to set before the people; and they set them before the crowd. [7]† And they had a few small fish. And having blessed them, he said that these also should be set before them. [8]† And they ate and were satisfied. And they took up the broken pieces left over, seven baskets full. [9]And there were about four thousand people. And he sent them away. [10]† And immediately he got into the boat with his disciples and went to the district of Dalmanutha.[2]

The Pharisees Demand a Sign

11 The Pharisees came and began to argue with him, seeking from him a sign from heaven to test him. 12 And he sighed deeply in his spirit and said, "Why does this generation seek a sign? Truly, I say to you, no sign will be given to this generation." 13 And he left them, got into the boat again, and went to the other side.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

14 ‡‡Now they had forgotten to bring bread, and they had only one loaf with them in the boat. 15 †And he cautioned them, saying, “Watch out; beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod.”[1] 16 †And they began discussing with one another the fact that they had no bread.
17 ‡†And Jesus, aware of this, said to them, “Why are you discussing the fact that you have no bread? Do you not yet perceive or understand? Are your hearts hardened? 18 Having eyes do you not see, and having ears do you not hear? And do you not remember? 19 When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of broken pieces did you take up?” They said to him, “Twelve.” 20 “And the seven for the four thousand, how many baskets full of broken pieces did you take up?” And they said to him, “Seven.” 21 †And he said to them, “Do you not yet understand?”

Jesus Heals a Blind Man at Bethsaida

22 ††And they came to Bethsaida. And some people brought to him a blind man and begged him to touch him. 23 †And he took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the village, and when he had spit on his eyes and laid his hands on him, he asked him, “Do you see anything?” 24 †And he looked up and said, “I see men, but they look like trees, walking.” 25 †Then Jesus[2] laid his hands on his eyes again; and he opened his eyes, his sight was restored, and he saw everything clearly. 26 †And he sent him to his home, saying, “Do not even enter the village.”

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

27 ✝ ✝ And Jesus went on with his disciples to the villages of Caesarea Philippi. And on the way he asked his disciples, “Who do people say that I am?” 28 ✝ And they told him, “John the Baptist; and others say, Elijah; and others, one of the prophets.” 29 ✝ And he asked them, “But who do you say that I am?” Peter answered him, “You are the Christ.” 30 ✝ And he strictly charged them to tell no one about him.

Jesus Foretells His Death and Resurrection

31 ‡ † And he began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes and be killed, and after three days rise again. 32 † And he said this plainly. And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him. 33 † But turning and seeing his disciples, he rebuked Peter and said, "Get behind me, Satan! For you are not setting your mind on the things of God, but on the things of man." 34 ‡ † And calling the crowd to him with his disciples, he said to them, "If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. 35 † For whoever would save his life[1] will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and the gospel's will save it. 36 ‡ For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his soul? 37 For what can a man give in return for his soul? 38 † For whoever is ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him will the Son of Man also be ashamed when he comes in the glory of his Father with the holy angels."

9 1 † And he said to them, "Truly, I say to you, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God after it has come with power."

The Transfiguration

2 ††And after six days Jesus took with him Peter and James and John, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. And he was transfigured before them, 3 †and his clothes became radiant, intensely white, as no one[2] on earth could bleach them. 4 †And there appeared to them Elijah with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus. 5 †And Peter said to Jesus, "Rabbi,[3] it is good that we are here. Let us make three tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah." 6 †For he did not know what to say, for they were terrified. 7 †And a cloud overshadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloud, "This is my beloved Son;[1] listen to him." 8 And suddenly, looking around, they no longer saw anyone with them but Jesus only.

9 †And as they were coming down the mountain, he charged them to tell no one what they had seen, until the Son of Man had risen from the dead.
10 †So they kept the matter to themselves, questioning what this rising from the dead might mean. 11 †And they asked him, "Why do the scribes say that first Elijah must come?" 12 †And he said to them, "Elijah does come first to restore all things. And how is it written of the Son of Man that he should suffer many things and be treated with contempt? 13 †But I tell you that Elijah has come, and they did to him whatever they pleased, as it is written of him."

Jesus Heals a Boy with an Unclean Spirit

14 ‡ † And when they came to the disciples, they saw a great crowd around them, and scribes arguing with them. 15 And immediately all the crowd, when they saw him, were greatly amazed and ran up to him and greeted him. 16 And he asked them, “What are you arguing about with them?” 17 † And someone from the crowd answered him, “Teacher, I brought my son to you, for he has a spirit that makes him mute. 18 † And whenever it seizes him, it throws him down, and he foams and grinds his teeth and becomes rigid. So I asked your disciples to cast it out, and they were not able.” 19 † And he answered them, “O faithless generation, how long am I to be with you? How long am I to bear with you? Bring him to me.” 20 And they brought the boy to him. And when the spirit saw him, immediately it convulsed the boy, and he fell on the ground and rolled about, foaming at the mouth. 21 † And Jesus asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?” And he said, “From childhood. 22 † And it has often cast him into fire and into water, to destroy him. But if you can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.” 23 † And Jesus said to him, “‘If you can’! All things are possible for one who believes.” 24 † Immediately the father of the child cried out[2] and said, “I believe; help my unbelief!” 25 ‡ † And when Jesus saw that a crowd came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, “You mute and deaf spirit, I command you, come out of him and never enter him again.” 26 And after crying out and convulsing him terribly, it came out, and the boy was like a corpse, so that most of them said, “He is dead.” 27 But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose. 28 † And when he had entered the house, his disciples asked him privately, “Why could we not cast it out?” 29 † And he said to them, “This kind cannot be driven out by anything but prayer.”[1]

Jesus Again Foretells Death, Resurrection

[30] They went on from there and passed through Galilee. And he did not want anyone to know, [31] for he was teaching his disciples, saying to them,
"The Son of Man is going to be delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill him. And when he is killed, after three days he will rise." [32] But they did not understand the saying, and were afraid to ask him.

Who Is the Greatest?

[33] ‡ † And they came to Capernaum. And when he was in the house he asked them, “What were you discussing on the way?” [34] † But they kept silent, for on the way they had argued with one another about who was the greatest. [35] † And he sat down and called the twelve. And he said to them, “If anyone would be first, he must be last of all and servant of all.” [36] And he took a child and put him in the midst of them, and taking him in his arms, he said to them, [37] † “Whoever receives one such child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me, receives not me but him who sent me.”

Anyone Not Against Us Is for Us

38 ‡ ‡John said to him, “Teacher, we saw someone casting out demons in your name,[2] and we tried to stop him, because he was not following us.” 39 ‡But Jesus said, “Do not stop him, for no one who does a mighty work in my name will be able soon afterward to speak evil of me. 40For the one who is not against us is for us. 41 ‡For truly, I say to you, whoever gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ will by no means lose his reward.

Temptations to Sin

42 ‡‡“Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin,[3] it would be better for him if a great millstone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea. 43 †And if your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life crippled than with two hands to go to hell,[4] to the unquenchable fire.[5] 45 And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame than with two feet to be thrown into hell. 47 †And if your eye causes you to sin, tear it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye than with two eyes to be thrown into hell, 48 †‘where their worm does not die and the fire is not quenched.’ 49 †For everyone will be salted with fire.[1] 50 †Salt is good, but if the salt has lost its saltiness, how will you make it salty again? Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with one another.”

Teaching About Divorce

10 [1]And he left there and went to the region of Judea and beyond the Jordan, and crowds gathered to him again. And again, as was his custom, he taught them.
[2]And Pharisees came up and in order to test him asked, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?” [3]He answered them, “What did Moses command you?” [4]They said, “Moses allowed a man to write a certificate of divorce and to send her away.” [5]And Jesus said to them, “Because of your hardness of heart he wrote you this commandment. [6] But from the beginning of creation, ‘God made them male and female.’ [7]‘Therefore a man shall leave his father and mother and hold fast to his wife,[2] [8]and the two shall become one flesh.’ So they are no longer two but one flesh. [9]What therefore God has joined together, let not man separate.”
[10]And in the house the disciples asked him again about this matter.
[11]And he said to them, “Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her, [12]and if she divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery.”

Let the Children Come to Me

[13] ‡ † And they were bringing children to him that he might touch them, and the disciples rebuked them. [14] † But when Jesus saw it, he was indignant and said to them, “Let the children come to me; do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God. [15] † Truly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it.” [16] † And he took them in his arms and blessed them, laying his hands on them.

The Rich Young Man

17 ‡ † And as he was setting out on his journey, a man ran up and knelt before him and asked him, “Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?” 18 † And Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone. 19 † You know the commandments: ‘Do not murder, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honor your father and mother.’” 20 And he said to him, “Teacher, all these I have kept from my youth.” 21 † And Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, “You lack one thing: go, sell all that you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” 22 Disheartened by the saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

23 And Jesus looked around and said to his disciples, “How difficult it will be for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God!” 24 ‡ † And the disciples were amazed at his words. But Jesus said to them again, “Children, how difficult it is[1] to enter the kingdom of God! 25 † It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God.” 26 † And they were exceedingly astonished, and said to him,[2] “Then who can be saved?” 27 † Jesus looked at them and said, “With man it is impossible, but not with God. For all things are possible with God.” 28 † Peter began to say to him, “See, we have left everything and followed you.” 29 † Jesus said, “Truly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands, for my sake and for the gospel, 30 † who will not receive a hundredfold now in this time, houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions, and in the age to come eternal life. 31 † But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

32 ✝✝And they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was walking ahead of them. And they were amazed, and those who followed were afraid. And taking the twelve again, he began to tell them what was to happen to him, 33✝saying, “See, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be delivered over to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will condemn him to death and deliver him over to the Gentiles. 34✝And they will mock him and spit on him, and flog him and kill him. And after three days he will rise.”

The Request of James and John

35 ‡† And James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came up to him and said to him, “Teacher, we want you to do for us whatever we ask of you.” 36 And he said to them, “What do you want me to do for you?” 37 † And they said to him, “Grant us to sit, one at your right hand and one at your left, in your glory.” 38 † Jesus said to them, “You do not know what you are asking. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, or to be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized?” 39 † And they said to him, “We are able.” And Jesus said to them, “The cup that I drink you will drink, and with the baptism with which I am baptized, you will be baptized, 40 † but to sit at my right hand or at my left is not mine to grant, but it is for those for whom it has been prepared.” 41 † And when the ten heard it, they began to be indignant at James and John. 42 ‡ And Jesus called them to him and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. 43 But it shall not be so among you. But whoever would be great among you must be your servant,[1] 44 and whoever would be first among you must be slave[2] of all.
45 † For even the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.”

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

46 ‡ † And they came to Jericho. And as he was leaving Jericho with his disciples and a great crowd, Bartimaeus, a blind beggar, the son of Timaeus, was sitting by the roadside. 47 † And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” 48 † And many rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!” 49 And Jesus stopped and said, “Call him.” And they called the blind man, saying to him, “Take heart. Get up; he is calling you.” 50 † And throwing off his cloak, he sprang up and came to Jesus. 51 † And Jesus said to him, “What do you want me to do for you?” And the blind man said to him, “Rabbi, let me recover my sight.”
52 † And Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your faith has made you well.”
And immediately he recovered his sight and followed him on the way.

The Triumphal Entry

11 [1]‡†Now when they drew near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, Jesus[3] sent two of his disciples [2]†and said to them, "Go into the village in front of you, and immediately as you enter it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever sat. Untie it and bring it. [3]†If anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' say, 'The Lord has need of it and will send it back here immediately.'" [4]And they went away and found a colt tied at a door outside in the street, and they untied it. [5]And some of those standing there said to them, "What are you doing, untying the colt?" [6]And they told them what Jesus had said, and they let them go. [7]‡And they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their cloaks on it, and he sat on it. [8]† And many spread their cloaks on the road, and others spread leafy branches that they had cut from the fields. [9]‡And those who went before and those who followed were shouting, "Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! [10]Blessed is the coming kingdom of our father David! Hosanna in the highest!"

[11]†And he entered Jerusalem and went into the temple. And when he had looked around at everything, as it was already late, he went out to Bethany with the twelve.

Jesus Curses the Fig Tree

12 ‡‡On the following day, when they came from Bethany, he was hungry.
13 ‡And seeing in the distance a fig tree in leaf, he went to see if he could find anything on it. When he came to it, he found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs. 14 ‡And he said to it, “May no one ever eat fruit from you again.” And his disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

15 ‡ ‡ ‡ And they came to Jerusalem. And he entered the temple and began to drive out those who sold and those who bought in the temple, and he overturned the tables of the money-changers and the seats of those who sold pigeons. 16 † And he would not allow anyone to carry anything through the temple. 17 † And he was teaching them and saying to them, “Is it not written, ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations’? But you have made it a den of robbers.” 18 † And the chief priests and the scribes heard it and were seeking a way to destroy him, for they feared him, because all the crowd was astonished at his teaching. 19 And when evening came they[1] went out of the city.

The Lesson from the Withered Fig Tree

20 ‡ † As they passed by in the morning, they saw the fig tree withered away to its roots. 21 † And Peter remembered and said to him, “Rabbi, look!
The fig tree that you cursed has withered.” 22 ‡ And Jesus answered them, “Have faith in God. 23 Truly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, ‘Be taken up and thrown into the sea,’ and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that what he says will come to pass, it will be done for him.
24 Therefore I tell you, whatever you ask in prayer, believe that you have received[2] it, and it will be yours. 25 † And whenever you stand praying, forgive, if you have anything against anyone, so that your Father also who is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.”[1]

The Authority of Jesus Challenged

[27] ‡ † And they came again to Jerusalem. And as he was walking in the temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders came to him, [28] † and they said to him, “By what authority are you doing these things, or who gave you this authority to do them?” [29] ‡ Jesus said to them, “I will ask you one question; answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things. [30] † Was the baptism of John from heaven or from man? Answer me.” [31] And they discussed it with one another, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ he will say, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’ [32] † But shall we say, ‘From man’?”—they were afraid of the people, for they all held that John really was a prophet. [33] † So they answered Jesus, “We do not know.” And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

The Parable of the Tenants

12 [1]‡‡†And he began to speak to them in parables. “A man planted a vineyard and put a fence around it and dug a pit for the winepress and built a tower, and leased it to tenants and went into another country. [2]†When the season came, he sent a servant[2] to the tenants to get from them some of the fruit of the vineyard. [3]†And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed. [4]Again he sent to them another servant, and they struck him on the head and treated him shamefully. [5]† And he sent another, and him they killed. And so with many others: some they beat, and some they killed.
[6]†He had still one other, a beloved son. Finally he sent him to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’ [7]†But those tenants said to one another, ‘This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.’ [8]†And they took him and killed him and threw him out of the vineyard. [9]What will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the tenants and give the vineyard to others. [10]‡†Have you not read this Scripture:

> “‘The stone that the builders rejected
> has become the cornerstone;[3] > [11] this was the Lord’s doing, > and it is marvelous in our eyes’?”

[12]† And they were seeking to arrest him but feared the people, for they perceived that he had told the parable against them. So they left him and went away.

Paying Taxes to Caesar

13 ‡ † And they sent to him some of the Pharisees and some of the Herodians, to trap him in his talk. 14 † And they came and said to him, “Teacher, we know that you are true and do not care about anyone’s opinion. For you are not swayed by appearances,[1] but truly teach the way of God. Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not? Should we pay them, or should we not?” 15 ‡ † But, knowing their hypocrisy, he said to them, “Why put me to the test? Bring me a denarius[2] and let me look at it.” 16 And they brought one. And he said to them, “Whose likeness and inscription is this?”
They said to him, “Caesar’s.” 17 † Jesus said to them, “Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.” And they marveled at him.

The Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

18 ✝✝And Sadducees came to him, who say that there is no resurrection.
And they asked him a question, saying, 19 ✝"Teacher, Moses wrote for us that if a man's brother dies and leaves a wife, but leaves no child, the man[3] must take the widow and raise up offspring for his brother. 20There were seven brothers; the first took a wife, and when he died left no offspring.
21And the second took her, and died, leaving no offspring. And the third likewise. 22And the seven left no offspring. Last of all the woman also died.
23✝In the resurrection, when they rise again, whose wife will she be? For the seven had her as wife."

24✝Jesus said to them, "Is this not the reason you are wrong, because you know neither the Scriptures nor the power of God? 25✝For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. 26✝And as for the dead being raised, have you not read in the book of Moses, in the passage about the bush, how God spoke to him, saying, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'? 27✝He is not God of the dead, but of the living. You are quite wrong."

The Great Commandment

28 ✝ ✝ And one of the scribes came up and heard them disputing with one another, and seeing that he answered them well, asked him, “Which commandment is the most important of all?” 29 ✝ Jesus answered, “The most important is, ‘Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one. 30 And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.’ 31 The second is this: ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no other commandment greater than these.” 32 And the scribe said to him, “You are right, Teacher.
You have truly said that he is one, and there is no other besides him. 33 ✝ And to love him with all the heart and with all the understanding and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, is much more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.” 34 ✝ And when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, he said to him, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.” And after that no one dared to ask him any more questions.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

35 ✝✝ And as Jesus taught in the temple, he said, “How can the scribes say that the Christ is the son of David? 36 ✝ David himself, in the Holy Spirit, declared,

> “‘The Lord said to my Lord,
> Sit at my right hand,
> until I put your enemies under your feet.’

37 ✝ David himself calls him Lord. So how is he his son?” And the great throng heard him gladly.

Beware of the Scribes

38 And in his teaching he said, “Beware of the scribes, who like to walk around in long robes and like greetings in the marketplaces 39 and have the best seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at feasts, 40 who devour widows’ houses and for a pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation.”

The Widow’s Offering

41 And he sat down opposite the treasury and watched the people putting money into the offering box. Many rich people put in large sums.
42 And a poor widow came and put in two small copper coins, which make a penny.[1] 43 And he called his disciples to him and said to them, “Truly, I say to you, this poor widow has put in more than all those who are contributing to the offering box. 44 For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty has put in everything she had, all she had to live on.”

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

13 [1] ‡† And as he came out of the temple, one of his disciples said to him, “Look, Teacher, what wonderful stones and what wonderful buildings!” [2] † And Jesus said to him, “Do you see these great buildings? There will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down.”

Signs of the Close of the Age

3 And as he sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him privately, 4 "Tell us, when will these things be, and what will be the sign when all these things are about to be accomplished?" 5 And Jesus began to say to them, "See that no one leads you astray. 6 Many will come in my name, saying, 'I am he!' and they will lead many astray. 7 And when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be alarmed. This must take place, but the end is not yet. 8 For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes in various places; there will be famines. These are but the beginning of the birth pains.

9 "But be on your guard. For they will deliver you over to councils, and you will be beaten in synagogues, and you will stand before governors and kings for my sake, to bear witness before them. 10 And the gospel must first be proclaimed to all nations. 11 And when they bring you to trial and deliver you over, do not be anxious beforehand what you are to say, but say whatever is given you in that hour, for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit. 12 And brother will deliver brother over to death, and the father his child, and children will rise against parents and have them put to death.
13 And you will be hated by all for my name's sake. But the one who endures to the end will be saved.

The Abomination of Desolation

14 “But when you see the abomination of desolation standing where he ought not to be (let the reader understand), then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains. 15 Let the one who is on the housetop not go down, nor enter his house, to take anything out, 16 and let the one who is in the field not turn back to take his cloak. 17 And alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! 18 Pray that it may not happen in winter. 19 For in those days there will be such tribulation as has not been from the beginning of the creation that God created until now, and never will be. 20 And if the Lord had not cut short the days, no human being would be saved. But for the sake of the elect, whom he chose, he shortened the days. 21 And then if anyone says to you, ‘Look, here is the Christ!’ or ‘Look, there he is!’ do not believe it. 22 For false christs and false prophets will arise and perform signs and wonders, to lead astray, if possible, the elect. 23 But be on guard; I have told you all things beforehand.

The Coming of the Son of Man

24 ‡ ‡ “But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light, 25 † and the stars will be falling from heaven, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken. 26 † And then they will see the Son of Man coming in clouds with great power and glory. 27 † And then he will send out the angels and gather his elect from the four winds, from the ends of the earth to the ends of heaven.

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

28 ‡ † “From the fig tree learn its lesson: as soon as its branch becomes tender and puts out its leaves, you know that summer is near. 29 † So also, when you see these things taking place, you know that he is near, at the very gates. 30 † Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things take place. 31 † Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

No One Knows That Day or Hour

32 “But concerning that day or that hour, no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father. 33 Be on guard, keep awake.[1] For you do not know when the time will come. 34 It is like a man going on a journey, when he leaves home and puts his servants[2] in charge, each with his work, and commands the doorkeeper to stay awake.
35 Therefore stay awake—for you do not know when the master of the house will come, in the evening, or at midnight, or when the rooster crows,[3] or in the morning— 36 lest he come suddenly and find you asleep. 37 And what I say to you I say to all: Stay awake.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

14 [1] It was now two days before the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how to arrest him by stealth and kill him, [2] for they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar from the people.”

Jesus Anointed at Bethany

3 ‡ † And while he was at Bethany in the house of Simon the leper,[1] as he was reclining at table, a woman came with an alabaster flask of ointment of pure nard, very costly, and she broke the flask and poured it over his head.
4 There were some who said to themselves indignantly, “Why was the ointment wasted like that? 5 † For this ointment could have been sold for more than three hundred denarii[2] and given to the poor.” And they scolded her. 6 † But Jesus said, “Leave her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a beautiful thing to me. 7 † For you always have the poor with you, and whenever you want, you can do good for them. But you will not always have me. 8 † She has done what she could; she has anointed my body beforehand for burial. 9 † And truly, I say to you, wherever the gospel is proclaimed in the whole world, what she has done will be told in memory of her.”

Judas to Betray Jesus

10 ‡ † Then Judas Iscariot, who was one of the twelve, went to the chief priests in order to betray him to them. 11 † And when they heard it, they were glad and promised to give him money. And he sought an opportunity to betray him.

The Passover with the Disciples

12 ‡ † And on the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they sacrificed the Passover lamb, his disciples said to him, “Where will you have us go and prepare for you to eat the Passover?” 13 † And he sent two of his disciples and said to them, “Go into the city, and a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him, 14 † and wherever he enters, say to the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says, Where is my guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?’ 15 † And he will show you a large upper room furnished and ready; there prepare for us.” 16 And the disciples set out and went to the city and found it just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover.

17 † And when it was evening, he came with the twelve. 18 † And as they were reclining at table and eating, Jesus said, “Truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me, one who is eating with me.” 19 † They began to be sorrowful and to say to him one after another, “Is it I?” 20 † He said to them, “It is one of the twelve, one who is dipping bread into the dish with me.
21 † For the Son of Man goes as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been better for that man if he had not been born.”

Institution of the Lord’s Supper

22 ✝✝And as they were eating, he took bread, and after blessing it broke it and gave it to them, and said, “Take; this is my body.” 23 ✝And he took a cup, and when he had given thanks he gave it to them, and they all drank of it. 24 ✝And he said to them, “This is my blood of the[1] covenant, which is poured out for many. 25 ✝Truly, I say to you, I will not drink again of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Foretells Peter's Denial

[26] ‡ † And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives. [27] † And Jesus said to them, "You will all fall away, for it is written,
'I will strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered.' [28] But after I am raised up, I will go before you to Galilee." [29] † Peter said to him, "Even though they all fall away, I will not." [30] † And Jesus said to him, "Truly, I tell you, this very night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny me three times." [31] But he said emphatically, "If I must die with you, I will not deny you." And they all said the same.

Jesus Prays in Gethsemane

32 ‡ † And they went to a place called Gethsemane. And he said to his disciples, “Sit here while I pray.” 33 † And he took with him Peter and James and John, and began to be greatly distressed and troubled. 34 † And he said to them, “My soul is very sorrowful, even to death. Remain here and watch.”[1] 35 † And going a little farther, he fell on the ground and prayed that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him. 36 † And he said, “Abba, Father, all things are possible for you. Remove this cup from me. Yet not what I will, but what you will.” 37 † And he came and found them sleeping, and he said to Peter, “Simon, are you asleep? Could you not watch one hour? 38 † Watch and pray that you may not enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.” 39 And again he went away and prayed, saying the same words. 40 † And again he came and found them sleeping, for their eyes were very heavy, and they did not know what to answer him.
41 † And he came the third time and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and taking your rest? It is enough; the hour has come. The Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. 42 Rise, let us be going; see, my betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

43 ††And immediately, while he was still speaking, Judas came, one of the twelve, and with him a crowd with swords and clubs, from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. 44 †Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “The one I will kiss is the man. Seize him and lead him away under guard.” 45 †And when he came, he went up to him at once and said, “Rabbi!”
And he kissed him. 46 †And they laid hands on him and seized him. 47 †But one of those who stood by drew his sword and struck the servant[2] of the high priest and cut off his ear. 48 And Jesus said to them, “Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to capture me? 49 †Day after day I was with you in the temple teaching, and you did not seize me. But let the Scriptures be fulfilled.” 50 †And they all left him and fled.

A Young Man Flees

51 ††And a young man followed him, with nothing but a linen cloth about his body. And they seized him, 52 †but he left the linen cloth and ran away naked.

Jesus Before the Council

53 ✝✝And they led Jesus to the high priest. And all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes came together. 54 ✝And Peter had followed him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. And he was sitting with the guards and warming himself at the fire. 55 ✝Now the chief priests and the whole Council[1] were seeking testimony against Jesus to put him to death, but they found none. 56 ✝For many bore false witness against him, but their testimony did not agree. 57 And some stood up and bore false witness against him, saying, 58 ✝"We heard him say, 'I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and in three days I will build another, not made with hands.'" 59 Yet even about this their testimony did not agree. 60 And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, "Have you no answer to make? What is it that these men testify against you?"[2] 61 ✝But he remained silent and made no answer. Again the high priest asked him, "Are you the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?" 62 ✝And Jesus said, "I am, and you will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven." 63 ✝And the high priest tore his garments and said, "What further witnesses do we need? 64 ✝You have heard his blasphemy. What is your decision?" And they all condemned him as deserving death. 65 ✝And some began to spit on him and to cover his face and to strike him, saying to him,
"Prophesy!" And the guards received him with blows.

Peter Denies Jesus

66 ‡ † And as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came, 67 † and seeing Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said, “You also were with the Nazarene, Jesus.” 68 But he denied it, saying, “I neither know nor understand what you mean.” And he went out into the gateway[3] and the rooster crowed.[4] 69 And the servant girl saw him and began again to say to the bystanders, “This man is one of them.” 70 † But again he denied it. And after a little while the bystanders again said to Peter, “Certainly you are one of them, for you are a Galilean.” 71 † But he began to invoke a curse on himself and to swear, “I do not know this man of whom you speak.” 72 † And immediately the rooster crowed a second time. And Peter remembered how Jesus had said to him, “Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny me three times.” And he broke down and wept.[5]

Jesus Delivered to Pilate

15 [1] ✝ ✝ And as soon as it was morning, the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole Council. And they bound Jesus and led him away and delivered him over to Pilate. [2] ✝ And Pilate asked him, “Are you the King of the Jews?” And he answered him, “You have said so.” [3] And the chief priests accused him of many things. [4] And Pilate again asked him, “Have you no answer to make? See how many charges they bring against you.” [5] ✝ But Jesus made no further answer, so that Pilate was amazed.

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

6 ‡ † Now at the feast he used to release for them one prisoner for whom they asked. 7 † And among the rebels in prison, who had committed murder in the insurrection, there was a man called Barabbas. 8 † And the crowd came up and began to ask Pilate to do as he usually did for them. 9 † And he answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release for you the King of the Jews?” 10 † For he perceived that it was out of envy that the chief priests had delivered him up. 11 † But the chief priests stirred up the crowd to have him release for them Barabbas instead. 12 And Pilate again said to them, “Then what shall I do with the man you call the King of the Jews?” 13 † And they cried out again, “Crucify him.” 14 And Pilate said to them, “Why, what evil has he done?” But they shouted all the more, “Crucify him.” 15 † So Pilate, wishing to satisfy the crowd, released for them Barabbas, and having scourged[1] Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified.

Jesus Is Mocked

16 ‡ † And the soldiers led him away inside the palace (that is, the governor's headquarters),[2] and they called together the whole battalion.[3]
17 †And they clothed him in a purple cloak, and twisting together a crown of thorns, they put it on him. 18 And they began to salute him, "Hail, King of the Jews!" 19 And they were striking his head with a reed and spitting on him and kneeling down in homage to him. 20 And when they had mocked him, they stripped him of the purple cloak and put his own clothes on him. And they led him out to crucify him.

The Crucifixion

21 ‡ † And they compelled a passerby, Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to carry his cross.
22 † And they brought him to the place called Golgotha (which means Place of a Skull). 23 † And they offered him wine mixed with myrrh, but he did not take it. 24 † And they crucified him and divided his garments among them, casting lots for them, to decide what each should take. 25 And it was the third hour[1] when they crucified him. 26 † And the inscription of the charge against him read, “The King of the Jews.” 27 † And with him they crucified two robbers, one on his right and one on his left.[2] 29 † And those who passed by derided him, wagging their heads and saying, “Aha! You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, 30 save yourself, and come down from the cross!” 31 † So also the chief priests with the scribes mocked him to one another, saying, “He saved others; he cannot save himself. 32 † Let the Christ, the King of Israel, come down now from the cross that we may see and believe.” Those who were crucified with him also reviled him.

The Death of Jesus

33 ‡ † And when the sixth hour[3] had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.[4] 34 † And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, “Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani?” which means, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?” 35 And some of the bystanders hearing it said, “Behold, he is calling Elijah.” 36 † And someone ran and filled a sponge with sour wine, put it on a reed and gave it to him to drink, saying, “Wait, let us see whether Elijah will come to take him down.” 37 † And Jesus uttered a loud cry and breathed his last. 38 † And the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. 39 † And when the centurion, who stood facing him, saw that in this way he[5] breathed his last, he said, “Truly this man was the Son[6] of God!”

40 There were also women looking on from a distance, among whom were Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the younger and of Joses, and Salome. 41 † When he was in Galilee, they followed him and ministered to him, and there were also many other women who came up with him to Jerusalem.

Jesus Is Buried

42 ✝✝And when evening had come, since it was the day of Preparation, that is, the day before the Sabbath, 43 ✝Joseph of Arimathea, a respected member of the Council, who was also himself looking for the kingdom of God, took courage and went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. 44 ✝Pilate was surprised to hear that he should have already died.[1] And summoning the centurion, he asked him whether he was already dead. 45 And when he learned from the centurion that he was dead, he granted the corpse to Joseph. 46 ✝And Joseph[2] bought a linen shroud, and taking him down, wrapped him in the linen shroud and laid him in a tomb that had been cut out of the rock. And he rolled a stone against the entrance of the tomb.
47 ✝Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses saw where he was laid.

The Resurrection

16 [1]‡†When the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Salome bought spices, so that they might go and anoint him. [2]†And very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen, they went to the tomb. [3]And they were saying to one another, “Who will roll away the stone for us from the entrance of the tomb?” [4]† And looking up, they saw that the stone had been rolled back—it was very large.
[5]†And entering the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, dressed in a white robe, and they were alarmed. [6]†And he said to them, “Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has risen; he is not here. See the place where they laid him. [7]†But go, tell his disciples and Peter that he is going before you to Galilee. There you will see him, just as he told you.” [8]†And they went out and fled from the tomb, for trembling and astonishment had seized them, and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene

9 ‡‡‡[[Now when he rose early on the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, from whom he had cast out seven demons. 10 She went and told those who had been with him, as they mourned and wept.
11 †But when they heard that he was alive and had been seen by her, they would not believe it.

Jesus Appears to Two Disciples

[12] ‡ † After these things he appeared in another form to two of them, as they were walking into the country. [13] † And they went back and told the rest, but they did not believe them.

The Great Commission

14 ‡ † Afterward he appeared to the eleven themselves as they were reclining at table, and he rebuked them for their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they had not believed those who saw him after he had risen.
15 † And he said to them, “Go into all the world and proclaim the gospel to the whole creation. 16 † Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. 17 † And these signs will accompany those who believe: in my name they will cast out demons; they will speak in new tongues; 18 † they will pick up serpents with their hands; and if they drink any deadly poison, it will not hurt them; they will lay their hands on the sick, and they will recover.” 19 † So then the Lord Jesus, after he had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven and sat down at the right hand of God. 20 † And they went out and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the message by accompanying signs.]]

Introduction to Mark

Reading Mark

The old farmer knew this corner of the field well. His plow had turned up rocks here for years. He and his brothers picked up the rocks and worked them into a retaining wall not far away. He could see there a row of sick and lame people sitting on the stones, waiting for their turn to see the Teacher. Families with small children also sat nearby, awaiting their turn. The farmer sat and scratched the soil. It felt warm and loose to the touch. Then he struck a rock. "Another rock," he said. "Still too stony—unfit for seed."

Mark describes how the disciples and the crowds immediately responded to the authority of Jesus' teaching. They flocked to receive His healing touch and blessings for their children. But beneath the surface of this excitement, their hearts remained hardened and crippled by unbelief. As you read Mark's account of Jesus' ministry and Passion, consider Jesus' patience. He plows and replows matters of repentance, faith, and the promises of God, picking out hard hearts and calling people to believe and to bear fruit.

Martin Franzmann characterizes Mark's account as follows:

> The Gospel According to Mark is a Gospel of action. As compared with Matthew, Mark emphasizes the deeds of Jesus. The deeds of Jesus are by no means isolated from His words; the word is Jesus' instrument in His deeds too; He speaks, and it is done. And Mark, besides giving two longer discourses of Jesus (4:1–34; 13:1–37), repeatedly emphasizes the centrality of the word in the ministry of Jesus and the effect of its authority on men, 1:14, 22, 38–39f; 2:2, 13; 4:1; 6:1–7; 9:7; 10:1; 11:18; cf also 8:38. But it is chiefly by His works that Jesus is marked as the Proclaimer and the Bringer of the almighty grace of the kingdom of God, as the anointed King in whom man can trust, the Son of God in whom man can believe.

Challenges for Readers

Relationship to Other Gospels. See pp 1571–74. Some critics have regarded Mark's Gospel as crudely written in comparison to the other canonical Gospels. This criticism fails to appreciate Mark's thoughtful literary construction as described below.

Jesus as the Son of God. Mark describes God's unique relationship with Jesus, who represents the heavenly Father to the world and bears His authority. This theme shows up repeatedly as Jesus is titled "the Son of God" (1:1, 11; 3:11; 5:7; 9:7; 14:61) and climaxes with the centurion's confession at the cross (15:39), which highlights the central importance of Jesus' sacrificial suffering and death (10:45). The disciples respond to Jesus' authority, the demons fear it, and all creation obeys Him. Also, Jesus foresees His crucifixion and resurrection and guides these events.

Jesus as Man. Though Mark describes Jesus' great authority, he also emphasizes Jesus' need for quiet prayer (1:35); His feelings of compassion, anger, and frustration (1:41; 3:5; 10:14, 21; 14:33); and even His need for sleep (4:38). Jesus at times seems weak or ineffectual (cf 6:1–6; 8:22–26). However, Mark uses these times to illustrate important truths about faith.

Hard-heartedness. Of the Gospels, Mk provides the most negative description of Jesus' disciples. In 6:45–52 and 8:14–21, they fail to understand who Jesus is and what He is teaching (cf 4:13, 35–41; 7:14–19; 8:1–10; 9:14–19, 33–37; 10:13–16, 35–45; 14:3–21, 26–31; 16:14). He repeatedly refers to hardness of heart (3:5; 6:52; 8:17; 10:5), which is how the Lord described Pharaoh in the exodus. Even the women, who faithfully mourn at Jesus' crucifixion and visit His tomb, flee in fear at the announcement of the resurrection (16:8). This emphasis prompts readers to consider the condition of their own hearts and faith.

Clean and Unclean. Mark explains and emphasizes cleanliness, an important aspect of OT Law (cf Gn 7:2–3; 9:3–4; Lv 11–15) and rabbinic tradition (7:1–8). Jesus "made clean" a leper (1:40–44). A demon is an "unclean spirit" (e.g., 1:23). A herd of swine—unclean animals—are wiped out (5:13). These examples likely helped Mark's Gentile readers better understand the Jewish members of their early Christian congregations. But Mark also emphasized Jesus' teaching about the ultimate source of uncleanness: the sinful human heart (7:20–23). See p 6.

Secrecy. Throughout the Gospel of Mark, Jesus discourages people and unclean spirits from speaking about Him and His kingdom (e.g., 1:23–25; 1:44; 3:11–12; 7:36–37; 8:26, 30; 9:9–10). Critical scholars read this feature as a device early Christians added to the story of Jesus' life. They argue that Jesus never really called Himself the Son of God or Christ but that these beliefs about Him were added later to let people in on the secret. Such an interpretation conflicts with Mark's overall goal and account (see "Jesus as the Son of God," above). It is more likely that Jesus exercises His authority to guide the spread of His popularity, which had brought Him into conflict with political and religious authorities. E.g., outside the jurisdiction of Jesus' main opponents, He actually encourages a man to proclaim His miracles (5:19–20).

Mark's Abrupt Ending. As the ESV text note for 16:9–20 shows, these verses do not appear in a number of early Greek manuscripts. This likely means they were not part of Mark's original composition, which may have used a "suspended" ending that left readers wanting to learn more about Jesus and His disciples. The longer ending was perhaps added later to satisfy people's interests.

Blessings for Readers

As you read Mark's account of Jesus' ministry and Passion, take special note of the emphasis on discipleship and faith. Jesus tells His followers that He will suffer and will ransom them (8:31–33; 9:30–31; 10:32–34, 45). They, too, will face suffering on account of Him and the Gospel (8:34–9:1; 10:29–30). Yet, through repentance and faith, they will inherit eternal life (cf 10:17, 27).

When you face difficulty, cry out, "I believe; help my unbelief!" (9:24). The Son of God, who ransomed you from the bondage of sin and death (10:45; 15:22–25), will hear you in compassion and have mercy (9:22; 10:47–49).

Including the Gentiles

Redefining Laws and Customs

Jesus often clashed with the Pharisees while teaching His disciples that God wanted to include the Gentiles in His kingdom. The following chart provides examples from the Gospels where Jesus interpreted and applied Old Testament laws and Jewish traditions. It will help you understand how Jesus fulfilled the Law of God, yet overturned man-made ideas of holiness and righteousness. He did this to prepare the way for people of all nations to enter God's kingdom.

Throughout Jesus' teaching on feasts, He emphasizes two key points: God's Word—correctly applied—must have precedence over traditions, and mercy is the essence of devotion. These key points still apply to us today.

Israelites and Gentiles Together

The greatest cultural challenge facing the first Christians after Jesus ascended into heaven was welcoming the Gentiles into the Church. Many New Testament books and early Christian writings illustrate this struggle (e.g., Ac 10–11; 15; Rm 9–11; 14–15; Gal). This challenge lasted into the second century, when the Jewish Bar Kokhba revolt (AD 132–35) clearly divided Judaism and Christianity.

The Gospels show Jesus preparing His disciples for this great cultural conflict and the conflict God's people still experience today when people from different cultures gather to hear God's Word.

One in Christ

As Jesus taught His disciples at the Last Supper, He knew the conflicts over culture they would soon face. He knew how hard it would be for these sincere Jewish believers to welcome the Gentiles. To hold the Church together, Jesus prayed for the unity of His disciples. He also left them the one loaf and one cup of the Lord's Supper to unite them.

The Lord's Supper unites God's people of every culture because it unites them with Christ. When fellow believers eat the body of Christ and drink His blood, their Lord draws them closer to one another. He makes them one. In this holy feast, Jesus offers the chief blessing of God, the forgiveness of sin, which tears down barriers between sinners.

The next time the chalice of the Lord's Supper opens the door of your lips (cf Ps 51:15; 141:3), open also your heart to the people of God around you. Work to settle differences among yourselves on the basis of God's Word. When disputes cause you pain, pray Ps 116 and find in Christ your healing.

God's Care and Miracles

A miracle is when God directly intervenes in nature in such a way that the natural order of things is overruled. Something happens that goes beyond nature. For example, Jesus restored sight to a blind man (Mk 8:22–26); Elijah brought a young boy back to life (1Ki 17:17–24). These were genuine miracles.

Yet sometimes we see unusual and wonderful things happen within the natural realm. For example, a horrendous automobile accident may demolish a car, yet the driver walks away with barely a scratch. A tornado turns and misses a building full of people. A plane's landing gear will not operate properly, yet the pilot lands the aircraft safely. A vicious cancer is treated with radiation and chemotherapy and goes into remission. We should be cautious about calling such events miracles in the biblical sense. Even though they are amazing, they are probably different from miracles in that they do not supersede the natural order.

Theologian Norman Geisler gives an example. During the landing of the Allied troops at Normandy, France, in World War II, fog rolled in and gave cover for the soldiers. Many lives were saved through this protecting fog. We are thankful to God for providing this unexpected and wonderful gift of protection, but God did this special act of providential care through nature. In other words, Jesus walking on water would be a miracle, but soldiers walking through fog that appeared at just the right time is not a miracle (Norman Geisler, Miracles and the Modern Mind [Grand Rapids: Baker Book House, 1992], 124–25).

An example from the Book of Exodus may provide further help. In 10:2, the Lord promises to work signs before the people. What follows are various plagues and the crossing of the Red Sea. To prevent the Egyptians from killing the Israelites on the beaches of the Red Sea, the angel of God moves a cloud between the two groups (14:19–20). To this point, the story about the cloud sounds similar to Geisler's story about the fog at Normandy. However, the next verse tells us that the cloud brought darkness to the Egyptians but light to the Israelites. This is not natural cloud behavior!

If the fog at Normandy had brought darkness to the Nazis but lit up the beaches for the Allies, we would certainly point to the event as a miracle. However, as Geisler describes the Normandy event, it seems like an example of God's providence.

Providence is "that activity of God whereby He uninterruptedly upholds (preserves), governs, and directs" all of life (Lutheran Cyclopedia, ed. Erwin Lueker [St Louis: Concordia, 1954, 1975], 644). Providence is God working through the laws of nature on our behalf. Sometimes, He directs the forces of nature so that something unusual and wonderful happens. But a miracle is still something different. In a miracle, God reaches into human life in such a way that natural law is set aside for that moment to accomplish some special and unique purpose.

Praise Your Miraculous Lord

Know for certain that the Lord, your Provider, works on your behalf. He watches over you and your family now and each day. Psalm 104 beautifully describes His constant providential care for all creation. He is no cold, distant God. He blesses you even now through His creation with His loving, providential care. Pray for miracles, but also trust His providential care.

Whenever something marvelous happens—whether miraculous or a special case of God's providential care—give thanks and praise to Him. He urges us to cast our anxieties on Him and entrust each heartbeat, thought, and breath to His care (1Pt 5:7). As you pray this day, know that Jesus, your Savior, hears you. He will answer your prayers. If He was willing to suffer the bitterness of the cross to address your greatest need—the forgiveness of sins—will He not also care for your other needs of body and soul? As the apostle Paul explained to the Philippians, "And my God will supply every need of yours according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus" (Php 4:19).

Miracles in the Old Testament

"In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth" (Gn 1:1). The very first words of the Bible record the miracle that started everything. With a powerful word, God went to work. Below are just a few of the more famous miracles in the Old Testament.

Sadly, the beauty of creation is soon marred by sin in the Garden of Eden. Pain, disease, hate, murder, punishment, and death invade the universe under the guise of Satan's temptation to be like God. Yet God does not abandon His world. Instead, He goes to work bringing salvation through a nation called Israel.

The flood with Noah and the ark (Gn 7:6–12, 17–24)
Destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah (Gn 19:15–29)
Lot's wife turned into a pillar of salt (Gn 19:24–26)
Moses' staff turns into a snake (Ex 4:1–5)
Plagues that lead to the Israelites' freedom from slavery (Ex 7–12)
The parting of the Red Sea (Ex 14:21–29)
Balaam's donkey speaks (Nu 22:21–35)
The sun stands still over Gibeon (Jsh 10:12–14)
Elijah raises the widow's son (1Ki 17:17–24)
Fire consumes Elijah's sacrifice on Mount Carmel (1Ki 18:16–38)
Elisha's bones bring a man back to life (2Ki 13:20–21)
Three Hebrew youths delivered from a fiery furnace (Dn 3:13–30)
Daniel saved from lions (Dn 6:16–23)
Jonah swallowed by a great fish (Jnh 1)

These are only a small sample of the Old Testament miracles. Norman Geisler lists nearly 110 miraculous events from Genesis to Jonah (pp 145–49).

The miracles in the Old Testament come when God's people are most in need, when the promise of a Savior is most threatened, when hope seems lost. But God is faithful. He saves His Old Testament chosen people, and miracles are part of those wonderful moments of deliverance. He does all this so that His salvation might reach you through His Son, Jesus.

Biblical Miracles at Work Today

A college junior, majoring in biology, sits in a campus Bible study. This evening, the students are reading about how Jesus gave sight to a man born blind. But the student is having a hard time seeing how this has anything to do with his life as a student preparing for medical school.

A family returns to church the week after a tornado has destroyed a relative's house in a nearby state. The appointed reading is about Jesus calming a violent storm after the disciples had to wake Him up with these words, "Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?" (Mk 4:38). The family wonders if Jesus does care when natural disasters do so much damage to people's lives.

God Acts

Notice how the miracle accounts are told. A major conflict is usually in progress. We actually hear very little about how the miracle is done—maybe a sentence or two. But we hear much about who is in trouble, what has caused the dilemma, and how God acts to change the situation. What we find out about our Lord in these events has great value for our faith today.

In an article about miracle stories in the Gospels, Eugene L. Lowry categorizes miracles into six different types ("Miracle Stories: The Supernatural Identity of Jesus," The Sermon as Symphony, ed. Mike Graves [Valley Forge: Judson Press, 1997], 104–11). Lowry explains that each type of miracle shows us a different aspect of Jesus' ever-present help in our times of need. The following chart lists six settings of miracles and shows what they teach us about Jesus.

The Lord's Care

What value do the biblical miracles have for us today? They give our faith realistic optimism. We have a Savior who not only cares for our souls with forgiveness but also cares for us completely. Our gracious Lord is concerned for our health, physical needs, emotions, safety, and understanding as well. Of course, we will still get sick, struggle with demonic enemies, be threatened by violent storms, and die someday. We are realistic, for we still live in this sinful world.

Yet we are optimistic. Jesus rose from the dead. One day all our enemies will go down in complete defeat. We will rise victorious from the dead and join in the never-ending celebration around the heavenly banquet table with Jesus (Rv 19:6–9). The ultimate miracle is that day when there will be no more tears, pain, hunger, thirst, danger, sin, or death. All conflict will cease, and we will live forever protected by Jesus!

The Heavenly Banquet

Somehow, someone started the notion that in heaven God's people will sit around on overstuffed clouds and play gilded harps. In contrast, Scripture describes a very earthly picture of everlasting life. For example, the prophet Isaiah describes an elaborate feast of the best food and wine served atop a great mountain. The Lord Himself joins in the celebration. He swallows up death forever and wipes away His people's tears (Is 25:6–8). Jesus mentions this same banquet while teaching about God's kingdom but provides different details.

Teaching: Gentiles Eating with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob
(Mt 8:10–12; Lk 13:23–30)

Context: After hearing a confession of faith from a Roman centurion, Jesus tells His disciples to anticipate what the kingdom of heaven will be like. The patriarchs would recline at tables with Gentiles from all over the world.

Application: God's kingdom is not restricted to the people of Israel. The Lord desires to gather people from all nations for the joy and comfort of heaven.

Teaching: Parable of the Banquet
(Mt 22:1–14; Lk 14:15–24)

Context: Luke tells us that Jesus was eating at the home of a Pharisee where other Pharisees and teachers of the law had gathered. The parable comes after Jesus teaches the guests about mercy and humility in the context of feasts. Jesus responds to a man's statement about feasting in God's kingdom. His story describes guests who refuse to attend the feast and unworthy guests who are welcomed to the feast.

Application: The people who refuse to come to the banquet are the Pharisees and teachers of the law. God would gather a new following. This following would ultimately include the Gentiles.

Teaching: Parable of the 10 Virgins
(Mt 25:1–13)

Context: This parable is part of a long address Jesus gives about His return and the end of the age. He emphasizes that the disciples will not know for certain when He will return.

Application: Jesus compares people in this life to a group waiting for the start of a wedding celebration. The faithful will enter the banquet; the unfaithful will be turned away.

Teaching: The Last Supper; Passover
(Mt 26:26–29; Mk 14:17–25; Lk 22:14–30)

Context: Jesus announces that He is beginning a fast. He will not eat this feast again with His disciples until they sit down together in the heavenly Father's kingdom.

Application: The disciples may have taken Jesus' announcement to mean that they must now help Him drive the Romans out of Israel and that this must be accomplished before the next Passover (cf Lk 22:36–38, 47–50). However, Jesus was talking about His Last Supper and the banquet of heaven.

Christ Prepares the Banquet

For your spiritual benefit, take note of what Jesus teaches about the heavenly banquet: (1) those who take God's grace for granted will miss out; (2) the Lord will gather all kinds of people, not just people who appear ready; (3) you cannot attend this banquet unless He invites you (only the faithful will attend); (4) you cannot be sure when the celebration will start, so stay prepared.

Through the forgiveness Christ offers through His body and blood in His Holy Supper, He prepares your place at the heavenly feast. The bread and wine you taste now give you a foretaste of heaven itself. Do not let the Lord's Supper be just one more thing you do at church. Linger at the Lord's Table. Meditate on its blessings and comfort through faithful hymns. "Hasten as a bride to meet Him, And with loving rev'rence greet Him" (LSB 636:2). He stands knocking this day at the door of your church. With repentant joy, open and eat with Him at His feast (Rv 3:19–20).

A Heavenly Setting

In Rv 19:1–9, the apostle John draws together the wonder of and anticipation for the heavenly banquet described throughout Scripture. God sits at the head of the table. The banquet hall rings with shouts of "Hallelujah!" as human and angelic voices unite. The saints take their places in gleaming robes.

After you read this passage, read Rv 21–22, which gives further details about the heavenly setting for this holy feast. Hear the voice of the Spirit and the Church calling for you to attend (Rv 22:17). Hunger for this heavenly food; thirst for this heavenly drink. And prepare to rejoice with those who have gone before you: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, as well as your family, friends, and neighbors who have entered God's rest. Heaven is His feast prepared for you.

The Preaching and Teaching of Christ

How successful was our Lord and the apostles in bringing people to the saving faith with their preaching, which was accompanied by miraculous acts? What is clear is that, according to human standards, Jesus was not successful! But he did not tailor his message to the point that it would compromise its essence, its medium, or its purposes. Let's consider the following examples from Jesus' and Paul's ministry.

The gist of the teaching and preaching of Christ was the "kingdom of God" or the "kingdom of heaven." Yet his disciples, those about whom he said, "Blessed are you for your eyes see, and your ears hear (Mt 13:16), did not understand this central concept of Christ's message before his resurrection and Pentecost (see Acts 1:6). The general populace on many occasions failed to see Christ for what he was. He fed them with physical bread, in order that he might lead them to real food and drink, but they did not understand this (Jn 6:6–65). Sadly, thousands left and only a few remained, because his teaching was unintelligible to them. Jesus tried through parables, personal interaction, and miracles to open the eyes, ears, and hearts of his hearers, but not many grasped the gospel.

Does the fact that Jesus did not align his teaching and message with his hearers indicate that he was not pastoral, creative, or innovative? No! The fact that he went into the house of Zaccheus, that he ate with sinners and the unwanted, that he spoke to the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well, and that he showed concern to the rich young man, are all indicative of his care and love for his hearers. The fact that he did not change the substance of his message did not make him unloving, arrogant, rigid, negative, insensitive, and so forth. In the case of the Samaritan woman, he was even explicit that all Samaritans needed to change their religion (Jn 4:22).

The experience of Paul and Barnabas with both the Jewish and Gentile hearers is indicative that the pluralist approach to theology is not philosophically or biblically sound. In Acts 13:16–41, they tried in many ways to show the Jews that Jesus was indeed the Old Testament Messiah. The Christian "gospel," as they defined and proclaimed it, was that the Messiah promises were fulfilled (Acts 13:32–33). When this gospel of promise-fulfillment was rejected, Paul and Barnabas pronounced the judgment found in Acts 13:46. When the Lystran people mistook them for the incarnation of their own deities, they were distressed and tore their clothes, and did not want the people to believe a lie (Acts 14:14–18).

When Paul met Peter in Antioch after the Jerusalem synod, the plight of the Gentiles was at stake. Even here there was absolutely no compromising or shuffling or juggling the doctrine of justifying faith in Christ.

David Tswaedi, "Pluralist Theology and Africa Today," Logia 17, no. 1 (Epiphany 2008): 10–11.

Study Notes

MARK—NOTE ON 1:1 gospel. Gk euangelion. Here used as (1) fulfillment of God's promises to Israel about forgiveness and new life through the Messiah and (2) an extended account of Jesus' teaching and healing ministry, His crucifixion, and resurrection from the dead. "Sometimes [gospel] is used to mean the entire doctrine of Christ, our Lord … this includes the explanation of the Law and the proclamation of the favor and grace of God His heavenly Father" (FC SD V 4). See pp 1571–74. Jesus Christ, the Son of God. A major theme of Mk (see "Jesus as the Son of God," pp 1652–53; cf 1:11; 8:29; 15:39).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:2–3 OT passages now fulfilled. "John the Baptist (preceding Christ) is called a preacher of repentance, but this is for the forgiveness of sins. That is, John was to accuse all and convict them of being sinners. This is so they can know what they are before God and acknowledge that they are lost. So they can be prepared for the Lord [Mark 1:3] to receive grace and to expect and accept from Him the forgiveness of sins" (SA III III 5). Isaiah. Because he was Israel's preeminent prophet, only his name need be mentioned here. See p 1646. He is the only prophet quoted in Mk (cf 7:6–7).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:2 Cf Ex 23:20.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:3 See note, Mt 3:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:4 John. See note, Mt 3:1. wilderness. Prophets and their activity are frequently set in the wilderness (e.g., Elijah; 1Ki 19:4–8). Here, it probably refers to where the Jordan River empties into the Dead Sea. See color map 4. baptism. Even before John the Baptist appeared, different groups within Judaism likely practiced baptism. Rabbinic literature notably mentions that Gentiles converting to Judaism were expected to undergo circumcision and a proselyte baptism, and to make an offering. These rites marked full acceptance into the community of God's chosen people. But John insisted that Jews needed to repent and be baptized, implying that they were no better than Gentiles. repentance. See note, Mt 3:2. forgiveness. John's Baptism removed the guilt of sin. Christian Baptism, which Jesus instituted after the resurrection (Mt 28:19–20), delivers this same blessing (Ac 2:38–39; 1Pt 3:21). See p 1369; see also Ant 18:117.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:5 all. Hyperbole. John attracted large numbers. For this reason, Herod began to worry about his influence (6:17–20). confessing. Gk exomologeo, a public acknowledgment of the need for forgiveness and a belief that God provided it through this washing.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:6 camel's hair … leather belt. Worn by Elijah and other prophets. Jews of Jesus' day expected Elijah to return just before the Messiah would come. Jesus later equated John's ministry with this expected return of Elijah (9:11–13; cf 6:15). ate locusts and wild honey. John's diet was just as unusual as his attire. These foods functioned as "enacted prophecies" against the prevailing worldliness and excessive concern for creature comfort. Locusts are mentioned as food in the Cairo Damascus Document 12:14. They were cleansed by water or fire before eaten. See p 236.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:7 He who is mightier. The coming Messiah. Jesus later characterizes Himself as the One stronger than Satan (3:23–27). strap … untie. Tying and untying the master's shoes were among the lowliest tasks performed by slaves. Thus, John casts himself as a humble servant of the coming Messiah.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:8 baptize you with the Holy Spirit. See note, Mt 3:11.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:1–8 Mark begins by telling of (1) John's call to repentance, (2) Baptism, and (3) eager expectation of the Messiah's coming. John warns us not to adopt worldly values and expectations. Happily, all of us who are baptized have received the promised Holy Spirit, who continually forgives us, restores us, and focuses us on the splendor of Jesus' second coming. • Lord, remind us of the washing we received in Baptism, for through it Your Holy Spirit was poured into our hearts. Keep us steadfast in the hope of Your glory. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:9 those days. It is unclear how long John preached before Jesus came to him to be baptized, but it was long enough to have gathered some disciples (cf Jn 1:35). The focus now shifts from John's ministry to that of Jesus. Jesus came … baptized by John. See note, Mt 3:13.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:10 He … Him. Jesus. came up out of the water. Suggests that Jesus was either immersed or sprinkled while standing in the river. See note, 7:3–4. See p 1369. immediately. Gk euthus occurs 41 times in Mk but only 10 additional times in the rest of the NT. It underlines both the urgency of Jesus' ministry and His march toward the cross. heavens being torn open. See note, Mk 15:38. Spirit. The Messiah would possess the Spirit of the Lord (Is 11:2; 42:1; 61:1). The prophecies are fulfilled. on Him. Lit, "into Him."

MARK—NOTE ON 1:11 See notes, 1:1; Mt 3:16–17; Lk 3:22.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:9–11 The Father declares Jesus is His Son as the Spirit descends on Jesus. Jesus' status as God's Son makes Him a target of Satan's assaults (1:12–13). This same dynamic continues in the lives of God's children today, as Satan does all that he can to tempt the baptized. Yet, our own Baptism joins us to Christ and clothes us with His righteousness. • Lord, You humbly stood in our stead when baptized by John and thereby gave us a share in Your life, death, and resurrection. Let us therefore celebrate our place in God's family, obeying the Father, dwelling richly in the Spirit, and ever following You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:12–13 Immediately after being revealed as God's Son, Jesus' archenemy, Satan, begins to assault Him. Jesus emerges from His time of testing perfectly, without succumbing to temptation in any way. He thus achieves something greater than all those tempted before Him and foreshadows the climax of the Gospel. There, He will undergo greater temptations but will rise victorious over the grave.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:12 wilderness. See notes, v 4; Mt 4:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:13 forty days. See p 217. with the wild animals. Likely meant to evoke prophetic depictions of the messianic age (cf Is 11:6–8; 65:25). angels. Ministering angels contrast sharply with Satan, the fallen angel who brings temptation rather than help.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:12–13 Jesus' successful struggle against temptation in the wilderness prefigures His final victory at the cross over our ancient foe. From the days of Adam and Eve, we have continuously fallen into Satan's traps. Jesus, after uniting Himself with fallen humans through Baptism, won a preliminary victory over the evil foe's temptations. At the cross, Jesus gained an even more wonderful victory for us. His resurrection proves that Satan cannot prevail. • Lord, when we are tempted, remind us of Your own struggles and trials. You have broken Satan's power once and for all. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:14 arrested. Mentioned in passing; 6:14–29 gives the full account of the prophet's imprisonment and execution. Mk focuses on Jesus and the ministry He is beginning. gospel. See note, v 1.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:15 The Kingdom has come in the advent of Jesus (the verb "is" emphasizes completed action), for He came to fulfill all of God's promises about the salvation of the world. Throughout His ministry, Jesus invites people to enjoy God's kind rule by living under His grace and righteousness. Luth: "Once we have His Word, true doctrine, and true worship, we also pray that His kingdom may be in us and remain in us; that is, that He may govern us in this doctrine and life, that He may protect and preserve us against all the power of the devil and his kingdom, and that He may shatter all the kingdoms that rage against His kingdom, so that it alone may remain" (AE 21:146). kingdom of God. Not a confined geographical territory, but wherever and whenever people are ruled by God through their faith in His Son. See pp 1565–66. at hand. Or, "here." repent and believe in the gospel. Echoes John's call for a public show of contrition and an adoption of a new way of life (cf vv 2–4). See p 320. "In its proper sense, Gospel does not mean the preaching of repentance, but only the preaching of God's grace. This follows directly after the preaching of repentance" (FC SD V 6). See note, 1:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:14–15 On the one hand, Jesus' message sounds much like the message of John and the prophets. On the other hand, the arrival of the Messiah fulfills prophecy and ushers in a new era. The Church's message today has the same combination of new and old. True, it focuses on the age-old problem of sin and human failure. However, the Gospel delivers the forgiveness of sins and with it the hope of an eternal future with God. • Lord, help us to see You clearly and so believe that Your kingdom is still among us. Move us to a steadfast hope for the future and to daily repentance and new life. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:16 Sea of Galilee. See note, Mt 4:18. Simon and Andrew. Jesus' first disciples (cf Jn 1:35–42). Simon. Jesus later named him Peter (3:16). net. Circular and c 10–15 ft in diameter, it could be thrown either from the shore or from a boat.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:17 Jesus' practice contrasts sharply with that of other rabbis, who were chosen by those who wanted to follow their teaching. Jesus, however, chose those whom He wished to follow Him. Like fishermen, then, Jesus' disciples were likewise expected to draw others into the Kingdom.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:18 immediately. See note, v 10. Emphasizes the disciples' unquestioning response to Jesus' call. Given that the promises of God's kingdom were being fulfilled (v 15), one might expect all people to respond to Jesus' invitation as did Peter and Andrew.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:19 James … John. Brothers later dubbed "Sons of Thunder" by Jesus (3:17). Along with Peter, they formed something of an inner circle among the 12 apostles (cf 5:37; 9:2; 14:33). See p 1780. mending the nets. A regular task for fishermen.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:20 James and John's fishing business was large enough that it supported laborers from outside the family. Walking away from this business, therefore, meant leaving a successful trade and a relatively secure future.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:16–20 The first thing Jesus does in His public ministry is to call two pairs of brothers. They respond by dropping everything, following Him, and becoming "fishers of men." The same invitation to discipleship confronts people today: either drop everything and, in faith, follow Jesus and make sacrifices, or run the risk of missing out on the Kingdom. Thankfully, we are not left to our own devices in this regard. God's Holy Spirit, working through the Word and Sacraments, moves us to faithful discipleship and so also to eternal life. • Lord, thank You for calling us into Your kingdom, for which You declare us fit by Your grace. Keep us faithful in our calling, for Jesus' sake. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:21 Sabbath. See note, Ex 16:23. entered the synagogue. Like other pious Jews, Jesus joined the community in corporate worship on the Sabbath. synagogue. See p 1557. teaching. Mk tells us more of what Jesus did than what he taught. However, the reaction of Jesus' opponents to His teaching plays a large role in Mk. In fact, Jesus' controversial teachings—most of which were accompanied by equally provocative actions—produce such outrage in His opponents (cf 2:5–12, 16–17, 18–19, 23–28; 3:1–5) that they are already planning on killing Him by 3:6.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:22 Jesus never used the prophetic formula "thus says the LORD." In contrast to the scribes, whose authority derived from the teachings they received from their forefathers, Jesus spoke as one uniquely authorized by His Father in heaven. scribes. See pp 719–20.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:23–26 Just as Jesus faced Satan immediately after His Baptism, so also here He is met by a demon-possessed man at the beginning of His teaching ministry. Exorcisms, common in Mk (3:11; 5:13; 9:25), reveal Jesus' identity and power.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:24 us … us? Either more than one demon possessed this man (as in 5:9) or Jesus' attack on one demon was a declaration of war on them all. destroy. After the outcome of the temptation (vv 12–13; cf Mt 4:10–11), the demons expect only punishment from Jesus. Holy One of God. Title similar to "Son of God." See p 1227. In the ancient world, people believed that knowing the real name of a divine being gave one control over that deity. This demon knew Jesus' true identity and yet could not overcome Him. Though the demons often use messianic titles for Jesus, the disciples fail to do so until much later (8:29). Their slowness to recognize Jesus' messianic status is a major theme of Mk.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:25 Be silent. See "Secrecy," p 1653.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:27 A new teaching with authority! Jesus' teaching is supported by miraculous signs. Because of His deeds, Jesus needed no one to support the truth of His words. His actions spoke clearly for themselves.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:28 fame. Jesus' incredible popularity characterized the early days of His ministry (e.g., v 45; 2:2; 3:8, 20; 4:1).
MARK—NOTE ON 1:21–28 Jesus' authoritative teaching and power over the unclean spirits create an immediate stir among those beholding Him in the early days of His ministry in Galilee. Today, we often see the same thing. People continue to be interested in and even amazed by Jesus' teaching, and yet many fail to depend on Him for life and salvation. By the power of His authoritative Word and Spirit, however, others are indeed brought into saving faith and life. • Lord Jesus, move us to an unquestioning trust and mature faith in You. By the power of Your Word and Spirit, make us steadfast in the hope of glory. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:29 house of Simon. See note, Mt 8:14. Simon and Andrew. See note, v 16.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:30 Simon's mother-in-law. Simon Peter was married. fever. Often a symptom of a serious illness. they. The disciples.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:31 lifted her up. Touched her. This is similar to how He revived Jairus's daughter (5:41–42). See notes, 7:33; Lk 5:13. she began to serve. Indicates the completeness and instantaneousness of her recovery.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:32 sundown. See note, Lk 4:40. oppressed by demons. See note, Mt 8:16.
MARK—NOTE ON 1:33 whole city. See note, v 5.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:34 not permit … to speak. See "Secrecy," p 1653; see also note, Lk 4:41.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:29–34 Jesus' first day of public ministry—the Sabbath—is a busy one. Given the endless series of things to which Jesus attends, we sometimes imagine that He is too busy for us and our problems. But Jesus knows and cares for each of us individually. He actually commands us to lay all our needs before Him and stands ever willing and able to help us. • Lord, teach us to turn to You in every need. Then give us grateful hearts so that, after receiving Your kindness and healing, we thank and serve You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:35 desolate place … prayed. Though Jesus had plenty to do in Capernaum (vv 29–34), He nonetheless retreated into the wilderness in order to pray. The Gospels repeatedly depict Jesus spending time alone in prayer (cf 6:46; Lk 5:16; 6:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:38 Jesus refused to stay within the friendly confines of Capernaum (see note, Mt 4:13). He was committed to preaching, exorcising demons, and healing throughout Israel.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:35–39 Though Jesus has much more to do among the people of Capernaum, He makes time for private devotion and then insists on moving on to visit other towns and villages. His unswerving adherence to the right priorities stands in sharp contrast with our own tendency to lose focus, allow others to set our agenda, and put lesser things above what is most important. Given our weaknesses, it is reassuring that Jesus keeps things straight. His highest goal was, and is, to fulfill the Father's command that He save the lost. • Lord, preserve us from misplaced priorities. Keep us focused on Your Gospel, that we may know and do what is pleasing in Your sight. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:41 pity. See note, Lk 7:13. touched him. See note, Lk 5:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:43–44 Jesus sent this man to the priest so that he might be officially pronounced clean. Jesus' touch thus resulted in two restorations: first, the man was restored to physical wholeness; second, he was able to resume his rightful place in society. say nothing. See "Secrecy," p 1653. offer … for a proof. Refers to the offerings and rites by which a leper was pronounced clean and allowed to return to society. proof to them.

Jesus wanted the priests to know He had power to heal and was abiding by OT Law.

MARK—NOTE ON 1:45 spread the news. Despite Jesus' warning (v 44), the man spoke of Him everywhere. Could no longer openly enter. See note, v 28. every quarter. Jesus' incredible popularity would soon cause conflict with even the scribes and Pharisees (2:1–3:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 1:40–45 When a leper seeks Jesus' help, the Lord not only heals him but also makes sure that the man is restored to his rightful place in society. Though we may no longer ostracize people for contracting leprosy, there are a host of ways that people experience alienation from family, church, and the larger community. But Jesus' healing will remedy such alienation. His grace makes peace with God, restores our broken relationships, and thus puts us right with one another. • Lord, thank You for Your healing power. Hear our cries for help, heal us according to Your wisdom, and then move us to tell others what You have done. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:1–2 at home … preaching the word. Jesus' practice of preaching within a domestic setting, as described here, set a precedent for His followers. For the next 300 years, Christian worship services usually took place in house churches. See note, 1Co 14:23.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:1 Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:3 paralytic. Cause of this man's paralysis is not stated. Plainly, he was unable to move without the help of his friends.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:4 removed the roof. This would have resulted in debris and dust flying everywhere. Between the press of the crowd and the damage being done to the roof, the scene takes on elements of chaos and even danger. bed. Stretcherlike mat.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:5 saw their faith. Though Christian teaching often emphasizes—and rightly so—that people need to have personal faith, this story illustrates how one person acting in faith can benefit another. Thus, the four friends seek blessings for the paralytic because they believed Jesus could heal him. Son. Implies affection and familial concern. your sins are forgiven. See note, Mt 9:2. Given the widespread belief in Jesus' day that people became ill as the result of some personal sin, this word of grace is noteworthy. Cf Jn 9:1–5.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:6 scribes. See pp 719–20.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:7 blaspheming! See note, Mt 9:3. Who can forgive sins but God. See note, Mt 9:2.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:8 Jesus' knowledge of his opponents' inner thoughts reveals His supernatural perception and shows His divinity. Ironically, that is the very thing being called into question (v 7).
MARK—NOTE ON 2:9 Which is easier. See note, Mt 9:5. Ambr: "With His blood, then, as man, the Lord redeemed us, Who also, as God, has forgiven sins" (NPNF 2 10:247).
MARK—NOTE ON 2:11–12 Ambr: "He charged the man to perform an action of which health was the necessary condition, even while the patient was yet praying a remedy for his disease" (NPNF 2 10:269). This man would have had to pass through many people in this crowded house. His action provided incontrovertible confirmation that Jesus fully healed him. Jesus' miracles were live illustrations that He was the Messiah.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:12 glorified God. See note, Mt 9:8.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:1–12 In the presence of many who doubt Jesus' ability, He forgives and heals a paralyzed man simply by speaking the word. Today, there are still some who doubt the power of Jesus' Word—there will always be such naysayers. But, as Peter reminds us, though our flesh will perish, the Word of the Lord stands forever (1Pt 1:24–25). Through faith in the Gospel, we receive the promise of life everlasting. • Lord, You can do all things. Give us such a bold confidence in You that even those around us, many of whom are paralyzed by sin and doubt, may be blessed through our steadfastness. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:13 teaching. See note, 1:21.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:14 Levi. Also named Matthew. tax booth. Levi had long collected taxes in Capernaum. Such collaboration with the occupying Romans was considered traitorous by most Jews. See note, Mt 5:46.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:15 reclined at table. See note, Mt 8:11. his house. Levi's (Lk 5:29). tax collectors. See note, Mt 5:46. sinners. See p 959.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:16 scribes of the Pharisees. See ESV note; see also pp 719–20. Jesus' opponents become more numerous. In v 6, only the scribes opposed Him. eating. Pious Jews, esp Pharisees, would not associate with Gentiles, tax collectors, or openly wicked Jews, let alone eat with them. Sharing a table with sinners was regarded as a defiling act (Lk 15:1–2; Ac 11:3). See p 1671.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:17 Christ came to heal sinners (cf vv 1–12). See note, Dt 32:39. Just as physicians must have contact with the diseased, so also Jesus' ministry obliged Him to associate with sinners and social outcasts. See note, Mt 9:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:13–17 Jesus outrages His critics by calling Levi the tax collector to follow Him, then eats with a houseful of equally "defiled" people. This story invites the modern hearer to reflect: am I more like the manifest sinners of this story or like those who criticize Jesus' openness to be with the unworthy? Either way, you stand in need of forgiveness. Thankfully, Jesus brings healing and forgiveness to all, even manifest sinners and smug hypocrites. • Lord, preserve us from both our crass and hidden sins. Grant us a rich measure of Your grace, that others may see Your mercy and be drawn to the healing and fellowship that only You can provide. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:18 Pharisees. Originally, the name of this party meant "the separate ones." What separated the Pharisees from other Jews was their rigorous interpretations and strict observance of the Jewish Law. See p 1557. fasting. Pharisees fasted twice weekly (on the second and fifth days of the week, according to the Didache; ANF 1:174). This went far beyond the required annual fast (affliction) on the Day of Atonement (Lv 23:26–32; Ac 27:9) and the few mentioned in Zec 8:19. Fasting, therefore, was an important aspect of the Pharisees' ritual observance. See p 189.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:19–20 Fasting is a time for sorrow or penitence, whereas feasting is associated with joy. Jesus emphasizes that feasting is proper because the Messiah (the Bridegroom) is now present among God's people. Jesus hastens to add that He will someday be taken away from them (after His death, resurrection, and ascension), and then God's people will have occasions to fast. See note, Mt 6:16.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:18–22 Jesus stresses that the time of fulfillment has arrived, and thus totally new ways of thinking and acting are in order. In our own lives, the same dynamic is at work. It will not do simply to patch some little bit of the Gospel onto our existing lifestyle and expect it all to hold together. Thankfully, the Lord offers such surpassingly great promises that the old is made obsolete. That is what Paul meant when he said, "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation" (2Co 5:17). • Lord, so fill us with the surpassingly great promises of Your Gospel that we count all else as loss for the greater hope of attaining eternity with You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 2:23 See note, Dt 23:24–25.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:24 not lawful. See note, Mt 12:2.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:25–26 See note, Mt 12:3–4.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:27 Sabbath was made for man. Jesus clarifies God's purpose in establishing the Sabbath: this day of rest was primarily intended to restore people, not make them slaves of arbitrary rules and regulations. Luth: "Man was especially created for the knowledge and worship of God; for the Sabbath was not ordained for sheep and cows but for men, that in them the knowledge of God might be developed and might increase" (AE 1:80).
MARK—NOTE ON 2:28 Jesus' reason for referring to the story of David eating the holy bread (vv 25–26) comes clear: the Lord of the Sabbath—Jesus—is greater than King David. This bold claim to divinity is not lost on Jesus' critics, as 3:2, 6 show. See note, Lk 6:5. Son of Man. See p 2098.
MARK—NOTE ON 2:23–28 When the Pharisees accuse Jesus' disciples of violating the Sabbath, Jesus uses the opportunity to claim divine authority and assert His messianic status. Sadly, there are people today who still level criticisms like the Pharisees of old, criticizing Jesus' followers because they really wish to criticize the authority and status of the Lord. But neither Jesus nor His Church can be dismissed. Through these same disciples, Jesus would spread the good news of peace, rest, and comfort. • Lord, defend Your people from those who hate You and would therefore do harm to Your Church. Help the Church to see that the battle is Yours and that You can do all things. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:1 entered the synagogue. See note, Mt 12:9. withered. See note, Mt 12:10.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:2 they. Presumably, the Pharisees from vv 23–28, who accused Jesus' disciples of breaking the Sabbath. accuse Him. The Pharisees hoped to catch Jesus performing a healing and then accuse Him of breaking the Sabbath. In so doing, they would ironically prove the very point they were trying to deny, that Jesus was divine.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:4 Is it lawful. Rhetorical, since everyone knew that Jewish tradition allowed for the Sabbath to be broken if life was threatened. they were silent. Shows the weakness of the argument by Jesus' opponents.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:5 anger, grieved. Unlike Mt and Lk, Mk tends to emphasize Jesus' emotions (cf 7:34; 8:12; 10:21). hardness of heart. See "Hard-heartedness," p 1653. Jesus' adversaries did not care for the disabled man. They were so intent on being right that they were dreadfully wrong. They would not see that Jesus had come to have mercy on all people, including them. See note, Ex 4:21. restored. Began to function normally.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:6 Pharisees … held counsel with the Herodians. Pharisees would not normally ally themselves with Herodians, since they considered Herod's family to be an illegitimate dynasty. However, a shared hatred for Jesus drove these two parties together. See p 1557. counsel. Gk symboulion, appears in Mk only here and in 15:1, when the Jews take counsel against Jesus on Good Friday. Note how quickly Jesus' enemies oppose Him in Mk! destroy. Kill.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:1–6 Again, Jesus demonstrates His authority over the Sabbath, this time by restoring a man's hand. He knows all our burdens and desires to grant us rest. Call on Him in earnest prayer. When the Lord is for us, none can oppose us! • Lord, lead us to take Your Word to heart. By Your Holy Spirit, work in us a faith that knows You as the way, the truth, and the life. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:7–8 After the conflicts described in 2:1–3:6, Jesus withdrew to a remote area along the sea. Nevertheless, people from all over flocked to Him. Jesus' popularity among the common people thus contrasts sharply with His unpopularity with His opponents (cf v 6).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:9 The crowds, for all their affection, were about to trample Jesus. For His own safety, as well as for the welfare of those around Him, Jesus sought refuge in a boat. Cf Lk 5:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:10 touch Him. See note, Lk 5:13; cf Mk 5:28–29; 7:33; 8:23. Jesus' touch showed His compassion and willingness to cross boundaries for the good of others.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:11–12 You are the Son of God. See note, 1:24. not to make Him known. See "Secrecy," p 1653.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:7–12 In contrast to the Pharisees' and Herodians' hostility, the crowds enthusiastically press around Jesus to listen and be healed. The mixed reaction to Jesus has not changed over the years. Many still reject Him, while others desperately seek His help. He nonetheless attends to people's physical and spiritual needs. He continues to bless those who seek Him today. • Lord, draw us to You, that we might learn from You and be healed by You. Count us among the eager crowds who leave everything else to be near You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:13 He went up on the mountain. See note, 1:35.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:14–15 twelve. See note, Lk 22:30; see also p 217. apostles. See notes, Mt 5:1; Lk 6:13. send them out … cast out demons. Because the disciples were given to share in Jesus' ministry and its authority, they were even able to cast out demons.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:16 Peter. Transliteration of Gk adjective petros, which is related to the word for "rock." However, Peter was not always the stable fellow his nickname implied. He sometimes acts rashly (e.g., 14:29, 66–72). After the resurrection, however, Peter became much more of a bulwark.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:17 James … John. See note, 1:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:18 See note, Mt 10:3.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:19 Judas Iscariot. See note, Lk 22:3. who betrayed Him. This important detail reinforces that Jesus is a marked man, destined to suffer from wicked intrigues (cf v 6).
MARK—NOTE ON 3:20 home. See note, 2:1–2. Not clear whether Jesus was in His own house or perhaps that of Simon Peter. not even eat. Again, Mk emphasizes Jesus' popularity with the masses. The demands of the crowd hardly allowed Jesus and the apostles time for a meal.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:21 Jesus' immediate family thought He was delusional. The cause of this concern is not clear. However, as firstborn son, He would have important family duties that may have fallen to His siblings. This would cause tension (cf vv 31–35). His family. See note, Lk 8:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:13–21 Even as Jesus seeks to expand His ministry by appointing and sending 12 apostles, His family comes and tries to make Him stop what He is doing. How ironic that those who think they know Jesus best are trying to stop Him from fulfilling His mission! Unfortunately, similar examples are still seen, as when lifelong Christians undermine sound mission strategies. But the Lord and His mission are not overcome by even this opposition. Jesus willingly faced death and conquered it for us. In Him is our hope of eternal life. • Lord, overcome our fear when we do not understand Your plans. Focus us instead on Your call to follow and Your gracious promise to lead. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 3:22 Because Jesus' opponents could not deny His many miracles, they tried to impugn their divine origin, claiming that He performed exorcisms by the power of Satan. Beelzebul. See note, 2Ki 1:2. prince of demons. Satan, not Beelzebul, was the leader of the demonic host. But Jesus' adversaries were more interested in heaping scorn than in being precise.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:23 parables. Here means something like "metaphor" or "illustration." See notes, Jgs 9:8–15; Mt 13:3. How can Satan cast out Satan? Rhetorical. Jesus shows the folly of claiming that He defeated the demons by Satan's power. Since the fall, Satan may properly be understood as "the ruler of this world" (Jn 12:31). At the same time, his authority is only what God allows (cf Jb 1:12; Jn 16:11; 1Pt 3:18–19).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:25 house is divided. Repeats the point made in v 24 ("a kingdom divided"), but is even more pointed within this context of the division within Jesus' own family (v 21).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:27 See note, Mt 12:29.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:28 children of man. Semitic way of referring to human beings (e.g., Ps 11:4; 12:1, 8; 14:2; 31:19). This phrase is also used frequently in the LXX. In the NT, it is used only here and in Eph 3:5. See "Son of Man," p 2098. blasphemies. See notes, Mt 9:3; 12:31.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:29–30 Famously difficult passage; it equates blasphemy of the Holy Spirit with the unpardonable sin—unyielding refusal to believe the Gospel and a rejection of the Holy Spirit's work to create faith in Jesus. eternal sin. Guilt of this sin brings one into the everlasting condemnation and punishment established for Satan and his evil angels (cf Mt 25:41). See note, 1Jn 5:16. Luth: "He calls the sin against the Holy Spirit a mortal sin. All of this is tantamount to saying: 'Whoever despairs in his sin or relies on good works sins against the Holy Spirit and against grace.' Of course, I should intercede for such people and pray that they may be freed from that sin and be converted; but it is impossible that God be gracious to them so long as they are given to that sin, it is impossible that God's grace be of greater effect in their hearts than that sin, as is true of other sins…. No, I must pray against that sin, as Moses did in Num. 16:15, against Korah, saying: 'Do not respect their offering.' For Korah, too, aspired to esteem before God by reason of his works, and so he sinned against grace. That is an intolerable sin. All other sins which let grace triumph and reign are forgivable" (AE 19:48–49).

MARK—NOTE ON 3:22–30 Those who refuse to recognize Jesus as God's Son and acknowledge His works as manifestations of the Holy Spirit remain under the dominion of Satan. But Jesus has overcome Satan. Those baptized into Christ have received not only Him but also His promised Holy Spirit. • Lord, preserve us from the power of Satan. Remove any lingering doubts we might harbor, that we might be confident in the fact that You have bound him and rescued us from his dominion. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:31–35 Having answered the charges of His enemies, Jesus now directs attention to His family and their fears that He has lost His mind. brothers. See note, Lk 8:19.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:32 Note the irony. People who barely know Jesus are seated next to Him, eagerly listening, while His family is outside, trying to get close enough to make Him stop.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:33–35 Who are My mother and My brothers? To be clear, Jesus is not despising family ties and their importance (see note, Lk 2:51).Though earthly relations are crucial, one's relationship to God and His family of faith are even more important, since they form an eternal communion. See note, Mt 10:37.

MARK—NOTE ON 3:31–35 Loyalty to God takes precedence over loyalty to blood relations. This is still hard to hear today, as the temptation to put relationships with family and friends above God can be overwhelming. But the Lord wants us to have both relationships, and have them as healthy as they can be. He stands first in our lives because He placed Himself last, to humbly bear our sins and make us children of God. • Lord, thank You for the privilege of being included in Your eternal family. Keep us in this faith and life forever. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:1–34 First of two extended sections of teaching in Mk (cf 13:3–37). Parables here repeatedly draw comparisons with things from everyday life in order to clarify how God plants and grows His kingdom. Jesus reveals both grace and judgment in these parables. See note, Lk 5:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:1–9 Though typically called "the parable of the sower," this story's main point has more to do with the four kinds of soil than with the one sowing seed. Cf vv 14–20 for the parable's interpretation.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:1 teach. See note, 1:21. sea. Sea of Galilee. into a boat. See note, 3:9. sat. See note, Mt 13:2.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:3 sower. A farmer planting seed. See note, v 14. sow. After seed was sown, an oxen-drawn harrow (or even a flock of sheep or goats) was driven through the field to turn the soil over the seed.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:4 the path. Packed-down soil.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:5–6 Shallow soil over large stones warms up quickly after the winter cold, and so helps the seeds germinate and sprout quickly. Because such soil has no depth, however, the seedlings cannot sink healthy roots.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:7 A variety of thorny weeds grow in Israel, some as tall as 6 ft. Like all weeds, these deplete the soil of nutrients, leaving little for the plants being cultivated.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:8 This plant produces grain abundantly in comparison to the single grain sown. Even a hundredfold increase is attested! Cf Mt 19:29.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:9 Jesus challenges the hearer to consider carefully what has just been said and apply it to his or her life. This saying appears frequently in the NT (e.g., v 23; Mt 13:43; Lk 14:35; Rv 2:7, 11, 17, 29; 3:6, 13, 22).
MARK—NOTE ON 4:1–9 The parable of the sower helps explain why not everyone who hears the Gospel believes it and bears the fruit of faith. Such failures are seemingly more common today than ever, even among traditionally Christian peoples. At the same time, the Word of the Lord accomplishes His good purpose. It works miracles in lives where the Spirit has His way. • Lord, continue to plant Your Word richly in us. Remove the stones and weeds that impede Your Word, and thereby bring forth a harvest of mature fruit in all who believe. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:10 The disciples still did not have "ears to hear" (v 9), and so had to ask Jesus for an explanation about the parable of the sower. Perhaps because they were too embarrassed to reveal their lack of understanding in public, they asked Jesus for an explanation in private.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:11 To you has been given. Before interpreting the parable of the sower for His disciples, Jesus first made clear that human beings cannot understand divine revelation unless given insight by God Himself. secret of the kingdom. This mystery has everything to do with a proper understanding of Jesus and His mission. Unfortunately, the disciples have still not understood Jesus' divinity and the nature of His mission. Particularly troublesome for them will be the idea that their Messiah has to suffer in order to complete His mission (cf 8:31–33; 9:30–32; 10:35–45). See "Secrecy," p 1653.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:12 see but not perceive … hear but not understand. See note, Mt 13:14–15.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:13 How then will you understand. Until the disciples believe that Jesus is the Messiah and interpret His teachings in light of His sacrificial suffering and death, they will never comprehend anything about Him. In fact, much of the unfolding plot in Mk involves the struggle of the disciples to accept that the Messiah will be rejected and crucified.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:14 Those sowing God's Word include Jesus Himself, the first disciples, and all subsequent teachers and preachers of the Gospel. The administration of Baptism and the Lord's Supper are included in this sowing activity.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:15 Just as Jesus can and will be rejected, so also His Word can suffer opposition. The human ego is not the only obstacle to the Word's reception. Satan and his evil hosts also work vigorously against the Word.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:16–17 Many converts joyfully begin a walk in the faith but then turn away when difficulties come. tribulation or persecution. Difficulties and troubles will come to all believers, even as they once came to Christ. That is why Jesus repeatedly warns people of the perils of following Him (8:34–35; Mt 10:22) and why His apostles repeatedly urge believers to persevere, despite trials (Gal 6:9; 2Tm 2:1–7; Heb 12:3–11; Jas 1:12; 1Pt 1:13–16; Rv 2:10; 3:11). See note, Heb 6:6.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:18–19 Like thorns that choke a growing plant, so the worries and pleasures of the world eradicate the feeble understanding of the Gospel.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:19 unfruitful. Here, as in other places, Jesus makes clear that the barometer of one's faith is not what one says, but rather what one does. In other words, the fruits of faith (good works) are the most accurate indicators of the sincerity of belief. Cf Mt 7:15–20; 12:33; Mk 12:1–9.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:20 accept it and bear fruit. Elsewhere, Scripture teaches that believers must be given grace in order to accept the Word and bear the fruit of faith (cf 1Co 12:3). That reality serves as a corrective to any thought that the productive soil is inherently better than the other, unproductive soils. "The Word is so effective that whenever it is seriously contemplated, heard, and used, it is bound never to be without fruit" (LC I 101).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:10–20 Jesus interprets the parable of the sower for His disciples. The failures of the various soils to produce for the Lord are still common: people even now refuse to hear, fall away when hardship comes, and allow worldly concerns to overwhelm their faith. Yet, by God's grace, many receive the Word in good faith and produce richly. Not even the gates of hell can prevail against His Church. • Lord, help us to see and perceive, to hear and understand. Remove every impediment to our faith. Let Your Word bring forth lasting fruit in our lives. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:21–22 Is a lamp … put under. Rhetorical; it is obviously self-defeating to light a lamp and then hide it. Jesus' followers are supposed to bring the light of the Gospel to the darkness surrounding them.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:22 nothing is hidden. See note, Lk 8:17.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:23 See note, v 9.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:24 Jesus assures His followers that, when they act graciously and righteously toward others, an even greater measure of goodness will come back to them. Cf Gal 6:9.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:25 more will be given … taken away. See note, Lk 8:18.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:21–25 Jesus continues the theme of producing for the Kingdom by comparing His people to lamps set on a stand and by promising that faithfulness will be rewarded. It is a great pity, therefore, that so many Christians thwart God's desire to bless faithfulness by failing to put their faith into practice wholeheartedly. The Lord forgives those who repent, and He calls us to focus on His mission. Though we are generous, He is more generous still and blesses more and more. • Lord, thank You for graciously rewarding our small kindnesses with outpourings of even more precious blessings. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:26–29 Although this parable and the one in vv 1–20 both involve the sowing of seed and its growth, this one makes a different point.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:26 kingdom of God. See note, 1:15.
MARK—NOTE ON 4:27 sleeps and rises. Although the farmer plays an important role in the cultivation of his field—after all, he sows the seed—its growth occurs apart from his efforts, even as he sleeps. sprouts and grows; he knows not how. Even today, many aspects of horticulture remain a mystery. The more one studies nature, the more one marvels at its intricacy, as well as the wisdom and power of its Lord.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:28 The earth does not actually produce growth "by itself" (Gk automate). The plant owes its growth to the power of God, who both creates and sustains the natural order (cf v 26). Growth in the Kingdom is similarly the result of God's Word and Spirit, not the speaker or hearer (Rm 10:17).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:29 Image frequently used to describe judgment at the end of time (cf Is 17:5; Rv 14:14–19). By concluding this parable with a reference to the final judgment, Jesus underscores the idea that the Kingdom is moving toward a goal.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:26–29 God's kingdom grows mysteriously of itself, at its own pace, and through the power of the Word. This reality often causes frustration among those who eagerly long for a rapid expansion of the Kingdom, and all the more as we only have a short-term view of things. But God's kingdom grows according to His plan and timetable. And it is a great blessing that things ultimately depend on Him and not us, for only He is able to bring home a great harvest for life eternal. • Lord, as You have begun a good work by planting Your kingdom in our world, bring it to a full harvest in Your own good time. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:30 compare the kingdom. Only record of this phrase in Mk (cf Mt 13:24; 18:23; 22:2; 25:1).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:31 mustard seed. Proverbial in rabbinical teaching for its smallness (cf Mt 17:20). Technically a hyperbole, since the mustard seed is not actually the smallest seed known.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:32 larger than all the garden plants. One variety of mustard (sinapis nigra) can reach a mature height of 10 ft, making it the largest plant in an herb garden. birds. In contrast to v 15, here the birds represent people of every nation. Alludes to a prophecy comparing the Messiah's rule to a great tree in whose shadow "birds of every sort will nest" (Ezk 17:23).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:33 able to hear it. See notes, vv 9, 11.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:34 privately. See note, v 10. Jesus did not purposely make His teaching confusing. Rather, it was the people's preconceptions that made His teachings seem hard.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:30–34 Jesus' parables reassure believers that over time the kingdom of God will grow incredibly large, far beyond its unassuming beginnings. Precisely because the Kingdom grows so slowly and its Lord is so patient, believers tend to become discouraged and its enemies are emboldened. But in the end, the Kingdom alone will stand, and everything else will be overthrown. Thank God, He shelters His people of every nation in its eternal shade. • Lord, let us see both in fact and by faith that Your kingdom will someday be all in all. Keep us ever sheltered safely within its branches. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:35 other side. From the western side of the Sea of Galilee to the eastern shore, leaving the predominantly Jewish region of Galilee for the more Gentile region of the Gerasenes (See note, 5:1).

MARK—NOTE ON 4:36 just as He was. Jesus had entered the boat to teach (v 1). other boats. Only Mk notes the presence of other boats, though Jesus and the Twelve were evidently all in a single boat.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:37 windstorm. Sea of Galilee is c 700 ft below sea level. Mount Hermon, a 9,200-ft-high peak, sits only 30 mi NE. When the westerly winds coming off this mountain collide with the warm air over the lake, sudden and violent storms are sometimes produced.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:38 asleep. Jesus felt comfortable enough traveling by boat to nap on the way. Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:39 rebuked … Peace! Be still! Jesus addresses creation by speaking to the storm as if it were a person. (See note, Dt 30:19.) By His authoritative word, He masters the wind and waves just as easily as illnesses and demons. calm. Remarkable because it was instantaneous and complete.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:40 still no faith? Jesus had assured the Twelve not much earlier that "the secret of the kingdom" had been given to them (v 11). However, they had yet to internalize His teaching and self-revelation. Their lack of understanding is a theme for almost all of Mk.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:41 Who then is this. They may have been wondering if Jesus was a miracle worker, such as Honi the Circle-Drawer and Hanina ben Dosa. They still did not understand that Jesus is more than a miracle worker; He is the Messiah and Son of God. None of them will acclaim Jesus as Messiah until 8:29.

MARK—NOTE ON 4:35–41 When Jesus rebukes the wind and waves, the lifeless storm shows a greater recognition of His divine power than the disciples. Similar examples still abound, as the brute forces of nature invariably obey the Lord's commands better than people, including God's own children, obey them. But the Lord nonetheless continues to love and care for us, despite our dullness and doubts. He not only calms all of the storms in our lives but actually does so in ways that mature our faith and lead us to trust Him more deeply. • Lord, forgive our doubts, for we sometimes take Your silence as nothing more than sleepy indifference. Remind us that You never sleep nor slumber, but always keep us under Your watchful eye. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:1–20 These events do not take place within the city proper but in the outlying regions near the seashore. Mk records three episodes in which Jesus casts out unclean or demonic spirits (1:21–28; 5:1–20; 9:14–29). Each account exhibits a similar structure: opening conflict; exorcism; and finally, dismay and praise.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:1 Gerasenes. Gerasa was a city c 35 mi SE of the Sea of Galilee. See map, p 1576.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:2 tombs. In this region, archaeologists have unearthed "cavern tombs" (man-made caves carved out of rocky outcroppings). They are large enough to provide living space. unclean spirit. Contact with tombs was likely regarded as ritually defiling (cf Lv 21:1; see note, Lk 11:44). In folk piety, graveyards were believed to be the haunts of ghosts and disembodied spirits.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:4 Apparently, the townspeople feared the man's violent strength and had tried to bind him.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:5 always crying out and cutting himself. Demons drove this man to inflict wounds on himself (cf 9:18, 20, 22).

MARK—NOTE ON 5:7 Jesus, Son of the Most High God? See note, 1:24.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:9 Jesus forces these demons to reveal their name! Legion. Roman military units containing 4,000–6,000 soldiers. Roman legions were legendary for their ferocity and ability to impose their will upon others. A whole host of demons possessed this man.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:10 In one moment, the demons tried to gain control over Jesus by invoking His name (v 7); in the next, they begged Jesus not to expel them too far away.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:11–12 pigs. See note, Lk 8:32–33.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:12 See note, Mt 8:31.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:13 drowned. The death of the pigs powerfully attests that the demons' hold over this poor man was finally loosed.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:14 herdsmen … told. See note, Lk 8:34.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:15 sitting there … in his right mind. The sudden change in the man recalls the instant calm that Jesus brought to the storm in 4:39. afraid. The typical reaction to a stunning show of divine power. See note, Lk 5:8.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:17 See note, Lk 8:37.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:19–20 tell them. Though Jesus has commanded silence after healing others (e.g., 1:44; 5:43; 7:36; 8:26), He encourages this man to share the good news of his deliverance (see "Secrecy," p 1653). The man does so enthusiastically, spreading the word in numerous communities (Decapolis means "10 cities").
MARK—NOTE ON 5:1–20 Despite Jesus' magnificent work of deliverance, the reaction to Him is mixed. The man eagerly wishes to follow Jesus and then enthusiastically furthers His cause, while the townspeople ask Jesus to go away. The Lord still receives the same kind of mixed reaction today, even among those who follow Him, especially when doing so requires a change from established ways. But what remarkable kindness Jesus shows! He rescues people from the devil's power and even the grave itself, and then allows them to be witnesses to the wonders of His grace. • Lord, rescue us from the power of Satan, and draw us from the grave through Your resurrection. May we learn joyfully to tell our neighbors what good things the Lord has done. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:21–43 Both stories here center on females, and both mention a span of 12 years: the girl was 12 years old, and the woman had suffered from a hemorrhage for 12 years.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:22 rulers of the synagogue. See note, Lk 8:41.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:23 lay Your hands on her. Jesus had healed with a touch before (1:31, 41) and would several additional times. See notes, Mt 14:36; Lk 5:13. That said, Jesus was perfectly capable of effecting cures simply by saying the word (7:29; Mt 8:13).
MARK—NOTE ON 5:24–34 Account of Jairus and his daughter is interrupted by a story about the healing of the woman with a discharge of blood (cf 3:21–35; 6:7–30; 11:12–25; 14:1–12).
MARK—NOTE ON 5:25 discharge of blood. Likely a uterine hemorrhage. See note, Lv 15:25–30.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:26 The woman had tried all kinds of remedies. The Talmud listed 11 cures for such ailments, all of which we would consider superstitious; she likely tried such remedies.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:27 touched His garment. See note, Mt 14:36.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:29 immediately. In contrast to Jairus's anxious waiting (vv 22–24, 35), healing came instantaneously to this woman, who had waited so many years.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:30–31 power … from Him. Does not mean Jesus performed this miracle unawares or involuntarily. Who touched My garments? Not an accusatory question but an invitation for the woman to confess her faith.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:33 fear and trembling. The woman's illness involved impurity and thus left her open to the charge that she had defiled Jesus by touching Him.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:34 faith has made you well. To be clear, this woman's faith was not the main cause of her healing. Rather, her faith was the means whereby healing was received from the outpouring of Jesus' power and grace. See note, Lk 7:50.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:35 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. Jesus spent many hours teaching. He was far more than an instructor, however, as His miracles forcefully underscored.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:37 Peter and James and John. See note, 1:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:39 not dead but sleeping. The girl had, in fact, died, but Jesus was about to awaken her as easily as from a natural sleep. Because of the Lord's mastery over death and the resurrection promise, the NT repeatedly speaks of death in terms of "sleeping" (Mt 27:52; Jn 11:11, 13; Ac 7:60; 13:36; 1Co 11:30; 15:6, 18, 20, 51; 1Th 4:13–15). See p 1750.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:40 laughed. Ridiculed. See p 1335.
MARK—NOTE ON 5:41 Talitha cumi. Aram, "young one" (feminine), "arise." The power of these simple words from Jesus' lips was such that those witnessing their effect never forgot them. See "Imperial Aramaic," p 720. Ambr: "How quickly at the word of the Lord does the spirit return, the reviving body rise up, and food is taken, that the evidence of life may be believed!" (NPNF 2 10:187).
MARK—NOTE ON 5:43 no one should know. See "Secrecy," p 1653. give her something to eat. See note, Lk 8:55.

MARK—NOTE ON 5:21–43 Jesus heals Jairus's daughter and a woman with a chronic ailment. Like Jairus, we often worry that the Lord's delay in answering our prayers may end up in catastrophe. But the Eternal One, who overcame death by rising from the dead, never runs out of time. In fact, His gracious promise is that we shall share eternal life with Him. • Lord, grant us to believe without doubting that You can heal every illness. Give us patience, as well, that we might be unmoved while waiting for You to act in Your own good time and in accord with Your gracious will. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:1 hometown. Nazareth, the town where Jesus was raised (Mt 2:19–23), not Capernaum, from which He conducted His ministry (see note, Mt 4:13).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:2 teach in the synagogue. It appears that Jesus had not yet preached in the Nazareth synagogue, as He had in Capernaum. teach. See note, 1:21. What is the wisdom. See note, Mt 13:54.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:3 carpenter. Gk tekton applied not only to carpenters and woodworkers but also to those who fashioned goods from a combination of wood and stone (e.g., homes, which Jesus often mentions in His teaching). See p 2134. The context suggests that Jesus' old neighbors mentioned His days as a tradesman in order to draw an unflattering contrast with His new role as teacher. brother. See note, Lk 8:19. Though none of these four brothers of Jesus believed in Him as Savior during His earthly ministry (Jn 7:5), James and Jude did so after His resurrection. James. He saw the resurrected Jesus (1Co 15:7) and became a leader in the Jerusalem Church (cf Ac 12:17; 15:13; 21:18; Gal 1:19; 2:9, 12; Jas 1:1). He wrote the short Epistle that bears his name. See pp 2130–33. Judas. Wrote the short Epistle called Jude. sisters. Unfortunately, Jesus' sisters go unnamed and unnumbered. Consequently, nothing else is known of them. took offense. Jesus did not give offense; rather, the people took offense at His words and actions. offense. See note, Mt 13:57.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:4 See note, Mt 13:57.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:5 Jesus was fully capable of performing miracles in Nazareth, had He wanted to. Yet, He chose not to give any signs of His divinity to those who scoffingly dismissed Him. Jesus' miracles were gifts He freely gave, not proofs demanded of Him (cf 8:11–12).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:6 unbelief. The callous unbelief of Jesus' hometown contrasts starkly with the humble but dogged examples of faith in 2:2–5 and 5:34. teaching. See note, 1:21.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:1–6 Two very different astonishments stand side by side: Jesus' teachings amaze His hometown neighbors; yet their close-minded hard-heartedness leaves Jesus amazed. We see similar contrasts today as people experience so much goodness from God and yet remain unthankful and unbelieving. But Jesus did not retaliate or write people off, even when they scornfully dismissed Him. He took the world's rejection and, through His sacrificial death, reconciled all people to God. • Lord, give us eyes to recognize You, ears to receive Your Word, and hearts to believe its promises. By Your grace, bring us to the fullness of Your glory in heaven. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:7 authority over the unclean spirits. Jesus had appointed the Twelve (3:13–19); then they were with Him for some time, learning from His teaching and observing how He exercised authority. Now, He gives them a more active role in His ministry. Chief among the powers He gives them is the authority to cast out demons. See note, 3:14–15.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:8–9 The apostles were to depend wholly upon the kindness of others and the provisions of God. Given the shabby treatment Jesus just received in Nazareth (vv 1–5), this command must have sounded quite perilous.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:11 shake off the dust. See note, Lk 9:5.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:12 proclaimed … repent. Repentance lay at the heart of both John's and Jesus' proclamations of the Kingdom (1:4, 14–15). The Twelve, therefore, continued and extended the ministries of John and Jesus. See "repent," p 1080.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:13 anointed with oil. See note, Ps 23:5. Christian fellowships today still practice anointing rituals for healing (Lk 10:34). See notes, 1Sm 10:1; Jas 5:14. See also LSB Pastoral Care Companion, p 34.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:7–13 The disciples multiply Jesus' healing and revealing ministry, building on the foundation laid by John the Baptist and anticipating their own ministries, which will bear full fruit after Jesus' ascension. Even as Jesus sends the Twelve, He anticipates that not everyone will welcome the Gospel, as is still true today. Nevertheless, God unfailingly opens hearts and doors to their ministry, and He promises to do the same until the end of time. • Lord, give us courage to share Your Word to a dying world in these uncertain times. Open hearts to repentance and faith in the Gospel. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:14 King. Mt and Lk use the more specific term "tetrarch" (Mt 14:1; Lk 9:7) because the Roman emperor did not recognize Herod Antipas's claim to royalty. raised from the dead. Herod's fear and guilt over John's death likely caused his suspicion that the Baptizer had returned from the dead. Others also suspected that Jesus might be John raised from the dead (8:28).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:15 See note, 1:6.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:17 Herodias, his brother Philip's wife. Granddaughter of Herod the Great. Her present husband, Herod Antipas, was a son of Herod the Great. She had been previously married to Philip, another son of Herod the Great (Philip was also the half brother of Herod Antipas). In other words, both of Herodias's husbands were also her uncles.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:18 not lawful. Herod divorced his first wife, the daughter of a Nabataean king, in order to marry Herodias. (Nabataea was the region east of the Dead Sea.) However, it was not lawful for him to marry his brother's wife (cf Lv 18:16; 20:21). Furthermore, Herodias had divorced her husband, also forbidden by Jewish law.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:19 Herodias had a grudge. Given her shameful behavior (see notes, vv 17, 18), Herodias was understandably sensitive and therefore irked that John called attention to her divorce and remarriage.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:20 Herod feared John. See note, v 14. righteous and holy man. John was a prophet who sought neither riches nor political power. Prophets often rebuked kings for their sins (e.g., 2Sm 12:1–14). See p 843. kept him safe. Jewish historian Josephus wrote that Herod imprisoned John at Machaerus, a fortress overlooking the Dead Sea. There, the prophet was relatively safe from the hatred of Herodias. heard. John preached the Law but also that the Gospel of the kingdom of God was at hand.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:21 nobles. Part of the wealthy class, whose support Herod needed. military commanders. Along with the nobles, these people formed the backbone of Herod's support. leading men. Likely second-level rank of officials and civilian leaders.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:22 danced. Likely suggestively, in a manner calculated to gain favor. Planned by her mother, Herodias (vv 24–26).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:23 up to half of my kingdom. Herod did not have authority to dispense with half of his kingdom, but used the phrase as an extravagant expression.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:24–28 Herod ironically attempts to save his honor by taking John's life.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:26 exceedingly sorry. Ambr: "[This] is not repentance on the part of the king, but a confession of guilt" (NPNF 2 10:385).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:28 head on a platter. Grisly display of John's severed head—at a meal, no less—illustrates the extreme corruption of Herod and his high society friends.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:29 Herod tries to salvage his reputation by allowing John's disciples to bury John's body. John's burial prefigures the interment of Jesus (15:42–47).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:14–29 Coming just after the story about Jesus' rejection in Nazareth, the tragic story of John gives an unmistakable foreshadowing of what awaits Jesus: rejection and even violent hostility. But rejection and violence cannot overcome the risen Lord. His victory over death and the grave shows how wonderfully He can turn such antagonism into life and salvation. • Lord, give us a faith like John's, especially his integrity and trust. Help us to believe unquestioningly that faithfulness unto death will receive the crown of eternal life. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:30 The apostles returned. Story begun in vv 7–13 resumes. Intervening account of John's death (vv 14–29) is a somber reminder that Jesus and His disciples will face the wrath of rulers like Herod.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:31–32 Despite an unending list of ministry tasks to get done, Jesus made time for Himself and His disciples to rest and recover. Presumably, this time of rest included instruction and prayer (cf 1:35; 7:17).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:32 desolate place. Not a desert, since there was green grass (v 39). See note, Lk 9:10.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:34 compassion. See note, Lk 7:13. shepherd … teach. Jesus, the Good Shepherd, fulfills the needs of His flock. Here, He provides instruction as well as an unforgettable meal (vv 37–44). Christian worship services today typically have Jesus' teaching and a miraculous meal as their most important elements. See note, 1:21.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:35–36 Because it was likely late afternoon, the people would have time to buy food at the market.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:37 You give them something to eat. See note, Lk 9:13. two hundred denarii. Over half a year's salary, a substantial amount.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:38 Five, and two fish. Obviously, this amount of food was insufficient for Jesus and the Twelve, let alone the multitude.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:39 green grass. Only Mk records this detail, possibly a vivid recollection from the disciple's memory.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:41 This sequence—taking the bread, speaking a blessing, breaking, and then giving—also occurs in the institution of the Lord's Supper (14:22), which may be foreshadowed here. See notes, Lk 24:30; Jn 6:51–58.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:42–44 all ate … satisfied. The Lord's superabundant provision was such that, despite the overwhelming number of people, no one went away hungry. five thousand men. Women and children were fed but not included in the number.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:30–44 When a multitude of Jesus' followers have far too little food for all to eat, Jesus multiplies five loaves and two fishes so that all are satisfied. When problems threaten us and needs overwhelm our resources, what is our reaction? Do we turn first to the Lord? We should, as His Word makes clear, for He still treats His flock with compassion and more than provides for every need of body and soul. • Lord, thank You for providing so abundantly and for graciously sustaining our bodies and souls. Teach us to turn to You first in every want and need. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:45 Jesus obliged the disciples to embark for the other shore. This shows that Jesus was responsible for the disciples' all-night struggle against the wind. Note further that this was the second time in a day that Jesus commanded the disciples to do something difficult or even impossible (cf v 37).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:46 on the mountain to pray. See note, 1:35.
MARK—NOTE ON 6:47 out on the sea. C 3–4 mi (cf Jn 6:19).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:48 fourth watch. From 3 to 6 a.m. See p 1567. The disciples had been in the boat for a long time, fighting with the wind for almost the whole night. walking on the sea. Jesus comes to reveal Himself as the Lord of all creation. pass by them. In the OT, God passed by Moses (Ex 33:22; 34:6) and Elijah (1Ki 19:11–13).
MARK—NOTE ON 6:49–50 ghost. Gk phantasma. Appears only here and in Mt 14:26. See note, Mk 5:2. The disciples are not far from the truth as they assume that the one walking on the water is more than a mere mortal, for Jesus' divinity is clearly visible. Do not be afraid. This command will be echoed at another important moment of revelation—at the empty tomb (16:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 6:51 wind ceased. See note, 4:39.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:52 did not understand about the loaves. Despite the unmistakable ways Jesus had just displayed His divine nature and power, the disciples somehow remain in the dark. hearts were hardened. See "Hard-heartedness," p 1653. It is somewhat surprising that Jesus describes the disciples and His opponents in the same way (cf 10:5; 16:14). The disciples' lack of comprehension will only worsen in the coming chapters (e.g. 9:32; 10:32). Jesus' predictions of His death will prove most difficult for them to grasp.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:45–52 Demonstrating mastery over the winds and waves for a second time, Jesus calms another storm. Even more amazing, however, is the fact that Jesus' disciples still do not recognize His divine nature. Too often, our eyes are also blind and our hearts are just as hard. It is a good thing, therefore, that He who walked on the water that night also died in Calvary's darkness to save us from our hard-heartedness. • Lord, save us when we are overcome by life's storms and our hearts are darkened by unbelief. Calm the tempest, open our eyes, and create within us the faith to recognize You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:53 Gennesaret. Town on the northwestern shore of the Sea of Galilee, between Capernaum and Tiberius. See map, p 1584.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:54 recognized Him. Note how starkly this picture contrasts with the depiction of the disciples in vv 50–51. The Twelve's hardened hearts had just failed to see Jesus' divine nature, even after He had multiplied the loaves and walked on the water.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:55–56 laid the sick in the marketplaces. Instead of the usual goods on the market, Jesus found a multitude of desperately ill people, all asking for His touch and healing. The numerous healings here in Gennesaret contrast with the few that were healed in Nazareth (6:5–6). touch even the fringe. This confidence echoes that of the woman who touched Jesus' garment and was healed (5:28–29). fringe. See note, Mt 14:36.

MARK—NOTE ON 6:53–56 Not long after Jesus' disciples failed to recognize an unmistakable display of His divinity, the people of Gennesaret show great faith by receiving Jesus and clamoring for His healing power. Even today, those new to the faith often exhibit more conviction than those who have known Jesus for a long time. It is good news, then, that Jesus remains devoted to us even when our commitment wavers or fails. His resolve to suffer and die for all is ample proof of that. • Lord, give us the zeal of the Gennesaret believers. May we ever press toward You, resolute in our conviction that You can heal and restore us. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:1 Pharisees … scribes. In contrast to the sincerity of the throngs in Gennesaret, Jesus' adversaries renew hostilities. They were sticklers for the observance of detailed interpretations of the law. See notes, 2:18; Mt 2:4. from Jerusalem. See note, Mt 15:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:2 hands … unwashed. Not so much an issue of hygiene, but of ritual observance.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:3–4 Cf Ex 30:17–21; Lv 22:4–7 for laws intended for priests. This lengthy aside explains that the Pharisees required ritual washings, not only of those returning from the market, but also of different cooking utensils and even furniture. wash. Gk baptizo; same term used when referring to Christian Baptism. Though this verb may denote immersion, it also describes washings by pouring or sprinkling. See p 1369. Did: "Baptize into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, in living water. But if you have not living water, baptize into other water; and if you cannot in cold, in warm. But if you have not either, pour out water thrice upon the head into the name of Father and Son and Holy Spirit" (ANF 7:379). This shows the flexibility of earliest Christian practice as it adapted from the customs of Judaism. Archaeologists have discovered ritual washing pools or tanks (Hbr miqwaoth) that held c 60 gallons of water, which would have been running or "living" (cf Jn 4:10–11; 7:37–38) according to rabbinic custom. However, see notes, Ezk 36:25; Heb 10:22. See also Mishnah Teharot. dining couches. Cushions.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:5 The Pharisees and scribes expected the disciples and Jesus to follow their ritual practices, esp those involving washings.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:6–7 Jesus quotes Is to rebuke the hypocrisy of His pharisaical accusers. This passage contrasts insincere lip service with heartfelt obedience. Isaiah. See note, 1:2–3.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:8 Jesus' rebuke is aimed particularly at the Pharisees' elevation of human tradition above divine commandment.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:9–13 Jesus gives a concrete example of the Pharisees' hypocritical piety: He describes them as failing to obey the Fourth Commandment ("Honor your father and your mother") because they consider it more important to give special offerings than to support elderly parents. Such piety is ultimately self-serving and a sham. Corban. An offering above and beyond the tithes required by Mosaic Law.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:13 making void the word of God. A mere appearance of piety does not please God. He prefers that people simply obey His Commandments.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:1–13 Jesus criticizes the Pharisees for being overly concerned with man-made observances while failing to fulfill God's Commandments. Such hypocrisy still abounds, as most people worry more about human opinions than what God thinks. Given our own failures in this regard, it is a good thing that the Lord not only commands in His Word, but also graciously forgives and promises goodness. • Lord, cleanse us each day from our sins. We thank You that Jesus was made a fragrant, sacrificial offering for us. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:14–23 Jesus does not simply refute and criticize the Pharisees. He also teaches the people the correct understanding of God's will and human nature.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:15 Jesus turns the pharisaical conception of impurity upside down (see note, v 20).
MARK—NOTE ON 7:17 left the people. Jesus provided additional, private teaching for the disciples, away from the crowds (cf 4:10, 34).
MARK—NOTE ON 7:18 without understanding? See note, 6:52.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:19 enters not his heart. Cf v 15. Ritually impure food does not touch the heart and so cannot contaminate it. all foods clean. Jesus' teaching will affect the future Christian mission. Simply put, Gentiles will not need to observe Jewish dietary laws. The question of food laws caused much controversy in the first-century Church. Cf Ac 15:1–35; Rm 14:1–3; 1Co 8:7–13; see p 300.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:20 Jesus clarifies that what does indeed defile is not what enters from the outside, but rather what lurks in the hearts of fallen people.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:21–22 Beginning with sexual immorality, 12 kinds of evil thoughts and actions are combined in a dreadful list of vices. The first six are in the plural form and describe behaviors; the last six are in the singular and have more to do with attitudes. These 12 vices leave no doubt as to the wretched impurity of the human spirit. See note, Ps 51:5. heart. See note, Mt 15:19.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:14–23 Jesus teaches that people are not defiled by food or other things entering the body from the outside, but rather by their own evil inclinations and sinful behaviors. This teaching exposes the uselessness of our own excuse-making and dismisses our claims that other people and things are to blame for our shortcomings and failures. However, Jesus does not merely condemn; He also sets free. Through His promises we are liberated from sin and reconciled to God. • Lord, renew us each day with clean hearts. By Your Spirit, give us joyous words, generous spirits, and behaviors that reflect Your glory. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:24 Tyre and Sidon. See note, Lk 10:13–14. did not want anyone to know. See "Secrecy," p 1653.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:26 Gentile. Mk stresses this woman's Gentile background, probably because of Jesus' previous debate with the Pharisees over what is defiling (vv 1–23). she begged … her daughter. Another case of one person's faithful intercession benefiting another (cf 2:3–5; 5:22–24; 6:56).

MARK—NOTE ON 7:27 Jesus' response to this woman is surprising on at least two counts. First, He implies she is a dog, which was a great insult (see notes, 2Sm 3:8; Php 3:2). Second, He suggests that He would serve Jewish people first (the children at the table). dogs. Gk kunarion, a diminutive form referring to family pets, not wild or street dogs.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:28 The woman seizes upon her characterization as a family pet and expresses her willingness to assume even a most modest place within the household.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:29–30 This outsider's great faith contrasts sharply with that of the Pharisees and even the disciples, who fail to understand much of what Jesus is teaching. Such unswerving faith results in the daughter's full recovery.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:24–30 In the regions of Tyre and Sidon, Jesus reveals that He has come to save the Gentiles along with the Jews. Unfortunately, the all-encompassing nature of His Gospel is viewed today as a threat by many Christian communities; outreach to other cultures might be ignored. But Jesus calls us to repent of such notions, and He reaches out to all people. No one lies beyond the scope of His love and grace. • Lord, help us to share the Gospel with all people, especially those who are different from us, that all may be edified in the faith. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 7:31 Decapolis. Lit, "10 cities"; this region lay southeast of the Sea of Galilee. See color map 4.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:32 deaf and had a speech impediment. Because those unable to hear have difficulty learning to speak correctly, it is probable that this man had been handicapped from birth.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:33 privately. As will become clearer in v 36, this is another example of Jesus commanding silence in order to avoid misunderstanding about His identity (see "Secrecy," p 1653). touched. Here, touch made communication easier. Jesus tended to use touch in His healings (cf 1:31, 41; 5:28–29, 41; 6:56; 8:25). See note, Lk 5:13.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:34–35 sighed. Physical sign of emotion. See note, 3:5. Ephphatha. Aram word was later used in the Church's baptismal liturgies in order to emphasize the Spirit's power to open ears to the Gospel. spoke plainly. Once the man's ears were healed, he was also able to speak clearly. He immediately put this gift to work in praise.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:36 tell no one. See "Secrecy," p 1653.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:37 done all things well. Summarizes all of Jesus' works. The Pharisees will demand more signs (8:11–12). The crowds were awed and remained positive toward Jesus but, like the disciples, did not truly understand who Jesus is.
MARK—NOTE ON 7:31–37 Jesus heals another person in a Gentile region, further emphasizing His love for every race and kind of people. This serves as yet one more example of why we need to avoid the temptation to narrow the scope of the mission and to ignore opportunities to reach out to those who are different than ourselves. Jesus' healing of this man, immediately after He restored the daughter of the Syrophoenician woman, underscores that He desires to love, cleanse, and heal all people. • Lord, You have done everything well. Help us also to see the depths of Your mercy and grace, that we understand them as gifts meant for all. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:1 In those days. Maintains the tension described in the confrontations and miracles of ch 7.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:2 compassion. See note, Lk 7:13. with Me … nothing to eat. Crowds were wildly enthusiastic for Jesus (cf 1:37, 45; 3:9; 6:33, 54–55). They were so eager to stay with Him that they lost track of time and began to ignore basic necessities such as food.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:3 Jesus already had in mind to feed the hungry multitude; nonetheless, He invited the disciples to reflect on the problem (cf 6:37). Jesus tested them to see whether they would have faith.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:4 Once again, the disciples failed to recognize Jesus' true identity and lacked faith in His power. desolate place? See note, Mt 15:33.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:5–6 Seven. May represent the number of Gentile nations surrounding Israel (see p 345). There were 12 baskets of leftovers collected in 6:43, a number representing Israel. See p 217.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:6 took … given thanks … broke … gave. See note, 6:41.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:7 In contrast with 6:41, Jesus blessed the fish separately, after the bread had been distributed, thus making a second course that highlighted the bounty of the meal. small fish. Probably roasted until crisp. blessed. See p 842.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:8 satisfied. See notes, 6:42–44; Mt 15:37.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:10 district of Dalmanutha. Only NT mention. It was most likely on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:1–10 Jesus' compassion moves Him to feed another hungry crowd by means of a second miraculous multiplication of bread. When Jesus confronts the disciples with feeding the crowds for a second time, they again fail to see that His power provides the way forward. How slowly we sometimes respond in faith! Yet how graciously Jesus continues to provide, both with His Word of forgiveness and with daily bread. He fully satisfies our bodies and souls. • Lord, deepen our hunger for Your Word, and so teach us to turn first to You in every need. Then feed us with Your multiple gifts. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:11 The Pharisees had already decided that Jesus must die (3:6). Thus, their behavior here is pure hypocrisy. sign from heaven. See note, Mt 12:38.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:12 sighed deeply. Display of emotion. See note, 3:5. no sign. Jesus refused to provide a gratuitous show of power. The only sign given to such unbelief will be Jesus' death and resurrection. See note, Mt 12:39.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:11–13 Even though the Pharisees have already rejected Jesus, they still try to demand that He prove His identity. Scoffers continue to do as much today, denying God but at the same time hurling demands for proof toward Him. Believers, however, know that God is real, and they see the depth of His love in Christ's suffering and the glory of His promises in the resurrection. • Lord, when we hunger for a sign of Your presence and power, focus our eyes on Your empty tomb. Make this the lasting, satisfying sign that opens our eyes to You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:14–21 By now, the disciples should have gotten the idea that a shortage of food was no problem for Jesus. However, they remain as blind to Jesus' true identity as ever.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:15 leaven. See notes, Mt 13:33; 1Co 5:6, 7; Gal 5:9. Pharisees. See note, Mk 2:18. Herod. See "Herodians," p 1557.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:16 no bread. Problem is not a shortage of food, but a lack of faith in the One who can provide for this and every need.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:17–21 Jesus warns against a failure to see His true identity and a lack of faith in Him as Lord. Significantly, His adversaries already know but reject His claims to be the Messiah. His disciples, on the other hand, are depicted as merely oblivious to His true identity.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:17 Do you not yet perceive. The Twelve had seen the clear testimony of Jesus' miraculous feedings—to say nothing of His many other miracles—yet did not grasp that Jesus is the Messiah. hearts hardened? See notes, Ex 4:21; 9:12.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:21 Repetition of this question (v 17) anticipates the great moment when the disciples recognize Jesus (v 29).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:14–21 The disciples remember their lack of bread but forget about the One who is with them, the very Lord and Creator of all. At times, we are similarly hard-hearted and shortsighted, focusing so much on our need for daily bread that we forget to call upon Jesus, the very bread of life. Nevertheless, Jesus patiently teaches His disciples, showing over and over that He alone can satisfy our deepest needs. • Lord, open the eyes of our hearts, so that we see You as the very bread from heaven, the answer to all our wants and needs. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:23 out of the village. Jesus heals the man away from the crowds. Cf 5:40; 7:33; see "Secrecy," p 1653. spit on his eyes. Jesus used His saliva as a means of healing on other occasions. See note, Jn 9:6. laid His hands on him. See note, 7:33.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:24 like trees, walking. The man sees unclearly at first. It may indicate that the man was not born blind but lost his sight. (He knows something is still wrong in what he now sees.)
MARK—NOTE ON 8:25 again. Only two-step miracle recorded in the Gospels. The blind man receives his sight slowly. In the same way, the disciples do not understand what they are seeing; Jesus must teach them who He is again and again (v 31; 9:31; 10:32–33).
MARK—NOTE ON 8:26 See "Secrecy," p 1653.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:22–26 Jesus heals a blind man as His disciples continue to struggle with the issue of who Jesus is and what He has come to do. Sin blinds all of us. Yet, Jesus' gracious touch opens our eyes so that, despite our weaknesses, we recognize Him as the Christ and believe in Him unto life everlasting. • Lord, open our eyes to see You and Your ways. Help us to recognize and confess You clearly as our great physician. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:27 Caesarea Philippi. Northernmost Galilean city Jesus visited, 25 mi N of Bethsaida, in the largely Gentile region north of the Sea of Galilee. See color map 4.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:28 See note, Mt 16:14. John the Baptist. See note, 6:14. Elijah. See note, 1:6. prophets. Jesus, though indeed a prophet, was much more.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:29 Jesus' point in pressing this question of His identity is to get the disciples to recognize and acclaim Him as the Messiah. You are the Christ. Although Mk begins by identifying Jesus as the Christ (1:1, 11), this is the first time the disciples correctly identify Jesus as the Messiah. In Mk, however, Peter does not confess at this time that Jesus is the Son of God. See note, 15:39. Christ. See "Jesus as the Son of God," pp 1652–53; see also p 2098.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:30 tell no one. See "Secrecy," p 1653.
MARK—NOTE ON 8:27–30 For the first time in Mk, one of the Twelve recognizes Jesus as the Christ, God's Anointed One. How slow we are and how dull is our understanding of Jesus' divinity! We see and yet do not see. And so it is that Jesus graciously continues revealing Himself to us through Word and Sacrament. His Spirit works in us the faith that claims, "Jesus is the Christ." • Lord Jesus, help us to see You as the true Son of the Father, the Christ anointed as our prophet, priest, and king. Rule us graciously for all eternity. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:31 Son of Man. See p 2098. suffer … rejected. Though Is 52:13–53:12 predicted that God's Servant would suffer and die for the benefit of His people, the disciples would prove unable to accept such suffering. Jesus repeats this prediction twice in Mk (9:31; 10:33–34), so that there end up being three Passion predictions, one for each of Peter's denials in 14:66–72. After each Passion prediction, Jesus continues by teaching about discipleship. elders … chief priests … scribes. See pp 1556–57.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:32 Peter … began to rebuke Him. Peter will not accept a suffering Christ until after the resurrection. Like most Jews of his day, Peter expects a powerful warrior and conquering Messiah. Ironically, Jesus has been the one to silence others (cf 1:25–26). Now, however, Peter tries to silence Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:33 He rebuked Peter. Jesus is, in fact, correcting all of the Twelve, since none can accept the necessity of His sacrificial death. Satan! The refusal to accept God's plan of having Jesus die for all is devilish, for it threatens to undo the divine plan of salvation. setting your mind on the things of God. To accept Jesus' suffering and believe in the resurrection is a divine gift. Cf Php 2:5–11.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:34–38 Jesus now applies the implications of His own Messiahship to the lives of His followers. Just as He willingly submits to God's will, even when that is painful, so they must also submit. Aug: "The first destruction of man, was the love of himself…. Prefer to this God's will; learn to love yourself by not loving yourself" (NPNF 1 6:408).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:34 take up his cross. Accept the burdens of being an imitator of Christ. Aug: "Let him bear whatever trouble he has; so let him follow Me. For when he shall begin to follow Me in conformity to My life and precepts, he will have many to contradict him … and that from among those who are even as it were Christ's companions" (NPNF 1 6:409). follow Me. Christians follow Jesus through suffering and death and into resurrection.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:35 The mystery of Jesus' suffering for the life of the world turns upside down everything the disciples know and imagine. In order to save their lives, they must be willing to give them up. gospel's. See note, v 38.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:36–37 Jesus underlines the foolishness of chasing after a fading world while being robbed of eternal life. No wealth but Christ's blood can be exchanged for one's soul (1Pt 1:18–19). Aug: "Great is the world; but greater is He by whom the world was made. Fair is the world; but fairer is He by whom the world was made. Sweet is the world; but sweeter is He by whom the world was made. Evil is the world; and good is He by whom the world was made" (NPNF 1 6:410).

MARK—NOTE ON 8:38 ashamed. The disciples as yet refuse to accept Jesus as the suffering Messiah or to confess Him truly. Jesus graciously promises a reward for those who accept the necessity of His death and confess Him as Savior before the world (Mt 10:32). My words. Jesus emphasizes His Word ("gospel's," v 35) as the basis of faith, life, and salvation. This continues the emphasis on preaching begun in 1:14–15. He comes … with the holy angels. Ambr: "The angels come in obedience, He comes in glory: they are His retainers, He sits upon His throne: they stand, He is seated—to borrow terms of the daily dealings of human life, He is the Judge: they are the officers of the court" (NPNF 2 10:257).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:1 Only Judas failed to witness the resurrection. see the kingdom of God after it has come with power. Though Jesus could mean the transfiguration as a fulfillment of this promise (vv 2–13), this ultimately points to His death and resurrection as the beginning of the Kingdom in power.

MARK—NOTE ON 8:31–9:1 Jesus warns that He has come to suffer, die, and rise and that everyone who follows Him must carry the cross. Temptation to avoid the anguish of the cross is great. A safe life tempts us to deny Christ and His cross. Yet, Jesus suffered for our salvation and promised to overcome Satan and all our foes. Jesus is the only one sufficient to exchange His life for ours. • Lord, thank You for accepting the disgrace and pain of the cross. Strengthen us to follow You from Your cross to Your glory. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:2 See note, Mt 17:1. transfigured. Jesus shone with the glory of His divine nature, which otherwise had been veiled (cf Php 2:7–8). See note, Mt 17:2.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:3 Jesus' divinity shone with brilliance (cf Ex 34:29; Rv 1:16). bleach. Paste made from clean clay (fuller's earth) in which white cloth was soaked and then stretched out to dry in the sun. Once dry, the clay paste was washed away.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:4 Elijah with Moses. See note, Mt 17:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:5 Rabbi. From Hbr rabban, "chief" or "great one." See p 228. three tents. Peter hoped to prolong their stay by providing shelter or places of worship.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:6 he did not know what to say. Peter did not rightly understand what he was witnessing. Moses and Elijah were preparing Jesus for going to His death (Lk 9:30–31).
MARK—NOTE ON 9:7 cloud. The presence of divine glory was associated with clouds in the wilderness, overshadowing mountains, the tabernacle, and the temple (cf Ex 13:21; 19:9; 33:9; 40:34–38; 1Ki 8:10–11). This is My beloved Son. The Father repeated the announcement from Jesus' Baptism for the disciples. A centurion would affirm this truth at Jesus' crucifixion (see note, 15:39). listen to Him. See note, Mt 17:5.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:9 tell no one. Jesus continued the caution of silence (see "Secrecy," p 1653). Son of Man had risen. The heart of Jesus' prophecy was His death and resurrection. His glory did not dismiss the cross.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:10 The disciples struggled over the necessity of Jesus' suffering.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:11 scribes. See note, Mt 2:4. Elijah must come? See note, Mt 17:10.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:12 Elijah … restore all. John the Baptist prepared for Jesus' arrival (cf 1:2–8). Son of Man … suffer … contempt? Referred to Jesus' betrayal, trial, beatings, and crucifixion.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:13 Elijah has come. See note, Mt 17:12. as it is written of him. Like Elijah, who suffered the wickedness of King Ahab and Queen Jezebel, John had to suffer under Herod and Herodias (cf 1Ki 17–21).
MARK—NOTE ON 9:2–13 Jesus is transfigured to display His divine glory and to prepare His disciples for His death and resurrection. We cannot imagine the glory of God, especially in Christ, who is fully human. Jesus loses none of His divine majesty in the incarnation, but His glory shines through His human nature. His glory reminds us that He freely chose death and resurrection for our sakes. • Lord, bring us to that mountain where we can see Your glory shine. Let us follow You to the glory of Your cross to celebrate Your power and to marvel at Your life given for us. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:14 scribes arguing. See note, 1:22.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:17 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. a spirit that makes him mute. Other spirits had been vocal (cf 1:24; 5:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:18 His condition resembled an epileptic seizure, causing recurring convulsions and loss of consciousness, but was caused by demon possession. Cf Mt 17:15. Your disciples. See note, Mt 17:16.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:19 them. The father, disciples, and the gathering crowd. faithless generation. The father and crowd had likely despaired while Jesus was absent on the mount. Note the amazement in v 15 (cf 6:6; Lk 24:32, 41). how long … How long. See note, Mt 17:17.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:21 Jesus showed interest in the boy, who was more to Jesus than a subject for a demonstration of His power.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:22 compassion. See note, Lk 7:13.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:23 The power and love of God are constant (Ps 62:11–12). Faith receives the gifts God had prepared (cf 11:22–24; Jas 1:5–8).
MARK—NOTE ON 9:24 The father cried out with faith but struggled with his son's burden and the failure of the disciples (cf Rm 7). "Worthiness does not depend on the greatness or smallness, the weakness or strength of faith. Instead, it depends on Christ's merit, which the distressed father of little faith [Mark 9:24] enjoyed as well as Abraham, Paul, and others who have a joyful and strong faith" (FC SD VII 71).
MARK—NOTE ON 9:25–26 The mute spirit cried out and left the healed boy, who appeared to be dead.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:25 See note, Mt 17:18.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:28 the house. Jesus often gathered the disciples by themselves after a significant event (1:29; 4:10; 4:34; 9:33). Why could we not. See note, Mt 17:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:29 There are different types of demons with different powers. The disciples' earlier success in exorcism (6:13) had either not prepared them for this case or made them overconfident in their own work.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:14–29 Jesus descends from the transfiguration and meets a defiant demon, an anxious father, an astonished crowd, and despairing disciples. Despair threatens to overwhelm our faith too by pointing out how we fail to change or improve, suggesting that God neither cares for us nor has power to help. However, Jesus does not linger in the glory of the transfiguration, but graciously descends to a world of despair and doubt so that He might deliver us. • Lord, thank You for Your compassion, which brings You to our world of pain and dismay. Give us faith to overcome our doubts, and help us believe that all things are possible with You. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:30–32 Second of Jesus' three predictions of His death and resurrection. The disciples' confusion continued, even though Jesus taught them repeatedly. See note, 8:31. Luth: "[The Law] attacks Him and kills Him. By this deed the whole world is purged and expiated from all sins, and thus it is set free from death and from every evil. But when sin and death have been abolished by this one man, God does not want to see anything else in the whole world, especially if it were to believe, except sheer cleansing and righteousness. And if any remnants of sin were to remain, still for the sake of Christ, the shining Sun, God would not notice them" (AE 26:280).

MARK—NOTE ON 9:30–32 Jesus repeats the prophecy of His Passion and resurrection while the disciples listen in frightened silence. Death is frightening and confusing when we cannot see the promised resurrection. Yet, Jesus bears our fears as well as our sins on the cross in order to deliver us. • Lord, break our fear of death by reminding us that You have died, never to die again. Today, open our frightened hearts with the resurrection's promise; one day, open our closed eyes with the resurrection's power. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:33 in the house. See note, v 28.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:34 Ironically, after the transfiguration and Jesus' Passion prediction, the disciples debated which of them was greatest. See note, Lk 9:46.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:35 first … last … servant of all. Jesus described His own life.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:37 Jesus emphasizes service and humility. Though the child appeared insignificant, he was treasured by and connected to the Lord, who focused on serving others. In the kingdom of God, every disciple represents the Lord. Him who sent Me. The Father.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:33–37 Confused by Jesus' prediction of His death, the disciples return to a subject they know well, their own greatness. Jesus shows them that true status is found in serving those whom God values. When we are tempted to debate who is the greatest, we should instead look to where the Master hangs on the cross. He represents us before the Father in order to redeem us, and He leads us by the cross into a new life. • Lord, forgive us for our battles over greatness. Remind us that You alone are great, for You have served the least among us. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 9:38 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. we tried to stop him. The disciples were protecting their exclusive status with Jesus.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:39 a mighty work in My name. Exorcism, a divine work that should not be stopped. speak evil of Me. One who worked good in God's name would not curse His name.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:41 Smallest kindness of God could be as simple as giving a cup of water. you belong to Christ. Even a small, generous act gives glory to Christ (v 37). reward. See note, Mt 5:12.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:38–41 Jesus opens the disciples' eyes to see those who do God's work in dramatic or simple ways. The work of God goes far beyond us. He shows His power and kindness through great life-changing miracles and simple cups of water. • Lord, thank You for Your work through the lives of others. Lead me to welcome those miracles and mercies that You show through every one of Your people. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:42 little ones. Gk micros, "smallest child" (cf vv 36–37; 10:13–16). to sin. Results in the loss of faith. great millstone. See note, Jb 41:24.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:43 Nothing is more important than faith unto eternal life. hell. Gk geenna ; from Hbr name for the Hinnom Valley southwest of Jerusalem, where humans were sacrificed (2Ch 28:3; 33:6) and garbage was dumped (2Ki 23:10). Fire was constantly present in the Hinnom Valley due to sacrifices and burning trash; this became a figure for the everlasting fire of hell, as the ESV translation suggests. Used only in Mk (vv 43, 45, 47).
MARK—NOTE ON 9:47 kingdom of God … hell. Heaven and eternal life in contrast to eternal death.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:48 The torments of hell.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:49 salted with fire. Fire purified and salt preserved. Christians may be kept in the true faith through the trials they endure.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:50 See note, Mt 5:13. peace. Faith brought peace, which was esp needed among contentious disciples.
MARK—NOTE ON 9:42–50 Nothing is more important than retaining the faith unto eternal life. Let nothing come between you and the Savior. Though He tests us with fire, He does not consume His own people. Rejoice, for God graciously gives us the faith in which He preserves us to eternity. • Lord, give us the lasting faith that can persevere through every trial. Empty our hands of anything that competes with You, and let us hold firmly to You eternally. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON Ch 10 The key to this chapter is that God accepts us by grace through faith in Jesus, not through obedience or status, just as children receive love they do not earn.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:1 region of Judea and beyond the Jordan. East of the Jordan River toward the Dead Sea. as was His custom. Jesus conducted a preaching ministry, interrupting it occasionally to focus on His disciples (cf 9:30).
MARK—NOTE ON 10:2 The Pharisees sought either to justify themselves or to trap Jesus.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:4 certificate of divorce. See note, Dt 24:1.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:5 hardness of heart. See note, Mt 19:8; see also "Hard-heartedness," p 1653.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:6–8 God intended marriage to be lifelong. See notes, Mt 19:4–5, 6.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:11–12 Jesus likely shocked His disciples (cf Mt 19:10), since other teachers were more permissive and even the law seemed to grant this as a right. See note, Mt 19:9.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:1–12 Jesus teaches that God wants a man and a woman in marriage to be exclusively committed to each other for life. Attempts to alter or get around God's good intentions bring condemnation, not greater liberty. Thoughtfully and prayerfully embrace God's ways. What He establishes is for our good and stems from His love and grace. • "O Spirit of the Father, Breathe on them from above, So searching in Your pureness, So tender in Your love That, guarded by Your presence And kept from strife and sin, Their hearts may heed Your guidance And know You dwell within." Amen. (LSB 858:3)
MARK—NOTE ON 10:13 touch. To bless them. See note, Mt 19:13. disciples rebuked them. They thought children were not important and thus limited their access to Jesus. Cf 9:36–37.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:14 See note, Lk 18:16. indignant. Righteous anger.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:15 the kingdom. The kingdom of God's grace, equivalent to salvation. like a child. In simple trust. See note, Mt 18:5. "I act as a child who is being taught the catechism…. But I must remain a child and pupil of the catechism, and am glad to remain so" (LC, Longer Preface 7–8).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:16 blessed. See note, Mt 19:13; see also p 842. laying His hands on them. See note, Mt 19:15.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:13–16 This story is the key to the chapter, showing us that salvation is a gift of grace through faith in Jesus Christ. We trust the Lord as a child trusts a parent. We do not earn God's love and favor by keeping the Law, especially when we look for loopholes to excuse our sinful behavior (cf 10:1–12). All people, like helpless children, receive Jesus' blessing and enter the Kingdom through faith in Him. • "You have promised to receive us, Poor and sinful though we be; You have mercy to relieve us, Grace to cleanse, and pow'r to free. Blessed Jesus, blessed Jesus, Early let us turn to You. Blessed Jesus, blessed Jesus, Early let us turn to You." Amen. (LSB 711:3)

MARK—NOTE ON 10:17 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. inherit. Inheritance is not given based on merit. See "heir," p 1902.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:18 God alone. Jesus changes the focus from the man's works to who God is.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:19 See note, Mt 19:18–19. defraud. Refers to coveting (Ex 20:17).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:21 See note, Mt 19:21. loved him. Jesus did not speak harshly or out of anger, but compassionately. He sought to strip away the man's self-deception about having kept the Law.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:24–25 See note, Mt 19:23–24.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:24 amazed. The Jews regarded wealth as a mark of God's favor. The disciples thought rich people had the best chance to enter the kingdom of God because of all the good things they could afford to do. Children. Term of affection. how difficult it is to enter. Understatement. No people will ever enter the Kingdom based on their own reason or strength.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:25 Even the rich fail to enter the kingdom of God by their own efforts. A camel, proverbially the largest animal, had a better chance of slipping through the eye of a needle, proverbially the smallest opening, than the most favored human being had of entering the kingdom of God through works.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:26 The disciples thought that Jesus had just told them that no human could enter the kingdom of God.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:27 People cannot enter the kingdom of God on their own merit. Yet, God calls and gathers people into His kingdom by grace (cf Rm 3:21–26).

MARK—NOTE ON 10:28 See note, Mt 19:27.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:29 Following Jesus entailed the loss of possessions, even life itself. "He is speaking not of those who injure wife and children, but who bear injury because of the confession of the Gospel. For the Gospel's sake we should even leave our body" (Ap XXVII 41–42).
MARK—NOTE ON 10:30 hundredfold. More than replacing what we lost to follow Him. persecutions. Satan will always stir up opposition against God's people. age to come. After the resurrection of the dead (cf Mt 19:28).
MARK—NOTE ON 10:31 The poor, sinners, and Gentiles whose confidence was in God alone would enter the Kingdom ahead of those whose spiritual confidence was in their worldly power and wealth.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:17–31 Jesus teaches His disciples that not even people with the greatest worldly means (e.g., a rich man) can enter the kingdom of God on their own merit. We cannot justify ourselves; we receive salvation ("inherit eternal life") solely by grace through faith in Jesus, just like a little child (10:13–16). • "My heart's delight, My crown most bright, O Christ, my joy forever. Not wealth nor pride Nor fortune's tide Our bonds of love shall sever." Amen. (LSB 557:4)
MARK—NOTE ON 10:32 amazed … afraid. The disciples were surprised that Jesus would walk openly into the stronghold of His enemies (cf Jn 7:1–5); they expected a deadly confrontation (cf Jn 11:16).
MARK—NOTE ON 10:33 Son of Man. See p 2098. chief priests … scribes. See pp 1556–57. Gentiles. The Romans.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:34 Jesus prophesied details of His Passion (cf 15:1–16:8). See note, 8:31.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:32–34 Jesus predicts His trial, execution, and resurrection for the third time in Mk (cf 8:31–32; 9:30–32) while walking boldly to His death. Jesus goes to die the sinner's death, accepting the Law's penalty in our place. Faith looks to Christ crucified and risen and says "for me." Luth: "Who is this 'me'? It is I, an accursed and damned sinner, who was so beloved by the Son of God that He gave Himself for me" (AE 26:176). • "Your grace alone, dear Lord, I plead, Your death is now my life indeed, For You have paid my ransom." Amen. (LSB 555:6)
MARK—NOTE ON 10:35 James and John asked for a decision before they made known the nature of the request.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:37 right hand … left, in Your glory. First and second positions of power. James and John are referring to an earthly kingdom.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:38 the cup … baptism. Figures of speech for intense experiences associated with suffering and death. See note, Is 51:17. Early Christians referred to martyrdom as baptism with blood.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:39 you will drink … be baptized. Jesus predicted a life of suffering for the sake of the Gospel.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:40 not Mine to grant. The heavenly Father makes the decision.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:41 The other disciples also hoped to sit in the seats of highest honor.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:42–44 In Christ's kingdom, positions of authority carried a servant's job description, as He demonstrated with His own life. lord it over them … authority. Dominate, tyrannize.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:45 Son of Man. See p 2098. to serve. Jesus set aside His own welfare for the sake of sinners. give His life as a ransom for many. See "ransom," p 1904. This expression explains Jesus' mission and describes the purpose of the cross that He would soon bear.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:35–45 Jesus puts our welfare and needs ahead of His own as He conducts His ministry, showing us what real leadership is. Jesus shows that those who lead in the kingdom of God serve others in humility. He leads by laying down His life as the sacrifice for our sins and calls us to similar sacrifice. • Dear Father, You have sent Christ to serve us, although He had the right to demand our service. Forgive us, Father. Lead us to give ourselves for the sake of others, that we, being last, might truly be first with Jesus in His kingdom. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:46 Jericho. This ancient city's center had moved to various locations, causing writers to describe it more like a region (cf Lk 18:35; see note, Jsh 4:12–13). Bartimaeus … son of Timaeus. Aram bar means "son of." The translation was included to benefit Gentile readers. blind beggar. See note, Lk 18:35.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:47 Son of David. See note, Mt 1:1. have mercy. Cry for help from God in Ps. See note, Lk 17:13.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:48 rebuked. See note, Lk 18:39.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:50 cloak. Folded on the lap to receive alms. He tossed away the cloak in order to get up, not knowing if later he would be able to find the alms and his source of warmth. sprang. Shows urgent excitement.

MARK—NOTE ON 10:51 What do you want Me to do for you? See note, Mt 20:32. Rabbi. See note, 9:5.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:52 your faith has made you well. See note, Lk 7:50. Physical healing is only part of Christ's work. Jesus rescued Bartimaeus from sinfulness as well as its collateral damage: blindness (cf 2:1–12). See note, Jn 9:2. followed Him. See note, Mk 8:34.
MARK—NOTE ON 10:46–52 Though Jesus is intent on going to the cross, He pauses to have mercy on Bartimaeus, who can do nothing to solve his problem except cry out to the Lord, "Have mercy!" Like Bartimaeus, learn to call on the Lord and trust in His power to deliver you. Jesus will hear and respond compassionately. • "Lord, Your mercy will not leave me; Ever will Your truth abide. Then in You I will confide." Amen. (LSB 559:4)
MARK—NOTE ON 11:1 Bethphage and Bethany. See note, Lk 19:29. two of His disciples. Not identified.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:2 village. Probably Bethphage. no one … sat. Unbroken colt, which was normally difficult to ride. See note, Lk 19:30.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:3 The owner may have known Jesus from previous trips to Jerusalem. See note, Mt 21:3.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:7–8 See note, Mt 21:7–8.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:8 branches. See note, Mt 21:8.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:9–10 The people welcomed Jesus with praise drawn from Ps 113–18. See note, Ps 113–18. Hosanna! See note, Ps 118:25.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:11 into the temple. Outer court (see diagram, p 1838). looked around … late. Jesus inspected the temple (cf Mal 3:1). He would return to teach the next day.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:1–11 Jesus enters Jerusalem triumphantly as King, openly accepting messianic titles and fulfilling several OT prophecies. The disciples and the crowds expect Jesus to establish an earthly kingdom. They celebrate His arrival at Jerusalem without a clear view of His express purpose: to die for the sins of the world. Jesus enters Jerusalem in humility to fulfill the plan of salvation by laying down His life for sinners. • "All glory, laud, and honor To You, Redeemer, King, To whom the lips of children Made sweet hosannas ring. The multitude of pilgrims With palms before You went; Our praise and prayer and anthems Before You we present." Amen. (LSB 442:3)
MARK—NOTE ON 11:12 following day. Monday.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:13 not the season for figs. Early unripe figs should have been present (c Mar/Apr), even though the main harvest season had not yet arrived (Aug/Sep). The leaves should have served as a reliable indicator for these early figs. If the early figs do not appear, neither will the later ones.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:14 A curse. See p 6.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:12–14 The curse and destruction of the fig tree warns Jesus' disciples of impending judgment against the temple and the unfruitful people. Works without faith are truly fruitless. True faith, and the life that flows from it, cannot be separated. They are the good and gracious gifts of our heavenly Father. • "In your hearts enthrone Him; There let Him subdue All that is not holy, All that is not true: Crown Him as your captain In temptation's hour; Let His will enfold you In its light and pow'r." Amen. (LSB 512:5)

MARK—NOTE ON 11:15–19 Mk places the cleansing of the temple in the midst of the story of the unproductive fig tree to connect them. Like a fig tree with leaves, the temple compound was full of activity. Fruit should have been present, but both tree and temple were barren.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:15 See note, Jn 2:14. pigeons. Cf Lv 15:14, 29.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:16 Temple precinct was used as a shortcut between the Mount of Olives and Jerusalem. Jerusalem was more or less a center of religious tourism.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:17 See note, Mt 21:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:18 chief priests … scribes. See pp 1556–57. destroy. Murder. feared. They considered Jesus dangerous because the Romans would not tolerate a popular rebellion (cf Jn 11:45–50).

MARK—NOTE ON 11:15–19 As prophesied in Mal 3:1–5, Jesus purifies the temple of those who use religion to line their pockets. He does so in the temple court, where genuine worship has been disrupted. Today, Jesus challenges us to eliminate all such barriers to God's Word in our lives and in our congregations. He is the proper focus of our prayers, the reason for our service; He hallows us as the temple of His Holy Spirit. • "Your name be hallowed. Help us, Lord, In purity to keep Your Word, That to the glory of Your name We walk before You free from blame. Let no false teaching us pervert; All poor deluded souls convert." Amen. (LSB 766:2)

MARK—NOTE ON 11:20 fig tree. See note, v 13.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:21 Rabbi. See note, 9:5. cursed. Doomed to destruction. See p 6.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:22–24 Jesus explains that the source of His authority is God, who gives faith and honors prayers spoken in faith. See notes, Jas 5:15–18.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:25 stand praying. Jewish posture for prayer. See p 1277. forgive. Jesus transitions to mention the greatest petition for one praying: the forgiveness of sins. Refusing to forgive forfeits forgiveness by destroying the relationship between God and the believer. "If you forgive, you have this comfort and assurance, that you are forgiven in heaven. This is not because of your forgiving. For God forgives freely and without condition, out of pure grace, because He has so promised" (LC III 95–96). may forgive. As forgiven sinners, we are delighted to forgive those who sin against us. See p 1902.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:20–26 Jesus teaches that saving faith rescues us from God's judgment and that, through faith, we have the power to do the work God gives us. Without faith in Jesus, it is impossible to please God or pray to Him. We know God hears our prayers even if we do not receive an answer immediately. Confident prayer, based on faith in Christ crucified and risen, trusts God to answer in His own time and way (cf Rm 8:32). • "Forgive our sins, Lord, we implore, That they may trouble us no more; We, too, will gladly those forgive Who hurt us by the way they live. Help us in our community To serve each other willingly." Amen. (LSB 766:6)
MARK—NOTE ON 11:27 chief priests … scribes … elders. See pp 1556–57.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:28 Jesus' actions in vv 15–16 overturned decisions the temple leaders had made. Their practices were not explicitly forbidden by God's Law, so they believed they had acted appropriately.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:29–30 Jesus replied to their question with a question, a common debate strategy.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:30 baptism of John. Cf 1:4–8.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:32 people … all held. The people believed that God sent John.
MARK—NOTE ON 11:33 We do not know. Fear of the people kept them from giving their opinion. Neither will I tell you. Jesus discredited them by refusing to answer.

MARK—NOTE ON 11:27–33 Opponents of Jesus confront Him and question His authority. Jesus refuses to engage them since He confidently knows the true character of His authority (Mt 28:18). The anger of these leaders brings Jesus ever nearer to the cross, where He acts in weakness to overthrow the authority of the evil one for the sake of our salvation. • Lord God, heavenly Father, You sent Your Son to cleanse the temple of Jerusalem, so now cleanse the hearts of Your people, that they may be temples for Your Holy Spirit. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:1–8 See note, Lk 20:9–15.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:1 parables. See note, Mt 13:3. tenants. Farm renters who paid the lease with either cash or a share of the crop.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:2 season. Harvesttime, when the rent was due. The time of the year varied by crop. See calendar, p 262. some of the fruit. Agreed-upon portion of the harvest for payment.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:3 Their actions toward the servant demonstrated disrespect for the owner.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:5 See note, Mt 21:36.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:6 The patient owner endured rebellious behavior in the hope the tenants would come to their senses. respect my son. See note, Mt 21:37.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:7 According to Jewish law, the tenants stood a good chance of inheriting the land when the owner died, if there was no heir.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:8 See note, Mt 21:39.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:10–11 See notes, Ps 118:22, 23. God chose the Messiah to rule His people.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:10 stone … cornerstone. See note, Lk 20:17.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:12 Jesus was taking direct aim at the leaders, who feared He had come to entice the people away (cf Jn 11:47–50). By seeking to kill Him, they would not inherit the kingdom they were trying to take from God.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:1–12 Jesus tells how God deals patiently with people. But eventually, God's patience runs out, and every person must face judgment. God planned the death of His Son for the sins of all people. Unlike the story here, His beloved Son rose from the dead on the third day, taking up again the life He had laid down for us, to give us the Kingdom as a gift. • "I trust in Him with all my heart; Now all my sorrow ceases. His words abiding peace impart; His blood from guilt releases." Amen. (LSB 568:3) MARK—NOTE ON 12:13 Pharisees. See note, 2:18. Herodians. See p 1557.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:14 Teacher. Formal but insincere address. See note, Mt 8:19. not swayed by appearances. He judges truly, based on God's Law. taxes to Caesar. See note, Lk 20:22.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:15–16 See note, Mt 22:19–20.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:15 hypocrisy. See note, Lk 6:42.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:17 See note, Mt 22:21.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:13–17 Jesus challenges the hypocrites to examine their own hearts and repent. Human hearts naturally belong to their Maker, who stamped His image on them at creation (Gn 1:28). Though sin shattered that image in us, the Lord still wants us for His very own people and sent Jesus to make that possible (Rm 8:29; Eph 4:24; Col 3:10). • "We give Thee but Thine own, Whate'er the gift may be; All that we have is Thine alone, A trust, O Lord, from Thee." Amen. (LSB 781:1)
MARK—NOTE ON 12:18 Sadducees. See p 1557.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:19 See note, Mt 22:24.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:23 The Sadducees wrongly imagined that marriage would continue after death if there was a resurrection.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:24 you know neither the Scriptures. The bond of marriage ends when a man dies, allowing his wife to remarry (cf the commands of Dt 25:5–10 with the prohibition of Lv 18:16; cf also Rm 7:1–3; 1Co 7:39). nor the power of God? They denied the resurrection.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:25 are given. A man married; a woman was given in marriage by her father. See pp 54–55. like angels in heaven. Angels and resurrected believers would not marry. Procreation was designed for earthly existence.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:26–27 See note, Lk 20:37–38.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:27 God of. This phraseology appears in passages about salvation or protection (cf Ex 3:15–16; 4:5). "God of the dead" would be a contradiction. God did not set time limits on His saving relationship with His people. The patriarchs, though dead physically, would dwell with Him (cf Mt 8:11). Luth: "When I behold a corpse carried out and buried, it is hard to go my way and believe and think that we will some day rise together. How so, or by what power? Not by myself or by virtue of any merit on earth, but by this one Christ. And that is indeed certain, far more certain than the fact that I will be buried and see someone else buried, which I know with certainty and behold with my eyes" (AE 28:117).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:18–27 The Sadducees try to trap Jesus with a hypothetical question. Jesus turns their question upside down and shows them that they deny God's power and reject His Word. Like the Sadducees, people today want to limit God to doing what makes sense to them, as if human limitations or reason could bind Him! Despite these things, God keeps His promises to us. He rescues His people even from death and raises all believers in Christ to eternal life. • "There shall we see in glory Our dear Redeemer's face; The long-awaited story Of heav'nly joy takes place: The patriarchs shall meet us, The prophets' holy band; Apostles, martyrs greet us In that celestial land." Amen. (LSB 514:2)

MARK—NOTE ON 12:28 scribes. See note, Mt 2:4. seeing that He answered them well. Unlike the other questioners (vv 13–27), this man asks sincerely, desiring Jesus' interpretation.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:29–31 A summary of the two tables of the Law. See notes, Ex 20:12–17; Mt 22:37–39.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:33 more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices. Expressions of love for and faith in the one true God. Faith in God was far more important than external worship.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:34 not far. The scribe understood God's OT revelation, though he did not yet confess Jesus as the Messiah. no one dared to ask. Jesus had made the questioners look foolish.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:28–34 Jesus challenges an expert in the Scriptures to consider the entire Law and to turn to the Lord in faith. Only Jesus has kept the entire Law perfectly. He did this for our salvation, due to His surpassing love for us. • "Thy love to me, O God, Not mine, O Lord, to Thee, Can rid me of this dark unrest And set my spirit free." Amen. (LSB 567:4)

MARK—NOTE ON 12:35 scribes. See note, Mt 2:4. Christ is the son of David? The Messiah was to be a descendant of King David (cf 2Sm 7:13–14; Rm 1:3). See p 2098.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:36 See note, Mt 22:43–44.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:37 A highly respected ancestor would never have called a descendant "my lord." When David called his descendant "lord," he showed that the Messiah is more than merely human. The failure of the scribes to realize this showed how much of the Scriptures remained hidden to them.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:35–37 Jesus challenges His audience to think about the Messiah and realize that He is more than a man. He is God as well. Unbelief blinds people so they do not see Christ in the OT (cf 2Co 3:12–18). God became man, born of Mary, born under the Law, to redeem sinners such as we (cf Gal 4:4–5). • "O come, Thou Key of David, come, And open wide our heav'nly home; Make safe the way that leads on high, And close the path to misery." Amen. (LSB 357:5)

MARK—NOTE ON 12:38 scribes. See note, Mt 2:4. long robes. Mark of distinction, perhaps associated with holiness. greetings. Titles of honor and respect (e.g., "Rabbi," "Teacher").

MARK—NOTE ON 12:39 best seats … places of honor. The place at the front of the synagogue or nearest the host at a banquet.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:40 devour widows' houses. With no other source of income, scribes often lived off the generosity of benefactors. Abuses followed. long prayers. Prayers offered to impress listeners, long in duration and short on faith. greater condemnation. With greater knowledge comes greater responsibility and accountability (cf Lk 12:47–48; Jas 3:1). Luth: "In spiritual gifts we far surpass others; but because we acknowledge these as gifts of God, not our own, granted to us for building up the body of Christ (Eph. 4:12), we do not become proud on their account. For we know that more is required of him to whom much is given than of him to whom little is given (Luke 12:48). In addition, we know that 'God shows no partiality' (Rom. 2:11). Therefore a faithful sexton is no less pleasing to God with his gift than is a preacher of the Word, for he serves God in the same faith and spirit. And so we should not honor the lowest Christians any less than they honor us. In this way we remain free of the poison of vainglory and walk by the Spirit" (AE 27:103).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:38–40 Jesus warns against using self-serving religion to elevate ourselves above others. Clergy especially need to listen to Jesus at this point. Jesus shows all religious leaders and scholars the model for their leadership: humility, service, and sacrifice, for His sacrifice has atoned for us all. • Lord, grant us humble hearts and willing spirits to fulfill our callings faithfully. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:41 treasury. Cf 1Ch 26:20–32. offering box. See note, Lk 21:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:42 copper coins. Smallest coins in use.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:43 more. Proportionately more than all the others.
MARK—NOTE ON 12:44 put in everything she had. The widow kept nothing for herself (cf 10:21; Rm 12:1–2).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:41–44 Jesus uses the sacrifice of a widow to illustrate for His disciples the character of absolute dependence on God. Wealth and possession can pose a spiritual threat—wealth has a way of owning its possessor. Jesus' love and sacrifice motivate us to offer our whole lives to Him as our daily offering of gratitude. He gave up everything, including His life, on the cross for us. • "Take my life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee; Take my moments and my days, Let them flow in ceaseless praise." Amen. (LSB 783:1)

MARK—NOTE ON Ch 13 Jesus answers His disciples' question (v 4) about the destruction of the temple, including descriptions of what the end of the world will be like. The upcoming events of AD 70, when the Romans would destroy Jerusalem (vv 1–23, 28–31), foreshadowed the events at the end of the world (vv 24–27). The close comparison of these events has confused some interpreters, esp those intent on figuring out when Christ would return. As you study ch 13, bear in mind Jesus' most important point: judgment comes unexpectedly; therefore, remain faithful.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:1 wonderful stones … buildings! Huge stone blocks, some measuring 37 ft long, 18 ft wide, and 12 ft high, and decorated with gold, were used to build Herod's temple, one of the most impressive man-made structures of the ancient world. See diagram, p 1710.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:2 See note, Mt 24:2.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:1–2 Jesus begins to talk about the fall of Jerusalem and the end of the world with a prediction of the temple's destruction. What makes a house of worship worthy is not its outward appearance but the Word of God in it. The temple in Jerusalem had been the "embassy" of heaven on earth. With the birth of Jesus, this temple would no longer serve that purpose. Now, in Jesus Christ, the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily among us (cf Col 2:9). • "To this temple, where we call You, Come, O Lord of hosts, and stay; Come with all Your loving-kindness, Hear Your people as they pray." Amen. (LSB 909:2)

MARK—NOTE ON 13:3–37 Second of two extended sections of teaching (cf 4:1–32).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:4 these things. Events mentioned in v 2. sign. Event that indicated destruction was imminent.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:5 See note, Mt 24:4.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:6 I am He! A claim to be the Messiah.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:7–8 See note, Mt 24:6–7.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:8 birth pains. See note, Mt 24:8.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:9 Persecution of Christians was common in the first century and is still common today in parts of the world. they. See note, Mt 24:9.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:10 first. Before the end of the world and Judgment Day. to all nations. Jesus announces God's plan to include the Gentiles.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:11 The Holy Spirit would help them bear witness to the Gospel.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:12 Anti-Christian sentiment would divide families, even to the point of close relatives handing over loved ones for execution.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:13 hated by all. Because God's Law offends and because Jesus claimed to be the only way to salvation (Jn 14:6). will be saved. By God's grace through faith in Christ alone.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:3–13 Jesus warns His disciples about the coming troubles they will face as they bring the Gospel into the world. He encourages them to trust God and rely on the Holy Spirit, especially when they face opposition and persecution. Nobody likes to be shown his or her sin. As Christians proclaim Law and Gospel, they need to be ready to endure the loss of everything, including their lives. Because God wants all people to hear the Gospel, He prolongs the NT age so that the Church may witness to all the earth. To Him alone we owe the survival of our personal faith as well. • "Lord of harvest, great and kind, Rouse to action heart and mind; Let the gath'ring nations all See Your light and heed Your call." Amen. (LSB 830:6)
MARK—NOTE ON 13:14 abomination of desolation. Repeats a prophecy recorded in Dn 9:27 about the desecration of the temple under the Seleucids (1Macc 1:54–59). Jesus announces a new desolation and destruction of the Jerusalem temple, which will be carried out by the Romans in AD 70. This event will end all temple worship and sacrifice. But these desolations are but a taste of what lies in the future (cf 2Th 2:3–4). let the reader understand. Reader is challenged to think about these things, esp in light of Dn 9:27. Cf Rv 13:18. flee to the mountains. See note, Mt 24:16.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:15–16 Jesus warned His followers to flee quickly when they see these events unfold.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:15 housetop. See note, Jsh 2:6. not go down. Houses were often adjoined or close to one another, so one could run from roof to roof. Stairs were often outside the house. Eus: "The people of the church in Jerusalem had been commanded by a revelation, vouchsafed to approved men there before the war, to leave the city and to dwell in a certain town of Perea called Pella" (NPNF 2 1:138).
MARK—NOTE ON 13:16 cloak. Outer garment workers left at home or laid on the ground when working. See note, Ex 22:26.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:17 It is more difficult for pregnant women and new mothers to flee. alas. Gk ouai, an interjection expressing horror. Also translated as "woe" (14:21). See p 1080.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:18 Pray. For God's mercy. winter. Cool, wet, sometimes with snow. Food would be scarce too. See calendar, p 262.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:19 This suffering, highlighted by the Roman destruction of the temple in AD 70, will eclipse any previous suffering the Israelites experienced. tribulation. Persecution, disaster. See note, 4:16–17.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:20 See note, Mt 24:22.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:21–22 Counterfeit miracles could mislead people and draw them away from Jesus, the only Savior. Those who believe owe their faith, perseverance, and salvation to the triune God alone.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:23 Luth: "For this much is sure: So long as a Christian preacher holds on and sticks to his business, despising the world's abuse and persecution, the ministry will abide and the Gospel cannot fail; for some will always stand firm and abide, as indeed there must always be some that abide, until Judgment Day" (AE 21:64–65).
MARK—NOTE ON 13:14–23 Jesus warns His followers of the imminent destruction of Jerusalem, which was fulfilled during the Jewish revolt against the Romans (AD 66–70). These events foreshadowed the end of the world. Jesus tells us these things so that we may be prepared to resist evil and proclaim the Gospel more fervently while we have time to do so. When Jesus returns on the Last Day, He will judge all people. Prior to that glorious and victorious day, evil will erupt and bring destruction. Yet, God holds on to His people throughout these events, anchoring believers in Jesus Christ by His Holy Spirit. • "Jerusalem the golden, With milk and honey blest—The promise of salvation, The place of peace and rest—We know not, oh, we know not What joys await us there: The radiancy of glory, The bliss beyond compare!" Amen. (LSB 672:1)
MARK—NOTE ON 13:24 tribulation. See note, Mt 24:29. darkened. Undoing the fourth day of creation (Gn 1:14) on the Last Day.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:25 Cosmic signs of the end (cf Jl 2:10; 3:15).
MARK—NOTE ON 13:26 Jesus returns with the Father's authority to judge the world. See note, Dn 7:13. Son of Man. See p 2098.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:27 See note, Mt 24:31.
MARK—NOTE ON 13:24–27 Jesus will return on the Last Day to judge all humanity, fulfilling OT prophecy and His own predictions. No one will enter the kingdom of God by works, nor will any mere religion save anyone. Because Jesus died and rose for us and because the Holy Spirit created and sustained saving faith in His people, we can be sure of our salvation no matter how fearsome the Last Day may be. • Set my heart, O Savior, on the life and hope above, so that shadows of this world may not darken my sight. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:28 Perhaps Jesus stood near a fig tree. Because these trees produce two crops each year, they became proverbial for the passing of the seasons. See calendar, p 262. Unlike many trees in Israel, the fig sheds its leaves each fall. New leaves appear relatively late in spring and indicate that warm weather is about to arrive. See note, 11:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:29 these things. The fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple. Cf vv 14–23. He is near. Or, "It is near," meaning the fulfillment of the prophecy of v 2.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:30 generation will not pass. Within one generation —c 40 years—the temple would lie in ruins.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:31 The Word of God, which spoke creation into being, will last longer than creation. It is eternal.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:28–31 Jesus answers the original question of "when?" about the destruction of the temple (v 4). The events of vv 14–23 would take place within a generation. The fall of Jerusalem foreshadows the end of the world, which will come later (vv 24–27). Today, we need to focus on the calling we have as Christ's Church: Gospel proclamation and outreach (cf Mt 28:18–20). God has created this time before the second appearing of Jesus so that we may come to faith and call others to faith and salvation. • "My Savior paid the debt I owe And for my sin was smitten; Within the Book of Life I know My name has now been written. I will not doubt, for I am free, And Satan cannot threaten me; There is no condemnation!" Amen. (LSB 508:5)

MARK—NOTE ON 13:32 no one knows. Jesus speaks here as a man. In His state of humility, Jesus did not always speak from His divine power of foreknowledge. See note, Mt 24:36. only the Father. God knows His plans and reveals what He chooses to whom He chooses.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:33 No one knows when the events Jesus prophesied will take place; therefore, Christians are to focus on the work He has given them (Mt 9:38). Aug: "Let no one then search out for the last Day, when it is to be; but let us watch all by our good lives, lest the last day of any one of us find us unprepared" (NPNF 1 6:411).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:34–37 Rather than wasting time and energy trying to determine the exact year or day of Jesus' return, which God has not revealed, we should focus on bringing the Gospel to people who do not yet know Christ as Savior and Lord.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:37 Stay awake. Remain alert to proclaim the Gospel and practice the faith. Aug: "When it tells us to watch for the last day, every one should think of [this] as concerning his own last day; lest haply when you judge or think the last day of the world to be far distant, you slumber with respect to your own last day" (NPNF 1 6:411).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:32–37 In contrast to the fall of Jerusalem (vv 5–23), which will happen within a generation, no one knows the day when Jesus will return to judge the world (vv 24–27). Jesus exhorts us to vigilance and encourages us to use the available time wisely, proclaiming the Gospel for the salvation of others. Jesus promises to be with us always and has poured out on us His Holy Spirit for the work of evangelizing the nations. • "The world is very evil, The times are waxing late; Be sober and keep vigil, The Judge is at the gate; The Judge that comes in mercy, The Judge that comes with might, To terminate the evil, To diadem the right." Amen. (TLH 605:1)

MARK—NOTE ON 14:1 two days before. Wednesday of Holy Week. Passover. A feast commemorating God's deliverance of His people from Egypt (cf Ex 12:1–14). Feast of Unleavened Bread. The seven days that followed Passover (cf Ex 12:15–20). The whole festival could be called by either name. See pp 200–201. chief priests … scribes. See pp 1556–57. kill Him. Not a simple assassination but a plan to entrap Him legally.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:2 They likely feared that Jesus would publicly declare Himself the Messiah in the temple during Passover and start a revolt against the Romans.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:1–2 The Jewish leaders desperately try to find a way to execute Jesus quickly and quietly before He gains full support for His mission. Yet, God is at work in this, using even the opposition of His enemies for His gracious purposes. The Lord is likewise at work in the events of our lives today, bringing about good even amid suffering. Pray for His aid and comfort while trusting He has a plan for you. How joyful to know His plan of salvation in Jesus, who has taken away all our sins. •

Sustain us, dearest Jesus, for You are the bread of life we celebrate, our life and hope to come. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:3 Simon the leper. A man who had been afflicted with a skin disease but was cured, possibly by Jesus. reclining. See note, Mt 8:11. alabaster. See note, Mt 26:7. pure nard. See note, Jn 12:3. broke. Long neck of the flask was broken to dispense the contents.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:5 given to the poor. Jesus' ministry likely included charity for the poor.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:6 beautiful thing. See note, Mt 26:10.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:7 See note, Mt 26:11.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:8 anointed … for burial. Rather than embalming, Israelites used ointments and spices to prepare a body for burial.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:9 A prophecy fulfilled even now as Christians read of this woman's deep love for Jesus. Luth: "To love Christ, to confess Christ, and to take pleasure in Him—this does not happen without the Holy Spirit. To confess the faith, to bear the hatred of the world, to undergo exile and death—all this is proof of the Spirit" (AE 30:298).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:3–9 A woman anoints Jesus for His burial, sacrificing expensive ointment out of love for Him. The woman's clear focus on Jesus testifies to her devotion toward Him. Her sacrifice reveals her deep love for Him and sets a wonderful example for later Christians. Today, devote yourself to Jesus by prayer and service. He now stands at the Father's throne, praying for you, serving as your Savior. • "I'll think upon Thy mercy without ceasing, That earth's vain joys to me no more be pleasing; To do Thy will shall be my sole endeavor Henceforth forever." Amen. (LSB 439:12)

MARK—NOTE ON 14:10 Judas Iscariot. See note, Lk 22:3. chief priests. See p 1556. in order to betray. To lead the authorities to Jesus at a time and in a place where they could arrest Him quietly.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:11 money. Greed no doubt played a part (cf Jn 12:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:10–11 Judas, one of the Twelve whom Jesus appointed, decides to betray Him to the authorities. Even Judas's betrayal of Jesus plays an important role in the plan of salvation, culminating in the cross and empty tomb. Simple association with Christians or a knowledge of Christ cannot save. Only faith in Jesus as Savior rescues from sin and death. • My sinful heart would betray You, dear Lord, and arrest my faith. Deliver me from evil by Your grace. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:12 first day of Unleavened Bread. See note, Mt 26:17; see also pp 200–201. sacrificed the Passover lamb. The Passover festival required the slaughter of a one-year-old male lamb or goat in the temple forecourt in the afternoon. It was eaten as the main course of the evening meal (cf Dt 16:1–8). eat the Passover? See pp 200–201.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:13 two. Peter and John (Lk 22:8). man carrying … water. Normally a woman's job.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:14 master. Owner. Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:15 upper room furnished and ready. A meal for 13 people would require a large room, a table, and dining couches, all set up before dinner could begin. Jesus may have been familiar with this room from previous trips to Jerusalem.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:17 evening. The Passover celebration began at sundown. twelve. Only the Twelve are mentioned as traveling and partaking of the Lord's Supper with Jesus.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:18 reclining. See note, Mt 8:11. betray Me. See note, Lk 22:21.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:19 Each apostle's conscience troubled him.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:20 dipping bread. Commonly, pieces of bread would be torn off the loaf, dipped into a bowl of fruit sauce or stew, and then eaten.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:21 Son of Man. See p 2098. woe. See p 1080. better … not been born. Jesus foresaw the sad end for the betrayer. See note, Jn 6:70.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:12–21 Jesus arranged for the Passover to be eaten at a secret location in Jerusalem. Opposition to the Gospel comes from Satan, the world, and even from within the ranks of Jesus' followers. God uses these enemies to accomplish His plan of salvation at the cross. The sacrifice of the Passover lamb would foreshadow the sacrifice of our beloved Redeemer for us. • "A Lamb goes uncomplaining forth, The guilt of sinners bearing And, laden with the sins of earth, None else the burden sharing; Goes patient on, grows weak and faint, To slaughter led without complaint, That spotless life to offer." Amen. (LSB 438:1)
MARK—NOTE ON 14:22 bread. Unleavened. See pp 200–201, 236. blessing. Jesus followed a traditional Jewish pattern but used these elements in a new way. See p 842. this is My body. By His word, Christ effects a communion between the bread and His body for all who eat of it. See note, 1Co 10:16. Luth: "For as soon as Christ says: 'This is my body,' his body is present through the Word and the power of the Holy Spirit. If the Word is not there, it is mere bread; but as soon as the words are added they bring with them that of which they speak" (AE 36:341). See p 2230.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:23 a cup. Wine for the Passover meal. given thanks. Jesus consecrated the wine before it was distributed. "Christ's body and blood are received with the bread and wine, not only spiritually through faith, but also orally. Yet not in a 'Capernaitic' way, but in a supernatural, heavenly way, because of the sacramental union" (FC Ep VII 15).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:24 This is My blood. See note, 1Co 10:16. covenant. Gk diatheke, "testament." Jesus sealed His last will and testament with His own precious blood to establish the Lord's Supper (1Co 11:23–26). He was the sacrificial Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world (cf Jn 1:29). See p 127. many. Hbr expression for "all people."

MARK—NOTE ON 14:25 Christ will not observe the Passover again with His disciples. However, He refers here to the heavenly banquet (Mt 8:11). fruit of the vine. Wine.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:22–25 Jesus establishes the Lord's Supper, giving communicants His true body and blood for the forgiveness of sins under the bread and wine. Because of our sin, we could not have fellowship with God. However, Jesus creates a new relationship between God and sinners through His suffering and death on the cross. By His blood, He seals His testament of peace and forgiveness, which we receive in this Sacrament. • "O Lord, we praise Thee, bless Thee, and adore Thee, In thanksgiving bow before Thee. Thou with Thy body and Thy blood didst nourish Our weak souls that they may flourish: O Lord, have mercy! May Thy body, Lord, born of Mary, That our sins and sorrows did carry, And Thy blood for us plead In all trial, fear, and need: O Lord, have mercy!" Amen. (LSB 617:1)

MARK—NOTE ON 14:26 See note, Mt 26:30.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:27 God accomplished forgiveness of sins when the Good Shepherd was struck for the sheep. Luth: "[Christ] Himself also submitted to smitings without any guilt of His own, and He did this also so that men might not regard the kingdom of Christ as something worldly. For to the world it is to be a very offensive kingdom, as St. Paul says, 1 Cor. 1:23" (AE 20:335).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:29 I will not. A boast that was eventually fulfilled by his martyrdom (see note, Jn 21:18–19).
MARK—NOTE ON 14:30 See note, Mt 26:34.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:26–31 Jesus fulfills the Scripture that promises the forgiveness of sins through the sacrifice of the Shepherd, even though all His sheep desert Him. Good intentions do not substitute for faith. Only through God's strength can any Christian face trial. Even though Jesus' sheep will run away, He will lay down His life for them. • Faithful Shepherd, keep me close this day and always. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:32 Gethsemane. See note, Mt 26:36.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:33 Peter and James and John. See note, 1:19. distressed and troubled. Jesus anticipated the great suffering that would soon come.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:34 My soul. Hbr expression. See note, Ps 103:1–2. even to death. Supreme sorrow. watch. Gk gregoreo, "be alert." Lat translation gives us Eng "vigil." Stay awake and pray against the temptations of Satan.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:35 a little farther. C 30 yd, private but near His disciples (cf Lk 22:41). fell on the ground. His posture reflected deep grief. See p 1276. hour. Not simply 60 minutes, but the whole ordeal He must face at that time. See note, Jn 2:4. pass from Him. Jesus fully experienced the agony of soul caused by the burden of sin He was about to bear even unto death. Ambr: "He has taken upon Him the substance of man, and therewith its affections…. Not as God, then, but as man, speaks He, for could God be ignorant of the possibility or impossibility of aught?" (NPNF 2 10:228).
MARK—NOTE ON 14:36 Abba. See p 2098. cup. See note, Is 51:17. Yet not what I will, but what You will. Jesus always submitted to His Father's will.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:37 Peter … hour? See note, Mt 26:40.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:38 Watch and pray. See note, v 34. not enter into temptation. Similar to the sixth petition of the Lord's Prayer (Lk 11:4). the flesh is weak. Refers to the complete depravity of the whole person. See p 1902. Luth: "When our hearts are troubled with sorrow, then truly God Himself sorrows, who died that we might be justified, holy, and full of joy" (AE 13:138).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:40 what to answer. The disciples had no excuse for their failure to watch and pray.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:41 hour. See note, v 35. Son of Man. See p 2098. betrayed. He, who is God of God, is about to place Himself in the hands of sinners so that He might save all sinners. sinners. See p 959.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:32–42 On the eve of His Passion, Jesus prays in agony, yet He concludes by praying that the Father's will be done. The disciples fall asleep while praying, faithless in the critical hour. Spiritual sleepiness steals over us too when we need to watch and pray. But our Savior is ever vigilant and interceding on our behalf, that the Lord might answer our prayers in mercy. • Faithful High Priest, intercede for us at Your Father's throne, that He may pardon and bless us for Your sake. Amen.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:43 chief priests … scribes … elders. See pp 1556–57.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:44 sign. Necessary in the dark. kiss. See note, Rm 16:16; cf 1Pt 5:14.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:45 Rabbi! Ironic use of a title of respect. See note, 9:5.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:46 laid hands on Him. Arrested Him.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:47 See note, Jn 18:10.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:49 teaching. See note, 1:21. let the Scriptures be fulfilled. OT promised salvation through the death of the Messiah (cf Lk 24:25, 44–47). See p 1245. Luth: "Such courage must be the work of none other than the Holy Spirit…. The world is not able to have or give this courage; for it places its reliance only in the things it sees, in goods, reputation, and high honor. When what it boasts of comes to an end—as it all must come to an end—its courage also vanishes, and sheer despair remains" (AE 24:118–19).
MARK—NOTE ON 14:50 See note, Mt 26:56.
MARK—NOTE ON 14:43–50 Representatives of the Jewish ruling Council arrest Jesus, apprehending Him at night outside the city to avoid causing a riot among His supporters. God's plan of salvation moves forward, using the "success" of these enemies to move closer to the cross for the sake of our salvation. • "O wondrous Love, what have You done! The Father offers up His Son, Desiring our salvation. O Love, how strong

You are to save! You lay the One into the grave Who built the earth's foundation." Amen. (LSB 438:3)

MARK—NOTE ON 14:51 young man. Detail unique to Mk; it is thought to be Mark himself. linen cloth. A linen robe worn under a woolen outer garment.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:52 ran away naked. He was in such a desperate hurry that he left behind the garment (cf v 51).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:51–52 Jesus is abandoned by His disciples, including a young man (possibly Mark) who has witnessed the arrest. We cannot count on our own courage or strength in the face of Satan and his forces. Jesus accomplishes the plan of salvation without aid from any human ally. • Stand with me, Jesus, and grant me courage to withstand all temptations by which I might depart from Your good way. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:53 chief priests … elders … scribes. See pp 1556–57.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:54 courtyard of the high priest. In his residence on the south side of Jerusalem. This group may have met here for privacy. high priest. Caiaphas. See notes Lk 3:1–2; Jn 11:49.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:55 To gain a death sentence, the accusers needed proof that Jesus threatened Roman rule. Although there was no evidence that Jesus was an insurrectionist, they would charge Him as such (15:3).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:56 OT Law required testimony to be established by two or three witnesses.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:58 Jesus had used such words to predict His death and resurrection and was not speaking about Herod's temple.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:61 Christ, the Son of the Blessed? See p 2098. the Blessed? The priest avoided using the name of God as a custom of respect for the divine name.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:62 Cf Dn 7:13–14. I am. Jesus decisively identified Himself as the Son of God. See pp 1784–85. right hand of Power. See p 843.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:63 tore his garments. See note, Jb 1:20. He believed that Jesus committed blasphemy by claiming to be God.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:64 blasphemy. Capital crime in Judaism. all condemned Him. All present passed unanimous judgment. They reasoned God would not actually let His "Chosen One" suffer such humiliation and defeat.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:65 Blindfolding and striking reflected a misunderstanding of Is 11:2–4.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:53–65 The Jewish ruling Council convicts Jesus of blasphemy for claiming to be the messianic King. Even though all of Jesus' supporters have abandoned Him, He stands ready to bear the sins of the world. God uses the plans and plots of His enemies to accomplish our salvation. • "Jesus, I will ponder now On Your holy passion; With Your Spirit me endow For such meditation. Grant that I in love and faith May the image cherish Of Your suff'ring, pain, and death That I may not perish." Amen. (LSB 440:1)

MARK—NOTE ON 14:66 below. The trial of Jesus took place on an upper floor of the residence.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:67 Nazarene. Jesus was raised in Nazareth (see note, Mt 2:23).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:70 you are a Galilean. This may have been obvious from Peter's accent (cf Mt 26:73).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:71 invoke a curse. A desperate means to make the people around him believe his lie. See note, Mt 26:74; see also p 6.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:72 he broke down and wept. Peter was deeply sorry for his denial. Luth: "The church of God has great need of these examples. For what would become of us? What hope would be left for us if Peter had not denied Christ and all the apostles had not taken offense at Him, and if Moses, Aaron, and David had not fallen? Therefore God wanted to console sinners with these examples and to say: 'If you have fallen, return; for the door of mercy is open to you. You, who are conscious of no sin, do not be presumptuous; but both of you should trust in My grace and mercy' " (AE 7:11).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:66–72 While Jesus stands firm before Caiaphas, on trial for His life, Peter three times denies knowing Jesus. Fear leads us to do things we later regret. Only God can give us the courage to face difficult situations, especially persecution. Not only did Jesus later forgive Peter, but He also even reinstated this apostle to his office (cf Jn 21:15–19). Therefore, be comforted because your Lord will likewise be merciful toward you. • "What punishment so strange is suffered yonder! The Shepherd dies for sheep that loved to wander; The Master pays the debt His servants owe Him, Who would not know Him." Amen. (LSB 439:4)

MARK—NOTE ON 15:1 Luth: "The Jews and Pilate, however, were our God's chisels, picks, and stone mallets, which He used to polish this Stone [Jesus] so that He might lay the foundation of His new temple" (AE 20:219). chief priests … elders and scribes … whole Council. All the members summoned. See pp 1556–57. consultation. See note, 3:6. Pilate. Roman governor, AD 26–36.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:2 King of the Jews? I.e., a political rival to Rome. See pp 1553–58. You have said so. Enigmatic answer. Jesus at times misdirects His opponents during arguments. Jesus is not the kind of king Pilate would understand. See p 1775. Luth: "Not one of the saints thinks or says that he is righteous but rather always prays and waits to be justified, and for this reason he is regarded by God as righteous, because He has regard for the humble. Thus Christ is King of the Jews, that is, of those who confess that they are always sinners and yet seek to be justified and hate their sins" (AE 25:246).
MARK—NOTE ON 15:5 no further answer. Silence presumed guilt under Roman law.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:1–5 The Jewish leaders bring Jesus to Pilate, hoping to get a death penalty conviction from him. The world does not understand the kingdom of God, where God rules by grace through faith in Jesus Christ, nor does the world understand its King. Jesus endures His trial silently, without making a legal defense. He willingly goes to the cross for us. • "O mighty King, no time can dim Thy glory! How shall I spread abroad Thy wondrous story? How shall I find some worthy gifts to proffer? What dare I offer?" Amen. (LSB 439:8)
MARK—NOTE ON 15:6 the feast. Passover. release … one prisoner. Local custom designed to reduce tensions among crowds at the feast and thus to keep a lid on anti-Roman sentiment.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:7 the insurrection. Recent uprising against the ruling authorities. Only Mk records this event. Barabbas. Aram "son of the father." See note, Lk 23:19.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:8 crowd. See note, Mt 27:20.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:9 Pilate offers a sarcastic reply.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:10 The priests were jealous of Jesus' popularity.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:11 Jesus' enemies called for the release of Barabbas, and the crowd fell in line with them.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:13 Crucify. Punishment so horrific that it was illegal to inflict it on Roman citizens. See note, Ac 16:37.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:15 scourged. Common prelude to crucifixion, adding to its physical agony.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:6–15 Despite knowing that Jesus is innocent, Pilate condemns Him to death by crucifixion under pressure from the Jewish leadership and the crowds. Even though Pilate wants to release Jesus, he sentences Him to death to keep himself out of trouble. Often, Christians face similar temptations to act contrary to God's Word and will for their own safety. We can pray that the Lord would grant us courage to trust His will and share His will. He has promised to give us His Holy Spirit to strengthen us for every challenge. • "I'll think upon Thy mercy without ceasing, That earth's vain joys to me no more be pleasing; To do Thy will shall be my sole endeavor Henceforth forever." Amen. (LSB 439:12)
MARK—NOTE ON 15:16 See note, Mt 27:27.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:17 Luth: "Now sin, as we well know, is removed by nothing but the suffering of Christ. For that is the power and the fruit of His suffering, the forgiveness of sins, as Is. 53 and Peter and Paul teach in many places" (AE 20:219). purple cloak. Used in mockery of a royal robe. See notes, Mt 27:28; Jn 19:2. crown of thorns. A sadistic imitation of a crown.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:16–20 Roman soldiers mock Jesus as the King of the Jews, inflicting terrible physical and emotional pain. Paying for the sin of the world was costly. Jesus' tremendous love for us kept Him on course to the cross. • "Whence come these sorrows, whence this mortal anguish? It is my sins for which Thou, Lord, must languish; Yea, all the wrath, the woe, Thou dost inherit, This I do merit." Amen. (LSB 439:3)
MARK—NOTE ON 15:21 Simon of Cyrene. A man from the northeast coast of Africa who had come to Jerusalem for the festival. As an eyewitness to these events, he could share his experience with the Gospel writers. See note, Lk 1:2. Alexander and Rufus. Known to the original readers (cf Rm 16:13). carry His cross. Just the crossbeam, which could weigh as much as 100 lb.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:22 Place of a Skull. See note, Mt 27:33.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:23 myrrh. Narcotic offered to make the condemned prisoner easier to control. See notes, Pr 7:17; Sg 3:6; Jn 19:39. He did not take it. Jesus was nailed to the cross without any drugs, fully experiencing the Law's punishment for the sins of the world.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:24 lots. Dice made from bone.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:26 The criminal charge against the condemned (cf Jn 19:19–22) was written on a board hung around his neck; then it was placed on the cross at the execution site.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:27 Luth: "And all the prophets saw this, that Christ was to become the greatest thief, murderer, adulterer, robber, desecrator, blasphemer, etc., there has ever been anywhere in the world…. In short, He has and bears all the sins of all men in His body—not in the sense that He has committed them but in the sense that He took these sins, committed by us, upon His own body, in order to make satisfaction for them with His own blood" (AE 26:277). robbers. Likely, rebels who sought the violent overthrow of the Romans in Judea.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:29 derided. Lit, "blasphemed," insulted and mocked.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:31 chief priests … scribes. See pp 1556–57.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:32 Christ, the King of Israel. See note, Mt 27:42. reviled. Cf vv 29–30.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:21–32 Jesus is crucified, bearing the punishment for the sins of the world. This is what it costs to atone for sins. At any time, Jesus can halt the proceedings, save Himself, and condemn His enemies. His love for us and His obedience to the Father lead Him to make this sacrifice instead. • "The sinless Son of God must die in sadness; The sinful child of man may live in gladness; Man forfeited his life and is acquitted; God is committed." Amen. (LSB 439:5)
MARK—NOTE ON 15:33 sixth hour … ninth hour. From noon to 3 p.m. See p 1567. darkness. Cf Ex 10:21–22.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:34 loud voice. A crucified man died of asphyxiation and was quiet at the end; therefore, Jesus' cry required superhuman effort. Eloi. Aram. Sounded identical to "Elijah." Ambr: "Christ, in naming God as His God, does so as man…. He suffers as a man" and "as man, therefore, He is distressed, as man He weeps, as man He is crucified" (NPNF 2 10:216, 230). See p 2237.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:36 sour wine. Cheap drink used by Roman troops.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:37 loud cry. Crucifixion made this extremely difficult. See note, v 34. breathed His last. Christ gave up His life of His own accord.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:38 Tearing of the curtain, which separated the Most Holy Place of the temple from the Holy Place, symbolized the opened fellowship between God and people through Christ (cf Heb 10:19–22). See diagram, p 1710.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:39 Climax of Mk. Luth: "For we are sinners and thieves, and therefore we are worthy of death and eternal damnation. But Christ took all our sins upon Himself, and for them He died on the cross" (AE 26:277). centurion. See note, Mt 8:5; see also "Jesus as the Son of God," pp 1652–53. Truly this man was the Son of God! Major theme of Mk (cf 1:1; 8:29). The centurion may not have understood his confession, but Mk's readers recognized that Jesus is true God and true man.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:41 See note, Lk 8:2–3.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:33–41 Jesus pays for the sins of the world on the cross, opening the way to God through faith in Him. As God and man in one person, He dies under the curse of the Law (Gal 3:13–14). The penalty for sin is death (cf Rm 6:23a). Jesus pays that penalty for us all (cf Rm 6:23b). • "What language shall I borrow To thank Thee, dearest Friend, For this Thy dying sorrow, Thy pity without end? O make me Thine forever! And should I fainting be, Lord, let me never, never, Outlive my love for Thee." Amen. (LSB 450:5)
MARK—NOTE ON 15:42 evening. Between 4 and 5 p.m. day of Preparation. Friday. Sabbath. Saturday. See pp 200–201.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:43 Council. See p 1556. himself looking for the kingdom of God. Joseph had found hope in the Messiah. asked for the body. He requested permission to bury the body of Jesus. This was risky because Jesus had been executed for treason. That Pilate released the body (v 45) reflects his belief that Jesus was innocent.
MARK—NOTE ON 15:44 already died. A man ordinarily lasted at least 24 hours on the cross. To hasten death and remove the bodies before the Sabbath, legs of the criminals were broken (cf Jn 19:31; see also Jos, Life, 420–21).
MARK—NOTE ON 15:46 a linen shroud. Used to wrap the body for burial. laid Him in a tomb. Luth: "Christ tells us how He destroys death and how I am rescued from death. He will be death's venom. Death and Law, to be sure, will condemn Him. Therefore He will have to die and be buried. But He will rise again from the dead. And where I shall be then, the devil will have to retreat. But how do I approach this Savior and Redeemer? By means of … rules? No! Just cling to the Son in faith" (AE 22:355–56). tomb … cut out of the rock. See note, 5:2. See also p 1651.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:47 The women watched and so knew the location of the tomb (cf 16:1).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:42–47 Friends bury the body of Jesus quickly. The approaching Sabbath Day was holy to the Lord, and no work could be done (Ex 20:8–11). Even in the tomb, death does not conquer Jesus—His body does not decay (cf Ac 2:31). Jesus completes His mission with this last step in His state of humiliation. He has fully paid for the sins of the entire world! • Grant me patience, dearest Jesus, to bear the reproaches of those who do not know and confess the blessings of Your death and resurrection. Give me boldness to confess You before the world. Amen.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:1 Sabbath was past. After sundown on Saturday. Mary Magdalene. See note, Lk 8:2–3. spices … anoint. Sweet-smelling ointments were usually wrapped around corpses in strips of cloth before entombment.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:2 first day. Sunday.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:4 stone. See note, Mt 27:60.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:5 young man. An angel. Angels typically appear in the form of young, adult males. white robe. See note, Mt 28:3.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:6 alarmed. People were often filled with awe and fear in the presence of angels. He has risen; He is not here. Jesus had taken up His life just as He had laid it down on Good Friday (cf Jn 10:17–18). See note, Rm 4:24. Luth: "The blessed resurrection … is pure joy, because we hear that our greatest Treasure, over which we rejoice, is already in heaven above, and that only the most insignificant part remains behind; and that He will awaken this, too, and draw it after Him as easily as a person awakens from sleep. There will no longer be any grief or suffering, and neither world nor devil will plague and sadden us anymore" (AE 28:115).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:7 Galilee. Original home of Jesus and His disciples. This fulfills Jesus' promise in 14:28. you will see Him. "Examples of mercy help … such as when we see Peter forgiven his denial" (Ap XXI 36).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:8 they said nothing. The women were temporarily overcome by fear and could not speak (as were Peter, James, and John on the Mount of Transfiguration, 9:6). Luth: "A Christian must accustom himself to think about Christ's victory—the victory in which everything has already been accomplished and in which we have everything we should have. Henceforth we live only to spread among other people the news of what Christ has achieved" (AE 24:421).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:1–8 Three women undertake the job of properly preparing Jesus' body for burial, which the press of time prevented earlier. When they arrive at the tomb, they find it empty and hear the wonderful (and temporarily paralyzing) message that Jesus has risen from the dead and the tomb is empty. In spite of Jesus' clear predictions on at least three occasions (8:31–32; 9:31; 10:33–34), His disciples do not believe. Jesus rises from the dead, proclaiming His victory to all creation and providing for all believers a resurrection to eternal life on the Last Day. • "Christ Jesus lay in death's strong bands For our offenses given; But now at God's right hand He stands And brings us life from heaven. Therefore let us joyful be And sing to God right thankfully Loud songs of alleluia! Alleluia!" Amen. (LSB 458:1)

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9–20 See "Mark's Abrupt Ending," p 1653.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9 Mary Magdalene. A disciple of Jesus; see note, Lk 8:2–3. seven demons. Cf 5:9; Lk 8:30.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:11 Luth: "Faith is a divine work which God demands of us; but at the same time He Himself must implant it in us, for we cannot believe by ourselves" (AE 23:23).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9–11 Mary Magdalene sees the resurrected Jesus and tells the disciples about Him, but they do not believe it. Sinful human nature cannot believe. Doubt assails our hearts at every opportunity. Yet faith, like life, comes as a pure gift from God. He keeps us in the true faith unto life everlasting. • "Lord, by the stripes which wounded Thee, From death's dread sting Thy servants free That we may live and sing to Thee. Alleluia!" Amen. (LSB 464:5)

MARK—NOTE ON 16:12 another form. The unnamed disciples were kept from recognizing Jesus. walking into the country. On the road to Emmaus. Cf Lk 24:13–34.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:13 they did not believe them. Even after a second eyewitness report, the disciples did not believe that Jesus was risen from the dead (cf Jn 20:24–25). Ter: "It was well, however, that the unbelief of the disciples was so persistent, in order that to the last we might consistently maintain that Jesus revealed Himself to the disciples as none other than the Christ of the prophets" (ANF 3:422).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:12–13 The pattern of unbelief continues in spite of additional eyewitness accounts. Like us, the disciples are slow of heart and deaf to the good news of their reconciliation with God through Christ's resurrection. Yet, He still rose for them and commissioned them to proclaim the Gospel everywhere. That is still the gracious commission to the Church from Christ. • "Christ is arisen From the grave's dark prison. So let our joy rise full and free; Christ our comfort true will be. Alleluia!" Amen. (LSB 459:1)

MARK—NOTE ON 16:14 the eleven. The Twelve, minus Judas Iscariot (cf 3:13–19). reclining at table. See note, Mt 8:11. unbelief and hardness of heart. See "Hard-heartedness," p 1653.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:15 Hus: "Christ preached to the people on the sea, in the desert, in the fields and houses, in synagogues, in villages and on the streets, and taught his disciples…. And these, going forth, preached everywhere, that is, in every place where the people were willing to listen, God working with them" (The Church, pp 205–6).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:16 Faith is a gift from God, which He bestows through the Word and through Holy Baptism. "Concerning Baptism, our churches teach that Baptism is necessary for salvation [Mark 16:16] and that God's grace is offered through Baptism" (AC IX 1). "Baptism is not a work that we offer to God. It is a work in which God baptizes us. In other words, a minister baptizes us on God's behalf" (Ap XXIV 18).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:17 signs. Miracles pointing to Christ. in My name. By Jesus' authority and in accordance with His will.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:18 pick up serpents … drink any deadly poison. God promises to protect us, but we should not tempt or test Him. Cf Ac 28:3. lay their hands on the sick. A way of communicating blessing and the Holy Spirit (cf Ac 19:6). Ambr: "There is no power of man exercised in these things, in which the grace of the divine gift operates" (NPNF 2 10:335).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:19 taken up into heaven. Cf Ac 1:6–11. sat down at the right hand of God. An expression stating that Christ rules the universe as Lord and God in the same way that a ruling son has a throne beside his father.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:20 preached everywhere. Beginning with Jerusalem and then extending throughout the Roman province of Judea-Samaria and finally Rome itself. worked with them. Jesus does not leave us alone but is always with us in this outreach (cf Mt 28:20). confirmed the message. Miracles revealed the saving power of the Gospel. See note, Ac 2:22.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:14–20 Jesus commissions His followers to proclaim the message of salvation throughout the world. Only through faith in Jesus Christ can anyone be saved. The Gospel invitation is open to all. God wants all people to be saved through Jesus (1Tm 2:3–4). • "Now let the heav'ns be joyful, Let earth its song begin, Let all the world keep triumph And all that is therein. Let all things, seen and unseen, Their notes of gladness blend; For Christ the Lord has risen, Our joy that has no end!" Amen. (LSB 478:3)

Dedication to Theophilus

1 [1]†‡‡‡Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the things that have been accomplished among us, [2]†just as those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word have delivered them to us, [3]†it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, [4]†that you may have certainty concerning the things you have been taught.

Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

5 ‡ † In the days of Herod, king of Judea, there was a priest named Zechariah,[1] of the division of Abijah. And he had a wife from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. 6And they were both righteous before God, walking blamelessly in all the commandments and statutes of the Lord. 7But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and both were advanced in years.

8Now while he was serving as priest before God when his division was on duty, 9†according to the custom of the priesthood, he was chosen by lot to enter the temple of the Lord and burn incense. 10And the whole multitude of the people were praying outside at the hour of incense. 11 † And there appeared to him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense. 12And Zechariah was troubled when he saw him, and fear fell upon him. 13 † But the angel said to him, “Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. 14 † And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth, 15 † for he will be great before the Lord.
And he must not drink wine or strong drink, and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother’s womb. 16And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God, 17 † and he will go before him in the spirit and power of Elijah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready for the Lord a people prepared.”

18 † And Zechariah said to the angel, “How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years.” 19 † And the angel answered him, “I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news. 20And behold, you will be silent and unable to speak until the day that these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time.” 21 † And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and they were wondering at his delay in the temple. 22And when he came out, he was unable to speak to them, and they realized that he had seen a vision in the temple. And he kept making signs to them and remained mute. [23] † And when his time of service was ended, he went to his home.

[24] After these days his wife Elizabeth conceived, and for five months she kept herself hidden, saying, [25] “Thus the Lord has done for me in the days when he looked on me, to take away my reproach among people.”

Birth of Jesus Foretold

26 In the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, 27 to a virgin betrothed[1] to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. And the virgin's name was Mary. 28 And he came to her and said, "Greetings, O favored one, the Lord is with you!"[2] 29 But she was greatly troubled at the saying, and tried to discern what sort of greeting this might be. 30 And the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. 31 And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus. 32 He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. And the Lord God will give to him the throne of his father David, 33 and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end."

34 And Mary said to the angel, "How will this be, since I am a virgin?"[3]

35 And the angel answered her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born[4] will be called holy—the Son of God. 36 And behold, your relative Elizabeth in her old age has also conceived a son, and this is the sixth month with her who was called barren. 37 For nothing will be impossible with God." 38 And Mary said, "Behold, I am the servant[5] of the Lord; let it be to me according to your word." And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

39 ††In those days Mary arose and went with haste into the hill country, to a town in Judah, 40 and she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. 41 † And when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, the baby leaped in her womb. And Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit, 42 and she exclaimed with a loud cry, “Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! 43 And why is this granted to me that the mother of my Lord should come to me? 44 For behold, when the sound of your greeting came to my ears, the baby in my womb leaped for joy. 45 And blessed is she who believed that there would be[1] a fulfillment of what was spoken to her from the Lord.”

Mary's Song of Praise: The Magnificat

46 ✝✝✝And Mary said,

"My soul magnifies the Lord,
47 ✝ and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, 48 ✝ for he has looked on the humble estate of his servant.
For behold, from now on all generations
will call me blessed;
49 for he who is mighty has done great things for me,
and holy is his name.
50 ✝ And his mercy is for those who fear him from generation to generation.
51 He has shown strength with his arm;
he has scattered the proud in the thoughts of their hearts;
52 he has brought down the mighty from their thrones
and exalted those of humble estate; 53 he has filled the hungry with good things,
and the rich he has sent away empty.
54 He has helped his servant Israel,
in remembrance of his mercy, 55 as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his offspring forever."

56 And Mary remained with her about three months and returned to her home.

The Birth of John the Baptist

57 † Now the time came for Elizabeth to give birth, and she bore a son.
58 † And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown great mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her. 59 † And on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child. And they would have called him Zechariah after his father, 60 † but his mother answered, “No; he shall be called John.”
61 And they said to her, “None of your relatives is called by this name.”
62 And they made signs to his father, inquiring what he wanted him to be called. 63 † And he asked for a writing tablet and wrote, “His name is John.”
And they all wondered. 64 And immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, blessing God. 65 And fear came on all their neighbors. And all these things were talked about through all the hill country of Judea, 66 † and all who heard them laid them up in their hearts, saying, “What then will this child be?” For the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zechariah's Prophecy

67 ‡ And his father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied, saying,

68 ‡† "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he has visited and redeemed his people 69 † and has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David, 70 as he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, 71 that we should be saved from our enemies
and from the hand of all who hate us; 72 to show the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant, 73 the oath that he swore to our father Abraham, to grant us
74 † that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies,
might serve him without fear, 75 in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.
76 † And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Most High;
for you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways,
77 † to give knowledge of salvation to his people in the forgiveness of their sins, 78 † because of the tender mercy of our God, whereby the sunrise shall visit us[1] from on high 79 to give light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death,
to guide our feet into the way of peace."

80 † And the child grew and became strong in spirit, and he was in the wilderness until the day of his public appearance to Israel.

The Birth of Jesus Christ

2 [1]In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered. [2] This was the first registration when[2] Quirinius was governor of Syria. [3]And all went to be registered, each to his own town. [4] And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the town of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, [5]to be registered with Mary, his betrothed,[1] who was with child. [6]And while they were there, the time came for her to give birth. [7]And she gave birth to her firstborn son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels

8 ‡ † And in the same region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. 9 † And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. 10 † And the angel said to them, “Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. 11 † For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. 12 † And this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger.” 13 † And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

14 † “Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among those with whom he is pleased!”[2]

15 When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, “Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.” 16 And they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the baby lying in a manger. 17 † And when they saw it, they made known the saying that had been told them concerning this child. 18 And all who heard it wondered at what the shepherds told them. 19 † But Mary treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart. 20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

21 † And at the end of eight days, when he was circumcised, he was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

Jesus Presented at the Temple

22 ‡‡And when the time came for their purification according to the Law of Moses, they brought him up to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord 23(as it is written in the Law of the Lord, “Every male who first opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord”) 24and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the Law of the Lord, “a pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.” 25‡‡Now there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon, and this man was righteous and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. 26And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord’s Christ. 27‡And he came in the Spirit into the temple, and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the Law, 28he took him up in his arms and blessed God and said, 29‡ “Lord, now you are letting your servant[1] depart in peace,

according to your word;
30‡ for my eyes have seen your salvation 31‡ that you have prepared in the presence of all peoples, 32‡ a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and for glory to your people Israel.”

33And his father and his mother marveled at what was said about him.
34‡And Simeon blessed them and said to Mary his mother, “Behold, this child is appointed for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign that is opposed 35‡(and a sword will pierce through your own soul also), so that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed.”

36‡And there was a prophetess, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was advanced in years, having lived with her husband seven years from when she was a virgin, 37‡and then as a widow until she was eighty-four.[2] She did not depart from the temple, worshiping with fasting and prayer night and day. 38‡And coming up at that very hour she began to give thanks to God and to speak of him to all who were waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.

The Return to Nazareth

39 And when they had performed everything according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own town of Nazareth. 40 And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom. And the favor of God was upon him.

The Boy Jesus in the Temple

41 ‡ † Now his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the Feast of the Passover. 42 † And when he was twelve years old, they went up according to custom. 43 And when the feast was ended, as they were returning, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. His parents did not know it, 44 but supposing him to be in the group they went a day's journey, but then they began to search for him among their relatives and acquaintances, 45 and when they did not find him, they returned to Jerusalem, searching for him.
46 ‡ After three days they found him in the temple, sitting among the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions. 47 And all who heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers. 48 And when his parents[1] saw him, they were astonished. And his mother said to him, "Son, why have you treated us so? Behold, your father and I have been searching for you in great distress." 49 And he said to them, "Why were you looking for me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?"[2] 50 And they did not understand the saying that he spoke to them. 51 † And he went down with them and came to Nazareth and was submissive to them. And his mother treasured up all these things in her heart.

52 † And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature[3] and in favor with God and man.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

3 [1]†In the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, [2]during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, the word of God came to John the son of Zechariah in the wilderness. [3]†And he went into all the region around the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. [4]††As it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet,

> "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
> 'Prepare the way of the Lord,[4]
> make his paths straight.
> [5] Every valley shall be filled, > and every mountain and hill shall be made > low,
> and the crooked shall become straight,
> and the rough places shall become level > ways,
> [6] and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.'"

[7]†He said therefore to the crowds that came out to be baptized by him, "You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? [8]† Bear fruits in keeping with repentance. And do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I tell you, God is able from these stones to raise up children for Abraham. [9]†Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees. Every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

[10]† And the crowds asked him, "What then shall we do?" [11]† And he answered them, "Whoever has two tunics[5] is to share with him who has none, and whoever has food is to do likewise." [12]†Tax collectors also came to be baptized and said to him, "Teacher, what shall we do?" [13]And he said to them, "Collect no more than you are authorized to do." [14]†Soldiers also asked him, “And we, what shall we do?” And he said to them, “Do not extort money from anyone by threats or by false accusation, and be content with your wages.”

15 †As the people were in expectation, and all were questioning in their hearts concerning John, whether he might be the Christ, 16 †John answered them all, saying, “I baptize you with water, but he who is mightier than I is coming, the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. 17 †His winnowing fork is in his hand, to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire.”

18 So with many other exhortations he preached good news to the people. 19 †But Herod the tetrarch, who had been reproved by him for Herodias, his brother’s wife, and for all the evil things that Herod had done, 20 added this to them all, that he locked up John in prison.

21 †Now when all the people were baptized, and when Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, the heavens were opened, 22 †and the Holy Spirit descended on him in bodily form, like a dove; and a voice came from heaven, “You are my beloved Son;[1] with you I am well pleased.”[2]

The Temptation of Jesus

4 [1]†† And Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the wilderness [2]† for forty days, being tempted by the devil. And he ate nothing during those days. And when they were ended, he was hungry. [3]† The devil said to him, "If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread." [4]And Jesus answered him, "It is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone.'" [5]† And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time, [6]and said to him, "To you I will give all this authority and their glory, for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will. [7]If you, then, will worship me, it will all be yours." [8]And Jesus answered him, "It is written,

> "'You shall worship the Lord your God, > and him only shall you serve.'"

[9]† And he took him to Jerusalem and set him on the pinnacle of the temple and said to him, "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here, [10]† for it is written,

> "' He will command his angels concerning you,
> to guard you,'

[11]and

> "'On their hands they will bear you up, > lest you strike your foot against a stone.'"

[12]† And Jesus answered him, "It is said, 'You shall not put the Lord your God to the test.'" [13]† And when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from him until an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

14 ✝✝And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and a report about him went out through all the surrounding country. 15 ✝And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

16 ‡† And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up. And as was his custom, he went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and he stood up to read. 17 † And the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written,

18 "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor.
He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives
and recovering of sight to the blind,
to set at liberty those who are oppressed,
19 to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

20 † And he rolled up the scroll and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him. 21 † And he began to say to them, "Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing." 22 And all spoke well of him and marveled at the gracious words that were coming from his mouth. And they said, "Is not this Joseph's son?" 23 And he said to them, "Doubtless you will quote to me this proverb, 'Physician, heal yourself.' What we have heard you did at Capernaum, do here in your hometown as well." 24 ‡ And he said, "Truly, I say to you, no prophet is acceptable in his hometown. 25 But in truth, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heavens were shut up three years and six months, and a great famine came over all the land, 26 and Elijah was sent to none of them but only to Zarephath, in the land of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. 27 And there were many lepers[1] in Israel in the time of the prophet Elisha, and none of them was cleansed, but only Naaman the Syrian." 28 When they heard these things, all in the synagogue were filled with wrath. 29 † And they rose up and drove him out of the town and brought him to the brow of the hill on which their town was built, so that they could throw him down the cliff. [30] † But passing through their midst, he went away.

Jesus Heals a Man with an Unclean Demon

31 ‡ † And he went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee. And he was teaching them on the Sabbath, 32 † and they were astonished at his teaching, for his word possessed authority. 33 † And in the synagogue there was a man who had the spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out with a loud voice, 34 † "Ha![2] What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God." 35 But Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be silent and come out of him!" And when the demon had thrown him down in their midst, he came out of him, having done him no harm. 36 And they were all amazed and said to one another, "What is this word? For with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out!" 37 And reports about him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Jesus Heals Many

38 ‡ † And he arose and left the synagogue and entered Simon's house.
Now Simon's mother-in-law was ill with a high fever, and they appealed to him on her behalf. 39 † And he stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she rose and began to serve them.

40 † Now when the sun was setting, all those who had any who were sick with various diseases brought them to him, and he laid his hands on every one of them and healed them. 41 † And demons also came out of many, crying, "You are the Son of God!" But he rebuked them and would not allow them to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Synagogues

42 † And when it was day, he departed and went into a desolate place. And the people sought him and came to him, and would have kept him from leaving them, 43 † but he said to them, “I must preach the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns as well; for I was sent for this purpose.”
44 † And he was preaching in the synagogues of Judea.[1]

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

5 [1]†† On one occasion, while the crowd was pressing in on him to hear the word of God, he was standing by the lake of Gennesaret, [2]† and he saw two boats by the lake, but the fishermen had gone out of them and were washing their nets. [3]† Getting into one of the boats, which was Simon's, he asked him to put out a little from the land. And he sat down and taught the people from the boat. [4]And when he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, "Put out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch." [5]† And Simon answered, "Master, we toiled all night and took nothing! But at your word I will let down the nets." [6]† And when they had done this, they enclosed a large number of fish, and their nets were breaking. [7]† They signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink. [8]† But when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." [9]For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish that they had taken, [10]† and so also were James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men." [11]† And when they had brought their boats to land, they left everything and followed him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

12 ‡ † While he was in one of the cities, there came a man full of leprosy.[2]
And when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face and begged him, “Lord, if you will, you can make me clean.” 13 † And Jesus[3] stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, “I will; be clean.” And immediately the leprosy left him. 14 † And he charged him to tell no one, but “go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as Moses commanded, for a proof to them.” 15 But now even more the report about him went abroad, and great crowds gathered to hear him and to be healed of their infirmities. 16 But he would withdraw to desolate places and pray.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

17 ‡ † On one of those days, as he was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting there, who had come from every village of Galilee and Judea and from Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was with him to heal.
[1] 18 And behold, some men were bringing on a bed a man who was paralyzed, and they were seeking to bring him in and lay him before Jesus, 19 † but finding no way to bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the roof and let him down with his bed through the tiles into the midst before Jesus. 20 † And when he saw their faith, he said, "Man, your sins are forgiven you." 21 † And the scribes and the Pharisees began to question, saying, "Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?" 22 † When Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answered them,
"Why do you question in your hearts? 23 † Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Rise and walk'? 24 † But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins"—he said to the man who was paralyzed—"I say to you, rise, pick up your bed and go home." 25 And immediately he rose up before them and picked up what he had been lying on and went home, glorifying God. 26 † And amazement seized them all, and they glorified God and were filled with awe, saying, "We have seen extraordinary things today."

Jesus Calls Levi

27 ‡† After this he went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax booth. And he said to him, “Follow me.” 28 † And leaving everything, he rose and followed him.

29 ‡† And Levi made him a great feast in his house, and there was a large company of tax collectors and others reclining at table with them. 30 † And the Pharisees and their scribes grumbled at his disciples, saying, “Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?” 31 † And Jesus answered them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. 32 † I have not come to call the righteous but sinners to repentance.”

A Question About Fasting

33 ‡ ‡ And they said to him, “The disciples of John fast often and offer prayers, and so do the disciples of the Pharisees, but yours eat and drink.” 34 ‡ And Jesus said to them, “Can you make wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? 35 The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days.” 36 ‡ ‡ He also told them a parable: “No one tears a piece from a new garment and puts it on an old garment. If he does, he will tear the new, and the piece from the new will not match the old. 37 And no one puts new wine into old wineskins.
If he does, the new wine will burst the skins and it will be spilled, and the skins will be destroyed. 38 But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins.
39 ‡ And no one after drinking old wine desires new, for he says, ‘The old is good.’”[1]

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

6 [1]‡†On a Sabbath,[2] while he was going through the grainfields, his disciples plucked and ate some heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands.
[2]†But some of the Pharisees said, “Why are you doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?” [3]‡And Jesus answered them, “Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: [4]how he entered the house of God and took and ate the bread of the Presence, which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat, and also gave it to those with him?” [5]†And he said to them, “The Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

6 ‡ † On another Sabbath, he entered the synagogue and was teaching, and a man was there whose right hand was withered. 7 † And the scribes and the Pharisees watched him, to see whether he would heal on the Sabbath, so that they might find a reason to accuse him. 8 But he knew their thoughts, and he said to the man with the withered hand, “Come and stand here.” And he rose and stood there. 9 † And Jesus said to them, “I ask you, is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to destroy it?” 10 And after looking around at them all he said to him, “Stretch out your hand.”
And he did so, and his hand was restored. 11 † But they were filled with fury and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

12 ‡ † In these days he went out to the mountain to pray, and all night he continued in prayer to God. 13 † And when day came, he called his disciples and chose from them twelve, whom he named apostles: 14 ‡ Simon, whom he named Peter, and Andrew his brother, and James and John, and Philip, and Bartholomew, 15 † and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called the Zealot, 16 † and Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

Jesus Ministers to a Great Multitude

17 ††And he came down with them and stood on a level place, with a great crowd of his disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, 18 who came to hear him and to be healed of their diseases. And those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured. 19 †And all the crowd sought to touch him, for power came out from him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

[20]†††And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said:
“Blessed are you who are poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.
[21]†“Blessed are you who are hungry now, for you shall be satisfied.
“Blessed are you who weep now, for you shall laugh.
[22]†“Blessed are you when people hate you and when they exclude you and revile you and spurn your name as evil, on account of the Son of Man!
[23]†Rejoice in that day, and leap for joy, for behold, your reward is great in heaven; for so their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

24 ‡ ‡ “But woe to you who are rich, for you have received your consolation.
25 “Woe to you who are full now, for you shall be hungry.
“Woe to you who laugh now, for you shall mourn and weep.
26 “Woe to you, when all people speak well of you, for so their fathers did to the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

27 ‡ † “But I say to you who hear, Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, 28 † bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you.
29 † To one who strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also, and from one who takes away your cloak do not withhold your tunic[1] either. 30 Give to everyone who begs from you, and from one who takes away your goods do not demand them back. 31 † And as you wish that others would do to you, do so to them.

32 ‡ “If you love those who love you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. 33 And if you do good to those who do good to you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners do the same.
34 And if you lend to those from whom you expect to receive, what credit is that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners, to get back the same amount.
35 † But love your enemies, and do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return, and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he is kind to the ungrateful and the evil. 36 Be merciful, even as your Father is merciful.

Judging Others

37 ‡ ‡ “Judge not, and you will not be judged; condemn not, and you will not be condemned; forgive, and you will be forgiven; 38 ‡ give, and it will be given to you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap. For with the measure you use it will be measured back to you.”

39 He also told them a parable: “Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit? 40 ‡ A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone when he is fully trained will be like his teacher. 41 ‡ Why do you see the speck that is in your brother’s eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye? 42 ‡ How can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me take out the speck that is in your eye,’ when you yourself do not see the log that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take out the speck that is in your brother’s eye.

A Tree and Its Fruit

43 “For no good tree bears bad fruit, nor again does a bad tree bear good fruit, 44 for each tree is known by its own fruit. For figs are not gathered from thornbushes, nor are grapes picked from a bramble bush. 45 The good person out of the good treasure of his heart produces good, and the evil person out of his evil treasure produces evil, for out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.

Build Your House on the Rock

46 ✝ ✝ “Why do you call me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do what I tell you?
47 ✝ Everyone who comes to me and hears my words and does them, I will show you what he is like: 48 he is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when a flood arose, the stream broke against that house and could not shake it, because it had been well built.[1] 49 But the one who hears and does not do them is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation. When the stream broke against it, immediately it fell, and the ruin of that house was great.”

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

7 [1]†† After he had finished all his sayings in the hearing of the people, he entered Capernaum. [2]† Now a centurion had a servant[1] who was sick and at the point of death, who was highly valued by him. [3] † When the centurion[2] heard about Jesus, he sent to him elders of the Jews, asking him to come and heal his servant. [4]And when they came to Jesus, they pleaded with him earnestly, saying, "He is worthy to have you do this for him, [5]† for he loves our nation, and he is the one who built us our synagogue." [6]† And Jesus went with them. When he was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends, saying to him, "Lord, do not trouble yourself, for I am not worthy to have you come under my roof. [7]† Therefore I did not presume to come to you. But say the word, and let my servant be healed. [8]For I too am a man set under authority, with soldiers under me: and I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes; and to another, 'Come,' and he comes; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he does it." [9]† When Jesus heard these things, he marveled at him, and turning to the crowd that followed him, said, "I tell you, not even in Israel have I found such faith." [10]And when those who had been sent returned to the house, they found the servant well.

Jesus Raises a Widow’s Son

11 †† Soon afterward[3] he went to a town called Nain, and his disciples and a great crowd went with him. 12 † As he drew near to the gate of the town, behold, a man who had died was being carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow, and a considerable crowd from the town was with her. 13 † And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her and said to her, “Do not weep.” 14 † Then he came up and touched the bier, and the bearers stood still. And he said, “Young man, I say to you, arise.” 15 † And the dead man sat up and began to speak, and Jesus[4] gave him to his mother.
16 † Fear seized them all, and they glorified God, saying, “A great prophet has arisen among us!” and “God has visited his people!” 17 † And this report about him spread through the whole of Judea and all the surrounding country.

Messengers from John the Baptist

18 ‡ † The disciples of John reported all these things to him. And John, 19 † calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to the Lord, saying, “Are you the one who is to come, or shall we look for another?” 20 † And when the men had come to him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to you, saying, ‘Are you the one who is to come, or shall we look for another?’” 21 In that hour he healed many people of diseases and plagues and evil spirits, and on many who were blind he bestowed sight. 22 † And he answered them, “Go and tell John what you have seen and heard: the blind receive their sight, the lame walk, lepers[1] are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, the poor have good news preached to them. 23 † And blessed is the one who is not offended by me.”

24 ‡ † When John’s messengers had gone, Jesus[2] began to speak to the crowds concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see?
A reed shaken by the wind? 25 † What then did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft clothing? Behold, those who are dressed in splendid clothing and live in luxury are in kings’ courts. 26 † What then did you go out to see?
A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. 27 ‡ This is he of whom it is written,

> “‘Behold, I send my messenger before your > face,
> who will prepare your way before you.’

28 † I tell you, among those born of women none is greater than John. Yet the one who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.” 29 ‡ (When all the people heard this, and the tax collectors too, they declared God just,[3] having been baptized with the baptism of John, 30 but the Pharisees and the lawyers rejected the purpose of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.)

31 † “To what then shall I compare the people of this generation, and what are they like? 32 † They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another,

“‘We played the flute for you, and you did not dance;
we sang a dirge, and you did not weep.’

33 †For John the Baptist has come eating no bread and drinking no wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’ 34 † The Son of Man has come eating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look at him! A glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ 35 †Yet wisdom is justified by all her children.”

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

36 ‡† One of the Pharisees asked him to eat with him, and he went into the Pharisee's house and took his place at the table. 37 † And behold, a woman of the city, who was a sinner, when she learned that he was reclining at table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of ointment, 38 † and standing behind him at his feet, weeping, she began to wet his feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head and kissed his feet and anointed them with the ointment. 39 † Now when the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, "If this man were a prophet, he would have known who and what sort of woman this is who is touching him, for she is a sinner." 40 † And Jesus answering said to him, "Simon, I have something to say to you." And he answered, "Say it, Teacher."

41 † "A certain moneylender had two debtors. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. 42 † When they could not pay, he cancelled the debt of both. Now which of them will love him more?" 43 † Simon answered, "The one, I suppose, for whom he cancelled the larger debt." And he said to him, "You have judged rightly." 44 † Then turning toward the woman he said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave me no water for my feet, but she has wet my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. 45 † You gave me no kiss, but from the time I came in she has not ceased to kiss my feet. 46 † You did not anoint my head with oil, but she has anointed my feet with ointment. 47 † Therefore I tell you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven—for she loved much. But he who is forgiven little, loves little." 48 † And he said to her, "Your sins are forgiven." 49 † Then those who were at table with him began to say among[1] themselves, "Who is this, who even forgives sins?" 50 † And he said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you; go in peace."

Women Accompanying Jesus

8 [1] ‡ † Soon afterward he went on through cities and villages, proclaiming and bringing the good news of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with him, [2]‡and also some women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities: Mary, called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out, [3]and Joanna, the wife of Chuza, Herod's household manager, and Susanna, and many others, who provided for them[1] out of their means.

The Parable of the Sower

4 ‡ † And when a great crowd was gathering and people from town after town came to him, he said in a parable: 5 † "A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell along the path and was trampled underfoot, and the birds of the air devoured it. 6 † And some fell on the rock, and as it grew up, it withered away, because it had no moisture. 7 † And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up with it and choked it. 8 † And some fell into good soil and grew and yielded a hundredfold." As he said these things, he called out, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear."

The Purpose of the Parables

9 ‡ ‡ And when his disciples asked him what this parable meant, 10 ‡ he said, “To you it has been given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but for others they are in parables, so that ‘seeing they may not see, and hearing they may not understand.’ 11 ‡ Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. 12 ‡ The ones along the path are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not believe and be saved. 13 ‡ And the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear the word, receive it with joy. But these have no root; they believe for a while, and in time of testing fall away. 14 ‡ And as for what fell among the thorns, they are those who hear, but as they go on their way they are choked by the cares and riches and pleasures of life, and their fruit does not mature.
15 ‡ As for that in the good soil, they are those who, hearing the word, hold it fast in an honest and good heart, and bear fruit with patience.

A Lamp Under a Jar

16 “No one after lighting a lamp covers it with a jar or puts it under a bed, but puts it on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. 17 For nothing is hidden that will not be made manifest, nor is anything secret that will not be known and come to light. 18 Take care then how you hear, for to the one who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he thinks that he has will be taken away.”

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

19 ‡ † Then his mother and his brothers came to him, but they could not reach him because of the crowd. 20 ‡ And he was told, "Your mother and your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see you." 21 But he answered them, "My mother and my brothers are those who hear the word of God and do it."

Jesus Calms a Storm

22 One day he got into a boat with his disciples, and he said to them,
"Let us go across to the other side of the lake." So they set out, 23 and as they sailed he fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water and were in danger. 24 And they went and woke him, saying, "Master, Master, we are perishing!" And he awoke and rebuked the wind and the raging waves, and they ceased, and there was a calm. 25 He said to them, "Where is your faith?" And they were afraid, and they marveled, saying to one another, "Who then is this, that he commands even winds and water, and they obey him?"

Jesus Heals a Man with a Demon

26 Then they sailed to the country of the Gerasenes,[1] which is opposite Galilee. 27 When Jesus[2] had stepped out on land, there met him a man from the city who had demons. For a long time he had worn no clothes, and he had not lived in a house but among the tombs. 28 When he saw Jesus, he cried out and fell down before him and said with a loud voice, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg you, do not torment me." 29 For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (For many a time it had seized him. He was kept under guard and bound with chains and shackles, but he would break the bonds and be driven by the demon into the desert.) 30 Jesus then asked him, "What is your name?" And he said, "Legion," for many demons had entered him.
31 And they begged him not to command them to depart into the abyss.
32 Now a large herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, and they begged him to let them enter these. So he gave them permission. 33 Then the demons came out of the man and entered the pigs, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and were drowned.

34 When the herdsmen saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country. 35 Then people went out to see what had happened, and they came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons had gone, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind, and they were afraid. 36 And those who had seen it told them how the demon-possessed[1] man had been healed. 37 Then all the people of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes asked him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. So he got into the boat and returned.
38 The man from whom the demons had gone begged that he might be with him, but Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 "Return to your home, and declare how much God has done for you." And he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city how much Jesus had done for him.

Jesus Heals a Woman and Jairus's Daughter

40 ‡ † Now when Jesus returned, the crowd welcomed him, for they were all waiting for him. 41 † And there came a man named Jairus, who was a ruler of the synagogue. And falling at Jesus' feet, he implored him to come to his house, 42 † for he had an only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

As Jesus went, the people pressed around him. 43 † And there was a woman who had had a discharge of blood for twelve years, and though she had spent all her living on physicians,[2] she could not be healed by anyone.
44 † She came up behind him and touched the fringe of his garment, and immediately her discharge of blood ceased. 45 † And Jesus said, "Who was it that touched me?" When all denied it, Peter[3] said, "Master, the crowds surround you and are pressing in on you!" 46 But Jesus said, "Someone touched me, for I perceive that power has gone out from me." 47 † And when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling, and falling down before him declared in the presence of all the people why she had touched him, and how she had been immediately healed. 48 † And he said to her, "Daughter, your faith has made you well; go in peace."

49 † While he was still speaking, someone from the ruler's house came and said, "Your daughter is dead; do not trouble the Teacher any more." 50 † But Jesus on hearing this answered him, "Do not fear; only believe, and she will be well." 51 † And when he came to the house, he allowed no one to enter with him, except Peter and John and James, and the father and mother of the child. 52 † And all were weeping and mourning for her, but he said, "Do not weep, for she is not dead but sleeping." 53 † And they laughed at him, knowing that she was dead. 54 † But taking her by the hand he called, saying,
"Child, arise." 55 † And her spirit returned, and she got up at once. And he directed that something should be given her to eat. 56 † And her parents were amazed, but he charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

9 [1] ‡ † And he called the twelve together and gave them power and authority over all demons and to cure diseases, [2] † and he sent them out to proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal. [3] † And he said to them, “Take nothing for your journey, no staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money; and do not have two tunics.[1] [4] † And whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart. [5] † And wherever they do not receive you, when you leave that town shake off the dust from your feet as a testimony against them.” [6] † And they departed and went through the villages, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Is Perplexed by Jesus

7 ‡‡‡Now Herod the tetrarch heard about all that was happening, and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had been raised from the dead, 8 by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the prophets of old had risen. 9 Herod said, “John I beheaded, but who is this about whom I hear such things?” And he sought to see him.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

10 ‡ † On their return the apostles told him all that they had done. And he took them and withdrew apart to a town called Bethsaida. 11 † When the crowds learned it, they followed him, and he welcomed them and spoke to them of the kingdom of God and cured those who had need of healing.
12 † Now the day began to wear away, and the twelve came and said to him,
"Send the crowd away to go into the surrounding villages and countryside to find lodging and get provisions, for we are here in a desolate place." 13 † But he said to them, "You give them something to eat." They said, "We have no more than five loaves and two fish—unless we are to go and buy food for all these people." 14 † For there were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples, "Have them sit down in groups of about fifty each." 15 And they did so, and had them all sit down. 16 † And taking the five loaves and the two fish, he looked up to heaven and said a blessing over them.
Then he broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. 17 † And they all ate and were satisfied. And what was left over was picked up, twelve baskets of broken pieces.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

18 ‡ † Now it happened that as he was praying alone, the disciples were with him. And he asked them, “Who do the crowds say that I am?” 19 † And they answered, “John the Baptist. But others say, Elijah, and others, that one of the prophets of old has risen.” 20 † Then he said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” And Peter answered, “The Christ of God.”

Jesus Foretells His Death

[21] ‡ ‡ And he strictly charged and commanded them to tell this to no one, [22] ‡ saying, “The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on the third day be raised.”

Take Up Your Cross and Follow Jesus

[23] ‡‡‡And he said to all, “If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. [24]For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it.
[25] †For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses or forfeits himself? [26]†For whoever is ashamed of me and of my words, of him will the Son of Man be ashamed when he comes in his glory and the glory of the Father and of the holy angels. [27]†But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God.”

The Transfiguration

28 ‡ † Now about eight days after these sayings he took with him Peter and John and James and went up on the mountain to pray. 29 † And as he was praying, the appearance of his face was altered, and his clothing became dazzling white. 30 † And behold, two men were talking with him, Moses and Elijah, 31 † who appeared in glory and spoke of his departure,[1] which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. 32 † Now Peter and those who were with him were heavy with sleep, but when they became fully awake they saw his glory and the two men who stood with him. 33 † And as the men were parting from him, Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good that we are here. Let us make three tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said. 34 † As he was saying these things, a cloud came and overshadowed them, and they were afraid as they entered the cloud. 35 † And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is my Son, my Chosen One;[2] listen to him!” 36 † And when the voice had spoken, Jesus was found alone.
And they kept silent and told no one in those days anything of what they had seen.

Jesus Heals a Boy with an Unclean Spirit

37 ‡ † On the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, a great crowd met him. 38 † And behold, a man from the crowd cried out, “Teacher, I beg you to look at my son, for he is my only child. 39 † And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out. It convulses him so that he foams at the mouth, and shatters him, and will hardly leave him.
40 † And I begged your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.” 41 † Jesus answered, “O faithless and twisted generation, how long am I to be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.” 42 † While he was coming, the demon threw him to the ground and convulsed him. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit and healed the boy, and gave him back to his father. 43 ‡ † And all were astonished at the majesty of God.

Jesus Again Foretells His Death

But while they were all marveling at everything he was doing, Jesus[1] said to his disciples, 44 †“Let these words sink into your ears: The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men.” 45 †But they did not understand this saying, and it was concealed from them, so that they might not perceive it. And they were afraid to ask him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

46 An argument arose among them as to which of them was the greatest.
47 But Jesus, knowing the reasoning of their hearts, took a child and put him by his side 48 and said to them, “Whoever receives this child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me receives him who sent me. For he who is least among you all is the one who is great.”

Anyone Not Against Us Is For Us

49 †† John answered, “Master, we saw someone casting out demons in your name, and we tried to stop him, because he does not follow with us.” 50 † But Jesus said to him, “Do not stop him, for the one who is not against you is for you.”

A Samaritan Village Rejects Jesus

51 ‡† When the days drew near for him to be taken up, he set his face to go to Jerusalem. 52 ‡ And he sent messengers ahead of him, who went and entered a village of the Samaritans, to make preparations for him. 53 But the people did not receive him, because his face was set toward Jerusalem.
54 † And when his disciples James and John saw it, they said, “Lord, do you want us to tell fire to come down from heaven and consume them?”[1] 55 † But he turned and rebuked them.[2] 56 And they went on to another village.

The Cost of Following Jesus

57 ‡ † As they were going along the road, someone said to him, “I will follow you wherever you go.” 58 † And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head.” 59 ‡ To another he said, “Follow me.” But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.” 60 And Jesus[3] said to him, “Leave the dead to bury their own dead. But as for you, go and proclaim the kingdom of God.” 61 † Yet another said, “I will follow you, Lord, but let me first say farewell to those at my home.” 62 † Jesus said to him, “No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-Two

10 [1]†‡After this the Lord appointed seventy-two[4] others and sent them on ahead of him, two by two, into every town and place where he himself was about to go. [2]†And he said to them, "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. [3]†Go your way; behold, I am sending you out as lambs in the midst of wolves. [4]† Carry no moneybag, no knapsack, no sandals, and greet no one on the road. [5]‡Whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace be to this house!' [6]And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest upon him. But if not, it will return to you. [7]†And remain in the same house, eating and drinking what they provide, for the laborer deserves his wages. Do not go from house to house. [8]†Whenever you enter a town and they receive you, eat what is set before you. [9]†Heal the sick in it and say to them, 'The kingdom of God has come near to you.' [10]But whenever you enter a town and they do not receive you, go into its streets and say, [11]‡'Even the dust of your town that clings to our feet we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near.' [12]I tell you, it will be more bearable on that day for Sodom than for that town.

Woe to Unrepentant Cities

13 ‡ ‡ “Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. 14 But it will be more bearable in the judgment for Tyre and Sidon than for you. 15 † And you, Capernaum, will you be exalted to heaven? You shall be brought down to Hades.

16 † “The one who hears you hears me, and the one who rejects you rejects me, and the one who rejects me rejects him who sent me.”

The Return of the Seventy-Two

17 The seventy-two returned with joy, saying, “Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name!” 18 And he said to them, “I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. 19 Behold, I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you. 20 Nevertheless, do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice that your names are written in heaven.”

Jesus Rejoices in the Father's Will

21 ‡ † In that same hour he rejoiced in the Holy Spirit and said, "I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and revealed them to little children; yes, Father, for such was your gracious will.[1] 22 † All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, or who the Father is except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him."

23 † Then turning to the disciples he said privately, "Blessed are the eyes that see what you see! 24 For I tell you that many prophets and kings desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it."

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

25 ‡ † And behold, a lawyer stood up to put him to the test, saying, “Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?” 26 †He said to him, “What is written in the Law? How do you read it?” 27 †And he answered, “You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself.” 28 †And he said to him, “You have answered correctly; do this, and you will live.”

29 †But he, desiring to justify himself, said to Jesus, “And who is my neighbor?” 30 †Jesus replied, “A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among robbers, who stripped him and beat him and departed, leaving him half dead. 31 †Now by chance a priest was going down that road, and when he saw him he passed by on the other side. 32 †So likewise a Levite, when he came to the place and saw him, passed by on the other side. 33 †But a Samaritan, as he journeyed, came to where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion. 34 †He went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring on oil and wine. Then he set him on his own animal and brought him to an inn and took care of him. 35 †And the next day he took out two denarii[1] and gave them to the innkeeper, saying, ‘Take care of him, and whatever more you spend, I will repay you when I come back.’ 36 †Which of these three, do you think, proved to be a neighbor to the man who fell among the robbers?” 37 †He said, “The one who showed him mercy.” And Jesus said to him, “You go, and do likewise.”

Martha and Mary

38 ✝ ✝ Now as they went on their way, Jesus[2] entered a village. And a woman named Martha welcomed him into her house. 39 ✝ And she had a sister called Mary, who sat at the Lord's feet and listened to his teaching.
40 ✝ But Martha was distracted with much serving. And she went up to him and said, "Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me to serve alone?
Tell her then to help me." 41 ✝ But the Lord answered her, "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things, 42 ✝ but one thing is necessary.[1] Mary has chosen the good portion, which will not be taken away from her."

The Lord's Prayer

11 [1] Now Jesus[2] was praying in a certain place, and when he finished, one of his disciples said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray, as John taught his disciples." [2] And he said to them, "When you pray, say:

"Father, hallowed be your name.
Your kingdom come.
[3] Give us each day our daily bread,[3] [4] and forgive us our sins, for we ourselves forgive everyone who is indebted to us.
And lead us not into temptation."

[5] And he said to them, "Which of you who has a friend will go to him at midnight and say to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves, [6] for a friend of mine has arrived on a journey, and I have nothing to set before him'; [7] and he will answer from within, 'Do not bother me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed. I cannot get up and give you anything'? [8] I tell you, though he will not get up and give him anything because he is his friend, yet because of his impudence[4] he will rise and give him whatever he needs. [9] And I tell you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. [10] For everyone who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and to the one who knocks it will be opened. [11] What father among you, if his son asks for[5] a fish, will instead of a fish give him a serpent; [12] or if he asks for an egg, will give him a scorpion? [13] If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!"

Jesus and Beelzebul

14 Now he was casting out a demon that was mute. When the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke, and the people marveled. 15 But some of them said, “He casts out demons by Beelzebul, the prince of demons,” 16 while others, to test him, kept seeking from him a sign from heaven.
17 But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, “Every kingdom divided against itself is laid waste, and a divided household falls. 18 And if Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that I cast out demons by Beelzebul. 19 And if I cast out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. 20 But if it is by the finger of God that I cast out demons, then the kingdom of God has come upon you. 21 When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are safe; 22 but when one stronger than he attacks him and overcomes him, he takes away his armor in which he trusted and divides his spoil. 23 Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.

Return of an Unclean Spirit

24 “When the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, and finding none it says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ 25 And when it comes, it finds the house swept and put in order. 26 Then it goes and brings seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and dwell there. And the last state of that person is worse than the first.”

True Blessedness

27 As he said these things, a woman in the crowd raised her voice and said to him, “Blessed is the womb that bore you, and the breasts at which you nursed!” 28 But he said, “Blessed rather are those who hear the word of God and keep it!”

The Sign of Jonah

[29] ‡ ‡ When the crowds were increasing, he began to say, “This generation is an evil generation. It seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah. [30] ‡ For as Jonah became a sign to the people of Nineveh, so will the Son of Man be to this generation. [31] ‡ The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with the men of this generation and condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, something greater than Solomon is here. [32] ‡ The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, something greater than Jonah is here.

The Light in You

33 “No one after lighting a lamp puts it in a cellar or under a basket, but on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. 34 Your eye is the lamp of your body. When your eye is healthy, your whole body is full of light, but when it is bad, your body is full of darkness. 35 Therefore be careful lest the light in you be darkness. 36 If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, it will be wholly bright, as when a lamp with its rays gives you light.”

Woes to the Pharisees and Lawyers

37 While Jesus[1] was speaking, a Pharisee asked him to dine with him, so he went in and reclined at table. 38 The Pharisee was astonished to see that he did not first wash before dinner. 39 And the Lord said to him, "Now you Pharisees cleanse the outside of the cup and of the dish, but inside you are full of greed and wickedness. 40 You fools! Did not he who made the outside make the inside also? 41 But give as alms those things that are within, and behold, everything is clean for you.

42 "But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and every herb, and neglect justice and the love of God. These you ought to have done, without neglecting the others. 43 Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the best seat in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces. 44 Woe to you! For you are like unmarked graves, and people walk over them without knowing it."

45 One of the lawyers answered him, "Teacher, in saying these things you insult us also." 46 And he said, Woe to you lawyers also! For you load people with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. 47 Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets whom your fathers killed. 48 So you are witnesses and you consent to the deeds of your fathers, for they killed them, and you build their tombs. 49 Therefore also the Wisdom of God said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles, some of whom they will kill and persecute,' 50 so that the blood of all the prophets, shed from the foundation of the world, may be charged against this generation, 51 from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah, who perished between the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, I tell you, it will be required of this generation. 52 Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter yourselves, and you hindered those who were entering."

53 As he went away from there, the scribes and the Pharisees began to press him hard and to provoke him to speak about many things, 54 lying in wait for him, to catch him in something he might say.

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees

12 [1]In the meantime, when so many thousands of the people had gathered together that they were trampling one another, he began to say to his disciples first, "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. [2]Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. [3]Therefore whatever you have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in private rooms shall be proclaimed on the housetops.

Have No Fear

4 ‡ ‡ “I tell you, my friends, do not fear those who kill the body, and after that have nothing more that they can do. 5 ‡ But I will warn you whom to fear: fear him who, after he has killed, has authority to cast into hell.[1] Yes, I tell you, fear him! 6 ‡ Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies?[2] And not one of them is forgotten before God. 7 ‡ Why, even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Acknowledge Christ Before Men

[8]†† “And I tell you, everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man also will acknowledge before the angels of God, [9]† but the one who denies me before men will be denied before the angels of God. [10]† And everyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but the one who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven. [11]† And when they bring you before the synagogues and the rulers and the authorities, do not be anxious about how you should defend yourself or what you should say, [12]† for the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

The Parable of the Rich Fool

13 Someone in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.” 14 But he said to him, “Man, who made me a judge or arbitrator over you?” 15 And he said to them, “Take care, and be on your guard against all covetousness, for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions.” 16 And he told them a parable, saying, “The land of a rich man produced plentifully, 17 and he thought to himself, ‘What shall I do, for I have nowhere to store my crops?’ 18 And he said, ‘I will do this: I will tear down my barns and build larger ones, and there I will store all my grain and my goods. 19 And I will say to my soul, Soul, you have ample goods laid up for many years; relax, eat, drink, be merry.’ 20 But God said to him, ‘Fool! This night your soul is required of you, and the things you have prepared, whose will they be?’ 21 So is the one who lays up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God.”

Do Not Be Anxious

22 ‡† And he said to his disciples, “Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat, nor about your body, what you will put on. 23 † For life is more than food, and the body more than clothing.
24 † Consider the ravens: they neither sow nor reap, they have neither storehouse nor barn, and yet God feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds! 25 †And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his span of life?[1] 26 †If then you are not able to do as small a thing as that, why are you anxious about the rest? 27 †Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin,[2] yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. 28 †But if God so clothes the grass, which is alive in the field today, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O you of little faith! 29 † And do not seek what you are to eat and what you are to drink, nor be worried. 30 †For all the nations of the world seek after these things, and your Father knows that you need them. 31 †Instead, seek his[3] kingdom, and these things will be added to you.

32 †“Fear not, little flock, for it is your Father’s good pleasure to give you the kingdom. 33 † Sell your possessions, and give to the needy. Provide yourselves with moneybags that do not grow old, with a treasure in the heavens that does not fail, where no thief approaches and no moth destroys.
34 †For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

You Must Be Ready

35 ‡ ‡ “Stay dressed for action[4] and keep your lamps burning, 36 ‡ and be like men who are waiting for their master to come home from the wedding feast, so that they may open the door to him at once when he comes and knocks.
37 ‡ Blessed are those servants[5] whom the master finds awake when he comes. Truly, I say to you, he will dress himself for service and have them recline at table, and he will come and serve them. 38 ‡ If he comes in the second watch, or in the third, and finds them awake, blessed are those servants! 39 ‡ But know this, that if the master of the house had known at what hour the thief was coming, he[6] would not have left his house to be broken into. 40 ‡ You also must be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”

41 ‡ Peter said, “Lord, are you telling this parable for us or for all?” 42 And the Lord said, “Who then is the faithful and wise manager, whom his master will set over his household, to give them their portion of food at the proper time? 43 ‡ Blessed is that servant[1] whom his master will find so doing when he comes. 44 ‡ Truly, I say to you, he will set him over all his possessions.
45 ‡ But if that servant says to himself, ‘My master is delayed in coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and get drunk, 46 ‡ the master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he does not know, and will cut him in pieces and put him with the unfaithful. 47 And that servant who knew his master’s will but did not get ready or act according to his will, will receive a severe beating. 48 But the one who did not know, and did what deserved a beating, will receive a light beating. Everyone to whom much was given, of him much will be required, and from him to whom they entrusted much, they will demand the more.

Not Peace, but Division

49 ✝✝“I came to cast fire on the earth, and would that it were already kindled! 50 ✝I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how great is my distress until it is accomplished! 51 ✝Do you think that I have come to give peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division. 52 ✝For from now on in one house there will be five divided, three against two and two against three. 53They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.”

Interpreting the Time

54 He also said to the crowds, “When you see a cloud rising in the west, you say at once, ‘A shower is coming.’ And so it happens. 55 And when you see the south wind blowing, you say, ‘There will be scorching heat,’ and it happens. 56 You hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky, but why do you not know how to interpret the present time?

Settle with Your Accuser

57 “And why do you not judge for yourselves what is right? 58 As you go with your accuser before the magistrate, make an effort to settle with him on the way, lest he drag you to the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer put you in prison. 59 I tell you, you will never get out until you have paid the very last penny.”[1]

Repent or Perish

13 [1]‡‡There were some present at that very time who told him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. [2]† And he answered them, “Do you think that these Galileans were worse sinners than all the other Galileans, because they suffered in this way? [3]†No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all likewise perish. [4]†Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them: do you think that they were worse offenders than all the others who lived in Jerusalem? [5]†No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all likewise perish.”

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

6 ‡ † And he told this parable: “A man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. 7 †And he said to the vinedresser, ‘Look, for three years now I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and I find none. Cut it down. Why should it use up the ground?’
8 †And he answered him, ‘Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and put on manure. 9 †Then if it should bear fruit next year, well and good;
but if not, you can cut it down.’”

A Woman with a Disabling Spirit

10 ‡ † Now he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.
11 † And there was a woman who had had a disabling spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and could not fully straighten herself. 12 When Jesus saw her, he called her over and said to her, “Woman, you are freed from your disability.” 13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and she glorified God. 14 † But the ruler of the synagogue, indignant because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath, said to the people, “There are six days in which work ought to be done. Come on those days and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.” 15 † Then the Lord answered him, “You hypocrites! Does not each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or his donkey from the manger and lead it away to water it? 16 † And ought not this woman, a daughter of Abraham whom Satan bound for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?” 17 † As he said these things, all his adversaries were put to shame, and all the people rejoiced at all the glorious things that were done by him.

The Mustard Seed and the Leaven

18 ‡ ‡He said therefore, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? 19 †It is like a grain of mustard seed that a man took and sowed in his garden, and it grew and became a tree, and the birds of the air made nests in its branches.” 20 And again he said, “To what shall I compare the kingdom of God? 21 †It is like leaven that a woman took and hid in three measures of flour, until it was all leavened.”

The Narrow Door

22 ‡ † He went on his way through towns and villages, teaching and journeying toward Jerusalem. 23 † And someone said to him, “Lord, will those who are saved be few?” And he said to them, 24 † “Strive to enter through the narrow door. For many, I tell you, will seek to enter and will not be able. 25 † When once the master of the house has risen and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and to knock at the door, saying, ‘Lord, open to us,’ then he will answer you, ‘I do not know where you come from.’ 26 † Then you will begin to say, ‘We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.’ 27 † But he will say, ‘I tell you, I do not know where you come from. Depart from me, all you workers of evil!’ 28 † In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God but you yourselves cast out. 29 † And people will come from east and west, and from north and south, and recline at table in the kingdom of God. 30 † And behold, some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last.”

Lament over Jerusalem

31 At that very hour some Pharisees came and said to him, “Get away from here, for Herod wants to kill you.” 32 And he said to them, “Go and tell that fox, ‘Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I finish my course. 33 Nevertheless, I must go on my way today and tomorrow and the day following, for it cannot be that a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem.’ 34 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to it! How often would I have gathered your children together as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you would not! 35 Behold, your house is forsaken. And I tell you, you will not see me until you say, ‘Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!’”

Healing of a Man on the Sabbath

14 [1]‡†One Sabbath, when he went to dine at the house of a ruler of the Pharisees, they were watching him carefully. [2]†And behold, there was a man before him who had dropsy. [3]†And Jesus responded to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, “Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not?” [4]†But they remained silent. Then he took him and healed him and sent him away. [5]† And he said to them, “Which of you, having a son[1]or an ox that has fallen into a well on a Sabbath day, will not immediately pull him out?” [6]†And they could not reply to these things.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

[7] ‡ ‡ ‡ Now he told a parable to those who were invited, when he noticed how they chose the places of honor, saying to them, [8] † “When you are invited by someone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in a place of honor, lest someone more distinguished than you be invited by him, [9] † and he who invited you both will come and say to you, ‘Give your place to this person,’ and then you will begin with shame to take the lowest place. [10] † But when you are invited, go and sit in the lowest place, so that when your host comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, move up higher.’ Then you will be honored in the presence of all who sit at table with you. [11] † For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

The Parable of the Great Banquet

12 He said also to the man who had invited him, “When you give a dinner or a banquet, do not invite your friends or your brothers[1] or your relatives or rich neighbors, lest they also invite you in return and you be repaid. 13 But when you give a feast, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind, 14 and you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you. For you will be repaid at the resurrection of the just.”

15 When one of those who reclined at table with him heard these things, he said to him, “Blessed is everyone who will eat bread in the kingdom of God!” 16 But he said to him, “A man once gave a great banquet and invited many. 17 And at the time for the banquet he sent his servant[2] to say to those who had been invited, ‘Come, for everything is now ready.’ 18 But they all alike began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a field, and I must go out and see it. Please have me excused.’ 19 And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to examine them. Please have me excused.’ 20 And another said, ‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’ 21 So the servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house became angry and said to his servant, ‘Go out quickly to the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in the poor and crippled and blind and lame.’ 22 And the servant said, ‘Sir, what you commanded has been done, and still there is room.’ 23 And the master said to the servant, ‘Go out to the highways and hedges and compel people to come in, that my house may be filled. 24 For I tell you,[3] none of those men who were invited shall taste my banquet.’”

The Cost of Discipleship

25 ‡† Now great crowds accompanied him, and he turned and said to them, 26 † "If anyone comes to me and does not hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, yes, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple. 27 † Whoever does not bear his own cross and come after me cannot be my disciple. 28 † For which of you, desiring to build a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost, whether he has enough to complete it? 29 † Otherwise, when he has laid a foundation and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, 30 † saying, 'This man began to build and was not able to finish.' 31 ‡† Or what king, going out to encounter another king in war, will not sit down first and deliberate whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? 32 † And if not, while the other is yet a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks for terms of peace. 33 † So therefore, any one of you who does not renounce all that he has cannot be my disciple.

Salt Without Taste Is Worthless

34 “Salt is good, but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored? 35 It is of no use either for the soil or for the manure pile. It is thrown away. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.”

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

15 [1]Now the tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to hear him. [2]And the Pharisees and the scribes grumbled, saying, “This man receives sinners and eats with them.”

[3]So he told them this parable: [4]“What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he has lost one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the open country, and go after the one that is lost, until he finds it? [5]And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing. [6]And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and his neighbors, saying to them, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep that was lost.’ [7]Just so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

8 ‡ ‡ ‡ “Or what woman, having ten silver coins,[1] if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and seek diligently until she finds it? 9 † And when she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the coin that I had lost.’ 10 † Just so, I tell you, there is joy before the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Prodigal Son

11 ‡ ‡ And he said, “There was a man who had two sons. 12 † And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the share of property that is coming to me.’ And he divided his property between them. 13 † Not many days later, the younger son gathered all he had and took a journey into a far country, and there he squandered his property in reckless living.
14 † And when he had spent everything, a severe famine arose in that country, and he began to be in need. 15 † So he went and hired himself out to[1] one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to feed pigs. 16 † And he was longing to be fed with the pods that the pigs ate, and no one gave him anything.

17 † “But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have more than enough bread, but I perish here with hunger!
18 ‡ I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him, “Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. 19 I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Treat me as one of your hired servants.”’ 20 † And he arose and came to his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and felt compassion, and ran and embraced him and kissed him. 21 † And the son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.’[2] 22 † But the father said to his servants,[3] ‘Bring quickly the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet. 23 † And bring the fattened calf and kill it, and let us eat and celebrate. 24 † For this my son was dead, and is alive again;
he was lost, and is found.’ And they began to celebrate.

25 † “Now his older son was in the field, and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. 26 And he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. 27 And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and your father has killed the fattened calf, because he has received him back safe and sound.’ 28 † But he was angry and refused to go in. His father came out and entreated him, 29 † but he answered his father, ‘Look, these many years I have served you, and I never disobeyed your command, yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might celebrate with my friends.
30 † But when this son of yours came, who has devoured your property with prostitutes, you killed the fattened calf for him!' [31] † And he said to him, 'Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours. [32] † It was fitting to celebrate and be glad, for this your brother was dead, and is alive; he was lost, and is found.'"

The Parable of the Dishonest Manager

16 [1]He also said to the disciples, “There was a rich man who had a manager, and charges were brought to him that this man was wasting his possessions. [2]And he called him and said to him, ‘What is this that I hear about you? Turn in the account of your management, for you can no longer be manager.’ [3]And the manager said to himself, ‘What shall I do, since my master is taking the management away from me? I am not strong enough to dig, and I am ashamed to beg. [4]I have decided what to do, so that when I am removed from management, people may receive me into their houses.’ [5]So, summoning his master’s debtors one by one, he said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ [6]He said, ‘A hundred measures[1] of oil.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ [7]Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ He said, ‘A hundred measures[2] of wheat.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’ [8]The master commended the dishonest manager for his shrewdness. For the sons of this world[3] are more shrewd in dealing with their own generation than the sons of light. [9]And I tell you, make friends for yourselves by means of unrighteous wealth,[4] so that when it fails they may receive you into the eternal dwellings.

[10]“One who is faithful in a very little is also faithful in much, and one who is dishonest in a very little is also dishonest in much. [11]If then you have not been faithful in the unrighteous wealth, who will entrust to you the true riches? [12]And if you have not been faithful in that which is another’s, who will give you that which is your own? [13]No servant can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and money.”

The Law and the Kingdom of God

14 ††The Pharisees, who were lovers of money, heard all these things, and they ridiculed him. 15 †And he said to them, “You are those who justify yourselves before men, but God knows your hearts. For what is exalted among men is an abomination in the sight of God.
16 †“The Law and the Prophets were until John; since then the good news of the kingdom of God is preached, and everyone forces his way into it.[5] 17 †But it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one dot of the Law to become void.

Divorce and Remarriage

18 ✝ ✝ ✝ “Everyone who divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and he who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

19 “There was a rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and who feasted sumptuously every day. 20 And at his gate was laid a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores, 21 who desired to be fed with what fell from the rich man’s table. Moreover, even the dogs came and licked his sores. 22 The poor man died and was carried by the angels to Abraham’s side.[1] The rich man also died and was buried, 23 and in Hades, being in torment, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus at his side. 24 And he called out, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus to dip the end of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in anguish in this flame.’ 25 But Abraham said, ‘Child, remember that you in your lifetime received your good things, and Lazarus in like manner bad things; but now he is comforted here, and you are in anguish. 26 And besides all this, between us and you a great chasm has been fixed, in order that those who would pass from here to you may not be able, and none may cross from there to us.’ 27 And he said, ‘Then I beg you, father, to send him to my father’s house— 28 for I have five brothers[2]—so that he may warn them, lest they also come into this place of torment.’ 29 But Abraham said, ‘They have Moses and the Prophets; let them hear them.’ 30 And he said, ‘No, father Abraham, but if someone goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ 31 He said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be convinced if someone should rise from the dead.’”

Temptations to Sin

17 [1]‡†And he said to his disciples, “Temptations to sin[3]are sure to come, but woe to the one through whom they come! [2]†It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck and he were cast into the sea than that he should cause one of these little ones to sin.[4] [3]†Pay attention to yourselves! If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him, [4]†and if he sins against you seven times in the day, and turns to you seven times, saying, ‘I repent,’ you must forgive him.”

Increase Our Faith

5 ✝✝The apostles said to the Lord, “Increase our faith!” 6 ✝And the Lord said, “If you had faith like a grain of mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be uprooted and planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you.

Unworthy Servants

7 ††“Will any one of you who has a servant[1] plowing or keeping sheep say to him when he has come in from the field, ‘Come at once and recline at table’? 8 †Will he not rather say to him, ‘Prepare supper for me, and dress properly,[2] and serve me while I eat and drink, and afterward you will eat and drink’? 9 † Does he thank the servant because he did what was commanded? 10 † So you also, when you have done all that you were commanded, say, ‘We are unworthy servants;[3] we have only done what was our duty.’”

Jesus Cleanses Ten Lepers

11 ‡ † On the way to Jerusalem he was passing along between Samaria and Galilee. 12 † And as he entered a village, he was met by ten lepers,[4] who stood at a distance 13 † and lifted up their voices, saying, “Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.” 14 † When he saw them he said to them, “Go and show yourselves to the priests.” And as they went they were cleansed. 15 † Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, praising God with a loud voice; 16 † and he fell on his face at Jesus’ feet, giving him thanks. Now he was a Samaritan. 17 † Then Jesus answered, “Were not ten cleansed? Where are the nine? 18 † Was no one found to return and give praise to God except this foreigner?” 19 † And he said to him, “Rise and go your way; your faith has made you well.”[5]

The Coming of the Kingdom

20 †† Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, he answered them, The kingdom of God is not coming with signs to be observed, 21 † nor will they say, ‘Look, here it is!’ or ‘There!’ for behold, the kingdom of God is in the midst of you.”[6] 22 † And he said to the disciples, “The days are coming when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it.
23 † And they will say to you, ‘Look, there!’ or ‘Look, here!’ Do not go out or follow them. 24 † For as the lightning flashes and lights up the sky from one side to the other, so will the Son of Man be in his day.[1] 25 † But first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation. 26 † Just as it was in the days of Noah, so will it be in the days of the Son of Man. 27 †† They were eating and drinking and marrying and being given in marriage, until the day when Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all.
28 † Likewise, just as it was in the days of Lot—they were eating and drinking, buying and selling, planting and building, 29 † but on the day when Lot went out from Sodom, fire and sulfur rained from heaven and destroyed them all— 30 † so will it be on the day when the Son of Man is revealed.
31 † On that day, let the one who is on the housetop, with his goods in the house, not come down to take them away, and likewise let the one who is in the field not turn back. 32 † Remember Lot’s wife. 33 † Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life will keep it. 34 †† I tell you, in that night there will be two in one bed. One will be taken and the other left. 35 There will be two women grinding together. One will be taken and the other left.”[2] 37 † And they said to him, “Where, Lord?” He said to them, “Where the corpse[3] is, there the vultures[4] will gather.”

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

18 [1]‡‡And he told them a parable to the effect that they ought always to pray and not lose heart. [2]†He said, “In a certain city there was a judge who neither feared God nor respected man. [3]†And there was a widow in that city who kept coming to him and saying, ‘Give me justice against my adversary.’ [4]†For a while he refused, but afterward he said to himself, ‘Though I neither fear God nor respect man, [5]†yet because this widow keeps bothering me, I will give her justice, so that she will not beat me down by her continual coming.’” [6]†And the Lord said, “Hear what the unrighteous judge says. [7]†And will not God give justice to his elect, who cry to him day and night? Will he delay long over them? [8]†I tell you, he will give justice to them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth?”

The Pharisee and the Tax Collector

9 ††He also told this parable to some who trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and treated others with contempt: 10 †“Two men went up into the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. 11 †The Pharisee, standing by himself, prayed[1] thus: ‘God, I thank you that I am not like other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even like this tax collector. 12 †I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I get.’ 13 †But the tax collector, standing far off, would not even lift up his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, ‘God, be merciful to me, a sinner!’ 14 †I tell you, this man went down to his house justified, rather than the other. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted.”

Let the Children Come to Me

15 ✝✝Now they were bringing even infants to him that he might touch them. And when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them. 16✝But Jesus called them to him, saying, “Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God. 17✝Truly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it.”

The Rich Ruler

18 ‡ ‡ † And a ruler asked him, “Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?” 19 † And Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone. 20 † You know the commandments: ‘Do not commit adultery, Do not murder, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Honor your father and mother.’” 21 † And he said, “All these I have kept from my youth.” 22 † When Jesus heard this, he said to him, “One thing you still lack. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” 23 † But when he heard these things, he became very sad, for he was extremely rich. 24 ‡ Jesus, seeing that he had become sad, said, “How difficult it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God! 25 For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God.”
26 † Those who heard it said, “Then who can be saved?” 27 † But he said,
“What is impossible with men is possible with God.” 28 † And Peter said, “See, we have left our homes and followed you.” 29 ‡ And he said to them, “Truly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or wife or brothers[2] or parents or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, 30 † who will not receive many times more in this time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

31 ‡ † And taking the twelve, he said to them, “See, we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that is written about the Son of Man by the prophets will be accomplished. 32 † For he will be delivered over to the Gentiles and will be mocked and shamefully treated and spit upon. 33 † And after flogging him, they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise.” 34 † But they understood none of these things. This saying was hidden from them, and they did not grasp what was said.

Jesus Heals a Blind Beggar

35 ‡ ‡ ‡ As he drew near to Jericho, a blind man was sitting by the roadside begging. 36 † And hearing a crowd going by, he inquired what this meant.
37 † They told him, “Jesus of Nazareth is passing by.” 38 † And he cried out, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” 39 † And those who were in front rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!” 40 And Jesus stopped and commanded him to be brought to him. And when he came near, he asked him, 41 † “What do you want me to do for you?” He said, “Lord, let me recover my sight.” 42 † And Jesus said to him, “Recover your sight; your faith has made you well.”
43 † And immediately he recovered his sight and followed him, glorifying
God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Jesus and Zacchaeus

19 [1]‡‡He entered Jericho and was passing through. [2]†And there was a man named Zacchaeus. He was a chief tax collector and was rich. [3]†And he was seeking to see who Jesus was, but on account of the crowd he could not, because he was small of stature. [4]†So he ran on ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see him, for he was about to pass that way. [5]†And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up and said to him, "Zacchaeus, hurry and come down, for I must stay at your house today." [6]†So he hurried and came down and received him joyfully. [7]†And when they saw it, they all grumbled, "He has gone in to be the guest of a man who is a sinner." [8]†And Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor. And if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it fourfold." [9]† And Jesus said to him, "Today salvation has come to this house, since he also is a son of Abraham. [10]†For the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost."

The Parable of the Ten Minas

11 ‡ ‡ ‡ As they heard these things, he proceeded to tell a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because they supposed that the kingdom of God was to appear immediately. 12 † He said therefore, “A nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and then return.
13 † Calling ten of his servants,[1] he gave them ten minas,[2] and said to them, ‘Engage in business until I come.’ 14 † But his citizens hated him and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We do not want this man to reign over us.’ 15 † When he returned, having received the kingdom, he ordered these servants to whom he had given the money to be called to him, that he might know what they had gained by doing business. 16 † The first came before him, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made ten minas more.’ 17 † And he said to him, ‘Well done, good servant![3] Because you have been faithful in a very little, you shall have authority over ten cities.’ 18 † And the second came, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made five minas.’ 19 † And he said to him, ‘And you are to be over five cities.’ 20 † Then another came, saying, ‘Lord, here is your mina, which I kept laid away in a handkerchief; 21 † for I was afraid of you, because you are a severe man. You take what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’ 22 † He said to him, ‘I will condemn you with your own words, you wicked servant! You knew that I was a severe man, taking what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow? 23 † Why then did you not put my money in the bank, and at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’ 24 † And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to the one who has the ten minas.’ 25 And they said to him, ‘Lord, he has ten minas!’ 26 † ‘I tell you that to everyone who has, more will be given, but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away. 27 † But as for these enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, bring them here and slaughter them before me.’”

The Triumphal Entry

28 ‡ † And when he had said these things, he went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem. 29 † When he drew near to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount that is called Olivet, he sent two of the disciples, 30 † saying, “Go into the village in front of you, where on entering you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever yet sat. Untie it and bring it here. 31 † If anyone asks you, ‘Why are you untying it?’ you shall say this: ‘The Lord has need of it.’”
32 So those who were sent went away and found it just as he had told them.
33 ‡ And as they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, “Why are you untying the colt?” 34 And they said, “The Lord has need of it.” 35 ‡ And they brought it to Jesus, and throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it. 36 And as he rode along, they spread their cloaks on the road. 37 † As he was drawing near—already on the way down the Mount of Olives—the whole multitude of his disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works that they had seen, 38 † saying, “Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!” 39 † And some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, rebuke your disciples.” 40 † He answered, “I tell you, if these were silent, the very stones would cry out.”

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

41 ††And when he drew near and saw the city, he wept over it, 42 †saying, “Would that you, even you, had known on this day the things that make for peace! But now they are hidden from your eyes. 43 †For the days will come upon you, when your enemies will set up a barricade around you and surround you and hem you in on every side 44 †and tear you down to the ground, you and your children within you. And they will not leave one stone upon another in you, because you did not know the time of your visitation.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

45 ‡ † And he entered the temple and began to drive out those who sold, 46 † saying to them, “It is written, ‘My house shall be a house of prayer,’ but you have made it a den of robbers.” 47 † And he was teaching daily in the temple. The chief priests and the scribes and the principal men of the people were seeking to destroy him, 48 † but they did not find anything they could do, for all the people were hanging on his words.

The Authority of Jesus Challenged

20 [1]†† One day, as Jesus[1] was teaching the people in the temple and preaching the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes with the elders came up [2]† and said to him, “Tell us by what authority you do these things, or who it is that gave you this authority.” [3]† He answered them, “I also will ask you a question. Now tell me, [4]† was the baptism of John from heaven or from man?” [5]† And they discussed it with one another, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ he will say, ‘Why did you not believe him?’ [6]† But if we say, ‘From man,’ all the people will stone us to death, for they are convinced that John was a prophet.” [7]† So they answered that they did not know where it came from. [8]† And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

The Parable of the Wicked Tenants

9 ‡ ‡ And he began to tell the people this parable: “A man planted a vineyard and let it out to tenants and went into another country for a long while. 10 † When the time came, he sent a servant[2] to the tenants, so that they would give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. But the tenants beat him and sent him away empty-handed. 11 † And he sent another servant. But they also beat and treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed.
12 † And he sent yet a third. This one also they wounded and cast out. 13 † Then the owner of the vineyard said, ‘What shall I do? I will send my beloved son; perhaps they will respect him.’ 14 † But when the tenants saw him, they said to themselves, ‘This is the heir. Let us kill him, so that the inheritance may be ours.’ 15 † And they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him.
What then will the owner of the vineyard do to them? 16 † He will come and destroy those tenants and give the vineyard to others.” When they heard this, they said, “Surely not!” 17 † But he looked directly at them and said, “What then is this that is written:

> “‘The stone that the builders rejected
> has become the cornerstone’?[3]

18 † Everyone who falls on that stone will be broken to pieces, and when it falls on anyone, it will crush him.”

Paying Taxes to Caesar

19 ‡ † The scribes and the chief priests sought to lay hands on him at that very hour, for they perceived that he had told this parable against them, but they feared the people. 20 † So they watched him and sent spies, who pretended to be sincere, that they might catch him in something he said, so as to deliver him up to the authority and jurisdiction of the governor. 21 † So they asked him, “Teacher, we know that you speak and teach rightly, and show no partiality,[1] but truly teach the way of God. 22 † Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar, or not?” 23 But he perceived their craftiness, and said to them, 24 † “Show me a denarius.[2] Whose likeness and inscription does it have?” They said, “Caesar’s.” 25 † He said to them, “Then render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.” 26 † And they were not able in the presence of the people to catch him in what he said, but marveling at his answer they became silent.

Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

27 ‡ † There came to him some Sadducees, those who deny that there is a resurrection, 28 † and they asked him a question, saying, “Teacher, Moses wrote for us that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife but no children, the man[3] must take the widow and raise up offspring for his brother. 29 ‡ Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife, and died without children.
30 And the second 31 and the third took her, and likewise all seven left no children and died. 32 Afterward the woman also died. 33 † In the resurrection, therefore, whose wife will the woman be? For the seven had her as wife.”

34 † And Jesus said to them, “The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage, 35 † but those who are considered worthy to attain to that age and to the resurrection from the dead neither marry nor are given in marriage, 36 † for they cannot die anymore, because they are equal to angels and are sons of God, being sons[4] of the resurrection. 37 ‡ But that the dead are raised, even Moses showed, in the passage about the bush, where he calls the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. 38 Now he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all live to him.” 39 † Then some of the scribes answered, “Teacher, you have spoken well.” 40 † For they no longer dared to ask him any question.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

41 ††But he said to them, “How can they say that the Christ is David’s son? 42††For David himself says in the Book of Psalms,

“‘The Lord said to my Lord,
Sit at my right hand,
43 until I make your enemies your footstool.’

44†David thus calls him Lord, so how is he his son?”

Beware of the Scribes

45 And in the hearing of all the people he said to his disciples, 46 Beware of the scribes, who like to walk around in long robes, and love greetings in the marketplaces and the best seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at feasts, 47 who devour widows' houses and for a pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation."

The Widow’s Offering

21 [1]Jesus[1] looked up and saw the rich putting their gifts into the offering box, [2]and he saw a poor widow put in two small copper coins.[2] [3]And he said, “Truly, I tell you, this poor widow has put in more than all of them. [4]For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all she had to live on.”

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

5 ‡ ‡ ‡ And while some were speaking of the temple, how it was adorned with noble stones and offerings, he said, 6 † "As for these things that you see, the days will come when there will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down." 7 † And they asked him, "Teacher, when will these things be, and what will be the sign when these things are about to take place?" 8 † And he said, "See that you are not led astray. For many will come in my name, saying, 'I am he!' and, 'The time is at hand!' Do not go after them. 9 † And when you hear of wars and tumults, do not be terrified, for these things must first take place, but the end will not be at once."

Jesus Foretells Wars and Persecution

10 Then he said to them, “Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. 11 There will be great earthquakes, and in various places famines and pestilences. And there will be terrors and great signs from heaven. 12 But before all this they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors for my name’s sake. 13 This will be your opportunity to bear witness. 14 Settle it therefore in your minds not to meditate beforehand how to answer, 15 for I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which none of your adversaries will be able to withstand or contradict. 16 You will be delivered up even by parents and brothers[1] and relatives and friends, and some of you they will put to death. 17 You will be hated by all for my name’s sake. 18 But not a hair of your head will perish.
19 By your endurance you will gain your lives.

Jesus Foretells Destruction of Jerusalem

20 “But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation has come near. 21 Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, and let those who are inside the city depart, and let not those who are out in the country enter it, 22 for these are days of vengeance, to fulfill all that is written. 23 Alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! For there will be great distress upon the earth and wrath against this people. 24 They will fall by the edge of the sword and be led captive among all nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

25 ††“And there will be signs in sun and moon and stars, and on the earth distress of nations in perplexity because of the roaring of the sea and the waves, 26 †people fainting with fear and with foreboding of what is coming on the world. For the powers of the heavens will be shaken. 27 †And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.
28 †Now when these things begin to take place, straighten up and raise your heads, because your redemption is drawing near.”

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

[29] And he told them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees.
[30] As soon as they come out in leaf, you see for yourselves and know that the summer is already near. [31] So also, when you see these things taking place, you know that the kingdom of God is near. [32] Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all has taken place. [33] Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

Watch Yourselves

34 “But watch yourselves lest your hearts be weighed down with dissipation and drunkenness and cares of this life, and that day come upon you suddenly like a trap. 35For it will come upon all who dwell on the face of the whole earth. 36But stay awake at all times, praying that you may have strength to escape all these things that are going to take place, and to stand before the Son of Man.”
37And every day he was teaching in the temple, but at night he went out and lodged on the mount called Olivet. 38And early in the morning all the people came to him in the temple to hear him.

The Plot to Kill Jesus

22 [1]‡‡Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called the Passover. [2]† And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how to put him to death, for they feared the people.

Judas to Betray Jesus

3 ‡ † Then Satan entered into Judas called Iscariot, who was of the number of the twelve. 4 † He went away and conferred with the chief priests and officers how he might betray him to them. 5 † And they were glad, and agreed to give him money. 6 † So he consented and sought an opportunity to betray him to them in the absence of a crowd.

The Passover with the Disciples

7 ‡† Then came the day of Unleavened Bread, on which the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed. 8 † So Jesus[1] sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat it.” 9 They said to him, “Where will you have us prepare it?” 10 † He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him into the house that he enters 11 † and tell the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says to you, Where is the guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?’ 12 † And he will show you a large upper room furnished; prepare it there.” 13 † And they went and found it just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover.

Institution of the Lord’s Supper

14 ✝✝And when the hour came, he reclined at table, and the apostles with him. 15 ✝And he said to them, “I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer. 16 ✝For I tell you I will not eat it[2] until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.” 17 ✝And he took a cup, and when he had given thanks he said, “Take this, and divide it among yourselves. 18 ✝For I tell you that from now on I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.” 19 ✝And he took bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, “This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me.” 20 ✝And likewise the cup after they had eaten, saying, “This cup that is poured out for you is the new covenant in my blood.[3] 21 ✝But behold, the hand of him who betrays me is with me on the table. 22 ✝For the Son of Man goes as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed!” 23 ✝And they began to question one another, which of them it could be who was going to do this.

Who Is the Greatest?

24 ‡ † A dispute also arose among them, as to which of them was to be regarded as the greatest. 25 † And he said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those in authority over them are called benefactors. 26 † But not so with you. Rather, let the greatest among you become as the youngest, and the leader as one who serves. 27 † For who is the greater, one who reclines at table or one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at table? But I am among you as the one who serves.
28 † “You are those who have stayed with me in my trials, 29 † and I assign to you, as my Father assigned to me, a kingdom, 30 † that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

Jesus Foretells Peter’s Denial

31 “Simon, Simon, behold, Satan demanded to have you,[1] that he might sift you like wheat, 32 but I have prayed for you that your faith may not fail.
And when you have turned again, strengthen your brothers.” 33 Peter[2] said to him, “Lord, I am ready to go with you both to prison and to death.” 34 Jesus[3] said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster will not crow this day, until you deny three times that you know me.”

Scripture Must Be Fulfilled in Jesus

35 ‡ † And he said to them, “When I sent you out with no moneybag or knapsack or sandals, did you lack anything?” They said, “Nothing.” 36 † He said to them, “But now let the one who has a moneybag take it, and likewise a knapsack. And let the one who has no sword sell his cloak and buy one. 37 † For I tell you that this Scripture must be fulfilled in me: ‘And he was numbered with the transgressors.’ For what is written about me has its fulfillment.” 38 † And they said, “Look, Lord, here are two swords.” And he said to them, “It is enough.”

Jesus Prays on the Mount of Olives

39 ✝ ✝ And he came out and went, as was his custom, to the Mount of Olives, and the disciples followed him. 40 ✝ And when he came to the place, he said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.” 41 ✝ And he withdrew from them about a stone’s throw, and knelt down and prayed, 42 ✝ saying, “Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me.
Nevertheless, not my will, but yours, be done.” 43 ✝ And there appeared to him an angel from heaven, strengthening him. 44 ✝ And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and his sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground.[1] 45 ✝ And when he rose from prayer, he came to the disciples and found them sleeping for sorrow, 46 ✝ and he said to them, “Why are you sleeping? Rise and pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

47 ‡ † While he was still speaking, there came a crowd, and the man called Judas, one of the twelve, was leading them. He drew near to Jesus to kiss him, 48 † but Jesus said to him, “Judas, would you betray the Son of Man with a kiss?” 49 † And when those who were around him saw what would follow, they said, “Lord, shall we strike with the sword?” 50 † And one of them struck the servant[2] of the high priest and cut off his right ear. 51 † But Jesus said, “No more of this!” And he touched his ear and healed him.
52 † Then Jesus said to the chief priests and officers of the temple and elders, who had come out against him, “Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs? 53 † When I was with you day after day in the temple, you did not lay hands on me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness.”

Peter Denies Jesus

54 ‡ † Then they seized him and led him away, bringing him into the high priest's house, and Peter was following at a distance. 55 † And when they had kindled a fire in the middle of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat down among them. 56 † Then a servant girl, seeing him as he sat in the light and looking closely at him, said, "This man also was with him." 57 † But he denied it, saying, "Woman, I do not know him." 58 † And a little later someone else saw him and said, "You also are one of them." But Peter said, "Man, I am not." 59 † And after an interval of about an hour still another insisted, saying, "Certainly this man also was with him, for he too is a Galilean." 60 † But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are talking about." And immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster crowed.
61 † And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the saying of the Lord, how he had said to him, "Before the rooster crows today, you will deny me three times." 62 † And he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Is Mocked

63 ✝✝Now the men who were holding Jesus in custody were mocking him as they beat him. 64 ✝ They also blindfolded him and kept asking him, “Prophesy! Who is it that struck you?” 65 ✝And they said many other things against him, blaspheming him.

Jesus Before the Council

66 ‡ † When day came, the assembly of the elders of the people gathered together, both chief priests and scribes. And they led him away to their council, and they said, 67 † "If you are the Christ, tell us." But he said to them, "If I tell you, you will not believe, 68 † and if I ask you, you will not answer. 69 † But from now on the Son of Man shall be seated at the right hand of the power of God." 70 † So they all said, "Are you the Son of God, then?"
And he said to them, "You say that I am." 71 † Then they said, "What further testimony do we need? We have heard it ourselves from his own lips."

Jesus Before Pilate

23 [1] ‡ † Then the whole company of them arose and brought him before Pilate. [2] † And they began to accuse him, saying, “We found this man misleading our nation and forbidding us to give tribute to Caesar, and saying that he himself is Christ, a king.” [3] † And Pilate asked him, “Are you the King of the Jews?” And he answered him, “You have said so.” [4] † Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, “I find no guilt in this man.”
[5] † But they were urgent, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, from Galilee even to this place.”

Jesus Before Herod

6 ‡ ‡When Pilate heard this, he asked whether the man was a Galilean.
7 †And when he learned that he belonged to Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him over to Herod, who was himself in Jerusalem at that time. 8 †When Herod saw Jesus, he was very glad, for he had long desired to see him, because he had heard about him, and he was hoping to see some sign done by him.
9 †So he questioned him at some length, but he made no answer. 10 †The chief priests and the scribes stood by, vehemently accusing him. 11 †And Herod with his soldiers treated him with contempt and mocked him. Then, arraying him in splendid clothing, he sent him back to Pilate. 12 †And Herod and Pilate became friends with each other that very day, for before this they had been at enmity with each other.

13 †Pilate then called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people, 14 †and said to them, "You brought me this man as one who was misleading the people. And after examining him before you, behold, I did not find this man guilty of any of your charges against him. 15 †Neither did Herod, for he sent him back to us. Look, nothing deserving death has been done by him. 16 †I will therefore punish and release him."[1]

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

18 ‡ † But they all cried out together, “Away with this man, and release to us Barabbas”— 19 † a man who had been thrown into prison for an insurrection started in the city and for murder. 20 Pilate addressed them once more, desiring to release Jesus, 21 † but they kept shouting, “Crucify, crucify him!” 22 † A third time he said to them, “Why, what evil has he done? I have found in him no guilt deserving death. I will therefore punish and release him.” 23 † But they were urgent, demanding with loud cries that he should be crucified. And their voices prevailed. 24 † So Pilate decided that their demand should be granted. 25 † He released the man who had been thrown into prison for insurrection and murder, for whom they asked, but he delivered Jesus over to their will.

The Crucifixion

26 ‡ † And as they led him away, they seized one Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, and laid on him the cross, to carry it behind Jesus. 27 † And there followed him a great multitude of the people and of women who were mourning and lamenting for him. 28 † But turning to them Jesus said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. 29 † For behold, the days are coming when they will say, 'Blessed are the barren and the wombs that never bore and the breasts that never nursed!' 30 † Then they will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us,' and to the hills, 'Cover us.' 31 † For if they do these things when the wood is green, what will happen when it is dry?"

32 † Two others, who were criminals, were led away to be put to death with him. 33 † And when they came to the place that is called The Skull, there they crucified him, and the criminals, one on his right and one on his left. 34 † And Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."[1] And they cast lots to divide his garments. 35 † And the people stood by, watching, but the rulers scoffed at him, saying, "He saved others; let him save himself, if he is the Christ of God, his Chosen One!" 36 † The soldiers also mocked him, coming up and offering him sour wine 37 ‡ and saying, "If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself!" 38 † There was also an inscription over him,
[2] "This is the King of the Jews."

39 † One of the criminals who were hanged railed at him,[3] saying, "Are you not the Christ? Save yourself and us!" 40 † But the other rebuked him, saying, "Do you not fear God, since you are under the same sentence of condemnation? 41 † And we indeed justly, for we are receiving the due reward of our deeds; but this man has done nothing wrong." 42 † And he said,
"Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." 43 † And he said to him, "Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise."

The Death of Jesus

44 ‡ † It was now about the sixth hour,[4] and there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour,[5] 45 † while the sun's light failed. And the curtain of the temple was torn in two. 46 † Then Jesus, calling out with a loud voice, said, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit!" And having said this he breathed his last. 47 † Now when the centurion saw what had taken place, he praised God, saying, "Certainly this man was innocent!" 48 † And all the crowds that had assembled for this spectacle, when they saw what had taken place, returned home beating their breasts. 49 † And all his acquaintances and the women who had followed him from Galilee stood at a distance watching these things.

Jesus Is Buried

50 ‡ † Now there was a man named Joseph, from the Jewish town of Arimathea. He was a member of the council, a good and righteous man, 51 † who had not consented to their decision and action; and he was looking for the kingdom of God. 52 † This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. 53 † Then he took it down and wrapped it in a linen shroud and laid him in a tomb cut in stone, where no one had ever yet been laid. 54 † It was the day of Preparation, and the Sabbath was beginning.[1] 55 † The women who had come with him from Galilee followed and saw the tomb and how his body was laid. 56 † Then they returned and prepared spices and ointments.

On the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

The Resurrection

24 [1]‡†But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they went to the tomb, taking the spices they had prepared. [2]†And they found the stone rolled away from the tomb, [3]†but when they went in they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. [4]†While they were perplexed about this, behold, two men stood by them in dazzling apparel. [5]†And as they were frightened and bowed their faces to the ground, the men said to them, “Why do you seek the living among the dead? [6]†He is not here, but has risen. Remember how he told you, while he was still in Galilee, [7]†that the Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men and be crucified and on the third day rise.” [8]†And they remembered his words, [9]†and returning from the tomb they told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest. [10]†Now it was Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James and the other women with them who told these things to the apostles, [11]†but these words seemed to them an idle tale, and they did not believe them. [12]†But Peter rose and ran to the tomb; stooping and looking in, he saw the linen cloths by themselves; and he went home marveling at what had happened.

On the Road to Emmaus

13 That very day two of them were going to a village named Emmaus, about seven miles[1] from Jerusalem, 14 and they were talking with each other about all these things that had happened. 15 While they were talking and discussing together, Jesus himself drew near and went with them.
16 But their eyes were kept from recognizing him. 17 And he said to them,
"What is this conversation that you are holding with each other as you walk?" And they stood still, looking sad. 18 Then one of them, named Cleopas, answered him, "Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who does not know the things that have happened there in these days?" 19 And he said to them, "What things?" And they said to him, "Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, a man who was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, 20 and how our chief priests and rulers delivered him up to be condemned to death, and crucified him. 21 But we had hoped that he was the one to redeem Israel. Yes, and besides all this, it is now the third day since these things happened. 22 Moreover, some women of our company amazed us. They were at the tomb early in the morning, 23 and when they did not find his body, they came back saying that they had even seen a vision of angels, who said that he was alive. 24 Some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said, but him they did not see." 25 And he said to them, "O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! 26 Was it not necessary that the Christ should suffer these things and enter into his glory?" 27 And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

28 So they drew near to the village to which they were going. He acted as if he were going farther, 29 but they urged him strongly, saying, "Stay with us, for it is toward evening and the day is now far spent." So he went in to stay with them. 30 When he was at table with them, he took the bread and blessed and broke it and gave it to them. 31 And their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. And he vanished from their sight. 32 They said to each other, "Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked to us on the road, while he opened to us the Scriptures?" 33 And they rose that same hour and returned to Jerusalem. And they found the eleven and those who were with them gathered together, [34] † saying, “The Lord has risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon!” [35] † Then they told what had happened on the road, and how he was known to them in the breaking of the bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

36 ‡ † As they were talking about these things, Jesus himself stood among them, and said to them, “Peace to you!” 37 † But they were startled and frightened and thought they saw a spirit. 38 † And he said to them, Why are you troubled, and why do doubts arise in your hearts? 39 † See my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me, and see. For a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have.” 40 † And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet. 41 † And while they still disbelieved for joy and were marveling, he said to them, “Have you anything here to eat?” 42 ‡ They gave him a piece of broiled fish,[1] 43 and he took it and ate before them.

44 † Then he said to them, “These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled.” 45 † Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, 46 † and said to them, “Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead, 47 † and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. 48 † You are witnesses of these things.
49 † And behold, I am sending the promise of my Father upon you. But stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high.”

The Ascension

50 ‡ ‡ Then he led them out as far as Bethany, and lifting up his hands he blessed them. 51 † While he blessed them, he parted from them and was carried up into heaven. 52 † And they worshiped him and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 † and were continually in the temple blessing God.

Introduction to Luke

Reading Luke

During the 23-mile journey up to Jerusalem, a rise of more than 3,300 feet, the people fall silent. After leaving Jericho, the melodies of joyful ascent toward Zion give way to the somber percussion of sandals on stones. Dry throats pant as weary feet plod and ache. Yet, when they reach the crest of the Mount of Olives, joy springs anew. They shout "Hosanna!" as the temple mount comes into view across the Kidron Valley.

Luke presents the story of Jesus' life as a journey. The story begins at the Jerusalem temple (1:8), climaxes with Jesus teaching at the temple some 30 years later (19:45–21:38), and ends at the temple (24:53) after Jesus is crucified, buried, resurrected, and ascended outside the city.

Arthur Just characterizes Luke's account as follows:

> Luke's Gospel is a book of the church, written for the church, to be used by the church in its proclamation of the Gospel to the unbaptized and the baptized. The community that receives Luke's Gospel is a catechetical and eucharistic body that already in the first century had a method for making Christians. That method originated in Christ's own ministry, then was continued by the Jewish followers of the Christ.

Thus, the context in which Scripture is received is liturgical, that is, a church that worships Christ, who is present in the reading and preaching of the Word and the receiving of the Sacraments…. Luke's Gospel was written with a specific context in mind. The evangelist was recording the ministry of Jesus (A.D. 30) for a community (A.D. 55–60) that worshiped in a particular way and in a particular space…. Luke's writings provide most of the NT information about house churches. Jesus sets the precedent for a mission to houses when he sends the Twelve (9:1–6) and the seventy(-two) (10:1–24) into various houses. Jesus institutes what would become a natural pattern for early mission activity.

Luther on Luke

See pp 1571–72.

For Luther's insights on Lk 1, see The Magnificat (AE 21:295−358); on Lk 6, see The Sermon on the Mount (AE 21:1−294).

Challenges for Readers

Relationship to Other Gospels. See pp 1571–74.

Before the Lord. See note, 1:15.

Jesus' Journey. The Lord's journey—which returns again and again to the temple—begins in heaven, comes to earth, and returns to heaven. The Church's creeds summarize this journey as Jesus' work of salvation. See p 1975.

Two Audiences. Luke writes his account with two different audiences in mind. The first audience includes the apostles, disciples, crowds, and opponents of Jesus who actually hear and see Jesus at work in the events Luke records. This first audience never fully understands what Jesus is doing and teaching (e.g., Peter in ch 9). Everyone is a potential catechumen, but many will reject Jesus. The second audience is the group of disciples or catechumens who later receive and hear Luke's Gospel. This group knows how the story will end in the cross and resurrection. While hearing the Gospel read, they learn more about Jesus by participating in the Word and Sacrament ministry of the Church. Luke presents Jesus' life to both of these audiences.

Table Fellowship. See p 1764.

Now and Not Yet. Luke shows us that in Jesus, God's salvation has come now. It is here today. God's people, and indeed all creation, enjoy the blessings of redemption. The joy of being with God eternally is already here for us in the Word and Sacrament ministry of the Church (called "inaugurated eschatology"). Yet, we still await Jesus' final reappearing when He will come again to judge the living and the dead and complete the work of His kingdom.

From Luke to Acts. Luke begins by explaining that his Gospel account is intended for teaching the faith to catechumens (1:4). Likewise, Acts begins with a similar emphasis on making disciples through the Gospel, teaching, Baptism, and the Lord's Supper. In Ac 1–12, the Church grows rapidly as Jews receive Jesus as the promised Messiah (Ac 2:41; 4:4). The reports of growth slow down as the Church reaches out to the Gentiles (Ac 13–28), who need more training because they are not so familiar with the Scriptures. Luke's Gospel fills the needs of this group. Throughout Luke and Acts, meals are important points for teaching the faith.

Blessings for Readers

As you read Luke's carefully researched account of Jesus' life, consider yourself on a journey with Luke to learn more about Jesus of Nazareth, whose body, crucified for the forgiveness of our sins, becomes the temple of the living God (22:19).

Luke's Unique Contribution

Luke records many passages that are similar to passages in Matthew and Mark. However, Luke also records unique sayings and events from Jesus' life. This chart will help you investigate Luke's unique contribution.

Luke's introduction shows that the original audience for his Gospel had already received teaching about Christ from within the Church by her ministers and writings. Luke was writing to the Church for the benefit of those already in the Church. Arthur Just writes in his commentary on Luke:

> The gospel was used in catechesis, which we may define broadly as the instruction of those who have come to faith and who look forward to Baptism or who have been baptized already. Catechesis is centered in Jesus Christ of Nazareth, who was promised in the OT and became incarnate to accomplish the Father's plan of salvation….

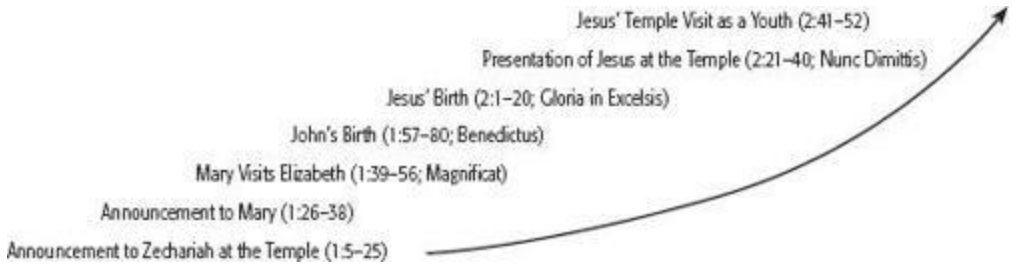
> Luke's gospel is a book of the church, written for the church, to be used by the church in its proclamation of the Gospel to the unbaptized and the baptized. (CC Lk1, p 5)

Life, Lyrics, and the Lord's First Steps

God's presence permeates the birth events of John the Baptist and Jesus (Lk 1:5–2:52). Just as God dwelt in the temple and offered mercy through the sacrifices in the Old Testament, so He now dwells as a child in the womb of Mary. This wondrous birth gives both angels and humans a reason to sing. It gives Luke a reason to record the Gospel, and it gives the Church a reason to live, hope, and repeat the songs again and again.

The structure of the infancy narratives has been called "step-parallelism," which can be understood in the following way. First, the birth of John the Baptist is foretold; then the narrative moves to the announcement of Jesus' birth. John is born and presented in the temple, and then Jesus is born and presented. Each step of Luke's literary structure serves a function similar to John the Baptist's function as a prophet—to prepare the way for Christ.



The Temple in Luke

Luke's Gospel begins and ends with events at the Jerusalem temple.

Conclusion

God's mighty deed promised to Abraham and his descendants is fulfilled in the coming of Jesus Christ, salvation in visible form. Jesus' work of reversing the worldly order begins at His birth and culminates with His death on the cross. By His incarnation and death, Jesus puts fallen creation back into the realm of the magnificent. His life is God's great reversal. In God's grace and mercy, He came to reverse the low estate of His servants, namely the poor, the sick, the captive, the hungry, and the sinful. He came to send away the rich and proud with empty hands. How He does this in His ministry and continues that work in the Church is detailed in the rest of Luke and in Luke's second writing, the Acts of the Apostles.

Be Our Guest

Meals offer one of the greatest examples of diversity among human beings. Each culture has its own food and customs for eating that food. When people with different customs gather around the table, there is often confusion and misunderstanding. The Gospels provide important examples of this culture clash, which affects our life and faith.

Jesus began to redefine holiness and the boundaries of Israel during His ministry by challenging conventional ideas about meals and holiness. The following chart lists meals Jesus attended. Many of these meals show how Jesus pointed out misunderstandings of God's covenant and the purpose of the Law.

Throughout the Gospels, Jesus used the occasion of feasts and friendship meals (Hbr chaburah) to teach God's Word. This began with His own parents and the Passover feast in Jerusalem. It ended with Him preparing breakfast for His disciples on the shore of the Sea of Galilee. After that meal, Jesus taught Peter and the other disciples about their mission. He described their responsibility with the words "Feed My lambs" (Jn 21:15–17).

Christians today need to rediscover the teaching opportunities the Lord provides through their meals. Follow the example of Jesus, and make mealtime more than an opportunity to nourish your body. Rededicate yourselves; pray with one another; discuss God's Word together. See the warmth and sharing of mealtime as an opportunity to grow closer to Christ and to one another. Also welcome people who are not Christians at meals in your homes and at restaurants. Share with them the words of Jesus, the bread of life, as you share with them your daily bread. Through the Word and faith, the Holy Spirit will prepare them to receive the meal, the feast of Christ's body and blood for the forgiveness of all their sins.

Women Disciples

Women held a special place in the heart of Jesus. Women were often His most beloved disciples (though the term "disciple" is not clearly applied to a woman until Ac 9:36). While He chose only men for the apostolic ministry, women were often the focus of His ministry. Luke explains that women also loved Jesus and provided for His followers from their means. Women helped pay for the ministry. To learn more about this specific theme in Luke's Gospel, study the chart below.

Luke also mentions some women whom Jesus used as examples in His teaching (the widow of Zarephath, 4:24–26; the parable of the leaven, 13:20–21; the parable of the coins, 15:8–10; the women grinding grain, 17:35; and a woman with seven husbands, 20:27–38). Luke records more interaction between Jesus and women than do the other Gospel writers.

What Happens When We Die?

A human is made up of body and soul (Mt 10:28; cf 2Pt 1:13–15). When a human dies, his soul is separated from his body. His body decays, but his soul—and thus he himself, his ego, or personality—lives on. If a person trusts in Jesus for salvation, his soul will live in joy with God, awaiting the resurrection, the last judgment, and eternal life. If a person is wicked and unbelieving, his soul will live in torment, awaiting the resurrection, the last judgment, and eternal condemnation.

In 2Co 5:4–8, St Paul describes the body as a "tent" in which he—that is, his mind, personality, soul, spirit, or however one might describe the center of one's person—dwells. He says that when he and believing Christians die, they will be "away from the body" (literally, "out of the house of the body") and yet still "at home with [present with] the Lord." These passages show clearly that the center of one's personhood, which other passages call "the soul," can exist separately from the body, and that at death the soul is separated from the body. Cf Lk 8:55; 23:46; 1Pt 3:18–19; Php 1:23–24; Rv 6:9.

What about “Soul Sleep”?

In Jn 11:11–14, our Lord Jesus describes the death of His friend Lazarus as “sleep.” But note: the wicked who die have “no rest” (Is 57:20–21; Rv 14:11). Death is a “rest” or “sleep” for the godly (Rv 14:13, drawing from Ps 95). Thus, the Church calls the places where the godly are buried “cemeteries,” that is, “dormitories” or places of sleep, and the Church believes that the godly do indeed “rest in peace.”

But while the body sleeps, the soul is awake. For example, in Lk 16:19–31, the soul of the rich man in Hades prays (to no avail) that the beggar Lazarus would relieve his suffering or return to earth to warn his family. The soul of Lazarus, on the other hand, is “comforted” (v 25). Both the rich man and faithful Abraham are awake, conscious, and speaking. Scripture sometimes indicates that the departed souls are unaware of what takes place on earth (e.g., 2Ki 22:20; Jb 14:21; Is 57:1–2; 63:16). Yet it should not be concluded from this that they are unconscious. The soul of the rich man was not unconscious, nor was the soul of Abraham (Mt 22:32).

In considering “soul sleep,” however, we must distinguish between those people who affirm that the souls of the righteous are comforted and experience God’s presence and those who think that the souls of the righteous experience nothing, or worse, are obliterated. As long as the comfort of the righteous souls is affirmed, expressions about the dead being asleep are not dangerous. But the view that the souls of the righteous experience nothing, or that they are dissipated or annihilated, however, are false, unscriptural views.

Glory and Condemnation on Judgment Day

What is the last judgment all about? Scripture teaches that in heaven there are varying degrees of glory and in hell there are varying degrees of condemnation, or judgment (Mt 10:15; 20:23; Lk 14; Jn 19:11; 1Co 15:40–42). We should not think about Judgment Day as though it is the first time that the godly will be distinguished from the wicked (2Pt 2:3–4, 9; Jude 6), or as though it is the first time that the godly will experience the blessed presence of God. But it will be the first time the godly fully experience God's presence in their glorified bodies (Lk 16:19–31; Jn 5:24).

Instead of thinking about Judgment Day as the first time a distinction is made between the righteous and the wicked, we should see it as the final and full awarding of rewards and penalties (2Co 5:10). Judgment Day is about the fact that we, in our bodies, will receive the things done in the body. Those who have done evil in the body will receive condemnation. Those who, in the body, have believed in Christ, have been forgiven of their sins, and have new life by God's Spirit, will receive rewards. Judgment Day is the full and final awarding of rewards and penalties, not the beginning of that awarding.

Everlasting Life with Christ

As we have begun to live with Christ here on earth in the Church through His Word and Sacraments, so we will continue to live with Him after we die. Death is not an interruption of this fellowship with our Lord. Our life with Christ continues, even after death, even before the resurrection. Our departed friends and family members who lived with Christ here below by faith in His cross for their forgiveness even now live with Him and are comforted. Because our life with Christ is not interrupted by death, death for the Christian may be sweet and joyful, even in the midst of tears.

The New Sabbath

We mark the transition from one day to the next by watching the clock to observe the stroke of midnight. However, when a rabbi in Jesus' day needed to mark the transition from ordinary time to the holy time of the Sabbath, he would hold aloft two strings: one light and one dark. When sunlight grew too dim to distinguish which string was light and which was dark, then the Sabbath had begun. (The Old Testament Sabbath began at sundown on Friday night.) The rabbi would repeat the same process to distinguish when the Sabbath ended. He marked the passing of each day and the start of the holy day by the transition from light to darkness.

In contrast, New Testament writers describe a different transition. They describe the transition from the shadowy time of the Old Testament to the brilliance of the New Testament with the dawn of Easter morning. You can see evidence of this transition in the end of Luke's Gospel.

In Light of the Resurrection

Luke pays careful attention to time in ch 22 of his Gospel. First, he records the approach of the Passover (22:1). Next, Luke notes the arrival of the day when the Passover lambs were sacrificed (22:7). Then in v 14, "the hour" has come, the starting point of Jesus' Passion: His arrest, trial, suffering, crucifixion, death, and burial. Each time reference in Lk 22 funnels toward the key moment of history when God would change time. Through the death and resurrection of Jesus, time changed from the hour of "the power of darkness" (22:53) to the dawn of Easter morning, "the first day of the week" (24:1).

The earliest Christians did not immediately switch to worshiping on the first day of the week (Sunday). As devout Jews, they continued to gather at the temple at the regular times of prayer (Lk 24:53; Ac 3:1; 5:12). However, as the early Christians began to understand the meaning of Jesus' resurrection and as they experienced conflict with their fellow Jews, they began gathering on Sunday morning for worship instead of on Saturday when Jewish people observed the Sabbath.

Luke, who was probably a Gentile, notes this change of worship practice in Ac 20:7 when he writes, "On the first day of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread." This was during Paul's third missionary journey (c AD 52–55). The apostle Paul likewise mentions gathering on Sundays, telling the Corinthians to set aside a sum of money for the poor "on the first day of every week" (1Co 16:2, written AD 55). Within a generation of Jesus' death and resurrection, Christians began gathering on Sundays. By the end of the first century, Christians titled Sunday "the Lord's Day" (Rv 1:10; the title may come from Ps 118:22–24, a prophecy of Jesus' resurrection).

New Life

Although Christians continued to regard the Old Testament teachings about the Sabbath and the feasts as God's Word, they applied them differently in view of the death and resurrection of Jesus. In ch 24, Luke records how Jesus taught His disciples to apply all of the Old Testament to Himself. He fulfilled its prophecies and kept all its laws so that He might become the Savior of all nations (24:25–27, 44–47).

In Colossians, the apostle Paul explains this change of application. He writes, "Therefore let no one pass judgment on you in questions of food and drink, or with regard to a festival or a new moon or a Sabbath. These are a shadow of the things to come, but the substance belongs to Christ" (2:16–17). Paul notes that the Old Testament laws about feasts and Sabbaths were given in anticipation of the coming of Christ. Through Christ, you are free in matters of diet and worship.

When you gather with God's people on Sunday for worship, remember why you gather. You gather to celebrate the day of Christ's resurrection and the transformation of the old covenant in view of His life. You gather to receive His forgiveness and partake of His Holy Feast, the Lord's Supper. Recognize that gathering for worship is more than a law or a custom you should keep. In the worship service, the Lord gives you His blessings. Sunday morning is a banquet prepared to sustain you unto life everlasting.

The Passover Seder

Jesus and the disciples likely observed the Passover meal in the following way. They reclined around a low table (Jn 13:22–25; see note, Mt 8:11). The meal began with the blessing of the feast day and the drinking of the first cup of wine, which was passed around the table. Green and bitter herbs and a fruit puree sauce were then served (cf Mt 26:23; Jn 13:26).

The Passover liturgy followed, as the youngest son asked questions about the meaning of the meal. The head of the household responded by interpreting the meal's elements and retelling the exodus story (Ex 12:26–27; note that Jesus reinterprets the meal in view of His death and second coming in Mt 26:26–29; Mk 14:22–25; Lk 22:18–20). The first part of the Hallel (Ps 113–14) was sung, and a second cup of wine was shared (cf Lk 22:17).

A prayer of benediction was spoken over the unleavened bread (Mt 26:26), which was distributed and eaten (cf Lk 22:19). Then the Passover lamb was eaten. (The Gospels do not mention eating the lamb; Jesus makes Himself the Passover Lamb [cf Jn 1:29].) A third cup was blessed, shared, and the eating ended (cf Lk 22:20). The second part of the Hallel (Ps 115–18) was sung (cf Mt 26:30; Mk 14:26). Some scholars question whether a fourth cup of wine was part of the service at Jesus' time.

Study Notes

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1–4 Written in excellent Gk style, the prologue not only displays Luke's literary prowess, but also more important, identifies his purpose, his method, and who received his Gospel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1 accomplished. Jesus' life, death, and resurrection fulfill all that the OT foretold concerning the Messiah (cf 24:25–27, 44–47).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:2 eyewitnesses. Luke's account is based on firsthand testimony. He would have gathered information from some of the apostles, original disciples, and perhaps even members of Jesus' family (cf chs 1–2). delivered. Technical term describing the transmission of oral tradition (cf 1Co 15:3). See p 1902.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:3 account. Technical term for an orderly description of events. most excellent. Elsewhere directed at weighty Roman officials. Theophilus. Recipient of Luke's account. Possibly a patron who helped Luke produce and publish his Gospel. Because "Theophilus" means "friend of God," some interpreters take this name as a symbolic reference to anyone who reads the Gospel in faith.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:4 you have been taught. Theophilus had a basic knowledge of the Christian faith. Luke's purpose in writing was to deepen his familiarity with Jesus' life and teachings.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1–4 Luke introduces the Gospel as a well-written, researched, and historical record of Jesus' life and teachings. God's people need clear, accurate teaching in order to grow in faith and in service. As you study Luke's account, pray that the Lord would make you a faithful "friend of God" through Jesus, who has accomplished your salvation by His birth, life, death, and resurrection. • "Jesus, priceless treasure, Fount of purest pleasure, Truest friend to me, Ah, how long in anguish Shall my spirit languish, Yearning, Lord, for Thee? Thou art mine, O Lamb divine! I will suffer naught to hide Thee; Naught I ask beside Thee." Amen. (LSB 743:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5 Herod. Called "the Great"; ruled from 37 to 1 BC. Descendants ruled regions of Israel in successive generations (see note, 3:1–2). Zechariah … Elizabeth. John the Baptist's parents were from the priestly line of Aaron. Abijah. Head of a priestly family (Ne 12:4, 7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:9 chosen by lot. Rare privilege, a high point of Zechariah's life. Most of the time, priests lived rather ordinary lives in their hometowns. Scholars have calculated that only 56 priests officiated at the temple each day, and 28 more were needed on the Sabbath. Josephus tells us that Israel had c 20,000 priests and Levites (Ag Ap 2:108). temple of the Lord. Holy Place within the larger temple compound (see diagram, p 1710), where incense was offered during the morning and evening sacrifices.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:11 angel of the Lord. OT contains examples of the Lord or His angels appearing in the temple (1Sm 3; Zec 3). Note that angels play a prominent role in Lk, repeatedly making important announcements (1:11–20, 26–38; 2:8–14; 24:4–7, 23). See p 1227.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:13 John. Hbr yochanan, "the Lord has shown favor" (cf Jer 40:8); emphasizes God's grace in giving Zechariah and Elizabeth a child in their advanced age. The name was popular among the Maccabees. See pp 1553–58. "No prophet, neither Elijah nor Elisha, received the Spirit without the Ten Commandments 'or the spoken Word'. John the Baptist was not conceived without the word of Gabriel coming first, nor did he leap in his mother's womb without Mary's voice" (SA III VIII 11–12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:14 joy. Recurring theme in Lk (cf 1:44, 47; 2:10; 8:13; 10:17; 15:7, 10; 24:41, 52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:15 before the Lord. Lk often uses this OT expression and similar expressions to describe God's presence and one's standing before God's judgment (whether one is righteous or unrighteous, cf v 6). must not drink wine or strong drink. Like Samson (Jgs 13:4–7) and Samuel (1Sm 1:11) before him, John lived as a Nazirite. Cf Nu 6:1–21. filled with the Holy Spirit. See note, vv 41−44. The Spirit plays a much more prominent role in Lk than in any other Gospel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:17 spirit and power of Elijah. John's ministry paralleled Elijah's prophetic career in key ways. Cf Mt 3:4. John fulfilled the prophecy that Elijah would reappear before the Messiah (see notes, Mal 4:5–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:18 How shall I know this? Zechariah demands proof and earns God's punishment (v 20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:19 Gabriel. One of two angels named in the Bible (Dn 8:16–26; 9:20–27). The other is Michael (Dn 10:13, 21; 12:1; Jude 9; Rv 12:7). Gabriel later visits Mary (vv 26–38).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:21 wondering at his delay. Zechariah's advanced age likely contributed to the people's concern. The sanctity of the Holy Place, however, would have discouraged another priest from going to check on him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:23 Zechariah finished his priestly service (an additional week or two) without speaking and then returned home.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5–25 Zechariah receives word that the Lord will bless him and Elizabeth with a son who has a special calling. Children are a blessing from God to be treasured and raised according to His good purposes. Pray for the children in your family, and support their nurture in the faith. Give thanks to God the Father, who nurtures us in His Holy Child, Jesus, our deliverer from sin, evil, and doubt. • "Hark! A thrilling voice is sounding! 'Christ is near,' we hear it say. 'Cast away the works of darkness, All you children of the day!' " Amen. (LSB 345:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:26 sixth month. Refers to Elizabeth's pregnancy. Nazareth. Never mentioned in the OT. Jesus' hometown is obscure and insignificant. See note, Mt 2:23; cf Jn 1:46.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:27 a virgin betrothed to a man. Jewish betrothal was binding in ways that modern engagements are not (see note, Mt 1:19). Betrothal usually preceded marriage by at least nine months to assure that the bride was not pregnant. The young man would give the bride's family a gift (see note, Gn 34:12). The fathers of the families would sign a marriage document (Hbr kethubah).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:30 favor. See p 6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:31 Jesus. See note, Mt 1:21; see also p 2098.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:32–33 Most High … Lord God. See p 1227. the throne of His father David … He will reign … forever. Refers to Davidic covenant, wherein God promised the Messiah would descend from David and rule eternally (2Sm 7:16; Ps 2:6–7). Cf Lk 1:27; 2:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:34 In contrast to Zechariah's skeptical question (v 18), Mary wonders in faith. Zechariah walked away unable to speak, but Mary burst forth into holy song (vv 46–55) after Gabriel's departure.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:35 The Holy Spirit will come upon you. Cf Is 32:15 describing the Spirit bringing fertility and life to the land. overshadow. Used in LXX Ex 40:35 to describe God's presence in the tabernacle. Cf Gn 1:2. Accordingly, Gabriel's announcement implies that through Mary's pregnancy, God will be present among His people in a more wonderful way (cf Jn 1:14). Son of God. Title forcefully underscores Jesus' divine nature (see p 2098; see also SC, Second Article, p xxxvii). "The divine and human natures in Christ are personally united. So there are not two Christs, one the Son of God and the other the Son of Man. But one and the same person is the Son of God and Son of Man" (FC Ep VIII 5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:37 Echoes the question God asked Abraham while announcing that Sarah would bear Isaac in her old age.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:38 servant of the Lord. Demonstrating great humility and purpose, Mary identifies herself as a household slave. See p 101.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:26–38 The angel Gabriel announces Jesus' birth to Mary, who responds in faith. By announcing the Gospel, the Lord likewise calls us to faith and to bear Christ—not as our child—but as the Holy One of God, our Savior. • "O holy Child of Bethlehem, Descend to us, we pray; Cast out our sin, and enter in, Be born in us today. We hear the Christmas angels The great glad tidings tell; O come to us, abide with us, Our Lord Immanuel!" Amen. (LSB 361:4)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:39 town in Judah. Zechariah and Elizabeth lived somewhere near Jerusalem, where Zechariah had recently served in the temple (vv 5–20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:41–44 filled with the Holy Spirit. Elizabeth recognized that Mary was carrying a child who was the "Lord," knowledge that only the Holy Spirit could reveal. Even more remarkably, John reacted from within her womb as well! Cf 2:25–38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:39–45 As Mary greets Elizabeth, baby John leaps for joy in Elizabeth's womb. The work of God's Spirit is not limited by age, gender, or socio-economic status. He is poured out for all people according to the good and gracious will of God, who blesses motherhood and children and, through them, all humanity, even as He promised Eve (Gn 3:15). Like baby John, leap for joy that salvation comes from the Lord in humble and unexpected ways as the Good News of Jesus is shared. • "Thou Christian heart, Whoe'er thou art, Be of good cheer and let no sorrow move thee! For God's own Child, In mercy mild, Joins thee to Him; how greatly God must love thee!" Amen. (LSB 372:4)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46–55 One of four canticles in chs 1–2 (see note, v 46). Zechariah similarly bursts into song at John's birth (1:68–79), the angels intone their announcement of Jesus' birth (2:14), and Simeon sings a blessing (2:29–32). Mary's canticle (called the Magnificat from the first word in the Latin translation) is the most prominent of these four songs of praise, still sung in the Church's liturgy (LSB, pp 248–49). They introduce an important Lukan theme: God delights in exalting the poor and humble, while bringing down the rich and proud (vv 48, 51–53; cf 14:11; 18:11). See Hannah's song (1Sm 2:1–10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46 Mary said. Biblical Gk commonly uses verbs of speaking when presenting chanting/singing (cf Rv 5:9). In antiquity, poetic compositions were typically chanted or sung.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:47 God my Savior. Title often used for God, esp in Ps. Underscores not only His rescue from physical calamity but also His saving power in spiritual matters (Ps 18:46; 24:5; 25:5; 27:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:48 humble estate. Mary humbly acknowledges herself as God's servant (v 38) and thanks Him for exalting her through the conception of Jesus in her womb. This parallels Israel's status as an exalted servant in v 54.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:50 fear. See p 1001. generation to generation. Recalls covenants given to Abraham (Gn 12:1–3) and David (see note, vv 32–33). Thus, the climax of Mary's song emphasizes fulfillment (cf vv 54–55).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46–56 The Lord delivers His people amid suffering and disappointment. Today, no matter what troubles assail you, trust in the Lord as your deliverer, and commend all cares to Him in prayer. Rejoice in His surpassing mercy through the Holy Child, who delivers the generations from sin and sorrow. • Pray or sing the Magnificat (vv 46–55; LSB, pp 248–49).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:58 In the case of John, a miracle baby given to aged parents, such a celebration would be all the more joyous.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:59 circumcise. Cf Gn 17:9–14. This sign marked John as heir to the covenant described in Gn 12:1–3. would have called him Zechariah. Common to name a male child after his grandfather or father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:60 See note, v 13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:63 writing tablet. Board covered with wax that could receive letters made with a stylus. See note, Is 30:8. Zechariah would likely have used this tool during the nine months he was unable to speak (v 20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:66 the hand of the Lord was with him. God was active in John's life, to guide, protect, and lead him into the way of godliness. See "be with," p 5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:57–66 Elizabeth gives birth to John; Zechariah confirms his son's name. John is truly the Lord's gift to you as well because he prepared the way for your Savior, Jesus. Do not doubt, but dare to proclaim what the Lord has promised and accomplished for your salvation. His blessings never cease to amaze! • "When all the world was cursed By Moses' condemnation, Saint John the Baptist came With words of consolation. With true forerunner's zeal The greater One he named, And Him, as yet unknown, As Savior he proclaimed." Amen. (LSB 346:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:68–79 The Benedictus (from the Latin translation of the first word, "Blessed"). Sung as part of the Church's liturgy (LSB, pp 238–40).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:68 visited and redeemed His people. Pair of verbs recall some of God's mightiest acts of salvation. visited. Gk episkeptomai, "look after, appear in order to help" (LXX: Gn 50:24–25; Ru 1:6; 1Sm 2:21; Ps 8:4; Ezk 34:11). redeemed. Gk poiein lutrosin, "redeem or ransom from slavery" (LXX: Ex 6:6; Dt 7:8; Ne 1:10; Ps 49:8). See p 843.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:69 horn of salvation. See pp 842–43.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:74 serve Him without fear. All of God's covenant and victories on Israel's behalf had one purpose—to redeem His people and enable them to serve Him freely. Such service was characterized by holy and righteous living.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:76 prepare His ways. See notes, v 17; Mt 3:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:77 knowledge of salvation … forgiveness of their sins. Central to the Gospel message, these themes echo the promise of a new covenant (Jer 31:33–34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:78 sunrise. The dawning of a new era (cf Is 9:2; 60:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:80 grew and became strong in spirit. Echoes descriptions of Samuel's development (1Sm 2:26; 3:19), as well as Jesus' (Lk 2:52). he was in the wilderness. Throughout Israel's history, the wilderness serves as a place of spiritual formation and testing in God's presence. Cf Nu 14:33; 1Ki 19:4–18. As such, this was an appropriate place for young John to live.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:67–80 The theme of ch 1 is fulfillment. God faithfully keeps His promises by sending one like Elijah to prepare His people, and then by announcing the advent of the Son of God and Savior of all humankind. Nothing is impossible with God! Through Jesus' life, death, and resurrection, we are bold to hope for an even more wonderful fulfillment of divine promises, including our glorification. • Blessed are

You, O Lord, the God of Israel, for You have visited and redeemed Your people and raised up a horn of salvation for us. You have assured us that our final day of salvation will someday be completed, when Christ returns. Therefore, come, Lord Jesus. Come quickly! Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:1 Caesar Augustus. In 27 BC, the Roman Senate conferred on Octavian, the reigning Caesar, the title "Augustus" ("the exalted one"). For all his glory, however, Caesar Augustus remained God's instrument. His call for a worldwide census unwittingly set into motion the events of Jesus' birth, thereby bringing to fulfillment the prophecy regarding his place of birth (Mi 5:2). all the world. Gk oikoumene, "the inhabited world," here meaning the Roman Empire. Luke will use such terms later to emphasize the all-inclusive nature of the Gospel. registered. Necessary for taxation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:2 Quirinius … governor of Syria. May have held this office twice and conducted a census in each term. First, when Jesus was born, and then in AD 6–9 (Ac 5:37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:4 Bethlehem. Hometown of Joseph's and Mary's ancestor King David. See notes, v 1; 1:32–33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:5 Mary was also subject to Roman taxes and required to participate in the census. his betrothed. See note, 1:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:7 swaddling cloths. A sign of tender care. Babies were washed, rubbed with salt (and possibly olive oil), and then wrapped (cf Ezk 16:4). Strips of cloth were wrapped tightly around infants to warm and secure them. manger. Animals' feed trough. no place for them in the inn. Mary and Joseph were forced to bed down in a nearby cave or stable, where animals were housed. The travel caused by the census likely overwhelmed normal arrangements for hospitality. See note, Gn 18:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:1–7 Joseph and Mary travel from Nazareth to Bethlehem, where Jesus is born in humble circumstances. The birth of a child always comes with great hardship (Gn 3:16). The birth of this Child comes with great blessings for sinners. As you reflect on the wonder of Jesus' birth, pray also for a humble and pure heart. The mighty Lord will have mercy on you and exalt you by grace alone (Lk 1:49–52). • O Holy Child, grant me sincere humility, even as You exalt me by calling me God's child. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:8 The Judean countryside has long been used for grazing sheep. David himself had been a shepherd in these fields (1Sm 16:11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:9 glory of the Lord. Cf Ex 24:16–17; see pp 6–7. Suggests that Jesus' birth brings the Lord's presence near to humankind. glory. See p 1902.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:10 good news. Gk euangelizomai, "I evangelize," a favorite expression in Lk (cf 1:19; 2:10; 3:18; 4:18, 43; 7:22; 8:1; 9:6; 16:16; 20:1). Calls to mind many prophetic promises of salvation (e.g., Is 52:7; 61:1). all the people. Universal theme in Lk (see note, v 1). However, because Lk repeatedly follows the OT practice of calling Israel "the people," Israel is likely meant.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:11 city of David. Bethlehem. Savior. The title, as well as the related terms "save" and "salvation," form another important Lukan theme (1:47, 69, 71, 77; 7:50; 19:9–10). See note, Mt 1:21. Christ the Lord. See p 2098.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:12 sign. The baby serves as a sign for the shepherds that the Good News is true. More important, the prophetic sign of a son born to a virgin was fulfilled (see note, Is 7:14).
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:13 heavenly host. See p 1291.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:14 in the highest. Refers to praise in the heavenly realms, where God and the angels live. on earth peace. Emphasizes not human goodwill but God's grace and the peace it brings us.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:17 The Good News about Jesus is contagious. The shepherds immediately broadcast what they had seen and heard.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:19 pondering. Detail points to Mary as one of Luke's sources for the Gospel (see note, 1:2).
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:21 circumcised. See notes, 1:59; Gn 17:10. Jesus. See note, Mt 1:21.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:8–21 Angels reveal to shepherds the Good News of the Savior's birth. The shepherds in turn announce the Good News to others. As you celebrate the glory of Christmas, be sure to announce Jesus' saving work to others also. The Savior is your peace and joy this day and always! • O Holy Child, I treasure the Good News of Your birth for my salvation. Call others to faith through me. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:22–24 purification. Done 40 days after giving birth (Lv 12). pair of turtledoves. Most modest of the different sacrifices that could be offered; suggests that Jesus' parents were poor (Lv 12:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:25 the consolation of Israel. Recalls the comfort Isaiah foretold. Synonymous with the Lord's salvation and forgiveness.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:25–27 Simeon's watchfulness, discernment of the Messiah's presence, and consequent prophetic utterance were all the result of the Spirit's action. not see death. The Spirit had revealed to Simeon that he would not die until he beheld the fulfillment of God's promise to send the Messiah.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:27 temple. Specific setting is likely the temple's Court of Women, because both Mary and Anna (vv 36–38) were present. See diagram, p 1838.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:29 Lord … servant. Like Mary (1:48), Simeon identifies himself as God's servant while bursting forth in praise—a thematic link between the two songs. Simeon's song also continues to be sung as part of the Church's liturgy (LSB, pp 238–40).
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:30 salvation. Realized in the baby Jesus. On this Lukan theme, see note, v 11; cf Ac 4:12; see also p 843.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:31 all peoples. Refers to all nations, not just to Israel. See notes, vv 1, 10.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:32 light for … the Gentiles … glory to … Israel. The glory of Israel is her salvation. Because this salvation is for all people, it will come to shine upon every nation through the preaching of the Gospel.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:34 for the fall and rising of many. Based on their reaction to Jesus, people will either stand or fall (cf 1Pt 2:6, 8). opposed. Jesus' rejection is foretold early in Lk. Before the infancy narrative ends, the cross begins to loom.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:35 a sword will pierce through your own soul. Mary will someday experience sorrow because of her Son's suffering and death (cf Jn 19:25–27).
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:36 a prophetess. See p 389.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:37 a widow. A variety of widows exhibited exemplary devotion (1Ki 17:8–24; Lk 21:1–4; cf 1Tm 5:3–10). Anna was an outstanding example of such a pious widow.
LUKE—NOTE ON 2:38 redemption of Jerusalem. See Simeon's waiting for the consolation of Israel (v 25); see also p 843. Consolation and redemption summarize beautifully the benefits of the Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:22–38 As confirmed by prophecy, Jesus is appointed as the Savior. Today, pray that the Lord would grant you the enduring faith of Simeon and Anna, to see the Lord's salvation and give Him thanks face-to-face in eternity. • Pray the Nunc Dimittis (vv 29–32; LSB, p 165).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:40 filled with wisdom. Likely alludes to Is 11:2, where the Messiah is characterized as one endowed by the Spirit with wisdom. See pp 775–78. favor. See p 6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:39–40 Jesus matures as a normal child and also has the blessings of God's wisdom and favor. Today, pray for the children in your family or neighborhood, that they would grow in the knowledge of their Savior and receive His favor. He who has blessed and kept you in faith will likewise hear and bless them too. • I thank You, Holy Child, that You fulfilled the Law for me. Fill me with the wisdom only You can give. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:41 An annual pilgrimage to the Passover was required of all Israelites (Dt 16:6). Extended families and neighbors often traveled together, singing and picnicking along the way. See note, Ps 120–34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:42 Twelve years have passed since the previous episode. Remarkably, vv 41–52 is the only NT account of Jesus' later childhood.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:46–47 listening to them and asking them questions. In order to stimulate more profound thinking, the rabbis often responded to people's questions by posing their own questions. Already as a child, Jesus was able to engage the best religious minds in this way. amazed at His understanding and His answers. Jesus is depicted as Rabbi par excellence, even from His youth. See note, v 40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:51 submissive. Jesus responded as an obedient child to His mother's scolding (v 48). He obeyed the divine Law and submitted to His earthly parents. treasured up. See note, v 19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:52 increased. Chem: "This advance pertained to the one [human] nature [of Christ]" (LTh 1:105). favor. See p 6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:41–52 Luke's account of Jesus' birth and childhood repeatedly sets the ordinary beside the miraculous (e.g., a youth from the hinterland stuns the Jerusalem rabbis with His wisdom). Given the mysterious and often apparently ordinary ways God chooses to reveal Himself and His salvation—in the flesh of His Son, in words, in water, in bread and wine—we easily underestimate their power. Thankfully, the very common aspects of God's gifts mean that they are never far from us. • Lord Jesus, open my eyes to Your life-giving presence. Through Your Word, Sacraments, and Spirit, bless my life, so that things that seem mundane become a foretaste of blessedness in Your eternal presence. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:1–2 Luke continually relates his account of Jesus' life to known historical facts, inviting readers to see the life of Jesus in historical context. Careful comparisons with contemporary sources demonstrate Luke's accuracy. fifteenth year … Tiberius Caesar. Roman sources tell us that Tiberius became co-regent with Augustus in AD 11/12, then sole emperor in AD 14. That time frame suggests that John's ministry began somewhere between AD 26 and 29. See chronology, p cvii. Pontius Pilate. Prefect or procurator over Judea and Samaria, AD 26−36. Herod. Herod Antipas, who ruled Galilee and Perea after the death of his father. See note, 9:7–9. Philip. Another son of Herod the Great. Philip ruled areas north and west of Galilee from 4 BC to AD 34. Lysanias. Little is clear about this character. Josephus mentions more than one Lysanias. Multiple inscriptions bearing this name have been unearthed. Annas and Caiaphas. Family dominated the Jewish high priesthood for most of Jesus' lifetime and beyond. Remains of Caiaphas's house and his ossuary (bone coffin) have been unearthed. the word of God came. See notes, Jl 1:1; Mi 1:1. John. See note, Mt 3:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:3 region around the Jordan. Likely the Judean desert just north of the Dead Sea. baptism of repentance. John called for a change of heart and a commitment to holy living. This repentance was sealed with a baptism. See p 1901. for the forgiveness of sins. See note, Mk 1:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:4–6 Like the other evangelists (Mt 3:3; Mk 1:2–3), Luke quotes Is 40:3–4 to emphasize that John's work fulfills prophecy by preparing the people for the Messiah's arrival. all flesh. In contrast to Mt and Mk, Lk includes the promise of Is 40:5. He underlines a major theme, that Jesus came for both Jews and Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:4 See note, Mt 3:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:7 brood of vipers! Offspring of poisonous snakes, which often function as symbols of deception and malice (cf Is 59:4–5). wrath to come? Destruction of Jerusalem (AD 70) and the final judgment on the Last Day. See notes, 21:6–9; see also p 1904.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:8 repentance. See note, Mt 3:8. Gk metanoia, "a change of mind." Abraham as our father. See note, Mt 3:9. stones … children. Wordplay in Aram; these two words have a similar sound. John derisively dismissed spiritual blessing based on race.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:9 axe is laid to the root of the trees. Stresses the urgency of John's call to repentance and the reality of God's judgment. Cf Is 10:33–34; Jer 46:22–23. God described Israel as an unproductive vine coming under His judgment in Is 5:1–7.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:10 More than simply feeling sorrow and remorse, the truly penitent seek a godly alternative to sinful living.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:11 tunics. Worn under the cloak. In counseling his hearers to share, John anticipates Jesus' command (12:32–34) and the practice of the Early Church (Ac 2:44–45; 4:34–37).
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:12 Tax collectors. See note, Mt 5:46.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:14 Soldiers. Jewish temple guards or even Romans. Detail anticipates Ac, when numerous soldiers convert to Christianity (Ac 10; 16:25–34). Luth: "He did not condemn their office or advise them to stop doing their work…. He praised the military profession, but at the same time he forbade its abuse…. Therefore even under the New Testament the sword is established by God's word and commandment, and those who use it properly and fight obediently serve God and are obedient to his word" (AE 46:97−98).
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:15 John's resemblance to Elijah (cf 1:17) suggested to some that he might be the Messiah.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:16 strap … untie. See note, Mk 1:7. baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. See note, Mt 3:11.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:17 See note, Mt 3:12.
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:19 After Herod Antipas divorced his wife and took Herodias (his niece and former wife of his brother Philip), John denounced him. This led to John's imprisonment and eventual execution (cf Mk 6:14–29).
LUKE—NOTE ON 3:21 when Jesus also had been baptized. Though Jesus did not need to receive Baptism in order to be forgiven, he nonetheless submitted to it (see notes, Mt 3:13–15). praying. Detail mentioned only by Luke, who emphasized prayer in Jesus' ministry (5:16; 6:12; 9:18, 28–29; 11:1; 22:32, 41; 23:34, 46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:22 The Father's affirmation echoes two messianic prophecies (Ps 2:7; Is 42:1), reinforcing that Jesus is indeed the Son of God. "You must honor Baptism and consider it glorious because of the Word. For God Himself has honored it both by words and deeds. Furthermore, He confirmed it with miracles from heaven. Do you think it was a joke that, when Christ was baptized, the heavens were opened and the Holy Spirit descended visibly, and everything was divine glory and majesty?" (LC IV 21). See note, Mt 3:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23–38 Twin genealogies of Jesus appear in the NT, here and in Mt 1:1–17. They differ greatly. First, Luke's genealogy is given at the beginning of Jesus' ministry, while Matthew's appears at the beginning of the Gospel. Second, Luke's genealogy works backward from Joseph, while Matthew's works forward from Abraham. Third, Luke goes all the way back to Adam and God (v 38), while Matthew traces only back to Abraham. Most scholars believe that these respective arrangements are the result of, and consistent with, each evangelist's special interests. On this understanding, Luke emphasizes that the Messiah descends from Adam and so is related to all nations, while Matthew focused on Jesus' Judean roots, which accords with his desire to present Jesus as the fulfillment of God's promises to Abraham. Luke names the actual ancestors of Joseph's branch of the family. Matthew likely gives a stylized legal line of descent from King David. See note, Mt 1:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23 about thirty years of age. A fitting age. Priests began their work at age 30 (Nu 4:3), Ezekiel began his prophetic calling at age 30 (Ezk 1:1), and King David assumed the throne at this age (2Sm 5:4). supposed. Subtly reaffirms the virgin birth.

LUKE—NOTE ON Ch 3 Luke's account of John's ministry and Jesus' ancestry hint at the universal nature of the Messiah's kingdom. How sad, then, that churches too often show little concern for those outside the immediate boundaries of their fellowship. The Gospel is for everyone! Jesus' death and resurrection bring life and salvation to all who repent and call on His name. • Lord, open my eyes to the nature of Your kingdom, and so move me to live a life worthy of Your Gospel by reaching out with the Good News that leads to everlasting life. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:1 full of the Holy Spirit. Links this episode to Jesus' Baptism (3:21–22) and reinforces the prominent role Luke's Gospel gives to the Spirit. wilderness. See note, Mt 4:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:2 forty days. See p 217. tempted by the devil. Though the First Adam ("son of God" in 3:38) failed when the devil tempted him (Gn 3:6), this greater Son of God is obedient when tempted (cf Rm 5:12–21). He was hungry. See note, Mt 4:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:3 The devil and his minions knew full well that Jesus was the Son of God (cf 3:21–22; 4:41). Jesus was led by the Holy Spirit (v 1). This question, however, functions as a challenge of the fact and tempts Jesus to depart from God's ways (cf Mk 8:27–33). It likewise challenges the reader to consider who Jesus is.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:5–6 took Him. See note, Mt 4:5. up. See note, Mt 4:8. the world … You I will give. An offer to make Jesus a political ruler. Again, the devil attacks Jesus' pride and destiny as messianic King. for it has been delivered to me. Cf Jn 12:31; 1Jn 5:19; see note, Mt 4:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:9 took Him. See note, Mt 4:5. pinnacle of the temple. Probably refers to the corner of the temple colonnade overlooking the Kidron Valley. If so, there was a drop of 100 ft.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:10–11 The devil was adept at distorting Scripture and using it for his own purposes. This serves as a warning against those who skillfully misinterpret the Bible.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:12 See note, Mt 4:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:13 until an opportune time. The devil would continue to work against Jesus from time to time during His ministry (e.g., Mk 8:33), but esp in Gethsemane on the night of His arrest (Lk 22:39–46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:1–13 The Holy Spirit leads Jesus and abides with Him through His temptation, affirming that Jesus truly is the Son of God. The blessed Trinity likewise abides with us, that we may withstand Satan's temptation of our flesh, our pride, and our will. Through Holy Baptism in God's name, we are truly His beloved children. • "Almighty God, unto You all hearts are open, all desires are known, and from You no secrets are hid. Cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Your Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love You, and worthily magnify Your holy Name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen." (Gregorian Sacramentary, TLWA, p 261)

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:14 in the power of the Spirit. See notes, 3:22; 4:1. to Galilee. Jesus returns north to His home territory. There, the first major phase of His ministry unfolds.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:15 Continues the theme of Jesus' extraordinary wisdom (cf 2:41–52). The beginning of Jesus' public ministry was a time of popularity, running all the way through 9:50.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:14–15 Jesus begins to teach publicly for the first time since He was a child (2:41–52). Reflect on Jesus' teaching, which relies on the work of the Holy Spirit and cannot be judged by popularity alone. Pray that the Holy Spirit would bless your speech and lead others to the Lord through you. What blessings He bestows through the Gospel! • "May we in faith its message learn Nor thanklessly its blessings spurn; May we in faith its truth confess And praise the Lord, our righteousness." Amen. (LSB 580:6)

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16 as was His custom. Jesus worshiped regularly and so fulfilled the commandments in this regard (cf 2:22, 41). s*tood up to read*. Any qualified male could read from the Hebrew Scriptures in a synagogue. See note, Ne 8:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:17 scroll. Typical manuscript format of the time, which would be displaced by the "codex" (book) beginning in the first century. prophet Isaiah. Probably a selection from a prescribed lectionary. The reading appointed for this day, from Is 61:1–2, has an unmistakably messianic character.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:20 sat down. Typical posture of a teacher.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:21 Rabbis commonly taught on the Scripture passages just read from the lectionary, like sermons today. See note, Ne 8:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:24–27 Jesus' words outraged his audience because they subtly made a case for including Gentiles in the Messiah's salvation. Elijah and Elisha are examples of prophets who previously extended God's grace to Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:29 throw Him down the cliff. In addition to the violence of the fall, the people might have also planned to stone Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:30 passing through their midst. Attests to both Jesus' power and God's timing. The hour of His death had not yet come.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16–30 Jesus' ministry begins with victories over Satan and his minions, but also with an episode in Nazareth that foreshadows His rejection at the hands of His own people. Our lives typically include a similar mixture of successes and rejections. That is why we do well to focus more on the end of the Gospel story, for there we see resurrection, God's greatest victory over sin and the devil, and the revelation of His grace and mercy for us. • Eternal God, give me grace when I face temptations from the devil and assaults from the unbelieving world. Remind me that You have already overcome these things for me and even now are preparing a place for me in Your eternal presence. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:31 Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13. teaching them on the Sabbath. This synagogue may have been on the site of a fourth-century synagogue discovered at Capernaum.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:32 His word possessed authority. Different from the rest of the rabbis, and all the more because it could effect miraculous signs (cf v 36).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:33 the spirit of an unclean demon. It caused the people it possessed to be unclean or wicked. loud voice. The demon itself cried out before Jesus' superior power.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:34 Holy One of God. Demons know Jesus' divine identity. Here, the demon calls Him by name in an attempt to exercise control over Him. See p 1227.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:31–37 With authoritative words, Jesus silences and sends away unclean spirits. God's Word bears authority for your sake, too, pointing out your uncleanness due to sin, yet also promising deliverance from sin and from attacks of the evil one. Revel in Jesus' teaching and its great blessings for you. • "Thy strong Word bespeaks us righteous; Bright with Thine own holiness, Glorious now, we press toward glory, And our lives our hopes confess." Amen. (LSB 578:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:38 Simon's house. See note, Mt 8:14. high fever. Often the harbinger of something worse.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:39 rose and began to serve. See note, Mk 1:31. Provides a picture of discipleship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:40 when the sun was setting. Because it was the Sabbath (v 31), the crowds waited until the end of the Sabbath (sundown) to transport the sick. Carrying them earlier would have violated the holy day. Now, needy people began streaming to Jesus. healed. See notes, Mt 4:23–24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:41 demons. See note, Mt 8:16. would not allow them to speak. Jesus likely silenced the demons because He knew that they would misrepresent Him and distort the nature of His mission (cf vv 1–11). See "Secrecy," p 1653.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:38–41 Jesus heals many people by a word and a touch. His works reveal the bond between sin and sickness, which corrupts the world and touches our lives. Pray that Jesus would deliver you from evil and protect you from the effects of sin. Christ can forgive and restore you by His grace. • Restore me, precious Savior, that I may serve You faithfully. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:43 kingdom of God. Major theme in Lk; this is merely the first of over 30 occurrences of this phrase, which describes the coming of the Messiah and the exercise of God's reign through Him. See pp 1565–66.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:44 Judea. Refers broadly to all of ancient Israel's territory, since the account continues with Jesus' ministry in Galilee. See color map 4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:42–44 People chase after Jesus as though they could possess Him and keep Him for themselves. Do we blame them? They had never before witnessed God's blessings so greatly. Yet, with His blessings, Jesus would also teach us His generous ways, that He belongs not only to us but to all. His kingdom knows no human boundaries. • "Son of God, eternal Savior, Source of life and truth and grace, Word made flesh, whose birth among us Hallows all our human race, You our Head, who, throned in glory, For Your own will ever plead: Fill us with Your love and pity, Heal our wrongs, and help our need." Amen. (LSB 842:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:1 lake of Gennesaret. Usually called the Sea of Galilee; also called the Sea of Tiberias. See note, Mt 4:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:2 washing their nets. Regular task for fishermen such as Peter, Andrew, James, and John. See notes, Mt 13:47–48; Mk 1:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:3 put out a little from the land. Allowed Jesus some freedom from the press of the crowd, which made Him easier to see and to hear. sat down and taught. See note, 4:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:5 Master. Title unique to Lk. Means "chief," "commander." An address of respect. Later, Peter will acclaim Jesus with more exalted titles, such as "Lord" (v 8) and "the Christ of God" (9:20). we toiled all night. Night fishing often yields good results. On this night, however, they had no success.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:6 Likely the comb, or musht, fish, the only large fish in Galilee that moves in shoals. Some 30 varieties of fish now live in the lake.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:7 partners. Four of Jesus' most important apostles were two pairs of brothers: Simon Peter and Andrew; and James and John (sons of Zebedee). They may have run a sizable fishing business (on John's access to Jerusalem leaders, see note, Jn 18:15). See p 236.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:8 Depart from me. Peter shrinks back in holy fear. God's purity and power highlights Peter's weakness and sin. See note, Is 6:5.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:10 catching men. Lit, "become a fisher of men." Peter would henceforth gather mortal men into everlasting life rather than hunt and kill fish.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:11 left everything. Fishing often brought an above-average income, so these disciples left behind considerable assets.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:1–11 A miraculous catch of fish shows the disciples that Jesus is more than a great teacher—God is working mightily through Him. Like the disciples, the mundane struggle for daily bread, and the sin and doubt it fosters, may make you feel distant from God. But He is ever near and also ever prepared to forgive your sins. • Stay with me, Lord, for I am a sinful person. Grant me repentance and a new life in service to You. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:12 full of leprosy. As most diseases, leprosy affected people both physically and spiritually (cf Lv 13:1–8). if You will. This man does not doubt Jesus' ability to heal. Rather, he expresses his sense of unworthiness.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:13 Jesus … touched him. Noteworthy detail, because Jewish purity laws held that this contact would defile Jesus. Remarkably, the exchange runs in the other direction. Jesus does not become defiled, but the unclean man is made whole and pure. Cf Lv 5:3; 13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:14 He charged him to tell no one. See "Secrecy," p 1653. Jesus sought to avoid misunderstandings about His identity and mission. The time for His exaltation had not yet come. Cf 9:7–9. show yourself to the priest. See note, Mk 1:43–44.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:12–16 Jesus cleanses a leper by touching him and sends him to fulfill the Law of Moses. He still touches lives today and has mercy according to His good and gracious will. Bring your requests to Jesus, and trust in His good purposes for you. Even now, your Savior is interceding for you in heaven. • Cleanse me, dearest Jesus, and make Your will known in my life, that I may fulfill Your Word and fill the world with the report of Your goodness. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:17 Pharisees and teachers of the law. Members of this party (and their expert interpreters of the Law) appear for the first time in Lk. See note, Mk 2:18. the power of the Lord was with Him to heal. Not temporary or momentary power but intrinsic to Jesus' person. However, see note, Mt 13:58.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:19 bed. Stretcherlike mat on which the paralytic was carried. tiles. Israelite homes typically had branches and mud laid across roof beams. The word denotes a more sophisticated roof tile, typical of Roman construction.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:20 saw their faith. See note, Mk 2:5. your sins are forgiven. See note, Mt 9:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:21 scribes and the Pharisees. See p 1557. blasphemies? See note, Mt 9:3. Who can forgive sins but God. See note, Mt 9:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:22 See note, Mk 2:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:23 Which is easier. See note, Mt 9:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:24 that you may know. Jesus' healing of this man's paralysis reveals not only His power over the physical but also His authority in the spiritual realm. Without this physical healing, Jesus' claim to forgive would be less persuasive. Son of Man. Used for the first time in Lk. See p 2098.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:26 See notes, Mt 9:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:17–26 Jesus asserts His authority to forgive sins by healing a paralyzed man. Though Jesus could easily say, "Your sins are forgiven you," the price of that forgiveness cost Him His life. He bore the cross and your sins willingly, and He will also bear with you in all infirmities. • Grant me firm faith, O Lord, that I may walk in Your ways. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:27 tax collector. See note, Mt 5:46. Levi. Matthew (Mt 9:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:28 leaving everything. Again emphasizes that Jesus' disciples left everything to follow Him. Because Levi walked away from a lucrative customs contract, his response to Jesus was esp costly (cf 19:1–10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:29–31 Levi's banquet gives Jesus an opportunity to show His solidarity with sinners and emphasize that His mission was to call sinners to repentance (cf 19:10). This willingness to have fellowship with those considered sinners had a cost, however (cf 15:1–2). See p 1764.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:29 reclining at table. See note, Mt 8:11.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:30 Pharisees … scribes. See p 1557. eat. See note, Mk 2:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:31 physician. Christ came to heal sinners. See note, Dt 32:39.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:32 See note, Mk 2:17. repentance. See note, Mt 3:2.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:27–32 Jesus teaches the people that He came to save sinners by leading them to repentance. No matter what your past, whether you are a notorious sinner or smugly self-righteous, Jesus calls you to a life of daily repentance. As the great physician, He can forgive all manner of sins. • Jesus, I would follow You. Lead me by repentance and faith to leave behind my old life. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:33 disciples of John. See note, Mt 9:14. fast often and offer prayers. Fasting was typically accompanied by prayer. See notes, Ne 1:4; Est 4:3. The Pharisees, who observed that Jesus and His disciples often went to festive occasions, but rarely (if ever) fasted, were taken aback. Hus: "Apart from the bridegroom's will you cannot lawfully make his sons to fast" (The Church, p 235).
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:34–35 See note, Mk 2:19–20.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:36–38 Jesus' twin pictures of a clothing patch and a wineskin emphasized the superiority of the new over the old, fulfillment over promise. Attempts at merging the Pharisees' traditional laws with Jesus' good news of the Kingdom would inevitably result in destruction. The new Kingdom was to be embraced wholly.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:36 parable. A teaching tool with deep roots in OT. See note, Jgs 9:8−15. Parables typically use a metaphorical story, suggestive imagery, and/or memorable turns of phrase to clarify a spiritual truth. Many parables illumine the nature of the Kingdom. See p 1609.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:39 The old is good. The Pharisees stubbornly loved their old traditions and could not savor the Gospel.
LUKE—NOTE ON 5:33–39 Jesus fulfills God's promise to make all things new: He makes fishermen and a tax collector into disciples, He makes a leper and a paralytic whole, and He forgives sins. Unfortunately, some resist such changes, not only in Jesus' day but also in our lives. That is why He calls us to embrace the Gospel wholly. Jesus' astounding promise is this: whatever we leave behind for the sake of the kingdom of God will be replaced with much more in this age and with eternal life in the age to come (18:30). • Lord Jesus, give me grace to follow wherever You lead. By Your Spirit, strengthen me to live as Your disciple, reaching out to others in need of Your life-changing love and forgiveness. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:1 See note, Dt 23:24–25. rubbing. To separate the kernel from the chaff.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:2 not lawful. See note, Mt 12:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:3–4 See note, Mt 12:3–4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:5 Son of Man. See p 2098. lord of the Sabbath. Jesus claims a divine right here, namely, the right to reapply a commandment for His disciples' benefit. This makes even more explicit the messianic claim. See notes, Mt 12:8; Mk 2:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:1–5 Jesus reapplies the Third Commandment to reveal the blessings of the Sabbath. When we consider laws and their application, God would have us see not simply how laws restrict but also who and what they protect. All God's Word is written for our benefit, that we may enjoy the inherited blessings of His mercy. • " 'You shall observe the worship day That peace may fill your home, and pray, And put aside the work you do, So that God may work in you.' Have mercy, Lord!" Amen. (LSB 581:4)

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:6 another Sabbath … synagogue. See note, Mt 12:9. withered. See note, Mt 12:10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:7 Second time the Pharisees and legal scribes charge Jesus with breaking the Sabbath (cf vv 1–5). They are eager to find fault with Him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:9 is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good. Question exposes the superficiality of Jesus' critics, who apparently put a ritual observance (resting from work on the Sabbath) above a moral obligation (to heal and save life).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:11 The Pharisees began to plot against Jesus. See note, Mk 3:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:6–11 Jesus, despite facing severe criticism, has mercy on the man with a withered hand. As God grants you opportunity to show mercy, act with care and confidence. Goodness and life are God's great blessings for you and for all in Jesus. • "As You, Lord, have lived for others, So may we for others live. Freely have Your gifts been granted; Freely may Your servants give." Amen. (LSB 842:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:12 He went out to the mountain to pray. Recurrence of the prayer motif (see note, 3:21). Presumably, Jesus prayed over His upcoming appointment of the apostles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:13 twelve. See note, Mt 10:1. apostles. Gk apostolos, "person sent with a commission." Later, Jesus authorized these 12 to preach, heal, and cast out demons (9:1–6; cf 10:1–16). See p 1901.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:14–16 See notes, Mt 10:2–4. Several apostles were called by more than one name (e.g., Cephas is also known as Simon and Peter). This fact best explains differences found in the names listed here, in Mt 10:1–4, and in Mk 3:16–19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:15 Simon … the Zealot. See note, Mt 10:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:16 Judas the son of James. Family relationship reference used here distinguishes this Judas from Judas Iscariot and from the writer of Jude. Apparently, this James was also known as Thaddaeus. Iscariot. See note, 22:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:12–16 Jesus chooses 12 men as His apostles, an office specifically appointed by Jesus for the early years of the Church. Today, Jesus continues to call people for various roles of service in the Church, depending on God's order, our gifts, and the Church's needs. There are no self-appointed offices in God's Church. He calls people and extends His care by His gracious and good will. • "Make them apostles, heralds of Your cross; Forth let them go to tell the world of grace. Inspired by You, may they count all but loss And stand at last with joy before Your face." Amen. (LSB 682:5)

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:17 stood on a level place. The teaching that follows is sometimes called the Sermon on the Plain. Not surprisingly, much of the material recorded here also appears in the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5–7). Jesus repeated His teachings at various times and locations, as speakers commonly do.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:19 power came out from Him. See note, 5:17. healed. See notes, Mt 4:23–24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:17–19 Jesus preaches and ministers to the crowds. Jesus continues to touch our lives today through the ongoing ministry of His life-giving Word. • "Lord, Your words are waters living When my thirsting spirit pleads. Lord, Your words are bread life-giving; On Your words my spirit feeds. Lord, Your words will be my light Through death's cold and dreary night; Yes, they are my sword prevailing And my cup of joy unfailing!" Amen. (LSB 589:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20–23 Blessed. As in the Sermon on the Mount, the first words Jesus speaks are blessings (cf Mt 5:1−12). See p 842.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20 poor. An emphasis in Lk. Because Jesus blesses the "poor in spirit" in Mt 5:3, the poverty spoken of here may include spiritual humility.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:21 hungry. Like poverty (see note, v 20), this hunger may have a spiritual aspect. See note, Mt 5:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:22 on account of. See note, Mt 5:11. Son of Man. See p 2098.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:23 reward. See note, Mt 5:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20–23 Jesus blesses the crowds and describes their estates in this life and the life to come. Even amid sorrows, God's blessings prevail. • Set my heart, dear Savior, on Your blessings and promises, that I remain steadfast in all circumstances. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:24–26 The four woes are exact opposites of the four blessings just uttered (vv 20–23). Particularly noteworthy is the contrast between the persecution awaiting Jesus' followers (v 22) and the popularity of those who please men (v 26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:24–26 Jesus condemns those who live for today, neglecting the ways of God and the care of His people. When pride and self-interest allure you, turn to the Lord in repentance. Daily He provides for all your needs and forgives you by grace. • Hear my daily confession of sins, O Savior, and set my heart on things above. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:27 Love your enemies. Jesus takes love, the heart of His teaching, to an unexpectedly deeper level by commanding that His disciples love their enemies.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:28 bless … pray. Jesus clarifies how love for an enemy expresses itself concretely—in blessing and interceding for them. Later in Luke's accounts, Jesus and Stephen fulfill this command in remarkable and similar ways (Lk 23:34; Ac 7:60).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:29 cloak … tunic. Give the inner garment also to one demanding the outer one. Note how this command goes beyond the one spoken by John the Baptist (3:11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:31 as you wish that others. The Golden Rule. Jesus sets down a variation of "love your neighbor as yourself" (Lv 19:18).
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:32–34 People typically do favors in order to gain favors. The Roman saying "I give so that you give" (do ut des) perfectly encapsulates the spirit of this ethic. Jesus, however, expects more of His followers. He commands them to reflect God's love by giving without expecting any payback.
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:35 Lk repeatedly emphasizes the undeserved and unconditional nature of God's mercy. Cf 7:36–50; 15:11–32; 18:9–14.
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:27–36 Jesus overthrows the common ethics of human culture to emphasize the Father's ways of love and mercy. God calls you to have self-sacrificing love. Pray for wisdom and patience with yourself as you put God's ways into practice. The Father of all mercy will hear your plea. He is ever ready to forgive and strengthen you. • Lord, lead me to love the ungrateful and the evil, even as You have loved and cared for me. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:37 Judge not, and you will not be judged. Because one's behavior toward others often ends up being paid back in kind—indeed, sometimes even to a greater degree—Jesus continues urging His disciples to be long-suffering. In particular, He prohibits condemning others and instead commends forgiveness. you will be forgiven. "If you forgive, you have this comfort and assurance, that you are forgiven in heaven. This is not because of your forgiving. For God forgives freely and without condition, out of pure grace, because He has so promised, as the Gospel teaches. But God says this in order that He may establish forgiveness as our confirmation and assurance, as a sign alongside of the promise" (LC III 95–96).
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:38 pressed … shaken … running over. Market practices for packing grain to guarantee a good deal. put into your lap. A generous portion of grain could be poured into the fold of one's cloak over the belt. Cf Ru 3:15.
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:40 Refers to apprentice training.
LUKE—NOTE ON 6:41 Hyperbole was a form of humor in Jesus' day. No doubt people smiled knowingly as they pictured people with huge beams in their eyes, obsessing over a speck of sawdust in the eye of another. See note, Mt 7:3. See p 1335.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:42 hypocrite. Gk word referred originally to an actor wearing a mask. It was then applied to those pretending to be who they were not. then you will see clearly. See note, Mt 7:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:37–42 Jesus teaches the disciples to judge mercifully and lead faithfully. We can never outgrow our good teacher, who by grace judged and declared us not guilty while we were yet dead in our sins. His grace in our lives—measured, pressed, and shaken—always runs over. • Grant me a forgiving heart, merciful Judge, even as You have forgiven me. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:43–45 An example from nature underscores how and why hypocrisy is invariably exposed. Ultimately, bad trees yield bad fruit, while good trees produce useful fruit.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:45 heart. Over time, what lies hidden within the heart becomes visible in our words, actions, and reactions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:43–45 A person's words and deeds—not appearances—are the true marks of one's character. In repentance and through the Gospel, the Lord grants you a pure heart, set free from sin by God's grace. • Create in me a clean heart, O God, that I might bear the fruit of faith. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:46 The disparity between verbal commitment and faithful practice always plagues people (cf Ezk 33:30–33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:47–49 This parable demonstrates the futility of merely paying lip service to God's Word. In the end, the house of the foolish builder cannot withstand life's storms. In contrast, life's torments are often defining moments for those who faithfully follow Christ, for they reveal the unshakable strength of a faith rightly placed in Him. Hus: "Christ grounds and builds his church on himself, the Rock, when he so influences her that she hears and does his words, for then the gates of hell do not prevail against her" (The Church, p 73). See note, Mt 7:24–27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:46–49 Jesus authoritatively teaches about the ethic of God's kingdom. Unfortunately, His teachings are so radically demanding and countercultural that even the most dedicated believers fail to live up to them. It is good news indeed, then, that Jesus does not merely command long-suffering, forgiveness, and love of enemies. He Himself puts them into practice, lovingly bearing with us and forgiving us! • Lord Jesus, lead me to know the blessings of a life that reflects Your divine qualities of compassion, forbearance, and forgiveness. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:1 Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:2 centurion. See note, Mt 8:5. servant … was highly valued. The centurion was concerned for the servant as a person rather than as property.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:3–5 As one familiar with Jewish faith and practice, this official concluded that a pious Jew like Jesus would feel discomfort or even offense at being approached by a Gentile like himself. Instead, he asked some of his influential Jewish friends to intercede.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:5 The centurion had shown great commitment to the Jewish faith by paying for the construction of the local house of worship. He stopped short of becoming a full convert to Judaism, which would have created obstacles to his service in the Roman army.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:6 Lord. The centurion recognizes Jesus' authority, even over life-threatening illness. not worthy. The centurion shows awareness that he stands outside of God's covenant people and is considered a "Gentile sinner" by most Jews. Chrys: "Though having such great faith, he still accounted himself to be unworthy. Christ however, signifying that he was worthy to have Him enter into his house, did much greater things, marvelling at him, and proclaiming him, and giving more than he had asked. For he came indeed seeking for his servant health of body, but went away, having received a kingdom" (NPNF 1 10:180).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:7–8 say the word. Reveals the centurion's respect for Jesus' divine power and purity. Had Jesus entered the centurion's Gentile house, most fellow Jews would have been aghast, taking this involvement as defiling (cf Ac 10:28; 11:3). under authority. See note, Mt 8:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:9 marveled. Verb used of Jesus only at this event (concerning remarkable faith) and in Mk 6:6 (in reaction to His hometown's lack of faith). not even in Israel. Sounds anew the theme of salvation for the nations. See note, 2:1. faith. The key to God's kingdom is faith (trust) in Jesus Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:1–10 Jesus reveals His authority over every threatening foe, even death, by healing a centurion's servant. How often we try everything else before turning to the Lord when we find ourselves in similar desperate straits! Through regular worship, devotional time, and the reception of the Sacrament, God's Spirit brings us into a deeper and livelier trust in Jesus. • "May Thy rich grace impart Strength to my fainting heart; My zeal inspire! As Thou hast died for me, Oh, may my love to Thee Pure, warm, and changeless be, A living fire!" Amen. (LSB 702:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:11 Nain. Small village c 20 mi SW of Capernaum. See color map 4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:12 The woman's situation was particularly desperate. Her husband had already died, and now her only son as well. Her future was uncertain. Cf 1Tm 5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:13 compassion. Gk splagchnizomai. Lit, "his gut moved." Jesus experienced the same gut reaction as we sometimes do in sad situations.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:14 touched the bier. Provocative because it would render Jesus ceremonially unclean. See note, Nu 5:2−4. arise. Jesus is indeed the resurrection and the life (Jn 11:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:15 began to speak. Irrefutable proof that he was alive. gave him to his mother. Cf 1Ki 17:17–24, where Elijah restores the life of a widow's son. Jesus is the long-expected prophet greater than Elijah. Cf 9:28–35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:16 Fear. Understandably terrified and awestruck at first. glorified. Offered praise and worship. prophet. Because the coming Messiah was sometimes referred to as "the (coming) Prophet," the crowd's reaction to Jesus is stronger than may first appear. Cf Dt 18:15–20; Lk 9:7–9, 24:19; Jn 1:21; 7:40; esp Ac 3:22–23; 7:37. visited. See note, 1:68.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:17 Such news naturally spread rapidly by word of mouth.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:11–17 Out of compassion for a widow who lost her only son, Jesus raises the young man back to life. Tragedy knows no bounds, striking people of every nation, age, and station in life. Thank God for His great compassion, that Jesus is the Savior for all people. The Gospel shows He has conquered every foe for us, even death and the grave. • "For us He rose from death again; For us He went on high to reign; For us He sent His Spirit here To guide, to strengthen, and to cheer." Amen. (LSB 544:6)

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:18 disciples of John. Followers of John the Baptist. Cf Ac 19:1–7 regarding the persistence of John's appeal, even after his death.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:19 the one. See note, Mt 11:3.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:20 Baptist. Because his ministry included the administration of a religious washing (Baptism), John became known as the "Baptizer" or "Baptist." Cf 3:1–22.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:22 See note, Mt 11:5.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:23 blessed. See p 842. offended. Lit, "scandalized," refers to rejecting Jesus as Messiah and Son of God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:24–26 What did you go out … to see? See note, Mt 11:7–9.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:24 reed shaken. A "yes man," one who changes position with every shift in public opinion, unlike John, who was stable and strong.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:25 soft clothing … splendid clothing. See note, Mt 11:8. kings' courts. John's impact owed nothing to position or associations. Rather, his message drew people out to the wilderness.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:26 more than a prophet. See note, Mt 11:9.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:27 My messenger … prepare Your way. Jesus quotes Mal 3:1 to define John's role as herald announcing the advent of the Messiah and getting the people ready to receive Him. See note, 1:17.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:28 born of women. Reference to John's humanity, though this might also be taken as a subtle contrast with Jesus, who was not merely born of a woman, but of a virgin. none is greater. John was the last prophet under the old covenant. His surpassing greatness was his close connection to Jesus. He announced Christ's advent, baptized Him, and then preceded Him in a martyr's death. So closely related were John and Jesus, in fact, that Herod got the two confused (9:7–9). least in the kingdom of God is greater. Some, including Luther, understand Jesus as referring to Himself as "greater." However, because the Spirit dwells in the heart of every Christian, making present the risen Jesus and imparting His resurrected life, even the Church's rank-and-file believers enjoy privileges that exceed any bestowed under the old covenant.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:29–30 Likely comments on the dynamics of the crowd's reactions. declared God just. People were affirmed in their belief that God was behind John's message of judgment, repentance, and Baptism. baptism of John. See note, 3:3. rejected the purpose of God. Some who heard John still rejected salvation by refusing to acknowledge their sin and undergo Baptism. See note, Mt 3:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:31 this generation. Those rejecting John the Baptist and opposing Jesus.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:32 like children sitting in the marketplace. Dismissively compares the criticism of Jesus' opponents with the childish chatter heard on the street corner. We played … weep. Proverbial saying directed at those who criticized both John for being too stern and Jesus for being too easygoing. They rejected both the Law's condemnation of their sin and the Gospel's mercy.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:33 eating no bread and drinking no wine. As Gabriel prophesied in 1:15, John led an ascetic lifestyle. Not surprisingly, then, Lk also connects him with the practice of frequent fasting (5:33). has a demon. Those who rejected John's message actually attributed his unusual lifestyle and fiery preaching to the influence of an evil spirit.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:34 glutton and a drunkard. In contrast to John's asceticism, Jesus regularly ate with all kinds of people. Though the accusers' characterizations of Jesus were lies, they reflected an important truth: much of Jesus' outreach and teaching ministry took place over shared meals (5:33–39; 7:36–50; 10:38–42; 11:37–54; 14:1–24; 15; 22:7–38; 24:28–31, 41–49). See p 1764. tax collectors and sinners! See note, Mk 2:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:35 wisdom is justified by all her children. See note, Mt 11:19.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:18–35 In response to doubt and criticism, Jesus affirms that He is indeed the Messiah announced by John and that John, who heralded His advent, is Israel's greatest prophet. Yet, many will accept neither John's thunderous warnings nor Jesus' proclamation of the Good News of the kingdom. Such skepticism continues today. Thank God, conversion is God's work through His Word. God's Spirit continues to enlighten, sanctify, and keep us in the true faith. • "Holy Spirit, light divine, Shine upon this heart of mine; Chase the shades of night away, Turn the darkness into day." Amen. (LSB 496:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:36 Given the opposition Jesus suffered from many Pharisees, it is notable that this one invited Jesus into his house. His place. Perhaps the seat of honor, closest to the host.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:37 a woman … a sinner. Likely a prostitute or adulteress. reclining at table. See note, Mt 8:11. alabaster. See note, Mt 26:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:38 Scandalous behavior. In later Judaism, a married woman who let her hair down in public could be divorced. Nevertheless, Jesus interprets this woman's behavior as reverent and appropriate. Aug: "She who had walked long in evil, sought now the steps of Uprightness. First she shed tears, the heart's blood; and washed the Lord's Feet with the duty of confession. She wiped them with her hair, she kissed, she anointed them: she spake by her silence; she uttered not a word, but she manifested her devotion" (NPNF 1 6:416).
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:39 If a ceremonially impure person such as this woman touched an observant Jew, the latter would be rendered unclean and would be unable to enter the temple area, celebrate festivals, or offer sacrifice. See notes, v 14; 5:13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:40 answering. Jesus responds to Simon's dismay and concerns, even before Simon voices them. Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. Though still respectful in his address of Jesus, Simon seems skeptical.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:41 moneylender. More like a loan shark than a banker. five hundred denarii … the other fifty. An ordinary worker earned about one denarius per day; these sums were substantial.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:42 Amazingly, the debt was forgiven. Obviously, it was an unusual event, which makes a powerful point in Jesus' story. love him more? The greater the gift, the greater the gratitude.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:43 Even though Simon answered with some reservation ("I suppose"), he came to the only logical conclusion.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:44 Ordinary hospitality included the opportunity for a visitor to wash. Sandals and dusty roads made for dirty feet. See note, Gn 18:4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:45 In the ancient East, the kiss of greeting is equivalent to a handshake. In fact, this is still common today in parts of the Near East and Europe. See note, Rm 16:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:46 Offering olive oil for personal grooming was a special courtesy, reserved for important guests. See note, Ps 23:5.
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:47 This woman's love did not earn her forgiveness. Rather, it flowed from being shown mercy, as Jesus' story suggested. Aug: "This was spoke on account of that Pharisee who thought that he had either no sins, or but few" (NPNF 1 6:417).
LUKE—NOTE ON 7:48 Your sins are forgiven. Lit, "Your sins stand forgiven." Gk perfect tense implies a previous pardon that continues to remain in effect. “In repentance these two things ought always to exist, namely, contrition and faith…. By these tears the contrition is recognized. Afterward, she hears the Absolution” (Ap XIIA 57).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:49 Because only God can forgive sins, the guests were shocked that Jesus claimed such authority. Cf 5:17–26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:50 Your faith has saved you. Or, “Your faith has made you well.” Forgiveness imparts deliverance from sin and death. “Christ did not mean that the woman had merited forgiveness of sins by that work of love. That is why He adds, ‘Your faith has saved you.’ But faith is that which freely obtains God’s mercy because of God’s Word” (Ap V 31–32). go in peace. Peace naturally flows from the reception of God’s forgiveness and acceptance (cf Rm 5:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:36–50 Jesus teaches that even notorious sinners can be forgiven and restored; indeed, they sometimes become all the more devoted to God for having received greater deliverance. His teaching challenges us to consider: Do we act like the begrudging Pharisee or the grateful penitent? Do we trust that God can truly change people’s lives? By God’s Spirit, we grow daily in our appreciation of the fact that “where sin increased, grace abounded all the more” (Rm 5:20). • “Chief of sinners though I be, Jesus shed His blood for me, Died that I might live on high, Lives that I might never die. As the branch is to the vine, I am His, and He is mine.” Amen. (LSB 611:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:1 Jesus’ Galilean ministry was ever on the move. good news of the kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:2–3 also some women. Women followed Jesus, supporting the ministry of Jesus and the apostles. This is striking, because females did not normally follow Jewish rabbis. Magdalene. From the village of Magdala. Mary was present at the crucifixion, witnessed Jesus’ burial, and helped anoint His body (24:1). Joanna. Accompanied Mary to anoint Jesus’ body. As wife to the household manager of Herod Antipas, she would have belonged to a higher social class. Susanna. Scripture says nothing more about her. provided for them. Female disciples make important contributions to Jesus’ ministry and God’s unfolding plan of salvation for all people. See p 1726.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:1–3 Jesus breaks with rabbinic tradition and allows women to become disciples. The Church likewise calls all its members to various forms of service. The Lord has appropriate forms of service for every member of His Kingdom, regardless of gender, ethnicity, or social standing. He serves one and all by taking away their sins and giving them His Holy Spirit. • Give Your Church wisdom, O Lord, that she may be a faithful steward of all people baptized in Your name. Give me zeal for my own vocation and service, as well as the grace to encourage others. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:4 See note, 5:36.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:5 sower. A farmer planting seed. See note, Mk 4:14. sow. See note, Mt 13:3. path. Packed-down soil. Farmers cast seed in all directions while walking along the paths through their fields.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:6 See note, Mk 4:5–6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:7 See note, Mk 4:7.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:8 yielded. See note, Mk 4:8. He who has ears to hear, let him hear. See note, Mk 4:9.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:4–8 Jesus warns that not everyone hearing God's Word will have an enduring faith. Tragically, some hear the life-giving Gospel of Jesus but fail to produce the fruit of a Christian life, eventually dying in unbelief. Genuine faith, however, so transforms our lives that we joyfully serve the Lord in this world and enjoy eternal life. • "On what has now been sown Thy blessing, Lord, bestow; The pow'r is Thine alone To make it sprout and grow. Do Thou in grace the harvest raise, And Thou alone shalt have the praise!" Amen. (LSB 921:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:9 See note, Mk 4:10.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:10 given to know the secrets. Jesus clarifies His parables with the disciples, though not always with the crowds, which contain some insincere and hostile individuals. See note, Mk 4:11. seeing they may not see. Spoken to Isaiah as he accepted his call to prophetic office. The quote stresses that the prophetic proclamation of God's Word is always met with rejection by some. Bern: "For His friends how different! … The Lord knows who are His. Here is His great secret and the counsel which He has made known unto men…. Who, except he be called, may approach God's counsel? Those whom He called, them also He justified" (SLSB, p 151).
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:11 seed is the word of God. Jesus equates the dynamic seed with the Gospel and its sowing with the proclamation of the kingdom of God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:12 Where hearts are as impenetrable as a hard-packed footpath, the Gospel message does not enter. See note, Ex 4:21.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:13 See notes, Mk 4:16–17.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:14 choked by the cares and riches and pleasures of life. See note, Mk 4:18–19.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:15 honest and good heart. A humble faith dwelling in a repentant heart is able, by God's grace, both to endure persecution and to avoid the trap of self-absorption. fruit. Deeds of faith. with patience. Given the incredibly high ethical standard Jesus set for His followers (e.g., 6:27–42), patience, determination, and divine grace are required.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:9–15 Jesus uses an agricultural metaphor to explain how the Gospel ministry works and why it is sometimes thwarted. As our own experience bears out, the sinful nature, the world, and the devil all resist the Holy Spirit, who calls people to faith and would lead them into committed discipleship. By God's grace, however, our faith not only withstands trial and temptation but even grows stronger. The Christian's faithful endurance is a testimony to Christ's constant love. • "To Thee our wants are known, From Thee are all our pow'rs; Accept what is Thine own And pardon what is ours. Our praises, Lord, and prayers receive, And to Thy Word a blessing give." Amen. (LSB 921:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:16–18 Stresses the practical implications and public nature of faith in Jesus. Whoever becomes Jesus' disciple will be scrutinized. The presence (or lack) of Christian fruit is plain for all to see.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:17 nothing is hidden. Ultimately, everything about a person—esp his or her attitude toward Jesus—will be made public on Judgment Day.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:18 how you hear. See note, Mk 4:9. more will be given … taken away. Not saying that the rich get richer. Rather, in the economy of God's kingdom, those who faithfully put into practice the teachings of Jesus will be given more faith. Conversely, those who do not receive His Gospel will see spiritual life and blessings slip away.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:16–18 Jesus calls His followers to be just as transparent in their attitudes and irreproachable in their behavior as He is. However, we often fare poorly under such a glaring light, where our failures seem magnified. Nevertheless, when we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness (1Jn 1:9). • Draw us ever to Your light, O Lord. Although it makes clear our unworthiness to stand in Your presence, it also removes our darkness and, by Your forgiving grace, restores us to the glory for which You created us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:19 See note, Mk 3:32. his brothers. Probably refers to the natural children of Joseph and Mary, i.e., Jesus' younger half brothers. However, there is a later tradition that Joseph was widowed before marrying the Virgin Mary. If that is so, these siblings could be Jesus' older stepbrothers, born to Joseph by his first wife. See note, Mk 6:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:20–21 Families of flesh and blood last only for a lifetime, but the family of God endures forever and calls people to commit to the eternal Word.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:19–21 By faith, we inherit the kingdom of God. Yet, fewer and fewer people break away from earthly cares and make time for the Church and the eternal fellowship God bestows through it. Those attending the Lord's Table, however, enjoy an eternal family fellowship and a foretaste of the feast that goes on forever in God's presence. • Lord, show us the need for both our earthly and Church families. By Your Spirit, increase our commitment to both our temporal and eternal relations; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:22 lake. See note, 5:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:23 windstorm. See note, Mk 4:37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:24 Master. See note, 5:5. rebuked. Means "reprove, censure, or punish." Jesus speaks to the natural forces as if to a person (see note, Mk 4:39). Jesus previously rebuked evil spirits during exorcisms (4:35, 41) and a fever while healing (4:39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:25 Where is your faith? Given all the miracles the disciples have witnessed, Jesus expects a greater degree of trust. Who then is this. This question encapsulates the point of the story, which revolves around Jesus' identity. Left unanswered, this question effectively challenges Luke's audience to respond.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:22–25 After calming a storm, Jesus challenges His disciples to consider the answer to their question, "Who then is this?" Though any Christian can answer this question correctly while sitting in an armchair, it is a different matter altogether when facing trouble. Yet, when we are similarly overwhelmed, the risen Christ comes to our aid. • "Yea, though I walk in death's dark vale, Yet will I fear no ill; For Thou art with me, and Thy rod And staff me comfort still." Amen. (LSB 710:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:26 Gerasenes. See note, Mk 5:1−20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:27 Social isolation and an attraction to burial sites were symptoms of this man's demon possession. tombs. See notes, Mt 8:28; Mk 5:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:28 Son of the Most High God? Demons often recognized Jesus' divinity before humans did. Fully aware of Jesus' authority, the demons pleaded for mercy. See note, Mk 1:24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:29 Besides social isolation and a preoccupation with graveyards, superhuman strength was another characteristic of demoniacs.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:30 Legion. See note, Mk 5:9. him. The demon-possessed man.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:31 depart into the abyss. Cast into hell. As numerous and powerful as these demons were, they knew Jesus had dominion over them and so again begged not to be cast into hell.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:32–33 The presence of these ceremonially unclean animals makes it likely that this was Gentile territory. Cf Dt 14:8; see note, Mt 8:31. enter these … were drowned. From a Jewish perspective, this was a fitting end for both the unclean spirits and the defiling animals.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:34 These men were not merely reporting the loss of the pigs to their owners, but also recounting an amazing show of divine power.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:35 sitting at the feet of Jesus. Now free of his possession, the man sits in the posture of a disciple. Clothed, rational, and enjoying the company of other people, this fellow has been fully restored. afraid. See note, Mk 5:15.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:37 The reaction of the townspeople is understandable on two counts. First, they had just heard about the destruction of an entire herd of pigs, which represented a huge economic loss. Second, Jesus' show of divine power frightened them.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:38–39 sent him away … Return. Apparently, Jesus wanted him to witness to his hometown. There, his testimony would be most persuasive among those who knew him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:39 God has done … Jesus had done. Luke subtly equates Jesus' miracle with something God has done. Cf 17:15–16, where the healed leper praises God by worshiping at Jesus' feet.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:26–39 Luke's lengthiest report of an exorcism is also his most dramatic: in the Gerasene region, Jesus frees a deranged and menacing demoniac. The magnitude of this man's suffering leads some—especially the pious—to dread evil spirits and wonder what prevents any of us from being the object of their attacks. Though we do well to take note that demons exist, we may also trust in Jesus, whose resurrection has disarmed the forces of sin, death, and even Satan. • "The pow'rs of death have done their worst, But Christ their legions hath dispersed. Let shouts of holy joy outburst. Alleluia!" Amen. (LSB 464:2) LUKE—NOTE ON 8:40 returned. To Capernaum, Jesus' headquarters for His Galilean ministry. See note, Mt 4:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:41 a ruler of the synagogue. The layman responsible for the local house of worship. falling at Jesus' feet. An act of humility and respect, this posture also reflected his desperation. See p 1276.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:42 The girl was almost of marriageable age. As such, the promise of family and children lay just ahead of her.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:43 discharge of blood. See note, Mk 5:25. twelve years. Plainly, this was a chronic problem. Note that "twelve years" (v 42) intertwines the accounts of the healing of Jairus's daughter and the woman.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:44 touched the fringe. See note, Mt 14:36.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:45 Who was it that touched Me? Jesus felt the woman's need for healing. His question singles out the woman from the crowd, so that He can praise her amazing faith. Master. See note, 5:5. crowds surround You. Humorous confusion from the apostles because dozens of people would have touched Jesus as He made His way. See p 1335. The Gospels repeatedly depict Jesus as besieged by those seeking help (e.g., Mk 3:9−10; Lk 5:18−19; 6:17−18).
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:47 Though the woman had tried to escape notice, she was now the focus of attention, both of the crowd and of Jesus.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:48 Daughter. By virtue of her faith, this woman was part of God's family; Jesus addresses her in familial terms. your faith has made you well. See note, 7:50.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:49 Teacher. Title of honor shows respect, even where full-blown faith may be lacking (cf 7:40).
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:50 only believe. A call to trust God, even in the face of insurmountable problems. The same Jesus who can calm storms, exorcise hosts of demons, and heal the incurable can also help this dead girl.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:51 Peter and John and James. See note, Mk 1:19.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:52 she is not dead but sleeping. See note, Mk 5:39.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:53 laughed. See note, Mt 9:24.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:54 taking her by the hand. See note, 5:13. Child. Gk pais, a term often noting affection.
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:55 her spirit returned. Flesh and spirit—separated by death—were now reunited in life. to eat. Jesus shows concern for this girl's recovery of strength, but also commands an act that proves she is bodily alive (cf 24:41–43).
LUKE—NOTE ON 8:56 Jesus wanted to continue preaching from town to town until it was time to give His life as a ransom on the cross. If people came only for His miracles, they would miss out on what mattered most.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:40–56 After displaying His mastery over nature and demons, Jesus shows His authority over incurable illness and even death. Just as the disciples despaired in the face of danger (v 25), we also sometimes despair as catastrophe looms. But Jesus can deal with any problem. His sacrificial death and victorious resurrection prove that He can overcome even the gravest threat. • "O Lord God, the just Judge, strong and patient, You know the frailty and wickedness of men. Be my strength, and all my trust, for my own conscience does not suffice for me. Although I know nothing by myself, yet I cannot hereby justify myself; for without Your mercy, in Your sight shall no man living be justified. Amen." (Thom K, TLWA, p 231)

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:1 Jesus empowers His apostles to perform the same wonders as He has done. The Twelve performed similar miracles after the resurrection (cf Ac 2:43; 3:6; 5:12–16; 9:32–42).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:2 Jesus' own ministry was one of healing and revealing. Note that healings revealed the hidden power of the Gospel with irrefutable evidence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:3 These instructions required the apostles to trust God. Their daily needs were to be met by those that received their ministry and provided hospitality (food and lodging).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:4 Prohibits the Twelve from constantly moving about so as to secure better accommodations. The goodwill of those who received the Gospel and extended hospitality to Christ's ambassadors was more important than the apostles' comfort.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:5 shake off the dust. Ritual act symbolizing God's judgment against those who reject the Gospel, as if to indicate that the Twelve should not even associate with these unbelievers' dust. Jesus commands the Seventy-two to do the same when He sends them out (10:10–11), and Paul also does this during his mission journeys (Ac 13:51; 18:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:6 preaching the gospel. Lit, "evangelizing." This proclamation naturally included both Law (threats of judgment on sin and unbelief) and Gospel (promises of blessing and eternal life to those who believe).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:1–6 Jesus sends out the 12 apostles to preach the Gospel, heal diseases, and cast out evil spirits. When modern-day Christians hear of such wondrous power and consider how few miracles they have experienced, they easily begin to feel inadequate for the service to which God calls them. However, we possess the same hope and eternal life through Christ crucified. We know that wherever that Gospel is delivered and received, the greatest healing follows. • "May God bestow on us His grace, With blessings rich provide us; And may the brightness of His face To life eternal guide us, That we His saving health may know, His gracious will and pleasure, And also to the nations show Christ's riches without measure And unto God convert them." Amen. (LSB 823:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:7–9 Herod is reintroduced (cf 3:1); he tells that he put John the Baptist to death. This passage also raises the question of Jesus' identity—a major theme in the discourse of this chapter (vv 18–22)—as well as sets the stage for Herod's interview of Jesus on Good Friday, just before His death (23:8−9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:7 Herod the tetrarch. See note, Mt 14:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:7–9 After the Twelve are sent out to preach and heal, there is such an outburst of prophetic activity that even Herod takes notice. Unfortunately, many people today have the same kind of puzzled but faithless reaction when the Gospel reaches their ears. By God's Spirit and grace, our hearing of the Gospel will bear different fruit, that is, faithful commitment and the eager expectation of Jesus' life-giving blessings. • Lord, open my heart to the blessings of Your Gospel. Grant me Your Spirit, that I never fail to appreciate the privilege of knowing You rightly and of being Your child and heir. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:10 Jesus brings the Twelve to an isolated place, away from the crowds. He probably did this in order to provide a time of rest for the apostles and debrief them after their just-completed mission (cf 10:17–24). Bethsaida. On the northeast shore of the Sea of Galilee. See color map 4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:11 spoke to them … healing. Jesus' ministry was one of revealing and healing, teaching about the Kingdom and relieving human suffering.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:12 find lodging and get provisions. People had gone to great lengths to see Jesus. desolate place. See note, v 10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:13 You give them something to eat. Jesus unexpectedly challenges the apostles. Where earlier, they had to depend on the hospitality of others for food, now, ironically, Jesus asks them to provide for those hearing the Gospel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:14 five thousand men. As in OT reports about the exodus (Ex 12:37), women and children are not included in the number. groups of about fifty each. Echoes OT descriptions about Israel's flight from Egypt (Ex 18:21). The upcoming feeding miracle thus invites comparison with miracles God worked through Moses during the desert wanderings (cf Jn 6:22–59).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:16 said a blessing. Such prayer invites comparison to other passages, e.g., the Last Supper (22:17–20) and the event in Emmaus (24:30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:17 they all ate. Everyone left this meal full. This was not always the case, for malnutrition was common in Jesus' day. twelve. This number evokes the exodus account (see note, v 14) by calling to mind the 12 tribes of Israel (Ex 24:4; Nu 1:44; Dt 1:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:10–17 In a miracle reminiscent of the manna in the wilderness, Jesus feeds the multitude that have come out to the wilderness to hear Him. Like the confused apostles, we often face life's challenges armed only with our sin-starved wisdom and resources. Yet, Jesus stands ready to help. Just as He miraculously fed the 5,000, He is willing also and able to provide for us in time of need. • Lord, teach me to turn to You in every time of need, for I can do all things through You, as You strengthen me. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:18 praying alone. See notes, 3:21; Mk 1:35. Who do the crowds say that I am? This identity question was highlighted in the episode involving Herod (vv 7–9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:19 The apostles' answers are reasonable. After all, John was the greatest prophet ever (see note, 7:28), and Elijah was expected to reappear at the dawn of the messianic age (see notes, 1:17; 3:15; 4:24–27; 7:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:20 But who do you say that I am? Jesus puts His disciples on the spot. This induces Peter to make the first full-fledged confession of Jesus as Messiah. The Christ of God. See p 2098. Peter's unequivocal identification of Jesus' messianic status is a monumental event in the Gospel. Henceforth, Jesus begins to speak openly about His death (v 22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:18–20 For the first time in the Gospel, Peter makes a clear confession of Jesus as the Messiah. All of our words and actions should similarly confess the One who is the only life and hope of the world, though we often fail in this regard. When we fail—indeed even when we deny our Lord—Jesus treats us just as He did Peter. He faithfully calls us to repent, and He forgives our weaknesses. • Lord Jesus, grant us grace to believe Your promise that if we confess You before men, You will confess us before the Father in heaven. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:21 Many Jews expected the Messiah to be a military conqueror like David, one who would forcibly expel the occupying Romans (see p 1553–58). This helps explain why Jesus often commanded silence about His messianic identity. He did not want mistaken understandings about His person and work to take root.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:22 First of Jesus' repeated predictions about His arrest, trial and conviction, crucifixion, and resurrection (cf 9:44; 13:31–33; 18:31−33). Son of Man. See p 2098.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:21–22 Now identified as the Christ, Jesus challenges His disciples' understanding of that role by revealing His impending suffering and death. It is painful to admit that we need a Messiah who would suffer and die for us—to make up for our failures and rebellions. Thankfully, Jesus was willing to be born under the Law, to fulfill all righteousness, and then pay the full price of our redemption on Calvary's cross. • "Come to Calv'ry's holy mountain, Sinners, ruined by the fall; Here a pure and healing fountain Flows for you, for me, for all, In a full, perpetual tide, Opened when our Savior died." Amen. (LSB 435:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23–24 Having revealed that His ministry will include rejection and death on a cross, Jesus explains that His disciples must be prepared to experience the same things. Though the cost of discipleship can be steep, wonderful promises also apply. Those who surrender their lives (lose their lives) to Jesus and His Gospel unfailingly receive salvation and eternity with God (save their lives).
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23 See note, Mk 8:34.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:25 See note, Mk 8:36–37. forfeits himself. A way of describing eternal condemnation and separation from God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:26 whoever is ashamed of Me. Refers to those who hesitate to confess Jesus openly and live faithfully as His disciples. Though we may not suffer much persecution today, those to whom Jesus first spoke did suffer and even paid the ultimate price for publicly witnessing to their faith in the Gospel (21:12–17; Ac 5:40–42; 7:54–60; 12:1–5). glory. Christ's visible, public return on the Last Day. See p 1902.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:27 taste death. Refers to physical death. see the kingdom of God. Best taken as referring to the disciples' beholding of the resurrected Jesus, His ascension, receiving the outpoured Spirit on Pentecost, and so forth. Such signs were unmistakable proof that the messianic age had begun. See pp 1565–66.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23–27 Because Jesus is the only way to eternal life, following Him demands that we reorder our priorities, putting Him in first place and setting aside whatever does not accord with His way. This proves impossible for us but not for our Lord, who embraces and bears our crosses and shame that He might present us righteous before His dear Father. • " 'Take up your cross,' the Savior said, 'If you would My disciple be; Forsake the past, and come this day, And humbly follow after Me.' " Amen. (LW 382:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:28 Peter and John and James. Among the first appointed as apostles (6:14), they were present also when Jairus's daughter was raised (see note, Mk 1:19). They were recognized as leaders among the Twelve. the mountain. Possibly Mount Tabor or Mount Hermon.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:29 His face was altered. Jesus' appearance was transformed; a divine brilliance radiated from Him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:30 Moses. The premier OT prophet who served as a model for the coming Messiah (see notes, Dt 18:15–18). See application note, Dt 34. Elijah. Similarly connected to the advent of God's Chosen One (see note, Mal 4:5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:31 glory. Moses and Elijah enjoy close fellowship with God in heaven and so reflect that divine brilliance. See pp 6–7. departure. Lit, "exodus." Because Jesus was soon to offer His life as a sacrifice for the sins of the world (vv 21–22), thereby freeing His people from slavery to sin and leading them to the promised land of eternal life, this comparison to the OT exodus from Egypt is fitting.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:32 heavy with sleep. Apparently, Jesus prayed for a long time. His glory. Because they were sleeping when Jesus' appearance was transfigured, the disciples saw His radiance and brilliant white clothing only after awakening.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:33 Master. See note, 5:5. three tents. Temporary shelters. Peter wanted to prolong the mountaintop experience. not knowing. Peter did not understand the situation or the reason for the appearance of Moses and Elijah.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:34 a cloud came. Often a visible sign of God's presence (cf Ex 13:21–22; 40:34; Ac 1:9).
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:35 voice. See note, 3:22. My Chosen One. The Father affirms that Jesus is His Son, appointed before the creation of the world to bear the world's sins on the cross. listen to Him! Echoes Dt 18:19 and confirms that Jesus is the long-expected prophet like Moses. See notes, v 30; Lk 7:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:36 kept silent. Jesus was not the military conqueror that the people expected. Therefore, revealing the transfiguration at this time could only lead to misunderstanding. Only in the light of Easter and Pentecost did the meaning of this mountaintop experience come clear (cf 2Pt 1:16–21).
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:28–36 Through the transfiguration, Jesus allows His disciples to catch a glimpse of the glory that will again be His after His resurrection. Like Peter, we, too, like to prolong "mountaintop experiences," leaving the toil and trouble of the world behind. However, Jesus has not called us out of the world, but rather to overcome it. Accordingly, He lifts us up and strengthens us when we are challenged, reminding us that He has already overcome the world for us. • " 'Tis good, Lord, to be here! Yet we may not remain; But since Thou bidst us leave the mount, Come with us to the plain." Amen. (LSB 414:5)
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:37 Transfiguration likely occurred late at night (accounting for the sleepiness of the disciples). After daybreak, they descended.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:38 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:39 Though the symptoms described here seem to match epilepsy, Luke clearly attributes this boy's suffering to a demon. Both may have afflicted him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:40 Your disciples … could not. See note, Mt 17:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:41 faithless and twisted generation. Jesus repeatedly rebuked people's lack of faith with such terms (7:31; 11:29–32; cf Ac 2:40) because they failed to fully recognize Jesus' identity. how long. See note, Mt 17:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:42 Jesus relieved the boy of all his suffering, both physical and mental.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:43 the majesty of God. Mighty acts of God are visible in the healing works of Jesus.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:37–42 On the way down from the transfiguration, Jesus rescues a demon-possessed boy. Like the disciples who appear in this episode, we, too, exhibit weakness of faith. Thankfully, Jesus does not simply rebuke such failures and then fall silent. Rather, He responds in compassion and forgiveness as well, and so rescues us from unbelief and the menacing power of Satan. • Lord Jesus, keep me strong in faith, that neither fear of death nor the threats of the adversary divert my eyes from You and the glories of Your Gospel promises. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:44 Son of Man. See p 2098. delivered. Or, "handed over," "betrayed." Refers to His arrest, trial, and execution.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:45 concealed from them. Only after the resurrection would God's plan of salvation become clear to the disciples (cf 24:44–47). afraid. Reason unclear. Plainly, it was not a pleasant topic.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:43–45 Jesus once more predicts His suffering and death, and once more the disciples fail to understand Him. Blinded by our own misplaced priorities, we may likewise fail to discern God's ways and plans for our lives. But Jesus remains with us every step of the way. With Him as our guide, we cannot be lost. • "Jesus, lead Thou on Till our rest is won. Heav'nly leader, still direct us, Still support, console, protect us, Till we safely stand In our fatherland." Amen. (LSB 718:5)
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:46 them. The disciples, particularly the apostles. greatest. The disciples were expecting an earthly kingdom (see note, v 21), in which they might occupy positions of power and prestige. They began to argue about leadership positions.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:47 Jesus knew the apostles' argument, even without hearing every word, and understood the thinking behind it.
LUKE—NOTE ON 9:48 receives this child. Children are of relatively little importance from a functional point of view; they do not know much and cannot do much. in My name. On account of Jesus and in conformity with His teaching. When Christians love and value a person because Jesus loves and values that person, they are fulfilling what Jesus commands here. Him who sent Me. The Father. least … great. God's value system differs from those of the world. The believer who serves and helps others is greater in God's eyes than the influential person who seems so important in the world's eyes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:46–48 Jesus corrects a misunderstanding about the nature of His kingdom, clarifying that true greatness comes from faith and service. We are just as mistaken when we think, as the disciples did, that our value comes from social position or material abundance. Instead, the grace manifested in Jesus' sacrificial death establishes our value. By the power of God's Spirit, our humble service produces things great in His eyes. • O Lord, grant me humility, that, being strengthened by Your Word and following the example of Your service to others, I might please You in all that I do and say. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:49 Master. See note, 5:5. casting out demons. Using the powerful name of Jesus, an unidentified person was exorcising demons from people. tried to stop him. The disciples were protecting their exclusive status with Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:50 the one who is not against you is for you. Jesus rebukes the disciples again for squabbling over leadership in the Church, to the neglect of serving people. Order and organization are important, yet we must not lose sight of why they exist—to dispense God's mercy. Cf Nu 11:24–30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:49–50 Jesus admonishes His disciples for poor attitudes about ministry. Like the apostles, we may keep certain privileges and opportunities for ourselves. That impulse, however, runs contrary to God's mercy, which He would share with all people, not just those in our preferred circle. Thankfully, Jesus left the comfort of heaven to stand with us, bear our burdens, and deliver us from evil. • Lord, preserve us from that selfish impulse that would inhibit Your mercy and the proclamation of Your name. Help us to see that You desire the salvation of all people, that we acknowledge and put to appropriate use the gifts of others. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51 taken up. Refers to Jesus' death, resurrection, and esp ascension into heaven (24:50–51; Ac 1:2, 9–11). set His face. In firm resolve. Evokes numerous passages from Ezk (6:2; 13:17; 21:2) and so reinforces Luke's characterization of Jesus as God's ultimate prophet. go to Jerusalem. Place of Jesus' death and resurrection, which fulfill God's plan of salvation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:52–53 messengers. Likely sent to proclaim the kingdom and call for repentance. On that understanding, these envoys anticipate the upcoming appointment and sending of the Seventy-two (10:1–16). Samaritans. See p 1557. did not receive Him. Unfortunately, those sent by Jesus to the Samaritans had no success.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:54 The disciples expected that harsh judgment would come down on the Samaritans. Their request was perhaps inspired from the ministry of the prophet Elijah (2Ki 1:9–12) and also by centuries-old antagonism between Jews and Samaritans.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:55 rebuked them. Third time Jesus reproved the attitudes of His apostles (cf vv 46–50). The disciples still had much to learn about the Christlike attitudes necessary for ministry.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51–56 When Jesus' overture to the Samaritans is rejected, His apostles imagine that harsh retribution is in order. Such thinking is typical, unfortunately, as age-old conflicts die hard. We may easily resort to similar bad judgment. Yet, Jesus makes peace, not only with God but also between people. In Christ, all who repent are fully reconciled to the Father. • Lord, remove all sinful division and enmity from Your Church, that we love just as You have loved us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:57 I will follow You. Elsewhere, Jesus always initiated the call to discipleship. Remarkably, the Gospels never tell us about anyone offering to follow Jesus and then successfully becoming a disciple. In each case, Jesus seems to challenge the self-confidence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:58 During Jesus' ministry, He had no home of His own. He depended on hospitality, just as the apostles did when He sent them out (see note, v 3). Son of Man. See p 2098.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:59–60 See notes, Mt 8:21, 22. proclaim the kingdom of God. The kingdom is so important that its proclamation pushes even venerated duties and traditions into the background. See pp 1565–66.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:61 say farewell. A third candidate for discipleship is shocked by Jesus' demands. Clearly, following Jesus means a radical reordering of values and priorities.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:62 It took one's full attention to hold and press down on a plow with one hand as it cut through the earth. The plowman's other hand held a goad for the animal pulling the plow.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:57–62 In three brief exchanges with would-be disciples, Jesus shows that the cost of discipleship is high. Obviously, were it up to us to achieve our place in the kingdom of God, we would never make it. Thankfully, then, Jesus invites us and by grace makes it possible for us to become members of His eternal communion. • "O Lord, rescue us from the captivity of the sins which have oppressed us, so that we may attain the dwellings of the heavenly Jerusalem; through Jesus Christ. Amen." (Sarum Breviary, TLWA, p 228)

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:1 appointed. Selected or chosen, just as Jesus had previously done when he appointed the Twelve (6:12–16) and then sent them out (9:1–6). seventy-two. May subtly symbolize the number of Gentile nations around Israel. On that understanding, Jesus broadens the scope of the outreach here, building on what He had just done in reaching out to Samaritans (9:52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:2 harvest … laborers. The Church continues praying that the Lord will raise up new generations of workers to harvest souls unto eternal life.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:3 as lambs in the midst of wolves. Warns that Christian witness will often be met with opposition and even persecution (cf 21:12–19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:4 Carry no moneybag. See notes, 9:3, 4. greet no one. Polite greetings could be time-consuming, involving long discussions of one's family.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:5–6 Greetings delivered from the Lord are not mere formalities, but actually impart a blessing. son of peace. One who receives God's messengers worthily. Cf v 16. it will return to you. Only those who receive a blessing in good faith will actually benefit from it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:7 remain in the same house. See note, 9:4. laborer deserves his wages. See note, Mt 10:9–10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:8 eat what is set before you. Expands on v 7. More important, the missionaries are to share table with people considered ceremonially unclean and consume what may not be ceremonially clean. See p 1764.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:9 Heal the sick. See notes, 9:2, 11. kingdom … near. See note, 17:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:11–12 dust of your town … wipe off. See note, 9:5. more bearable on that day. Those receiving such unmistakable signs of the Kingdom's presence will bear a greater responsibility for rejecting it. See note, Mt 10:15. Sodom. Ancient city near the Dead Sea that was destroyed by God for its extreme sinfulness (Gn 19:1–29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:1–12 Having previously sent out the Twelve (9:1–6), Jesus expands the breadth of His Gospel outreach by sending out 72 more workers. Then and now, many people who hear of Jesus' kingdom end up rejecting it. Much as we hate to admit it, we, too, have responded indifferently and, at times, have rejected God's will for our lives. How heartening to know that Jesus continues to reach out with compassion through the Gospel ministry He has established. • Lord, even as You have called me to faith and hope in the Gospel, keep me steadfast in the same. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:13–14 Woe to you. See notes, Hos 7:13; Na 3:1; Mk 13:17. Exclamatory warning. Chorazin! … Bethsaida! Towns near the Sea of Galilee. Residents there were aware of the teaching and miracles Jesus performed in that region. Tyre and Sidon. Pagan cities farther north, along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea. See color map 4. would have repented. Jesus repeatedly contrasted more receptive pagans with children of Abraham who were less open-minded (cf 7:9; 13:28–30). sackcloth and ashes. Symbolic of repentance. See note, Jb 16:15. more bearable. See note, vv 11−12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:15 See note, Mt 11:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:16 Rejecting God's representatives is equivalent to rejecting Him. "They [Church authorities] have been given the ministry of the Word and Sacraments. They have no other authority according to the Gospel than the authority to forgive sins, to judge doctrine, to reject doctrines contrary to the Gospel, and to exclude from the communion of the Church wicked people, whose wickedness is known. They cannot exclude people with human force, but simply by the Word" (AC XXVIII 21). "Ministers act in Christ's place and do not represent their own persons…. Ungodly teachers are to be deserted because they no longer act in Christ's place, but are antichrists" (Ap VII/VIII 47–48). Apostolic authority guided the work of the Early Church (cf Ac 6:2−3; 15:6, 22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:13–16 As Jesus sends out the Seventy-two, He warns that whoever rejects Him will be in danger of eternal condemnation. Such warnings continue in force today and apply especially to those who have heard the Gospel frequently. However, the fact that our familiarity with God sometimes breeds contempt does not mean that He acts likewise. He is faithful and just and forgives all who repent. • Give me a grateful heart, O Lord, ever ready to serve You and Your people. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:17 in Your name! As was previously evidenced, the authority of Jesus' name was such that it could even cast out demons (9:49). After Jesus' resurrection, God enabled the apostles to work wonders through the almighty power of Jesus' name (Ac 3:6; 4:30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:18 I saw Satan fall. Vividly portrays the effect that the proclamation of the kingdom had on Satan and his minions: their grip on humanity was loosened. Cf Lk 11:14–22; 13:10–17; Rv 12:1–12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:19–20 given you authority. Cf 10:8–10. nothing shall hurt you. Jesus promises His people protection from evil while they are engaged in spiritual warfare. Luth: " 'The angel of the Lord encamps around those who fear him.' … This is one of the special and most memorable consolations in the psalms and should be applied to our advantage" (AE 6:94). Such pledges of divine protection, however, are tempered by Jesus' prediction that His witnesses will encounter hostile rejection (12:11) and even suffer persecution (21:12). do not rejoice in this … but rejoice. Rather than focus primarily on the lesser (albeit impressive) gifts of divine protection and power over the demons, Jesus directs the Seventy-two to make the greater gift of eternal salvation their first and final hope.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:17–20 Empowered by Jesus, the Seventy-two advance into Satan's territory as people believe the Gospel. Until Christ's return, we, too, remain in this war zone, where Satan does everything he can to destroy us and halt the Gospel's advance. In Christ, however, we are protected. In Him, we cannot lose, even though put to death, for in the end Christ grants us eternal life. • "Lord, be our light when worldly darkness veils us; Lord, be our shield when earthly armor fails us; And in the day when hell itself assails us, Grant us Your peace, Lord." Amen. (LSB 659:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:21 Inspired by the Spirit, Jesus expresses joy at the life-giving insight just gained by the disciples. Saving faith, a gift from the Father, is created by the Spirit, not the result of human effort or intellect.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:22 All things. Jesus claims to have received from the Father an absolute authority over all creation. No higher Christological claim appears anywhere in Lk and Ac. no one knows. Human beings can know Jesus as the Son of God only by the gift of faith, which God alone can give (cf Mt 16:16–17). the Son chooses to reveal Him. Likewise, no one can know the Father apart from the revelation of the one true God given through the incarnation of His Son, Jesus (cf Jn 1:1, 14, 18). There is a perfect relationship of trust and understanding between Jesus and His Father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:23 privately. See note, 8:10. Blessed. God's people in the OT could only look expectantly toward the fulfillment of God's promises—the coming of the Messiah and the kingdom of God. Jesus' disciples, however, are privileged to see it dawn in Jesus' life-imparting ministry. See p 842.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:21–24 While rejoicing that His disciples have received the gift of life-saving faith, Jesus stresses that He is the chief content and unique mediator of the Gospel revelation. Oh, that we would have the grace to rejoice with Him and to appreciate fully the great privilege that is ours in the Gospel! • "In Thee is gladness Amid all sadness, Jesus, sunshine of my heart. By Thee are given The gifts of heaven, Thou the true Redeemer art." Amen. (LSB 818:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:25 lawyer. On scholars of the Law, see p 719. inherit. Emphasizes the gracious nature of salvation. See p 7.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:26 Law? Moses' writings, the first five books of the Bible. See p 971. How do you read it? Jesus asks the lawyer for his own interpretation of God's Word as a starting point for what follows.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:27 The lawyer's response stresses complete devotion to God and loving behavior toward one's neighbor.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:28 do this, and you will live. Jesus affirms that if a person perfectly fulfills the Law of God, that individual will receive eternal life on Judgment Day. However, this is impossible for sinners.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:29 justify himself. The lawyer seems to realize the impossibility of fulfilling the commandments just cited. Thus he seeks to limit God's uncompromising demands. neighbor? Gk root means "nearby, close." Therefore, it means "whoever happens to be nearby or close at hand," not just people who have homes nearby.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:30 down from Jerusalem to Jericho. See color map 4. robbers. Ordinary highway bandits, though the word sometimes means "insurrectionists, guerrillas."
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:31 priest. A fellow Jew, who served God in the temple. Cf Lv 8. passed by. The priest walked by on the other side of the road in order to avoid the injured man and any obligation to him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:32 Levite. A temple worker. Cf Nu 1:47–54.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:33 Samaritan. See p 1557. had compassion. See note, 7:13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:34 oil and wine. Treatments comparable to today's antibacterial first-aid creams.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:35 two denarii. Two days' wages; no small sum. innkeeper. Though this person's job was to provide lodging and perhaps a meal, the Samaritan pressed him into nursing duties.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:36 proved to be a neighbor. Fulfilled the law of loving "your neighbor as yourself" (v 27).
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:37 The Samaritan risked his own neck to help a Jew, and then spent a sizable amount of money to provide for his ongoing recovery. He invested much in order to rescue a traditional enemy. See note, Mi 6:8. God requires us to act in love toward all people, even our enemies and esp those in need. Luth: "Our neighbor is any human being, especially one who needs our help, as Christ interprets it in Luke 10:30–37. Even one who has done me some sort of injury or harm … does not stop being my neighbor" (AE 27:58). The Samaritan in the parable likely represents Christ, who had recently sought to work with the Samaritans (9:51–56).
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:25–37 Jesus tells the famous parable of the Good Samaritan to clarify that He expects His followers to do good to all people. However, His concluding exhortation, "Go, and do likewise," reminds us just how far we are from the loving, self-sacrificing behaviors the Lord expects. So it was that Jesus became the Good Samaritan for us. He laid down His life, befriended us while we were yet His enemies. He promises us full restoration and life everlasting. • Lord, make me more like You, that I grow in faith and love for my neighbor. May people see You in my actions as I reach out to them with Your love. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:38 they. The makeup of the group accompanying Jesus is unspecified, though it certainly included the Twelve. welcomed Him into her house. Martha received Jesus as a guest and showed hospitality. See notes, 9:4, 58; Gn 18:4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 10:39 sat at the Lord's feet. Normal position for students learning from a rabbi. See note, 8:2–3. Aug: "She sat at the feet of our Head. The more lowly she sat, the more amply did she receive. For the water flows together to the low hollows of the valley, runs down from the risings of the hill" (NPNF 1 6:430). Aug: "The one was arranging many things, the other had her eyes upon the One. Both occupations were good" (NPNF 1 6:427).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:40 much serving. Martha was likely cooking for dozens of people. do You not care. Note her implied rebuke and criticism of Jesus. She expected Him to be sensitive to the workload that His arrival created. Tell her. In Martha's eyes, Mary should be helping. This, of course, is a reasonable expectation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:41 Martha, Martha. Jesus' double address implies tender affection, pity (cf 13:34; 22:31; 2Sm 18:33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:42 one thing is necessary. As necessary as hospitality was—esp during Jesus' visit—the only thing that remained truly indispensable was the Word of God. Aug: "One is preferred to many. For one does not come from many, but many from one. The things which were made, are many, he who made them is One…. She chose that which shall abide for ever" (NPNF 1 6:429–30). good portion. A clever turn of phrase, since it implicitly compares hearing the Word to eating a meal. See "portion," p 7. not be taken away. Food comes and goes, and eventually everyone becomes hungry again. The Word of God, however, abides forever. It alone can truly satisfy. Aug: "In these two women the two lives are figured, the life present, and the life to come, the life of labour, and the life of quiet, the life of sorrow, and the life of blessedness, the life temporal, and the life eternal" (NPNF 1 6:430).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:38–42 In contrast with Jesus' demand for great works in the previous parable (vv 25–37), the story of Mary and Martha shows the importance of faith and rest in Jesus and His Word. Today, we are often so distracted that we neglect what matters most: God's Word and Sacraments. What we can never earn for ourselves, no matter how much we scramble, God freely provides through faith in Jesus Christ. • O Savior, bear my anxieties and remove my distractions, that I may receive Your good portion for me. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:1 certain place … one of His disciples. Neither time, place, nor questioner are identified. teach us to pray. Fixed forms of prayer were common in first-century Judaism. The people of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the followers of John the Baptist, and other groups used set prayers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:2–4 This version of the Lord's Prayer is substantially shorter than the one found in Mt. Jesus likely taught this prayer differently in a variety of settings. See note, Mt 6:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:4 sins. Mt 6:12 has "debts," which has the same sense. indebted. Just as our sins indebt us to God, so other people's trespasses cause them to "owe" us.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:5 friend. Context suggests that this fellow is more than an acquaintance. midnight. At this hour, it would be impossible to go out and buy food. lend me three loaves. In a society where many baked goods were homemade, this was a significant request.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:6 friend. Someone close enough to expect hospitality from the one requesting the bread.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:7 with me. In small dwellings, entire families often slept near one another on the floor. Rising and granting this favor would likely awaken the whole household.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:8 impudence. Gk anaideia, lit, "shamelessness" or "above reproach." Rather than acting shamefully by failing to help his persistent friend, the man in the house will actually give more than his friend has asked.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:9–10 Aug: "Let then the slothfulness of men be put to shame; He is more willing to give, than we to receive; He is more willing to show mercy, than we to be delivered from misery" (NPNF 1 6:431).
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:10 everyone. Believers.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:11–13 By using rhetorical questions to characterize the kindness of human fathers, Jesus heightens the contrast between the earthly parents and God the Father, whose goodness is infinite. Note how this passage reinforces the point of the parable in vv 5–8. give the Holy Spirit. The best gift of all. "The Holy Spirit dwells in the elect, who have become believers, as in His temple" (FC SD XI 73). ask Him! Jesus concludes this teaching by urging us to ask for that which God wants to give. See note, Jas 4:3.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:13 See note, Mt 7:11.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:1–13 Jesus teaches that Christian prayers are unfailingly heard because God has promised to hear us, and He always keeps His promises. Were prayer to depend on us, we could never be sure of God's response, because sin corrupts completely. We can depend on God to keep His promise to hear us and answer us because He never breaks His word. Prayer is a blessed opportunity granted by the Gospel. • "What a friend we have in Jesus, All our sins and griefs to bear! What a privilege to carry Ev'rything to God in prayer! Oh, what peace we often forfeit; Oh, what needless pain we bear—All because we do not carry Ev'rything to God in prayer!" Amen. (LSB 770:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:14 demon that was mute. Not every case of demon possession had the same symptoms. In this case, the demon caused the man to be mute.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:15 Note that a similar accusation was laid against John the Baptist (7:33). Beelzebul. See note, 2Ki 1:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:16 test. Though Luke does not give particulars, people were demanding that Jesus prove His credentials. sign. A miracle authenticating that Jesus came from God, not Satan.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:17 knowing their thoughts. Jesus knew His adversaries' criticisms, and so He addresses them straightaway. Every kingdom … falls. Apparently, a proverbial saying.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:18 if Satan also is divided. Satan, who holds great sway over fallen humans, is depicted as "ruler of this world" (Jn 12:31; cf Col 1:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:19 by whom … cast them out? See note, Mt 12:27. they will be your judges. By blaspheming Jesus, His adversaries called all who exorcise demons into question. For such false teaching, Jesus' opponents will be judged on the Last Day.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:20 kingdom of God has come upon you. Jesus advances the kingdom of God by defeating the occupying forces of Satan and his minions. See note, Col 1:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:21–22 See note, Mt 12:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:21 strong man. Satan. palace. Satan's stronghold is the human heart, where he exerts great influence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:22 armor. Metaphor for Satan's great power.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:23 Neutrality is not an option. One is either with Jesus and against Satan, or with Satan and against Jesus. gather. Harvest. Cf 10:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:14–23 Jesus responds to accusations that He performs exorcisms by Satan's power. He points out just how self-defeating that would be. Sadly, however, people continue to misunderstand Jesus. They place themselves in an equally self-defeating position when they listen to and follow Satan. What good news, then, to hear that Jesus has overcome the devil and opened God's kingdom to all who hear His Word and follow Him. • Lord, Your Son has overcome even sin, death, and the devil for us. Lead us to abide in Him steadfastly until the end. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:24 passes through waterless places. See note, Mt 12:43. seeking rest. An image emphasizing the desperation demons feel as they search for another person to possess. house. The person who formerly had the demon.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:25 swept and put in order. Evil spirits brought chaos and destruction when they possessed a person. Once liberated of that possession, however, the person behaved normally (cf 8:35).
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:26 seven … enter and dwell. More than one demon can possess a single person (see note, Mk 5:9). last state. After the second possession. "He also will punish those who willfully turn away from the holy commandment and again entangle themselves in the world's filth (2 Peter 2:20–21), decorate their hearts for Satan (Luke 11:24–26), and despise God's Spirit (Hebrews 10:29)" (FC SD XI 83).
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:24–26 A person healed of demon possession could fall into such trouble again. Thus, it is a grave mistake to imagine that we can receive the Gospel, come to Jesus, and yet continue in destructive ways and return to our sins. Thankfully, God promises to fill those who repent with His own Spirit and bless us through His Word and Sacraments, that we may be whole. • "Come, Holy Ghost, Creator blest, And make our hearts Your place of rest; Come with Your grace and heav'nly aid, And fill the hearts which You have made." Amen. (LSB 499:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:27 It is noteworthy that a woman speaks this blessing, because women did not ordinarily begin a conversation with a man they did not know.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:28 Jesus does not reject this woman's praise of His mother but rather directs attention to the blessedness of receiving the life-giving Gospel, in accord with His Father's mission.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:27–28 Jesus teaches that hearing His Word and faithfully putting it into practice heaps praise on Him. He continually extends His Word and unfailingly delivers the blessings it promises. • Lord, help me not only to hear Your Word but also to keep it in a pure heart and thereby produce a fruitful life of service. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:29 Many people flocked to Jesus simply because of the miracles He was performing. evil generation … seeks for a sign. Jesus criticized the people because they refused to recognize His messianic status and dignity. sign of Jonah. The resurrection; just as Jonah was in the belly of the fish for three days and emerged alive, so also Jesus would lie in the belly of the earth for three days and then rise again.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:30 a sign to the people of Nineveh. Jonah warned the Ninevites about God's judgment, and God brought them to repentance. Like Jonah, Jesus warned of judgment and called for repentance.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:31 See note, Mt 12:42. rise up … condemn. The queen of Sheba showed greater respect for Solomon—an earthly king—than many in Jesus' generation showed for the Son of God. Thus, her example puts the behavior of Jesus' adversaries to shame, and she was a Gentile! ends of the earth. Far away. Sheba was likely located in southwestern Arabia. See note, 1Ki 10:1. something greater than Solomon is here. Both Solomon and Jesus were sons of David and famously wise. Jesus, however, exceeds Solomon, for He is the Messiah and Savior of the world.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:32 repented. Another example of Gentiles showing greater righteousness and devotion than God's covenant people (see note, 7:9). something greater than Jonah is here. Jesus speaks of Himself. Both His person and the work of His kingdom far surpassed the person and work of Jonah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:29–32 Jesus contrasts the stubborn unbelief of His own people with Gentiles who believed God's Word and turned to Him in repentance. Such unfavorable comparisons remind us that, though we enjoy the privilege of being called God's people today, we can certainly lose our salvation by turning away from the Lord. Happily, the One who called us is faithful. He will lead us to repentance and see us through to life eternal. • "O blessed Jesus, by Your own blood You have purchased for Yourself a church here upon earth. Make me truly sensible of the honor You have done me, in making me a member of Your church, and admitting me by my Baptism into the participation of all those blessings You have bestowed upon it. Amen." (Ger, TLWA, p 275)

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:33 Lamps were set in high places, where they would shed the most light.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:34 See note, Mt 6:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:35 the light in you be darkness. "Light" is identified with faith; "darkness," with unbelief. See note, Jb 17:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:36 Through Jesus, God sanctifies every aspect of His people's lives.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:33–36 Jesus equates the Gospel with light and faith with a healthy eye. Some people remain in darkness because they reject the Gospel and will not allow the message of salvation to penetrate and dispel the darkness of their souls. The Lord moves us to appreciate that it is God Himself, through His Spirit, who illumines souls and preserves faith in hearts. • "Lord, who once came to bring, On Your redeeming wing, Healing and sight, Health to the sick in mind, Sight to the inly blind: Oh, now to humankind Let there be light!" Amen. (LSB Accompaniment for the Hymns 979:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:37 Pharisee. See note, Mk 2:18. reclined at table. See note, Mt 8:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:38 wash before dinner. Jesus did not fulfill the ritual hand washing expected by his host. Though Mosaic Law did not require laypeople to perform such ritual washings before meals, the tradition of the Pharisees did. Accordingly, this is yet another instance of a Pharisee finding fault with Jesus' observance of ritual (cf 5:30, 33; 6:7–11; 15:1–2). See note, Mk 7:3–4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:39 Jesus launched into a sustained criticism of the Pharisees' misplaced priorities, spiritual superficiality, and legalism, charging them with hypocrisy for being more concerned with outward appearances than inward truth.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:40 fools! Biblical wisdom is centered on a right knowledge of God (see pp 775–78). Jesus thus accused the Pharisees of misunderstanding God. He. God, the Maker of all.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:41 Giving from the heart, esp to those in desperate need, is a much more authentic expression of piety and godliness (cf Jas 1:27). "He requires not only alms, but also the righteousness of faith" (Ap V 34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:42 woe. Cf Is 10:1; Mt 11:21. tithe mint and rue. See note, Nu 18:21. The Pharisees were so scrupulous in this regard that they even tithed on their garden spices (rue is an aromatic evergreen). neglect justice and the love of God. See note, Mi 6:8. without neglecting the others. Jesus does not condemn the Pharisees' tithing piety but rather their failure to make mercy and justice the first priority.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:43 best seat. Seats of honor reserved for leaders. greetings. Titles of respect and honor, used to address experts in Scripture (e.g., "rabbi").
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:44 unmarked graves. The Jews carefully marked their graves lest anyone accidentally touch them. Such contact resulted in ritual impurity and disqualified one from temple attendance. Cf Nu 19:16. By calling them "unmarked graves," Jesus effectively characterizes the Pharisees as defiling and dead.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:45 lawyers. See pp 719–720. insult. Apparently, some non-Pharisees in the audience understood Jesus' remarks as applying to them and took offense.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:46 burdens. Refers to the fact that many expert interpreters added to the demands spelled out in Mosaic Law. touch. Having increased what was expected of others, the religious leaders addressed here would not "lift a finger" in order to help the people keep their additional requirements.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:47 Jesus accuses the lawyers and Pharisees of possessing the same spirit as those in previous generations who rejected God's Word and killed the prophets.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:48 Jesus attributes His adversaries' interest in the prophets' tombs to their complicity in the wrongful deaths of the prophets.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:49 See note, Mt 23:34.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:50 shed from the foundation. From the time sin and death entered the world. charged against this generation. The current audience has much greater guilt because they reject and kill God's ultimate envoy, the incarnate Son of God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:51 Abel. The first man murdered, his righteous witness places him among the "prophets." Zechariah. His murder is recorded in 2Ch 24:20–22. required. Idiom for bringing charges against someone.
LUKE—NOTE ON 11:52 taken away the key of knowledge. Ironically, these supposed experts and leaders were obstructing the way to God's grace and salvation by their false teaching. The Gospel of the Holy Scripture, the key to knowing God, is a means of grace (cf Mt 16:19). enter. Enter into salvation. hindered. By replacing the divine revelation with man-made teachings. See note, 16:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:53–54 They began showering Him with questions, hoping He would express Himself poorly and give them a basis for charges against Him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:37–54 Jesus' harshest criticisms are directed at those religious leaders and experts in Scripture who place their traditions above God's Word and refuse God's call to repentance. Measure all traditions against God's Word, especially the standards of mercy Jesus emphasized. Give thanks to God for faithful traditions that agree with His Gospel, which alone grants us salvation in Christ. • "Not what I feel or do Can give me peace with God; Not all my prayers and sighs and tears Can bear my awful load. Thy work alone, O Christ, Can ease this weight of sin; Thy blood alone, O Lamb of God, Can give me peace within." Amen. (LSB 567:2–3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:1 meantime. In connection with the events of vv 37–54. first. Having sternly admonished the Pharisees, Jesus now turns to warn His own disciples. leaven of the Pharisees … hypocrisy. The Pharisees' main failure was a hypocrisy born of legalism. See note, Mk 2:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:2–3 God knows everything and is not fooled by piety that is focused on externals. Jesus warns His disciples not to act one way in public and another way in private. In the end, such duplicity is exposed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:1–3 Jesus warns His disciples about the pitfalls of religious hypocrisy. Though justified by faith, Christians still have a sinful nature and so struggle daily with the challenge of living the faith sincerely. Because we are frequently tempted to hypocrisy and sometimes fail in the struggle, it is comforting to hear that God knows us as we truly are, yet remains committed to our repentance and our salvation. • Lord, You know me better than I know myself. Though aware of my many failures, You still love me and continue to forgive me. Receive my heartfelt thanks. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:4 My friends. The disciples. those who kill the body. Human beings can destroy the body but not the soul.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:5 See note, Mt 10:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:6 See note, Mt 10:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:7 hairs … are all numbered. See note, Mt 10:30. God knows us down to the minutest detail. more value. Vivid way of expressing God's boundless love and the incredible value His love bestows on those He redeems.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:4–7 Jesus identifies fear as the root cause of hypocrisy. He assures us that His Father's children have nothing to fear from others. Today, if we are honest about the things that trouble us most, we will have to admit that fear and worry are near the top of the list. This leads us to see all the more clearly the benefit of the Gospel, which assures us of God's victory over everyone and everything threatening us. • "O little flock, fear not the foe Who madly seeks your overthrow; Dread not his rage and pow'r. And though your courage sometimes faints, His seeming triumph o'er God's saints Lasts but a little hour." Amen. (LSB 666:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:8 See note, Mt 10:32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:9 See note, Mt 10:33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:10 Christians who fail to confess Jesus when facing persecution (e.g., Peter) and even avowed enemies of the Gospel (e.g., Paul before his conversion) can be forgiven. But whoever continually resists the Spirit and rejects the Gospel goes to eternal damnation. See note, Mk 3:29–30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:11 bring you before. Facing charges and possible punishment from hostile religious leaders. Not only Jesus (23:6–21) but also Stephen and Paul underwent this ordeal (Ac 6:8–7:60; 22:30–23:11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:12 the Holy Spirit will teach you. Does not promise some special revelation. Rather, the Spirit will bestow courage and clarity of expression to Jesus' witnesses as they face persecution.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:8–12 Jesus teaches about the blessedness of confessing Him and the great dangers in denying Him and resisting His grace. In a culture increasingly hostile to traditional Christian belief, such warnings are timely, as the temptation to compromise our confession becomes more intense every day. Thank God for His Holy Spirit, who strives all the more for us and for the integrity of our faith. • Lord Jesus, give us a rich measure of Your Holy Spirit, that we boldly confess Your name before an increasingly faithless and hostile world. Turn the hearts of our enemies, that they receive Your salvation. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:13 divide the inheritance. He asks Jesus to mediate a family dispute. People often brought such problems to respected rabbis.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:14 Seems ironic, because elsewhere Jesus is called the "one mediator between God and men" (1Tm 2:5) and pictured as the Judge (Mt 25:31–46). Yet vv 15–21 make Jesus' judgment plain. Aug: "He asked for half an inheritance on earth; the Lord offered him a whole inheritance in heaven. The Lord gave more than asked for" (NPNF 1 6:437).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:15 covetousness. Though greed may long lie hidden in one's heart, it eventually manifests itself in a variety of destructive behaviors.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:16 told them a parable. Jesus' story about coveting responds to the man who asked for help in dividing the inheritance (v 13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:19 say to my soul. Reveals this man's heart. Use of "soul" is ironic, for in v 20 the Lord requires judgment of this man's soul. relax, eat, drink, be merry. Not sinful acts in themselves, but here they represent misplaced priorities and values.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:20 Fool! See p 1016. By depending on riches rather than God, this man does the opposite of what wisdom requires. Aug: "O, my Brethren, with how many fools does He speak here, when the Gospel is read! When it is read, are not they who hear and do not, fools?" (NPNF 1 6:438). required of you. God subpoenas him for judgment. whose will they be? Irony. While working so hard, this man thought only of himself. After his death, however, someone else will enjoy the fruit of all his work.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:21 not rich toward God. Obsession with money can crowd God's ways out of our hearts. That is why Jesus warns so sternly against covetousness (v 15). "This is the most common idol on earth. He who has money and possessions feels secure [Luke 12:16–21] and is joyful and undismayed as though he were sitting in the midst of Paradise. On the other hand, he who has no money doubts and is despondent, as though he knew of no God" (LC I 7–8). Aug: "What is more perverse than a man who wishes to have 'much goods,' and does not wish to be good himself?" (NPNF 1 6:438).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:13–21 Jesus underlines the great danger of being rich in earthly things but poor toward God. In a consumer culture, the dangers of covetousness are often downplayed; in fact, some even try to make greed a virtue. In love for us, however, Jesus warns us against the self-destructive nature of covetousness and gives us new hearts, which He, the very source of life and goodness, fills with joyful satisfaction through the Gospel. • Heavenly Father, keep my eyes from becoming envious and my heart from self-destructive greed. Move me to find satisfaction in Your promises and to trust that You will more than provide for me and my loved ones. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:22 Though God provides for all, even unbelievers (Mt 5:45), Jesus esp urges His followers to trust Him for life's necessities. anxious. Worry, dread, and fear.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:23 Physical needs are an important part of life, but they should not dominate a Christian's thinking.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:24 God feeds them. See SC, Fourth Petition, p xxxviii.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:25 Undue worry subtracts from life. span. See note, Mt 6:27.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:26 the rest? Other things over which we have no control.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:27 spin. Turn fiber into thread or yarn. Solomon in all his glory. Cf 1Ki 10:14–25. Solomon's splendor could not compare to the beauty of a simple flower.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:28 God so clothes. An argument from the lesser to the greater. If God adorns common plants with such beauty, how much more will He lavish good things on the crown of His creation? thrown into the oven. Burned as fuel for heating and cooking. little faith! This criticism typically comes after people underestimate God or His Son. See note, Mt 6:30.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:29 do not seek. Do not make this your priority. be worried. To the extent that worry manifests a lack of trust in God, it is a serious failing.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:30 Father knows. God, who created us, understands our needs better than we ourselves do. See notes, Ps 139:1; Mt 6:8.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:31 God's kingdom exists wherever He rules hearts and minds. We "seek" it by having Him and His ways hold sway in our lives. See pp 1565–66. added. Provided in abundance.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:32 little flock. Affectionate term indicating ownership and tender care. good pleasure. Synonymous with "resolve, determination, choice." give you the kingdom. We are included in that realm ruled by God's grace. This comes through faith in Jesus and results in abundant life both here and in heaven. See pp 1565–66.
LUKE—NOTE ON 12:33 Sell your possessions, and give to the needy. A radical call to use our goods not only for ourselves but also to help other people. moneybags … treasure. The best treasure comes from living as God directs. His ways involve generously helping others.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:34 If one wants to see what is most important to another (where the heart is), it is most telling to look at where that person spends most of his money (where the treasure is).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:22–34 Jesus encourages His disciples to trust in God, their heavenly Father, since He will provide for all their needs. We need to take this exhortation to heart, because our fallen nature makes it difficult to look past ourselves and depend on another. But God's faithfulness far exceeds our needs. He provides as He sees fit, giving us an abundance that we may share with others. • "Grant us hearts, dear Lord, to give You Gladly, freely of Your own. With the sunshine of Your goodness Melt our thankless hearts of stone Till our cold and selfish natures, Warmed by You, at length believe That more happy and more blessed 'Tis to give than to receive." Amen. (LSB 851:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:35 dressed for action. Stand ready to fulfill the Master's command. The long robes worn in Jesus' day had to be gathered up and tied before a person could move quickly. See note, Ex 12:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:36 waiting for their master. Discipleship is depicted as servanthood. wedding feast. Because wedding celebrations lasted for days, the servants could not know precisely when their master would return. Cf Sg 3:6–7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:37 Blessed. Objects of the master's favor and approval. See p 842. dress himself for service. See note, v 35. recline at table. See note, Mt 8:11. serve them. Note the role reversal—the master now serves the servants!

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:38 In the Jewish reckoning, the first watch of the night was 6 to 10 p.m.; the second, 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.; and the third, 2 to 6 a.m. See p 1567.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:39 thief. Ominous image of a burglar breaking and entering contrasts with the blessings of the master serving his faithful servants (v 37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:40 ready … Son of Man is coming. Faithfulness is defined as doing the work Jesus has given us while eagerly awaiting His return. an hour you do not expect. No human being knows or can calculate the time of Jesus' return (cf Mk 13:32). Beware of any teacher who claims such knowledge. Aug: "Our Lord Jesus Christ both came to men, and went away from men, and is to come to men. And yet He was here when He came, nor did He depart when He went away, and He is to come to them to whom He said, 'Lo, I am with you, even unto the end of the world' " (NPNF 1 6:440).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:41–43 Jesus narrows the focus here and spells out the special responsibilities borne by Christian leaders. manager. Or, "steward"; the slave left in charge of a household's administration. See p 101. their portion of food. Not only food, but all the staff needs. Thus, a faithful steward not only takes good care of his master's balance sheet, but also his human resources.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:43 Blessed. See note, v 37; see also p 842.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:44 set him over all. Faithful service in God's kingdom is rewarded (cf 19:11–27). See note, 1Co 3:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:45 The delayed return leads the manager to abuse his trust, thinking he can get away with it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:46–48 See note, Mt 10:15. cut him in pieces. Fearsome; implies eternal condemnation. with the unfaithful. With those who reject God and act wickedly. severe beating … light beating. Abuse of fellow servants is punished with death; willful disobedience is penalized by a severe beating; involuntary dereliction of duty merits a light beating. much will be required. The privilege of leading makes leaders answerable to God for their greater responsibilities (cf Jas 3:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:35–48 Jesus urges those in positions of leadership to faithfully discharge their duties. Following worldly examples, Christian leaders sometimes see their positions more in terms of privilege than responsibility. Jesus' example of self-sacrifice, however, underscores the shallowness of such attitudes. We are moved to emulate His way of humble service because He was willing to endure all things for us, that we might share in His privileges. • "Forbid it, Lord, that I should boast Save in the death of Christ, my God; All the vain things that charm me most, I sacrifice them to His blood." Amen. (LSB 425:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:49 cast fire. Proclamation of the judgment (cf 3:9; 9:5; 10:13–15). would that it were already kindled! Jesus longs to reveal the Kingdom, not only through judgment, but also and esp through the revelation of His grace and the deliverance it brings about.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:50 baptism. Figurative way of referring to the cross. how great is My distress. Verb implies being torn between two emotions.

On the one hand, Jesus cannot but dread His impending death on the cross. On the other, there is glory for Him and all humankind beyond the grave, thus His eager expectation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:51 Do you think. Although the disciples probably expected opposition—even violent opposition—they anticipated a military victory and subsequent political peace during the Messiah's reign. Jesus would indeed bring about a kingdom of peace, but not the earthly kind His followers envisioned. division. There is no middle ground with respect to Jesus and His rule. A person stands either with Him or against Him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:52–53 three against two. Families would be deeply divided over what to make of Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:49–53 Jesus expresses a deep desire to fulfill God's plan of salvation once for all, even though it means going to the cross. The depth of His commitment naturally forces His followers to decide what is most important for them, as well. As you wrestle with so great a challenge, take comfort in the One who calls you. He is faithful. • Lord Jesus, when earthly relations cause me to make You and Your kingdom anything less than my first priority, strengthen me and lead me back into the way of life everlasting. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:54 a cloud rising in the west. Rain-bearing clouds blow in from the Mediterranean Sea to the west. A shower is coming. Given the semiarid conditions of Israel, this would be a welcome event.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:55 south wind. From the Negeb Desert to the south came dry, scorching winds.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:56 hypocrites! Another rebuke of the failure to discern the significance of Jesus' words and deeds. interpret the present time? Jesus' ministry ushered in the messianic age. That was obvious to anyone with eyes to see it (cf 5:22–26; 7:11–23). Nevertheless, some stubbornly refused to recognize Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:54–56 Jesus condemns the unbelief of those beholding His miraculous signs who yet reject the obvious implications. Satan blinds the hearts of unbelievers even to this day. Only by God's grace can we see clearly, as the Spirit opens our eyes through faith in Jesus Christ. • "Amazing grace—how sweet the sound—That saved a wretch like me! I once was lost but now am found, Was blind but now I see!" Amen. (LSB 744:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:57–58 judge for yourselves. Jesus uses an earthly example to illustrate the need for repentance now—before the final judgment. magistrate. Lit, "ruler"; term could apply to many different kinds of civil authorities. settle. Come to agreement on the amount of debt owed and square it away. judge. Refers specifically to those who adjudicate cases in courts of law. officer. Here, a constable or bailiff in charge of a debtors' prison.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:59 Warns of hell. Debtors' prisons occasioned much suffering. Family and friends were expected to come up with the money needed to free the debtor, who was frequently tortured in order to motivate payment. See note, Mt 18:34. We only escape hell through Jesus' blood and merit.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:57–59 Jesus encourages His followers to repent and make peace quickly, lest a budding conflict escalate and spin out of control. His disciples are called not only to sacrifice possessions and relationships that hinder their way in the kingdom but also to avoid entangling disputes. Though hard feelings are often hard to let go, Jesus promises mercy and blessings for those who repent and receive His peace. • Lord, free me from any lingering resentment, ill will, or hatred toward another. Teach me to owe no one anything save the debt to love as You have loved us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:1 Neither the NT nor extrabiblical records shed light on this tragic event, which must have recently occurred.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:2 Many thought that tragedies happened to people as divine punishments for specific sins. See p 837.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:3 repent … likewise perish. Jesus uses this tragedy to spur His audience into self-examination and an honest assessment of their walk with God. If they do so, they will see that they might experience the same kind of misfortune. "The term repentance is not used in the Holy Scriptures in one and the same sense. In some passages of Holy Scripture it is used and taken to mean a person's entire conversion" (FC SD V 7).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:4 tower in Siloam fell. Another incident for which we have no other historical record.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:5 See note, v 3.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:1–5 Jesus points out tragedies as occasions for self-examination and reflection on our sinful frailty. Contrary to popular thought, tragedy does not always strike people because they somehow deserve it. Rather, in His wisdom God allows and uses even tragic events to warn of judgment, that He might bring us to repentance and eternal life through faith in Jesus. • Lord, increase my faith in what You have given me to know. Grant me humility before those mysteries that surpass my understanding. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:6 fig tree … seeking fruit. This unproductive tree symbolizes Jews who were not producing the fruit of faith. fig tree. See note, Am 7:14. vineyard. Symbol of Israel, God's chosen people (cf Is 5:1–7; Mt 21:33–46).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:7 The owner symbolizes God; the vinedresser represents a religious leader. three years. Very patient, giving his plant every opportunity to produce fruit.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:8 Aug: "The gardener who intercedes, is every saint who within the Church prays for those who are without the Church" (NPNF 1 6:444). dig around it and put on manure. The best way to fertilize the tree, that it might bear fruit. Aug: "The basket of dung understand in its good effects. It is filthy, but it produces fruit. The gardener's filth is the sinner's sorrows. They who repent, repent in filthy robes; if, that is, they understand aright, and repent in truth" (NPNF 1 6:444).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:9 The people hearing Jesus may still have time to repent and trust in Him. If they do not, they will face God's wrath and eternal destruction.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:6–9 Jesus warns that His audience needs to begin producing works consistent with the Gospel. Today, many fail to live their lives according to God's will. The One who commands us to such works also bestows His Spirit. He enables us to repent and to produce the fruit that flow from His salvation. • Lord, show me the shortness of my time and the nearness of eternity, so I do not fail to redeem the time. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:10 Jesus customarily taught in synagogues on the Jewish day of worship (4:16). He also performed numerous healings on the Sabbath, which provoked His critics' wrath (6:6–11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:11 The evil spirit possessing this woman caused her a physical ailment. bent over. Lit, "bent double"; a crippling affliction.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:12–13 Jesus released her from her physical symptoms by eliminating the cause of the problem: the unclean spirit.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:14 ruler of the synagogue. See note, 8:41. said to the people. Jesus' critics vie for the hearts of the people to keep them from following Jesus, whom they considered a false prophet and Law-breaker. There are six days … Sabbath day. See note, 6:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:15 hypocrites! See note, 6:42. Jesus' opponents are so intent on putting Him in a bad light that they adopt an obviously wrong position.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:16 daughter of Abraham. An affirmation of her faith, which would remove a stigma caused by her infirmity (cf Jn 9:3). Satan bound. See note, v 11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:17 adversaries. Pharisees, Sadducees, and Herodians opposed Jesus. See p 1557.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:10–17 Though Jesus' critics saw His miracle as a clear violation of the Sabbath, Jesus' work, in fact, fulfilled the Sabbath Day's purpose: to provide blessing for God's people. He still calls us to keep the Sabbath by gladly receiving God's Word, which delivers to us the blessings of Jesus' victory over sin and death. How great a privilege to enter His presence in worship. • "Open now thy gates of beauty; Zion, let me enter there, Where my soul in joyful duty Waits for Him who answers prayer. Oh, how blessed is this place, Filled with solace, light, and grace!" Amen. (LSB 901:1)

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:18 kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66. Jesus teaches that it is sown in seeming powerlessness and grows only gradually, over an extended period of time.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:19 mustard seed. See note, Mk 4:31. tree. See note, Mk 4:32.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:21 leaven. Yeast or a bit of leavened dough retained from previous baking. Parable repeats the point of vv 18–19. Given enough time, even the tiniest pinch of leaven permeates an entire batch of dough. See note, Mt 13:33.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:18–21 Though the kingdom of God has humble beginnings, it grows to embrace all creation. Like Jesus' first hearers, we, too, tend to wish for a more powerful kingdom and more rapid growth. But this kingdom is God's, not ours. He extends His realm in His way with His timing. • Lord, give us wholeheartedly to the task of extending Your reign, even though we may never see the growth that we would like. Keep us focused instead on the final consummation. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:22 toward Jerusalem. See note, 9:51.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:23 Jesus directs His followers' attention away from the plight of others and toward an honest self-appraisal and spiritual housecleaning (cf vv 1–5).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:24 narrow door. Jesus Christ is the only way to salvation (Jn 14:6). All other hopes are misplaced.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:25 shut the door. The time to repent and receive the Lord is fleeting. See note, 3:9. Accordingly, people need to make entry into God's kingdom their first priority, before the door to life suddenly slams shut. I do not know where you come from. See note, Mt 10:33.
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:26 You taught in our streets. Mere acquaintance with Jesus and His teachings will not avail on Judgment Day; a wholehearted trust is needed. Luth: "For even though you know that He is God's Son, that He died and rose again, and that He sits at the right hand of the Father, you have not yet learned to know Christ aright … [until you also] believe that He did all this for your sake, in order to help you" (AE 30:30).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:27 workers of evil! Lit, "workers of injustice." Without faith in Jesus Christ, it is impossible to produce works that please God (Heb 11:6).
LUKE—NOTE ON 13:28 place … gnashing of teeth. Refers to the torment of eternal separation from God and His goodness—hell. in the kingdom of God. Restored creation, after the new heaven and new earth are revealed and people behold God face-to-face (Rv 21:1–5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:29 people. Those redeemed by Christ through faith. recline at table. See note, Mt 8:11. The joy of eternal life is repeatedly compared to that of a great feast (e.g., Is 25:6–9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:30 last … first. Outsiders and people from the dregs of society (tax collectors, sinners, and Gentiles) will be saved, while supposed insiders and important people (religious and civil leaders) will lose out. The determining factor is faith in Jesus, not wealth or social status.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:22–30 People can enter God's kingdom only through Jesus Christ. Moreover, the time for every human being—and indeed the world—is quickly slipping away, and soon the door will slam shut. Accordingly, the Lord beseeches one and all to come into the great wedding banquet of His Son, without cost and without delay. • "Today Your gate is open, And all who enter in Shall find a Father's welcome And pardon for their sin. The past shall be forgotten, A present joy be giv'n, A future grace be promised, A glorious crown in heav'n." Amen. (LSB 915:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:31 The Pharisees' motive for warning Jesus is not clear. If sincere, they wished to move Him from their territory. On Herod Antipas, cf 3:19–20; 9:7–9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:32 fox. Ironically, this clever tyrant would serve God's plan of salvation. Cf 23:11. third day I finish My course. See note, 9:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:33 Irony. Jerusalem was the Judean capital and the site of the temple. Yet, the people had a history of killing God's prophets there (cf Ac 7:51–53, 58).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:34 Jerusalem, Jerusalem. See note, 10:41. gathered. Often used to describe God's gracious return of His people after the exile (e.g., Jer 32:37). as a hen gathers her brood. When a hen senses danger, she draws her chicks together and protects them with her outstretched wings. Cf Ps 36:7 for another image of God offering refuge under His wings. you would not! Like wayward chicks, the people stubbornly resist God's will for their lives.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:35 your house is forsaken. The people's obstinacy sealed a disastrous fate for Jerusalem. The Romans utterly destroyed it in AD 70, after a Jewish revolt. see Me. Jesus would not visit the city again until He triumphantly entered it on Palm Sunday (cf 19:28–44).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:31–35 Jesus repeats His determination to press toward Jerusalem and God's will for Him there. Unfortunately, the impenitence mentioned in this passage continues today, keeping people out of God's kingdom. That makes the imagery of this episode all the more poignant, for the Lord still reaches out to His wayward children, earnestly seeking to gather them under His protective wing. • "Delay not, delay not! Why longer abuse The love and compassion of Jesus, your God? A fountain is opened; how can you refuse To wash and be cleansed in His pardoning blood?" Amen. (LW 349:5)

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:1 Sabbath. See note, Gn 2:3. Jewish traditions specified numerous categories of work to avoid on the Sabbath, making the Sabbath a detailed and onerous observance. ruler of the Pharisees. A leading rabbi among them, renowned for meticulous devotion to the Law. watching. The Pharisees' growing conflict with Jesus (ch 13) made them hope that He would break their Sabbath rules as in 6:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:2 dropsy. Swelling caused by water pockets collecting in body tissue. Some believed the cause was immorality.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:3 lawyers. On scholars of the Law, see p 719.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:4 sent him away. Dismissal with blessing (e.g., 7:50; 8:48).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:5 Some rabbinic traditions allowed only the person to be rescued; others allowed the animal also to be rescued.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:6 they could not reply. Their hypocrisy became obvious.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:1–6 Jesus exposes His enemies' inconsistencies and cruelty. Today, we are also tempted to build our religion on human tradition (rather than on God's Word) and then to condemn others on the basis of our traditions. Jesus holds the well-being of God's children above all. Still, He reaches out to us in mercy, despite the indifference or rejection of others. • Jesus, look upon us in our need, heal us, and dismiss us with Your blessing. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:7–11 The parable offers advice about manners in social situations and also applies to our pride before God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:7 Guests were expected to give priority to those of higher rank, who would take the most prestigious places near the head of the group.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:8 At such a feast, there is great significance in the position of the guests. The marriage banquet is also a frequent image in Scripture for the kingdom of God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:9 shame. Publicly acknowledging that one has exalted oneself.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:10 honored. Being promoted to a more dignified position.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:11 The person who boasts before God will be humbled in His judgment, while the one who humbly confesses sin may trust in Christ for forgiveness and so be raised up at the Last Day. Cf 1:51–52. Hus: "[The apostles], like Christ, began to do good by excelling in good works and not by receiving kisses, given as unto God. For they despised mundane honors" (The Church, p 145).
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:7–11 Jesus illustrates how pride leads to humiliation. Let others praise you or promote you rather than praise and promote yourself. No matter what others say or do, your greatest promotion is when the heavenly Father calls you His beloved child, through Christ. • Grant me a humble and steadfast heart, O Lord, to see myself as You see me. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:12 repaid. Emphasis should be on generosity. Jesus is neither criticizing His host nor forbidding people to host their family and friends.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:13 Lists people likely reduced to begging for food.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:14 blessed. See p 842. because they cannot repay you. Unlike the circumstances in v 12, God will repay the giver. Cf Ac 20:35. resurrection of the just. Those justified by God's grace, who through faith rise to eternal life. See "justify," p 1903. The repayment already promised for Christ's sake outweighs anything we could hope to receive in this life.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:15 reclined at table. See note, Mt 8:11. Blessed. See p 842. kingdom of God! See pp 1565–66. The Jews anticipated that the Messiah's new age would begin with a banquet, as after a military conquest.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:16–24 Though the parable is similar to Mt 22:1–14, this is not necessarily the same event in Jesus' life.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:17 Usually an invitation was issued, and then a summons was sent when the feast was prepared. It would be insulting to accept the invitation but miss the banquet.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:18–20 Two of the excuses match legitimate OT reasons to refrain from military service (Dt 20:6–7).
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:18 see it. Either it was bought unseen or the guest needed to complete the sale.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:19 five yoke. Ten oxen, implying considerable wealth; an ordinary farm required only one pair. examine. The sale was contracted but required closer examination.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:20 Demonstrates a wrong priority in this case: the good preferred above the best. Cf v 26.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:21 streets and lanes. Often narrow, like alleys, and winding. poor. See note, v 13. Only those who are beggars before God accept the invitation of His grace. Luther's last written words, found in his pocket, were "We are beggars" (AE 54:476).
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:22 The servant's comment follows the completion of the instruction.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:23 The summons outside the city suggests God is reaching to the Gentiles. house may be filled. God's grace will fulfill His plan to seek and to save the lost.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:24 none of those men. Cf vv 18–20.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:12–24 God's invitations overcome people's rejections. Too often God's gifts are more important to us than He, the giver, is. But God is persistent. He reaches out again and again wherever His servants carry the Good News, so that all may receive His gracious invitation. • O Lord, by grace move us to treasure most the invitation to fill Your house and love those despised by the world. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:25 The crowds stuck close to Jesus everywhere He traveled.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:26 hate. Hbr idiom. To love one thing and to hate another gives preference to the former. Cf Gn 29:30−31. God does not expect us to be cruel to the family He has given, but rather to love Him first. cannot be My disciple. False priorities crippled such a person's discipleship.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:27 bear his own cross. Refers to Christ's own death and His disciples' willingness to follow in His sacrifice.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:28 tower. Substantial building, such as a fortress. See note, Jgs 9:46.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:29 mock. As the unfinished builder may be ridiculed, so those who falter in their discipleship dishonor themselves and the Gospel.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:30 finish. Complete the course and keep the faith (2Tm 4:7)
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:31–32 Same point is reinforced with a second comparison.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:31 with ten thousand … with twenty thousand? Often, Christians feel outnumbered by the forces of the world.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:32 Jesus advises not mere compromise, but a sober look at reality and evaluation of the cost.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:33 Being a disciple entails the readiness to give up anything if duty to God calls for it.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:25–33 Jesus illustrates the unconditional nature of discipleship. Consider well the radical demands of following Jesus, and be ready to meet them. Yet, count also the demands our salvation placed on the Son of God, who gave up all things for us. He is your tower and refuge of strength. • "Take myself, and I will be Ever, only, all for Thee." Amen. (LSB 783:6)
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:34 Ancient salt was made of several chemicals dried from seawater. Sodium chloride, true salt, could leach out, leaving other worthless minerals. So the Christian whose faith has eroded is no longer a Christian. See note, Mt 5:13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:35 The partly desalinated compound could still harm the soil; therefore, it must be "thrown away," like a worthless servant into the outer darkness (Mt 25:30).
LUKE—NOTE ON 14:34–35 Christ's people are "the salt of the earth" (Mt 5:13), purifying and seasoning it, because Christ is within them. He makes us Christians through God's Word. • Spare us, O Christ, from a weak and insipid faith, that the world may taste and see that You are good. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON Ch 15 Three parables about finding what was lost illustrate human weakness and the strength of God's care.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:1 tax collectors. See note, Mt 5:46.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:2 receives sinners. See notes, 7:34, 37; see also p 1764.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:3–7 The lost sheep represents the sinner, while God, esp the Son, is the shepherd (cf Ps 23; Is 40:11). The found sheep is every Christian, rescued and delivered by God. The neighbors are the saints and angels who rejoice together.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:4 open country. Their normal pasture. The emphasis is not on neglecting the flock, but on seeking the lost. (A shepherd typically watched 30−40 sheep, so Jesus' account likely implies the presence of one or two helpers.)

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:5 The lost sheep is carried home in safety with triumph and celebration. Shepherds often brought the flock home to the village at the end of the day, though not always (cf 2:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:6 Rejoice with me. Climax of the story (cf Rv 19:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:7 The rejoicing in heaven is over those whom the shepherd has found. need no repentance. The self-righteous imagine that they need no repentance. Before we are found by the Gospel, the Law must show we are hopelessly lost.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:1–7 In the first of three similar parables, Jesus uses the devotion of a shepherd to illustrate God's willingness to find the wayward sinner. God does not abandon us to our foolishness but seeks us out, calling us to repentance and to faith in the Gospel. • Bring us home, dear Lord, and let there be joy in heaven. Grant us daily repentance. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:8–10 In the second parable, the repentant sinner is like a coin. Unlike the wandering sheep, the coin is inanimate, emphasizing its complete helplessness. The neighbors represent the angels, who are invited to share the joy of God, for He has found something precious.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:8 silver coins. Perhaps a collection of coins or bits of silver, worn as a headdress, brought into the marriage as the woman's dowry and meant to sustain the family in times of want. The value of such a coin, a day's wages, was once equivalent to the price of a sheep. light a lamp. A typical house was dark even in daytime, having few or no windows. Christ, the light of the world, seeks out the lost.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:9 Rejoice with me. See note, v 6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:10 joy before the angels of God. The celebration of those closest to God over the lost sinner brought to repentance.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:8–10 The unrepentant sinner is like a coin lost in the darkness. Once lost, we have no more ability to find the Lord than the coin has to find its owner. Yet, the good news of Christ gives "light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death" (1:79). • Thank You, merciful Lord, for seeking us when we had no power to seek You. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:11–32 The father represents God, the prodigal represents a sinner, and the older brother represents those who consider themselves to be "righteous persons who need no repentance" (v 7).
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:12 give me the share of property. The law allowed this to happen before the father's death. See "portion," p 7. divided. The younger son could expect one-third of the estate. See note, Gn 25:31.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:13 far country. Away from the constraints of home. reckless living. The idea combines carelessness with moral laxity (cf v 30).
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:14 The life of a penniless foreigner was esp difficult when there was little food around.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:15 hired himself out. He took employment, like his father's hired servants. feed pigs. His employer was likely a Gentile; feeding the unclean beasts was the son's lowest step.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:16 Carob pods were regarded as animal fodder and were eaten only by the desperately poor. no one gave him anything. He likely had friends when he had money, but none when poor.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:17 came to himself. Expression may imply repentance. However, see note, vv 18–19. hired servants. Not slaves; hired by the day or retained as workers.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:18–19 The son realizes his wickedness and his plight but would still bargain for his father's help, an illustration of the depth of human depravity.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:20 compassion. See note, 7:13. In the NT, this word is largely used only of God, of Jesus, and in parables of characters representing God. E.g., it describes the Good Samaritan, which likely represents Jesus (see note, 10:37). The word, therefore, represents gracious love beyond the human norm, understanding and reaching into the life of another. ran and embraced him and kissed him. Shows acceptance of the wayward son before any question is asked. Remarkably, the father ran to his son, which was below the dignity of the older man.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:21 The son begins his speech but is cut off before he can offer his bargain (v 19).
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:22 servants. Different word from that in v 17. See p 1904. best robe. Festive and showing favor. Cf Gn 37:3–4. ring. Symbol of status and authority. See note, Gn 41:42. shoes. Dressed from head to toe as a son.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:23 fattened calf. Cf Gn 18:7. celebrate. Or, "make merry."
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:24 was dead, and is alive again. From the father's perspective, his son's plight was worse than imagined.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:25 His work likely kept the older son from the feast. music and dancing. Unmistakable sounds of celebration.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:28 angry. Cf v 29. entreated. Again, the father disregards the dignity of his position and condescends to encourage a son.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:29 never disobeyed. Hyperbole. Yet, this son behaved as he thought his younger brother should have behaved—as a servant. young goat. Minimal basis for a feast.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:30 devoured. Wasted; the son lost a third of the family fortune.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:31 you are always with me. The older son did not realize that being with his father was its own reward. all that is mine is yours. Not only a future benefit of the remaining inheritance, but also a present reality. The riches of the father were already the son's to enjoy.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:32 The father does not need to justify himself, but he wishes his son would see the joy in recovering his brother. dead. Lost to the family.
LUKE—NOTE ON 15:11–32 God found us when we were far from Him. We are in no position to begrudge His grace similarly given to others, no matter how unworthy they appear to us. How meagerly we celebrate Baptism and public declarations of faith! God calls us to a joyful celebration, not only of our own salvation, but also for the salvation of our brothers and sisters. • Father, as You welcome me, grant me joy in welcoming others. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:1–9 Interpreters differ over this difficult parable, unlike the clearer symbolism of parables in ch 15. It seems impossible that the rich man can be commended for integrity while at the same time the manager is praised for self-interest. Instead of viewing elements of this parable symbolically, it is best to stress Jesus' main point in v 9.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:1 manager. The owner's agent, entrusted with executive authority and independent in his stewardship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:2 account. Required either because the manager's employment is discontinued or for audit to see if the charges are true.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:3 Weakness and shame narrow his choices.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:4 receive me into their houses. Either for employment or as a guest.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:5 debtors. Tenants or traders with unpaid accounts.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:6–7 The debtors are likely sharecroppers. The generous reduction of the bills clearly favor the debtors, perhaps by removing interest on loans or property agreements.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:8 commended. Praise for shrewdness but not necessarily approval. sons of this world. People immersed in the ways of the world. sons of light. Believers.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:9 unrighteous wealth. Although the wealth belongs in a fallen world, the disciple's stewardship can follow higher principles. Aug: "Some, by a bad understanding of this, plunder the goods of others, and bestow some of that upon the poor…. I would not that you should so understand it. Give alms of your righteous labors: give out of that which you possess rightfully" (NPNF 1 6:450). eternal dwellings. The steward wants only hospitality now, but Jesus points to eternal welcome.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:10–13 This teaching is related to the theme of vv 1–9 but has moved to a new emphasis.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:10 faithful. Dependable. See p 842.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:11 unrighteous wealth. See note, v 9. true riches? The Gospel's lasting and substantial value surpasses any earthly thing (cf Php 3:8).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:12 We are stewards only of that which God loans to us.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:13 two masters. A household servant can give undivided loyalty to one master only. devoted. Lit, "hold on to." You cannot serve God and money. For the servant of God, money may in turn be a servant of godly purposes, but money cannot become a master without threatening loyalty to God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:1–13 Guard against becoming enslaved to the pursuit of wealth. Instead, use money for godly and eternal purposes. God offers us lasting treasure in Christ, and so a true perspective on money and goods. • Deliver us, Father, from the love of money, but increase our love for You and for one another. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:14 ridiculed. They tried to deflect Jesus' criticism by sneering at Him and pointing out what they regarded as His faults.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:15 justify yourselves. Establish their righteousness among themselves. exalted … abomination. His ways are not our ways (Is 55:8–9), and so people value the very things that God despises.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:16 Law and the Prophets. The whole OT. John. Cf ch 3. good news of the kingdom of God. See note, 4:43. forces his way into it. Jesus seems to complain about the violent reaction people have to God's Word. The Pharisees abuse the proclamation of the Gospel (v 14), just as they abused the Law and the Prophets. They even rejected John, who prepared the way for God's rule in Christ.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:17 Despite great opposition, God's Word will not fail. Jesus has come to fulfill "the Law or the Prophets" that others have abused (Mt 5:17).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:14–17 It is tempting to lay aside the inconvenient portions of God's Law. Yet, every Word of God is precious and for our edification. Praise God, we do not need to justify ourselves. The good news of His kingdom releases us from sin and gives new life. • Lord, teach us to treasure the Law and the Gospel as Your good gifts, fulfilled for us in Christ Jesus. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:18–17:10 This section points to the power of the Word and the blessings of faithful service. The particular topics likely flowed from Jesus' conflict with the Pharisees (16:14).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:18 God intends marriage to be a permanent union (Mt 19:3–9) between one man and one woman (Gn 2:18–25).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:18 Marital fidelity is to be preserved, for marriage is the blessing of a lifelong partnership. Pray for your spouse in the love of the heavenly Bridegroom, Jesus. His faithfulness avails for our forgiveness and salvation. • Sanctify our marriages, O blessed Savior. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:19–31 Though some interpreters have regarded this story of Lazarus as a parable (perhaps because of dislike for v 23), the fact that Jesus used a personal name for a main character indicates a realistic situation.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:19 clothed in purple and fine linen. A rich, royal woolen cloak worn over a delicate undergarment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:20 The feasting of the rich man and his friends made the gate a promising site for a beggar. Lazarus. Means "one whom God helps."
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:21 He is helpless to keep the dogs from his undressed wounds.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:22 carried by the angels. Instantly, divine help appears where human aid had been lacking. Abraham's side. Lit, "Abraham's bosom." Perhaps the place of honor at the heavenly banquet (cf Mt 8:11; Jn 21:20).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:23 Hades, being in torment. The rich man has completed his life and is tormented for his heartlessness. Though the story provides a glimpse of the afterlife, other passages of Scripture are needed to gain a clear and comprehensive teaching of that doctrine. See p 1609. saw Abraham far off. The man is isolated from God and His servants.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:24 send Lazarus. Formerly neglected, he is now seen as a potential minister in need. cool my tongue. The thought of such minimal relief moves him to beg, so great is the torment. flame. As in Ps 106:18, flame burns up the wicked. Aug: "Proud in the world, in hell a beggar! For that poor man did attain to his crumbs; but the other attained not to the drop of water" (NPNF 1 6:426).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:25 Child. Father Abraham does not disown him as his descendant. comforted … anguish. Contrasts between this life and eternal life, and how we perceive them, are the essence of the account.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:26 chasm … none may cross. Nothing can bridge the gap after death (cf Heb 9:27).
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:27 send him. Again, the rich man needs the humble beggar from his gate.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:28 warn them. Their repentance would be to merely try to avoid the brother's fate.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:29 They have Moses and the Prophets. Repentance has already been demanded by the living God, a far higher authority than the brother who has died.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:30 The rich man is hopeful but misjudges the stubbornness of human nature. Cf Dt 18:11; 1Sm 28:7.
LUKE—NOTE ON 16:31 Another Lazarus (Jn 11) did return from the dead. But not all witnesses were moved (Jn 11:45–53). Repentance and faith are wrought through the Word of God, not dramatic experiences. "The reason some are not saved is as follows: They do not listen to God's Word at all, but willfully despise it, plug their ears, and harden their hearts. In this way they block the ordinary way [Luke 16:29–31] for the Holy Spirit so He cannot perform His work in them. Or, when they have heard God's Word, they make light of it again and ignore it. But their wickedness is responsible for this 'that they perish', not God or His election" (FC Ep XI 12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:19–31 Jesus challenges the belief that earthly blessings are a sign of God's eternal favor. He teaches us to heed the Word of God now while faithful mercy can be shown, for this is God's good and gracious will. • Lord, teach me to read and trust in Your gift of Moses, the Prophets, and all faithful witnesses to the Gospel. May my tongue speak now of Your grace for all who have ears to hear. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:1 woe. See p 1080; see also note, Is 10:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:2 millstone. See note, Jgs 9:53. cause one of these little ones to sin. Leading esp a young or immature believer to fall away from Christ. Even infants can believe or trust (cf 18:15), as shown by the way they long to be held by parents rather than by strangers. See note, 18:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:3 yourselves! Each one bears responsibility for guiding the brother away from sin and for being ready to forgive. rebuke. Drawing attention to the sin is a loving warning. "Necessity requires one to speak of the evil, to prefer charges, to investigate, and to testify…. Governments, father and mother, brothers and sisters, and other good friends are under obligation to one another to rebuke evil wherever it is needful and profitable" (LC I 274–75). if he repents, forgive him. As God does the same.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:4 seven times. Keep forgiving, as God likewise forgives you. Aug: "What then is 'seven times'? Always, as often as he shall sin and repent" (NPNF 1 6:452).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:1–4 Disciples need to guard the faith of others with forgiveness and a helping hand. Exercise special care for the young and the young in faith. How ready God is to forgive, as He demonstrates in the love of Christ. • Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:5 apostles. Note that v 1 has "disciples." At times, the terms are used interchangeably in Lk. See p 1901. Increase our faith! The disciples see they are unable to live up to the teaching of Jesus. The Lord shows that faith is a quality more than a measured quantity. See "faith," p 1902.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:6 mustard seed. See note, Mk 4:31. mulberry tree. A deep-rooted tree. planted in the sea. Faith is capable of otherwise impossible things. it would obey you. The unclean spirits (Mk 1:27) and the winds and water (Lk 8:25) were seen to obey Jesus, so faith connects the Christian to the power of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:5–6 The tiniest faith accomplishes remarkable things. Like the apostles, we may feel a weakness in our faith. Today, pray for the Lord's strength. His gift of faith is anything but weak, and He will grant you strength to accomplish the impossible. • I believe; help my unbelief, O Lord. Increase my faith in You. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:7 servant. Perhaps the household's only slave tending to outside and inside duties. recline at table? See note, Mt 8:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:8 dress properly. Clothes worn for farm labor are replaced by those fit for waiting at table.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:9 Does he thank the servant. Obviously not; a rhetorical question.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:10 We are unworthy servants. Perfect service is a reasonable return to our Master, who deals mercifully with us and calls us to deal mercifully with others (vv 3–4). "These words clearly declare that God saves by mercy and because of His promise, not that it is due because of the value of our works" (Ap V 213).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:7–10 We owe God our full service and truly can do Him no favors. God does not owe us thanks for our obedience. In Christ, He does not forever punish us for our disobedience but forgives us graciously. When He returns, we will eat and drink in His kingdom as He has served us. • Grant me a willing heart and able hands, O Lord, to render thanks to You and care to my neighbors. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:11 Location not specified. See color map 4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:12 The law required the separation of lepers from the community (cf Lv 13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:13 Master. See note, 5:5. have mercy. Adopted in the Church's liturgy as a cry for salvation. See pp 842–43.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:14 show yourselves to the priests. To verify the healing (Lv 14). cleansed. Lepers were regarded as "unclean" due to association with the death of the affected body parts.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:15 with a loud voice. Began his praise from a distance.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:16 fell on his face. See p 1276. Note that he praises God at Jesus' feet (see note, 8:39). Samaritan. The Jews despised the Samaritans because of historic betrayals and heretical beliefs. See p 1557.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:17 Ingratitude is the response of the majority.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:18 foreigner? United in their affliction, the Samaritan and Jewish lepers tolerated one another. Now the one least expected to associate with Jesus, a Jew, returns thanks.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:19 your faith has made you well. See note, 7:50.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:11–19 Jesus commends the faith of a Samaritan leper who alone gives thanks for his healing. Daily God's mercy extends to the unworthy—including you. Give praise to Him, who bore no grudge toward you but came to save you. • Thanks be to You, O God, as we go our way, made whole by Jesus. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:20 kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66. not coming with signs to be observed. They searched in vain for the wrong kingdom (11:29).
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:21 in the midst of you. Christ, the King, was in their midst. Aug: "Let every one then wisely receive the admonitions of the Master, that he may not lose the season of the mercy of the Savior, which is now being dealt out, as long as the human race is spared. For to this end is man spared, that he may be converted, and that he may not [exist] to be condemned. God only knows when the end of the world shall come: nevertheless now is the time of faith" (NPNF 1 6:442).
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:22 days are coming. The days between the first and second comings of Jesus, when the Church waits longingly for His return.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:23 Some still look for visible signs. See note, 11:29.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:24 The Son of Man's return will be as evident as lightning that fills the sky.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:25 As glorious as the Lord's return will be, deep will also be His humiliation and suffering, which must take place to atone for the sins of the world.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:26 days of Noah. See note, Mt 24:37–39.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:27–28 marrying and being given in marriage. Going about their lives, thinking "all things are continuing as they were from the beginning of creation" (2Pt 3:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:28 Judgment of Sodom came while people were absorbed in their business.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:29 fire and sulfur rained. Sudden and inescapable destruction.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:30 Son of Man. See p 2098. revealed. On the Last Day, at His return.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:31 The usefulness of goods will have passed.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:32 Lot's wife. Example of destructive regret over leaving one's former life.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:33 Some will cherish the present and miss life everlasting.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:34–35 One will be taken. Only some will be taken to God in eternity. Cf Mt 25:31–46. The modern rapture doctrine is based on a misunderstanding of this passage and others. See note, 1Th 4:17.
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:37 Where, Lord? The Pharisees had asked "when" (v 20). The disciples want a location for the Kingdom, which shows they have not understood. See pp 1565–66. corpse … vultures. Snappy, ominous answer. The vultures' interest points unmistakably to the corpse, and similarly there will be no doubt about the second coming (cf v 24).
LUKE—NOTE ON 17:20–37 The kingdom of God will come unexpectedly, but surely, to all. Live in daily repentance rather than put off repentance or take confidence that you can discern the day of Christ's return. Take comfort that we can trust in the Son of Man, who suffered and was rejected for us, so that His Father would not reject us. • Come, Lord Jesus. Take Your people home. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:1 not lose heart. They would soon be discouraged by their weaknesses and the death of Jesus, who urges them to prayer. Aug: "Faith pours out prayer, and the pouring out of prayer obtains the strengthening of faith…. So far temptation advances as faith gives way: and so far temptation gives way, as faith advances" (NPNF 1 6:454).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:2 neither feared God nor respected man. Isolated in arrogance, the judge fears neither those above nor below him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:3 She was vulnerable because she had no companion to advocate for her (Ac 6:1; Jas 1:27). Give me justice. Her plea could include reparation for her as well as punishment of the wrongdoer.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:4 Like the rich fool in ch 12, the judge does not share his thoughts with others.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:5 Her persistence is the key feature of this parable.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:6 The unrighteous judge himself gives the parable's application.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:7 God is not an unrighteous judge. But if even an unrighteous man will give justice to the persistent, how much more will our righteous God do so? elect. See note, Rm 8:29; see also "chosen," p 1901.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:8 speedily. The most decisive act of God in vindicating His elect, namely, Jesus' death and resurrection, was near. Son of Man. See p 2098. will He find faith on earth? Rhetorical question, urging faithfulness, which is the key ingredient in the prayers of the saints.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:1–8 If even an unworthy judge responds to persistence, God certainly hears His people's faithful prayers. Pray without ceasing (1Th 5:17). God will answer speedily as He has promised in Christ. • Lord, grant me enduring faith and persistence in the face of every trouble. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:9 trusted in themselves. Believing their lives were acceptable to God. On true righteousness, see p 1904.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:10 into the temple to pray. For public prayers. See note, 24:53. Pharisee. See note, Mk 2:18. tax collector. See note, Mt 5:46.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:11 Satirical. See p 1335. not like other men. Arrogant pride. Aug: "He had no mind to pray to God, but to laud himself" (NPNF 1 6:455). like this tax collector. Expresses disdain. The tax collector is placed in the same category as the other sinners in the verse because of his hated occupation. "He who prays for grace in this way does not rely upon God's mercy and treats Christ with disrespect" (Ap V 211).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:12 fast twice a week. Not demanded by the OT. tithes. See note, 11:42.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:13 Knowing his inadequacy before God, he seeks a God who saves rather than condemns.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:14 justified. To be declared righteous and therefore acceptable to God. See p 1903. who humbles himself … exalted. Only the humble would pray for and receive God's forgiveness (Pr 15:33; 16:18).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:9–14 The Pharisee excludes himself from God's gift of righteousness, while the penitent tax collector embraces it. Today, beware of the complacency of measuring your goodness against others. Measure yourself against God's standards—then repent. God is ready to justify the worst of sinners by His generous grace in Christ. • God, be merciful to me, a sinner. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:15 infants. Very youngest children, unable to make independent decisions. However, see note, 17:2. touch. For blessing. See notes, Gn 48:14; Ex 30:29; Mt 14:36; Mk 5:23. "We bring the child in the conviction and hope that it believes, and we pray that God may grant it faith [Luke 17:2; Ephesians 2:8]. But we do not baptize it for that reason, but solely because of God's command. Why? Because we know that God does not lie [Titus 1:2]. I and my neighbor and, in short, all people, may err and deceive. But God's Word cannot err" (LC IV 57). rebuked. Likely, they regarded babies as unworthy of the Lord's attention.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:16 to such belongs the kingdom. The kingdom of God comes to all who humbly trust the Lord, no matter what their age or status (1Co 1:27–29). belongs. Just as an infant may inherit the parents' blessings and property, so any person may receive the inheritance of God's kingdom—salvation. Grace, faith, and everlasting life are gifts of God. See note, Eph 2:8–9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:17 Children have to trust and receive the care of others, and only in the same way does the kingdom of God come to us.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:15–17 Jesus includes children in His kingdom and teaches that we must be like them to enter the kingdom. No one has a greater claim to the kingdom than a newly baptized infant, whom Jesus welcomes with loving arms—that is grace. • Give us grace to receive Your kingdom, O Lord, as babies welcome and trust their parents' loving arms. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:18–30 The rich ruler, a powerful and capable man, stands in contrast to the helpless infants of vv 15–17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:18 ruler. Perhaps a leader in the synagogue. See note, 8:41. Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. inherit eternal life? Eternal life is a gracious gift inherited, not earned. See note, v 16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:19 No one is good except God alone. Jesus points to a perfect goodness—His own—which the ruler does not yet understand.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:20 The Commandments give more guidance and demand more perfection than the man realizes. See note, Mt 19:18–19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:21 All these I have kept. According to his standard.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:22 See note, Mt 19:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:23 became very sad. Because he was unwilling to accept Jesus' great challenge.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:24–25 The teaching about the camel sounds like exaggeration, but it is literally true that no one can overcome the obstacles to entering the kingdom of God. The comparison has a humorous quality. See p 1335.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:26 who can be saved? Because wealth and status were seen as signs of God's favor, the disciples wondered what hope there was for the poor.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:27 See note, Mt 19:26.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:28 Peter is anxious to know that their sacrifice has been adequate.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:29–30 Degree of their sacrifice, though great by our standards, does not compare to the greatness of heavenly blessings.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:30 receive many times more. Cf 1Co 3:14. Believers opened their homes and hearts to one another as members of the family of faith.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:18–30 Wealth, works, and personal sacrifice cannot save. However, any sacrifice made for God's kingdom is amply compensated in this life and in the life to come. Heaven is our inheritance by our loving Father's grace alone. Yet, in generosity, He will also reward us as we care for one another here. • The blessings You give, generous Father, are impossibly out of our reach. Lift us up by the grace of Your Son, our Savior, that we may receive all You have prepared for us. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:31 Son of Man. See p 2098. accomplished. Lit, "ended." The prophecies were not completed until their fulfillment in Christ.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:32 delivered over. Not only by Judas and the high priest, but also by the plan of God (22:22).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:33 he will rise. When Jesus predicts His sufferings, He also affirms the resurrection. This was not understood (v 34) until after the event (24:6–11).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:34 hidden. Had they been alert to messianic prophecies (e.g., Is 53; Ps 22), the course of Jesus' mission might have seemed obvious. In the next event, vv 35–43, they still did not grasp the nature of God's kingdom

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:31–34 As in ch 9, Jesus explains the culmination of His ministry in suffering, death, and resurrection. Today, do not settle for a glorious vision of Jesus that does not include the cross. God has fulfilled His glorious promises of prophecy in His Son. Jesus retains His scars (24:40) as pledges of His love for you. • Let not sin shield our eyes, O Father, from the truth of Jesus, who bore the cross to be our Savior. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:35–43 Last miracle before Jesus enters Jerusalem. Significantly, it is an account that is colored with expressions about the Messiah. As in 18:1–8, persistence in prayer is answered.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:35 Blindness at that time precluded regular work, so he depended on others' generosity.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:36 From the noise, he knows there is a crowd, but not why.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:37 Jesus is described by His hometown, which cannot explain who He truly is.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:38 Son of David. See note, Mt 1:1. mercy on me! See note, Lk 17:13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:39 rebuked. As with the children in v 15, the blind man was considered unworthy of Christ's attention. People likely viewed his condition as evidence of sin (cf Jn 9:2).
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:41 What do you want Me to do for you? See note, Mt 20:32. Lord. Ambiguous title; it could mean no more than "Sir," but it is also used in the LXX to translate God's name. The wording provokes the reader to consider who Jesus is.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:42 See note, 7:50.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:43 followed. Characteristic verb of discipleship.
LUKE—NOTE ON 18:35–43 A blind beggar overcomes the crowd and cries for sight. Today, persist in prayer and in faith. Jesus, great David's greater Son, brings health and salvation to all who believe. • Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me! Let me see You clearly and confess You truly. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:1–2 entered Jericho. Having restored the blind beggar's sight, Jesus now rescues Zacchaeus, who is lost in his wealth. Cf 18:22.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:2 chief tax collector. Zacchaeus was supervisor over Jericho, a principal location for collecting customs on goods passing east and west. See note, Mt 5:46. rich. He used his position for his own benefit. Cf v 8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:3 seeking. He was curious, having heard about Jesus. Though Zacchaeus was looking, it is Jesus who found him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:4 sycamore tree. See note, Am 7:14.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:5 I must stay at your house. "Must" implies God required this. Jesus has found the seeker and extends mercy to the despised tax collector by asking to stay with him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:6 received Him joyfully. The coming of Jesus was a sign of fellowship and forgiveness. See p 1718.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:7 they all grumbled. Others likely hoped to have the great Teacher as their guest. Some thought that for Jesus to eat with such a man as Zacchaeus was to become a partner with him in his sins. See note, Mk 2:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:8 half of my goods I give to the poor. His words and actions show true repentance. Cf 3:10–14. defrauded … fourfold. Past extortion is not in doubt.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:9 salvation has come. See p 843. The coming of Jesus means the lost Zacchaeus has been sought and now found. son of Abraham. A descendant of Abraham and now a "true" son through faith in Jesus. See note, Rm 4:16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:10 The whole reason God's Son became incarnate and was on His way to Jerusalem.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:1–10 Jesus saves Zacchaeus by visiting him with mercy. Followers of Jesus dare never begrudge the mercy others have received. The Gospel can save one sinner who repents just as well as another. The saving love of Jesus seeks and reaches out to all people. • Lord, in Your name, we welcome all who repent and share in the forgiveness we have received. Grant us willing hearts to share the Gospel freely. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11–27 Parable recalls when Archelaus, the son of Herod the Great, went to Rome to be confirmed by Caesar as king. (Archelaus ruled 4 BC–AD 6.) A delegation of Jews also went to Rome to protest the appointment. Caesar still appointed Archelaus as king, but he gave him a smaller kingdom. In the parable, Jesus teaches that by His death, resurrection, and ascension, He will gain His kingship. Though the world will protest His reign, Jesus' disciples are to use the gifts entrusted to them faithfully. At Jesus' return, He will punish those who have opposed His gracious rule.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11 these things. Words spoken in Zacchaeus's house, to which He now adds the parable about kingship. near to Jerusalem. Jericho was c 15 mi NE of Jerusalem. See color map 4. the kingdom of God was to appear immediately. The hearers expected that God's kingdom would come instantly in glory as Jesus took Jerusalem away from the Romans. See note, 9:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:12 nobleman. Lit, "well-born." Certainly applies to Jesus: descended from David and the Son of God, conceived by the Holy Spirit of the Virgin Mary.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:13 ten minas. See ESV note. Engage in business. The servants are being tested to prepare them for greater responsibilities when the nobleman returns.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:14 hated. The same hostility of those who rejected Jesus, placing Him on the cross. delegation. See note, vv 11–27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:15 received the kingdom. Rejection by his enemies did not prevent the nobleman from receiving the kingship. that he might know. He inquires as to their faithful use of his gifts.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:16 your mina has made. What Jesus gives, rather than the servant's skill, produces the increase. Luth: "[Jesus] wants nothing to be offered but the gift which was received; nothing is to be taught except the word of God; nothing is to be done except what God works in us…. We are stewards not of our own riches, but of the manifold grace of God" (AE 44:379).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:17 He proved himself faithful in the king's service, so the reward is great service, proportional to his success.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:18 Though there are differences in what the servants accomplish, what the king requires is faithfulness.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:19 See note, v 17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:20 Three servants who are rewarded may represent the responses of all 10 (v 13). laid away in a handkerchief. Luth: "Whoever teaches the Word of God correctly … does not lay the Word down in his napkin, as a lazy slave does…. He keeps it in use" (AE 28:321).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:21 severe. Strict, exacting. The charge, however, was wrong, because the king was generous to the other servants (vv 17, 19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:22 with your own words. Luth: "By excusing himself he accuses himself" (AE 1:274).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:23 bank. Tables of money changers. This procedure would have taken little effort, had little risk, and would have given a decent return.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:24 those who stood by. Represents the attendants of the heavenly King, namely, the angels.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:26 I tell you. A principle to answer v 25. Be faithful with whatever amount is given or face the loss of all, even the little, you have.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:27 these enemies of mine. Ignoring the third servant, Jesus speaks of those who continued to reject Him and oppose the preaching of His Word. slaughter them before me. The final judgment that ends all rebellion against the king.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11–27 Our returning King will abolish all opposition to His kingdom and will honor those who faithfully served Him. Never take God's Word for granted, hoarding the gifts you have received. Christ calls you to share His Word faithfully, and He is ever generous and merciful toward you. His gifts work effectively in your life, and, through you, in the lives of others. • Grant, O generous Lord, that we may always remain faithful in our stewardship of Your gifts. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:28 Jesus travels as a king going to His coronation (cf v 11). He went on ahead. Perhaps drawing away from the crowds who attended Him at Jericho. The road to Jerusalem is very steep. See color map 4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:29 Bethphage. Village on the Mount of Olives c 1 mi from the Jerusalem temple. Bethany. Village on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, c 2 mi from Jerusalem. See color map 4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:30 Jesus intentionally sought to fulfill Zec 9:9. you will find. Jesus may have made prearrangements, or, more likely, used His divine knowledge to give direction. no one has ever yet sat. Animals that had not been used were esp appropriate for holy purposes (cf Nu 19:2; 1Sm 6:7). See note, Mk 11:2.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:31 The Lord. The owners either knew Jesus or knew of Him.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:33–34 Just as Jesus had spoken, so it happened.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:35–36 See notes, Mt 21:7–8. Jesus enters royally, but not as a military hero (see note, 1Ki 1:33).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:37 Mount of Olives. The mount named in the prophecy of the Lord's coming (Zec 14:4). began to rejoice. The praise increases at the crest of the mount as Jerusalem comes into view. See diagram, pp 1690–91. mighty works. Esp the healing of the blind man (18:35–43) and the raising of Lazarus (Jn 11).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:38 Many from Jerusalem, hearing of His approach, met Jesus. They sang the words used to greet pilgrims entering Jerusalem. Yet, they welcomed Jesus as the messianic King. Peace in heaven. God is reconciled to us in Christ (Rm 5:1).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:39 Teacher. In Lk, Jesus' opponents often used this title for Him (7:40; 20:21, 28, 39). See note, Mt 8:19.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:40 The rhetorical reply challenged the Pharisees' silence. Even nature yearns for the coming salvation of the world (Rm 8:19–22).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:28–40 Jesus fulfills OT prophecy and is acclaimed the messianic King. Take joy in the reign of your Savior, who answers prayers with wonder and grants abiding peace. • "O Lord, how shall I meet You, How welcome You aright? Your people long to greet You, My hope, my heart's delight!" Amen. (LSB 334:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:41 Jesus weeps only here and when Lazarus died. Opposite the rejoicing crowd, Jesus wept for the city because He saw its coming destruction. See note, v 43.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:42 Would that. Depicts strong emotion. Jesus knew how short-lived the celebration will be. He would be dead before the end of the week. things that make for peace! Events related to God's gracious visitation in His Son.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:43 the days will come. Jerusalem would be utterly destroyed by Rome (AD 70).
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:44 you did not know the time of your visitation. They ignored or misunderstood God's gracious visit in His Son.
LUKE—NOTE ON 19:41–44 Jesus weeps over Jerusalem's present blindness and future fate. His heart still breaks for those who have not yet received His Word. Pray for your family, friends, and neighbors, that they would receive Jesus, who came in compassion to seek and save the lost. • "Ride on, ride on in majesty! In lowly pomp ride on to die. Bow Thy meek head to mortal pain, Then take, O God, Thy pow'r and reign." Amen. (LSB 441:5)

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:45 Jesus came to the temple "like a refiner's fire" (Mal 3:2). those who sold. See note, Mt 21:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:46 The pilgrims were being cheated; the exchange rates were tantamount to robbery. Cf Mt 21:12–13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:47 The temple, prominent in chs 1–2, is the scene of Jesus' final messages (19:47–21:38). chief priests. The high priest, ex high priests, and other temple officers, mostly Sadducees. scribes. See note, Mt 2:4. principal men. Laymen, heads of some of the ancient families. These three groups formed the supreme Jewish Council (also called the Sanhedrin). See p 1556.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:48 people were hanging on His words. Proof of the gripping power of Jesus' teaching and the anticipation that something great was happening (see note, v 11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:45–48 Jesus goes directly to the temple to cleanse it for proper services: the hearing of God's Word. Today, beware of worldly distractions from the Lord's Word. Hang on to it, for Jesus cleanses our hearts by faith in His Holy Word. • Cleanse us, O Savior, from everything that would separate us from Your Holy Word and Your gracious reign. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:1 Jesus, having cleansed the temple court (see diagram, p 1690), now teaches in it, identifying Himself with it and His Father. preaching the gospel. The truths of the kingdom of God (cf 4:18, 43; 7:22; 8:1; 9:6; 16:16). chief priests … scribes … elders. See note, 19:47.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:2 The priests and Levites had divine appointment (Lv 8; Nu 1:47–54). Likewise, the Pharisees legitimately taught the people (Mt 23:2). Elders had always counseled God's people (see note, Ex 3:16). These leaders raise a natural and proper question, but in circumstances that point to their failure to exercise their authority rightly by holding to God's Word.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:3 To answer a question with a question was a typical rabbinic rhetorical practice.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:4 baptism of John. The authority of John and Jesus belong together from their births. See note, 3:3. from heaven or from man? See note, Mt 21:24–25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:5 To admit that John was a true prophet would condemn themselves because they had rejected God's spokesman.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:6 stone us. Punishment for blasphemy. John was a prophet. In contrast to these leaders, John proved faithful and true, including his prophecy about Jesus (3:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:7 They pleaded ignorance, even though it was their duty to give instruction on such basic issues. In a debate, this pushed the question back toward the one who raised it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:8 Neither will I tell you. Jesus sharply ended the debate because they forfeited any right to have their original question answered.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:1–8 Jesus would not allow detractors to take away His right to teach in the temple. His teaching still commands authority and priority today over all other teaching. Subject all things to His reign and the wisdom of His Word. Pray for bold faith that rightly honors Christ and His prophets. He claims you as His holy temple, that He may rule your heart in forgiveness, peace, and love. • " 'Hosanna in the highest!' That ancient song we sing; For Christ is our Redeemer, The Lord of heav'n our King. Oh, may we ever praise Him With heart and life and voice And in His blissful presence Eternally rejoice!" Amen. (LSB 443:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:9–15 The owner is God, the vineyard is Israel, the tenants are the religious leaders, the servants are the prophets, and the beloved son is Jesus. The parable's background fits absentee landlord arrangements of the first century. The point is not the vineyard's productivity but the caretaker's actions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:10 time came. To collect the rent at harvest. beat him. Symbolizes Israel's rejection of the prophets.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:11 he sent another. Note God's patience. See note, Mt 21:36. treated him shamefully. They added insult to the violence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:12 Crescendo of abuse.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:13 beloved son. Jesus (cf 3:22; 9:35), God's last and most gracious attempt to win over His people. respect him. See note, Mt 21:37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:14 the inheritance may be ours. Because the son/heir would be dead. They failed to reckon with any subsequent action by the owner.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:15 out of the vineyard. Jesus' crucifixion outside Jerusalem. What then. Jesus shatters the assumption of the owner's permanent absence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:16 to others. Not the old religious establishment (cf Ac 13:46–47). Surely not! Expression used frequently by Paul, but only here in the Gospels. See note, Rm 3:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:17 Jesus cites Ps 118:22 in speaking of the Messiah's rejection, but He also points to the resurrection. The events of the next few days will answer His question. stone … cornerstone? Jesus, rejected by official Israel, is exalted by God, who builds His Church on Jesus as the "Church's one foundation" (LSB 644:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:18 Jesus uses OT imagery to speak of the inevitable judgment. The image of the stone is twofold: one may stumble over it or be crushed by it. All who reject Christ will feel its sharpness and pain.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:9–18 By parable and psalm, Jesus warns against rejecting the Messiah. God's mission in Christ will succeed; we reject it at our great peril. Despite all opposition, God will build His Church on the crucified and resurrected Jesus. • O God, grant that we may always build our heavenly hope on the one sure cornerstone You have provided, our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:19 scribes … chief priests. Some of the same opponents as in 19:47. See pp 1556–57. lay hands on Him. They cannot because, again, the people support Jesus (cf 18:43; 20:6).
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:20 authority and jurisdiction of the governor. Unable to overcome Jesus by themselves, they turn to the Romans' power.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:21 Teacher. In Lk, only strangers and critics use this title for Jesus (vv 28, 39). See note, Mt 8:19. rightly … no partiality … way of God. They flatter Jesus to entrap Him in a bold statement.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:22 lawful. Jewish religious law. tribute to Caesar. A Roman-imposed poll tax, detested by the Jews, because it marked them as subjects of Rome. If Jesus says yes, He could lose the support of the people; if He says no, His opponents would have a charge to take before Pilate.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:24 See note, Mt 22:19–20.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:25 One's loyalty to God can exist with loyalty to earthly authority, but the state's claims can never usurp God's claims. See note, Mt 22:21.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:26 Even his opponents admit His victory as they retreat in silence.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:19–26 Jesus outwits His opponents and teaches the proper relationship between earthly authority and God. Not even the legitimate claims of government usurp our loyalty to God. Jesus' perfect allegiance to His Father brought the state's condemnation, that He might forgive our divided allegiance. • Lord, grant that we may serve You faithfully as citizens in this world. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:27 Sadducees. In Lk, mentioned only here. deny that there is a resurrection. See p 1557.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:28 See note, Mt 22:24. Teacher. See note, v 21.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:29–33 Extreme example to attempt to make the resurrection look ridiculous.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:33 whose wife. None of the brothers in the example had begotten an heir or had an enduring marriage with her.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:34 sons of this age. People living in the present world.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:35 considered worthy. Through repentance and faith, they have entered God's kingdom. neither marry nor are given in marriage. The question is irrelevant; in heaven, people neither marry nor remarry, die nor give birth.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:36 equal to angels. Possessing an endless heavenly glory. sons of God … sons of the resurrection. The sad brothers and the widow, who had no heir, inherit God's kingdom and the joyous benefits of the resurrection.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:37–38 The Sadducees had referred to Moses; Jesus does the same as He points to Ex 3:6, 15 to affirm the resurrection. God had said, "I am the God of …" Though at Moses' time the patriarchs were long dead, God identifies Himself as being their God. Only living people can have a God; therefore, if He is their God, they are alive, their souls are with Him, and their bodies will be raised.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:39 scribes. See note, Mt 2:4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:40 no longer. This ended their questions, but now Jesus would examine them.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:27–40 Jesus demonstrates that the Lord is the God of the living. The patriarchs, though dead from an earthly perspective, are still alive with God. Our human reason dare not come between us and God's sure promises. Jesus' certain resurrection shows that He is our living God and hope of life. • I praise You, Lord of life, for the resurrection promised in Your Word. Grant me faithfulness unto the Last Day. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:41 Jesus takes the initiative and questions the scribes, who believed the Messiah was only David's earthly son. Christ is David's son? See note, Mk 12:35.
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:42–43 In the psalm, David sees his "Lord" invited by God, "the Lord," to exercise all divine majesty and power. See note, Ps 110:1. Luth: "Here, as nowhere else in the Old Testament Scriptures, we find a clear and powerful description of His person—who he is, namely, both David's promised Son according to the flesh and God's eternal Son" (AE 13:228).
LUKE—NOTE ON 20:42 right hand. Place of honor and authority. See p 843.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:44 By the incarnation, David's descendant possesses greater authority than David. The eternal Son of God became David's Son when He was conceived by the Holy Spirit and born of the Virgin Mary.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:41–44 Only the incarnation can answer Jesus' question. He is both man, David's son, and God, David's Lord. Reason dare not reduce the truths of Scripture. David's son has become our Lord through His death and resurrection, and the Father has exalted Jesus to His right hand. • "Hail him, ye heirs of David's line, Whom David Lord did call, The God incarnate, man divine, And crown Him Lord of all." Amen. (LSB 549:4)

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:46 Beware of the scribes. Generally, as allies of the Pharisees, they opposed Jesus. See note, Mt 2:4. long robes. Ornate garments worn by dignitaries on special occasions. marketplaces. Where people are seen and greeted. best seats. Benches in the synagogue before the platform. places of honor. Next to the host. See note, v 42.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:47 devour widows' houses. Scribes were often appointed as widows' advisors or agents, mishandling the property to their advantage. long prayers. To appear more pious and impressive. See note, Mt 6:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:45–47 Jesus warns His disciples not to be impressed by the scribes' display. Do not practice the faith simply to impress others. In contrast, for your salvation, Jesus "made Himself nothing, taking the form of a servant…. He humbled Himself" (Php 2:7–8). • Lord, grant me the humility and mind of Christ. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:1 Jesus sat teaching in an outer court of the temple, where He could see the rich making their contributions. offering box. One of the 13 trumpet-shaped collection boxes in the court of the women that received offerings for the temple worship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:2 poor widow. Alone, she was virtually penniless. copper coins. Smallest coins in use.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:3–4 you. The disciples with Jesus. more. In God's eyes, who notes her sacrifice. all … all … all. Note the emphasis. God deals in wholes, not fractions.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:1–4 Jesus highlights the widow in order to teach what God values. Our giving reflects our priorities. "For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sake He became poor, so that you by His poverty might become rich" (2Co 8:9). • Lord, open our hearts by Your generous goodness. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5–36 Jesus concludes by prophesying the destruction of the temple and the city and the end of the world. Although separate in time, Jerusalem's destruction foreshadows the final judgment. See p 1258; see also note, Mk 13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5 Herod the Great renovated the temple. The third-century Roman historian Tacitus described it as "immensely opulent." adorned with noble stones and offerings. Some marble columns were higher than 40 ft. Ornaments included tapestries, golden and bronze doors, and golden grape clusters.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:6 the days will come. Destruction by the Romans in AD 70. thrown down. Devastation would be complete; no part of the temple remains today, only a retaining wall of the outer court (the West Wall).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:7 Teacher. See note, Mt 8:19. sign. Portend or miracle.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:8 not led astray. Many false prophets were coming; discernment would be needed. My name. Claiming to be Christ's representatives or Christ Himself. I am He! "I am the Messiah whose return was promised!"

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:9 these things. Events of vv 6–8. the end will not be at once. The destruction of Jerusalem would foreshadow the distant end of the world.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5–9 Jesus prepares His disciples for the temple's destruction and the final judgment. Do not be so impressed with the world's splendor that you lose sight of the eternal. Jesus, our true temple, was laid low in the grave but rose again so we can live fearlessly. • Lord, keep our hearts fixed on You, that as we pass through things temporal, we do not lose what is eternal. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:10 These signs lead up to the destruction of the temple (AD 70); similar signs will occur before the end of the world (v 25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:11 Jesus speaks of natural disasters and physical disturbances. The historian Josephus reported such events before the destruction of the temple.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:12 Before Jerusalem's fall, the disciples will have to endure various persecutions because they are Christians (1Pt 4:12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:13 Persecution provides an opportunity to proclaim Jesus publicly (Ac 4:1–12; 5:17–32; 26).
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:14–15 Jesus reassures the disciples that God will protect and provide for them in tribulation. Through the Holy Spirit, He will provide irrefutable words and thoughts. Hus: "He it is who feeds his sheep by his word and example and by the food of His body…. He is the bishop holding supreme guardianship over his flock, because he sleeps not nor is he, that watches over Israel, weary" (The Church, p 120).
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:16 delivered up. People will hand them over just as Jesus was handed over by Judas.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:17 by all. Hyperbole, an exaggeration for the sake of emphasis (Ac 2:47; 3:9), but strongly emphasizing that Jesus' followers will experience persecution.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:18 Proverbial statement of God's protection.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:19 endurance. Luth: "You are children of the kingdom, your sins are forgiven, the devil has been overcome and laid low under your feet, sin and death will do you no harm; but you are blameless. Therefore bear the hostile curses with equanimity" (AE 5:146.)
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:10–19 The disciples will endure various persecutions along with Jerusalem's fall. Today, when put to the test, we cannot rely on our own strength. Jesus promises guidance in the persecutions His disciples face. He is our strength in the midst of all trials. • Lord, give us Your wisdom to bear witness in every persecution. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20–24 Jerusalem's destruction is a preview of the world's end.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20 Rome's encirclement meant Jerusalem's end was near. The city was leveled in AD 70, with much of its population killed.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:21 Three warnings: flee to the mountains. Where there was a better chance of survival. depart. The Church historian Eusebius reported that Christians in Jerusalem found refuge at Pella, a small town near the Sea of Galilee. See map, p 1576. not … enter. Those outside Jerusalem should not seek protection in the doomed city.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:22 days of vengeance. God's judgment for failure to receive His Messiah (13:35; 19:43–44). fulfill all that is written. Prophets had issued many warnings over the centuries (Jer 6:8; Mi 3:12; Zec 14:1).
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:23 Alas for women. Parents will face additional tragedy. this people. Israel, but ultimately all people (v 35).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:24 fall by the … sword and be led captive. First-century historian Flavius Josephus states that more than a million died and 97,000 were carried away captive. times of the Gentiles are fulfilled. Period of Gentile domination of Jerusalem. Still today, large portions of the city are inhabited by people of non-Jewish descent.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20–24 Jesus foretells Jerusalem's destruction, pointing ahead to the judgment of all the world. God's impending judgment cannot be ignored. However, we can face the judgment unafraid, because Jesus has already borne God's vengeance for our sakes and takes away the cause of judgment: our sins. • Lord, keep us ever watchful and repentant until Your return. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:25 Jesus focuses more directly on the events relating to the end of the world. signs. Cosmic events (eclipses, comets) and earthly events (storms, tidal waves) prepare for the ultimate catastrophe; creation itself is torn apart. nations in perplexity. Worldwide confusion at these events.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:26 Reaction moves from confusion to fear. powers of the heavens. The heavenly bodies.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:27 Son of Man coming. The visible return of the crucified and glorified Christ. See p 2098. cloud. Indicates the glory associated with God (Ex 40:34; Ac 1:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:28 raise your heads. Confident expectation of a blessed event. redemption. Deliverance from all forces of sin and evil. See p 843.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:25–28 Jesus points to signs preceding His return. Today, fear and uncertainty should lead us to focus on His redemption. Pray earnestly for that day. Jesus' return brings us full deliverance from all evil of this world. • Lord, keep us always expectant as we anticipate Your return. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:29–30 fig tree. See note, Mk 13:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:29 and all the trees. Anywhere there are trees, people will understand.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:31 these things. Associated with Christ's return (cf vv 25–26). know that the kingdom of God is near. Esp when Christ returns in glory.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:32 this generation. Those who receive the signs of vv 25–26. Used nine times in Lk, always of an unbelieving portion of humanity.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:33 All material things will perish. But the Word of Jesus, who created all things, is everlasting. “He is not a mere man or angel, neither is He just true, wise, and mighty, but He is the eternal Truth and Wisdom itself and Almighty God. He knows very well what and how He is to speak. He can also powerfully effect and do everything that He says and promises” (FC SD VII 43).
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:29–33 Jesus points to the sure coming of God’s kingdom through the budding of a fig tree, and He promises that His teachings will abide forever. Do not ignore the sure signs and words of His coming. More firm than this creation is His promise of return and new creation for you. • Lord, give us eyes to see the signs of Your coming kingdom and hearts to trust Your abiding Word. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:34 Jesus warns His followers about being dulled by worldly concerns. dissipation. Used only here in the NT; lit, a “drinking bout,” but generally the distractions of daily life (8:14; 12:22). “A true and not a false putting to death [mortification] happens through the cross and troubles, by which God exercises us…. There is also a necessary, voluntary exercise…. These exercises are to be accepted not because they are services that justify, but because they are assumed to control the flesh, should overindulgence overpower us, and make us secure and unconcerned. This results in people indulging and obeying the tendencies of the flesh” (Ap XV 45–47). that day. When Christ returns. like a trap. The unexpectedness of that day will catch the unprepared.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:35 all who dwell. No one escapes the final judgment.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:36 stay awake … praying. One remains prepared and watchful by persevering in prayer. stand before the Son of Man. Lit, “to be made to stand,” i.e., by grace. Believers will stand unharmed in Christ’s judgment, greeting it with heads held high (v 28).
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:37 lodged on the mount called Olivet. Passover pilgrims would often sleep outside the city.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:38 As at the beginning of Jesus’ temple teaching (19:47–48), the common people surrounded Him in the temple.
LUKE—NOTE ON 21:34–38 Jesus warns His disciples to be ready for His return. Our focus on daily affairs can shorten our prayers and lower our eyes so that His return might surprise us. But Jesus’ final word in the temple is good news to those who remain alert: His return will bring redemption and new freedom. • Hear our prayers, O Lord, and give us grace always to anticipate Your glorious return. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1 Feast of Unleavened Bread … called the Passover. Two festivals commemorating God's deliverance (cf Ex 12:1–20; Lv 23:4–6; Nu 28:16–17). The two festivals were frequently regarded as one and the names used interchangeably (Lk 22:7; Ac 12:3–4). See pp 200–201.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:2 chief priests. Priestly aristocracy representing the Sadducees on the Jewish high Council. scribes. Teachers of the Law connected to the Pharisees (19:47–48; 20:19). See note, Mt 2:4. how. Jesus' death had been decided. How to kill Him without a riot was the only question.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1–2 The Jewish leaders seek Jesus' death. Those who conspire against God's plans ultimately fail, as Pharaoh learned at the first Passover. In Jesus' life, God uses the hostility of His enemies to fulfill the sacrifice of the true Passover lamb, who wrought our salvation. • Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world, have mercy on us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:3 Satan entered into Judas. Judas is responsible for his actions, but Satan is a motivator. Iscariot. Two apostles were named Judas (6:16). The betrayer is identified by "Iscariot," or "man from Kerioth-hezron," his hometown, making him the only apostle from Judea. The others came from Galilee.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:4 chief priests. Those priests who held leading positions in the temple hierarchy. See p 1556. officers. Of the temple guard.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:5 glad. They now knew how (v 2) to put Jesus to death. money. Judas acts from greed (Mt 26:14–16; Jn 12:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:6 in the absence of a crowd. Judas looks for his chance to deliver Jesus when He is alone. Both Jesus' birth and betrayal come in lonely places.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:3–6 Prompted by Satan, Judas negotiates the price for Jesus. The Lord would not have us compromise His purposes for earthly gain. When sin assails you, call on Jesus, who redeemed us, not with gold or silver, but with His holy, precious blood. • Lord, make us loyal to You above all. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:7 the day of Unleavened Bread. See note, v 1. Passover lamb. See note, Mk 14:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:8 Jesus takes the initiative. The location will not be known to others, including Judas. prepare the Passover. Besides the lamb, the other parts of the meal, including the unleavened bread, bitter herbs with a fruit puree sauce, and wine, had to be obtained. See p 1764.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:10 a man carrying a jar of water. Women usually carried water. The man would be noticeable.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:11 The disciples are told exactly what to say. master. Owner. Teacher. An address in Lk usually used by strangers in speaking to Jesus (see note, Mt 8:19); perhaps the host was not a believer. guest room. Residents regularly welcomed Passover pilgrims.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:12 a large upper room. Likely built on the flat roof of the first story, reached by outside steps. See note, 2Ki 4:10. furnished. Supplied with rugs and couches for reclining around a low table.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:13 the Passover. A crucial meal. Referred to often in vv 1–13.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:7–13 Jesus directs His disciples in preparing the Passover meal. God foresees our needs and plans for our lives. He invites us to follow as He leads. He always arranges for our eternal welfare. • Praise to You, O Lord. You do all things well for us and our salvation! Grant us sincere hearts and willing feet. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:14 Refers to the hour to celebrate the Passover (sundown), but also the time when Jesus' mission moves toward completion. reclined at table. See note, Mt 8:11.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:15 I have earnestly desired. As He finishes His work, He will leave them with a new meal, the Lord's Supper.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:16 not eat it. His death will keep Him from eating the Passover with them again; He does, however, eat with His disciples after His resurrection (24:41–43; Ac 10:41). until it is fulfilled. The Passover is fulfilled in Jesus' death, which ushers in God's kingdom; celebration of the Lord's Supper points to the marriage feast of the Lamb in the kingdom of glory (Rv 19:6–9).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:17 cup. Either the first, or probably the second, cup of the Passover (Seder) meal, which ended the teaching aspect of the meal. See p 1764.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:18 not drink. See note, v 16. fruit of the vine. The Passover liturgy (Seder) addresses God as "Creator of the fruit of the vine."

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:19 took bread. Taking, blessing, breaking, and distributing the bread was the duty of the host and began the eating of the Passover meal proper. This is My body. Jesus, departing from the regular ritual, identifies this broken bread with His body given on the cross as a vicarious sacrifice. remembrance. Focus is on Jesus and His sacrificial death. The Lord's Supper reminds one of Jesus' death and bestows the benefits of His death. "To remember Christ is to remember His benefits. It means to realize that they are truly offered to us. It is not enough only to remember history" (AC XXIV 31–32). See p 2230.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:20 Luke describes only the parts of the meal that are new and which the Church is to continue to observe. the cup after they had eaten. Third cup of the meal. for you. In place of you. Therefore, the Lord's Supper "is the true body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ under the bread and wine, instituted by Christ Himself for us Christians to eat and to drink" (SC, p xli). new covenant in My blood. A binding relationship of grace based on Christ's shed blood. Jesus clearly identifies the wine as His blood.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:21 Sharing in food, ministry, prayers, and confession of faith with someone you intend to betray is the worst sort of hypocrisy (cf Ps 41; Ob 7). In Lk, Judas was present with Jesus at the meal. Luth: "Now the partakers of this broken bread are not only the worthy, but also Judas and the unworthy" (AE 37:354).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:22 Son of Man. See p 2098. determined, but woe. Within the Father's plan of salvation, Judas remained responsible for his act. God did not force Judas to sin.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:23 they. The apostles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:14–23 During Passover, Jesus institutes the Sacrament of His body and blood, by which He brings forgiveness to His people. To neglect the Lord's Supper is to ignore the forgiveness Christ earned for us. "My body, which is given for you" and "this cup that is poured out for you is the new covenant in My blood"—these words say it all! • "In this memorial of Thy death, O Lord, Thou dost Thy body and Thy blood afford: Oh, may our souls forever feed on Thee, And Thou, O Christ, forever precious be." Amen. (LSB 640:2)

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:24 dispute also arose. The question of the betrayer contrasts with the argument about who is the "greatest." Ironic, in view of Jesus' offering of His body and blood.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:25 Jesus defines greatness through leadership and service. exercise lordship. Leaders in this world are served, giving orders for others to fulfill. benefactors. Honorary title combining respect and authority, given to princes and other leaders.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:26 Jesus contrasts greatness in the world (being served) and in the Church (serving). youngest. The one with the least claim over others (9:46–48). "Christ rebukes this error of the apostles and teaches that there shall not be lordship or superiority among them. Instead, the apostles would be sent forth as equals to the common ministry of the Gospel" (Tr 8).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:27 reclines. Appropriate for honored guests. See note, Mt 8:11. But I. Jesus emphasizes His own example.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:28 in My trials. The disciples were loyal despite rejection and opposition.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:29 Jesus promised the apostles they would share the glory given by the Father.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:30 My table. At the kingdom's banquet, the apostles sit at privileged places with the King of heaven. thrones. Jesus notes the honors given to the loyal apostles, who will become leaders in the Church (Ac 6; 15). The 12 apostles correspond to the 12 tribes of Israel.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:24–30 Jesus points His arguing apostles to true greatness in serving others, promising they will share His honor. Today, we often expect recognition for our service to the Church and feel slighted when ignored. Yet, we have the Lord's promise that He always sees and will reward our service. Our greatest treasure remains how He serves us, forgiving our sins by grace. • Thank You, Lord, for all You have done for me. May I show my gratitude in service to You and to Your people. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:31 Simon, Simon. Peter's Semitic name, before he was designated "Peter" (see note, 6:14–16); soon Peter will falter. The repetition of the name expresses pity (13:34; 2Sm 19:4; see note, 10:41). Satan demanded. As with Job, the Lord gave His permission. you. Gk plural. Lit, "all of you." All the disciples will be tested. sift you like wheat. To separate the grain from the chaff, a time of testing. See pp 422–23.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:32 you … your. Singular, referring to Peter. Jesus intercedes for him, and His prayer is stronger than Satan. Peter will stumble, but not lose his faith entirely. turned again. Repentance will show

Peter's renewed faith. strengthen your brothers. He will become the rock once again, fortifying his fellow disciples. See note, Jn 21:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:33 Peter's impulsive reply matches his confident nature. to prison and to death. Peter was unaware how these words would later prove true (Ac 12:1–5; Jn 21:18–19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:34 Rooster's crow points to the coming dawn. Before morning, Peter will deny even knowing Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:31–34 Jesus warns a self-confident Peter that he will deny his Lord, but also assures him of His intercession. "Therefore let anyone who thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall" (1Co 10:12). Jesus, who interceded for Peter, is even now at the right hand of God interceding for us (Rm 8:34; Heb 7:25). • Lord Jesus, pray for me, that my faith in You remains steadfast to the end. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:35 Jesus contrasts the earlier mission of the Twelve (9:1–6) and of the Seventy-two (10:1–20) with their new situation. The hospitality received then would not necessarily await them in the future.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:36 But now. Emphatic signal of their new situation after the resurrection. sword … buy one. To give up a necessary garment for a sword indicates hostility and persecution are at hand (Ac 8:1–3; 9:1–2; 12:1–5). Jesus likely speaks figuratively, as shown by His brusque reply in v 38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:37 this Scripture. See note, Is 53:12. Jesus will die a shameful death between two criminals.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:38 two swords. Travelers commonly carried swords, or large knives (see note, v 36; cf vv 50–51; 6:27–29). It is enough. Jesus ends the discussion and dismisses them.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:35–38 Jesus warns His disciples about the hostile times they will face, similar to His own rejection. No disciple, including us, will avoid some of the hostility that Jesus faced. "Yet He bore the sin of many, and makes intercession for the transgressors" (Is 53:12). • When we experience hostility, Lord, keep us focused on what You have borne for us. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:39 The emphasis in Lk deals with the disciples as a whole (does not single out Peter, James, and John), and the focus is on Jesus' agony. custom. Jesus had recently been staying overnight there (cf 21:37); therefore, Judas knew where to find Him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:40 the place. Gethsemane. See note, Mt 26:36. Pray. Jesus frames the event with this admonition, repeated in v 46. temptation. A trial of faith, a real danger as Satan wants to sift them like wheat (v 31). "God tempts no one," but all disciples are to pray "that God would guard and keep" them (SC, Sixth Petition, p xxxviii–xxxix).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:41 a stone's throw. C 30 yd, distant enough for privacy, yet near His companions. knelt down. Showing His emotional intensity. Usually, Jews stood when praying. See p 1276.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:42 remove this cup from Me. See notes, Ps 75:8; Is 51:17. For Jesus, the cup is the suffering He must bear, full of God's wrath on all people's sin. In His true humanity, He experienced dread at the thought of His impending suffering. not My will, but Yours. Jesus would gladly be spared, should it be the Father's will. Yet, He accepted God's will unconditionally.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:43 An angel came to strengthen Him, that He might complete His mission in accord with His Father's will (cf Dn 10:18–19; Mk 1:13).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:44 agony. Intense struggle or anxiety, the only occurrence of this word in the NT. like great drops of blood. The inner agony finds physical expression. The phrase may compare the drops of sweat with globules of blood. However, severe stress may cause the blood vessels of the skin to break, mixing the blood with sweat (hematidrosis).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:45 The impending tragedy brought the disciples to emotional exhaustion.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:46 Jesus again admonishes His disciples to pray, now that He is strengthened and prepared to do His Father's will.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:39–46 While the disciples sleep, Jesus, in prayerful agony, shrinks from His coming ordeal and yet submits to His Father's will. Without focus on Jesus and His agony in the garden, we easily succumb to temptation. Yet, He comes to us, again and again, to strengthen us against temptation. • "Go to dark Gethsemane, All who feel the tempter's pow'r; Your Redeemer's conflict see, Watch with Him one bitter hour; Turn not from His griefs away; Learn from Jesus Christ to pray." Amen. (LSB 436:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:47 While he was still speaking. Ties in closely with the preceding. leading. Judas knew exactly where to go. kiss. Frequently used in greeting, particularly from disciple to teacher. See note, Rm 16:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:48 Son of Man. See p 2098. kiss. An expression of affection used to betray—the ultimate hypocrisy! See notes, vv 21, 47.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:49 strike with the sword? Likely asked by one who carried a sword (cf v 38). They were falling into the temptation of avoiding the Father's will.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:50 one of them struck. Without waiting for an answer. servant of the high priest. A trusted member of the high priest's household. See note, Jn 18:10.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:51 No more. Jesus forbade further resistance. healed him. Jesus manifested His compassion and power even here.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:52 chief priests … officers … elders. See p 1556. Some Roman soldiers were also present (Jn 18:3).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:53 your hour, and the power of darkness. Satan's hour, when his power is evident. This darkness would be broken with the resurrection.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:47–53 Judas betrays Jesus with a kiss, and Jesus, in mercy, heals the servant's severed ear. The conflict between Jesus and the forces of darkness escalates. This darkness still would surround us. Yet, God used the night of betrayal to overcome the darkness and usher in His everlasting light. • May Your light, O Christ, disperse the night of Satan, that we remain faithful to You. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:54 high priest's house. A large residence where the Jewish Council interrogated Jesus during the night. Peter was following. As with his distance from Jesus in Gethsemane, Peter remained close enough to observe, yet distant enough to be safe.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:55 they. Some servants gathered to learn of the interrogation.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:56 servant girl. She kept watch at the gate to the courtyard (cf Jn 18:16–17) and was certain that Peter had been with Jesus.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:57 I do not know Him. Peter panics and refuses to acknowledge Jesus, thus fulfilling Jesus' prophecy (v 34).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:58 Peter says, in essence, I don't know Him, and you don't know me.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:59 A third person insists, probably tipped off by Peter's distinctive Galilean accent (Mt 26:73).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:60 See note, Mt 26:75.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:61 Lord … looked at Peter. Jesus was near, perhaps being led from the high priest to some place of detention.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:62 Jesus had prayed about this moment (v 32). Peter's tears of contrition signal his spiritual recovery.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:54–62 During Jesus' interrogation, Peter denies Jesus three times. But Jesus' word and look bring Peter to tears and to repentance. Self-preservation is never justification for denying our Lord and His tie with us. Jesus ever looks at us in love to call us to repentance, forgiving our sins. • Lord, look on me this hour with Your forgiving love. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:63 Ongoing abuse, administered by the temple officers and high council's servants. This, along with the behavior of Herod and his soldiers (23:11) and of the soldiers at the cross (23:36), fulfills Jesus' prophecy of His Passion (18:32–33).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:64 Prophesy! Jesus had been often recognized as a prophet (7:16; 9:8, 19; 13:33; 24:19).
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:65 blaspheming. Can imply insulting speech of one person to another, but usually, as here, indicates ridicule of God.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:63–65 Jesus is mocked as a prophet by those holding Him. Previously accused of blasphemy, Jesus, the Son of God, is now blasphemed. Today, we mock Jesus whenever we withhold the honor that is rightfully His as God's Son. Yet, "when He was reviled, He did not revile in return," that He might bear "our sins in His body on the tree" (1Pt 2:23–24). • Grant us, dear Savior, true confession of our sins and of faith, that we may always honor You as our Messiah and the Son of God. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:66 When day came. A night trial of Jesus was held at the high priest's house (Mt 26:57; Mk 14:53; Jn 18:12–13). However, a night trial's verdict was invalid. assembly of the elders. Jewish ruling Council (Sanhedrin) with control over internal Jewish matters. See p 1556. their council. An early morning meeting to validate the decision of the previous night.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:67 Had Jesus claimed to be the Christ, as they understood it, they would have had a charge to take to Pilate. In Lk, Jesus does not directly refer to Himself as "the Christ" until after His resurrection (24:26). See p 2098. you will not believe. They did not want an answer on His terms, but would interpret it to their own ends.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:68 They refuse a serious discussion of Jesus as Messiah; their minds are made up. He did ask them once (20:41), but to no avail.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:69 Son of Man. To avoid any political misunderstanding, instead of "Christ," Jesus uses "Son of Man," the term He usually uses of Himself (see p 2098). right hand of the power of God. Jesus points to His heavenly enthronement: His resurrection and ascension (Eph 1:20–21; Heb 1:3). See "right hand," p 843.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:70 Son of God. To claim He was Messiah was bad enough, but to claim divinity was blasphemy. See p 2098. Yet, this was the undeniable truth (1:32–35; 3:22; 9:35; Mt 14:33). You say that I am. Your words, but they are true. "I AM" can be a divine title (Ex 3:13–14; Jn 6:35). See pp 1784–85.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:71 They understood Jesus to accept the title "Son of God." Next, they must seek His death through Pilate.
LUKE—NOTE ON 22:66–71 Jesus, before the Council, points to His exaltation. He acknowledges that He is the Son of God and is condemned. We can never force Jesus into our definitions of Messiah. It is for us to receive Him for who He is, as described in Scripture. Jesus, condemned for us, is the promised Messiah and Son of God, who now is seated in glory at God's right hand. • Jesus, You are the Christ, Son of God in glory. Grant that this confession may always be ours. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:1 whole company. The whole body of the Jewish Council (22:66). Pilate. Chief Roman administrator, who alone could authorize capital punishment; he governed Judea AD 26–36 (cf 3:1). Pilate was ordinarily in Caesarea but came to Jerusalem to oversee the Passover festival with its crowds of pilgrims.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:2 The Jewish Council condemned Jesus for blasphemy (22:70–71), but Pilate heard political charges: misleading our nation. Inciting unrest against Rome. forbidding … tribute. Violating the tax code (clearly a lie; cf v 22). saying … Christ, a king. Pilate could not ignore treason, i.e., a claim to be king.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:3 King of the Jews? Pilate focuses on the political claim of kingship. You have said so. Affirmation, but not a simple yes.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:4 chief priests. Spokesmen for the Council. See p 1556. crowds. First time involved. Townspeople were awakened at about 6 a.m., when Roman officials began work. no guilt. Pilate sees Jesus' innocence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:5 urgent. When Pilate refused the verdict, they brought sharper accusations. stirs up … teaching. They claim His teachings incite against Rome. from Galilee. Galilee was not under Pilate's jurisdiction, but the charge shows Jesus' teaching caused a wide-scale problem.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:1–5 The Jewish leaders bring Jesus before Pilate, seeking a death penalty. In weakness, we, too, may wrongly accuse the Lord of fighting against us, making problems for us, or not listening to us. Jesus bore every false accusation so that He might be our Savior. • Preserve us, Lord, from falsehood, that our life and witness to You remain true. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:6–7 Jesus' appearance before Herod occurs only in Lk. Galilean. Jesus was raised in Galilee (2:39; 4:16).
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:7 Herod's jurisdiction. Herod Antipas, son of Herod the Great, ruled Galilee, part of his father's kingdom, under the Romans as tetrarch 4 BC–AD 39. Pilate hoped to transfer responsibility for Jesus to Herod. in Jerusalem. Like Pilate, Herod was in Jerusalem because Galilean pilgrims regularly went there for Passover (cf 13:1).
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:8 Herod had heard stories of Jesus (9:9) and hoped to see a miracle.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:9 no answer. Cf Is 53:7.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:10 chief priests … scribes. Members of the Jewish Council. See pp 1556–57. At least some went along to argue.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:11 soldiers. Or, guards who had come with him to Jerusalem. splendid clothing. Mockery of Jesus' alleged kingship.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:12 friends. Their former hostility may have come as a result of the incident mentioned in 13:1. They agreed on Jesus' innocence. Note the irony: Herod Antipas and Pilate, former enemies, are reconciled because of Jesus.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:13 rulers. Cf v 10. people. Earlier, the term describes those favorable to Jesus (19:48; 21:38). Likely not the same group who hailed Him as Messiah.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:14 Pilate declares Jesus innocent a second time.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:15 Herod would have understood the religious charges better, but he also found Jesus innocent.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:16 punish. Either whipping or scourging, which usually preceded crucifixion. The punishment conflicts with Jesus' innocence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:6–16 Pilate and Herod declare Jesus innocent but do not believe in Him. For us and for our lives, Jesus makes great claims. He would be our Savior and King. We thank God that others have brought Jesus into our lives and that, through His Spirit, He enables us to cling to Him always. • Lord, by Your grace and power, be the center of my life. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:18 Away with. Call for execution. release to us Barabbas. Luke assumes his readers were aware of the practice of releasing a guilty prisoner at a festival. Barabbas. Aram, "son of the father." Note the irony: Jesus was truly the Father's Son (2:49; 10:21–22; 11:2; 22:29, 42).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:19 insurrection. Barabbas was the sort of revolutionary leader that the Jewish leaders claimed Jesus was.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:21 See note, Mk 15:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:22 For the third time, Pilate declares Jesus innocent. punish. See note, v 16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:23 voices prevailed. The crowd's shrill anger influenced Pilate more than Jesus' quiet innocence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:24 Pilate simply follows the crowd's demands, never declaring Jesus guilty.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:25 released … delivered Jesus over to their will. The guilty person is free; the innocent is condemned. Pilate put his own career first, and so the Church, in the Apostles' Creed, continues to confess, "Crucified under Pontius Pilate." delivered … over. Same Gk word used for Judas' betrayal of Jesus (22:4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:18–25 Pilate, frightened of the crowd and blind to Jesus' identity, releases Barabbas and hands Jesus over to be crucified. Innocent Jesus is sentenced to die in place of us, who are genuinely guilty. His precious life atones for all our sins. • "They rise and needs will have My dear Lord made away; A murderer they save, The Prince of Life they slay. Yet cheerful He To suff'ring goes That He His foes From thence might free." Amen. (LSB 430:5)

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:26 they. Soldiers in charge of the crucifixion. Cyrene. Modern Libya had a large Jewish population in Jesus' day. Simon likely came to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover. in from the country.

Perhaps camping outside the city as did Jesus and His disciples (21:37). laid on him the cross. The crossbeam; the upright beam typically stood at the place of execution. Because of Jesus' weakening condition, Simon was drafted for this task.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:27 great multitude. Crowds following from sympathy and curiosity. women. Pious women customarily lamented one condemned to die.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:28 Weeping marked both Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem (19:41) and His exit. weep for yourselves. Jesus acknowledges their sympathy but expresses pity for Jerusalem's residents. yourselves … children. Women and children are more vulnerable than men in times of distress. Cf Lm 2:11–12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:29 the days are coming. Destruction of Jerusalem (19:41–44; 21:5–24). Blessed are the barren. Ordinarily, childlessness was a shame in Israel (Gn 30:23; Lk 1:24–25), but is preferred to the coming suffering.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:30 Fall on us. An appeal to be killed quickly.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:31 If the Romans do this to one they pronounce innocent, what will they do to a rebellious city? Or perhaps, if God has not spared His innocent Son, how much worse will it be when the Romans inflict His judgment on the city?

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:32 Two others … criminals. Reflects the prophecy (Is 53:12) and Jesus' own prediction (22:37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:33 The Skull. See note, Mt 27:33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:34 Jesus prayed for all those blind to their actions (Ac 13:27; 1Co 2:8). Jesus' prayer reflects His teaching (Lk 11:4) and is repeated by Stephen (Ac 7:60). Hus: "When he himself was stripped, beaten and blasphemed by the soldiers, scribes, Pharisees, officers, and priests, not even then did he pronounce any malediction, but he prayed" (The Church, p 285). cast lots. Executioners received a victim's clothing. Casting lots involves chance, yet God foresaw the outcome (see notes, Ps 22:18; Jn 19:23, 24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:35 rulers. Members of the Jewish High Council. See "Council, The" p 1556. scoffed. The first mocking. saved others. They admit He saved and raised others, but reason that if He will not rescue Himself, He is clearly not the Messiah. Christ of God, His Chosen One. See notes, 4:3; 9:35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:36 soldiers. First explicit mention of the Roman soldiers in Lk. sour wine. Cheap wine drunk by soldiers. This offer was mockery and a joke.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:37–38 The taunt refers to the title above the cross and presumes that kings save themselves, not their people.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:38 inscription. The victim's crime was usually posted, but Pilate stated Jesus' title as a fact to mock the Jews.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:39 railed at Him. The third taunt.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:40 fear God. Have the proper attitude toward God (1:50; 12:4–5; 18:4). See p 1001. same sentence. Facing death, this is the time to seek mercy.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:41 The criminal also bears witness to Jesus' innocence, recognizing His majesty and grace.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:42 remember me. An appeal to act on his behalf (1:54, 72; see p 843). when You come into Your kingdom. Statement of true faith. He alone sees Jesus' messianic kingship, which welcomes sinners.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:43 today you will be with Me in Paradise. Recalls Eden's garden and God's presence with Adam and Eve. Christ restores to their descendants what they had lost, and more. Whereas the criminal had spoken an indefinite "when," Jesus responds with a definite "today." Bern: "If God justifies, who is he that condemns? … He was content to pass by the cross as by a short bridge from the religion of death unto the land of the living, and from this foul mire into the paradise of joy" (SLSB, p 29). Paradise. See note, 2Co 12:3.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:26–43 Jesus was crucified that we may be spared the coming judgment, hear His word of absolution, and enter into paradise with Him. He not only saved others, but is also the messianic King who saves us. We all justly deserve God's judgment because of our sinful deeds. Yet, because Jesus sacrificed Himself for us all, we have His word of absolution and the promise of being with Him in paradise. • Grant, dear Jesus, that we may see the day when we will be with You in paradise. Amen.
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:44 sixth hour … ninth hour. From noon to 3 p.m. See p 1567. darkness. Shows the significance of Jesus' death: judgment is present and Satan's attack comes to its conclusion (22:53).
LUKE—NOTE ON 23:45 sun's light failed. Not an eclipse. The Passover occurs during a full moon, which prevents an eclipse. What blocked the sun, whether a dust-laden wind, a dark cloud, or something else, is less important than God's timing and the event's significance. curtain of the temple was torn in two. The curtain of the Most Holy Place, where the high priest entered annually on the Day of Atonement to sprinkle the blood of the sacrifice. The old system of sacrifice, priesthood, and temple worship ended; Jesus' sacrifice opened the way for every repentant sinner to enter into God's presence (Heb 9:11–12; 10:20). See diagram, p 1710.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:46 loud voice. Jesus did not die of exhaustion, but remained in control to the end. Father, into Your hands I commit My spirit. Jesus, completing His mission, entrusted Himself to His Father by quoting Ps 31:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:47 centurion. See note, Mt 8:5. what had taken place. Jesus forgave His enemies (v 34), promised paradise to the repentant criminal (v 43), prayed to His Father, and gave up His life (v 46). praised God. In view of events, the Roman officer summed up Jesus' life as righteous and His divine claims as true.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:48 spectacle. Used only here in the NT, suggesting entertainment of the crowd. beating their breasts. A sign of remorse and sorrow; after Jesus died, they ceased to be spectators and became penitents.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:49 His acquaintances. Friends, relatives, and disciples watching from a distance. women. See note, 8:2–3. These women are crucial in the following accounts (23:55–56; 24:1–12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:44–49 In the darkness, when the temple curtain is torn, Jesus commits His spirit into His Father's hands. The centurion praises God, the crowds become remorseful, and Jesus' followers observe from a distance. Jesus dies bearing the darkness of God's judgment on the world's sins. Out of the darkness of judgment, Jesus ushers in the bright day of grace. • Grant, Lord, that on the Last Day, I, too, may entrust my spirit into the hands of the Father. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:50 Joseph … of Arimathea. Unknown, except for this event. Arimathea was either his birthplace or a former residence. Location of his tomb indicates he had moved to Jerusalem (Mt 27:60). council. See p 1556. righteous man. Like Zechariah and Elizabeth (1:5–6) and Simeon (2:25), Joseph was a member of God's faithful people and a secret disciple of Jesus (Jn 19:38).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:51 had not consented. Joseph may not have been notified, or he may have cast a dissenting vote at the Council's hasty trial of Jesus (22:66–71). looking for the kingdom of God. A pious Israelite with messianic expectations, similar to many at Jesus' birth (1:5–6; 2:25, 36–38). See pp 1565–66.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:52 asked for the body. To keep Jesus' body from a criminal's common grave. Joseph's important position gave easier access to Pilate.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:53 Anointing the dead involved wrapping them in a spiced linen cloth. tomb cut in stone. Rock-hewn tombs were common in Jerusalem. See diagram, p 1823. no one had ever yet been laid. An unused tomb was fitting for the King of the Jews in the same way the never-ridden colt of Palm Sunday (19:30) had been. Joseph's action fulfills the law of Dt 21:22–23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:54 day of Preparation. Friday, when preparations were made for the next day's Sabbath. Sabbath was beginning. Late afternoon, with the sun setting.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:55 how His body was laid. The women prepare for a proper burial after the Sabbath. Jesus' burial ends that climactic day that began with the Last Supper after sundown Thursday and ended at sundown Friday.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:56 spices and ointments. Used in preparing Jesus' body for His permanent burial. rested. The Sabbath rest anticipated the rest that will come through Jesus' resurrection. Cf Heb 4:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:50–56 Joseph of Arimathea secures the body of Jesus and places it in a newly hewn tomb. Women make preparations for a final burial after the Sabbath. Our sin has led to this, the death and burial of God's only Son. The work of redeeming the world is done. • "What Thou, my Lord, hast suffered Was all for sinners' gain; Mine, mine was the transgression, But Thine the deadly pain. Lo, here I fall, my Savior! 'Tis I deserve Thy place; Look on me with Thy favor, And grant to me Thy grace." Amen. (LSB 450:3)

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:1 first day. Sunday is the day God said, "Let there be light" (Gn 1:3, 5). spices. Used for the final burial rites (23:55–56).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:2 stone. See note, Mt 27:60.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:3 went in. Boldly seeking their Lord.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:4 two men. Identified as angels (v 23). As angels announced Jesus' birth (2:8–14), they also announce His resurrection.

dazzling apparel. Similar term is used for Jesus' clothing at His transfiguration (9:29), reflecting God's splendor.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:5 frightened and bowed. Reverential awe in recognition of the angels. Why … dead? Tombs are for the dead. They are led to remember His promised resurrection (v 7).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:6 has risen. See note, Mk 16:6. Remember how He told you. These women from Galilee (23:55) may have also heard what Jesus taught the disciples.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:7 Jesus' prior teaching, briefly summarized, but hard to accept and remember (9:44; 18:31–33). must be. A divine plan foretold by Scripture and by Jesus (1Co 15:3–4).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:8 The first moment of comprehension.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:9 the eleven. Judas's replacement was not yet chosen (24:33; Ac 1:26). all the rest. Includes the two disciples returning to Emmaus (Lk 24:13, 22–24) and the larger group of Jesus' followers, possibly some of the 120 of Ac 1:15. Some modern interpreters emphasize that since God chose to have women first bear witness to the resurrection, this means God specially ordained them for service in the Church. This argument fails on two counts: the angels were actually the first to bear witness to the resurrection (v 5), and God has always called all of His people to bear witness to His mighty acts (cf Ps 145), even children (Ps 8:2). The "go-and-tell" passages in the Gospels are not about ordaining or commissioning people to offices in the Church, but about people acting as couriers or witnesses (e.g., Mt 11:4; 18:15; Mk 5:19; Lk 7:22; 13:32).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:10 Mary Magdalene and Joanna. See note, 8:2–3. Mary the mother of James. Likely referred to in Mk 15:40. James's identity is uncertain, but he may be "the son of Alphaeus," one of the Twelve (Lk 6:15). the other women. Those from Galilee who witnessed Jesus' death and burial (23:49, 55).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:11 idle tale. Nonsense; hopeful but impossible. This continues the theme in Lk of the disciples' slowness to believe and understand (cf v 25).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:12 But Peter. True to his impetuous nature, Peter dashed off to the tomb. linen cloths. Burial shroud of 23:53. Jesus' body is absent, but no theft has occurred.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:1–12 The women find the stone has been rolled away from the tomb. They find not the body of Jesus but two angels who say that Jesus is alive. Do we ever fail to believe the things Jesus has told us because they are impossibly good? "He is not here, but has risen" means that someday the graves of all His followers will be opened, and they, too, will rise to live with Him. Take comfort and joy! • In keeping with Your Word, fill our hearts, dear Lord Jesus, with the knowledge and comfort of Your empty tomb. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:13–35 Unique to Lk. The passage contains much irony and even humor.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:13 They were possibly returning home after Passover.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:14 all these things. Cf vv 19–24.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:16 kept from recognizing. Without recognizing Jesus, the disciples focused on His teaching and were prepared for the upcoming recognition (v 31).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:17 stood still. Jesus' question astounds them.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:18 Cleopas. Mentioned only here as a disciple. Early Church tradition suggests that Cleopas (Gk) is the Clopas (Hbr) referred to in Jn 19:25, the brother of Joseph and thus the uncle of Jesus and that the unnamed second disciple was his son Simeon, the later head of the Jerusalem Church. However, his exact identity remains unknown. the only visitor. Even a visitor should have known. The irony was that Jesus' "visit" on earth was indeed drawing to a close.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:19 prophet. Jesus' teaching and mighty deeds (4:32, 36; 6:19; 7:16) showed Him to be a prophet, as predicted in Dt 18:15.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:20 chief priests and rulers. Despite Pilate's role, the nation's religious leaders rejected Jesus (22:66; 23:10, 13) and bear responsibility.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:21 redeem Israel. The Messiah was thought of as the deliverer of Israel from Rome. They did not yet understand that the cross was the means of redemption.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:22–23 Summary of vv 1–12. our company. Cf v 9.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:23 seen a vision of angels. In a vision, God gives sight that is usually hidden. (E.g., Zechariah in a vision sees an angel in the temple, 1:22).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:24 Some of those … with us. Implying that after Peter's visit (v 12), others went to the tomb, but no apostle is yet reported to have seen Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:25 foolish ones, and slow of heart. Without understanding, they could not believe. See p 1335. believe all. They believed that a Messiah would usher in God's rule, but not that He would suffer, die, and rise again.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:26 Was it not necessary. They should have known this essential part of God's divine plan. His glory? The resurrection is the gateway to the climactic glory of His ascension and exaltation to God's right hand.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:27 He interpreted to them. Aug: "All that there is of those former Scriptures tells of Christ; but only if it finds ears. He also 'opened their understanding that they might understand the Scriptures.' Whence we also must pray for this, that He would open our understanding" (NPNF 1 7:469).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:28–29 Jesus' action evokes their hospitality. See note, Gn 18:4.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:30 He took the bread. Jesus, though guest, becomes host. To take, bless, break, and distribute bread ordinarily began a meal. This was not necessarily the Lord's Supper, though the words and actions are reminiscent of the Supper, and by them Jesus is recognized for the first time as the crucified and risen Messiah. "Although we do not object if some interpret these passages as referring to the Sacrament, it does not make sense that only one part of the Sacrament was given" (Ap XXII 7).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:31 eyes were opened. God opened them; the reverse of v 16. vanished. When they realize Jesus is alive, His visible presence is unnecessary.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:32 burn. Filled with wonder and holy joy. opened. Jesus explained the true meaning of Scripture (v 27). Such insight comes only from God. Cf 1Co 2:6–16.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:33 those … gathered. Same group to which the women reported the empty tomb (v 9).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:34 appeared to Simon! The decisive evidence of the resurrection. This appearance is not recounted in the other Gospels; however, St Paul specifically refers to it: "He appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve" (1Co 15:4).
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:35 Then they told. Seeing Jesus confirms Peter's experience.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:13–35 Jesus joins two disciples discussing what happened in Jerusalem. He interprets His death and resurrection through the OT before revealing Himself in the breaking of the bread. “Slow of heart to believe” describes us when we doubt or do not accept all that the Scriptures teach about Jesus. God, who has given us the Scriptures to make us “wise for salvation” (2Tm 3:15), opens our eyes to believe Jesus. • “Lord Jesus Christ, with us abide, For round us falls the eventide. O let Your Word, that saving light, Shine forth undimmed into the night.” Amen. (LSB 585:1)
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:36 stood among them. Jesus appears as suddenly as He had disappeared (v 31). Peace to you! Traditional Israelite greeting. See note, 10:5–6. Jesus gives what the Word says, perfect harmony between God and humankind.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:37 His sudden appearance caused fear.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:38 doubts. Uncertain if He was a ghost or a real person.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:39 Jesus answers their doubts to confirm His resurrection. My hands and My feet. Carrying the visible nail marks, they demonstrate the victory of life over death. I Myself. The very same Jesus they had always known. Touch Me. Confirming the reality of the resurrection.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:40 He showed them. Aug: “He arose, with His wounds healed, His scars kept. For this He judged expedient for His disciples, that His scars should be kept, whereby the wounds of their hearts might be healed. What wounds? The wounds of unbelief. For He appeared to their eyes, exhibiting real flesh” (NPNF 1 6:456). False teachers deny the resurrection of the body.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:41 disbelieved for joy. The truth seemed too good to be true. anything here to eat? Jesus offers the final evidence.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:42–43 The Lord’s Supper announced His death. This simple meal announced His resurrection.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:44 I spoke to you. His earlier teachings (9:22, 44; 17:25; 18:31–33; 22:37). everything written about Me. The OT is Christ-centered from beginning to end. See note, Jn 5:39; see also p 1245. Law of Moses … Psalms. The entire OT.
LUKE—NOTE ON 24:45 God opens hearts and minds through His Word and faith. Jesus does for the many what He had done for the Emmaus disciples (v 27). Just: “I purpose to quote to you Scriptures, not that I am anxious to make merely an artful display of words … but God's grace alone has been granted to me to the understanding of His Scriptures" (ANF 1:225).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:46 Luth: "All Scripture and the Word of God point to the suffering of Christ, as He Himself declares in the last chapter of Luke (24:46–47) that Scripture contains nothing else than the promised grace and forgiveness of sin through the suffering of Christ, that whoever believes in Him, and none other, shall be saved" (AE 14:168).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:47 repentance and forgiveness. Besides the Passion (v 26), Jesus adds the proclamation of repentance and forgiveness. The mission begun by John the Baptist (3:3) continued in Ac. "God is superabundantly generous in His grace: First, through the spoken Word, by which the forgiveness of sins is preached in the whole world [Luke 24:45–47]. This is the particular office of the Gospel" (SA III IV). "To repent means nothing other than to truly acknowledge sins, to be heartily sorry for them, and to stop doing them. This knowledge comes from the Law. It is not enough for saving conversion to God if faith in Christ is not added. The comforting preaching of the Holy Gospel offers His merits to all penitent sinners who are terrified by the preaching of the Law. The Gospel proclaims the forgiveness of sins, not to coarse and self-secure hearts, but to the bruised or penitent (Luke 4:18). The preaching of the Gospel must be added so that the repentance may lead to salvation and not to the Law's contrition or terrors (2 Corinthians 7:10)" (FC SD V 8–9). beginning from Jerusalem. The narrative has moved toward Jerusalem. The mission narratives in Ac moved out from it (Ac 1:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:48 witnesses. Those who have experienced the ministry of Jesus, His Passion, and His resurrection.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:49 promise. The sending of the Holy Spirit (Ac 1:4–5; 2:17), who equips people for Jesus' mission. clothed with power. The Holy Spirit's power makes their witness effective. Luth: "It's as if he would say, 'I'll place armor on you that will withstand every shot' " (AE 54:149).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:36–49 Jesus dispels all doubt when He offers absolute proof of His resurrection. Again, He points to Himself as Scripture's center, but now includes the mission to all nations through the Holy Spirit's power. There is the danger that we keep to ourselves when Jesus is equipping us to go out—we accept the fact that He is risen but deny the mission on which He sends us. The resurrected Christ truly equips us for our witness to Him with the Holy Spirit, whom He provides. • Come, Holy Spirit, as promised by Jesus. Enable us to bear witness to our crucified and risen Savior. Amen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:50–53 No longer on "that very day" (v 13), during which all of the preceding took place. Luke concludes his Gospel with the ascension, recounted in greater detail in Ac 1, where he indicates that it took place 40 days after the resurrection (Ac 1:3). Luke focuses the events as a fitting conclusion to Jesus' life begun in ch 1. Bethany. On the Mount of Olives (Lk 19:29). Cf Ac 1:12. blessed. Jesus bestows the grace that distinguishes them for service. See p 842. Sav: "What will you do, O child of man? Leave this world, enter the service of Christ. He is waiting for you, and will reward your service, for He is a bountiful rewarder. Let every one then hasten to serve Him. But because each one is bound to care for the salvation of his brother, and to lead him to Christ, therefore the Lord gives you the gift of love, by which you should warn your brother, your neighbor, your friend, your wife, every one, and with all your strength and zeal should lead them to Christ" (WGS, p 97).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:51 carried up. The end of Jesus' visible presence with His disciples (however, cf Ac 7:55; 9:3–5; 23:11). Carried up by God, He entered into glory (Lk 24:26), seated at His Father's right hand (22:69).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:52 worshiped Him. The disciples now worship Jesus, acknowledging His divinity (cf 4:8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:53 Lk concludes where it began, in the temple (1:8–9). The early Christians continued worshiping there, but after Pentecost, they began to spread to the ends of the earth (Ac 1:8). blessing God. See p 842.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:50–53 Jesus leads His disciples to Bethany, where He blesses them and is taken up into heaven. They worship Him and return to Jerusalem where they regularly worship God in the temple. We might take for granted all that Jesus has done, neglecting to worship and thank Him for our blessings. We are led to repentance and renewed faith each day, and Jesus continues to bless us with salvation and puts joy into our lives as we serve Him. • "Almighty God, our Father, Your blessed Son called Luke the physician to be an evangelist and physician of the soul. Grant that the healing medicine of the Gospel and the Sacraments may put to flight the diseases of our souls that with willing hearts we may ever love and serve You; through Jesus Christ, Your Son, our Lord." Amen. (LSB Altar Book, p 980)

The Word Became Flesh

1 [1]In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. [2]He was in the beginning with God. [3]All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made.
[4]In him was life,[1] and the life was the light of men. [5]The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.

[6]There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. [7]He came as a witness, to bear witness about the light, that all might believe through him. [8]He was not the light, but came to bear witness about the light.

[9]The true light, which enlightens everyone, was coming into the world.
[10]He was in the world, and the world was made through him, yet the world did not know him. [11]He came to his own,[2] and his own people[3] did not receive him. [12]But to all who did receive him, who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God, [13]who were born, not of blood nor of the will of the flesh nor of the will of man, but of God.

[14]And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth.
[15](John bore witness about him, and cried out, “This was he of whom I said, ‘He who comes after me ranks before me, because he was before me.’”) [16]And from his fullness we have all received, grace upon grace.
[17]For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. [18]No one has ever seen God; the only God,[1] who is at the Father’s side,[2] he has made him known.

The Testimony of John the Baptist

19 ‡ † And this is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, “Who are you?” 20 † He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, “I am not the Christ.” 21 † And they asked him, “What then? Are you Elijah?” He said, “I am not.” “Are you the Prophet?”
And he answered, “No.” 22 So they said to him, “Who are you? We need to give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?” 23 † He said, “I am the voice of one crying out in the wilderness, ‘Make straight[3] the way of the Lord,’ as the prophet Isaiah said.”

24 † (Now they had been sent from the Pharisees.) 25 † They asked him, “Then why are you baptizing, if you are neither the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?” 26 † John answered them, “I baptize with water, but among you stands one you do not know, 27 † even he who comes after me, the strap of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie.” 28 † These things took place in Bethany across the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

Behold, the Lamb of God

[29]‡† The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, “Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world! [30]This is he of whom I said, ‘After me comes a man who ranks before me, because he was before me.’ [31]† I myself did not know him, but for this purpose I came baptizing with water, that he might be revealed to Israel.” [32]†And John bore witness: “I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on him. [33]†I myself did not know him, but he who sent me to baptize with water said to me, ‘He on whom you see the Spirit descend and remain, this is he who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’ [34]†And I have seen and have borne witness that this is the Son of God.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

35 ‡ † The next day again John was standing with two of his disciples, 36 † and he looked at Jesus as he walked by and said, “Behold, the Lamb of God!” 37 The two disciples heard him say this, and they followed Jesus.
38 † Jesus turned and saw them following and said to them, “What are you seeking?” And they said to him, “Rabbi” (which means Teacher), “where are you staying?” 39 † He said to them, “Come and you will see.” So they came and saw where he was staying, and they stayed with him that day, for it was about the tenth hour.[1] 40 † One of the two who heard John speak and followed Jesus[2] was Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother. 41 † He first found his own brother Simon and said to him, “We have found the Messiah” (which means Christ). 42 † He brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, “So you are Simon the son of John? You shall be called Cephas” (which means Peter[3]).

Jesus Calls Philip and Nathanael

43 †The next day Jesus decided to go to Galilee. He found Philip and said to him, “Follow me.” 44 †Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. 45 †Philip found Nathanael and said to him, “We have found him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.” 46 †Nathanael said to him, “Can anything good come out of Nazareth?” Philip said to him, “Come and see.” 47 †Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him and said of him, “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no deceit!” 48 †Nathanael said to him, “How do you know me?” Jesus answered him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.” 49 †Nathanael answered him, “Rabbi, you are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!” 50 †Jesus answered him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.” 51 †And he said to him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [4]you will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of Man.”

The Wedding at Cana

2 [1]†† On the third day there was a wedding at Cana in Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. [2]† Jesus also was invited to the wedding with his disciples. [3]† When the wine ran out, the mother of Jesus said to him, “They have no wine.” [4]† And Jesus said to her, “Woman, what does this have to do with me? My hour has not yet come.” [5]† His mother said to the servants, “Do whatever he tells you.”

[6]† Now there were six stone water jars there for the Jewish rites of purification, each holding twenty or thirty gallons.[1] [7]† Jesus said to the servants, “Fill the jars with water.” And they filled them up to the brim.
[8]† And he said to them, “Now draw some out and take it to the master of the feast.” So they took it. [9]† When the master of the feast tasted the water now become wine, and did not know where it came from (though the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom [10]† and said to him, “Everyone serves the good wine first, and when people have drunk freely, then the poor wine. But you have kept the good wine until now.” [11]† This, the first of his signs, Jesus did at Cana in Galilee, and manifested his glory. And his disciples believed in him.

[12]† After this he went down to Capernaum, with his mother and his brothers[2] and his disciples, and they stayed there for a few days.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

13 ‡ † The Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. 14 †In the temple he found those who were selling oxen and sheep and pigeons, and the money-changers sitting there. 15 †And making a whip of cords, he drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and oxen. And he poured out the coins of the money-changers and overturned their tables.
16 And he told those who sold the pigeons, “Take these things away; do not make my Father’s house a house of trade.” 17 †His disciples remembered that it was written, “Zeal for your house will consume me.”

18 †So the Jews said to him, “What sign do you show us for doing these things?” 19 †Jesus answered them, “Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.” 20 †The Jews then said, “It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will you raise it up in three days?” 21 †But he was speaking about the temple of his body. 22 †When therefore he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed the Scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken.

Jesus Knows What Is in Man

23 Now when he was in Jerusalem at the Passover Feast, many believed in his name when they saw the signs that he was doing. 24 But Jesus on his part did not entrust himself to them, because he knew all people 25 and needed no one to bear witness about man, for he himself knew what was in man.

You Must Be Born Again

3 [1]‡†Now there was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. [2]†This man came to Jesus[1] by night and said to him, “Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that you do unless God is with him.” [3]†Jesus answered him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born again [2]he cannot see the kingdom of God.” [4]Nicodemus said to him, “How can a man be born when he is old?
Can he enter a second time into his mother’s womb and be born?” [5]†Jesus answered, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. [6]†That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. [3][7]†Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You [4]must be born again.’ [8]†The wind [5]blows where it wishes, and you hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

[9]Nicodemus said to him, “How can these things be?” [10]†Jesus answered him, “Are you the teacher of Israel and yet you do not understand these things? [11]†Truly, truly, I say to you, we speak of what we know, and bear witness to what we have seen, but you[1] do not receive our testimony. [12]†If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how can you believe if I tell you heavenly things? [13]†No one has ascended into heaven except he who descended from heaven, the Son of Man.[2][14]†And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, [15]that whoever believes in him may have eternal life.[3]

For God So Loved the World

16 ‡ † “For God so loved the world,[4] that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life. 17 For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him. 18 † Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only Son of God. 19 † And this is the judgment: the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness rather than the light because their works were evil. 20 † For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his works should be exposed. 21 † But whoever does what is true comes to the light, so that it may be clearly seen that his works have been carried out in God.”

John the Baptist Exalts Christ

22 ‡ † After this Jesus and his disciples went into the Judean countryside, and he remained there with them and was baptizing. 23 † John also was baptizing at Aenon near Salim, because water was plentiful there, and people were coming and being baptized 24 †(for John had not yet been put in prison).

25 † Now a discussion arose between some of John's disciples and a Jew over purification. 26 † And they came to John and said to him, "Rabbi, he who was with you across the Jordan, to whom you bore witness—look, he is baptizing, and all are going to him." 27 † John answered, "A person cannot receive even one thing unless it is given him from heaven. 28 You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, 'I am not the Christ, but I have been sent before him.' 29 † The one who has the bride is the bridegroom. The friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices greatly at the bridegroom's voice. Therefore this joy of mine is now complete. 30 † He must increase, but I must decrease."[1]

31 ‡ † He who comes from above is above all. He who is of the earth belongs to the earth and speaks in an earthly way. He who comes from heaven is above all. 32 † He bears witness to what he has seen and heard, yet no one receives his testimony. 33 † Whoever receives his testimony sets his seal to this, that God is true. 34 † For he whom God has sent utters the words of God, for he gives the Spirit without measure. 35 † The Father loves the Son and has given all things into his hand. 36 † Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life; whoever does not obey the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God remains on him.

Jesus and the Woman of Samaria

4 [1]‡†Now when Jesus learned that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus was making and baptizing more disciples than John [2](although Jesus himself did not baptize, but only his disciples), [3]†he left Judea and departed again for Galilee. [4]†And he had to pass through Samaria. [5]†So he came to a town of Samaria called Sychar, near the field that Jacob had given to his son Joseph. [6]† Jacob's well was there; so Jesus, wearied as he was from his journey, was sitting beside the well. It was about the sixth hour.[2] [7]‡A woman from Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give me a drink." [8](For his disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.) [9]The Samaritan woman said to him, "How is it that you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a woman of Samaria?" (For Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.) [10]†Jesus answered her, "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you, 'Give me a drink,' you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water." [11]† The woman said to him, "Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get that living water? [12]†Are you greater than our father Jacob? He gave us the well and drank from it himself, as did his sons and his livestock." [13]Jesus said to her, "Everyone who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, [14]†but whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again.[1] The water that I will give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life." [15]The woman said to him, "Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water."

[16]† Jesus said to her, "Go, call your husband, and come here." [17]‡The woman answered him, "I have no husband." Jesus said to her, "You are right in saying, 'I have no husband'; [18]for you have had five husbands, and the one you now have is not your husband. What you have said is true." [19]† The woman said to him, "Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet. [20]†Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you say that in Jerusalem is the place where people ought to worship." [21]† Jesus said to her, "Woman, believe me, the hour is coming when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father. [22]† You worship what you do not know; we worship what we know, for salvation is from the Jews. [23]†But the hour is coming, and is now here, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for the Father is seeking such people to worship him. [24]†God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth." [25]†The woman said to him, "I know that Messiah is coming (he who is called Christ). When he comes, he will tell us all things." [26]†Jesus said to her, "I who speak to you am he."

[27]†Just then his disciples came back. They marveled that he was talking with a woman, but no one said, "What do you seek?" or, "Why are you talking with her?" [28]†So the woman left her water jar and went away into town and said to the people, [29]"Come, see a man who told me all that I ever did. Can this be the Christ?" [30]They went out of the town and were coming to him.

[31]‡Meanwhile the disciples were urging him, saying, "Rabbi, eat." [32]But he said to them, "I have food to eat that you do not know about." [33]So the disciples said to one another, "Has anyone brought him something to eat?" [34]†Jesus said to them, "My food is to do the will of him who sent me and to accomplish his work. [35]†Do you not say, 'There are yet four months, then comes the harvest'? Look, I tell you, lift up your eyes, and see that the fields are white for harvest. [36]† Already the one who reaps is receiving wages and gathering fruit for eternal life, so that sower and reaper may rejoice together. [37]For here the saying holds true, 'One sows and another reaps.' [38]†I sent you to reap that for which you did not labor. Others have labored, and you have entered into their labor."

[39]Many Samaritans from that town believed in him because of the woman's testimony, "He told me all that I ever did." [40]† So when the Samaritans came to him, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days. [41]†And many more believed because of his word. [42]†They said to the woman, "It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is indeed the Savior of the world."

[43]After the two days he departed for Galilee. [44]†(For Jesus himself had testified that a prophet has no honor in his own hometown.) [45]†So when he came to Galilee, the Galileans welcomed him, having seen all that he had done in Jerusalem at the feast. For they too had gone to the feast.

Jesus Heals an Official's Son

46 So he came again to Cana in Galilee, where he had made the water wine. And at Capernaum there was an official whose son was ill. 47 When this man heard that Jesus had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to him and asked him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death. 48 So Jesus said to him, "Unless you see signs and wonders you will not believe." 49 The official said to him, "Sir, come down before my child dies." 50 Jesus said to him, "Go; your son will live." The man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him and went on his way. 51 As he was going down, his servants[1] met him and told him that his son was recovering.
52 So he asked them the hour when he began to get better, and they said to him, "Yesterday at the seventh hour[2] the fever left him." 53 The father knew that was the hour when Jesus had said to him, "Your son will live."
And he himself believed, and all his household. 54 This was now the second sign that Jesus did when he had come from Judea to Galilee.

The Healing at the Pool on the Sabbath

5 [1]†† After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

[2]† Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, in Aramaic[3] called Bethesda,[4] which has five roofed colonnades. [3]† In these lay a multitude of invalids—blind, lame, and paralyzed.[5] [5]One man was there who had been an invalid for thirty-eight years. [6]†When Jesus saw him lying there and knew that he had already been there a long time, he said to him, "Do you want to be healed?" [7]†The sick man answered him, "Sir, I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up, and while I am going another steps down before me." [8]†Jesus said to him, "Get up, take up your bed, and walk." [9]And at once the man was healed, and he took up his bed and walked.

Now that day was the Sabbath. [10]†So the Jews said to the man who had been healed, "It is the Sabbath, and it is not lawful for you to take up your bed." [11]But he answered them, "The man who healed me, that man said to me, 'Take up your bed, and walk.'" [12]They asked him, "Who is the man who said to you, 'Take up your bed and walk'?" [13]Now the man who had been healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, as there was a crowd in the place. [14]†Afterward Jesus found him in the temple and said to him, "See, you are well! Sin no more, that nothing worse may happen to you." [15]The man went away and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had healed him. [16]†And this was why the Jews were persecuting Jesus, because he was doing these things on the Sabbath. [17]†But Jesus answered them, "My Father is working until now, and I am working."

Jesus Is Equal with God

18 ††This was why the Jews were seeking all the more to kill him, because not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God his own Father, making himself equal with God.

The Authority of the Son

19 ‡ † So Jesus said to them, Truly, truly, I say to you, the Son can do nothing of his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing. For whatever the Father[1] does, that the Son does likewise. 20 † For the Father loves the Son and shows him all that he himself is doing. And greater works than these will he show him, so that you may marvel. 21 † For as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so also the Son gives life to whom he will. 22 The Father judges no one, but has given all judgment to the Son, 23 that all may honor the Son, just as they honor the Father. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him. 24 † Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life. He does not come into judgment, but has passed from death to life.

25 † "Truly, truly, I say to you, an hour is coming, and is now here, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear will live.
26 † For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself. 27 † And he has given him authority to execute judgment, because he is the Son of Man. 28 † Do not marvel at this, for an hour is coming when all who are in the tombs will hear his voice 29 † and come out, those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of judgment.

Witnesses to Jesus

30 “I can do nothing on my own. As I hear, I judge, and my judgment is just, because I seek not my own will but the will of him who sent me. 31 If I alone bear witness about myself, my testimony is not deemed true. 32 There is another who bears witness about me, and I know that the testimony that he bears about me is true. 33 You sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth. 34 Not that the testimony that I receive is from man, but I say these things so that you may be saved. 35 He was a burning and shining lamp, and you were willing to rejoice for a while in his light. 36 But the testimony that I have is greater than that of John. For the works that the Father has given me to accomplish, the very works that I am doing, bear witness about me that the Father has sent me. 37 And the Father who sent me has himself borne witness about me. His voice you have never heard, his form you have never seen, 38 and you do not have his word abiding in you, for you do not believe the one whom he has sent. 39 You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me, 40 yet you refuse to come to me that you may have life. 41 I do not receive glory from people. 42 But I know that you do not have the love of God within you. 43 I have come in my Father’s name, and you do not receive me. If another comes in his own name, you will receive him. 44 How can you believe, when you receive glory from one another and do not seek the glory that comes from the only God? 45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father. There is one who accuses you: Moses, on whom you have set your hope. 46 For if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for he wrote of me. 47 But if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe my words?”

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

6 [1]After this Jesus went away to the other side of the Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of Tiberias. [2]And a large crowd was following him, because they saw the signs that he was doing on the sick. [3]Jesus went up on the mountain, and there he sat down with his disciples. [4]Now the Passover, the feast of the Jews, was at hand. [5]Lifting up his eyes, then, and seeing that a large crowd was coming toward him, Jesus said to Philip,
"Where are we to buy bread, so that these people may eat?" [6]He said this to test him, for he himself knew what he would do. [7]Philip answered him,
"Two hundred denarii[1] would not buy enough bread for each of them to get a little." [8]One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said to him, [9]"There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish, but what are they for so many?" [10]Jesus said, "Have the people sit down." Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, about five thousand in number. [11]Jesus then took the loaves, and when he had given thanks, he distributed them to those who were seated. So also the fish, as much as they wanted. [12]And when they had eaten their fill, he told his disciples, "Gather up the leftover fragments, that nothing may be lost." [13]So they gathered them up and filled twelve baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves left by those who had eaten. [14]When the people saw the sign that he had done, they said, "This is indeed the Prophet who is to come into the world!"

[15]Perceiving then that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, Jesus withdrew again to the mountain by himself.

Jesus Walks on Water

16 ‡† When evening came, his disciples went down to the sea, 17 † got into a boat, and started across the sea to Capernaum. It was now dark, and Jesus had not yet come to them. 18 The sea became rough because a strong wind was blowing. 19 † When they had rowed about three or four miles,[2] they saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the boat, and they were frightened. 20 † But he said to them, “It is I; do not be afraid.” 21 † Then they were glad to take him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land to which they were going.

I Am the Bread of Life

22 ‡ † On the next day the crowd that remained on the other side of the sea saw that there had been only one boat there, and that Jesus had not entered the boat with his disciples, but that his disciples had gone away alone.
23 † Other boats from Tiberias came near the place where they had eaten the bread after the Lord had given thanks. 24 † So when the crowd saw that Jesus was not there, nor his disciples, they themselves got into the boats and went to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.
25 When they found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him,
"Rabbi, when did you come here?" 26 † Jesus answered them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, you are seeking me, not because you saw signs, but because you ate your fill of the loaves. 27 † Do not labor for the food that perishes, but for the food that endures to eternal life, which the Son of Man will give to you.
For on him God the Father has set his seal." 28 Then they said to him, "What must we do, to be doing the works of God?" 29 † Jesus answered them, "This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he has sent." 30 So they said to him, "Then what sign do you do, that we may see and believe you?
What work do you perform? 31 † Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness;
as it is written, 'He gave them bread from heaven to eat.'" 32 † Jesus then said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, it was not Moses who gave you the bread from heaven, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven.
33 For the bread of God is he who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world." 34 They said to him, "Sir, give us this bread always." 35 † Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst. 36 But I said to you that you have seen me and yet do not believe. 37 † All that the Father gives me will come to me, and whoever comes to me I will never cast out.
38 For I have come down from heaven, not to do my own will but the will of him who sent me. 39 † And this is the will of him who sent me, that I should lose nothing of all that he has given me, but raise it up on the last day.
40 † For this is the will of my Father, that everyone who looks on the Son and believes in him should have eternal life, and I will raise him up on the last day."

41 ‡ † So the Jews grumbled about him, because he said, “I am the bread that came down from heaven.” 42 They said, “Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How does he now say, ‘I have come down from heaven’?” 43 Jesus answered them, “Do not grumble among yourselves. 44 † No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him. And I will raise him up on the last day. 45 † It is written in the Prophets, ‘And they will all be taught by God.’ Everyone who has heard and learned from the Father comes to me— 46 † not that anyone has seen the Father except he who is from God; he has seen the Father. 47 † Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life. 48 † I am the bread of life.
49 Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and they died. 50 This is the bread that comes down from heaven, so that one may eat of it and not die.
51 ‡ † I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. And the bread that I will give for the life of the world is my flesh.”

52 † The Jews then disputed among themselves, saying, “How can this man give us his flesh to eat?” 53 † So Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. 54 † Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up on the last day. 55 † For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink. 56 † Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood abides in me, and I in him. 57 † As the living Father sent me, and I live because of the Father, so whoever feeds on me, he also will live because of me. 58 This is the bread that came down from heaven, not like the bread[1] the fathers ate and died. Whoever feeds on this bread will live forever.” 59 † Jesus[2] said these things in the synagogue, as he taught at Capernaum.

The Words of Eternal Life

60 ‡ † When many of his disciples heard it, they said, “This is a hard saying; who can listen to it?” 61 But Jesus, knowing in himself that his disciples were grumbling about this, said to them, “Do you take offense at this? 62 †Then what if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before? 63 †It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh is no help at all. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. 64 †But there are some of you who do not believe.” (For Jesus knew from the beginning who those were who did not believe, and who it was who would betray him.) 65 †And he said, “This is why I told you that no one can come to me unless it is granted him by the Father.”

66 After this many of his disciples turned back and no longer walked with him. 67 So Jesus said to the Twelve, “Do you want to go away as well?” 68 †Simon Peter answered him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life, 69 †and we have believed, and have come to know, that you are the Holy One of God.” 70 †Jesus answered them, “Did I not choose you, the Twelve? And yet one of you is a devil.” 71 He spoke of Judas the son of Simon Iscariot, for he, one of the Twelve, was going to betray him.

Jesus at the Feast of Booths

7 [1]‡†After this Jesus went about in Galilee. He would not go about in Judea, because the Jews[3] were seeking to kill him. [2]†Now the Jews' Feast of Booths was at hand. [3]†So his brothers[4] said to him, "Leave here and go to Judea, that your disciples also may see the works you are doing. [4]†For no one works in secret if he seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, show yourself to the world." [5]†For not even his brothers believed in him.
[6]†Jesus said to them, "My time has not yet come, but your time is always here. [7]The world cannot hate you, but it hates me because I testify about it that its works are evil. [8]†You go up to the feast. I am not[1] going up to this feast, for my time has not yet fully come." [9]After saying this, he remained in Galilee.

[10]†But after his brothers had gone up to the feast, then he also went up, not publicly but in private. [11]The Jews were looking for him at the feast, and saying, "Where is he?" [12]And there was much muttering about him among the people. While some said, "He is a good man," others said, "No, he is leading the people astray." [13]†Yet for fear of the Jews no one spoke openly of him.

[14]†About the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple and began teaching. [15]†The Jews therefore marveled, saying, "How is it that this man has learning,[2] when he has never studied?" [16]So Jesus answered them, "My teaching is not mine, but his who sent me. [17]†If anyone's will is to do God's[3] will, he will know whether the teaching is from God or whether I am speaking on my own authority. [18]The one who speaks on his own authority seeks his own glory; but the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him is true, and in him there is no falsehood. [19]†Has not Moses given you the law? Yet none of you keeps the law. Why do you seek to kill me?"
[20]†The crowd answered, "You have a demon! Who is seeking to kill you?"
[21]Jesus answered them, "I did one work, and you all marvel at it. [22]†Moses gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, but from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. [23]If on the Sabbath a man receives circumcision, so that the law of Moses may not be broken, are you angry with me because on the Sabbath I made a man's whole body well? [24] †Do not judge by appearances, but judge with right judgment."

Can This Be the Christ?

25 ‡ ‡Some of the people of Jerusalem therefore said, “Is not this the man whom they seek to kill? 26 And here he is, speaking openly, and they say nothing to him! Can it be that the authorities really know that this is the Christ? 27 ‡But we know where this man comes from, and when the Christ appears, no one will know where he comes from.” 28 So Jesus proclaimed, as he taught in the temple, “You know me, and you know where I come from?
But I have not come of my own accord. He who sent me is true, and him you do not know. 29 I know him, for I come from him, and he sent me.” 30 ‡So they were seeking to arrest him, but no one laid a hand on him, because his hour had not yet come. 31 ‡Yet many of the people believed in him. They said, “When the Christ appears, will he do more signs than this man has done?”

Officers Sent to Arrest Jesus

32 ††The Pharisees heard the crowd muttering these things about him, and the chief priests and Pharisees sent officers to arrest him. 33 Jesus then said,
"I will be with you a little longer, and then I am going to him who sent me.
34 †You will seek me and you will not find me. Where I am you cannot come." 35 †The Jews said to one another, "Where does this man intend to go that we will not find him? Does he intend to go to the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks? 36 What does he mean by saying, 'You will seek me and you will not find me,' and, 'Where I am you cannot come'?"

Rivers of Living Water

37 ‡ ‡On the last day of the feast, the great day, Jesus stood up and cried out, “If anyone thirsts, let him come to me and drink. 38 †Whoever believes in me, as[1] the Scripture has said, ‘Out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.’” 39 †Now this he said about the Spirit, whom those who believed in him were to receive, for as yet the Spirit had not been given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.

Division Among the People

40 †† When they heard these words, some of the people said, “This really is the Prophet.” 41 Others said, “This is the Christ.” But some said, “Is the Christ to come from Galilee? 42 † Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the offspring of David, and comes from Bethlehem, the village where David was?” 43 So there was a division among the people over him.
44 † Some of them wanted to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him.

45 The officers then came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why did you not bring him?” 46 † The officers answered, “No one ever spoke like this man!” 47 The Pharisees answered them, “Have you also been deceived? 48 † Have any of the authorities or the Pharisees believed in him? 49 † But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.” 50 † Nicodemus, who had gone to him before, and who was one of them, said to them, 51 † “Does our law judge a man without first giving him a hearing and learning what he does?” 52 † They replied, “Are you from Galilee too?
Search and see that no prophet arises from Galilee.”

The Woman Caught in Adultery

8 [53][[They went each to his own house, [1]†but Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. [2]† Early in the morning he came again to the temple. All the people came to him, and he sat down and taught them. [3]†The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery, and placing her in the midst [4]they said to him, “Teacher, this woman has been caught in the act of adultery. [5]†Now in the Law Moses commanded us to stone such women. So what do you say?” [6]†This they said to test him, that they might have some charge to bring against him. Jesus bent down and wrote with his finger on the ground. [7]†And as they continued to ask him, he stood up and said to them, “Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone at her.” [8]And once more he bent down and wrote on the ground. [9] † But when they heard it, they went away one by one, beginning with the older ones, and Jesus was left alone with the woman standing before him. [10]Jesus stood up and said to her, “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?” [11]†She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you; go, and from now on sin no more.”]]

I Am the Light of the World

12 Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, “I am the light of the world.
Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.” 13 So the Pharisees said to him, “You are bearing witness about yourself; your testimony is not true.” 14 Jesus answered, Even if I do bear witness about myself, my testimony is true, for I know where I came from and where I am going, but you do not know where I come from or where I am going. 15 You judge according to the flesh; I judge no one. 16 Yet even if I do judge, my judgment is true, for it is not I alone who judge, but I and the Father[2] who sent me. 17 In your Law it is written that the testimony of two people is true. 18 I am the one who bears witness about myself, and the Father who sent me bears witness about me.” 19 They said to him therefore, “Where is your Father?” Jesus answered, “You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, you would know my Father also.” 20 These words he spoke in the treasury, as he taught in the temple; but no one arrested him, because his hour had not yet come.

21 So he said to them again, “I am going away, and you will seek me, and you will die in your sin. Where I am going, you cannot come.” 22 So the Jews said, “Will he kill himself, since he says, ‘Where I am going, you cannot come’?” 23 He said to them, “You are from below; I am from above.
You are of this world; I am not of this world. 24 I told you that you would die in your sins, for unless you believe that I am he you will die in your sins.” 25 So they said to him, “Who are you?” Jesus said to them, “Just what I have been telling you from the beginning. 26 I have much to say about you and much to judge, but he who sent me is true, and I declare to the world what I have heard from him.” 27 They did not understand that he had been speaking to them about the Father. 28 So Jesus said to them, “When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am he, and that I do nothing on my own authority, but speak just as the Father taught me.
29 And he who sent me is with me. He has not left me alone, for I always do the things that are pleasing to him.” 30 As he was saying these things, many believed in him.

The Truth Will Set You Free

31 ‡ ‡ So Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him, “If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples, 32 † and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free.” 33 † They answered him, “We are offspring of Abraham and have never been enslaved to anyone. How is it that you say,
‘You will become free’?”

34 † Jesus answered them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, everyone who commits sin is a slave[1] to sin. 35 ‡ The slave does not remain in the house forever; the son remains forever. 36 † So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed. 37 † I know that you are offspring of Abraham; yet you seek to kill me because my word finds no place in you. 38 I speak of what I have seen with my Father, and you do what you have heard from your father.”

You Are of Your Father the Devil

[39]†† They answered him, “Abraham is our father.” Jesus said to them, “If you were Abraham’s children, you would be doing the works Abraham did, [40]† but now you seek to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. This is not what Abraham did. [41]† You are doing the works your father did.” They said to him, “We were not born of sexual immorality.
We have one Father—even God.” [42]Jesus said to them, “If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and I am here. I came not of my own accord, but he sent me. [43]† Why do you not understand what I say? It is because you cannot bear to hear my word. [44]† You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father’s desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, and has nothing to do with the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks out of his own character, for he is a liar and the father of lies. [45]But because I tell the truth, you do not believe me. [46]† Which one of you convicts me of sin? If I tell the truth, why do you not believe me? [47]† Whoever is of God hears the words of God. The reason why you do not hear them is that you are not of God.”

Before Abraham Was, I Am

48 ‡ † The Jews answered him, “Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and have a demon?” 49 Jesus answered, “I do not have a demon, but I honor my Father, and you dishonor me. 50 † Yet I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge. 51 † Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death.” 52 † The Jews said to him, “Now we know that you have a demon! Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet you say, ‘If anyone keeps my word, he will never taste death.’ 53 Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?” 54 Jesus answered, “If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, ‘He is our God.’ [1] 55 But you have not known him. I know him. If I were to say that I do not know him, I would be a liar like you, but I do know him and I keep his word. 56 † Your father Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day. He saw it and was glad.” 57 † So the Jews said to him, “You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?” [2] 58 † Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am.” 59 † So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

Jesus Heals a Man Born Blind

9 [1]†As he passed by, he saw a man blind from birth. [2]†And his disciples asked him, “Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?” [3]†Jesus answered, “It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be displayed in him. [4]†We must work the works of him who sent me while it is day; night is coming, when no one can work. [5]†As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.” [6]†Having said these things, he spat on the ground and made mud with the saliva. Then he anointed the man’s eyes with the mud [7]†and said to him, “Go, wash in the pool of Siloam” (which means Sent). So he went and washed and came back seeing.

[8]†The neighbors and those who had seen him before as a beggar were saying, “Is this not the man who used to sit and beg?” [9]†Some said, “It is he.” Others said, “No, but he is like him.” He kept saying, “I am the man.” [10]So they said to him, “Then how were your eyes opened?” [11]He answered, “The man called Jesus made mud and anointed my eyes and said to me, ‘Go to Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed and received my sight.” [12]They said to him, “Where is he?” He said, “I do not know.”

[13]†They brought to the Pharisees the man who had formerly been blind. [14]Now it was a Sabbath day when Jesus made the mud and opened his eyes. [15]So the Pharisees again asked him how he had received his sight. And he said to them, “He put mud on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.” [16]†Some of the Pharisees said, “This man is not from God, for he does not keep the Sabbath.” But others said, “How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?” And there was a division among them. [17]†So they said again to the blind man, “What do you say about him, since he has opened your eyes?” He said, “He is a prophet.”

[18]The Jews did not believe that he had been blind and had received his sight, until they called the parents of the man who had received his sight [19]and asked them, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?” [20]†His parents answered, “We know that this is our son and that he was born blind. [21]†But how he now sees we do not know, nor do we know who opened his eyes. Ask him; he is of age. He will speak for himself." [22]†(His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had already agreed that if anyone should confess Jesus[1] to be Christ, he was to be put out of the synagogue.) [23]Therefore his parents said, "He is of age; ask him."

[24]†So for the second time they called the man who had been blind and said to him, "Give glory to God. We know that this man is a sinner." [25]He answered, "Whether he is a sinner I do not know. One thing I do know, that though I was blind, now I see." [26]They said to him, "What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?" [27]† He answered them, "I have told you already, and you would not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become his disciples?" [28]And they reviled him, saying, "You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses. [29]†We know that God has spoken to Moses, but as for this man, we do not know where he comes from." [30]The man answered, "Why, this is an amazing thing! You do not know where he comes from, and yet he opened my eyes. [31]†We know that God does not listen to sinners, but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does his will, God listens to him. [32]†Never since the world began has it been heard that anyone opened the eyes of a man born blind. [33]If this man were not from God, he could do nothing." [34]† They answered him, "You were born in utter sin, and would you teach us?" And they cast him out.

[35]†Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and having found him he said, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?"[1][36]He answered, "And who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?" [37]Jesus said to him, "You have seen him, and it is he who is speaking to you." [38]† He said, "Lord, I believe," and he worshiped him. [39]†Jesus said, "For judgment I came into this world, that those who do not see may see, and those who see may become blind." [40]Some of the Pharisees near him heard these things, and said to him, "Are we also blind?" [41]†Jesus said to them, "If you were blind, you would have no guilt;[2] but now that you say, 'We see,' your guilt remains.

I Am the Good Shepherd

10 [1]“Truly, truly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door but climbs in by another way, that man is a thief and a robber.
[2]But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. [3]To him the gatekeeper opens. The sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. [4]When he has brought out all his own, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. [5]A stranger they will not follow, but they will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.” [6]This figure of speech Jesus used with them, but they did not understand what he was saying to them.

[7]So Jesus again said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep. [8]All who came before me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not listen to them. [9]I am the door. If anyone enters by me, he will be saved and will go in and out and find pasture. [10]The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have life and have it abundantly. [11]I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. [12]He who is a hired hand and not a shepherd, who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and flees, and the wolf snatches them and scatters them. [13]He flees because he is a hired hand and cares nothing for the sheep. [14]I am the good shepherd. I know my own and my own know me, [15]just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep. [16]And I have other sheep that are not of this fold. I must bring them also, and they will listen to my voice.
So there will be one flock, one shepherd. [17]For this reason the Father loves me, because I lay down my life that I may take it up again. [18]No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. This charge I have received from my Father.”

[19]There was again a division among the Jews because of these words.
[20]Many of them said, “He has a demon, and is insane; why listen to him?”
[21]Others said, “These are not the words of one who is oppressed by a demon. Can a demon open the eyes of the blind?”

I and the Father Are One

22 ‡ † At that time the Feast of Dedication took place at Jerusalem. It was winter, 23 † and Jesus was walking in the temple, in the colonnade of Solomon. 24 † So the Jews gathered around him and said to him, “How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly.” 25 † Jesus answered them, “I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in my Father’s name bear witness about me, 26 but you do not believe because you are not part of my flock. 27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. 28 † I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of my hand. 29 My Father, who has given them to me,[1] is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father’s hand. 30 † I and the Father are one.”

31 The Jews picked up stones again to stone him. 32 † Jesus answered them, “I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you going to stone me?” 33 † The Jews answered him, “It is not for a good work that we are going to stone you but for blasphemy, because you, being a man, make yourself God.” 34 † Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in your Law, ‘I said, you are gods’? 35 ‡ † If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be broken— 36 do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’? 37 If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me; 38 † but if I do them, even though you do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father.” 39 Again they sought to arrest him, but he escaped from their hands.

40 † He went away again across the Jordan to the place where John had been baptizing at first, and there he remained. 41 † And many came to him.
And they said, “John did no sign, but everything that John said about this man was true.” 42 And many believed in him there.

The Death of Lazarus

11 [1]Now a certain man was ill, Lazarus of Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha. [2]It was Mary who anointed the Lord with ointment and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was ill.
[3]So the sisters sent to him, saying, “Lord, he whom you love is ill.” [4]But when Jesus heard it he said, “This illness does not lead to death. It is for the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it.”

[5]Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus. [6]So, when he heard that Lazarus[1] was ill, he stayed two days longer in the place where he was. [7]Then after this he said to the disciples, “Let us go to Judea again.” [8]The disciples said to him, “Rabbi, the Jews were just now seeking to stone you, and are you going there again?” [9]Jesus answered, “Are there not twelve hours in the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world. [10]But if anyone walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.” [11]After saying these things, he said to them, “Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep, but I go to awaken him.” [12]The disciples said to him, “Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will recover.” [13]Now Jesus had spoken of his death, but they thought that he meant taking rest in sleep. [14]Then Jesus told them plainly, “Lazarus has died, [15]and for your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe. But let us go to him.” [16]So Thomas, called the Twin,[2] said to his fellow disciples, “Let us also go, that we may die with him.”

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

17 ‡†Now when Jesus came, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb four days. 18 Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles[3] off, 19 †and many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary to console them concerning their brother. 20 So when Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went and met him, but Mary remained seated in the house. 21 Martha said to Jesus, “Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.
22 †But even now I know that whatever you ask from God, God will give you.” 23 Jesus said to her, “Your brother will rise again.” 24 †Martha said to him, “I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day.” 25 †Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life.[4] Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, 26 †and everyone who lives and believes in me shall never die. Do you believe this?” 27 She said to him, “Yes, Lord; I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, who is coming into the world.”

Jesus Weeps

28 ‡ † When she had said this, she went and called her sister Mary, saying in private, “The Teacher is here and is calling for you.” 29 † And when she heard it, she rose quickly and went to him. 30 † Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was still in the place where Martha had met him.
31 When the Jews who were with her in the house, consoling her, saw Mary rise quickly and go out, they followed her, supposing that she was going to the tomb to weep there. 32 † Now when Mary came to where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet, saying to him, “Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.” 33 † When Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who had come with her also weeping, he was deeply moved in his spirit and greatly troubled. 34 And he said, “Where have you laid him?” They said to him, “Lord, come and see.” 35 † Jesus wept. 36 So the Jews said, “See how he loved him!” 37 But some of them said, “Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man also have kept this man from dying?”

Jesus Raises Lazarus

38 ‡ † Then Jesus, deeply moved again, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone lay against it. 39 † Jesus said, “Take away the stone.” Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to him, “Lord, by this time there will be an odor, for he has been dead four days.” 40 † Jesus said to her, “Did I not tell you that if you believed you would see the glory of God?” 41 † So they took away the stone. And Jesus lifted up his eyes and said, “Father, I thank you that you have heard me. 42 † I knew that you always hear me, but I said this on account of the people standing around, that they may believe that you sent me.” 43 When he had said these things, he cried out with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come out.” 44 † The man who had died came out, his hands and feet bound with linen strips, and his face wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Unbind him, and let him go.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

45 † Many of the Jews therefore, who had come with Mary and had seen what he did, believed in him, 46 but some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done. 47 † So the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered the Council and said, “What are we to do? For this man performs many signs. 48 † If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and our nation.”
49 † But one of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, said to them,
“You know nothing at all. 50 Nor do you understand that it is better for you that one man should die for the people, not that the whole nation should perish.” 51 † He did not say this of his own accord, but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, 52 † and not for the nation only, but also to gather into one the children of God who are scattered abroad. 53 So from that day on they made plans to put him to death.

54 † Jesus therefore no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there to the region near the wilderness, to a town called Ephraim, and there he stayed with the disciples.

55 † Now the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and many went up from the country to Jerusalem before the Passover to purify themselves. 56 They were looking for[1] Jesus and saying to one another as they stood in the temple, “What do you think? That he will not come to the feast at all?” 57 Now the chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that if anyone knew where he was, he should let them know, so that they might arrest him.

Mary Anoints Jesus at Bethany

12 [1]†‡Six days before the Passover, Jesus therefore came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from the dead. [2]†So they gave a dinner for him there. Martha served, and Lazarus was one of those reclining with him at table. [3]†Mary therefore took a pound[2] of expensive ointment made from pure nard, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair. The house was filled with the fragrance of the perfume. [4]† But Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples (he who was about to betray him), said, [5]†"Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii[3] and given to the poor?" [6]†He said this, not because he cared about the poor, but because he was a thief, and having charge of the moneybag he used to help himself to what was put into it. [7]†Jesus said, "Leave her alone, so that she may keep it[4] for the day of my burial. [8]†For the poor you always have with you, but you do not always have me."

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

9 ‡† When the large crowd of the Jews learned that Jesus[5] was there, they came, not only on account of him but also to see Lazarus, whom he had raised from the dead. 10 So the chief priests made plans to put Lazarus to death as well, 11 † because on account of him many of the Jews were going away and believing in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

12 The next day the large crowd that had come to the feast heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem. 13 So they took branches of palm trees and went out to meet him, crying out, “Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord, even the King of Israel!” 14 And Jesus found a young donkey and sat on it, just as it is written,

> 15 “Fear not, daughter of Zion; > behold, your king is coming,
> sitting on a donkey’s colt!”

16 His disciples did not understand these things at first, but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things had been written about him and had been done to him. 17 The crowd that had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead continued to bear witness. 18 The reason why the crowd went to meet him was that they heard he had done this sign. 19 So the Pharisees said to one another, “You see that you are gaining nothing. Look, the world has gone after him.”

Some Greeks Seek Jesus

[20] Now among those who went up to worship at the feast were some Greeks. [21] So these came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, and asked him, “Sir, we wish to see Jesus.” [22] Philip went and told Andrew; Andrew and Philip went and told Jesus. [23] And Jesus answered them, “The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. [24] Truly, truly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit. [25] Whoever loves his life loses it, and whoever hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. [26] If anyone serves me, he must follow me; and where I am, there will my servant be also. If anyone serves me, the Father will honor him.

The Son of Man Must Be Lifted Up

27 ‡ † “Now is my soul troubled. And what shall I say? ‘Father, save me from this hour’? But for this purpose I have come to this hour. 28 † Father, glorify your name.” Then a voice came from heaven: “I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again.” 29 † The crowd that stood there and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, “An angel has spoken to him.” 30 Jesus answered, “This voice has come for your sake, not mine. 31 † Now is the judgment of this world; now will the ruler of this world be cast out. 32 † And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all people to myself.” 33 He said this to show by what kind of death he was going to die. 34 † So the crowd answered him, “We have heard from the Law that the Christ remains forever. How can you say that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?” 35 † So Jesus said to them, “The light is among you for a little while longer. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you. The one who walks in the darkness does not know where he is going.
36 While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become sons of light.”

The Unbelief of the People

When Jesus had said these things, he departed and hid himself from them. [37]†Though he had done so many signs before them, they still did not believe in him, [38]†so that the word spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled:

> "Lord, who has believed what he heard from us, > and to whom has the arm of the Lord been > revealed?"

[39]†Therefore they could not believe. For again Isaiah said, > [40]† "He has blinded their eyes > and hardened their heart, > lest they see with their eyes,

> and understand with their heart, and turn,
> and I would heal them."

[41]†Isaiah said these things because he saw his glory and spoke of him.
[42]†Nevertheless, many even of the authorities believed in him, but for fear of the Pharisees they did not confess it, so that they would not be put out of the synagogue; [43]for they loved the glory that comes from man more than the glory that comes from God.

Jesus Came to Save the World

44 And Jesus cried out and said, “Whoever believes in me, believes not in me but in him who sent me. 45 And whoever sees me sees him who sent me.
46 I have come into the world as light, so that whoever believes in me may not remain in darkness. 47 If anyone hears my words and does not keep them, I do not judge him; for I did not come to judge the world but to save the world. 48 The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has a judge; the word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day. 49 For I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has himself given me a commandment—what to say and what to speak. 50 And I know that his commandment is eternal life. What I say, therefore, I say as the Father has told me.”

Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

13 [1]‡†Now before the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that his hour had come to depart out of this world to the Father, having loved his own who were in the world, he loved them to the end. [2]†During supper, when the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him, [3]†Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he had come from God and was going back to God, [4]†rose from supper. He laid aside his outer garments, and taking a towel, tied it around his waist. [5]†Then he poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel that was wrapped around him. [6]He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, "Lord, do you wash my feet?" [7]†Jesus answered him, "What I am doing you do not understand now, but afterward you will understand." [8]†Peter said to him, "You shall never wash my feet." Jesus answered him, "If I do not wash you, you have no share with me." [9]†Simon Peter said to him, "Lord, not my feet only but also my hands and my head!" [10]†Jesus said to him, "The one who has bathed does not need to wash, except for his feet,[1] but is completely clean.
And you[2] are clean, but not every one of you." [11]For he knew who was to betray him; that was why he said, "Not all of you are clean."

[12]†When he had washed their feet and put on his outer garments and resumed his place, he said to them, "Do you understand what I have done to you? [13]†You call me Teacher and Lord, and you are right, for so I am. [14]‡If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet. [15]For I have given you an example, that you also should do just as I have done to you. [16]†Truly, truly, I say to you, a servant[3] is not greater than his master, nor is a messenger greater than the one who sent him. [17]†If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them. [18]†I am not speaking of all of you; I know whom I have chosen. But the Scripture will be fulfilled,[1]'He who ate my bread has lifted his heel against me.' [19]†I am telling you this now, before it takes place, that when it does take place you may believe that I am he. [20]†Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever receives the one I send receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me.”

One of You Will Betray Me

21 ‡ † After saying these things, Jesus was troubled in his spirit, and testified, “Truly, truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me.” 22 The disciples looked at one another, uncertain of whom he spoke. 23 † One of his disciples, whom Jesus loved, was reclining at table close to Jesus,[2] 24 so Simon Peter motioned to him to ask Jesus[3] of whom he was speaking. 25 So that disciple, leaning back against Jesus, said to him, “Lord, who is it?” 26 † Jesus answered, “It is he to whom I will give this morsel of bread when I have dipped it.” So when he had dipped the morsel, he gave it to Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot. 27 † Then after he had taken the morsel, Satan entered into him. Jesus said to him, “What you are going to do, do quickly.” 28 † Now no one at the table knew why he said this to him. 29 † Some thought that, because Judas had the moneybag, Jesus was telling him, “Buy what we need for the feast,” or that he should give something to the poor. 30 † So, after receiving the morsel of bread, he immediately went out. And it was night.

A New Commandment

31 ††When he had gone out, Jesus said, “Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in him. 32If God is glorified in him, God will also glorify him in himself, and glorify him at once. 33†Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You will seek me, and just as I said to the Jews, so now I also say to you, ‘Where I am going you cannot come.’ 34 †A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another: just as I have loved you, you also are to love one another. 35†By this all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another.”

Jesus Foretells Peter's Denial

36 ‡ † Simon Peter said to him, "Lord, where are you going?" Jesus answered him, "Where I am going you cannot follow me now, but you will follow afterward." 37 † Peter said to him, "Lord, why can I not follow you now? I will lay down my life for you." 38 † Jesus answered, "Will you lay down your life for me? Truly, truly, I say to you, the rooster will not crow till you have denied me three times.

I Am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life

14 1 ✝✝“Let not your hearts be troubled. Believe in God;[1] believe also in me. 2 ✝In my Father’s house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you?[2][3] ✝And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also. 4 And you know the way to where I am going.”[3][5] ✝Thomas said to him, “Lord, we do not know where you are going. How can we know the way?” 6 ✝Jesus said to him, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. 7 ✝If you had known me, you would have known my Father also.[4] From now on you do know him and have seen him.”

8 ✝Philip said to him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is enough for us.”
9 ✝Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and you still do not know me, Philip? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’? 10 ✝Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own authority, but the Father who dwells in me does his works. 11 ✝Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in me, or else believe on account of the works themselves.

12 ✝“Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes in me will also do the works that I do; and greater works than these will he do, because I am going to the Father. 13 Whatever you ask in my name, this I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. 14 ✝If you ask me[5] anything in my name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises the Holy Spirit

15 ‡ ‡ “If you love me, you will keep my commandments. 16 † And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Helper,[6] to be with you forever, 17 † even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and will be in you.
18 † “I will not leave you as orphans; I will come to you. 19 † Yet a little while and the world will see me no more, but you will see me. Because I live, you also will live. 20 † In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. 21 † Whoever has my commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves me. And he who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and manifest myself to him.” 22 † Judas (not Iscariot) said to him, “Lord, how is it that you will manifest yourself to us, and not to the world?” 23 ‡ † Jesus answered him, “If anyone loves me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our home with him. 24 Whoever does not love me does not keep my words. And the word that you hear is not mine but the Father’s who sent me.
25 “These things I have spoken to you while I am still with you. 26 † But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you. 27 † Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid. 28 † You heard me say to you, ‘I am going away, and I will come to you.’ If you loved me, you would have rejoiced, because I am going to the Father, for the Father is greater than I. 29 And now I have told you before it takes place, so that when it does take place you may believe. 30 † I will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world is coming. He has no claim on me, 31 but I do as the Father has commanded me, so that the world may know that I love the Father. Rise, let us go from here.

I Am the True Vine

15 [1]†† “I am the true vine, and my Father is the vinedresser. [2]† Every branch in me that does not bear fruit he takes away, and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes, that it may bear more fruit. [3]Already you are clean because of the word that I have spoken to you. [4]† Abide in me, and I in you.
As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me. [5]† I am the vine; you are the branches.
Whoever abides in me and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing. [6]† If anyone does not abide in me he is thrown away like a branch and withers; and the branches are gathered, thrown into the fire, and burned. [7]† If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever you wish, and it will be done for you. [8]† By this my Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit and so prove to be my disciples. [9]As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Abide in my love. [10]† If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father’s commandments and abide in his love. [11]† These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full.

[12]† “This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. [13]† Greater love has no one than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends. [14]† You are my friends if you do what I command you. [15]† No longer do I call you servants,[1] for the servant[2] does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all that I have heard from my Father I have made known to you. [16]† You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit and that your fruit should abide, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it to you. [17]† These things I command you, so that you will love one another.

The Hatred of the World

18 ‡ † “If the world hates you, know that it has hated me before it hated
you. 19 † If you were of the world, the world would love you as its own; but because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you. 20 † Remember the word that I said to you: ‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you. If they kept my word, they will also keep yours. 21 But all these things they will do to you on account of my name, because they do not know him who sent me. 22 † If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have been guilty of sin,[3] but now they have no excuse for their sin. 23 † Whoever hates me hates my Father also. 24 † If I had not done among them the works that no one else did, they would not be guilty of sin, but now they have seen and hated both me and my Father. 25 † But the word that is written in their Law must be fulfilled: ‘They hated me without a cause.’

26 † “But when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, he will bear witness about me. 27 † And you also will bear witness, because you have been with me from the beginning.

16 1 † “I have said all these things to you to keep you from falling away. 2 † They will put you out of the synagogues. Indeed, the hour is coming when whoever kills you will think he is offering service to God.
3 And they will do these things because they have not known the Father, nor me. 4 † But I have said these things to you, that when their hour comes you may remember that I told them to you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

"I did not say these things to you from the beginning, because I was with
you. [5]†But now I am going to him who sent me, and none of you asks me,
'Where are you going?' [6]But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart. [7]† Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you. [8]†And when he comes, he will convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment:
[9]† † concerning sin, because they do not believe in me; [10]† concerning righteousness, because I go to the Father, and you will see me no longer; [11]†concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.

[12]†"I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.
[13]†When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. [14]†He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you. [15]All that the Father has is mine; therefore I said that he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

Your Sorrow Will Turn into Joy

16 ‡ † “A little while, and you will see me no longer; and again a little while, and you will see me.” 17 So some of his disciples said to one another, “What is this that he says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see me, and again a little while, and you will see me’; and, ‘because I am going to the Father’?” 18 So they were saying, “What does he mean by ‘a little while’?
We do not know what he is talking about.” 19 † Jesus knew that they wanted to ask him, so he said to them, “Is this what you are asking yourselves, what I meant by saying, ‘A little while and you will not see me, and again a little while and you will see me’? 20 † Truly, truly, I say to you, you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice. You will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will turn into joy. 21 † When a woman is giving birth, she has sorrow because her hour has come, but when she has delivered the baby, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world. 22 † So also you have sorrow now, but I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you. 23 † In that day you will ask nothing of me. Truly, truly, I say to you, whatever you ask of the Father in my name, he will give it to you. 24 † Until now you have asked nothing in my name. Ask, and you will receive, that your joy may be full.

I Have Overcome the World

25 ‡ † “I have said these things to you in figures of speech. The hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figures of speech but will tell you plainly about the Father. 26 In that day you will ask in my name, and I do not say to you that I will ask the Father on your behalf; 27 for the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and have believed that I came from God.[1] 28 I came from the Father and have come into the world, and now I am leaving the world and going to the Father.”

29 † His disciples said, “Ah, now you are speaking plainly and not using figurative speech! 30 † Now we know that you know all things and do not need anyone to question you; this is why we believe that you came from God.” 31 † Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe? 32 † Behold, the hour is coming, indeed it has come, when you will be scattered, each to his own home, and will leave me alone. Yet I am not alone, for the Father is with me. 33 † I have said these things to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation. But take heart; I have overcome the world.”

The High Priestly Prayer

17 [1]†When Jesus had spoken these words, he lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, “Father, the hour has come; glorify your Son that the Son may glorify you, [2]†since you have given him authority over all flesh, to give eternal life to all whom you have given him. [3]†And this is eternal life, that they know you the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you have sent. [4]I glorified you on earth, having accomplished the work that you gave me to do. [5]†And now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had with you before the world existed.

[6]†“I have manifested your name to the people whom you gave me out of the world. Yours they were, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word. [7]†Now they know that everything that you have given me is from you. [8]For I have given them the words that you gave me, and they have received them and have come to know in truth that I came from you; and they have believed that you sent me. [9]†I am praying for them. I am not praying for the world but for those whom you have given me, for they are yours. [10]†All mine are yours, and yours are mine, and I am glorified in them. [11]†And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. [12]†While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me. I have guarded them, and not one of them has been lost except the son of destruction, that the Scripture might be fulfilled. [13]But now I am coming to you, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have my joy fulfilled in themselves. [14]†I have given them your word, and the world has hated them because they are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. [15]†I do not ask that you take them out of the world, but that you keep them from the evil one.[1][16]They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. [17]†Sanctify them[2] in the truth; your word is truth. [18]†As you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. [19]†And for their sake I consecrate myself,[3] that they also may be sanctified[4] in truth.

[20]†“I do not ask for these only, but also for those who will believe in me through their word, [21]†that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me. [22]†The glory that you have given me I have given to them, that they may be one even as we are one, [23]†I in them and you in me, that they may become perfectly one, so that the world may know that you sent me and loved them even as you loved me. [24]†Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world. [25]O righteous Father, even though the world does not know you, I know you, and these know that you have sent me. [26]†I made known to them your name, and I will continue to make it known, that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

18 [1] When Jesus had spoken these words, he went out with his disciples across the Kidron Valley, where there was a garden, which he and his disciples entered. [2] Now Judas, who betrayed him, also knew the place, for Jesus often met there with his disciples. [3] So Judas, having procured a band of soldiers and some officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees, went there with lanterns and torches and weapons. [4] Then Jesus, knowing all that would happen to him, came forward and said to them, "Whom do you seek?" [5] They answered him, "Jesus of Nazareth." Jesus said to them,
"I am he."[1] Judas, who betrayed him, was standing with them. [6] When Jesus[2] said to them, "I am he," they drew back and fell to the ground. [7] So he asked them again, "Whom do you seek?" And they said, "Jesus of Nazareth." [8] Jesus answered, "I told you that I am he. So, if you seek me, let these men go." [9] This was to fulfill the word that he had spoken: "Of those whom you gave me I have lost not one." [10] Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant[3] and cut off his right ear.
(The servant's name was Malchus.) [11] So Jesus said to Peter, "Put your sword into its sheath; shall I not drink the cup that the Father has given me?"

Jesus Faces Annas and Caiaphas

12 So the band of soldiers and their captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound him. 13 First they led him to Annas, for he was the father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was high priest that year. 14 It was Caiaphas who had advised the Jews that it would be expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

15 ✝✝Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another disciple. Since that disciple was known to the high priest, he entered with Jesus into the court of the high priest, 16but Peter stood outside at the door. So the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the servant girl who kept watch at the door, and brought Peter in. 17✝The servant girl at the door said to Peter, “You also are not one of this man’s disciples, are you?”
He said, “I am not.” 18✝Now the servants[4] and officers had made a charcoal fire, because it was cold, and they were standing and warming themselves.
Peter also was with them, standing and warming himself.

The High Priest Questions Jesus

19 The high priest then questioned Jesus about his disciples and his teaching. 20 Jesus answered him, “I have spoken openly to the world. I have always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where all Jews come together. I have said nothing in secret. 21 Why do you ask me? Ask those who have heard me what I said to them; they know what I said.” 22 When he had said these things, one of the officers standing by struck Jesus with his hand, saying, “Is that how you answer the high priest?” 23 Jesus answered him, “If what I said is wrong, bear witness about the wrong; but if what I said is right, why do you strike me?” 24 Annas then sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Jesus Again

25 ✝✝Now Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. So they said to him, “You also are not one of his disciples, are you?” He denied it and said, “I am not.” 26 ✝One of the servants of the high priest, a relative of the man whose ear Peter had cut off, asked, “Did I not see you in the garden with him?” 27 ✝Peter again denied it, and at once a rooster crowed.

Jesus Before Pilate

28 ‡ † Then they led Jesus from the house of Caiaphas to the governor's headquarters.[1] It was early morning. They themselves did not enter the governor's headquarters, so that they would not be defiled, but could eat the Passover. 29 † So Pilate went outside to them and said, "What accusation do you bring against this man?" 30 † They answered him, "If this man were not doing evil, we would not have delivered him over to you." 31 ‡ † Pilate said to them, "Take him yourselves and judge him by your own law." The Jews said to him, "It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death." 32 † This was to fulfill the word that Jesus had spoken to show by what kind of death he was going to die.

My Kingdom Is Not of This World

33 ††So Pilate entered his headquarters again and called Jesus and said to him, “Are you the King of the Jews?” 34 Jesus answered, “Do you say this of your own accord, or did others say it to you about me?” 35 †Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered you over to me. What have you done?” 36 †Jesus answered, “My kingdom is not of this world. If my kingdom were of this world, my servants would have been fighting, that I might not be delivered over to the Jews. But my kingdom is not from the world.” 37 †Then Pilate said to him, “So you are a king?” Jesus answered, “You say that I am a king. For this purpose I was born and for this purpose I have come into the world—to bear witness to the truth.
Everyone who is of the truth listens to my voice.” 38 †Pilate said to him,
“What is truth?”

After he had said this, he went back outside to the Jews and told them, “I find no guilt in him. 39 †But you have a custom that I should release one man for you at the Passover. So do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?” 40 † They cried out again, “Not this man, but Barabbas!” Now Barabbas was a robber.[1]

Jesus Delivered to Be Crucified

19 [1] ‡ † Then Pilate took Jesus and flogged him. [2] † And the soldiers twisted together a crown of thorns and put it on his head and arrayed him in a purple robe. [3] † They came up to him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!” and struck him with their hands. [4] Pilate went out again and said to them, “See, I am bringing him out to you that you may know that I find no guilt in him.” [5] † So Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate said to them, “Behold the man!” [6] † When the chief priests and the officers saw him, they cried out, “Crucify him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, “Take him yourselves and crucify him, for I find no guilt in him.” [7] † The Jews answered him, “We have a law, and according to that law he ought to die because he has made himself the Son of God.” [8] † When Pilate heard this statement, he was even more afraid. [9] † He entered his headquarters again and said to Jesus, “Where are you from?” But Jesus gave him no answer. [10] † So Pilate said to him, “You will not speak to me? Do you not know that I have authority to release you and authority to crucify you?” [11] † Jesus answered him, “You would have no authority over me at all unless it had been given you from above. Therefore he who delivered me over to you has the greater sin.”

[12] † From then on Pilate sought to release him, but the Jews cried out, “If you release this man, you are not Caesar’s friend. Everyone who makes himself a king opposes Caesar.” [13] † So when Pilate heard these words, he brought Jesus out and sat down on the judgment seat at a place called The Stone Pavement, and in Aramaic[1] Gabbatha. [14] † Now it was the day of Preparation of the Passover. It was about the sixth hour.[2] He said to the Jews, “Behold your King!” [15] † They cried out, “Away with him, away with him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?” The chief priests answered, “We have no king but Caesar.” [16] † So he delivered him over to them to be crucified.

The Crucifixion

So they took Jesus, [17] ✝ and he went out, bearing his own cross, to the place called The Place of a Skull, which in Aramaic is called Golgotha.
[18] There they crucified him, and with him two others, one on either side, and Jesus between them. [19] ✝ Pilate also wrote an inscription and put it on the cross. It read, “Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews.” [20] ✝ Many of the Jews read this inscription, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city, and it was written in Aramaic, in Latin, and in Greek. [21] ✝ So the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but rather, ‘This man said, I am King of the Jews.’” [22] ✝ Pilate answered, “What I have written I have written.”

[23] ✝ ✝ When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they took his garments and divided them into four parts, one part for each soldier; also his tunic.[3] But the tunic was seamless, woven in one piece from top to bottom, [24] ✝ so they said to one another, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it to see whose it shall be.” This was to fulfill the Scripture which says, > “They divided my garments among them, > and for my clothing they cast lots.”

So the soldiers did these things, [25] ✝ but standing by the cross of Jesus were his mother and his mother’s sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. [26] ✝ ✝ When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple whom he loved standing nearby, he said to his mother, “Woman, behold, your son!” [27] ✝ Then he said to the disciple, “Behold, your mother!” And from that hour the disciple took her to his own home.

The Death of Jesus

[28] ‡ † After this, Jesus, knowing that all was now finished, said (to fulfill the Scripture), “I thirst.” [29] † A jar full of sour wine stood there, so they put a sponge full of the sour wine on a hyssop branch and held it to his mouth.
[30] † When Jesus had received the sour wine, he said, “It is finished,” and he bowed his head and gave up his spirit.

Jesus’ Side Is Pierced

31 ‡† Since it was the day of Preparation, and so that the bodies would not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken and that they might be taken away. 32 So the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first, and of the other who had been crucified with him. 33 But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. 34 † But one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and at once there came out blood and water. 35 † He who saw it has borne witness—his testimony is true, and he knows that he is telling the truth—that you also may believe. 36 † For these things took place that the Scripture might be fulfilled: “Not one of his bones will be broken.” 37 † And again another Scripture says, “They will look on him whom they have pierced.”

Jesus Is Buried

38 ‡† After these things Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus, and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took away his body. 39 † Nicodemus also, who earlier had come to Jesus[1] by night, came bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about seventy-five pounds[2] in weight. 40 † So they took the body of Jesus and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, as is the burial custom of the Jews. 41 † Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid. 42 † So because of the Jewish day of Preparation, since the tomb was close at hand, they laid Jesus there.

The Resurrection

20 [1]†‡Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb. [2]†So she ran and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid him.” [3]So Peter went out with the other disciple, and they were going toward the tomb. [4]†Both of them were running together, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first. [5]†And stooping to look in, he saw the linen cloths lying there, but he did not go in. [6]Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb. He saw the linen cloths lying there, [7]†and the face cloth, which had been on Jesus’[3] head, not lying with the linen cloths but folded up in a place by itself. [8]† Then the other disciple, who had reached the tomb first, also went in, and he saw and believed; [9]†for as yet they did not understand the Scripture, that he must rise from the dead. [10]†Then the disciples went back to their homes.

Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene

11 † But Mary stood weeping outside the tomb, and as she wept she stooped to look into the tomb. 12 †And she saw two angels in white, sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet. 13They said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?” She said to them, “They have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him.” 14 †Having said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing, but she did not know that it was Jesus. 15 †Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?” Supposing him to be the gardener, she said to him, “Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away.” 16 †Jesus said to her, “Mary.” She turned and said to him in Aramaic,[1] “Rabboni!” (which means Teacher). 17 †Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brothers and say to them, ‘I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.’” 18Mary Magdalene went and announced to the disciples, I have seen the Lord”—and that he had said these things to her.

Jesus Appears to the Disciples

19 ‡† On the evening of that day, the first day of the week, the doors being locked where the disciples were for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood among them and said to them, “Peace be with you.” 20 † When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord. 21 † Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you.
As the Father has sent me, even so I am sending you.” 22 † And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit.
23 † If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you withhold forgiveness from any, it is withheld.”

Jesus and Thomas

24 ‡ † Now Thomas, one of the Twelve, called the Twin,[2] was not with them when Jesus came. 25 † So the other disciples told him, “We have seen the Lord.” But he said to them, “Unless I see in his hands the mark of the nails, and place my finger into the mark of the nails, and place my hand into his side, I will never believe.” 26 † Eight days later, his disciples were inside again, and Thomas was with them. Although the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them and said, “Peace be with you.” 27 † Then he said to Thomas, “Put your finger here, and see my hands; and put out your hand, and place it in my side. Do not disbelieve, but believe.” 28 † Thomas answered him, “My Lord and my God!” 29 † Jesus said to him, “Have you believed because you have seen me?
Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed.”

The Purpose of This Book

30 ✝ ✝ Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; 31 ✝ but these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

Jesus Appears to Seven Disciples

21 [1]After this Jesus revealed himself again to the disciples by the Sea of Tiberias, and he revealed himself in this way. [2]Simon Peter, Thomas (called the Twin), Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples were together. [3]Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." They said to him, "We will go with you." They went out and got into the boat, but that night they caught nothing.

[4]Just as day was breaking, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. [5]Jesus said to them, "Children, do you have any fish?" They answered him, "No." [6]He said to them, "Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some." So they cast it, and now they were not able to haul it in, because of the quantity of fish. [7]That disciple whom Jesus loved therefore said to Peter, "It is the Lord!" When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment, for he was stripped for work, and threw himself into the sea. [8]The other disciples came in the boat, dragging the net full of fish, for they were not far from the land, but about a hundred yards[1] off.

[9]When they got out on land, they saw a charcoal fire in place, with fish laid out on it, and bread. [10]Jesus said to them, "Bring some of the fish that you have just caught." [11]So Simon Peter went aboard and hauled the net ashore, full of large fish, 153 of them. And although there were so many, the net was not torn. [12]Jesus said to them, "Come and have breakfast." Now none of the disciples dared ask him, "Who are you?" They knew it was the Lord. [13]Jesus came and took the bread and gave it to them, and so with the fish. [14]This was now the third time that Jesus was revealed to the disciples after he was raised from the dead.

Jesus and Peter

15 When they had finished breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, “Feed my lambs.” 16 He said to him a second time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, “Tend my sheep.”
17 He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?”
Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, “Do you love me?”
and he said to him, “Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you.”
Jesus said to him, “Feed my sheep. 18 Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were young, you used to dress yourself and walk wherever you wanted, but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will dress you and carry you where you do not want to go.” 19 (This he said to show by what kind of death he was to glorify God.) And after saying this he said to him, “Follow me.”

Jesus and the Beloved Apostle

20 †Peter turned and saw the disciple whom Jesus loved following them, the one who had been reclining at table close to him and had said, “Lord, who is it that is going to betray you?” 21 †When Peter saw him, he said to Jesus, “Lord, what about this man?” 22 †Jesus said to him, “If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you? You follow me!” 23 †So the saying spread abroad among the brothers[1] that this disciple was not to die;
yet Jesus did not say to him that he was not to die, but, “If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you?”

24 †This is the disciple who is bearing witness about these things, and who has written these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 †Now there are also many other things that Jesus did. Were every one of them to be written, I suppose that the world itself could not contain the books that would be written.

Introduction to John

Reading John

"What did he mean?" the rabbi questioned. "We sent you to evaluate his teachings and to learn whether he follows the traditions. Will his views lead to an uproar, or can this fellow be contained?"

"This one is different," his colleague replied. "Everyone flocks to him. His teaching is striking, but he leaves you with many questions. We will hear him again if he comes to the feast."

The religious leaders in Judea had questioned the ministry of John the Baptist and worried about his influence (1:19–28). But after they heard Jesus' teaching, they knew they were in for trouble (4:1–3; 5:18). Jesus taught with great boldness and challenged people's assumptions in simple language. Yet, many of Jesus' sayings invite the deepest reflection because they expound the eternal mysteries of the faith. The apostle John focused especially on collecting those remarkable sayings of Jesus.

Luther on John

From the very beginning the evangelist teaches and documents most convincingly the sublime article of our holy Christian faith according to which we believe and confess the one true, almighty, and eternal God. But he states expressly that three distinct Persons dwell in that same single divine essence, namely, God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. The Father begets the Son from eternity, the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son, etc. Therefore there are three distinct Persons, equal in glory and majesty; yet there is only one divine essence…. The first man to attack the doctrine of the divinity of Christ was the heretic Cerinthus, a contemporary of the apostles. He presumed to fathom and comprehend this article with his reason. Therefore he declared that the Word was not God. And in order to support this view he cited the verse from Deuteronomy (6:4): "The Lord our God is one God"; and also (Deut. 5:7): "You shall have no other gods before Me." With this sham he worked great harm. He gained a powerful following. Many Jews attached themselves to him, even some of those who had believed in Christ. It must be viewed as a manifestation of divine grace that Cerinthus assailed this article during the lifetime of the apostles; for this is what prompted John, the foremost of the apostles still living at the time, to write his Gospel. In it he proves this article conclusively: that Christ, our Lord and Savior, is true, natural, and eternal God with the Father and the Holy Spirit. John had a very good reason for basing his proof on Moses, since it was he of whom Cerinthus and his followers had boasted. Wresting Moses from their hands, mouth, and heart, John now quotes Moses in an attack against their blasphemous heresies and refutes them completely. This was a veritable masterstroke. (AE 22:5, 7)

Therefore the evangelist John is a master above all the other evangelists, for he treats of this doctrine of Christ's divinity and His humanity persistently and diligently. He joins these two natures together. When Christ becomes man, He speaks to us, performs miracles, and dies according to His humanity. And then His divinity is also established with plain words. (AE 23:77)

For more of Luther's insights on this Book, see Sermons on the Gospel of St. John (AE 22–24).

Challenges for Readers

Relationship to Other Gospels. See pp 1571–74.

Authorship. Early Christian testimony affirms that the apostle John wrote the Fourth Gospel (see pp 1571–74). Yet the Gospel itself never states this directly. Instead, the author describes himself as "the disciple whom Jesus loved" (21:7, 20; cf 13:23; 19:26; 20:2) and seems to mention other witnesses to the events of the Gospel ("we" in 1:14; 21:24). Critics have used these facts to suggest a number of other potential authors, but none of the suggestions are compelling. The references to the beloved disciple fit well with what we know of John in the other Gospels: that he was a member of Jesus' inner circle and a close comrade of Simon Peter in Acts (cf Jn 13:23–25; 21:20–23; Ac 3:1–4; 8:14; the other member of that inner circle—John's brother James—was martyred early on; Ac 12:2). The reference to other witnesses ("we") also shows up repeatedly in the Letters of John (e.g., 1Jn 1). Therefore, early Christian testimony appears sound and consistent in affirming John as the writer.

Opposition from the Jews. John frequently uses the Gk term Ioudaioi (usually translated "Jews" but also translated "Judeans") to describe people who oppose Jesus, beginning in 1:19 (leaders from Jerusalem). Some interpreters have accused John of anti-Semitism because he used this expression in connection with Jewish-Christian hostility. Jesus and John were, of course, ethnically Jewish. Readers should note that John does record positive examples of Jews who believed in Jesus (11:45), even from among the Jewish leadership (19:38–39). Also note that John tends to use many ethnic or regional designations, including Greeks, Romans, Galileans, Samaritans, and Judeans (the latter three are derived from names of Roman tetrarchies). The Synoptic Gospels instead often use the general term "crowds" to describe people who come to hear Jesus. Instead of reading all of John's references to "Jews" as religious or as evidence of Jewish-Christian hostility, one may see John distinguishing the responses of the Judeans from the Samaritans, Galileans, and Greeks who more readily received Jesus (4:39–40, 45; 12:20–21), as noted already by Chrysostom: "Behold, both Samaritans and Galileans believe, to the shame of the Jews, and Samaritans are found better than Galileans, for the first received Him through the words of the woman, the second when they had seen the miracles which He did" (NPNF 1 14:123).

Enigmatic Sayings. Whereas Matthew and Luke tend to record Jesus' parables, John records many difficult sayings of Jesus that appear throughout the Gospel and unify its composition (e.g., 2:4, 19; 3:3, 8; 4:10, 32; 5:17; 6:35, 51, 53, 70; 7:6, 34, 37–38; 8:21, 58; 9:39; 13:33; 14:4; 15:17; 18:36–37; 21:18, 22). John often notes the trouble the disciples and the crowds have deciphering Jesus' intent by recording their questions. In some cases the disciples only understood Jesus' words much later (cf 2:22; 21:19). Jesus refers to His sayings as "figures of speech" (Gk paroimia, 16:25), an expression that commonly describes proverbs. But Jesus' sayings are more than traditional proverbs. They are often prophetic or have the character of riddles, demanding deep reflection. Jesus' many "I am" statements should be included among these enigmatic sayings. See pp 1784–85.

Jesus' Signs. John records that Jesus performed many "signs" (Gk semeia). These are not just miracles but are acts demonstrating that Jesus is the Messiah. Source critics have proposed that the first half of John's Gospel (chs 2–12) actually comes from a lost document called the "Book of Signs." They note that these chapters list a series of signs and that this series does not continue throughout the Book. However, readers should discern the important transition in chs 12–13, in which John tells how the signs did not convince the crowds (12:37–43), so Jesus withdrew to teach His disciples privately and to prepare them for His death and resurrection—His greatest sign (see especially 20:30, "many other signs," making the resurrection a sign; cf Mt 12:38–41). Viewed in this light, John presents a unified composition rather than a later edition of an earlier work.

John's Calendar. John appears to mark time differently from the other evangelists. He may use Roman-civil reckoning for describing hours of the day. See p 1567.

Gnosticism. See notes, 1:4, 5.

Blessings for Readers

John's Gospel focuses beautifully on both the promise of everlasting life and the bodily resurrection of those who trust in Jesus. As you study the words of Jesus as recorded by John, take comfort in His many great and precious promises to you. His words are spirit, and they are life! Just as the disciples reflected for years on Jesus' simple yet profound words (2:22; 21:19), commit His words to heart, consider them with hope, and grow by them. Even now, Jesus—the Word made flesh—is working for your blessing (5:17) and preparing an eternal home for you (14:1–3).

A Simple Fisherman

In the winter of 1986, Moshe and Yuval Lofan trudged through the mud on the west shore of the Sea of Galilee. For years, human feet had not touched the ground on which they walked, but an extended drought had lowered the water level and exposed the sea bottom. As they plodded, suddenly they noticed something jutting out of the sea floor. Pawing through the mud, they realized they had discovered an ancient fisherman's boat. Soon, archaeologists began an excavation. They concluded that the boat dated to the days of Jesus and the apostle John.

Although the Bible does not tell us specifically about John's youth, archaeology and history give us hints about what his life must have been like. This article explores the facts of John's family and friendship with Jesus. It will help you appreciate God's call in the life of this simple fisherman.

A Fisherman's Life

Growing up on the shores of the Sea of Galilee, John would have known well both the sea and his father's fishing trade. Zebedee, John's father, most likely worked out of Capernaum or Bethsaida, on Galilee's north shore. Zebedee's family prospered in the fishing trade and was able to afford servant labor (Mk 1:20). John would have worked alongside his father and his servants in every aspect of his father's business. For example, Matthew describes how John and his brother James helped Zebedee prepare the nets by washing, mending, and hanging them out to dry at the end of the day (Mt 4:21).

Details about John's mother show the devoted upbringing of the children. She followed Jesus and ministered to Him when He taught in Galilee (she may be Salome; cf Mt 27:56; Mk 15:40–41). She saw Jesus die on the cross and brought spices to His tomb on Easter Sunday morning. (Based on Jn 19:25, some think she was the sister of Mary the mother of Jesus.) She was probably a protective and forceful personality in John's life. She asked Jesus to enthrone James and John alongside Him in His kingdom (Mt 20:20–24; Mk 10:35–41)! Not surprisingly, John never mentions this incident or the ill feelings it created among the disciples.

The Gospels hint that John's family prospered in their fishing business. For example, John was known by the high priest and gained access to his household during Jesus' trial (Jn 18:15; note that Peter, another fisherman, did not have easy access). Also, from the cross Jesus entrusted Mary to John's care. The closeness and wealth of the family probably made John the best choice to assume Jesus' family responsibility for His mother. (According to church historian Eusebius, John took care of Mary for 15 years.)

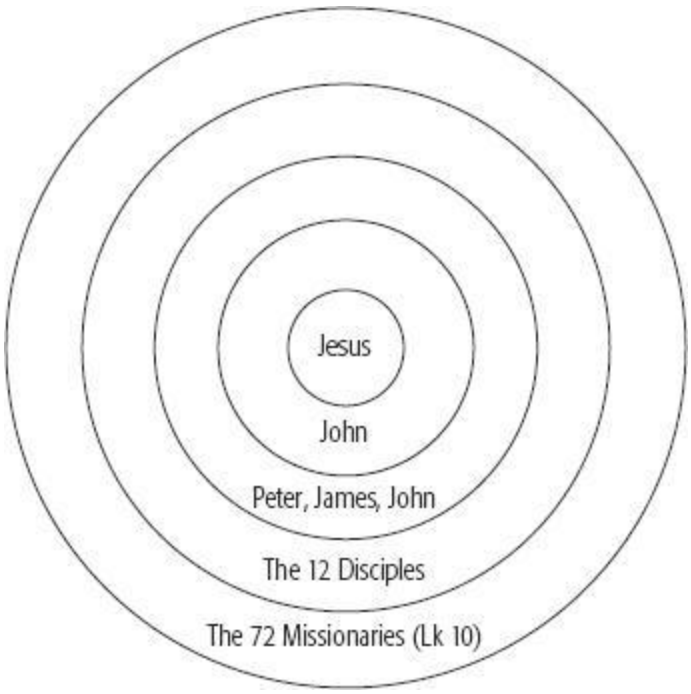
Close to Christ

When you search the Gospels for more details about John's life, you will notice that he has a special relationship with Jesus. At crucial moments in His ministry, Jesus invites John to accompany Him (transfiguration: Mt 17:1; Mk 9:2; Lk 9:28; raising of Jairus's daughter: Mk 5:37; Lk 8:51; prayers at Gethsemane: Mt 26:37; Mk 14:33).

At the Last Supper, John sits closest to Jesus, reclining on the floor next to a short table according to Near Eastern custom (Jn 13:23). When Peter, another disciple close to Jesus, needs information, he tries to work through John to get to Jesus (vv 24–25). In this same passage, as throughout his Gospel, John describes himself as "the disciple whom Jesus loved" (21:7, 20). John appears to have been the only disciple to overcome his fear of arrest and stand by Jesus at the crucifixion (19:25–27). On Easter Sunday, John is the first of the disciples to reach the empty tomb and ponder its message (20:1–9). He clearly demonstrates a special closeness to the Lord.

Lean on the Lord

As you read John's testimony about Jesus, pray that you, too, might grow closer to your Savior. Though a thousand other duties and relationships may cry out to you, remember that this one relationship—to Christ—has the highest priority. Like the beloved disciple, lean on the Lord and bring your requests to Him. He will hear your pleas and answer you with loving-kindness. Though a thousand other duties and relationships may cry out to Him, He will always have time for you.



Jesus' Words "Amen, Amen"

Amen comes from the Hebrew word for faith or faithfulness. When used as a verb, this word meant "to establish, support, or make certain."

Amen is one of those unique Hebrew words that has followed the Gospel into every language in which it has been preached. Most people are familiar with amen as a conclusion for prayers. When used in this way, amen means "may it be so" or "may this prayer be fulfilled." In John's Gospel, amen takes on a different sense. When doubled up at the beginning of a Scripture passage, amen means "truly," "verily," or "surely."

John is the only Gospel writer to feature this double amen. He records numerous examples of Christ saying, "Amen, amen," as He is about to present a new thought. In the ESV, the double amen translates as "Truly, truly," which ties beautifully to John's words that Christ is full of grace and truth (1:14) and Christ's own words, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life" (14:6). To learn more about Jesus' double amen, study the following chart.

In each case, the "Amen, amen" statements confront those who do not understand Jesus or who doubt His message. Jesus uses this phrase again and again, almost like one uses an oath today, affirming His testimony.

As you read Jesus' words recorded by the apostle John, recognize that Christ knows your need. His teaching brims with blessings for your life. Receive His Word in faith, affirming each promise with "Amen, amen! Yes, yes, it shall be so!"

The Witness of "I AM"

Throughout the Old Testament, the most frequent name for God is "Yahweh," used over 5,000 times. This Hebrew name for God comes from God Himself, as Moses records. When Moses asked God by what name He desired to be called, God replied, " I AM WHO I AM" (Ex 3:14). When Moses began preaching to the Israelites, he explained to them, " 'He Is' sent me." Or, literally in Hebrew, "Yahweh sent me."

The Gospel of St John builds on this Old Testament event and this personal name for God in order to explain who Jesus is. The Jewish people of Jesus' day knew Moses' story about "I AM" and Moses' preaching in the name of "He Is." This name for God was so sacred that they would never utter it. In view of this background, imagine the outrage of the Pharisees when Jesus described Himself by repeatedly using the phrase "I am." Based on the Greek original, here are the places in John where Christ refers to Himself as "I am": 4:26; 6:20, 35, 41, 48, 51; 8:12, 24, 28, 58; 9:9; 10:7, 9, 11, 14; 11:25; 13:19; 14:6; 15:1, 5; 18:5–6, 8.

The following examples will explain Jesus' statements and help you better understand who Jesus is.

I Am the Bread of Life

John records various times when Christ described Himself as “I am” followed with a statement about bread. Christ refers to Himself as “the bread of life” (6:35, 48). He is “the bread that came down from heaven” (6:41) and “the living bread” (6:51). The Jews were stunned. “How can this man give us His flesh to eat?” Their grumbling leads Christ to add that He is “the bread that came down from heaven” (6:4).

In speaking these words, Christ drew a parallel between His life and the manna God provided during the exodus. Christ taught the Pharisees: “In the desert, God provided manna. This manna kept your ancestors alive; however, because of original sin, they eventually died. Like the manna God provided, I came from heaven, but I give eternal life” (6:32–33, paraphrase; cf vv 48–51; Ps 78:23–33).

According to John, Christ’s teaching on the bread of life was a pivotal point in His ministry. Because of Christ’s words about eating and drinking His flesh and blood, many disciples “no longer walked with Him” (Jn 6:66). They found His teachings too difficult. Yes, just as food is necessary for earthly life, Christ is necessary for life eternal.

I Am the Light of the World

At the beginning of the Gospel, John called Christ "the light of men" (1:4). In 8:12, we learn where John first heard the term light used in reference to Christ. The term came from Christ Himself as He addressed the Pharisees in the temple court near the place where offerings were put (8:13, 20). Historically, the Pharisees were aware of the messianic prophecies about light found in passages such as Is 42:6 and Dn 2:22. Therefore, speaking in terms the Jews would understand, Christ witnessed that He fulfilled these prophecies. However, Christ does not stop there. He followed His words "I am the light" by quickly adding "of the world" (Jn 8:12). By adding this phrase, Christ testified that He is the fulfillment of God's plan for Jews and Gentiles alike (Is 49:6).

The second mention of Jesus as the "light of the world" occurs in Jn 9:5. This teaching prepares people for the healing of a blind man. Again, it is addressed to the Pharisees. Soon after calling Himself "the light of the world," Christ offered proof of His power over blindness, fulfilling Is 29:18; 35:5. Christ, the light of the world, brought light into the blind man's darkness.

Some scholars suggest that the blind man symbolized the Gentile nations, which received the light after the Jews rejected it. However, if symbolism is involved, it is most likely that the blind man symbolized all sinners, who languish in darkness until the light (Christ) shines in their lives. The brilliance of His glory will open your eyes!

I Am the Door

In ancient times, sheep were kept in walled enclosures with only one entrance. Jesus calls Himself the door (Jn 10:7, 9), for only through Him will true shepherds (pastors and other faithful witnesses) enter to guide the lost sheep. Christ addresses this teaching to the Pharisees. He accuses them of providing false witness. Christ provides the test for who is a true and faithful shepherd. True shepherds do not proclaim themselves, but the Lord. Christ alone provides our security.

I Am the Good Shepherd

The Pharisees knew the Old Testament passages in which humanity was called God's "sheep" and God their "shepherd" (Ps 23:1). Therefore, in His first "I am the good shepherd" pronouncement, Christ tells the Pharisees that, unlike a hired hand who watches the sheep and runs at the slightest hint of danger, a good shepherd protects His sheep, even to the point of death (10:11).

In His second "I am the good shepherd" pronouncement, Christ spoke pointedly. He would die for His sheep; that includes you and me. John mentions that Christ spoke of "sheep that are not of this fold" (10:16). Those of Christ's fold are the Jews, while those not of this fold are the Gentiles. Christ aimed His words at the traditional Jewish notion that salvation was for Jews alone. Christ also takes aim at our self-righteousness. His words teach each generation of believers to follow the Good Shepherd instead of contenting themselves with the idea that they walk with the right sheep.

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

Jesus' last "I am" statement closes out the first part of the Gospel, which describes His travels and ministry. Lazarus, a friend of Jesus, is gravely ill. Mary and Martha, Lazarus's two sisters, send word to Jesus. Yet, He purposely stays away from Lazarus for two days, during which time Lazarus dies. Jesus tells His disciples that Lazarus has fallen asleep and that He is going to awaken him (11:11).

As we look at Christ's words today, it seems obvious that He is speaking about raising Lazarus from the dead. However, the disciples do not understand Christ's words as "Lazarus is dead," but only as "Lazarus is sleeping" (Jn 11:12–13). At this point, according to John, Christ tells His disciples specifically that Lazarus is not asleep, but dead. Jesus arrives at the home of Mary and Martha after Lazarus has been dead four days, his body in decay (11:39).

Perhaps you are wondering why John is so precise about recording how long Lazarus was in the tomb and that his corpse was in decay. Medical techniques were not as sophisticated then as they are today, and it was possible for someone to have a seizure, be pronounced dead, be laid in a tomb, and then recover. John wants his readers to know Lazarus was indeed dead and decaying.

As is the custom today, friends and relatives were coming to Mary and Martha's home to offer their condolences. In ancient times, the mourning period would last an additional three days. As Jesus approaches, Martha goes to meet Him. She confesses her belief in Christ's God-given power. She knew Christ could heal the sick. However, she has no idea Christ could raise the dead. Then Christ utters the key words of our text: "I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in Me, though he die, yet shall he live, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall never die" (11:25–26). What a wonderful testimony Christ offers Martha, as if to say, "The Father and I are one. Death has no power over the believer. Martha, live by the Holy Spirit, that you may know that I bring eternal life. Physical death no longer holds Lazarus captive. I have broken death's hold." Does Martha believe Christ's words? He asks. Her confession gushes forth, "Yes, Lord; I believe that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is coming into the world" (11:27).

Conclusion

Christ intended that His “I am” statements would lead others to faith. His prayer offered just before He raised Lazarus demonstrates this: “I said this on account of the people standing around, that they may believe that You [God] sent Me” (11:42).

For Jewish readers, John’s Gospel emphasizes that Jesus is Yahweh, come down among men. For other readers, John emphasizes that the one true God created and sustains the physical universe. For you and all generations, John affirms that there is no other Savior. Jesus is our bread, light, door, shepherd, and life.

God's Work in Healing and Suffering

I met Lydia in college through a mutual friend. She was a good student, a talented musician with a great sense of humor, and she was very easy to talk to. For all of these reasons, Lydia had a bright future. Yet one thing seemed to dominate Lydia's life. She wanted to see.

As I recall, Lydia was born blind. For years, she sought healing for her blindness. She prayed that God would heal her. She visited the healing services of various churches and famous faith healers. But she always came away disappointed. Often she was told that God would heal her if she just had enough faith. She longed to have the faith the healers commanded. Outwardly, she remained confident that God would heal her. Inwardly, she wondered why God had not healed her.

Lydia's story raises many questions about miracles and the pursuit of miracles. Clearly, the Bible teaches that God heals people either through providential care or through a miracle. However, this article will also show from Scripture that God often calls His people to endure suffering and loss in order "that the works of God might be displayed" (9:3).

Suffering and Healing

Jesus healed many people during His ministry in Galilee. He did not do miracles for every person He met. Scripture tells us, “He did not do many mighty works there [in Nazareth], because of their unbelief” (Mt 13:58). When some people demanded miraculous signs, Jesus rebuked them (Mt 12:39; 16:4; Jn 6:26). He did not perform miracles on demand.

The apostle Paul testifies that Jesus specifically told him He would not be healed of his “thorn” in the flesh (2Co 12:7–10). Paul explains that the Lord let him suffer in order that Paul might remain humble. Several Old Testament examples show that God has even caused illness among His people. He caused Moses to have a leprous hand to demonstrate His miraculous power to Pharaoh (Ex 4:6–7). In Nu 12, God caused Miriam to have leprosy because she spoke against her brother Moses. In Nu 21:4–9, the Lord sent poisonous serpents among His people to punish them. He healed many, but many also died. And who could overlook the example of Job? He, too, suffered great loss in his family, health, and fortune. In this case, the Lord allowed Satan to test Job’s faith through suffering and ill health (Jb 1:6–2:10).

In view of these examples, it is too simple to say that God wants His people to enjoy perfect health. We should not expect miracles on our terms. All these things are subject to God’s greater purposes. He allows suffering and brings healing where and when He wills.

The Man Born Blind

No story shows God's use of suffering and miracles more clearly than the story in Jn 9 of the man born blind. When the disciples saw the blind man, they asked, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" (v 2). Jesus' answer gives us a peek behind the scenes, a look at God's purpose in Jesus' miracles. "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents," said Jesus, "but that the works of God might be displayed in him" (v 3). With these words, Jesus frees us from the notion that all physical conditions, sicknesses, or sufferings come as punishment from God. He introduces us to the great truth that God works His will and good purpose through our suffering and loss.

Take some time to read the rest of this story in Jn 9 to see how it all works out. Notice that Jesus does give sight to the man, but that is not the end of the man's suffering. The Pharisees interrogate him. They throw him out of the synagogue. But in the midst of this new suffering, he testifies that God is at work through His Son, Jesus (vv 32–33). The man comes to know Jesus as the Messiah and the Savior (vv 35–38). The story shows how God works through suffering and miracles for this greater purpose—that the works of God might be displayed (v 3).

The Work of God

When faith healers told Lydia that she did not have enough faith, they did not point Lydia to "the works of God," but to her own works. They failed to encourage her to trust her Maker and His greater purpose above all earthly blessings. To be frank, they sinned against her, treating her like an unbeliever rather than as a dear child of the heavenly Father. They failed to see that God works through physical conditions, loss, and suffering as well as through miracles. They directed her away from the point of Jesus' own suffering and miraculous resurrection: her salvation from sin, death, and the power of the devil.

Do not be blinded by popular notions about miracles or suffering. Trust your Lord. Look for His blessings in the midst of all circumstances, and seek opportunities to glorify "the works of God" through Jesus, your Savior. Know that God works in your life right now whether you see 20/20 or are totally blind. Certainly pray for miracles. But also praise the Lord for working through more than miracles, for working through suffering, pain, loss, and even death.

On the cross, Jesus suffered in complete weakness to remove your spiritual blindness. At your Baptism, He washed your spiritual eyes and cleansed your soul. Through His suffering, He grants healing and all the blessings of heaven. Though now you may live in weakness, as did Job and the apostle Paul, the power of almighty God rests upon you and works through you. His "grace is sufficient for you" (2Co 12:9). God saves you and sustains you through Jesus Christ.

Love: Inclusive or Exclusive?

When John introduces the events of Maundy Thursday evening, he tells us that Jesus loved "His own who were in the world" (13:1). John clearly sees two groups of people in the world: those who belong to Jesus and the rest of humanity. The same distinction appears throughout the record of Jesus' comments and prayer that evening. For example, in 15:19, Jesus remarks that the world (unbelieving humanity) hates His disciples, just as it hates Him. He states that the world would love them as its own if they had their origin and values from the world. In the High Priestly Prayer (ch 17), Jesus identifies His followers as those whom the Father has given to Him "out of the world" (17:6).

Does this mean that God loved only those who believed in Jesus and hated the rest of humanity? By no means! Even though in John's Gospel "the world" and "the ruler of this world" designate God's human and demonic enemies (cf 12:31; 14:17, 30; 15:18–19), God loved the world so much that He willingly paid the cost of salvation and gave His only-begotten Son (3:16). Jesus did not come primarily to judge the world but to save it (12:47; cf 3:17). For this reason, Jesus established His Church, that the Gospel might go into all parts of the world for the purpose of salvation (17:21).

Exclusively through Christ

To the ancient peoples, the gods acted much like modern organized crime. You did your religious duty to keep them off your back and out of your lives (like a protection racket) or to entice them to do you a favor. Judaism's message to the world that there is one and only one God (Dt 6:4) ran counter to religious thought across the world. Christianity struggled alongside Judaism because it proclaimed a similar message: the God who reveals Himself in the Holy Scriptures is the only real God in all the world.

But Christianity went further. This one God has provided one and only one way of salvation throughout the ages. Only by trusting in the living God can any human being receive salvation (a point Paul makes forcefully in Rm 3:27–31). Not all religions lead to the true God. In fact, Jesus makes the claim that He and only He can lead us to God. "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me" (Jn 14:6).

Church teachers sometimes call this the "scandal of particularity." In the original language of the New Testament, the word scandal refers to the trigger of a fatal trap. Particularity means "uniqueness," a claim to being the only thing of its kind in the world. Christians went out into the world with the scandalous message that Jesus saves people from their sins. They did not preach that Jesus was a way of salvation or that He was one option among many. Only Jesus, true God and true man, could lead people to the love of God the Father. Outside of faith in Jesus, no one would have God's love, grace, and forgiveness.

Apart from a personal faith in Jesus, no one in all the world throughout all history could be saved. This created a stumbling block for early Christians, because it meant they could not worship the gods of their neighbors. They could not worship Caesar and therefore were labeled atheists by their pagan neighbors. Even some of their Jewish brothers and sisters persecuted and killed them, thinking God wanted them to eradicate Christians.

Inclusive in Christ

What does this mean for ordinary Christians? It means that we have the most important mission on earth. We share the Good News of Jesus Christ with the world. We have the only cure for the eternal illness that infects every human being on the face of our planet. Only through faith in Jesus Christ can any human being in any place on earth receive God's love, forgiveness of sins, and eternal life. We have the Great Commission to teach all nations, a matter of eternal life and death.

As you gather with fellow believers, rejoice that God has made you a partaker of His blessings in Christ. You are one of His own, just as surely as Jesus' handpicked apostles. God makes you His own through His only-begotten Son.

Love for the Vineyard

God took Israel out of Egypt and planted them in Canaan, as one plants a vine (Ps 80:8–11). He had used good stock, so that He would harvest fruit of exceptional quality. Yet Israel had turned into a wild vine, producing no usable fruit at all (Jer 2:21). As a result, God uprooted His vineyard in the sixth century BC, as He threatened in Ezk 15. (Cf Ezk 19:10–14 for a picture of God's vineyard in the desert of exile.)

Of all the Old Testament prophets, Isaiah develops the image of vine and vineyard with the most detail. In Is 5:1–7, he describes God's gracious election of Israel and the care He lavished on her in Canaan. God spared no expense in establishing His beloved vineyard in the choicest land. Yet when He looked for its fruit, He found none. As a result, God promised to dismantle the protective walls and tower, dry up the vineyard, and destroy its vines.

The True Vine

Contrast the harsh Law of Ezekiel and Isaiah with the comforting Gospel of Jesus in Jn 15:1–8. Jesus picks up this vineyard metaphor, used so often in the Old Testament, to comfort His troubled disciples on the evening before He ascended the cross. Like the prophets, Jesus pictures God as the owner and caretaker of the vineyard. Like the Old Testament authors, Jesus talks about good fruit from His choice vines. What is different? Jesus Himself!

Living branches live because they remain in Christ. Because they remain in Him by faith, grafted into the true Vine, they produce the fruit that God has always looked for from His people. God "cleans away" the dead branches and "cleans up" the living ones (reflecting a wordplay in the original Greek). Believers (living branches) are "clean" because of the Word that Jesus has spoken to them. Those who continue with genuine faith in Jesus bear much good fruit, all to the glory of God the Father.

Grafted into the Vine

So what is this fruit we are to bear? Isaiah offers us a hint. In Is 5:7, he says that God looked for justice and righteousness but found only violence and oppression. Paul also provides a helping hand with our question. In Gal 5:22–23, he describes the fruit of the Spirit as "love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control." We see that "good fruit" involves our attitudes and our treatment of those around us. "Love your neighbor as yourself" (Lv 19:18).

God has grafted us into the true Vine, Jesus, at our Baptism. Watered by His Word, nurtured by His body and blood, and filled with His Spirit, we live for Him rather than for ourselves. He has shown us what love looks like by His sacrifice on the cross. That same self-giving love becomes the motivation for how we treat others in our lives—family, friends, strangers, and enemies. We depend exclusively on Jesus Christ and Him crucified for our salvation. In Him we bear much fruit.

The Spirit in John's Gospel

John frequently describes the work of the Holy Spirit in his Gospel. Study the following chart to receive a clearer understanding of the Holy Spirit's work in the lives of the apostles and in your life.

Four passages in John's Gospel describe the work of the Holy Spirit in an even more intimate way than does the Old Testament: 1:33; 7:39; 14:17; 20:22. Whereas the Old Testament repeatedly spoke of the Holy Spirit coming upon someone, Jesus speaks of the Holy Spirit dwelling in a believer. The Spirit dwells in believers through their Baptism into Christ (cf Ezk 36:25–27 for a prophecy of this), through the Lord's Supper, and in the revelation of God's love and salvation in Jesus Christ. In this way, John's Gospel emphasizes the abiding presence of the Holy Spirit, supporting and comforting believers with Christ's gift of peace.

God Is Three-in-One

God Is One

When Moses asks God for His name, God replies, "I AM WHO I AM…. Say this to the people of Israel, 'I AM has sent me to you' " (Ex 3:14). He is the only true God. All other gods are imaginary, idols that mislead people from the true God. God is truth; idols are lies. God calls people to faith, while idols confirm lost souls in their estrangement from the Creator. God challenges people to live holy lives. In contrast, idols give permission for sinners to sin with abandon. Even though the world thinks that many gods and many lords exist (as Paul notes in 1Co 8:5), only one God truly lives (as Paul goes on to confirm in v 6).

In His High Priestly Prayer (Jn 17), Jesus confesses the fundamental truth that only one God exists (v 3). He describes eternal life as knowing the only true God and the One He has sent, Jesus Christ. He also talks about God as His Father and speaks about the Holy Spirit as someone distinct from the Father and the Son.

God in Three Persons

Jesus often speaks of God as Father. (John records uses of "Father" some 60 times in chs 12–21.) He mentions God the Holy Spirit five times in this section. In prayer, Jesus also calls Himself the Son of God (17:1). Both the evangelist (20:31) and Jesus' enemies (19:7) recognize the fact that Jesus claims a unique Sonship with the Father. His relationship with the Father is so close that He is able to say, "I and the Father are one" (10:30).

In 3:16–18, Jesus identifies Himself as the "only begotten" Son (the translation "only Son" somewhat misses the point). The Father "begets" the Son and always has. Yet the Son is truly God (1:1). John even calls Him the "only begotten God" (1:18, author's translation). The Spirit, on the other hand, proceeds from the Father (15:26) and the Son (Rm 8:9–11; Ac 16:7; Php 1:19; 1Pt 1:11).

In this way, God reveals Himself as one God. The Son of God is begotten of the Father from eternity. No matter how far back we look, the Son lives with the Father. Likewise, the Spirit proceeds eternally from the Father and the Son. The Spirit carries out the will of the Father by leading people to the Son (16:13).

Triune Savior

God's ways are higher than our ways. Though He reveals Himself to us in the Scriptures, we cannot fully grasp who He is. But a mathematic illustration may help us begin to understand.

1 + 1 + 1 cannot equal 1. However, 1 × 1 × 1 does equal 1!

Just as multiplication is a higher form of math than addition, so God's ways are higher than ours. Our heavenly Father does not ask us to understand His triune nature. He asks us to trust in Him and leave the details to Him.

As you ponder the mystery of who God is, also turn your attention to what God does. God has not revealed His triune nature in order to confuse you. He desires to show you the many aspects of His love and work of salvation.

Study Notes

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:1 beginning. Before creation. Word. Gk logos ; cf Eng "logic" and "-ology," referring to reason, meaning, and study. Describes not only divine self-expression, but the pre-existent Christ, as the following shows. See p 1012. Word was God. Fully God, but distinguished from the Father. Chrys: "The Father was never without the Word, but He was always God with God, yet Each in His proper Person" (NPNF 1 14:17). Aug: "We are speaking of God; what marvel if you do not comprehend? For if you comprehend, He is not God…. To reach to God in any measure by the mind, is a great blessedness; but to comprehend Him, is altogether impossible" (NPNF 1 6:459).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:3 All things. Gk panta ; emphasizes Jesus' priority and supremacy over creation. through. Indicates that Jesus is the Father's agent in creation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:4 life was the light of men. OT clearly taught that God gave life to people through His Word. Wisdom and the Law (Torah) are light (Ps 119:105, 130; Pr 6:23; see pp 775–78). Now the incarnate Word—the light of the world—has come to give life eternal. Contrasts between light and darkness are common in the Jewish Dead Sea Scrolls (first century BC) and should not be attributed to ancient Gnosticism, as some interpreters have wrongly concluded.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:5 darkness. The world estranged from God, spiritually ignorant and blind. "The Scriptures flatly call natural man in spiritual and divine things darkness…. (that is, in the dark, blind world, which does not know or regard God)" (FC SD II 10). Aug: "As in the case of a blind man placed in the sun, the sun is present to him, but he is absent from the sun" (NPNF 1 7:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:6 sent. Gk apostello, "to send." See "apostle," p 1901. from God. Luth: "He did not come on his own, unauthorized…. He was to rap at the doors, arouse the Jews, and testify of the Lord" (AE 22:43). John. Son of the priest Zechariah and his wife, Elizabeth (Lk 1:5–25, 57–80). Name means "the Lord has been gracious." He bore witness to the truth, as Jn 5:33 indicates.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:7–8 Him. Not John, but Jesus Christ. Through the Light, and only through Him, do we come to saving faith.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:9 enlightens everyone. Not that everyone is saved (universalism), but Christ made satisfaction for everyone (universal justification; see p 1906). Salvation requires the gift of faith that holds to Christ. Although He came for everyone, not everyone trusts in Him.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:10 in the world. Christ, as God, is present everywhere. world did not know Him. The created order (esp sinful human beings) in rebellion against its Creator.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:11 His own. Lit, "His own things," or property. Here, the Lord's chosen people of the OT, His household. See "portion," p 7.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:12 receive Him. Synonymous with believing. right. Gk exousia, "freedom," "authority." Christ authorizes us to become God's children by grace through faith in Him.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:13 Luth: "These words are the evangelist's confutation, as it were, to all those who lay claim to anything within themselves of which they may boast. However good or rich it may be, or however much of it there may be, it contributes nothing toward becoming a child of God" (AE 22:90). of God. The work, the new birth, is from God. Luth: "[Jesus] alone imparts this birth, granting believers in Him the privilege, the right, and the power to become God's children" (AE 22:101). See note, 3:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:14 Word became flesh. God's Word was embodied. Jn elsewhere refers to Jesus' humanity (4:6; 11:35; 19:28). "The Word, that is, the Son of God [John 1:14], assumed the human nature in the womb of the Blessed Virgin Mary. So there are two natures—the divine and the human—inseparably joined in one person. There is one Christ, true God and true man" (AC III 1–2). "The divine essence is not changed into the human nature. But the two natures, unchanged, are personally united" (FC SD VII 36). dwelt among us … glory. In the OT, God revealed His glory in the tabernacle. When Christ took on flesh, He dwelt, or "tabernacled," among His people (see "glory of the LORD," pp 6–7; see also p 495). God's glory was manifest in Christ throughout His entire ministry, but esp in His submission to the cross (see notes, Php 2:7, 8). Chrys: "We admire Him not only on account of the miracles, but also by reason of the sufferings; as that He was nailed upon the Cross" (NPNF 1 14:42). full of grace and truth. Cf Ex 34:6. In Christ, the Lord is faithful to His promise to be gracious. See "grace," p 1902.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:15 Luth: "Christ the Lord existed before His incarnation and, therefore, prior to [John] … with respect to [Christ's] divinity" (AE 22:129).
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:16 grace upon grace. Luth: "Christ … is an interminable well, the chief source of all grace, truth, righteousness, wisdom, and life, without limit, measure, or end" (AE 22:134). See p 1902.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:17 A contrast of intensity rather than quality. God gave the Law (Torah) through Moses in preparation for the full revelation of His grace and truth (i.e., Christ). The instruction of the Law prepares the way for the Gospel. See p xxxi–xxxii.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:18 No one has ever seen God. Chrys: "[The prophets saw] instances of (His) condescension, not the vision of the Essence itself unveiled" (NPNF 1 14:51). See p 39. only. Gk monogenes, "only-begotten"; expresses Christ's divinity and origin from the Father, and thus His complete uniqueness from all other beings. at the Father's side … made Him known. Whoever saw Christ, therefore, saw the Father (cf 14:9), in whom Christ was always abiding.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:1–18 By taking on human flesh, God the Son comes into the world He created. He graciously brings deliverance from spiritual darkness and authorizes believers to become God's children. Those who do not receive Christ by faith remain in darkness. Christ, the true light, has overcome the darkness, and He promises His forgiving grace to you and all people. • O Word made flesh, be present with me this day, and fill me with Your limitless grace. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19 Jews. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775. priests and Levites. See p 228. Probably members of the Council (the Sanhedrin; see p 1556). They would have understood issues surrounding ritual purification (i.e., baptism) raised by John's ministry. See note, Mk 7:3–4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:20 Christ. See p 2098.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:21 Are you Elijah? Elijah, who had never died (2Ki 2:11), was expected to come again (Mal 4:5) as the forerunner of the Messiah. The prophecy concerning Elijah was fulfilled in John the Baptist (Mt 17:12; Mk 9:13), though John was not Elijah returned from heaven. the Prophet? See note, Jn 6:14.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:23 one crying out in the wilderness. John announces a new exodus. God will soon deliver His people from sin's captivity through His Son. Make straight the way. Through John's preaching of repentance and Baptism, God prepared people spiritually. See pp 1565–66.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:24 Pharisees. See p 1557.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:25 why are you baptizing. See note, Mt 3:6; see also p 1369.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:26 baptize with water. John's Baptism was preparatory in nature. See note, v 23.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:27 not worthy to untie. Compared to the Son of God, John was unworthy of even a slave's task.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:28 Not the Bethany near Jerusalem, but the town east of the Jordan River, closer to Galilee and north of Jericho. See map, p 1584.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19–28 John testifies to Jewish leaders asking, "Who are you?" that he is not the Christ but was sent to prepare the way for Him. As a faithful servant, John sets an example of humility and reverence for us. Ironically, the One whose sandal John was unworthy to untie became the Suffering Servant, who bore all our sins. • O Christ, prepare a royal highway in my heart, that I may receive You in steadfast humility and joy. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:29 next day. Day following events/day of vv 19–28. In 1:19–2:1, John may not be using precise reckoning of time but may be creating a comparison with the six-day week of creation. He began his account with creation themes from Genesis, including reference to "light" (which forms days; vv 1–4) and water (an important element of creation; vv 26–34). Vv 19–51 suggest a passage of four days (day 1, vv 19–28; day 2, vv 29–34; day 3, vv 35–42; day 4, vv 43–51). At 2:1, John begins to count again, starting on day 4. So, "on the third day" (2:1) would make a total of six days—a week that ends with yet another Genesis theme: the blessing of marriage (cf Gn 1:28; 2:18–25). On expressions for time and reckoning, see p 1567. John ends his account with another six-day period: Holy Week (12:1). Lamb of God. A fulfillment of OT prophecy. Cf Ex 12. takes away. Gk airo, "bearing off," "getting rid of," or "carrying away." John the Baptist alluded to the scapegoat carrying the people's sins away (Lv 16:21–22). Luth: "[The Son of God] says to me: 'You are no longer a sinner, but I am. I am your substitute…. All your sins are to rest on Me and not on you' " (AE 22:167). sin of the world! Sin of every person in the entire world throughout human history. See note, 2Co 5:21.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:31 did not know Him. John knew Jesus (they were cousins; cf Lk 1:36), but until Jesus was baptized, John did not know that He was the Messiah (cf v 33). revealed to Israel. As the forerunner of Christ, John's mission was to make Jesus manifest as Messiah to His own nation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:32 saw the Spirit. John saw the Spirit remain on Christ (v 33), thus anointing Him as the Messiah. See notes, Mk 1:10; Lk 3:22. dove. Cf Gn 8:8–12. An animal associated with the services of the temple. Cf Lv 1:14; Lk 2:24; see p 1815.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:33 said to me. John the Baptist, like the OT prophets, received direct revelation from God. baptizes with the Holy Spirit. The One upon whom the Spirit came at His Baptism now gives the Spirit through Holy Baptism (Ti 3:5). Luth: "Thus our Baptism in Christ, in which He gives us remission of sin, baptizing us with the Holy Spirit and with forgiveness, remains and continues to be effective" (AE 22:179). See note, Mk 1:10.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:34 Son of God. Title bears witness to God the Father's words from heaven (Mt 3:17; Mk 1:11; Lk 3:22) declaring Christ's unique relationship to His Father (cf Ps 2). Jesus is "very God of very God, begotten, not made" (Nicene Creed). See note, Jn 1:18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:29–34 John the Baptist testifies that Jesus is the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world—the very Son of God, on whom the Holy Spirit rested at His Baptism. Today, the Lord gives His Spirit in Holy Baptism. To regard Christian Baptism as a symbolic act is to despise a precious treasure. In Baptism, Jesus Christ has taken away our sin, and the Spirit daily assures us of His merciful goodness toward us. • O Lamb of God, send Your Spirit with Your gracious pardon, and silence my accusing conscience. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:35 his disciples. One was Andrew (v 40); the other may have been John, the author.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:36 Lamb of God! Cf v 29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:38 Rabbi. See note, Mk 9:5. where are You staying? Not an unreasonable question; they want to find out where to receive this new rabbi's teaching. staying? Lit, "abiding." See note, Jn 6:56.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:39 tenth hour. 10 a.m. according to Roman time, which John seems to use. He reckons time differently from the other Gospels. See "John's Calendar," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:40 Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. Assumes readers' knowledge of previous Gospels or Christian teaching as Peter is not previously introduced in Jn. Andrew came to Christ first and led his well-known brother to the Lord.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:41 Messiah. See "Anointed," p 1227.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:42 John? Peter's father, Jonah of Bethsaida (cf Mt 16:17). Cephas. See notes, Mt 4:18; 1Co 1:12.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:43 Galilee. See color map 4. Philip. Like Andrew and Peter, he had a Gk name. Follow Me. Christ's powerful call makes Philip His follower and an apostle. See notes, Mt 4:20; Mk 1:17.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:44 Bethsaida. See color map 4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:45 Nathanael. Probably Bartholomew, paired with Philip in the other Gospels (Mt 10:3; Mk 3:18; Lk 6:14; cf Ac 1:13). prophets. The Law of the prophet Moses and the other Prophets (cf Lk 24:44); another way of referring to the OT. Nazareth. Jesus' hometown (Mt 4:13; Mk 1:9; Lk 1:26; 2:4, 51; 4:16–44). See color map 4. Joseph. Legal, earthly father of Jesus; of Davidic descent (Mt 1:6, 16; Lk 3:31).
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:46 anything good come out of Nazareth? See note, Mt 2:23. Chrys: "His mode of living was ordinary, and His garments not better than those of the many. For He was not girt with a leathern girdle, nor was His raiment of hair, nor did He eat honey and locusts. But He fared like all others, and was present at the feasts of wicked men and publicans, that He might draw them to Him" (NPNF 1 14:55). Luth: "Christ chooses as His apostles the poorest and lowliest He can find" (AE 22:192). Yet see also p 1780. Come and see. Invitation to discard preconceived notions and to believe in the fulfillment of the OT.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:47 First demonstration of Jesus' divine knowledge, giving credence to Philip's words (vv 45–46) and verifying the OT's teaching that true Israelites will come to Christ. no deceit! Nathanael will speak the truth about Jesus (v 49).
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:48 I saw you. Evidence that Christ is all-knowing, a running theme in Jn.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:49 You are the Son of God! … King of Israel! See note, v 34. The Messiah has a special relationship not only to God but also to God's holy nation. The Son of God is Israel's royal Messiah. See pp 1565–66.
JOHN—NOTE ON 1:50 greater things. See note, v 51.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:51 Truly. From Hbr 'aman ; verb meaning "to confirm" (source of Eng "Amen"). Stresses importance of something said. In the Gospels, it is used only by Jesus; in John's Gospel, it is usually doubled. See p 1784. you will see heaven opened. Heaven opened in Jacob's dream at Bethel and also at Jesus' Baptism. God has revealed and continues to reveal the way to Himself through Jesus, the Word made flesh (1:14; 14:6). Son of Man. See p 2098.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:35–51 When Jesus calls the first disciples, He reveals Himself to be the Messiah—the Son of God and Son of Man—the way to heaven. Today, people may still question Jesus' invitation to follow Him. Yet, Jesus overcomes unbelief through the Gospel testimony and graciously opens the way to heaven through His Word. • Son of God, give me the strength I need to follow You daily and to testify that You are the only Savior. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:1 third day. See note, 1:29. wedding. According to Jewish custom, the wedding feast typically lasted seven days. Many guests would remain the whole week, abstaining from work and sharing the new family's joy. The intertestamental document Tobit describes a Jewish wedding contract and extended feast (chs 7–8). Cana. C 9 mi N of Nazareth, on the north side of the Beit Netofa Valley, on a main route. See color map 4. mother of Jesus was there. Mary may have been related to the host family, or simply a close friend.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:2 with His disciples. Known and thus invited by the host family or welcomed with their Teacher.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:3 wine. Symbol in the OT of physical and spiritual joy (Gn 27:28; Ec 9:7), future hope (Is 25:6; Jl 2:19; Zec 10:6–7), and abundance (Jl 2:24; 3:18; Am 9:13). Running out of wine or having wine of poor quality at a wedding was a social blunder.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:4 Woman. A common and respectful greeting, though somewhat unusual for one's mother. Jesus may be speaking to her as a disciple. to do with Me? Or, "to do with Me and you?" My hour. Allusion to the hour of Jesus' death, when God will "lift up," or glorify, His Son (3:14; 8:28; 12:32).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:5 Mary is a model of faith. Cf Lk 1:38.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:6 stone water jars. In rabbinic thought, stone did not attract impurity, so the jars could be properly cleansed and reused. Archaeologists identify Jewish communities of the NT era by the presence of such stone jars and cups. Jewish rites of purification. Custom of washing utensils and esp hands before eating (see note, Mk 7:3–4). The transformation of the water in such vessels shows Jesus' power to purify and to provide.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:7 Table wine was typically prepared by mixing water with thick, syrupy wine. Jesus made the servants witnesses of the miracle because they saw that only water was used.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:8 draw. The jars were not used for pouring but as reservoirs (cf 4:7, 15). master of the feast. Chief steward in charge of the physical needs of the wedding guests.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:9 now become wine. Jesus' first recorded miracle (v 11). bridegroom. The servants, who had the lowest status, witnessed the miracle. Now the groom, who had the greatest status, was about to receive the wine.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:10 good wine. The feast's master recognized the wine's high quality, giving witness to the miracle's greatness.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:11 first. Lit, "beginning." signs. Gk semeia, meaning more than miracles; used 17 times in Jn. Signs reveal God's mind and work (cf 10:38). See "Jesus' Signs," p 1775. glory. See note, 1:14; see also p 1902. believed in Him. The disciples' faith in Jesus as the Messiah was strengthened through the miracle. Cf 4:46–54.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:12 down to Capernaum. Cana, in the hill country, was at an elevation higher than Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13; see also color map 4. His mother and His brothers and His disciples. The immediate family of Mary and Jesus (see note, Jn 7:3; cf Mk 6:3) were also guests at the wedding. The disciples were like extended family (cf Jn 20:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:1–12 Jesus, through whom all things were made (1:3), performs His first miracle ("sign") at a wedding at Cana in Galilee, manifesting His glory by turning water into wine. Today, take your concerns to Jesus in prayer. By His life, and at the hour of His death, Christ revealed His great mercy toward us, assuring us that no need escapes His care. • O Lord Jesus, give me confidence as I seek You in my hour of need. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13 Passover. See pp 200–201. The first Passover in Jesus' ministry likely took place in AD 30; first of three in Jn (6:4; 11:55; cf 12:1; 13:1; 18:28, 39; 19:14). up. Jerusalem, the capital, was at a higher elevation. See color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:14 selling oxen and sheep and pigeons. For the sacrifices prescribed by the Levitical code, performed during Passover. See pp 170–71. In the outer court of the Gentiles, merchants sold animals to the travelers because it was impractical for travelers to transport animals. Luther dubbed this "crass commercialism" (AE 22:220). money-changers. Travelers had to have their money exchanged into the local currency for the temple tax, which required Jewish coins (shekels) without human images. The on-site bankers charged an exorbitant exchange fee.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:15 whip of cords. Made of ropes used for animals in the temple. Symbol of Jesus' moral authority. drove them. Lit, "cast out, expel" (Gk ekballo). poured out the coins … overturned their tables. Christ revealed holy wrath, not a violent spirit.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:17 Luth: "Zeal is an angry love or a jealous love…. His anger does not arise from hatred; it springs from … love toward God" (AE 22:233–34). Christ's zeal revealed His relationship with God and the people of His house, Israel. See note, Ex 20:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:18 Jews. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775. sign … for doing these things? Visible proof or evidence to back up Jesus' authority. Cf Mt 21:23.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:19 Christ speaks prophetically of His impending death and resurrection.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:20 The Jews did not understand that Christ was referring to His physical body (see note, v 21), not to the Jerusalem temple that Herod had begun to build in c 20–19 BC (completed in AD 64, just before it was destroyed in AD 70).
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:21 temple of His body. Christ's human body, where God dwelt and was made manifest (see note, 1:14), was given as the ultimate sacrifice for the sins of the world.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:22 John gives away the conclusion of the Gospel, implying that the readers already know the full story.
JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13–22 With holy zeal, Jesus cleanses the temple, which has been turned into a marketplace, and He predicts His resurrection to those questioning His authority. When we disrespect God's Word and sacred things, He calls us to repentance. Christ's suffering, death, and resurrection reveal God's heart, which is zealous for those He loves. • O risen Lord, give me a heart that fervently clings to You and Your Word. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:23 believed in His name. Shallow and fickle faith based on the spectacular miracles and bold actions they saw. signs. See note, v 11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:24–25 He knew all people … knew what was in man. Christ put no confidence in these people because their faith was not genuinely directed toward Him as the Messiah. As the omniscient Son of God, Jesus knew the spiritual state of those coming to Him, that is, whether their faith was genuine.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:23–25 In Jerusalem, many come to believe in Jesus, but theirs is a superficial faith based mainly on the miracles they see. The all-knowing Christ calls us to abandon all outward pretense, to repent truly, and to trust Him fully. The Lord Jesus offers Himself in mercy and forgiveness to those who trust in Him. • O all-knowing Savior, forgive my secret sins and cover them with Your boundless love. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1 Pharisees. See p 1557. Their general view was that prophets were rare or had vanished. See pp 1553–58. Nicodemus, a ruler. Member of the Council (the Sanhedrin; see p 1556) who later spoke on Jesus' behalf and participated in providing Jesus an honorable burial.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:2 by night. So that his colleagues would not know. John's presentation of this encounter may symbolize those in the world who come out of evil darkness to Jesus, the light of the world (cf 3:19–21). no one can do these signs. Cf 2:23. For Nicodemus, these signs were legitimate indications of God's presence.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:3 born. Metaphor of salvation, favored by John. again. Gk anothen, "from above." Nicodemus either misunderstood Jesus' words, assuming human birth and effort, or began to play a word game by taking Jesus as literally as possible. But Jesus meant a spiritual rebirth that only God can effect from above. kingdom of God. In Jn, expression used only here and in v 5. Refers to the reign of God that came in the person of Jesus, on whom John focuses throughout. See pp 1565–66.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:5 born of water and the Spirit. Elaboration on v 3. The preposition "of" (Gk ek) governs both nouns. "Water" and "Spirit" therefore belong together and point to Christian Baptism. Aug: "We are born spiritually then, and in spirit we are born by the word and sacrament" (NPNF 1 7:82). "In the first place, we take up Baptism, by which we are first received into the Christian Church" (LC IV 2). "Reason and free will are able to live an outwardly decent life to a certain extent. But only the Holy Spirit causes a person to be born anew [John 3:5] and to have inwardly another heart, mind, and natural desire" (FC SD II 26). See p 1369.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:6 flesh is flesh. Human nature as it derives from natural, physical birth (cf 1:13). See p 1902. Spirit is spirit. Spiritual life comes only by the Holy Spirit.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:7 born again. See note, v 3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:8 wind. No human being can understand, govern, or control the wind's movement. Jesus urged Nicodemus to discard his narrowly naturalistic view of human beings, as well as any presumption that they produce new birth. The new birth is an act of God (cf 1:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:10 Nicodemus professed to know—surprisingly—what he did not grasp. the teacher of Israel. Definite article "the" suggests that Nicodemus was a recognized teacher among his contemporaries.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:11 we. Christ speaks for the OT prophets (He is "the Prophet"; cf 4:19; 6:14; 7:40; 9:17) and the new Christian community, the Church. Nicodemus and the entire community he represented were blind to this testimony.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:12 Nicodemus struggled to understand the need for spiritual birth on earth. How then would he ever understand the heavenly nature and powers behind such a spiritual birth produced by the Holy Spirit? Jesus' sayings were often enigmatic to His hearers. See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:13 Son of Man. See p 2098. Luth: "[Jesus] calls Himself the Son of Man who has His existence both on earth and in heaven [simultaneously]" (AE 22:321).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:14 lifted up. See note, Nu 21:9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1–15 Nicodemus, though "the teacher of Israel," shows that he cannot comprehend the Spirit's miraculous work of new birth through Baptism. Human reason, darkened by sin, cannot accept that God can grant spiritual rebirth through ordinary water used with His Word. But such a great promise has come from none other than the Son of Man, lifted up on the cross for our salvation! • O Holy Spirit, I praise You that You have given me new birth to a living hope through Christ's resurrection. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:16 loved. Gk agapao, used repeatedly in Jn; God's sacrificial and faithful love for the entire world alienated from God, that is, all humankind. the world. See note, 1:10. gave. God not only sent His Son but also offered Him to the world. He became our atoning sacrifice. His only Son. See note, 1:18. believes. "Whoever believes in [the Son of God, be it with a strong or with a weak faith,] may have eternal life. [John 3:15] Worthiness does not depend on the greatness or smallness, the weakness or strength of faith. Instead, it depends on Christ's merit" (FC SD VII 70–71). Luth: "Look at the words, I beseech you, to determine how and of whom He is speaking…. No one is here excluded. God's Son was given for all. All should believe, and all who do believe should not perish, etc. Take hold of your own nose, I beseech you, to determine whether you are not a human being (that is, part of the world) and, like any other man, [you] belong to the number of those comprised in the word 'all' " (WLS § 1859). perish. Eternal separation from God. Cf Is 66:24; Mk 9:48. "Out of His immense goodness and mercy, God provides for the public preaching of His divine eternal Law and His wonderful plan for our redemption, that of the holy, only saving Gospel of His eternal Son, our only Savior and Redeemer, Jesus Christ" (FC SD II 50).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:18 condemned. Under God's judgment. Luth: "All men are already condemned and imprisoned to be damned eternally, but the Son of God was given to us to redeem us from that judgment" (AE 22:380). already. The final judgment has moved into the present with the coming of His kingdom (cf Mt 3:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:19 judgment. Gk krisis; brings to mind the judicial process, including the adverse verdict brought on by rejecting the Son of God. See p 1903. the light. See note, 1:4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:20 wicked. Gk phaulos, "base." hates the light … be exposed. Those with low moral standards hate disclosure of their foul deeds, just as marauders of the night flee the light of day.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:21 does what is true. Aug: "He that does truth accuses his evil works in himself, spares not himself, forgives not himself, that God may forgive him: for that which he desires God to forgive, he himself acknowledges, and he comes to the light; to which he is thankful for showing him what he should hate in himself" (NPNF 1 7:86). carried out in God. God is at work in those who have responded to the Gospel (cf Php 2:13; 1Th 2:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:16–21 God gives His only Son as a sacrificial gift to deliver the world from condemnation and to give eternal life to those who believe in Him. When we continue in an immoral lifestyle, we naturally resist divine disclosure of our sin and thus our need for a Savior. Do not flee the light, but repent. God has revealed His strong love in His Son, Jesus Christ, to forgive your sins and give you life. • O heavenly Father, grant that my life may be a vivid testimony to Your sacrificial and faithful love in Christ. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:22 Judean countryside. Jesus left Jerusalem and headed north. baptizing. Jesus' disciples performed Baptisms and thus were instruments through whom He made disciples.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:23 Aenon near Salim. West of the Jordan c 5 mi S of Scythopolis. water was plentiful there. "Aenon" probably derives from Hbr 'ayin, "a spring." This suggests Aenon had the water necessary for John the Baptist's ministry.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:24 Shows that, for a while, John's ministry and Jesus' ministry occurred at the same time.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:25 Precise point of this dispute is not mentioned, but perhaps it centered on where true cleansing from sin was to be found among the various baptisms. See note, Mk 7:3–4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:26 they. John's disciples (v 25). Rabbi … all are going to Him. Their comment was prompted by envy because of Jesus' growing influence.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:27 John's ministry as the Messiah's forerunner depended completely on God's grace, ruling out all boasting and judgments of comparative worth.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:29 A wedding metaphor emphasizes the difference between the Bridegroom and His attendant friend ("best man"). The Bride, the Church, belongs to Jesus, not John (cf 2Co 11:2; Eph 5:25–33).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:30 John's preparatory ministry, of divine necessity, had to decrease once Christ appeared. How great was John's humility!

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:31–36 Likely commentary from the evangelist rather than reflection from John the Baptist.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:31 above all. Christ is absolutely preeminent and superior over all prophets because He came from heaven, not earth (cf 1:51). belongs to the earth. John the Baptist was of human origin, like the rest of humankind.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:32 what He has seen and heard. Builds on v 31. As true God, Jesus alone bore witness to knowledge from heaven.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:33 Whoever has faith in Christ "seals," or certifies, that God is truthful. See note, Jer 32:10. God is true. See note, Ti 1:2.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:34 gives the Spirit without measure. The Father gave the Holy Spirit to the Son without measure. This distinguished Jesus from all other recipients of the Spirit, including Israel's judges, kings, and prophets (cf Jgs 6:34; 1Sm 16:13; Mi 3:8). See p 1815.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:35 given all things. "To make alive, to have all judgment and all power in heaven and on earth, to have all things in His hands, to have all things subject beneath His feet, to cleanse from sin, and so on, are not created gifts. These are divine, infinite properties. Yet, according to the declaration of Scripture, these have been given and communicated to the man Christ" (FC SD VIII 55).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:36 obey the Son. Cf v 18. To believe in the Son (cf Rm 1:5). wrath of God. God will judge and condemn those who refuse to believe in Christ (Rm 1:18; 2:5; Mt 3:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:22–36 John the Baptist steps aside when Christ comes because Jesus is the Son of God from heaven and possesses the Holy Spirit without measure. God reveals His wrath against those who do not believe in His Son and deprives them of everlasting life. But He gives everlasting life to all who trust in Jesus. • Lord Jesus, give to me a full measure of Your Spirit, that I may always remain faithful to You and bear witness to You. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:1 The Pharisees were interested in the shifting religious influence, anticipating that this would affect them too.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:3 Jesus may have been avoiding premature conflict with the Pharisees, but He was also being led by the Father's direction.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:4 Jesus took the most direct path between Judea and Galilee. But God's will and plan also required this route for the sake of those in Samaria. See color map 4; see also "Samaritans," p 1557.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:5 Sychar. Probably the modern city of Askar, just east of Mount Gerizim and Mount Ebal, c 1 mi NE of Jacob's well. See color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:6 Jacob's well. Intercepts an underground stream. wearied. Reveals Jesus' true humanity. sixth hour. Depending on John's reckoning of time, the hour may be noon or 6 a.m. See p 1567.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:7–9 Give Me a drink. More than a simple request to satisfy thirst. By requesting water from her, Jesus ignored traditional hostility between Jews and Samaritans as well as denigrating attitudes toward women. See note, Lk 8:2–3; see also "Samaritans," p 1557.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:10 gift. Gk dorea, occurs only here in the Gospels; stresses God's bounty. See p 1902. living water. Hbr expression for flowing water. See note, Zec 14:8. Cf Jn 7:38–39, where the expression refers to the gift of the Holy Spirit, who creates new life (3:5; 6:63). Did : "Baptize into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, in living water" (ANF 7:379).
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:11 deep. According to archaeology, it was the deepest well in Israel at that time.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:12 Though surprised, the woman was confident that Jesus could not be greater than the patriarch.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:14 never be thirsty again. In contrast to the temporary satisfaction ordinary water brings. water welling up to eternal life. Metaphor of a bubbling spring pictures the life of the Holy Spirit within believers, which will come to full realization in eternity.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:16 Jesus was leading the woman to an understanding of her sin and guilt.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:17–18 The Lord revealed His divine omniscience, as in the case of Nathanael (1:48–49).
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:19 With the recognition that Jesus must be a prophet (cf 7:39), the woman took a step closer to identifying Him as Messiah.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:20 this mountain. Nearby Mount Gerizim, where, according to Josephus, the Samaritans built a temple in the fourth century BC. See "Samaritans," p 1557. Remains on Gerizim include ruins of a large building (66 ft by 66 ft) and courtyard.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:21 Woman. See note, 2:4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:22 salvation. Gk has a definite article, "the salvation," a subtle reference to the salvation Jesus alone brings. from the Jews. The Messiah Himself had to be from the tribe of Judah, according to the OT Scriptures.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:23 coming … now here. The hour was simultaneously coming and present, since Christ was in the midst of accomplishing everything the Father had sent Him to do. Cf Lk 4:18–19. spirit and truth. Because God is spirit, proper worship is not a matter of geographical location. True worship receives its genuine character from the Holy Spirit's activity. Father is seeking. God actively seeks people out to save them (cf Lk 19:10; 1Tm 2:4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:24 God is spirit. That God's essential nature is spiritual, not material, reinforces the teaching that people should worship "with the inclinations of the heart and by faith" (Ap XXIV 27). Aug: "Both the Father is a spirit and the Son is a spirit, and the Father is holy and the Son is holy….

[The Holy Spirit] is referred both to the Father and to the Son, because the Holy Spirit is the Spirit both of the Father and of the Son" (NPNF 1 3:93).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:25 Messiah … Christ. Samaritans believed a prophet like Moses would restore an era of divine favor. tell us all things. Perhaps reflects Samaritan views of the Messiah as teacher. Similar expectations appear in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:26 I … am He. Christ acknowledged that He was the Messiah, also using the enigmatic words "I am" (Gk ego eimi). See pp 1784–85.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:27 Jewish custom did not allow a rabbi to speak to a woman in public. The disciples were shocked but held their tongues. See note, Lk 8:2–3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:28 left her water jar. In her excitement, the woman forgot her purpose in coming to the well. town. Likely Sychar. See note, v 5.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:31–32 urging Him … Rabbi, eat. The disciples had left their Master tired and hungry when they went to buy food (v 8). Jesus turned the disciples' exhortation into an occasion for teaching.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:34 My. Emphatic in Gk. In contrast to the disciples' crassly physical misunderstanding (cf 2:20; 3:4; 4:15), Jesus gave "food" a higher spiritual meaning: His completion of the Father's mission to save the world (3:16). The OT idea of "portion" (see p 7) may figure into Jesus' riddle, bridging the ideas of food, work, and standing in the family.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:35 There are yet four months. Probably a proverbial saying, used to contrast the period of waiting before harvest with the urgent necessity of realigning priorities for spiritual harvest. harvest? On wheat and barley harvests, see calendar, p 262. white. Bleached and dried by the sun.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:36 fruit for eternal life. New believers being gathered into the kingdom of God. sower and reaper may rejoice together.

Emphasizes the urgency of the missionary task. While the sower goes out to sow, the harvest is already coming in. Sowing no longer entails waiting.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:38 Others. Perhaps the prophets before Jesus, such as John the Baptist, or maybe even Jesus Himself. entered into their labor. See note, Lk 10:2.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:40 Jesus had already put aside the division between Jews and Samaritans by speaking to the woman. Now the Samaritans asked Him to stay, something He did not experience in Jerusalem.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:41 Cf Rm 10:17.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:42 Savior of the world. Expression used only here and 1Jn 4:14, but Christ's objective—deliverance of the whole world—pervades NT teaching (e.g., Jn 3:16; 2Co 5:19).
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:44 Cf 1:11; why Jesus left Judea for Galilee. Both the Samaritans (vv 4–42) and Galileans (vv 43–54) received Him, while His own people in Judea did not. See note, Mt 13:57.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:45 all that He had done. Miracles Jesus performed while at Passover. The Galileans welcomed this great worker of miracles.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:1–45 Jesus graciously reaches out to a Samaritan woman, leads her to recognize Him as the Messiah, and through her brings other Samaritans to receive His life-giving blessings. Christians sometimes allow social and cultural barriers to hinder their witness to Christ and His love for all people. Just as Christ forgave the woman her past and present sins, He now freely offers His forgiving love to us and calls us to spread this Good News. • O Lord, let me experience the joy of freely sharing Your Word with others, whoever they may be. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:46 Mention of Cana and Jesus' miracle there suggests He was going to build on His past work. official. Gk basilikos, probably one of Herod Antipas's court officials. Or, possibly a relative of the royal (Herodian) family. See p 1557.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:48 you. Plural. Jesus was addressing all the Galileans. He did not want anyone to come to Him merely because of miracles He performed.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:50 believed the word. The official came to faith (v 53) without needing a visible sign. He simply believed what Jesus said.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:51 servants. See p 1904.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:52 seventh hour. See p 1567.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:53 believed. Genuine faith in Jesus as the Messiah and Savior of the world. See note, v 50.
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:54 Second sign in Galilee recorded by John (cf 2:11); Jesus acted for a specific purpose (20:30–31).
JOHN—NOTE ON 4:46–54 The official, whose dying son Jesus heals in Galilee, comes to a genuine faith in Him before the sign, the wonder, is done. Unlike this official, many today will not believe God's Word unless they are first shown demonstrative proofs. Despite such unbelief, the Lord Jesus hastens to call all people to faith; He would forgive them and bear their burdens and needs. • Lord Jesus, give me and my entire family unquestioning faith in Your promises. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1 feast. Some manuscripts have "the feast." Possibly the Feast of Booths, commemorating Israel's 40-year wandering, or the Feast of the New Year. See pp 200–201.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:2 Sheep Gate. Small opening within the north wall of the temple, where the sheep were washed in the pool before entering the sanctuary. Aramaic. See "Imperial Aramaic," p 720. Bethesda. "House of grace" or "house of mercy," signaling the miracle that Jesus was about to perform. colonnades. Four sets of columns enclosed two separate pools, and a fifth set stood between the pools. These five sets of columns were capped to form porches for the people who gathered by the pools.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:3 The disabled gathered here because of the popular Gk cultic belief that the pool had healing powers, with angels present at the water's first stirring.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:6 Do you want to be healed? Question designed to attract the man's attention.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:7 The man was still focused on the pool, hoping Jesus might help him reach it in time.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:8 bed. Mat or pad that could be rolled up and carried.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:10 Sabbath … take up your bed. Jewish leaders interpreted the man carrying his mat as a violation of the Sabbath law against carrying burdens from one domain to another. Cf Ex 31:12–17. Necessary works, however, were not forbidden. See note, Mt 9:13.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:14 nothing worse. Warning against persisting in unbelief, lest consequences worse than a physical handicap follow.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:16 persecuting Jesus. Some Jews were now continually hostile toward Him and constantly considered how they might get rid of Him. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:17 working until now. God does not stop sustaining His creation on Sabbaths; the Son was simply working as the Father does.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1–17 After Jesus heals an invalid, Jewish leaders accuse Him of breaking Sabbath law and begin to persecute Him. Legalistic rigidity can also keep us from showing mercy to those in need. The Lord calls us to repentance, sincere faith, and compassionate service. Jesus cares deeply for us, helping us in our physical and spiritual needs. • O Lover of my soul, help me to extend Your mercy to others. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:18 kill Him. The Jews plotted to kill Jesus, not only for violation of Sabbath law, but also for blasphemy. His own Father. Calling God "Father" was rare in Jewish literature but did occur in the OT (cf Ps 89:26; Jer 3:4). making Himself equal with God. The Jews realized Jesus was claiming divine status and headship over all things. They regarded such a claim as usurping God's authority. Ironically, Jesus stood before them in obedience to His Father and in humble service to the world, esp to the Jews. They did not understand Christ's humble service or His exalted status.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:18 The Jews plot to kill Jesus for what they understand to be a blasphemous claim: equality with God. Failure to acknowledge Christ's deity despite Scripture's clear testimony places one in opposition to the Lord. Jesus is indeed God and has given us the right to become God's children (1:12); nothing will ever take us from His hand (10:28). • O God, forgive me when I have questioned Your authority, and lead me always boldly to confess Your holy name. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:19 Jesus' Sonship is enacted in obedience. them. Jews in Jerusalem (vv 1, 16–17).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:20 greater works. Raising the spiritually dead, judging human beings, and raising the physically dead (vv 21–29).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:21 raises. Restores to life the spiritually dead (vv 21–25).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:24 passed from death to life. Scripture teaches two "resurrections" (see note, Rv 20:6). Aug: "Hence a resurrection does take place now, and men pass from a death to a life; from the death of infidelity to the life of faith; from the death of falsehood to the life of truth; from the death of iniquity to the life of righteousness…. The Lord Jesus, then, was willing to make known to us a resurrection of the dead before the resurrection of the dead" (NPNF 1 7:125).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:25 now here. Eternal life begins when a person comes to saving faith in Christ. dead will hear. Hearing with faith brings spiritual life (Gal 3:2, 5).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:26 As true God, Jesus is the giver of life through creation and redemption (1:3–4; 14:6).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:27 Son of Man. See p 2098.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:28 all who are in the tombs. Describes the resurrection of the body.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:29 done good … done evil. "All passages about works can be judged according to this rule. When eternal life is granted to works, it is granted to those who have been justified. Only justified people, who are led by the Spirit of Christ, can do good works. Without faith and Christ as Mediator, good works do not please, according to Hebrews 11:6: 'Without faith it is impossible to please [God]' " (Ap V 251–52). See notes, Mt 25:35–37.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:19–29 Equal to the Father in deity and honor, God's Son makes people spiritually alive through His Word and raises believers from the grave at the hour of His coming to judge. Those who refuse to believe in God's Son will come under judgment, and their evil deeds will become known. Christ has the authority to give you life now and on the day of your resurrection to everlasting life. • O Son of God, with joy I praise You, that by Your grace I have passed from death to life. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:30 nothing on My own. Christ did not act independently but was in perfect communion with His Father. seek not My own will. Because Jesus did as He saw (vv 19–20) and judged as He heard, He was consulting and following the Father's will at every moment. See note, 10:18.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:31 not deemed true. OT required more than one witness (Dt 19:15).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:32 another. Jesus cites John the Baptist (v 33), but He will rest on the witness of the Father Himself (v 37).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:36 testimony. Jesus has a legal witness even greater than John: the Father. works … bear witness about Me. All Jesus' works, including His miracles, attest to His identity, that people may know Him, trust in Him, and thereby be saved.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:37 Himself borne witness. Through prophecies and the signs of Jesus' ministry.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:38 abiding in you. The Word abides in the heart of a person united to Christ by faith.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:39 Scriptures. The OT. eternal life. The Scriptures give eternal life only by and through Christ, not through the mere act of studying them. they that bear witness about Me. The entire scriptural testimony centers on Jesus (cf Rm 15:4; 16:25–27; see p xxvi–xxx).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:44 glory from one another. They sought their own honor through one another's praise.
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:45 The Jews desired to follow the Law of Moses, which actually accused them and revealed their sins (Dt 31:19, 21, 26; cf Rm 3:19).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:46 Chrys: "If they believed Moses they ought to have done homage to One of whom Moses prophesied" (NPNF 1 14:149).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:47 Because the Jews did not believe that Moses pointed to Christ, they did not believe Christ's explanation of Moses (cf 2Co 3:15–16).
JOHN—NOTE ON 5:30–47 The Father gives binding witness to His Son's true identity, which is revealed in the works He performs and in the Scriptures that everywhere speak of Him. Those who fail to see Christ in the pages of the Bible, including the OT, are blind to its central purpose. Through Scripture's testimony of Christ, God reveals His great love toward all people. • O heavenly Father, I praise You for the testimony You have given me of Your Son, my Savior, through Your life-giving Word. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1 went away … other side. Area around Bethsaida on the northeast shore of the Sea of Galilee. See color map 4. Jesus' journey accomplished two things: it brought the disciples to a quiet place for rest and teaching (Mk 6:31); and it provided a setting in the wilderness (Mt 14:13) for the sign John records. The crowds would have no place to go for food, and the disciples would have to turn to Jesus in an impossible situation (v 5). Jesus also was moving away from Jerusalem, the stronghold of those who wanted to kill Him (5:18; 7:1). Tiberias. See note, v 23.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:2 signs. See note, 2:11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:3 mountain. Exact location not given. sat down. See note, Mt 5:1.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:4 Passover. See note, 2:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:5 Philip. See note, 1:43.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:6 test. Jesus wanted to strengthen their faith in Him as they faced an impossible situation. See note, Gn 22:1.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:7 Two hundred denarii. Over half a year's salary, a substantial amount.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:9 boy. Gk paidarion, "child"; common in LXX but used only here in NT. barley loaves. See p 236.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:10 much grass. Providing comfortable seating. men. Cf Mt 14:21.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:11 given thanks. The head of a Jewish household customarily pronounced a blessing at meals.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:14 sign. As God had miraculously provided manna in the wilderness after the exodus, so Jesus miraculously provided food for these people. This sign also proved Jesus was the Christ. the Prophet. Many apparently thought Jesus was the new Moses (Dt 18:15–18).
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:15 make Him king. People wanted to make Jesus a king on their terms (political, earthly) rather than accept Him as the King He was and is (heavenly, eternal). Satan offered the same temptation (Mt 4:8–9). The disciples likewise held this view of Jesus (Mt 16:21–23). See pp 1565–66. by Himself. See note, Mk 1:35.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1–15 Jesus' feeding of 5,000, the next sign recorded in Jn, reveals Jesus as the Christ, the Son of the living God (20:30–31). Like those who had "eaten their fill," we also are tempted to seek the Lord only for the earthly things He can give us. Fortunately for us, Jesus reigns as our heavenly King, who calls us to repentance, fills us with needed spiritual blessings, and gives us everlasting life. • O Christ, satisfy not only my temporal needs but also my deepest spiritual needs. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:16 evening. Darkness approaches. See note, 1:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:17 got into a boat. According to Mk, Jesus sent the disciples ahead so He could dismiss the crowd and have some private time for prayer (Mk 6:45–46). Small wooden boats were used by fishermen and by travelers. See p 1780. Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13; see also color map 4. not yet come to them. Anticipates events about to take place and emphasizes Jesus' absence.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:19 three or four miles. At its widest point, Galilee is c 8 mi across. frightened. In the darkness, the disciples initially thought the figure walking on the wind-tossed sea was a phantom (Mk 6:48–49). See note, Mt 14:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:20 It is I. Lit, "I am." See pp 1784–85; see also note, 4:26. do not be afraid. See note, Mk 6:49–50.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:21 immediately … at the land. Wind immediately ceased (Mk 6:51), and they reached the near shore.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:16–21 By walking on the storm-tossed sea, Jesus shows His disciples that He is the eternal King, ruler of all creation. Today, when life's problems overwhelm us, fear may cause us to lose faith in God's protection and care. But Jesus is true God and true man in one person; Jesus has saved us from sin and evil, assuring us of His divine protection in every situation. • Lighten our darkness, O Lord, and protect us against the dangers of the night. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:22 Assessing the situation, the crowd could not figure out how Jesus could have crossed the sea.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:23 Tiberias. Large Gk city on the Sea of Galilee, mentioned only in Jn (6:1; 21:1). Herod Antipas built it in AD 16–22 and named it in honor of the reigning Roman emperor. See map, p 1584.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:24 Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13; see also color map 4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:26 Faith in Jesus was the purpose of all the signs (20:30–31). At the miraculous feeding, the crowds saw only the gift, not the Giver.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:27 labor. See note, v 29. food. Jesus posed an absolute contrast between physical and spiritual "food" without denying the importance of the physical. set His seal. See note, Jer 32:10.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:29 work of God, that you believe. The crowd asked about righteous "works" (v 28), but Jesus singled out one necessary work: faith in Him, which is God's gift. See p 2016.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:31 The crowd quoted the OT to support their demand that Jesus perform a miracle like Moses had done, which they assumed was greater than Jesus' signs.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:32 Jesus corrected the crowd on two points: manna came from God, not Moses (Ex 16:4, 15); and Moses' bread was not the "true bread from heaven." Only the Father gives that bread.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:35 I am. Jesus clearly identified Himself as the source of real life, which lasts forever. See pp 1784–85.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:37 All. Those who believe. Father gives … will come to Me. No one has the willpower to choose to believe in Jesus or come to God. Faith comes to the believer as a gift from God, just as physical life comes as a gift. See note, v 44.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:39 lose nothing. Salvation of the believer is secure in Christ, who lets none of His own slip through His fingers (cf 1Pt 1:3–5).
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:40 looks. Seeing Jesus with eyes of faith. "The chief worship of the Gospel is to desire to receive the forgiveness of sins, grace, and righteousness" (Ap V 189). raise him up on the last day. Cf 5:28–29.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:41–42 Jesus' opponents thought they knew His background and parentage (cf Mt 13:53–58). Thus, any implication that He was more than of human origin was grounds for complaint on their part.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:41 grumbled. Lit, "were grumbling." An allusion to the Israelites' grumbling in the wilderness (cf Ex 15:24).
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:44 come to Me. See note, v 37. draws. God alone has the power to make the spiritually dead alive (cf 5:25–26). "To 'have' God, you can easily see, is not to take hold of Him with our hands or to put Him in a bag 'like money' or to lock Him in a chest 'like silver vessels'. Instead, to 'have' Him means that the heart takes hold of Him and clings to Him. To cling to Him with the heart is nothing else than to trust in Him entirely. For this reason God wishes to turn us away from everything else that exists outside of Him and to draw us to Himself" (LC I 13–15).
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:45 Prophets. One of the major divisions of the Hbr Scriptures (cf Lk 24:27; Ac 26:22). all be taught by God. From a section in Is, where the prophet foretells Zion's future glory when the Messiah will rule His people.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:46 Only through Jesus can human beings know the Father (cf 14:6–9).
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:47 See note, 3:16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:48 bread of life. See note, v 51.
JOHN—NOTE ON 6:51–58 Not an obvious reference to the Lord's Supper: the words of institution are not recorded, no wine is present, Jesus speaks of "flesh" and not "body," and the crowd is generally hostile and unbelieving. However, Jn records many veiled references to Jesus' future service, such as His work on the cross (1:50; 2:4, 19–22; 4:32; 6:62; 12:32). Whereas the other Gospel writers collected Jesus' parables, John collected Jesus' enigmatic, or riddlelike, sayings. See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775. His wording anticipates the blessings of the Sacrament.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:51 living bread. Life-giving bread; synonymous with "bread of life." Cf 1:4; 5:26. My flesh. See note, 1:14. The incarnate Word offered Himself as a sacrifice for the sins of the world (1:29). "The Sacrament was instituted to comfort terrified minds. This happens when they believe that Christ's flesh is given as food for the life of the world" (Ap XXII 10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:52 disputed. Heated argument erupted over Jesus' language in v 51, which the audience found offensive.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:53 Graphic description of faith, the topic under discussion (v 47).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:54 "There is a twofold eating of Christ's flesh. One is spiritual, which Christ describes especially in John 6:54. This 'eating' happens in no other way than with the Spirit and faith, in preaching and meditation on the Gospel, as well as in the Lord's Supper" (FC SD VII 61).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:55 Only through faith in Christ crucified do people have what they really need for eternal life, a life with God that earthly food and drink cannot provide. "His flesh is a truly life-giving food and His blood a truly life-giving drink" (FC SD VIII 76).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:56 abides. Major theme in Jn, defining the relationship not only of persons in the Trinity (1:32–33; 14:10; 15:10), but also between believers and Christ (5:38; 8:31; 15:7, 9–10). Bern: "I wish to follow with all my strength the lowly Jesus; I wish Him, who loved me and gave Himself for me, to embrace me with the arms of His love, which suffered in my stead; but I must also feed on the Paschal Lamb, for unless I eat His Flesh and drink His Blood I have no life in me. It is one thing to follow Jesus, another to hold Him, another to feed on Him. To follow Him is a life-giving purpose; to hold and embrace Him a solemn joy; to feed on Him a blissful life" (SLSB, pp 292–93).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:57 I live because of the Father. The Son, begotten of the Father from eternity (see Nicene Creed), is one with the Father (10:30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:59 synagogue. See p 1557. Capernaum. See note, Mt 4:13; see color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:22–59 Unlike the perishable manna God gave to Israel through Moses, Jesus comes down from heaven as the true bread to give life to all who believe in Him. Contrary to popular notions, no one "chooses" to believe in Christ; the initiative belongs entirely to God through His Word (v 44; cf 14:6). Those united by faith to Christ will be raised up on the Last Day to enjoy eternal communion with the Father. • O God, draw me ever closer to You through Your Word and Sacraments. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:60 disciples. Wider group of followers than the Twelve. hard saying. See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:62 ascending to where He was before? Jesus' cross, resurrection, and ascension seen together (cf 3:13–15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:63 Spirit. Just as fleshly bodies need spirit to have life, believers need the Holy Spirit to make them alive. The Spirit is given through Jesus' words. the flesh is no help at all. Note that Jesus does not say "My flesh," as in vv 51, 54–56. Jesus contrasted the sinful nature ("flesh") with the spiritual nature to show that eternal life comes only from the Holy Spirit. The sinful flesh, which lusts for bread rather than the things of God (v 26), cannot help in spiritual matters. words … are spirit and life. The Holy Spirit, proceeding eternally from the Father and the Son (see notes, 14:26; 15:26), uses the Word of God to create faith and life in hearers. See note, Rm 10:17.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:64 those. Lit, "some who." betray Him. Even from the time Judas joined the disciples, Jesus knew Judas would betray Him. This does not mean Judas was predestined for damnation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:65 come to Me. Expression used for faith five times in ch 6 (vv 35, 37, 44, 45, 65). Cf Eph 2:8–9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:68 words of eternal life. Cf v 63.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:69 Holy One. Further description of Jesus' identity as Messiah (cf Ac 3:14; 4:27, 30; 1Jn 2:20). See p 1227. Title used once by demons (Lk 4:34).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:70 a devil. Judas, inspired by Satan, would betray Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:60–71 Faced with Jesus' true identity and the necessity of faith in Him, many stop following, and even one of the Twelve aligns himself with Satan against Jesus. Nevertheless, Jesus' words bring life; they are the means the Father uses to draw people to Himself. • O Lord, let me always say as Peter did, "You have the words of eternal life." Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:1 Jews were seeking to kill Him. Jesus and His teaching posed a serious threat to religious parties such as the Herodians and Pharisees (see p 1557), who shared a common goal—killing Jesus (cf Mk 3:6).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:2 Feast of Booths. See pp 200–201.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:3 brothers. See note, 2:12. Though initially unbelievers (v 5), at least some of Jesus' brothers came to faith after His resurrection (e.g., James; 1Co 15:7). Leave. Jesus' unbelieving brothers did not understand His divine mission and mocked Him.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:4 works in secret. Working in remote Galilee, Jesus' brothers suggest, was the same as working "in secret." Someone who wanted to be a public figure would need to go to Jerusalem, the center of Jewish religious life.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:5 See note, v 3.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:6 My time. The hour of Jesus' glorification on the cross (cf 12:23–27). your time. They could safely go to the feast; indeed, the Law required it (Ex 23:17).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:8 I am not going. Jesus does not intend to go to the feast with His brothers as just another worshiper. When He goes, He will go on His own terms (cf v 10) and for reasons very different from His brothers and the others in Jerusalem. He missed at least the first half of the feast (v 14) and may not have attended any of the festivities even after He arrived.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:10 in private. See note, v 8.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:13 for fear of the Jews. Pressure—even threat of excommunication—was exerted against anyone who would speak out in favor of Jesus (cf 9:13–34).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:14 into the temple. Jesus, like other rabbis, often taught in the temple compound (cf 10:23; Ac 5:12). See temple courts on diagram, p 1838.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:15 never studied? Jesus never studied under a recognized rabbi (nor did His disciples). He did not have the ancient equivalent of a diploma or degree.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:17 he will know. By faith alone, a person will recognize the divine origin of Jesus' teaching. Unlike the rabbis who quoted previous rabbis, Jesus' teaching came directly from the Father.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:19 The Jews had knowledge of God's Law but did not keep it, as shown by their desire to kill Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:20 You have a demon! Some may not have known about the plots against Jesus. Others knew but did not want their evil plans exposed, so they denied the truth.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:22 circumcision. See note, Gn 17:10. from the fathers. Circumcision for Israelites began with Abraham, c 500 years before Moses.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:24 judge by appearances. Application of the Law must not be done superficially, but in the context of God's grace and mercy (cf Mt 12:1–8).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:1–24 Despite growing opposition from Jewish leaders and unbelief within His own family, Jesus enters Jerusalem during the Feast of Booths as the time of His death draws near. People today still fail to see that Jesus is not just another lawgiver but a merciful Savior. He was "despised and rejected" (Is 53:3) that He might bear our sins on the cross. • O Lord, confirm the faith of all who experience persecution because of Your name. Grant us boldness to proclaim You. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:25 people of Jerusalem. Distinct from the Judean leadership ("the Jews") and the multitudes there for the feast ("the crowd").
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:27 Although Mi 5:2 prophesied Christ's birth at Bethlehem, some thought the Messiah would arrive supernaturally. Because they thought Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee, He could not be the Christ in either case.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:30 So … seeking to arrest Him. Because of what He had just said (vv 28–29), they regarded Him as blaspheming (cf 5:18). His hour had not yet come. God's timetable, not theirs, prevailed (cf 12:23–27).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:31 See application note, 4:46–54; see also "Jesus' Signs," p 1775.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:25–31 Because Jesus does not fit their preconceived notions of the Messiah's identity, residents of Jerusalem reject Him and join in the effort to kill Him for blasphemy. That Jesus is true God and true man still remains a stumbling block for those who judge Him by earthly standards. Yet, for our sake, Jesus was always conscious of the Father's will and never allowed human opinions to sidetrack Him from His saving purpose. • Beloved Lord, preserve my faith when enemies seek to undermine the Christian faith. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:32 chief priests. Temple officials, including the chief priest. See p 1556. officers. Temple police force, perhaps similar to court bailiffs.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:34 Where I am you cannot come. When Jesus departed through death to His Father (cf 6:62; 13:1), He would be inaccessible, removed from His enemies' grasp.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:35 Dispersion. See p 1556. Greeks. Gentiles.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:32–36 Jesus teaches that when He dies, He will return to His Father and become inaccessible to His enemies. Yet, He remains gracious toward all. The "window of opportunity" for the Gospel will soon close, both for the individual and for the world. But God now graciously extends the time for the Gospel's proclamation that many others may hear and be saved (2Pt 3:9). • Make me alert, O God, to seize every opportunity to share Jesus' saving love. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:37 last day of the feast. Either the seventh-day or eighth-day closing festival. great day. Day on which the celebration came to a climax.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:38 as the Scripture has said. No specific text is cited; cf 4:14; Is 58:11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:39 were to receive … Spirit had not been given. Full outpouring of the Holy Spirit would not take place until Pentecost, after Jesus finished His work and returned to the Father (cf 16:5–11). See p 1815. glorified. Hour of the crucifixion (cf 12:23–27).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:37–39 On the final day of the Feast of Booths, Jesus promises that believers will receive the Holy Spirit (at Pentecost) after His death. "Anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to Him" (Rm 8:9). But Christ's death and resurrection proclaimed in the Gospel brings life to all who thirst for Him and His blessings. • O Holy Spirit, bring refreshing showers of blessing each day of my life. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:40 the Prophet. See note, 6:14.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:42 Passages attesting to the Messiah's lineage (e.g., 2Sm 7:13–14) and origin would have been widely circulated. Messianic fervor, though involving conflicting views, ran high before Christ's appearing. See pp 1565–66.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:44 Some. Those who had firmly made up their minds (cf 7:1, 13, 32, 45). no one laid hands on Him. Unless He permitted it (cf 8:59; 10:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:46 Even the officers sent to arrest Jesus—though unbelievers—were impressed with what He said and how He said it.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:48 The leaders exaggerated. Several prominent Jewish people believed in Jesus, including Nicodemus, a Pharisee and Council member (3:2, 10; 7:50; 19:38–39).
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:49 accursed. Pharisees regarded the common people as ignorant of the Law and esp the oral tradition associated with it. See "curse," p 6.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:50 Nicodemus. See notes, v 48; 3:1.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:51 hearing. Whether a formal hearing or an informal dialogue, firsthand information was required to judge a person in Jewish legal tradition.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:52 no prophet arises from Galilee. Their anger and unbelief blinded them and led them to forget that Jonah, a Hbr prophet, came from Galilee, not far from Nazareth. God can raise up a prophet wherever and whenever He pleases.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:40–52 Jewish leaders and the populace hold sharply different opinions regarding Jesus. Today, people continue to misjudge the Lord on the basis of their own feelings and perceptions. Truly, "no one ever spoke like this man" Jesus; His teaching exceeded all human expectations, imparting grace to those who heard. His words came directly from our heavenly Father. • Lead me, Lord Jesus, to hear the full message of Your Word. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:53–8:11 Not clear that John wrote this passage, as the ESV note shows. Even if he did not, it may preserve a genuine event in Jesus' ministry.
JOHN—NOTE ON 7:53 each to his own house. Jesus' enemies were still not sufficiently organized to stop His work, so they disbanded.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:1 Mount of Olives. East of the temple across the Kidron Valley. See map, p 1584.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:2 sat down and taught them. Cf Lk 5:3. See notes, Mt 5:1; 13:2.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:3 scribes. See pp 719–20. caught in adultery. A married woman caught in the act of sexual intercourse with a man who was not her husband. The man should also have been brought for judgment (Lv 20:10; Dt 22:22). midst. They made her stand in front of Jesus and the crowd, an unnecessary act of humiliation. They had set a trap for this woman (v 5) and sought to discredit Jesus by forcing this situation upon Him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:5 stone. Preferred method was to push the convicted person off a height of at least 6 ft and then drop or throw stones on the victim until she died. such women. Both the adulterous woman and her lover were to be stoned (see note, v 3), but they singled her out, likely letting the man escape.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:6 test Him. Scribes and Pharisees sought to catch Jesus in something that could be used to condemn Him, either in the popular mind, in court, or in both. Jesus bent down and wrote. Not absolutely clear what Jesus wrote. Sometimes judges wrote down their sentence before pronouncing it—in which case Jesus wrote what He spoke in v 7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:7 Jesus pricks the consciences of the woman's accusers, who likely entrapped her in order to entrap Jesus. See note, v 3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:9 beginning with the older ones. Elders would have had a greater share of responsibility and provided leadership for the rest.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:11 Jesus pronounced no specific word of forgiveness (cf Lk 7:48–50). The woman, though possibly entrapped, was nevertheless guilty. He called her to repent and to change her sinful life.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:53–8:11 The scribes and Pharisees fail to trap Jesus by requesting a hasty judgment against a woman caught in the act of adultery. Jesus reveals the hypocrisy of His detractors and calls them to self-examination, even as He calls the sinful woman to consider her error. The Lord's greatest desire is to deliver us from sin through repentance and faith, rather than condemn us for our sins. Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners, even the worst of us, by His sacrifice on the cross. • O Lord, be merciful to me, a poor sinful being. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:12 I am. See note, 4:26; see also pp 1784–85. light of the world. A messianic claim. darkness. See note, 1:5.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:13 Pharisees argued that Jesus' self-testimony was invalid on Jewish legal grounds. See note, vv 17–18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:14 Jesus' witness about Himself is true because of His identity (origin) and mission (destination). His adversaries are in no position to judge His witness because they know neither His nature nor His credentials.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:15–16 according to the flesh. By human standards. I judge no one. Jesus did not come to judge the world but to save it (3:17). Yet, if He does judge, His judgment is just and true.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:17–18 Jesus' testimony was valid even according to the Law on which the Pharisees took their stand (cf Dt 19:15); the Father is the great second witness.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:19 Where is Your Father? They ask Jesus to produce His witness.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:20 treasury. Near the 13 collection boxes for donations to the poor, located in the court of women (cf Mk 12:41–42).
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:21 sin. Singular here (cf v 24), meaning unbelief or rejection of Jesus leading to eternal condemnation (3:18; 9:41; 16:9). Where I am going. See note, 6:62.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:23 Jesus sharply contrasts the realm of God and the realm of fallen humanity corrupted by sin.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:24 believe that I am He. Lit, "believe that I AM." See note, 4:26.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:26 much to judge. See note, vv 15–16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:27 These leaders lacked spiritual discernment.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:28 lifted up. See note, Nu 21:9. Term used four times in Jn to indicate Christ's exaltation on the cross and His heavenly exaltation.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:29 with Me. Not only did the Father send the Son (vv 16, 18, 26), but He also accompanied and supported the Son in His work.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:30 many believed in Him. The Word convinced many, though the faith of some may have been weak and transitory. See note, v 31.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:12–30 Jesus claims to be the light of the world, through whom people may have life, which prompts the Pharisees to question His authority. Unless individuals believe in Jesus Christ, who was sent by God the Father, they will die in their sins. Jesus' cross reveals that He is truly the Messiah, the Son of Man sent to deliver us from spiritual darkness. • Heavenly Father, You have made me a new person through Baptism. Now make me Your light in the world. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:31 abide in My word. Speaking to those whose belief in Him was superficial, Jesus explained that discipleship meant accepting all of His teaching and remaining faithful to it. See note, 6:56.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:32 truth will set you free. Cf 14:6. Only in Jesus and His teaching will anyone be free from sin, death, and Satan's rule, and thus free to serve God with a pure heart. In contrast, Judaism taught that study of God's Law made a person free.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:33 never been enslaved. Though presently subject to Rome and the Herodians, these proud leaders asserted their independence by appealing to the heritage of Abraham, a free man.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:34 slave to sin. Since the fall, all people are sinners and enslaved to sin, bound to self-centeredness, doomed to death, and blind to their slavery.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:35–36 A slave can never be sure of present or future status. Only the Son, Jesus Christ, can bring genuine freedom and make us children of God through faith.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:36 "As Christ says, [baptized people] have been made free again [John 8:36]. Therefore, they are able not only to hear the Word, but also to agree with it and accept it, although in great weakness" (FC SD II 67).
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:37 you seek to kill Me. Cf 7:19, 25.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:31–38 Jews with a weak faith in Jesus balk when He says that true freedom comes through Him and His teaching. Humans are self-centered from birth and in bondage to sin, unable to please God (Rm 8:8). Through Jesus' sacrificial death and resurrection, He provides liberation from sin, death, and the devil to all who believe and are baptized into His name. • Grant that I may remain faithful to Your Word until my last hour, O Lord. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:39 doing the works Abraham did. Abraham trusted God, and God counted his faith as righteousness (Gn 15:6). When Abraham's descendants opposed Jesus, they demonstrated thorough unbelief.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:40 I heard from God. See note, 3:32.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:41 not born of sexual immorality. Possibly a sarcastic slur meant to anger Jesus by implying He was a bastard child. one Father—even God. Earlier they had rebuked Jesus for making this claim (cf 5:18).
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:43 They could not comprehend Jesus' teaching because they lacked spiritual discernment. See note, 1Co 2:14.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:44 your father the devil. Their physical ancestor may have been Abraham (v 39), but they can trace their spiritual ancestry to the devil. murderer from the beginning. The tempter's lie brought death into the world (Gn 3). father of lies. Satan used half-truths and outright lies to deceive Adam and Eve. See notes, Gn 3:1, 4. "Although God creates and preserves nature, the cause of sin is located in the will of the wicked, that is, the devil and ungodly people. Without God's help, this will turns itself away from God" (AC XIX 1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:46 The burden of proof lay on Jesus' opponents.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:47 Jesus reaffirmed what He said in v 45 and summarized the basic problem: they are not "of God." See note, 1:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:39–47 Jesus traces the people's refusal to believe in Him and His Word to their spiritual "father," the devil himself. Beware—even today satanic deception lies behind opposition to Jesus and His teaching. Yet, God's love revealed in the Gospel explains why His children by faith love their Savior and His Word. • "O LORD, I love the habitation of Your house and the place where Your glory dwells" (Ps 26:8). Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:48 Samaritan. See p 1557. have a demon? Countercharge that Jesus, not they, operated under demonic influence. Cf Mt 12:24.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:50 One … He is the judge. God the Father. By attacking Jesus, they were attacking God and bringing eternal condemnation upon themselves.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:51 Truly, truly. See note, 1:51. see death. Experience everlasting death.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:52 keeps My word. Not only intellectual acceptance of Jesus' teaching but also faith in and obedience to it (cf v 55; Mt 28:20). taste death. Reference to physical death here, in contrast to spiritual death in v 51.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:56 Your father Abraham. Physically they descended from Abraham. See note, v 44. He saw it and was glad. By faith, Abraham saw God's plan of salvation fulfilled (Heb 11:8–10). Bern: "So are we to think of all the saints of that time, that they were born just as ourselves under the power of darkness, because of original sin, but rescued before they died, and that by nothing else but the blood of Christ" (SLSB, p 285). See note, Gal 3:8.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:57 fifty years old. Perhaps a reference to the priests' ineligibility for service when they passed age 50 (Nu 4:3); or just a round number indicating that Jesus, in His 30s (Lk 3:23), was not even close to Abraham's era. In any case, Jesus' claim sounded preposterous to them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:58 I am. See pp 1784–85. Declaration of Jesus' eternal preexistence (1:1; cf Is 41:4).
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:59 picked up stones to throw at Him. Presumably on the grounds that Jesus was guilty of blasphemy (Lv 24:16). hid Himself. Or, "was hidden," that is, by divine concealment.
JOHN—NOTE ON 8:48–59 The confrontation between Jesus and the Pharisees reaches a climax when the Pharisees attempt to stone Him for claiming to be the preexistent Son of God. The Bible's witness that Jesus is true God and the only way to heaven receives intense and sometimes virulent opposition today. Pray for those confused or offended by the truth about Jesus, for "God shows His love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us" (Rm 5:8). • O God, grant true repentance to those whose hearts are turned against You. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:1 passed by. Specific location not given. Since it was on the Sabbath (v 14), it was likely the temple area.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:2 who sinned. Many people believed that suffering resulted from a specific sin. The man's blindness would therefore be punishment for a particular sin of his parents or some sin he committed in the womb. See note, Jb 5:16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:3 the works of God might be displayed. Not merely restoration of physical sight (v 7), but deliverance from spiritual darkness (v 38).
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:4 night. Elsewhere in Jn carries overtones of spiritual darkness (3:2; 11:10; 13:30). See note, 1:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:5 I am the light of the world. See notes, 1:4; 8:12; see also pp 1784–85.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:6 spat on the ground and made mud. Jesus violated the rabbinic rules concerning the Sabbath. The rabbis listed kneading dough among 39 forms of work forbidden on the Sabbath, a law thought also to cover the mixing of earth and saliva. anointed. In ancient times, saliva was thought to have curative powers (e.g., how animals clean themselves).
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:7 Siloam. Part of the system that brought water from Gihon Spring in the Kidron Valley to an upper and lower pool in Jerusalem. The Siloam pool was surrounded by a courtyard and was likely larger than it is today. which means Sent. Reminds the reader that Jesus is sent by the Father and the blind man was sent by Jesus—wordplay that brings the story together around the theme of sending.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:8 beggar. Many blind men could do little else in the ancient world than ask for charity alongside the roadways. (However, consider the cultural contributions of Homer and Didymus.)
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:9 kept saying. Allusion to the Gospel's repeated use of the words "I am." Jn playfully draws attention to this emphasis. I am the man. Lit, "I am." See pp 1784–85.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:13 The preceding events were so extraordinary that religious authorities had to be consulted for their opinion.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:16 Two schools of thought divided the Pharisees. Some questioned Jesus' authority by focusing on His alleged violation of Sabbath law. Others argued that only one sent from God could perform such a miracle (cf Ac 5:38–39).
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:17 He is a prophet. Or, "the prophet." The blind man's faith and confession will reveal a deeper understanding of Jesus (v 33). At this point, he can at least state the obvious: Jesus is at minimum a prophet, a man sent from God with extraordinary powers.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:20–21 The parents' restrained response reflected their fear of the Jewish authorities (v 22).
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:21 The parents deftly avoided the dispute, while witnessing to the miracle. he is of age. Age of legal maturity was 13 years and 1 day.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:22 confess Jesus. See note, Php 2:11. put out of the synagogue. Gk aposynagogus, expulsion from fellowship with the synagogue; a type of excommunication, though its precise form is uncertain. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:24 Give glory to God. In God's name, swear to tell the whole truth. this man is a sinner. Transgressor of the Law; violation of Sabbath law was a very serious matter (cf Nu 15:32–36).
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:27 want to become His disciples? Biting sarcasm, indicating the man's courage and character.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:29 Questions the legitimacy of Jesus' right to speak in God's name.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:31 does not listen to sinners. Only half true; all are sinners, but God does listen to those sinners who are His children by faith, as a loving father listens to his beloved children.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:32 A miracle of this kind was unprecedented, further proof to him that Jesus was not breaking the Law.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:34 born in utter sin. See note, v 2. cast him out. See note, v 22.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:35 Son of Man? See p 2098.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:38 worshiped Him. The man's faith grew from acknowledging Jesus as a prophet (v 17) to confessing Him as being "from God" (v 33) to honoring Him as Lord. This does not mean the man realized Jesus was God. See note, Mt 2:11. (Consider the faith of the disciples, which was genuine though they lacked full understanding of who Jesus was; cf Mt 8:23–27.)
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:39 Jesus did not come to condemn the world but to save it (3:16–17). His coming is a judgment, however, because those who reject Him bring everlasting condemnation upon themselves.
JOHN—NOTE ON 9:41 The spiritually blind refuse to acknowledge their need for the Savior in spite of what God's Word says about the human condition. Paradoxically, only when we realize we are blind (condemned by the Law as sinners) can we see.
JOHN—NOTE ON Ch 9 Jesus gives physical and spiritual sight—faith—to a man born blind, though the Pharisees accuse Jesus of violating the Sabbath and remain spiritually blind. We are all born spiritually blind, unable to see our sin and unwilling to do things God's way. But through Baptism and the Word, God has delivered us from the domain of darkness through His beloved Son and has enlightened our hearts to know and follow Him. • I praise You, O God, that though I once was blind, now I see! Lead me as I guide others to the truth of the Gospel. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:1 you. Pharisees (9:40) and others who were attending Jesus' teaching. sheepfold. Walled enclosure for keeping sheep safe at night. See note, Nu 32:16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:3–4 gatekeeper. Watchman who guarded the entrance to the sheep pen. sheep hear his voice … leads them out. Sheep would usually recognize the voice of their shepherd and respond to his call. Shepherds in the Near East typically lead their flocks rather than drive them from behind; they draw the sheep by their word. all his own. As sheep follow their shepherd, so those drawn to Jesus by the Father follow Him (cf 6:44).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:6 figure of speech. Gk paroimia, "veiled saying" (in NT only here and 16:25, 29; 2Pt 2:22). A concrete image used to convey a spiritual truth. As with parables, the meaning is not always obvious to outsiders (cf Mt 13:13–16). See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:7 I am the door. Compared Himself to the gate that controlled access to the safety of the sheep pen. He alone provides access to eternal life. See pp 1784–85.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:8 All who came before Me. Religious leaders of Jesus' day, much like leadership in the past, cared far more for their own profit and welfare than for God's sheep (cf Ezk 34).
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:10 may have life … abundantly. Everlasting life through faith in Jesus Christ (cf 20:31), not through material goods or worldly success.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:11 I am. See pp 1784–85. good shepherd. Luth: "In this single little word 'shepherd' there are gathered together in one almost all the good and comforting things that we praise in God" (AE 12:152). lays down His life for the sheep. Jesus did not risk His life for the sheep merely to set a noble example; He gave His life as an atoning sacrifice for them. See note, 1:29.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:12 hired hand. Includes Israel's leaders who were motivated more by self-interest than care for the sheep.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:14–15 The close relationship of the Good Shepherd and His sheep finds a direct comparison with the intimate relationship between God the Father and God the Son.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:16 other sheep. Gentiles, people not descended from Abraham and not part of Israel, who would be integrated into the one flock. Cf Rm 11:17–18. Hus: "Other sheep he had by virtue of predestination, which are not of this fold and of his church according to present righteousness, which sheep of his grace he brought to life" (The Church, p 25).
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:18 Jesus went to the cross voluntarily. His obedience to the Father and His love for the sheep moved Him to lay down His life.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:20 Cf 8:48, 52.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:21 Can a demon open the eyes of the blind? Cf 9:16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 10:1–21 Jesus calls Himself the Good Shepherd to describe His intimate relationship with His followers and the love that moved Him to lay down His life for them. Sheep who ignore the Good Shepherd's voice (His Word) have only themselves to blame and will fall prey to Satan. Unlike human love motivated by self-interest, Christ's love for His own moved Him to voluntarily endure even death on a cross for our sake (Php 2:8). • My dear Shepherd, watch over me that I may never stray from You. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:22 Feast of Dedication. Also called Feast of Lights or Hanukkah. Celebrated the rededication of the temple in 164 BC, following its desecration by the Seleucid ruler Antiochus IV Epiphanes. The festival was joyous and included recitation of Ps 30. See pp 1553–58. winter. December.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:23 colonnade of Solomon. Sheltered area on the east side of the temple, with a roof supported by columns that provided some protection from the weather. Popular place for rabbis and their disciples to gather. See diagram, p 1838.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:24 Jews. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:25 I told you. Not an explicit statement, but His deeds (the signs) and His teaching spoke a clear and unequivocal yes.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:28 Hus: "Because Christ and his Father are one with the Holy Spirit—who is Christ's gift, by whom the church is knit together with him—therefore, no one is able to pluck his sheep out of his hand" (The Church, p 34). "Predestination, or God's eternal election, covers only the godly, beloved children of God. It is a cause of their salvation, which He also provides. He plans what belongs to it as well. Our salvation is founded so firmly on it that the gates of hell cannot overcome it" (FC Ep XI 5). "God's eternal election does not just foresee and foreknow the salvation of the elect. From God's gracious will and pleasure in Christ Jesus, election is a cause that gains, works, helps, and promotes our salvation and what belongs to it" (FC SD XI 8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:30 are. Plural verb, which presupposes the distinction of persons in the Trinity. one. Not merely one in will and work, but one in being or essence (v 38). The Pharisees immediately recognized the nature of Jesus' claim—He declared Himself equal with God (v 33).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:32 good works. Miracles (cf 9:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:33 blasphemy. Speech that denigrates or defames, in this case, God's holy name. make Yourself God. See note, 5:18. The Jews discerned that Jesus implied personal greatness, but they did not consider

His claim true. The history of the Feast of Dedication, which celebrated deliverance and cleansing from idolatrous paganism, would make those attending esp sensitive to matters of who God is. See note, v 22.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:34 gods? See note, Ps 82:1; perhaps refers to judges in Israel.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:35–36 If the psalmist can use the word "gods" to describe Israel's leaders, surely it would be appropriate for Jesus to claim to be the Son of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:35 Scripture cannot be broken. Scripture's authority cannot be questioned (cf 2Tm 3:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:38 understand. By faith, not reason. Father is in Me and I am in the Father. Further explains v 30.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:40 See note, 1:28.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:41 no sign. John the Baptist did no miracles, in contrast to Jesus, who did many (cf 20:30–31). See p 1596.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:22–42 In the colonnade of Solomon during the Jewish Feast of Dedication, Jesus declares His oneness with the Father, which the unbelieving crowd understands to be blasphemous and worthy of death. To reject Jesus is to reject God and abandon the hope of everlasting life. Believers can rest secure that they belong to Jesus Christ and will never perish; all of Jesus' works affirm this truth. • O Lord, "into Your hands I commend myself, my body and soul, and all things." Amen. (SC, Morning and Evening Prayers, pp xli–xlii)

JOHN—NOTE ON Ch 11 Commentators have noted the detailed, eyewitness character of the events in this chapter.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1 Lazarus. Brother of Martha and Mary; friend of Jesus. Name means "God has helped." He appears only in Jn 11–12. Bethany. Small village c 2 mi E of Jerusalem (v 18; see color map 4).
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:2 Cf 12:1–11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:3 he whom You love. Equivalent to "close friend."
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:4 not lead to death. Lazarus will not stay dead, proving Jesus' claim (cf v 25). It is for the glory … glorified through it. Lazarus's illness provided an occasion for the Father to reveal His Son's glory, that all should honor the Son as they honor the Father (5:23). See "glory," p 1902.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:5–6 Jesus' delay was not due to a lack of love for His friends; quite the opposite. Obedient to His Father's will, Jesus helped this dear family at the hour the Father appointed for the manifestation of His power and grace. Cf 9:2.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:8 just now. As recently as the Feast of Dedication (10:31, 39). Events of ch 11 would have transpired shortly afterward.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:9–10 Jesus spoke figuratively of daylight and darkness to teach that as long as He, the light of the world, is among His disciples (both then and now), they are safe.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:11 fallen asleep. No mere euphemism; at the hand of Jesus, death is no more serious than sleep (cf Mk 5:39; 1Co 15:55). This expression is commonly used of death in the NT (e.g., 1Co 15:6, 20; 1Th 4:13). See p 1750.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:15 for your sake I am glad. By raising Lazarus, Jesus will demonstrate the truth that He is the resurrection and the life. The faith of His disciples will grow, and for this reason He rejoices.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:16 Thomas, called the Twin. One of the Twelve. we may die with Him. Courageous devotion, or perhaps sarcasm. Thomas understands the mounting danger for those close to Jesus.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1–16 Jesus, the Son of God, will raise Lazarus from the dead so that He might be glorified. Death overwhelms us all. Even Christians have difficulty at times accepting God's promise to strengthen faith through adversity. At the hand of Christ, suffering serves God's gracious purpose; even death loses its sting (1Co 15:55–57). • O Lord, strengthen me for the days ahead, that I may bear witness to Your glory. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:17 four days. Perhaps significant because of the rabbinic belief that the soul hovers over the body for three days and then departs when decomposition sets in. John's point is that only a genuine miracle could account for the raising of Lazarus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:19 many of the Jews. Possibly Lazarus and his sisters were of high social standing, thus drawing the attention of many neighbors.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:22 A statement of trust and hope that anticipates Lazarus's resurrection to eternal life. Martha did not have the resurrection of Lazarus in mind (cf v 39) but affirmed the general truth that God gives Jesus whatever He asks.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:24 resurrection. Taught by the Pharisees and others but denied by the Sadducees (cf Mt 22:23–33). See p 1557.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:25 I am the resurrection and the life. See pp 1784–85. Everlasting life can be found in no one else but Jesus. though he die. Even those who die physically in faith will rise again to everlasting life. Physical death is no obstacle to the resurrection. Cf 1Co 15. Luth: "The cemetery or burial ground does not indicate a heap of the dead, but a field full of kernels, known as God's kernels, which will verdantly blossom forth again and grow more beautifully than can be imagined" (AE 28:178).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:26 never. The Gk grammar denies even the possibility of something happening.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:17–27 Jesus assures Martha that all who believe in Him, though they die physically, will live forever. Death is the consequence of sin (Gn 2:17; Rm 5:12; 6:23) and eventually takes everyone. No human being can overcome it. Comfort one another in the hope that even in the face of death, believers in Jesus Christ possess the sure promise of their own resurrection to everlasting life. • In the hour of our death, comfort us, O Lord, with the bright hope of life forever with You. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:28 in private. Mary had likely wanted to be alone, away from the gathered crowd of mourners.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:29 rose quickly. She longed for Jesus' help or consolation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:30 Jesus would also speak with Mary somewhere on the road to the village. John provides memorable details and the sequence of events, without naming the place.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:32 fell at His feet. Poignant demonstration of reverence and faith (similar to her posture in Lk 10:39). See p 1276.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:33 deeply moved. Gk word may connote anger, revealing Jesus' irritation, not only that death had taken His friend, but also that the mourners wept as those without hope (cf 1Th 4:13). in His spirit. He did not voice a rebuke or complaint.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:35 wept. Gk dakryo, "shed tears"; not loud lamentation (Gk klaio). He wept for Mary, her family, and her friends. Jesus' heart goes out to those who mourn (cf Mt 5:4; Rm 12:15).
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:28–37 When Jesus comes to Mary and Martha's house and sees great mourning, He is moved to tears over the situation and because of love for His friends. For all people, death and the grave bring loss and the pain of separation. But for Christians, death is only a temporary interruption of the fellowship they share with others in Christ Jesus, who will raise believers up on the Last Day to everlasting life. • O living Savior, when my loved ones die, turn my sorrow into joy as I look forward to our reunion in heaven. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:38 deeply moved again. See notes, vv 33, 35. cave. Burial chamber sealed by a stone. See diagram, p 1823.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:39 by this time … four days. The thought of raising a person after four days, when decay had set in, seemed impossible, even to Martha, who confessed that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God. See note, v 17.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:40 Did I not tell you. Cf vv 25–26, now summarized.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:41 lifted up His eyes. Posture of prayer (cf Mk 6:41; Lk 18:13; Ac 7:55). See p 1276.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:42 Jesus prayed publicly so the crowd would know and believe that He was dependent on and obedient to His Father, who had sent Him.
JOHN—NOTE ON 11:44 bound. Burial customs included wrapping a corpse with strips of cloth, effectively binding it. them. People standing near Lazarus. Unbind him. Reflects Jesus' sensitivity to personal needs (cf Mk 5:43).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:38–44 By raising Lazarus, Jesus reveals God's glory and that He is truly the resurrection and the life. Apart from faith in Christ, the fear of death brings hopelessness and despair. Believers, however, can eagerly look forward to the day when Jesus will call them from their graves to live with Him forever (cf 5:28–29). • O God of life, when death takes one I love, may the promise of our resurrection turn my sorrow into joy. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:47 chief priests … Pharisees … Council. See pp 1556–57.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:48 Romans reacted harshly against rebellions, riots, and disorder in general. Jewish leaders feared that if Jesus stirred up the mob, the Romans would destroy the temple ("our place") and the Jewish nation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:49 Caiaphas … high priest. Served from AD 18–36. High priests were ordinarily chosen for life, but that was often not the case under Roman rule. See "chief priests," p 1556.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:51 being high priest that year he prophesied. Caiaphas is compelled by God to utter more than he intends or knows. Like Balaam of old, he must speak what God puts in his mouth (Nu 23:12). Despite abuses of the priestly office, the Lord abided with the ministry He established (see note, Mt 23:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:52 children of God. All believers in Jesus Christ, born anew by the Holy Spirit through water and the Word (cf 1:12–13; 3:1–6). Bern: "We see flourish again under our eyes the wood whereon the Lord of Glory hung, who died not for His own nation only…. He, yes, He Himself draws you, who loves you as His own flesh, as the most precious fruit of His cross, as the most worthy recompense of the blood He shed" (SLSB, p 165).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:54 no longer walked openly. Due to growing opposition, Jesus avoided public contact. Ephraim. Northwest of Jericho.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:55 Passover. See note, 2:13. purify themselves. A person had to be ceremonially clean to participate in the Passover. Purification rites took place one week before the Passover. Nothing unclean could come into the Lord's presence (cf Lv 7:21; Nu 9:6). See pp 200–201; see also note, Mk 7:3–4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:45–57 After Jesus raises Lazarus, Jewish leaders become hardened in their opposition to Him and plot to kill Him before the Passover. Unbelief hardens the heart, making a person callous to God's acts of grace, mercy, and compassion. By daily repentance and prayer, dedicate yourself to fulfilling your calling faithfully. Rejoice that nothing stopped Jesus from graciously giving His life for all people at God's appointed time and gathering His children to Himself. • Heavenly Father, draw me ever closer to You through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1 Six days. Saturday before Holy Week. Jesus … came. John reminds the reader to view Jesus' trip to Bethany in light of the immediately preceding events. Bethany. See color map 4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:2 gave a dinner. Probably a Sabbath dinner, held either in midafternoon or after sunset. reclining. See note, Mt 8:11; see also p 1764.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:3 expensive ointment made from pure nard. Aromatic oil made from the crushed rhizomes of the spikenard plant, native to northern India; used as an herbal medicine. Called "pure" presumably because of its exceptional quality. anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped His feet with her hair. This was highly unusual. Mary's actions (anointing feet, not head; wiping off oil with hair) signified her humble devotion to her Savior. Cf 13:3–5. hair. Women typically had long hair and wore it braided or pinned up.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:4 Judas Iscariot. Cf 6:71.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:5 three hundred denarii. Nearly the yearly wages of a common laborer. given to the poor? Jesus had commended almsgiving in the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 6:2–4), and the disciples assumed Jesus would give money to the needy at the Passover Feast.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:6 charge of the moneybag. Judas carried or kept the moneybag or purse (a treasurer of sorts). Funds were used not only to take care of the expenses of the disciples but also to help those in need (13:29).
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:7 Obviously, it was too late for the oil to be kept in the bottle and then sold to replenish the moneybag. Jesus here speaks in abbreviated form, saying that Mary was right to keep the oil for such an occasion. burial. See note, Mt 26:12.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:8 See note, Mt 26:11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1–8 In humble devotion, yet with extravagant expense, Mary anoints Jesus, while Judas the betrayer and thief covers his greed with seemingly pious intentions. Sinners may appear to have pure motives, but inwardly they have greedy hearts. Through repentance and the blessings of the Word, God grants us pure hearts. No monetary value can be placed on our "redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses" (Eph 1:7). • O Lord, may we follow Mary's example by lavishing love on Him who died for us! Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:9 large crowd of the Jews. Not all Jews were hostile to Jesus. No doubt some were pilgrims who had come to the Passover Feast. there. Bethany (v 1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:11 going away. Many left the chief priests and other Jewish leaders to follow Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:9–11 Jesus' popularity grows as crowds hear about the raising of Lazarus, but the chief priests plot against Jesus and Lazarus. Those who hate Christ also hate His friends. But Jesus deserves praise (Php 2:10), for He came to bring life to all, and He will mercifully watch over us. • Dear Lord, change the hearts of all who hate You so that they may trust in Your mercy. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:12 next day. Sunday of Christ's Passion. large crowd. See note, v 9.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:13 branches. See note, Mt 21:8. palm trees. Palm trees grew plentifully near Jerusalem and had become a Jewish national symbol, appearing on Judean coins. Hosanna! Lit, "help" or "save, I pray." Plea for divine help or deliverance found frequently in Ps 113–18 (the Hallel), psalms for morning prayer. It became a general acclamation. See note, Ps 118:25.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:15 daughter of Zion. See p 1079. donkey's colt! Israelite kings rode beasts of burden (1Ki 1:38), but by Roman times, the usual royal mount was a horse. Signified that Christ came in humility and peace.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:16 glorified. After Christ was crucified and raised from the dead, the disciples were able to understand how He had fulfilled prophecies. written about Him. Christ's actions fulfilled what the prophets said. See notes, Zec 9:9; Lk 24:44.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:17 continued to bear witness. The crowd could not stop talking about the great miracle that had taken place.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:19 you are gaining nothing. Another way of saying, "It's useless." Reveals the Pharisees' exasperation at Jesus' growing popularity. See note, 4:1.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:12–19 Riding on a donkey, Jesus enters Jerusalem on the Sunday of Passion Week. Leaders of the Jewish nation reacted as we often do when we are no longer in control: frustrated and fearful. But Christ comes in a humble and gentle manner, eager to listen to our prayers for salvation. • Hosanna! Please save us, O blessed Lord. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:20 Greeks. Probably Gk-speaking Gentiles from a place like the Decapolis. See color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:21 came to Philip. Perhaps because Philip had a Gk name and came from an area near the Decapolis. Bethsaida. See color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:22 For some reason, Philip hesitated to speak immediately with Jesus. Here Andrew showed the same missionary zeal he had shown earlier (1:41).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:23 answered them. Apparently Philip and Andrew rather than the Greeks. We are never told whether these Greeks met with Jesus, who is now fully focused on His challenges in Jerusalem. hour has come … to be glorified. See notes, 2:4; 7:30.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:24 Emphasizes the necessity of Jesus' death as the way to glorification and the blessing of many disciples. According to the time reckoning in Jn, Jesus rose from the dead on the 16th of Nisan, the day barley firstfruits were offered at the temple.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:25 loses it. Jesus applied the image in v 24 to the life of His followers (cf Mk 8:34). Idolatrous love of self brings a person under God's judgment. hates his life. Semitic idiom indicating preference; the opposite of sinful self-adulation. See note, Rm 9:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:26 Just as Christ was ready to face death, so must His disciples be, no matter who they are or where they come from.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:20–26 When some Greeks want to see Jesus, He uses the occasion to proclaim His death and the fruit it will bear. Too often we are tempted to think that we are really "living" when we are indulging in life's sinful pleasures. Christ promises everlasting life to all who deny themselves and trust in Him. He shows us the meaning of abundant life. • O God, as Your baptized child, let me consider myself "dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus" (Rm 6:11). Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:27 soul troubled. Christ knew that the moment of His death was at hand. this purpose. Suffering and death as the path to glorification. See note, 13:21.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:28 I have glorified it … glorify it again. The Father had already glorified Christ through His incarnation and earthly ministry (esp miracles and signs); now He was about to glorify Him again through His death and resurrection.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:29 thundered. God's voice was audible to all, but not everyone identified it or understood it (cf Ex 19:16, 19).
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:31 Now is the judgment. Jesus Himself will be judged a criminal shortly, but here He speaks of the condemnation of Satan and the work of the Holy Spirit (cf 16:8–10). ruler of this world be cast out. Christ's death on the cross may have appeared to be Satan's triumph, but in fact it spelled his overthrow. See note, Gn 3:15.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:32 And I. Jesus emphasizes what He will experience and do. See note, v 34. lifted up. See note, 8:28. all people. Not that everyone in the world would enter heaven, but Christ would make atonement for everyone's sins and draw people out of every nation to form His Church. See note, 1:9.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:34 heard from the Law. Scriptural texts prophesying the Messiah's eternal kingdom (e.g., 2Sm 7:13; Ps 89:35–37; Dn 7:13–14). lifted up? Crowd evidently understood this as a reference to Jesus' execution. Who is this Son of Man? People seemed confused about the title's meaning, despite Jesus' emphasis on Himself in v 32. The question implied, however, that at least some considered it a reference to the Messiah. See p 2098.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:35 Walk. See p 1904. lest darkness overtake you. Believing in Jesus is a matter of utmost urgency. See note, 1:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:36a sons of light. People whose life is characterized by the light (cf Eph 5:8; 1Th 5:5).
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:27–36a Christ faces the moment of His glory, confirmed by His Father's voice from heaven: the hour when He would be lifted up on the cross so that He could draw all people to Himself. Now is the day of salvation (2Co 6:2); people ignore it at their great peril. Thanks be to God, Christ remains committed to His mission to save the world in spite of its unbelief. • Father, glorify Your Son and draw us to Him today. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:36b departed. From Jerusalem or perhaps from the crowd.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:37 they. The crowd (v 34).
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:38 As Isaiah foretold, the people believed neither the message nor Jesus' signs (cf 14:10–11).
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:39–40 As in the days of Isaiah, God's judgment locked people in their unbelief. They would not believe, so they are condemned to become those who could not believe. See note, Ex 9:12.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:40 He. Or, "it," referring to what was heard.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:41 he saw. Either directly in a vision or through the prophetic words God gave him. His glory. Isaiah either saw the preincarnate Christ or discerned what the Christ would do as the Suffering Servant. See p 1178.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:42 authorities believed. E.g., Nicodemus (3:1–21) and Joseph of Arimathea (19:38). for fear of the Pharisees. Pharisees controlled Jewish synagogues. Few dared to oppose them, for fear of being ostracized. See note, 9:22; see also p 1557.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:36b–43 Some Jews reject Jesus and, under God's judgment, are hardened in unbelief; others believe in Him but refuse to confess Him openly for fear of being removed from the synagogue community. The desire to be accepted by others can stand in the way of a Christian's bold confession of Christ today. Yet, take heart. God has revealed His saving presence (His glory) in the person of His Son, that we may glorify Him before all people. • Lord, may I "tell of [Your] salvation from day to day" (Ps 96:2). Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:46 as light. See note, 8:12.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:47 Christ came to save the world by making atonement for sin. Even on the Last Day, first and foremost He will be our Savior.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:48 the word … will judge. Christ offered life to His hearers, but their rejection of His message would condemn them. They had a chance to embrace life, but they freely chose death instead.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:49 Throughout His ministry, Christ simply did and spoke what His Father told Him to do and speak.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:50 His commandment. See note, v 49. eternal life. The message entrusted to Jesus by His Father has one goal: to bring eternal life to all who believe it.
JOHN—NOTE ON 12:44–50 As Jesus concludes His public ministry, He reminds His hearers that He has come to save the world. Rejection of Christ and His Word brings judgment. Believers, however, do not see in Jesus an angry judge but a loving Savior who has our salvation ever on His heart. • Gracious Savior, remove from my heart all unbelief and doubt. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON Chs 13–17 The setting for these chapters is the Upper Room, where Jesus celebrated the Passover with His disciples.

JOHN—NOTE ON Ch 13 An important transition in Jn, introducing the section covering the events of Holy Week (chs 13–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1 before. Not on the day before the Passover but on the evening of the Passover (Nisan 13), before the Passover meal had been eaten. See calendar, p 262. He loved them to the end. May mean either "to the end of His life" or "utterly."

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:2 The plot against Jesus did not originate in flesh and blood but was of the devil's prompting.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:3 Christ did not face death as a powerless victim but as the almighty Son of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:4 rose from supper. Christ interrupted His dinner to serve the disciples. outer garments. Slaves and workers did not wear outer garments, esp while working.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:5 Even if a guest had bathed just before attending a banquet, his feet would be dirty from dusty roads. The lowest of the slaves —in Jewish households, a Gentile slave—was made to do the menial work of bathing guests' feet. Disciples might do many chores for their rabbi, but foot washing was not one of them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:7 afterward. After Christ's crucifixion and resurrection.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:8 Peter objected because he thought Christ's behavior was too demeaning. share with Me. Share in Jesus' inheritance, i.e., be eternally blessed. See "portion," p 7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:9 Peter went to the opposite extreme from v 8: if foot washing is good, further washing must be better. Peter lists the parts of the body commonly washed or "bathed" when a thorough bath was not possible (v 10). See note, Mk 7:3–4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:10 bathed. See notes, vv 5, 9; Mk 7:3–4. except for his feet. The disciples had already received forgiveness of sins—spiritual cleansing—from Jesus. But just as a traveler might regularly need a foot washing, so Christians must lead a life of daily repentance (contrition and faith). not every one of you. Because Judas did not believe, he had rejected the forgiveness God offered and thus remained unclean.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:12 Christ did more than give an example of humility; He also demonstrated the self-sacrifice and love that He would show the next day on the cross.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:13 Teacher and Lord. Common titles for rabbis in ancient times. Teacher. Aram rabbi, "my chief," or "great one" (Hbr rabban). Lord. Aram mari, "my lord." See "Lord," p 2098.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:14–15 Jesus did not institute a new sacrament of foot washing, but rather established a pattern of humility for Christians to follow. See note, v 12.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:16 If foot washing was not too lowly a task for Christ, then His disciples could not turn away from doing such humble acts. messenger. Lit, "apostle," but not in its churchly sense. An apostle was essentially a messenger sent by his lord, with full authority to act in his lord's name. See p 1901.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:17 blessed. Gk makarios, occurring only twice in Jn (cf 20:29). Not merely happy but truly receiving God's gracious favor. See p 842.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:18 Christ knew Judas's character when He chose him. He who ate My bread. Sharing a meal was a sign of close friendship. To betray such friendship was esp heinous. lifted his heel. Act of malice or betrayal, e.g., striking a person when he is down.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:19 believe that I am He. Jesus foretold His betrayal, which confirmed His divine insight (see note, 1:48). Jesus remained fully in control, not a passive victim of fate. Cf 8:28; see pp 1784–85.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:20 Christ would send the apostles. How they would be treated would indicate how people viewed Christ.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1–20 Jesus washes His disciples' feet, thereby showing His willingness to serve them. Often we think that greatness means having others serve us. But Christ shows His true greatness and His love toward us in that He came to wash away our sins, even though it cost Him His life. • Lord Jesus Christ, receive our thanks for Your love, and help us to love one another as deeply as You have loved us. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:21 troubled in His spirit. Christ knew full well that the cross, though ultimately bringing glory, would be painful. Cf Lk 22:42–44. betray Me. See note, Lk 22:21.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:23 whom Jesus loved. According to tradition, John, the author of the Gospel. Not a boast that the Lord favored him, but a recognition that the Lord chose to love even him. close to Jesus. Lit, "in the bosom of Jesus." John would have been reclining next to Jesus, with his back toward Him, thus making it convenient for him to lean back and talk to Him (v 25). See note, Mt 8:11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:26 I will give this morsel. Usually a sign of honor and care.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:27 Satan entered. Satan possessed Judas. See note, Lk 22:3. What you are going to do, do quickly. Jesus permitted Judas's betrayal because it fit with God's plan of redemption.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:28 no one … knew. Given the earlier discussion (vv 21–26), John should have known, but he and the other disciples could not imagine that any of them would betray Jesus.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:29 feast. Most likely Feast of Unleavened Bread, which began the next day. Although a few merchants might be selling at that hour, it would be impossible to buy anything on Friday or Saturday because of Sabbath regulations. give something to the poor. Almsgiving, a common practice during Passover.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:30 night. Not only indicating the Passover Feast had begun but also symbolizing the spiritual darkness descending on Judas (see note, v 27). See note, 1:5.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:21–30 Jesus predicts that one of His disciples will betray Him. He gives Judas a morsel of food, a gesture of friendship, but Judas leaves to carry out his plot. This event warns us not to repay the kindness of God with evil and unfaithfulness. When you see how you have betrayed Christ with your behavior, repent; remember that He died for you and will forgive you. • Gracious Savior, forgive my own sins of betrayal, and grant me a new heart. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:31 glorified. Jesus saw His death as the moment of His glory. See note, 2:4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:33 Little children. Term of endearment. Evokes the image of a father addressing his children at a Passover meal. See note, Ex 13:8. Where I am going you cannot come. The disciples could not follow Christ to the cross, where He would make atonement for sin.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:34 new commandment. God had previously commanded His people to love others, even at some cost (e.g., Mt 5:38–46), but Jesus' sacrificial love sets a far higher standard than anything before.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:35 Genuine faith in Christ shows itself in brotherly love.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:31–35 The disciples cannot follow Christ to the cross, but He asks them to imitate His love for them as they love one another. Christians bring dishonor to Christ and His love when they deal with one another in a loveless manner. Christ redeemed us through His self-sacrificial love that we may in turn imitate His love (Eph 5:1–2). • May Your love, O Lord, guide my every action. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:36 you will follow afterward. Peter would die later.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:37 Peter's overconfidence and self-assertive pride prevented him from seeing that Christ must die for him, not he for Christ.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:38 See note, 18:27.
JOHN—NOTE ON 13:36–38 Peter thinks he is ready to follow Jesus, but Jesus says Peter will only deny Him. Peter's boldness was not due to faith but to egotistical bravado. In the end, Peter did offer his life for Christ, but only because Christ first offered His life for Peter—and for us too. • Dear God, help me to see that Your power is made perfect in my weakness. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:1 Jesus clearly equates Himself with God. See notes, 1:18; 10:30.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:2 many rooms. Lit, "dwelling places." Imagery depicts not temporary housing, such as a hotel room, but permanent residence with the Father in heaven. I go to prepare a place for you? Christ prepares a new "promised land" for the Church, the new Israel.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:3 come again. After the resurrection.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:5 we do not know where You are going. Thomas remained perplexed about the significance of Jesus' departure. Jesus' teaching would not become clear until after the resurrection (cf 2:22; 20:19–29).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:6 the way. Christ is not merely a way, but rather the only way to God. See p 844. Hus: "Let the humble pilgrim look at Christ…. Behold he who wants to go, has the way, for Christ is the way, and whither he wants to go, for Christ is the truth, and where he wants to abide, for Christ is the life" (The Church, p 90).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:7 know Him and have seen Him. Christ is so fully divine that to have seen and known Him is to have seen and known the Father (see note, 1:18).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:8 show us the Father. Philip apparently wanted a more physical experience of God's presence (a "theophany," e.g., Ex 33:17–23; see p 39).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:9 seen the Father. See note, 1:18.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:10 dwells in Me does His works. Another expression of the complete unity of Father and Son (see note, 10:30).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:11 works. See note, 5:36.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:12 greater works. Cf 5:20. They are greater not because they are more miraculous but because many miracles will take place after Christ has completed His work of redemption and gone to the Father. Cf Ac 5:12–16.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:14 in My name, I will do it. Not simply a formula appended to a prayer, but prayer in keeping with Jesus' revealed will and teaching. Cf Jas 4:3.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:1–14 Through His death and resurrection, Christ went to prepare a place for us in heaven, where we will dwell with God forever. The true God cannot be known apart from Jesus Christ. Because of Christ's work, we can know the Father and enter His eternal presence. • O risen Lord, with great anticipation I long for my home in heaven. Come, Lord Jesus! Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:15 If you love Me. See "love," p 1903. My commandments. Christ's Word, including not merely ethical mandates but all His teaching (cf vv 21, 23–24).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:16 Helper. Gk parakletos, "comforter" or someone who appears on another's behalf ("advocate").
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:17 Spirit of truth. The Holy Spirit imparts the truth found in God and His Son, who speaks truthful words.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:18 orphans. See note, 13:33. come to you. After His resurrection they would see Him again.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:19 Because I live, you also will live. Christ's resurrection is the basis for the new life that Christians begin to experience now and will receive fully on the Last Day. Cf 5:24; 11:25–26.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:20 In that day. Hbr expression meaning "then." you in Me, and I in you. Christ dwells in His people so that they have intimate communion with Him and His Father.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:21 God loves and reveals Himself to those who love and believe Christ—a love shown by obedience to the Word. Bern: "Make yourself known then and seen beforehand, lest you be unknown for glory and known only for punishment. If Christ recognizes you in the [present] strife, He will recognize you in heaven" (SLSB, p 191).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:22 Judas. Probably Judas the son of James. manifest. Perhaps Judas expected that Jesus, as Messiah, would reveal Himself to an audience wider than His disciples after His resurrection. Cf 1Co 15:3–8.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:23–24 Jesus answers Judas by distinguishing believers from the world, which would not receive His preaching. Judas has in mind a political goal; Jesus has in mind a heavenly goal. See note, 18:36.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:23 My word. His teaching. We … Our. The Trinity. make Our home with him. Cf 1Co 3:16–17; Eph 2:22.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:26 send in My name. The Father will act at Jesus' initiative and request (cf v 16). See note, 15:26. Aug: "The Lord … shows the Spirit to be both of the Father and of the Son…. The Father is the beginning (principium) of the whole divinity" (NPNF 1 3:85). teach you all things … I have said to you. Promise that the Holy Spirit will help the disciples to discern more fully the words they could not understand before Christ's death. Cf 21:19; see "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:27 Peace. Reconciliation with God, secured through Christ's death and resurrection; not external peace, politically and militarily maintained. See p 7.
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:28 rejoiced. Jesus lifts the vision of the sad and fearful disciples. His return to the Father ought to bring them joy, once they see its full meaning. Father is greater than I. Not with respect to His being or essence, for Jesus is equal to God, as Jn often testifies (1:1, 18; 5:16–18; 10:30; 20:28). Jesus here speaks about His human nature, His humiliation as the Word made flesh, and His obedient suffering and death. Cf Php 2:5–8. Hus: "He obeyed God, his Father, in all things, as being on the side of his humanity less than the Father" (The Church, p 186).
JOHN—NOTE ON 14:30 ruler of this world. See note, 12:31. no claim. Against Christ, Satan is powerless.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:15–31 Christ promises that He and His Father will come to dwell in those who hear and believe His Word, and that He will send to them the Holy Spirit as the Helper. Those who neglect Christ's Word isolate themselves from God. Jesus Christ reveals God's grace in His Word, dispelling our fear and unbelief. • O Holy Spirit, draw me ever closer to my Savior, and focus me on His Word. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1 true vine. As opposed to unbelieving Israel, the false vine (cf Is 5:1–7; Ezk 19:10–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:2–3 fruit. Not just holy deeds, but love and witness leading to new disciples. prunes. Lit, "cleanses" (cf v 3). Although Christians have already been cleansed by God's forgiveness, they are daily in need of repentance and spiritual growth. clean because of the word. The means through which the cleansing takes place, since the Word's content is Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:4 Abide. See note, 6:56.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:5 apart from Me you can do nothing. "We cannot keep the Law without Christ's aid…. So, before we keep the Law, our hearts must be born again through faith" (Ap V 194). "Without faith, human nature does not call upon God, nor expect anything from Him, nor bear the cross [Matthew 16:24]. Instead, human nature seeks and trusts in human help. So when there is no faith and trust in God, all kinds of lusts and human intentions rule in the heart [Genesis 6:5]" (AC XX 37–38).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:6 fire. Symbol of judgment and destruction (cf Ezk 15:1–8; Mt 3:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:7 it will be done. See note, 14:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:8 As Christ glorified the Father through His obedience, believers glorify God through their lives—and show that they are real disciples, attached to the vine.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:10 Father's commandments. Jesus' obedience to His Father, a central theme of Jn. Cf 8:29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:11 My joy … your joy. Not the ephemeral happiness that worldly pleasures bring, but the deep and abiding joy of being loved by God through Jesus Christ. See p 1903.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:12 love … as I have loved you. See note, 13:34.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:13 lay down his life. Highest expression of love. for his friends. Gk hyper, "on behalf of"; giving one's life as a sacrifice for a friend. See note, 1:29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:14 We do not become Christ's friends through our obedience, but we obey Him because we cherish our relationship with Him.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:15 servants. See p 1904. all that I have heard from My Father. See note, 5:30.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:16 I chose you and appointed you. God called them as believers; they depended on divine initiative, not human choice. Cf v 19; see note, 1:13. bear fruit. See note, vv 2–3.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:17 Jesus focuses on love and self-sacrifice as the basis for this relationship among His disciples.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1–17 Christ is the true vine, and His disciples are the branches, vitally connected to Him and spontaneously bearing fruit under His purifying care. Christians must love one another as friends, not regard one another as enemies. By grace, God has dwelt among us in His Son (1:14) and has joined us together in a fellowship of self-giving love. • Hear the prayers of Your faithful people, who desire to do Your will, dear Lord. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:18 world. See note, 1:10.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:19 not of the world … out of the world. Christians are born into fallen humanity ("the world") and thus are chosen out of it; but as Christ's followers, they are no longer governed by it and hence are not of it. See "church," pp 1901–2.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:20 Jesus reapplies the words of 13:16 to the coming persecution. servant. See p 1904. persecute. More than antagonism; persecution leading to death.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:22 not have been guilty. Of course, the world stood guilty of sin before Christ's coming. But His message, which aroused fierce opposition, exposed the world's rebellion against God.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:23 You cannot truly love God if you reject Christ.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:24 works. Jesus' words and deeds, including His miracles. not be guilty. See note, v 22.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:25 their Law. OT Scripture. They hated Me without a cause. Most likely from Ps 69:4, a messianic psalm quoted often in the NT.
JOHN—NOTE ON 15:26 I will send … proceeds from the Father. This verse refers primarily to the Son's sending of the Holy Spirit. That He is the Spirit of the Son (Rm 8:9; Gal 4:6; 1Pt 1:11) indicates that the Holy Spirit proceeds not only from the Father but also from the Son. Western Christians, therefore, rightly understand this passage to imply a double procession of the Holy Spirit from the Father and the Son. Nicene Creed: "who proceeds from the Father and the Son." Aug: "The Spirit came forth, not as born, but as given; and so He is not called a son, because He was neither born, as the Only-begotten [the Son], nor made, … as we are" (NPNF 1 3:94).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:27 beginning. Beginning of Jesus' ministry.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:1 falling away. From saving faith; apostasy.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:2 They. Those who belong to the world (15:21–25), specifically the unbelieving Jewish leadership who persecuted Christ. out of the synagogues. See note, 9:22. offering service to God. Same as Paul's attitude prior to conversion (Gal 1:13–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:4 their hour. Those who opposed Christ and His followers would have a time to freely persecute God's people. Cf Ac 7–8. Jesus did not explicitly state when this would take place.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:18–16:4a Christ predicts that His disciples will face hostility from the unbelieving world. Those who think it is easy to be a Christian fail to understand the real consequences of following Jesus Christ. In the face of persecution and the world's hatred, Christ promises to strengthen and keep us from falling away • O Lord, let me not be discouraged when I am personally abused because of my faith. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:5 Where are You going? Thomas had asked such a question earlier (14:5). More recently, the disciples had been too preoccupied with their own loss to ask more perceptive questions about His impending departure.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:7 to your advantage. Advantageous because Jesus would send the Spirit to His disciples once His work had been accomplished. the Helper will not come to you. The Holy Spirit could not begin His work of applying Christ's redemption until Christ Himself had finished it. See p 1815.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:8 convict. Not merely in a legal sense, but will expose to shame before all, with the hope of bringing the world to its senses and to repentance. This is the Spirit's work through the Law. "Christ's Spirit must not only comfort, but also through the office of the Law 'convict the world concerning sin' [John 16:8]" (FC SD V 11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:9–11 The world must know that it is not righteous but trapped in the worst of sins: unbelief (v 9; cf 12:34–50). Further, the world must know that Christ alone is righteous (v 10) and everything the world worships is doomed (v 11). The Holy Spirit convicts people of these truths so that they will no longer be part of the world but become Christ's disciples.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:9 In the final analysis, sin is unbelief and the refusal to trust in God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:10 Though the world considered itself righteous, Christ's glorification proved that He alone was righteous, much to the world's shame.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:11 The world is further convicted of sin because it follows one who has been condemned. ruler. Satan. judged. Found guilty and condemned. See note, 12:31.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:12 Jesus resumed teaching after the resurrection (chs 20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:13 guide. Gk hodegeo, from hodos ("way," "journey"); to lead, as a travel guide. things that are to come. Not a promise of new revelations, but rather that the disciples would understand how Christ's death and resurrection applied to the Church after Pentecost. The Spirit will lead believers into a clearer understanding of God's truth as they make their way into the future.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:14 take what is Mine. Jesus had received His revelation from the Father, which would now be imparted and explained by the Holy Spirit.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:4b–15 Christ comforts the disciples by promising to send them the Helper (the Holy Spirit), who will guide them into a deeper understanding of Christ's Word. Mistakenly, we sometimes think that Jesus' physical absence places us at a disadvantage. In fact, Jesus is present with us through the witness of the Spirit, who works among us through God's Word and Sacraments. • O Holy Spirit, through the Word, guide us into all truth. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:16 Christ describes His burial and resurrection.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:19 Jesus commonly used rhetorical questions as a teaching method.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:20 sorrow will turn into joy. Cf 20:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:21 Cf Is 21:3; 26:18–19, where the prophet illustrates Israel's suffering before deliverance with the image of childbirth.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:22 no one will take your joy. Christ's resurrection brings lasting joy, not just joy for a moment (cf 1Pt 1:3–9).
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:23 ask nothing of Me. After Christ's resurrection and ascension, the disciples will pray directly to their heavenly Father.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:24 Until now you have asked nothing in My name. The disciples had asked questions and favors of Jesus but had not prayed to the Father in Jesus' name.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:16–24 Christ promises to return after His resurrection and turn the disciples' sorrow into joy. Human sorrow can become an expression of self-pity, hindering genuine prayer for God's help and deliverance. Yet, God knows how to turn our sorrow into joy, and He promises to hear our prayers for Jesus' sake. • Hear us, O heavenly Father, and give us joy in Jesus' name! Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:25 figures of speech. See note, 10:6. hour. See note, 2:4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:29 The disciples thought that they understood, but their understanding remained inadequate.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:30 You came from God. Although their faith was still deficient, the disciples believed that Jesus' knowledge proved His divine origin.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:31 See note, v 19.
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:32 each to his own home. The disciples would temporarily abandon Jesus in the crisis to come. with Me. Although the Father would forsake Christ on the cross (cf Mt 27:46) as Christ became sin for us (2Co 5:21), the Father remained faithful to His Son and His mission in a way that the disciples did not (cf Ac 2:24; 10:40).
JOHN—NOTE ON 16:33 tribulation. Persecution and other troubles Christians face. I have overcome the world. See note, v 11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:25–33 The disciples confidently claim they understand Jesus' parting words, but Jesus utters the sober prediction that they will soon abandon Him. Those boasting about spiritual maturity stand in danger of succumbing to human pride and unbelief. When we face temptation and trouble in this world, we can take heart that Christ has overcome the world for our sake. • O Christ, in crisis situations, give me the peace only You can give. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:1 lifted up His eyes. See note, 11:41. glorify. The glorification would take place on the cross (see note, 12:28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:2 authority over all flesh. Christ rules over all people. all whom You have given. Believers in Christ do not come to Him by their own power; God brings them to Him. See note, 6:44.
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:3 Jesus summarizes two key points: (1) to know God is eternal life; and (2) knowledge of the true God cannot be separated from Christ, who is the only access to such knowledge (cf 14:6–7). know You. Bern: "Knowledge then is the fruit of faith, perfect charity of hope… . Understanding and love, that is, the knowledge of and delight in the truth, are, perhaps, as it were, the two arms of the soul, with which it embraces and comprehends with all saints the length and breadth, the height and depth, that is the eternity, the love, the goodness, and the wisdom of God" (SLSB, p 37). only true God. False teachers have abused this passage, using it to question whether Jesus was true God. Ath: "Now had [Jesus] been a creature, He would not have added this, and ranked Himself with His Creator (for what fellowship is there between the True and the not true?); but as it is, by adding Himself to the Father, He has shown that He is of the Father's nature; and He has given us to know that of the True Father He is True Offspring. And John too, as he had learned, so he teaches this, writing in his Epistle, 'And we are in the True, even in His Son Jesus Christ; This is the True God and eternal life' " (NPNF 2 4:398). Hil: "If … the Father is the only true God, Christ is not outside the only true God, since the Father, Who is the only true God, glorifies in Himself Christ [cf 13:32; 14:10; 17:5]" (NPNF 2 9:169).
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:5 glorify Me in Your own presence. See note, 1:14. before the world existed. Preincarnate glory with the Father. Christ is eternal and thus existed before the world was made.
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:6 people. Cf 6:37, 44–45; 15:16, 27.
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:7 everything. Includes Jesus' coming, His entire ministry, His Word and works, His disciples—in short, all that He is, has received, and has done to reveal His Father's love for the world.
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:9 I am not praying for the world. Jesus did not pray for the world in its opposition to God, though He loves the world (3:16) and prayed it would be saved through the Word that His witnesses share (vv 20–23).
JOHN—NOTE ON 17:10 glorified in them. Through their fruitful discipleship (cf 15:8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:11 keep them in Your name. Faithful to Jesus' revelation of the Father. be one. Spiritual unity of the Church. even as. Gk kathos, also translated "just as" in v 21. A comparison. Whereas the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are one in being (Dt 6:4), Christians enjoy only a similar unity, as the Gk shows. Ancient and modern false teachers have badly muddled Jesus' words by overlooking this and arguing that the Father and Son have a unity only of will and works, not of being. Beware such false doctrine!

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:12 son of destruction. Judas. See notes, 6:70; 13:27. Scripture might be fulfilled. God remained in control. God brings about good from evil despite people's bad intentions. See p 837.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:14 world has hated … not of the world. Cf 15:18–19.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:15 God calls Christians to be witnesses to the world (15:27), which they cannot be if they are no longer in the world. evil one. Satan. Cf 1Jn 2:13–14; 3:12.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:17 Sanctify. God sets His people apart from the world by means of His Word. See p 1904.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:18 I have sent them. Anticipates the sending in 20:21 (cf 13:20; 15:26–27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:19 consecrate. Gk hagiazo, same word translated "sanctify" in v 17. See "holy," p 1902. Jesus set Himself apart to do the saving work for which the Father sent Him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:20 those who will believe in Me through their word. All subsequent generations of believers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:21 be one. See note, v 11. the world may believe that You have sent Me. Unity and love give powerful witness to the world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:22 glory. See note, 1:14. Christ's glory was seen chiefly on the cross. given to them. Jesus' disciples were commissioned to bear witness to His glory as the Savior of the world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:23 become perfectly one. Attain perfect unity. See note, v 11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:24 See note, 14:2.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:26 will continue to make it known. After His death and resurrection, through the Holy Spirit and the testimony of His disciples (cf 15:26–27).

JOHN—NOTE ON Ch 17 Knowing that He is going to the cross, Jesus prays for His disciples and asks that they be united by faith in Him. Whenever Christians ignore God's Word, they foster divisions within the Church and diminish their witness. But God's Word is the truth that will unite His Church, glorify Him, and enable His people to fulfill their calling in a troubled world. • Heavenly Father, reveal in my life the love that You have shown me in Your Son. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1 Kidron. Name means "murky" or "turgid." The brook is a wadi or watercourse, dry except in the rainy season; it adjoins Jerusalem on the east and empties into the Dead Sea. The valley is mentioned only here and in 2Ch 30:14. See diagram, pp 1690–91. garden. Though unnamed here, Gethsemane (see note, Mt 26:36). Perhaps John does not name it because the place was unfamiliar to his readers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:2 Judas … knew. Jesus was not trying to keep His movements secret, thus He returned to a place He frequented. often met there. Only Jn supplies this detail. Jesus and His disciples may have camped in this place for the Passover festival and at other times when they visited Jerusalem. Aug: "There, accordingly, the wolf, clad in a sheep's skin, and tolerated among the sheep by the profound counsel of the Father of the family, learned where he might opportunely scatter the slender flock, and lay his coveted snares for the Shepherd" (NPNF 1 7:416).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:3 band. Cohort of Roman soldiers, or a 10th of a legion. Not likely a whole cohort (normally 500–600, though numbers varied), though concern that rioting among the Galileans at the feast would be sparked by the arrest of Jesus might have motivated the authorities to send a large detachment. officers. See note, 7:32. Reinforcement of these police by Roman soldiers was necessary because the temple police failed to arrest Jesus previously and because of the concern about resistance from the Galileans (cf 7:44–46). lanterns and torches. Perhaps thought necessary to prevent Jesus from hiding in the garden, despite a full moon that night (Passover was calculated by the phases of the moon). weapons. Ironically used to arrest the One who came to bring peace (14:27; 16:33; 20:19). Aug: "God lay hid in that human flesh; and eternal day was so obscured in those human limbs, that with lanterns and torches He was sought for to be slain by the darkness" (NPNF 1 7:417).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:4 came forward. More evidence that Jesus willingly submitted to His Father's will (10:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:5 I am He. Note the threefold repetition of the "I am" in vv 5, 6, 8. An expression of self-identification; see note, 4:26. See also pp 1784–85. Judas. Mentioned often in Jn (eight times), usually with specific reference to his betrayal. This is the last reference in Jn.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:6 they drew back and fell to the ground. The Son of God confronted the power of darkness that came out against Him and caused its agents to recoil before His divine presence (cf 12:31; 14:30). Cf 2Ki 1 for the humbling of Ahaziah's troops.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:10 sword. Relatively short sword (like a dagger) that could be concealed under a cloak. Some Jewish sources indicate that it was illegal to carry such a weapon during Passover. The servant perhaps sought to avoid Peter's wild blow, but when he flinched, his ear was severed. Malchus. Similar to Hbr "king"; mentioned by name only in Jn. Perhaps a Syrian or Nabataean servant attached to the high priest's household.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:11 drink the cup. Cup of wrath and suffering, which God—not His enemies—had prepared for Him (cf Ps 75:8; Is 51:17; Jer 25:15; Ezk 23:31–34; Hab 2:16). See note, Is 51:17.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1–11 Jesus takes charge and powerfully confronts those who come to arrest Him in the garden, even while He voluntarily accepts the suffering that lies before Him. Jesus suffered and died not as a martyr for a noble cause but as the Savior whose sacrifice atoned for our sin. • I give You thanks, O Redeemer, that I am counted among Your own. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:12 bound Him. Standard procedure for Roman soldiers, who took no chances lest an escape lead to serious trouble.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:13 Annas. High priest AD 6–15, when he was deposed by the Roman governor. At this time, Annas was not in office but continued to bear the honorary title. His five sons and his son-in-law Caiaphas succeeded him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:12–14 Jewish officials arrest Jesus with the assistance of Roman soldiers and lead Him to the high priest Annas for questioning. The arrest of God's Son reveals the depths to which sinful humans will go to remove Him from their lives. God used those who led Jesus to His cross as His instruments to accomplish our salvation. • O Lord Jesus, I praise You that You died not only for my sins, but for the sins of all people.

Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:15 another disciple. Probably John, the disciple "whom Jesus loved" (13:23). known to the high priest. For reasons unspecified, John had access to the high priest's house and was familiar with some servants there. See note, v 10; cf v 16. court. Atrium or open area, probably in the Hasmonean Palace, which stood opposite the west wall of the temple, across the Tyropoeon Valley. Annas and his son-in-law Caiaphas would have occupied separate apartments surrounding the court mentioned here.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:17 are you? Gk form of question expected a negative answer, indicating some doubt on her part. I am not. Peter took the way out that her question provided.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:18 officers. Cf v 3. cold. Night temperatures in Jerusalem (elevation 2,400 ft) could be cold in the spring, but only occasionally reaching freezing.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:15–18 Despite Peter's "brave" promise to lay down his life for Jesus (13:37), Peter denies that he is Jesus' disciple because of his concern for self-protection. Tragically, our mouths with which we confess Jesus as Savior can also quickly deny Him. Our loving Lord did not begrudge His atoning sacrifice even to those who had denied and abandoned Him. The living Word saves us. • "What wondrous love is this That caused the Lord of bliss To bear the dreadful curse for my soul!" Amen. (LSB 543:1)
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:19 high priest. Annas.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:20 nothing in secret. Jesus' private and public teachings were perfectly consistent. He hid nothing from the authorities.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:21 those who have heard Me. Jesus called the bluff of the high priest by demanding to hear the evidence against Him from the lips of witnesses.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:22 struck. An illegal act during proper court proceedings.
JOHN—NOTE ON 18:23 bear witness. Furnish proof. Jesus asserted that the proceedings showed disrespect for proper authority and for real evidence. To insult proper authority is to insult God (Ex 22:28). Ironically, the officer's mistreatment of Jesus was blasphemous toward God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:24 sent Him bound to Caiaphas. Now the trial would start in earnest. Jesus had demanded to hear the evidence against Him, and Caiaphas would attempt to oblige.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:19–24 After Jesus' arrest, Annas conducts the preliminary interrogation of Jesus. As in the case of Jesus' accusers, sinful human beings are prone to dealing unfairly with others. Jesus calls us to honest dealings. He became the innocent victim of oppression and judgment in order that He would endure the just punishment of our sin (Is 53:7–9) and become our Savior. • O Lamb of God, who went to the cross with no complaint, remind me always of Your unfailing mercy. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:25 See note, v 17.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:26 Did I not. Gk form of this third question expected a positive answer (cf vv 17, 25). Now Peter faced a real crisis. A relative of Malchus, who certainly remembered Peter, uncovered his identity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:27 rooster crowed. Jesus' words were fulfilled. Jn does not mention Peter's flight and sorrowful tears (Mt 26:75; Mk 14:72; Lk 22:62). Chickens are never mentioned in the OT but were apparently common in NT times. See p 236.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:25–27 In sharp contrast to Jesus' forthright self-disclosure ("I am," vv 5, 8), Peter denies Jesus a third time ("I am not"), leaving Jesus alone on the way to suffering and death. Jesus warned that whoever denies Him before others, He will deny before His Father in heaven (Mt 10:33). But Christ's love is greater than our sin, and with His forgiveness He will restore a broken heart. • Lord Jesus, be patient with me and forgive me, that I might live by Your promise. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:28 governor's headquarters. Praetorium. Governor's official residence, likely the Herodian Palace on the western wall of the city of Jerusalem, or possibly the fortress Antonia, northwest of the temple area. early morning. Likely during the fourth watch, 3 to 6 a.m. See p 1567. not be defiled. Jews did not want to become ceremonially unclean by entering the home of Pilate, a Gentile. Yet, they wanted Pilate to condemn an innocent man. Such care for the Law contrasted unfavorably with the glaring illegalities of Jesus' trial. eat the Passover. This ambiguous reference to the Passover has raised issues of whether the other Gospels agree with Jn about the timing of events. The other Gospels clearly have Jesus and the Twelve eating Passover on Thursday night (see note, Lk 23:55; see also diagram, p 1690). If the reference to Passover here means the Passover meal proper (Ex 12), Jesus and the Twelve would have eaten the Passover a day earlier than the priests. The ambiguity is caused by three factors: (1) "Passover" here may refer to Passover proper (Nisan 13) or to the broader Passover and Unleavened Bread Festival (Nisan 14 to 21); (2) "day of Preparation" (Jn 19:14, 31, 42) may refer to preparation of Passover proper or to the Friday preparation for the Sabbath during the broader festival; and (3) different groups of Jews observed different calendars at this time, so Jesus may have kept a different feast day from that kept at the temple by the priests. See p 1567.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:29 Pilate. Pontius Pilate, governor of Judea (AD 26–36) appointed by Emperor Tiberius on the recommendation of Sejanus, commander of the Roman Praetorian guard. Pilate's political situation was greatly complicated after AD 31, when Tiberius executed Sejanus for insurrection. An inscription mentioning Pilate's service was found at the Roman theater in Caesarea Maritima, where Pilate had his home. See color map 4.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:30 Jesus' accusers implicitly admitted the weakness of their case by not providing a specific charge against Him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:31–33, 37–38 These verses appear on the back and front of an ancient Egyptian papyrus page out of a book (P^{52} of the J. Rylands Library, Manchester, England). The page is dated c AD 125. Apparently, within 30–40 years of when John likely wrote his Gospel at Ephesus, a copy of his work made it to Egypt. See pp 1571–74.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:31 Pilate gruffly suggests that the Council deal with Jesus itself. He already hints that he knows Jesus is being mistreated. The Romans gave local governments freedom to rule their own people by local law, but capital cases were to be judged by the Roman authorities alone. See "Council, The," p 1556.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:32 kind of death. The Romans executed noncitizens by crucifixion (cf 3:14), in contrast to stoning under Jewish law (e.g., Ac 7:57–58).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:28–32 To avoid religious contamination, the Jewish leaders refuse to enter Pilate's residence, but they unjustly seek to use Pilate's authority to put Jesus to death. Even religious people are capable of manipulating others to advance personal agendas. Remarkably, Jesus' death at the hands of unjust accusers became the very means through which our gracious God took away the guilt of sin. • "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps 51:10). Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:33 Pilate's question revealed that he was aware of the Jewish leaders' real complaint—Jesus' messianic claims. Politically speaking, Pilate saw no threat posed to Rome by the pitiable, but not criminal, man before him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:35 Pilate displays irritation for being drawn into what he perceived as a Jewish squabble motivated by jealousy of Jesus' public ministry.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:36 My kingdom is not of this world. Jesus was rejecting any worldly political aspirations or rebellious intent. Although a King, His kingdom did not threaten the external rule of the Roman Empire (cf Lk 20:25). See pp 1565–66. My servants would have been fighting. If Jesus had been establishing a political kingdom, He would have encouraged His disciples to fight to establish it (cf vv 10–11). "Legitimate public ordinances are good creations of God and divine ordinances, which a Christian can safely use. This entire topic about the distinction between the spiritual kingdom of Christ and a political kingdom has been explained in the literature of our writers…. Christ's kingdom allows us outwardly to use legitimate political ordinances of every nation in which we live, just as it allows us to use medicine or the art of building, or food, drink, and air. Neither does the Gospel offer new laws about the public state, but commands that we obey present laws, whether they have been framed by heathens or by others. It commands that in this obedience we should exercise love" (Ap XVI 53–55).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:37 Everyone … of the truth listens. Challenge to Pilate to assess the truth of the claim that Jesus presented. The person of Jesus and His revelation of divine truth are inseparable (14:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:38 What is truth? Cynical, dismissive response intended to end the discussion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:39 custom. Only the Gospels record this custom, which seems to be a local arrangement. King of the Jews? Title mocking the absurdity of accusations against Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:40 robber. Cf Mk 15:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:33–40 Pilate tries to dismiss the case before him by accommodating a Jewish custom calling for the release of a prisoner at Passover—in this instance, an insurrectionist called Barabbas. The story of Jesus' Passion is filled with people refusing to accept responsibility for their own sins, a failure that afflicts us all. But God willed that the guilt of sin be laid on His innocent Son so we might receive God's forgiveness. • Teach me to confess my faults, O Lord. Rule my heart with Your most gracious favor. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:1 flogged Him. This beating was severe; emphasizes Pilate's intent to appease the Jews and thus release Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:2 crown of thorns. Mockery. Thorns, if from the date palm, could have been as much as 12 in long. purple robe. A cloak made of relatively expensive purple cloth, worn by the Roman military and signifying royalty or governmental authority (see note, Ac 16:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:3 Hail. Cruel game of mockery played by the soldiers. struck. Slapped in the face with an open hand (cf 18:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:5 Behold the man! Mockery emphasizing Christ's weakness and vulnerability; meaning something like "poor fellow." Ironically, this was indeed the man who is King of kings and Lord of lords.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:6 chief priests and the officers. See "Council, The," p 1556.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:7 according to that law. The real issue now came out—blasphemy, which from Pilate's point of view was no crime.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:8 more afraid. Perhaps caused by Pilate's difficult political situation or by a superstitious reaction to the news that Jesus claimed divine status.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:9 Where are You from? A question far more profound than Pilate realized. He was likely weighing the political implications of crucifying Jesus or trying to satisfy superstitious curiosity. no answer. Jesus did not bother to explain. Pilate could not comprehend what was happening anyway. Cf Is 53:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:10 Pilate had ultimate legal authority over capital cases in Judea.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:11 given you from above. Cf Rm 13:1–4. Luth: "With these words He Himself confirms this power. Yet He submits to it because this was pleasing to His Father" (AE 30:78). he who delivered Me. Caiaphas. the greater sin. Caiaphas was responsible for handing over a man he knew to be innocent. In human affairs, that is the greater crime. Luth: "Pilate and the Jews had the sword and rule in the land. And yet they could not do anything until God had decreed it, as Christ also declared before Pilate: 'You would have no power over Me' (Jn 19:11). Thus He herewith gives to the sword leave and power over Christ and also offers us the comfort that no harm can come to us except insofar as He allows and permits it" (AE 20:335).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:12 Caesar's friend. Title of honor given to the emperor's closest and most faithful supporters. The title could be revoked, but only with the most frightful political and personal ramifications. Given Pilate's difficult political situation (see note, 18:29), the Jews' threat was a serious one. makes himself a king. Jewish leaders sought to buttress the case that Jesus, by making Himself a king, was guilty of insurrection against the emperor (cf v 3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:13 judgment seat. See note, Mt 27:19. Stone Pavement. Probably in the courtyard of the Herodian Palace (see note, Jn 18:28). Aramaic Gabbatha. Exceptional detail to describe the place for Jewish and Gentile readers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:14 day of Preparation. Friday, the day of preparing for the Sabbath or the Friday coinciding with the Passover. See note, 18:28. sixth hour. See p 1567.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:15 no king but Caesar. Hypocritical claim that denied the kingship of God and the Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:16 them. Roman crucifixion detachment that was ordered to put Jesus to death, to the satisfaction of the Jewish leaders. At this point, a second and more severe beating might have been administered to Jesus (cf Mt 27:27–31) as part of the torture leading to crucifixion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:1–16a Pilate succumbs to political pressure exerted by Jewish leaders and delivers Jesus over to death by crucifixion. All human beings, by virtue of their participation in Adam's sin (Rm 5:12), bear responsibility for Christ's death. Yet, take comfort in this truth: "He was wounded for our transgressions; He was crushed for our iniquities; … with His stripes we are healed" (Is 53:5). • "O sacred Head, now wounded, … I joy to call Thee mine." Amen. (LSB 449:1)

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:17 bearing His own cross. Jesus would have carried the horizontal crossbeam (patibulum) to the place of execution. The vertical beam was likely already erected at the site. The Place of a Skull … Golgotha. Aram "skull" (Lat calvaria). Perhaps a hill that had a skull-like appearance. Chrys: "Some say that Adam died there, and there lies; and that Jesus in this place where death had reigned, there also set up the trophy. For

He went forth bearing the Cross as a trophy over the tyranny of death: and as conquerors do, so He bore upon His shoulders the symbol of victory" (NPNF 1 14:317).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:19 inscription. Stated reason for crucifixion, intended to deter other would-be criminals. King of the Jews. Taunt and expression of revenge aimed at Jewish leaders. Ironically, Pilate's mockery served as a statement of fact (cf v 3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:20 written in Aramaic, in Latin, and in Greek. Aram, local language; Lat, official language; Gk, common language of business in the Roman Empire. Thus, everyone would know the crime of the crucified one.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:21 This man said. Suggests that Jesus "claimed" to be a king. But He was indeed the Messiah, the true King of Israel.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:22 Pilate was in no mood to be conciliatory.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:23–25 Both Jews and Gentiles attended Jesus' crucifixion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:23 divided them into four parts. Likely divided into belt, head covering, sandals, and outer garment. See note, Lk 23:34. one part for each. Suggests the execution squad consisted of four soldiers. seamless. It could not be divided.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:24 Even the details of the crucifixion occurred according to God's plan foretold in Scripture. cast lots. Use of dice (made of bone) to determine which member of the execution detail would take the tunic.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:25 His mother. Jn never mentions Mary by name (cf 2:1, 3). His mother's sister. Probably Salome. See p 1780. Clopas. See note, Lk 24:18. On women as disciples, see note, Lk 8:2–3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:26–27 behold, your son! … Behold, your mother! Deeply concerned for His mother's welfare, Jesus entrusted Mary to a disciple's care. Note: Jesus' brothers, who did not yet believe (7:5), were noticeably absent. Jesus reorders the household.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:26 disciple whom He loved. See note, 13:23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:27 his own home. Lit, "into his own [things]."

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:16b–27 As He is crucified on the Place of a Skull near Jerusalem, Jesus entrusts His mother to John's care. Though this is a special example of Jesus' love, God calls all believers together in an everlasting bond of mutual responsibility and love—including care for parents. Like Mary and John, we also become members of Jesus' family by faith. From the cross, Jesus reigned with love for the world; now He reigns in the hearts of those who love Him. • Dear Lord, let Your cross bring comfort and peace to me and my family. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:28 Beyond the physical thirst caused by dehydration, Jesus sought to fulfill His Father's plan foretold in Scripture. fulfill the Scripture. Ps 69 also cited at 2:17; 15:25.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:29 sour wine. Cheap beverage used by the Roman legionnaires. hyssop branch. Common bushy plant, used to sprinkle blood at the Passover (Ex 12:22). Here its stalk was used to lift a small sponge soaked with the sour wine.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:30 It is finished. Literary and theological climax of Jn. Jesus' work of atonement was finished, or accomplished. gave up His spirit. Lit, "gave up the spirit." No one could take His life from Him (10:18). To the end, Jesus was in control and was decisively giving Himself up for us sinners. "Although the work is done and the forgiveness of sins is secured by the cross [John 19:30], it cannot come to us in any other way than through the Word. How would we know about it otherwise, that such a thing was accomplished or was to be given to us, unless it were presented by preaching or the oral Word?" (LC V 31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:28–30 Jesus the Christ dies, finishing the work of salvation that His Father sent Him to accomplish. Death is not merely a natural process but is God's just punishment for sin (Rm 6:23). However, Jesus died not because He sinned but because He came to bear sin's punishment for us. • Jesus, priceless treasure and trusted friend, thank You for bearing my cross and preparing for me a new home. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:31 day of Preparation. See note, v 14. Sabbath was a high day. Sabbath connected with the Passover Feast, thus called "great." broken. Breaking the shinbones would hasten death, since the victim could no longer hold himself up to avoid fatigue and eventual asphyxiation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:34 spear. Lance (pilum); part of a Roman soldier's weaponry. blood and water. The spear pierced the pleural cavity near the heart and opened a stream of blood mingled with water. This detail establishes that Jesus' death was real. Some Church Fathers saw symbolism here pointing to the Sacraments. Aug: "From [Jesus' side] have flowed forth the sacraments of the Church, without which there is no entrance to the life which is the true life" (NPNF 1 7:434).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:35 He. John the evangelist. his testimony is true … telling the truth. Because he was an eyewitness of the crucifixion. you also may believe. First direct address to the hearers of the Gospel, intended to bring them to faith.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:36 Likely an allusion to the Passover. The Passover victim's bones were not to be broken. Christ Himself thus became the Passover Lamb.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:37 The One lifted up and pierced was now looked upon for salvation (3:14; Nu 21:8–9; Is 53:5).
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:31–37 John invites us to look on Jesus, the crucified "Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (1:29). Enemies of the cross interpret Jesus' death as disgrace, not glory. Yet, hidden beneath the outward "mask" of Jesus' suffering and death, there stands the work of our redemption, foretold in the OT. • Through the witness of Your blessed apostles, Lord Jesus, draw many to Your saving grace. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:38 Joseph. Wealthy member of the Council. Arimathea. Possibly Ramah. See note, 1Sm 1:1. secretly. Joseph honored Jesus in death, though he was afraid to confess Him in life (cf 12:42–43). Since Joseph was not overtly tied to Jesus' circle, he had access to Jesus' body, which Pilate would not likely have released to a known disciple.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:39 Nicodemus. See notes, 3:1–2. myrrh and aloes. Myrrh, a fragrant resin turned into a powder by crushing, was added to the aloes, a powder of crushed sandalwood. seventy-five pounds. Large amount, but not uncommon for royal burials. Spices were used not to embalm but to mask the smell of decay—though unnecessary in this case because of God's intervention (cf Ps 16:10; Ac 2:31).
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:40 bound it in linen cloths. See note, 11:44. spices. Placed in the linen wrapping. See note, v 39.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:41 garden. Orchard or cultivated area. new tomb. No doubt a sign of special honor, which may also signal a new beginning. See note, Lk 23:53.
JOHN—NOTE ON 19:42 A speedy burial was necessary since the Sabbath began at sundown. day of Preparation. See note, v 14. close at hand. Tomb was located outside the walls of the city in AD 33 (cf Heb 13:12). See p 1651.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:38–42 Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus, secretly Jesus' disciples for fear of the Jews, honor Jesus by attending to His burial. That the Son of God should become a corpse and be entombed appears offensive and even scandalous to human reason. But Jesus' burial proclaims the depth of Christ's utter humiliation for the sake of our salvation. • Dear Lord, You became one with us in death that we may look to You for life. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1 first day. Sunday. Mary Magdalene. See note, Lk 8:2–3. Perhaps Mary had become separated from the other women. early. Various factors may have motivated early departure for the tomb: a determination to act decisively; the desire to work on Jesus' body as soon as possible, in the morning hours while it was still cool; and the desire to leave the city before the Passover crowds began bustling about. stone. See note, Mt 27:60.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:2 ran. Sign of distress. Simon Peter. First mention of Peter since the denial (18:27). one whom Jesus loved. See note, 13:23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:4 outran. Explanation not given, though some have surmised that John was younger (he lived until the end of the first century).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:5 stooping. Gk parakypto, bending for the sake of looking, with focus on satisfying one's curiosity. linen cloths. See note, 11:44.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:7 face cloth. Probably would be wrapped under the chin and over the top of the head to keep the corpse's mouth from opening. folded up. Detail indicating that the body had not been stolen. Grave robbers would not unwrap the body, leaving behind the valuable linen and spices, nor would they neatly fold these items before leaving the tomb.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:8 saw and believed. Though John did not see the resurrected Jesus, he believed after seeing the signs of His resurrection in the empty tomb. (Contrast with Thomas's doubt [v 25].) However, John did not yet understand (v 9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:9 Though Jesus had promised His own death and resurrection and supported these promises from Scripture, the disciples had not understood the true meaning of the promises (e.g., Is 53:10–12; Hos 6:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:10 their homes. Where they were staying in Jerusalem.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1–10 The first witnesses of Jesus' resurrection see an empty tomb bearing all the signs of the fulfillment of the OT promises and Jesus' own declaration that He "must rise from the dead" (v 9). The disciples were slow to believe, just as we, too, can be of little faith. Yet, rejoice! For our sakes, Christ grants us His Spirit to work faith in us. Christ robbed the grave of death, confirming His own words, "I am the resurrection and the life" (11:25). • Christ is risen. He is risen indeed. Alleluia!

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:12 two angels in white. Visitors from heaven sometimes appeared in shining white garments (cf Lk 9:29–31; Ac 1:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:14 Even those who knew Jesus best did not recognize Him until His Word made Him known.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:15 Jesus repeated the question asked by the angels (v 13). Then His second question began to lead Mary out of her distress, to consider why Jesus was not in the tomb.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:16 Mary. The Good Shepherd called His sheep by name, and she recognized His voice (cf 10:3–4). Rabboni! Aram "my lord, my master." See note, Mk 9:5.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:17 Do not cling. Lit, "do not keep clinging." Mary was holding on to Jesus, but He asked her to let go of Him. not yet ascended. Jesus would still be visibly present for a time. Thus, Mary must go and tell the disciples of His appearing. My Father and your Father, to My God and your God. Luth: "Christ's Father and our Father are one and the same…. Therefore God is our Father and our God, but through Christ" (AE 26:43).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:11–18 After His resurrection, Jesus first appears to Mary Magdalene, who is led to recognize Him and goes to tell the disciples she has seen the Lord. When death confronts us, sorrow and a sense of loss may overcome us. But because Christ is risen, Christians can confidently assure one another that God will wipe away our tears (Rv 21:4). • O risen Christ, end our nights of sorrow and restore to us the joy of our salvation. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:19 that day. Sunday evening. doors being locked. Barred. disciples. The Twelve (v 24) minus Judas and Thomas. fear of the Jews. The disciples were afraid that they would be arrested for supporting Jesus' alleged conspiracy against the authority of imperial Rome. Jesus came and stood among them. After His resurrection, Jesus more fully manifested His divine attributes. Thus, though still completely human, He did not allow physical barriers to keep Him from revealing Himself to His disciples. Luth: "The evangelist says not that they saw him enter, but, 'He appeared or stood in their midst' [Luke 24:36], which sounds as if he had been there already, hidden, and now revealed himself, as he also did to Mary Magdalene at the grave [John 20:14], and with all to whom he appeared" (AE 37:66). Peace. See note, 14:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:20 showed them His hands and His side. Proved beyond doubt that the risen Lord, though appearing with a glorified body, was the same person as the crucified Christ. Luth: "So the very same Christ who was born of Mary and who was nailed to the cross truly rose again. It was He and no other, as He showed His disciples the scars in His hands and His side" (AE 28:150). Then … glad. Jesus' appearance caused a sudden outburst of joy.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:21 "Christ sends forth His disciples in equality, without any distinction…. He says, 'As the Father has sent Me, even so I am sending you.' He says that He sends them individually in the same way He Himself was sent [John 12:44–50]. Therefore, He grants no one a privilege or lordship above the rest" (Tr 9). Hus: "[Jesus sends them] to bear testimony to the truth, to preach the word of salvation, and, by life and teaching, to show the way of blessedness to the people" (The Church, p 195).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:22 breathed on. Gk term used only here in NT. Jesus' words, formed by breaths of air, delivered the Spirit to the disciples (Gk pneuma translates as "spirit" or "wind" [breath]). Aug: "That bodily breathing, proceeding from the body with the feeling of bodily touching, was not the substance of the Holy Spirit, but a declaration by a fitting sign, that the Holy Spirit proceeds not only from the Father, but also from the Son" (NPNF 1 3:84). Receive the Holy Spirit. By giving the Holy Spirit, Jesus was equipping the disciples for the ongoing work assigned to them, including esp the exercise of the Office of the Keys (see note, v 23).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:23 "These words show that the Keys are given to all the apostles alike and that all the apostles are sent forth alike. In addition, it must be recognized that the Keys belong not to the person of one particular man, but to the Church. Many most clear and firm arguments show this. For Christ, speaking about the Keys, adds, for example, 'If two of you agree on earth' (Matthew 18:19). Therefore, He grants the Keys first and directly to the Church. This is why it is first the Church that has the right of calling" (Tr 23–24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:19–23 The once-crucified Jesus appears to His disciples, commissioning them for their work and equipping them with the Holy Spirit. Christians have received the most precious treasure on earth—the Gospel of forgiveness—but often keep it hidden from others. Pray that the Lord would grant you boldness. God raised Jesus, the great Shepherd of the sheep, and will equip us with every good thing to do His will (Heb 13:20–21).

• O God, give us Your eternal peace and also boldness through the Holy Spirit. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:24 Twin. See note, 11:16. them. The Twelve.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:25 I will never believe. Instead of accepting the testimony of fellow disciples (cf v 8), Thomas remained deeply skeptical and demanded tactile proof of Jesus' physical resurrection.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:26 Eight days later. The following Sunday (calculated by using Jewish inclusive reckoning; see p 1567). inside again. Perhaps same location as in v 19. locked. See note, v 19. Peace be with you. See note, 14:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:27 Jesus graciously accommodated Thomas's request, to his astonishment and perhaps even his shame. believe. Lit, "become believing."

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:28 My Lord and my God! Restatement of 1:1, a central Christological affirmation in Jn.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:29 Blessed. See note, 13:17. have not seen and yet have believed. After Jesus' ascension, people would come to faith without seeing Jesus, on the sole basis of the apostles' witness (cf 17:18, 20; Rm 10:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:24–29 Jesus appears before a skeptical Thomas, who upon seeing Jesus is moved to confess Him as Lord and God. Today, we live in a skeptical age that operates by the saying "I'll believe it when I see it." However, in the Word and the Sacraments, we see and we do receive the benefits of Jesus' death and resurrection. Those who believe receive God's divine favor, for whoever believes has everlasting life (3:36).

• Even though I do not now see You, Lord, I believe and rejoice with inexpressible joy. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 20:30 other signs. See note, 2:11. this book. John's Gospel.
JOHN—NOTE ON 20:31 John not only states the purpose of his Book, but summarizes succinctly its content. See note, 5:39.
JOHN—NOTE ON 20:30–31 John, the author of this Gospel, clearly states its purpose and summarizes its central message. People commonly and mistakenly think that biblical books were written mainly to provide rules for godly living. Speaking through John, God announces the Good News that Jesus is His Son and that by faith in His name, we have life and salvation—the core message of the entire Scripture. • Let me gladly share this Good News, O God, that others may believe and live. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1 revealed. See note, v 14. The disciples returned to Galilee after the appearance of Jesus to Thomas (Mt 28:7). Jesus unveiled His glory and His triumph over death. Jn again uses the verb that described Jesus' self-revelation at the wedding of Cana (Jn 2:11). Sea of Tiberias. See note, 6:23; see also map, p 1584.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:2 Cana. See note, 2:1; see also color map 4. sons of Zebedee. James and John. two others. Never identified.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:3–4 Once more, this time in Galilee amid the everyday occupations of a fisherman, the disciples behold Jesus in the glory of His gracious lordship.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:4 did not know. The fishermen did not recognize that the person on the shore was Jesus. The boat was 100 yd from shore (v 8), and the light of day was still dim.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:5 Children. Not a common form of address, but perhaps equivalent to present-day "boys" or "guys."
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:6 Cast the net. See note, Mt 13:47–48. Jesus acts as a "spotter" from the shore, a strategy for identifying the movement of a shoal of fish.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:7 It is the Lord! Reaction prompted when Jesus' Word produced the miraculous catch of fish. outer garment. Used as a coat to ward off the morning chill. See note, 13:4.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:9 charcoal fire. Small, hot fire kindled expressly to make breakfast. Jesus was serving them again by providing fish and bread (cf 6:11; 13:4–5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:11 An astonishing catch—so impressive that the disciples actually counted them. Additional details enhance the extraordinary nature of the catch. Cf Lk 5:1–11.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:12 have breakfast. Gk word used elsewhere for a main meal (Lk 11:37). knew it was the Lord. Like the other post-resurrection appearances, this one awed the disciples.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:13 Jesus hosted the meal. See p 1764. The focus is on the resurrected Lord's serving His disciples. Cf ch 13.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:14 third time. Cf 20:19–23; 26–29. revealed. Repetition of this verb marks vv 1–14 as a discrete section.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1–14 During Jesus' third appearance after the resurrection, He performs another miracle and serves as host at a meal for the disciples. Jesus shows once again His servant heart, teaching us to follow in His way. We bless and serve one another because our gracious Savior continues to bless and serve us, especially in His Holy Supper. • As I come regularly to Your Holy Supper, dear Lord, prepare me to receive You and Your gifts worthily. Amen.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:15 love Me more than these? Peter tended to boast of his commitment before the other disciples (e.g., 13:37). Hus: "As for the third virtue, love, it is plain that Peter had this in certain respects above the others, as appears from the fervor of his acts which fittingly proceed from greater love" (The Church, p 86). Yes. Emphatic. Feed My lambs. The Lord was calling Peter away from his former profession to be a shepherd of His flock, a comparison for what would become the "pastoral" ministry.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:16 Tend My sheep. Luth: "God could rule the church through the Holy Spirit without the ministry, but He does not want to do this directly. Therefore He says to Peter: 'Feed My sheep (John 21:16). Go, preach, baptize, absolve.' … Therefore Paul calls the apostles 'fellow workmen with God' (1 Cor. 3:9). To be sure He alone works. But He does so through us" (AE 8:94–95).
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:17 third time. Peter denied the Lord three times, and now the Lord invited him to declare his love for Him three times. everything. Peter cannot tell Jesus anything that He does not already know. See note, 1:48. Feed My sheep. The Lord's threefold calling restored Peter for future service to Him and to His Church.
JOHN—NOTE ON 21:18–19 According to tradition, Peter was crucified in Rome under Nero in AD 68. Jesus, in an enigmatic way, was referring to Peter's martyrdom. See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775. Peter would follow Jesus in suffering and death, glorifying the Father (cf 12:23–28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:15–19 In His threefold exchange with Peter—who in pride and weakness failed His Lord—Jesus restores this disciple for service to Him and His flock. Our own past sins and failures make us feel unworthy to serve God. But Jesus continues to comfort shepherds and the souls they serve with the forgiveness of sins and with compassion. • Great Shepherd of the sheep, bless all pastors who bring Your consolation and peace to Your people. Amen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:21 what about this man? Peter was concerned about John's welfare and future.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:22 If it is My will that he remain. I.e., what would it matter if he were not to die. what is that to you? Peter did not need to know certain things. See "Enigmatic Sayings," p 1775.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:23 brothers. Late-first-century Church.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:24 Identifies the beloved disciple, John, as witness and author of this Gospel. we know. More than one witness or contributor may have been involved in the production of the Gospel account and the support of its distribution (see note, 18:31–33, 37–38).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:25 The Gospel is not a complete biography in the modern sense, but rather a theological treatment of Jesus' life and teachings.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:20–25 In the closing exchange between Jesus and Peter, Jesus kindly reminds this beloved apostle that God is in control of matters related to his future. All Christians must humbly recognize that God has not chosen to reveal certain things to us. But the Scriptures do reveal what is necessary for us to know: Jesus and the salvation He brings. • Blessed Lord, by patience and comfort of Your Holy Word, may we embrace and ever hold fast the glorious hope of everlasting life. Amen.

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

1 [1] ‡ † In the first book, O Theophilus, I have dealt with all that Jesus began to do and teach, [2] † until the day when he was taken up, after he had given commands through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen. [3] † He presented himself alive to them after his suffering by many proofs, appearing to them during forty days and speaking about the kingdom of God.

[4] † And while staying[1] with them he ordered them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, he said, "you heard from me; [5] † for John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with[2] the Holy Spirit not many days from now."

The Ascension

6 †So when they had come together, they asked him, “Lord, will you at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?” 7 †He said to them, “It is not for you to know times or seasons that the Father has fixed by his own authority.
8 † But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.” 9 †And when he had said these things, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him out of their sight. 10 †And while they were gazing into heaven as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white robes, 11 † and said, “Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven.”

Matthias Chosen to Replace Judas

12 ‡† Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day's journey away. 13 † And when they had entered, they went up to the upper room, where they were staying, Peter and John and James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot and Judas the son of James. 14 † All these with one accord were devoting themselves to prayer, together with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.[1]

15 † In those days Peter stood up among the brothers (the company of persons was in all about 120) and said, 16 †"Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus. 17 †For he was numbered among us and was allotted his share in this ministry." 18 ‡† (Now this man acquired a field with the reward of his wickedness, and falling headlong[2] he burst open in the middle and all his bowels gushed out. 19 † And it became known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the field was called in their own language Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood.) 20 †"For it is written in the Book of Psalms,

> "'May his camp become desolate, > and let there be no one to dwell in it';

and

> "'Let another take his office.'

21 † So one of the men who have accompanied us during all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us, 22 † beginning from the baptism of John until the day when he was taken up from us—one of these men must become with us a witness to his resurrection." 23 †And they put forward two, Joseph called Barsabbas, who was also called Justus, and Matthias. 24 ‡† And they prayed and said, "You, Lord, who know the hearts of all, show which one of these two you have chosen 25 † to take the place in this ministry and apostleship from which Judas turned aside to go to his own place.” [26]† And they cast lots for them, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

The Coming of the Holy Spirit

2 [1]‡†When the day of Pentecost arrived, they were all together in one place. [2]‡† And suddenly there came from heaven a sound like a mighty rushing wind, and it filled the entire house where they were sitting. [3]†And divided tongues as of fire appeared to them and rested[1] on each one of them. [4]†And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance.

[5]†Now there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men from every nation under heaven. [6]†And at this sound the multitude came together, and they were bewildered, because each one was hearing them speak in his own language. [7]‡And they were amazed and astonished, saying, “Are not all these who are speaking Galileans? [8]And how is it that we hear, each of us in his own native language? [9]‡Parthians and Medes and Elamites and residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, [10]Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya belonging to Cyrene, and visitors from Rome, [11]†both Jews and proselytes, Cretans and Arabians—we hear them telling in our own tongues the mighty works of God.” [12]†And all were amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “What does this mean?”
[13]†But others mocking said, “They are filled with new wine.”

Peter’s Sermon at Pentecost

14 But Peter, standing with the eleven, lifted up his voice and addressed them: “Men of Judea and all who dwell in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and give ear to my words. 15 For these people are not drunk, as you suppose, since it is only the third hour of the day.[2] 16 But this is what was uttered through the prophet Joel:

17 “‘And in the last days it shall be, God declares,
that I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh,
and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy,
and your young men shall see visions,
and your old men shall dream dreams;
18 even on my male servants[1] and female servants
in those days I will pour out my Spirit, and they shall prophesy.
19 And I will show wonders in the heavens above
and signs on the earth below,
blood, and fire, and vapor of smoke; 20 the sun shall be turned to darkness and the moon to blood, before the day of the Lord comes, the great and magnificent day.
21 And it shall come to pass that everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.’

22 “Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man attested to you by God with mighty works and wonders and signs that God did through him in your midst, as you yourselves know— 23 this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men. 24 God raised him up, loosing the pangs of death, because it was not possible for him to be held by it. [25]For David says concerning him,

> “‘I saw the Lord always before me, > for he is at my right hand that I may not be > shaken;
> [26] therefore my heart was glad, and my tongue > rejoiced;
> my flesh also will dwell in hope.
> [27] For you will not abandon my soul to Hades, > or let your Holy One see corruption.
> [28] You have made known to me the paths of life;
> you will make me full of gladness with your > presence.’

[29] “Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. [30]Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, [31]he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that he was not abandoned to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption. [32]This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. [33]Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing. [34]For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says,

> “‘The Lord said to my Lord,
> Sit at my right hand,
> [35] until I make your enemies your footstool.’

[36]Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified.”

[37]Now when they heard this they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, “Brothers, what shall we do?” [38]And Peter said to them, “Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. [39]†For the promise is for you and for your children and for all who are far off, everyone whom the Lord our God calls to himself.” [40]†And with many other words he bore witness and continued to exhort them, saying, “Save yourselves from this crooked generation.” [41]†So those who received his word were baptized, and there were added that day about three thousand souls.

The Fellowship of the Believers

42 ‡ † And they devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and the fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. 43 † And awe[1] came upon every soul, and many wonders and signs were being done through the apostles. 44 ‡ And all who believed were together and had all things in common. 45 And they were selling their possessions and belongings and distributing the proceeds to all, as any had need. 46 † And day by day, attending the temple together and breaking bread in their homes, they received their food with glad and generous hearts, 47 † praising God and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to their number day by day those who were being saved.

The Lame Beggar Healed

3 [1]‡†Now Peter and John were going up to the temple at the hour of prayer, the ninth hour.[1] [2]†And a man lame from birth was being carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple that is called the Beautiful Gate to ask alms of those entering the temple. [3]‡Seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, he asked to receive alms. [4]And Peter directed his gaze at him, as did John, and said, “Look at us.” [5]And he fixed his attention on them, expecting to receive something from them. [6]†But Peter said, “I have no silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk!” [7]And he took him by the right hand and raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankles were made strong. [8]‡And leaping up he stood and began to walk, and entered the temple with them, walking and leaping and praising God. [9]And all the people saw him walking and praising God, [10]and recognized him as the one who sat at the Beautiful Gate of the temple, asking for alms. And they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Peter Speaks in Solomon's Portico

11 ‡ † While he clung to Peter and John, all the people, utterly astounded, ran together to them in the portico called Solomon's. 12 And when Peter saw it he addressed the people: "Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this, or why do you stare at us, as though by our own power or piety we have made him walk? 13 † The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified his servant[2] Jesus, whom you delivered over and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had decided to release him. 14 † But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, 15 † and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. 16 † And his name—by faith in his name—has made this man strong whom you see and know, and the faith that is through Jesus[3] has given the man this perfect health in the presence of you all.

17 † "And now, brothers, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. 18 † But what God foretold by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer, he thus fulfilled. 19 † Repent therefore, and turn again, that your sins may be blotted out, 20 † that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ appointed for you, Jesus, 21 † whom heaven must receive until the time for restoring all the things about which God spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets long ago. 22 † Moses said, 'The Lord God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your brothers. You shall listen to him in whatever he tells you. 23 † And it shall be that every soul who does not listen to that prophet shall be destroyed from the people.' 24 † And all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and those who came after him, also proclaimed these days. 25 † You are the sons of the prophets and of the covenant that God made with your fathers, saying to Abraham, 'And in your offspring shall all the families of the earth be blessed.' 26 † God, having raised up his servant, sent him to you first, to bless you by turning every one of you from your wickedness."

Peter and John Before the Council

4 [1] ‡ † And as they were speaking to the people, the priests and the captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them, [2] † greatly annoyed because they were teaching the people and proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection from the dead. [3] † And they arrested them and put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening. [4] † But many of those who had heard the word believed, and the number of the men came to about five thousand.

[5] † On the next day their rulers and elders and scribes gathered together in Jerusalem, [6] † with Annas the high priest and Caiaphas and John and Alexander, and all who were of the high-priestly family. [7] † And when they had set them in the midst, they inquired, "By what power or by what name did you do this?" [8] † Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, "Rulers of the people and elders, [9] † if we are being examined today concerning a good deed done to a crippled man, by what means this man has been healed, [10] † let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead—by him this man is standing before you well. [11] † This Jesus[1] is the stone that was rejected by you, the builders, which has become the cornerstone.[2] [12] † And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved."

[13] † Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated, common men, they were astonished. And they recognized that they had been with Jesus. [14] But seeing the man who was healed standing beside them, they had nothing to say in opposition. [15] † But when they had commanded them to leave the council, they conferred with one another, [16] † saying, "What shall we do with these men? For that a notable sign has been performed through them is evident to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. [17] ‡ But in order that it may spread no further among the people, let us warn them to speak no more to anyone in this name." [18] So they called them and charged them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus. [19]†But Peter and John answered them, “Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge, [20]for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard.” [21]†And when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way to punish them, because of the people, for all were praising God for what had happened. [22]†For the man on whom this sign of healing was performed was more than forty years old.

The Believers Pray for Boldness

23 ‡ † When they were released, they went to their friends and reported what the chief priests and the elders had said to them. 24 † And when they heard it, they lifted their voices together to God and said, “Sovereign Lord, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and everything in them, 25 ‡ † who through the mouth of our father David, your servant,[1] said by the Holy Spirit,

“‘Why did the Gentiles rage,
and the peoples plot in vain?
26 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord and against his Anointed’[2]— 27 † for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, 28 † to do whatever your hand and your plan had predestined to take place. 29 † And now, Lord, look upon their threats and grant to your servants[3] to continue to speak your word with all boldness, 30 † while you stretch out your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are performed through the name of your holy servant Jesus.” 31 † And when they had prayed, the place in which they were gathered together was shaken, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and continued to speak the word of God with boldness.

They Had Everything in Common

32 ‡ † Now the full number of those who believed were of one heart and soul, and no one said that any of the things that belonged to him was his own, but they had everything in common. 33 † And with great power the apostles were giving their testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all. 34 There was not a needy person among them, for as many as were owners of lands or houses sold them and brought the proceeds of what was sold 35 † and laid it at the apostles' feet, and it was distributed to each as any had need. 36 † Thus Joseph, who was also called by the apostles Barnabas (which means son of encouragement), a Levite, a native of Cyprus, 37 sold a field that belonged to him and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

Ananias and Sapphira

5 [1]†† But a man named Ananias, with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property, [2]† and with his wife's knowledge he kept back for himself some of the proceeds and brought only a part of it and laid it at the apostles' feet.
[3]† But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land?
[4]While it remained unsold, did it not remain your own? And after it was sold, was it not at your disposal? Why is it that you have contrived this deed in your heart? You have not lied to men but to God." [5]† When Ananias heard these words, he fell down and breathed his last. And great fear came upon all who heard of it. [6]† The young men rose and wrapped him up and carried him out and buried him.

[7]After an interval of about three hours his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. [8]And Peter said to her, "Tell me whether you[1] sold the land for so much." And she said, "Yes, for so much." [9]† But Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord?
Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out." [10]† Immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. When the young men came in they found her dead, and they carried her out and buried her beside her husband. [11]† And great fear came upon the whole church and upon all who heard of these things.

Many Signs and Wonders Done

12 ‡ ‡Now many signs and wonders were regularly done among the people by the hands of the apostles. And they were all together in Solomon's Portico. 13 ‡None of the rest dared join them, but the people held them in high esteem. 14And more than ever believers were added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women, 15 ‡so that they even carried out the sick into the streets and laid them on cots and mats, that as Peter came by at least his shadow might fall on some of them. 16 ‡The people also gathered from the towns around Jerusalem, bringing the sick and those afflicted with unclean spirits, and they were all healed.

The Apostles Arrested and Freed

17 ‡ † But the high priest rose up, and all who were with him (that is, the party of the Sadducees), and filled with jealousy 18 † they arrested the apostles and put them in the public prison. 19 † But during the night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, 20 † "Go and stand in the temple and speak to the people all the words of this Life." 21 † And when they heard this, they entered the temple at daybreak and began to teach.

Now when the high priest came, and those who were with him, they called together the council and all the senate of the people of Israel and sent to the prison to have them brought. 22 But when the officers came, they did not find them in the prison, so they returned and reported, 23 † "We found the prison securely locked and the guards standing at the doors, but when we opened them we found no one inside." 24 † Now when the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these words, they were greatly perplexed about them, wondering what this would come to. 25 And someone came and told them, "Look! The men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people." 26 † Then the captain with the officers went and brought them, but not by force, for they were afraid of being stoned by the people.

27 † And when they had brought them, they set them before the council.
And the high priest questioned them, 28 † saying, "We strictly charged you not to teach in this name, yet here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and you intend to bring this man's blood upon us." 29 † But Peter and the apostles answered, "We must obey God rather than men. 30 † The God of our fathers raised Jesus, whom you killed by hanging him on a tree.
31 † God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. 32 † And we are witnesses to these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who obey him."

33 When they heard this, they were enraged and wanted to kill them.
34 † But a Pharisee in the council named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law held in honor by all the people, stood up and gave orders to put the men outside for a little while. [35]And he said to them, “Men of Israel, take care what you are about to do with these men. [36]†For before these days Theudas rose up, claiming to be somebody, and a number of men, about four hundred, joined him. He was killed, and all who followed him were dispersed and came to nothing. [37]†After him Judas the Galilean rose up in the days of the census and drew away some of the people after him. He too perished, and all who followed him were scattered. [38]†So in the present case I tell you, keep away from these men and let them alone, for if this plan or this undertaking is of man, it will fail; [39]but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them.

You might even be found opposing God!” So they took his advice, [40]†and when they had called in the apostles, they beat them and charged them not to speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. [41]Then they left the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer dishonor for the name. [42]†And every day, in the temple and from house to house, they did not cease teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ.

Seven Chosen to Serve

6 [1] ‡‡Now in these days when the disciples were increasing in number, a complaint by the Hellenists[1] arose against the Hebrews because their widows were being neglected in the daily distribution. [2] ‡And the twelve summoned the full number of the disciples and said, “It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables. [3] ‡Therefore, brothers,[2] pick out from among you seven men of good repute, full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we will appoint to this duty. [4] ‡But we will devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word.” [5] ‡And what they said pleased the whole gathering, and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolaus, a proselyte of Antioch. [6] ‡These they set before the apostles, and they prayed and laid their hands on them.

[7] ‡And the word of God continued to increase, and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests became obedient to the faith.

Stephen Is Seized

8 ‡ † And Stephen, full of grace and power, was doing great wonders and signs among the people. 9 † Then some of those who belonged to the synagogue of the Freedmen (as it was called), and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of those from Cilicia and Asia, rose up and disputed with Stephen. 10 † But they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking. 11 † Then they secretly instigated men who said, “We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.”
12 † And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes, and they came upon him and seized him and brought him before the council, 13 † and they set up false witnesses who said, “This man never ceases to speak words against this holy place and the law, 14 † for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and will change the customs that Moses delivered to us.” 15 † And gazing at him, all who sat in the council saw that his face was like the face of an angel.

Stephen's Speech

7 [1]‡†And the high priest said, "Are these things so?" [2]†And Stephen said:

"Brothers and fathers, hear me. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran, [3]and said to him, 'Go out from your land and from your kindred and go into the land that I will show you.' [4]†Then he went out from the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran. And after his father died, God removed him from there into this land in which you are now living. [5]†Yet he gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot's length, but promised to give it to him as a possession and to his offspring after him, though he had no child. [6]†And God spoke to this effect—that his offspring would be sojourners in a land belonging to others, who would enslave them and afflict them four hundred years. [7]†'But I will judge the nation that they serve,' said God, 'and after that they shall come out and worship me in this place.' [8]†And he gave him the covenant of circumcision. And so Abraham became the father of Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day, and Isaac became the father of Jacob, and Jacob of the twelve patriarchs.

[9]†"And the patriarchs, jealous of Joseph, sold him into Egypt; but God was with him [10]†and rescued him out of all his afflictions and gave him favor and wisdom before Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who made him ruler over Egypt and over all his household. [11]‡Now there came a famine throughout all Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, and our fathers could find no food. [12]But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers on their first visit. [13]And on the second visit Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and Joseph's family became known to Pharaoh. [14]†And Joseph sent and summoned Jacob his father and all his kindred, seventy-five persons in all. [15]‡And Jacob went down into Egypt, and he died, he and our fathers, [16]and they were carried back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that Abraham had bought for a sum of silver from the sons of Hamor in Shechem.

17 “But as the time of the promise drew near, which God had granted to Abraham, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt 18 until there arose over Egypt another king who did not know Joseph. 19 He dealt shrewdly with our race and forced our fathers to expose their infants, so that they would not be kept alive. 20 At this time Moses was born; and he was beautiful in God’s sight. And he was brought up for three months in his father’s house, 21 and when he was exposed, Pharaoh’s daughter adopted him and brought him up as her own son. 22 And Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and he was mighty in his words and deeds.

23 “When he was forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brothers, the children of Israel. 24 And seeing one of them being wronged, he defended the oppressed man and avenged him by striking down the Egyptian. 25 He supposed that his brothers would understand that God was giving them salvation by his hand, but they did not understand. 26 And on the following day he appeared to them as they were quarreling and tried to reconcile them, saying, ‘Men, you are brothers. Why do you wrong each other?’ 27 But the man who was wronging his neighbor thrust him aside, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge over us? 28 Do you want to kill me as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?’ 29 At this retort Moses fled and became an exile in the land of Midian, where he became the father of two sons.

30 “Now when forty years had passed, an angel appeared to him in the wilderness of Mount Sinai, in a flame of fire in a bush. 31 When Moses saw it, he was amazed at the sight, and as he drew near to look, there came the voice of the Lord: 32 ‘I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob.’ And Moses trembled and did not dare to look.
33 Then the Lord said to him, ‘Take off the sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy ground. 34 I have surely seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt, and have heard their groaning, and I have come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send you to Egypt.’

35 “This Moses, whom they rejected, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge?’—this man God sent as both ruler and redeemer by the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush. 36 This man led them out, performing wonders and signs in Egypt and at the Red Sea and in the wilderness for forty years. [37] †This is the Moses who said to the Israelites, ‘God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your brothers.’ [38] †This is the one who was in the congregation in the wilderness with the angel who spoke to him at Mount Sinai, and with our fathers. He received living oracles to give to us. [39] ‡Our fathers refused to obey him, but thrust him aside, and in their hearts they turned to Egypt, [40] saying to Aaron, ‘Make for us gods who will go before us. As for this Moses who led us out from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ [41] And they made a calf in those days, and offered a sacrifice to the idol and were rejoicing in the works of their hands. [42] ‡But God turned away and gave them over to worship the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets:

“‘Did you bring to me slain beasts and sacrifices,
during the forty years in the wilderness,
O house of Israel?
[43] You took up the tent of Moloch and the star of your god Rephan,
the images that you made to worship;
and I will send you into exile beyond Babylon.’

[44] †“Our fathers had the tent of witness in the wilderness, just as he who spoke to Moses directed him to make it, according to the pattern that he had seen. [45] ‡Our fathers in turn brought it in with Joshua when they dispossessed the nations that God drove out before our fathers. So it was until the days of David, [46] who found favor in the sight of God and asked to find a dwelling place for the God of Jacob.[1] [47] But it was Solomon who built a house for him. [48] Yet the Most High does not dwell in houses made by hands, as the prophet says,

[49] ‡ “‘Heaven is my throne,
and the earth is my footstool.
What kind of house will you build for me,
says the Lord,
or what is the place of my rest?
[50] Did not my hand make all these things?’

51 † “You stiff-necked people, uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit. As your fathers did, so do you. 52 † Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who announced beforehand the coming of the Righteous One, whom you have now betrayed and murdered, 53 † you who received the law as delivered by angels and did not keep it.”

The Stoning of Stephen

54 ‡ † Now when they heard these things they were enraged, and they ground their teeth at him. 55 ‡ But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God. 56 And he said, “Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God.” 57 † But they cried out with a loud voice and stopped their ears and rushed together[2] at him. 58 † Then they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul. 59 ‡ And as they were stoning Stephen, he called out, “Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.” 60 And falling to his knees he cried out with a loud voice, “Lord, do not hold this sin against them.” And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Saul Ravages the Church

8 [1]‡†And Saul approved of his execution. And there arose on that day a great persecution against the church in Jerusalem, and they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles. [2]†Devout men buried Stephen and made great lamentation over him. [3]†But Saul was ravaging the church, and entering house after house, he dragged off men and women and committed them to prison.

Philip Proclaims Christ in Samaria

4 ‡‡Now those who were scattered went about preaching the word. 5 Philip went down to the city[1] of Samaria and proclaimed to them the Christ.
6 ‡And the crowds with one accord paid attention to what was being said by Philip when they heard him and saw the signs that he did. 7 For unclean spirits, crying out with a loud voice, came out of many who had them, and many who were paralyzed or lame were healed. 8 So there was much joy in that city.

Simon the Magician Believes

9 ‡ † But there was a man named Simon, who had previously practiced magic in the city and amazed the people of Samaria, saying that he himself was somebody great. 10 † They all paid attention to him, from the least to the greatest, saying, “This man is the power of God that is called Great.” 11 And they paid attention to him because for a long time he had amazed them with his magic. 12 † But when they believed Philip as he preached good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. 13 † Even Simon himself believed, and after being baptized he continued with Philip. And seeing signs and great miracles[1] performed, he was amazed.

14 ‡ Now when the apostles at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent to them Peter and John, 15 ‡ who came down and prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit, 16 for he had not yet fallen on any of them, but they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. 17 † Then they laid their hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit. 18 ‡ Now when Simon saw that the Spirit was given through the laying on of the apostles’ hands, he offered them money, 19 saying, “Give me this power also, so that anyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit.” 20 † But Peter said to him, “May your silver perish with you, because you thought you could obtain the gift of God with money! 21 † You have neither part nor lot in this matter, for your heart is not right before God. 22 † Repent, therefore, of this wickedness of yours, and pray to the Lord that, if possible, the intent of your heart may be forgiven you. 23 † For I see that you are in the gall[2] of bitterness and in the bond of iniquity.” 24 † And Simon answered, “Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me.”

25 † Now when they had testified and spoken the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel to many villages of the Samaritans.

Philip and the Ethiopian Eunuch

26 ‡ † Now an angel of the Lord said to Philip, “Rise and go toward the south[3] to the road that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza.” This is a desert place. 27 ‡ And he rose and went. And there was an Ethiopian, a eunuch, a court official of Candace, queen of the Ethiopians, who was in charge of all her treasure. He had come to Jerusalem to worship 28 and was returning, seated in his chariot, and he was reading the prophet Isaiah. 29 † And the Spirit said to Philip, “Go over and join this chariot.” 30 ‡ So Philip ran to him and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and asked, “Do you understand what you are reading?” 31 And he said, “How can I, unless someone guides me?” And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him. 32 ‡ Now the passage of the Scripture that he was reading was this:

> “Like a sheep he was led to the slaughter > and like a lamb before its shearer is silent, > so he opens not his mouth.
> 33 In his humiliation justice was denied him.
> Who can describe his generation?
> For his life is taken away from the earth.”

34 † And the eunuch said to Philip, “About whom, I ask you, does the prophet say this, about himself or about someone else?” 35 † Then Philip opened his mouth, and beginning with this Scripture he told him the good news about Jesus. 36 † And as they were going along the road they came to some water, and the eunuch said, “See, here is water! What prevents me from being baptized?”[1] 38 † And he commanded the chariot to stop, and they both went down into the water, Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him. 39 † And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord carried Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more, and went on his way rejoicing.
40 † But Philip found himself at Azotus, and as he passed through he preached the gospel to all the towns until he came to Caesarea.

The Conversion of Saul

9 [1]But Saul, still breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest [2]and asked him for letters to the synagogues at Damascus, so that if he found any belonging to the Way, men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem. [3]Now as he went on his way, he approached Damascus, and suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him. [4]And falling to the ground he heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?" [5]And he said, "Who are you, Lord?" And he said, "I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting. [6]But rise and enter the city, and you will be told what you are to do." [7]The men who were traveling with him stood speechless, hearing the voice but seeing no one. [8]Saul rose from the ground, and although his eyes were opened, he saw nothing. So they led him by the hand and brought him into Damascus. [9]And for three days he was without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

[10]Now there was a disciple at Damascus named Ananias. The Lord said to him in a vision, "Ananias." And he said, "Here I am, Lord." [11]And the Lord said to him, "Rise and go to the street called Straight, and at the house of Judas look for a man of Tarsus named Saul, for behold, he is praying, [12]and he has seen in a vision a man named Ananias come in and lay his hands on him so that he might regain his sight." [13]But Ananias answered, "Lord, I have heard from many about this man, how much evil he has done to your saints at Jerusalem. [14]And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call on your name." [15]But the Lord said to him, Go, for he is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name before the Gentiles and kings and the children of Israel. [16]For I will show him how much he must suffer for the sake of my name." [17]So Ananias departed and entered the house. And laying his hands on him he said, "Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus who appeared to you on the road by which you came has sent me so that you may regain your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit." [18]And immediately something like scales fell from his eyes, and he regained his sight. Then he rose and was baptized; [19]and taking food, he was strengthened.

Saul Proclaims Jesus in Synagogues

For some days he was with the disciples at Damascus. [20] † And immediately he proclaimed Jesus in the synagogues, saying, “He is the Son of God.” [21] † And all who heard him were amazed and said, “Is not this the man who made havoc in Jerusalem of those who called upon this name? And has he not come here for this purpose, to bring them bound before the chief priests?” [22] † But Saul increased all the more in strength, and confounded the Jews who lived in Damascus by proving that Jesus was the Christ.

Saul Escapes from Damascus

23 ‡‡When many days had passed, the Jews plotted to kill him, 24 but their plot became known to Saul. They were watching the gates day and night in order to kill him, 25 ‡but his disciples took him by night and let him down through an opening in the wall,[1] lowering him in a basket.

Saul in Jerusalem

26 ‡ † And when he had come to Jerusalem, he attempted to join the disciples. And they were all afraid of him, for they did not believe that he was a disciple. 27 † But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles and declared to them how on the road he had seen the Lord, who spoke to him, and how at Damascus he had preached boldly in the name of Jesus.
28 † So he went in and out among them at Jerusalem, preaching boldly in the name of the Lord. 29 † And he spoke and disputed against the Hellenists.[2]
But they were seeking to kill him. 30 † And when the brothers learned this, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him off to Tarsus.

31 † So the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace and was being built up. And walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, it multiplied.

The Healing of Aeneas

32 ‡ † Now as Peter went here and there among them all, he came down also to the saints who lived at Lydda. 33 † There he found a man named Aeneas, bedridden for eight years, who was paralyzed. 34 † And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you; rise and make your bed.” And immediately he rose. 35 † And all the residents of Lydda and Sharon saw him, and they turned to the Lord.

Dorcas Restored to Life

36 ‡ † Now there was in Joppa a disciple named Tabitha, which, translated, means Dorcas.[3] She was full of good works and acts of charity. 37 † In those days she became ill and died, and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper room. 38 † Since Lydda was near Joppa, the disciples, hearing that Peter was there, sent two men to him, urging him, “Please come to us without delay.” 39 † So Peter rose and went with them. And when he arrived, they took him to the upper room. All the widows stood beside him weeping and showing tunics[4] and other garments that Dorcas made while she was with them. 40 † But Peter put them all outside, and knelt down and prayed; and turning to the body he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up. 41 † And he gave her his hand and raised her up. Then calling the saints and widows, he presented her alive. 42 † And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.
43 † And he stayed in Joppa for many days with one Simon, a tanner.

Peter and Cornelius

10 [1]At Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a centurion of what was known as the Italian Cohort, [2]a devout man who feared God with all his household, gave alms generously to the people, and prayed continually to God. [3]About the ninth hour of the day[1] he saw clearly in a vision an angel of God come in and say to him, "Cornelius." [4]And he stared at him in terror and said, "What is it, Lord?" And he said to him, "Your prayers and your alms have ascended as a memorial before God. [5]And now send men to Joppa and bring one Simon who is called Peter. [6]He is lodging with one Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea." [7]When the angel who spoke to him had departed, he called two of his servants and a devout soldier from among those who attended him, [8]and having related everything to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter’s Vision

9 ‡ † The next day, as they were on their journey and approaching the city, Peter went up on the housetop about the sixth hour[2] to pray. 10 † And he became hungry and wanted something to eat, but while they were preparing it, he fell into a trance 11 † and saw the heavens opened and something like a great sheet descending, being let down by its four corners upon the earth.
12 In it were all kinds of animals and reptiles and birds of the air. 13 ‡ And there came a voice to him: “Rise, Peter; kill and eat.” 14 But Peter said, “By no means, Lord; for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean.” 15 ‡ And the voice came to him again a second time, “What God has made clean, do not call common.” 16 This happened three times, and the thing was taken up at once to heaven.

17 ‡ Now while Peter was inwardly perplexed as to what the vision that he had seen might mean, behold, the men who were sent by Cornelius, having made inquiry for Simon’s house, stood at the gate 18 and called out to ask whether Simon who was called Peter was lodging there. 19 And while Peter was pondering the vision, the Spirit said to him, “Behold, three men are looking for you. 20 Rise and go down and accompany them without hesitation, for I have sent them.” 21 And Peter went down to the men and said, “I am the one you are looking for. What is the reason for your coming?” 22 † And they said, “Cornelius, a centurion, an upright and God-fearing man, who is well spoken of by the whole Jewish nation, was directed by a holy angel to send for you to come to his house and to hear what you have to say.” 23 ‡ So he invited them in to be his guests.

The next day he rose and went away with them, and some of the brothers from Joppa accompanied him. 24 † And on the following day they entered Caesarea. Cornelius was expecting them and had called together his relatives and close friends. 25 ‡ When Peter entered, Cornelius met him and fell down at his feet and worshiped him. 26 But Peter lifted him up, saying, “Stand up; I too am a man.” 27 † And as he talked with him, he went in and found many persons gathered. 28 † And he said to them, “You yourselves know how unlawful it is for a Jew to associate with or to visit anyone of another nation, but God has shown me that I should not call any person common or unclean. [29]†So when I was sent for, I came without objection. I ask then why you sent for me."

[30]†And Cornelius said, "Four days ago, about this hour, I was praying in my house at the ninth hour,[1] and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing [31]†and said, 'Cornelius, your prayer has been heard and your alms have been remembered before God. [32]Send therefore to Joppa and ask for Simon who is called Peter. He is lodging in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.' [33]†So I sent for you at once, and you have been kind enough to come. Now therefore we are all here in the presence of God to hear all that you have been commanded by the Lord."

Gentiles Hear the Good News

34 ‡ ‡So Peter opened his mouth and said: “Truly I understand that God shows no partiality, 35but in every nation anyone who fears him and does what is right is acceptable to him. 36†As for the word that he sent to Israel, preaching good news of peace through Jesus Christ (he is Lord of all), 37 † you yourselves know what happened throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee after the baptism that John proclaimed: 38†how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him. 39†And we are witnesses of all that he did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem. They put him to death by hanging him on a tree, 40‡but God raised him on the third day and made him to appear, 41not to all the people but to us who had been chosen by God as witnesses, who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead. 42†And he commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one appointed by God to be judge of the living and the dead. 43†To him all the prophets bear witness that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name.”

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

44 While Peter was still saying these things, the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word. 45 And the believers from among the circumcised who had come with Peter were amazed, because the gift of the Holy Spirit was poured out even on the Gentiles. 46 For they were hearing them speaking in tongues and extolling God. Then Peter declared, 47 "Can anyone withhold water for baptizing these people, who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?" 48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they asked him to remain for some days.

Peter Reports to the Church

11 [1]‡† Now the apostles and the brothers[1] who were throughout Judea heard that the Gentiles also had received the word of God. [2]† So when Peter went up to Jerusalem, the circumcision party criticized him, saying, [3]† "You went to uncircumcised men and ate with them." [4]‡ But Peter began and explained it to them in order: [5]"I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in a trance I saw a vision, something like a great sheet descending, being let down from heaven by its four corners, and it came down to me. [6]Looking at it closely, I observed animals and beasts of prey and reptiles and birds of the air. [7]And I heard a voice saying to me, 'Rise, Peter; kill and eat.' [8]But I said,
'By no means, Lord; for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth.' [9]But the voice answered a second time from heaven, 'What God has made clean, do not call common.' [10]This happened three times, and all was drawn up again into heaven. [11]And behold, at that very moment three men arrived at the house in which we were, sent to me from Caesarea.
[12]† And the Spirit told me to go with them, making no distinction. These six brothers also accompanied me, and we entered the man's house. [13]And he told us how he had seen the angel stand in his house and say, 'Send to Joppa and bring Simon who is called Peter; [14]† he will declare to you a message by which you will be saved, you and all your household.' [15]As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them just as on us at the beginning. [16]† And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, 'John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.' [17]† If then God gave the same gift to them as he gave to us when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that I could stand in God's way?" [18]† When they heard these things they fell silent. And they glorified God, saying, "Then to the Gentiles also God has granted repentance that leads to life."

The Church in Antioch

19 ‡ † Now those who were scattered because of the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to no one except Jews. 20 † But there were some of them, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who on coming to Antioch spoke to the Hellenists[1] also, preaching the Lord Jesus. 21 † And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number who believed turned to the Lord. 22 ‡ The report of this came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas to Antioch. 23 When he came and saw the grace of God, he was glad, and he exhorted them all to remain faithful to the Lord with steadfast purpose, 24 for he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great many people were added to the Lord. 25 ‡ So Barnabas went to Tarsus to look for Saul, 26 † and when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. For a whole year they met with the church and taught a great many people. And in Antioch the disciples were first called Christians.

27 † Now in these days prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch.
28 † And one of them named Agabus stood up and foretold by the Spirit that there would be a great famine over all the world (this took place in the days of Claudius). 29 † So the disciples determined, everyone according to his ability, to send relief to the brothers[2] living in Judea. 30 † And they did so, sending it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

James Killed and Peter Imprisoned

12 [1]†† About that time Herod the king laid violent hands on some who belonged to the church. [2]† He killed James the brother of John with the sword, [3]† and when he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter also. This was during the days of Unleavened Bread. [4]† And when he had seized him, he put him in prison, delivering him over to four squads of soldiers to guard him, intending after the Passover to bring him out to the people. [5]† So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer for him was made to God by the church.

Peter Is Rescued

6 ‡ † Now when Herod was about to bring him out, on that very night, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and sentries before the door were guarding the prison. 7 † And behold, an angel of the Lord stood next to him, and a light shone in the cell. He struck Peter on the side and woke him, saying, “Get up quickly.” And the chains fell off his hands. 8 † And the angel said to him, “Dress yourself and put on your sandals.” And he did so. And he said to him, “Wrap your cloak around you and follow me.” 9 And he went out and followed him. He did not know that what was being done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing a vision. 10 † When they had passed the first and the second guard, they came to the iron gate leading into the city. It opened for them of its own accord, and they went out and went along one street, and immediately the angel left him. 11 † When Peter came to himself, he said, “Now I am sure that the Lord has sent his angel and rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all that the Jewish people were expecting.”

12 † When he realized this, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of John whose other name was Mark, where many were gathered together and were praying. 13 † And when he knocked at the door of the gateway, a servant girl named Rhoda came to answer. 14 Recognizing Peter’s voice, in her joy she did not open the gate but ran in and reported that Peter was standing at the gate. 15 † They said to her, “You are out of your mind.” But she kept insisting that it was so, and they kept saying, “It is his angel!” 16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they opened, they saw him and were amazed. 17 † But motioning to them with his hand to be silent, he described to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, “Tell these things to James and to the brothers.”[1] Then he departed and went to another place.

18 Now when day came, there was no little disturbance among the soldiers over what had become of Peter. 19 † And after Herod searched for him and did not find him, he examined the sentries and ordered that they should be put to death. Then he went down from Judea to Caesarea and spent time there.

The Death of Herod

20 ‡ † Now Herod was angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon, and they came to him with one accord, and having persuaded Blastus, the king's chamberlain, they asked for peace, because their country depended on the king's country for food. 21 ‡ On an appointed day Herod put on his royal robes, took his seat upon the throne, and delivered an oration to them. 22 And the people were shouting, "The voice of a god, and not of a man!" 23 Immediately an angel of the Lord struck him down, because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

24 † But the word of God increased and multiplied.

25 † And Barnabas and Saul returned from[1] Jerusalem when they had completed their service, bringing with them John, whose other name was Mark.

Barnabas and Saul Sent Off

13 [1] † † Now there were in the church at Antioch prophets and teachers, Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger,[2] Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen a member of the court of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. [2] † While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, “Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.” [3] † Then after fasting and praying they laid their hands on them and sent them off.

Barnabas and Saul on Cyprus

4 ‡ † So, being sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to Cyprus. 5 † When they arrived at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had John to assist them. 6 † When they had gone through the whole island as far as Paphos, they came upon a certain magician, a Jewish false prophet named Bar-Jesus. 7 † He was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, a man of intelligence, who summoned Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God. 8 † But Elymas the magician (for that is the meaning of his name) opposed them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith.
9 † But Saul, who was also called Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him 10 ‡ † and said, “You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord? 11 And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a time.” Immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and he went about seeking people to lead him by the hand. 12 † Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had occurred, for he was astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

Paul and Barnabas at Antioch in Pisidia

13 ‡ † Now Paul and his companions set sail from Paphos and came to Perga in Pamphylia. And John left them and returned to Jerusalem, 14 † but they went on from Perga and came to Antioch in Pisidia. And on the Sabbath day they went into the synagogue and sat down. 15 † After the reading from the Law and the Prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent a message to them, saying, “Brothers, if you have any word of encouragement for the people, say it.” 16 † So Paul stood up, and motioning with his hand said:

“Men of Israel and you who fear God, listen. 17 † The God of this people Israel chose our fathers and made the people great during their stay in the land of Egypt, and with uplifted arm he led them out of it. 18 † And for about forty years he put up with[1] them in the wilderness. 19 † And after destroying seven nations in the land of Canaan, he gave them their land as an inheritance. 20 † All this took about 450 years. And after that he gave them judges until Samuel the prophet. 21 † Then they asked for a king, and God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years. 22 † And when he had removed him, he raised up David to be their king, of whom he testified and said, ‘I have found in David the son of Jesse a man after my heart, who will do all my will.’ 23 † Of this man’s offspring God has brought to Israel a Savior, Jesus, as he promised. 24 † Before his coming, John had proclaimed a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. 25 And as John was finishing his course, he said, ‘What do you suppose that I am? I am not he. No, but behold, after me one is coming, the sandals of whose feet I am not worthy to untie.’

26 † “Brothers, sons of the family of Abraham, and those among you who fear God, to us has been sent the message of this salvation. 27 † For those who live in Jerusalem and their rulers, because they did not recognize him nor understand the utterances of the prophets, which are read every Sabbath, fulfilled them by condemning him. 28 † And though they found in him no guilt worthy of death, they asked Pilate to have him executed.
29 † And when they had carried out all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree and laid him in a tomb. 30 † But God raised him from the dead, [31]†and for many days he appeared to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses to the people. [32]†And we bring you the good news that what God promised to the fathers, [33]†this he has fulfilled to us their children by raising Jesus, as also it is written in the second Psalm,

> “‘You are my Son,
> today I have begotten you.’

[34]†And as for the fact that he raised him from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he has spoken in this way,

> “‘I will give you the holy and sure blessings of > David.’

[35]†Therefore he says also in another psalm,

> “‘You will not let your Holy One see corruption.’

[36]†For David, after he had served the purpose of God in his own generation, fell asleep and was laid with his fathers and saw corruption, [37]†but he whom God raised up did not see corruption. [38]†Let it be known to you therefore, brothers, that through this man forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you, [39]†and by him everyone who believes is freed[1] from everything from which you could not be freed by the law of Moses. [40]Beware, therefore, lest what is said in the Prophets should come about:

> [41]† “‘Look, you scoffers, > be astounded and perish;
> for I am doing a work in your days,
> a work that you will not believe, even if one > tells it to you.’”

[42]†As they went out, the people begged that these things might be told them the next Sabbath. [43]†And after the meeting of the synagogue broke up, many Jews and devout converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas, who, as they spoke with them, urged them to continue in the grace of God.

[44] †The next Sabbath almost the whole city gathered to hear the word of the Lord. [45] †But when the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy and began to contradict what was spoken by Paul, reviling him.
[46] †And Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly, saying, “It was necessary that the word of God be spoken first to you. Since you thrust it aside and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, behold, we are turning to the Gentiles.
[47] †For so the Lord has commanded us, saying,

> “‘I have made you a light for the Gentiles, > that you may bring salvation to the ends of > the earth.’”

[48] †And when the Gentiles heard this, they began rejoicing and glorifying the word of the Lord, and as many as were appointed to eternal life believed. [49] †And the word of the Lord was spreading throughout the whole region. [50] †But the Jews incited the devout women of high standing and the leading men of the city, stirred up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and drove them out of their district. [51] †But they shook off the dust from their feet against them and went to Iconium. [52] †And the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

Paul and Barnabas at Iconium

14 [1] Now at Iconium they entered together into the Jewish synagogue and spoke in such a way that a great number of both Jews and Greeks believed. [2] But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and poisoned their minds against the brothers.[1] [3] So they remained for a long time, speaking boldly for the Lord, who bore witness to the word of his grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands. [4] But the people of the city were divided; some sided with the Jews and some with the apostles. [5] When an attempt was made by both Gentiles and Jews, with their rulers, to mistreat them and to stone them, [6] they learned of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding country, [7] and there they continued to preach the gospel.

Paul and Barnabas at Lystra

8 Now at Lystra there was a man sitting who could not use his feet. He was crippled from birth and had never walked. 9 He listened to Paul speaking. And Paul, looking intently at him and seeing that he had faith to be made well,[2] 10 said in a loud voice, “Stand upright on your feet.” And he sprang up and began walking. 11 And when the crowds saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in Lycaonian, “The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!” 12 Barnabas they called Zeus, and Paul, Hermes, because he was the chief speaker. 13 And the priest of Zeus, whose temple was at the entrance to the city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates and wanted to offer sacrifice with the crowds. 14 But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they tore their garments and rushed out into the crowd, crying out, 15 “Men, why are you doing these things?
We also are men, of like nature with you, and we bring you good news, that you should turn from these vain things to a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them. 16 In past generations he allowed all the nations to walk in their own ways. 17 Yet he did not leave himself without witness, for he did good by giving you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, satisfying your hearts with food and gladness.” 18 Even with these words they scarcely restrained the people from offering sacrifice to them.

Paul Stoned at Lystra

19 ‡† But Jews came from Antioch and Iconium, and having persuaded the crowds, they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead. 20 † But when the disciples gathered about him, he rose up and entered the city, and on the next day he went on with Barnabas to Derbe.
21 When they had preached the gospel to that city and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra and to Iconium and to Antioch, 22 † strengthening the souls of the disciples, encouraging them to continue in the faith, and saying that through many tribulations we must enter the kingdom of God. 23 † And when they had appointed elders for them in every church, with prayer and fasting they committed them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

Paul and Barnabas Return to Antioch in Syria

[24] ‡ ‡ Then they passed through Pisidia and came to Pamphylia. [25] And when they had spoken the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia, [26] † and from there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work that they had fulfilled. [27] † And when they arrived and gathered the church together, they declared all that God had done with them, and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. [28] † And they remained no little time with the disciples.

The Jerusalem Council

15 [1]†‡†But some men came down from Judea and were teaching the brothers, “Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.” [2]† And after Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and debate with them, Paul and Barnabas and some of the others were appointed to go up to Jerusalem to the apostles and the elders about this question. [3]†So, being sent on their way by the church, they passed through both Phoenicia and Samaria, describing in detail the conversion of the Gentiles, and brought great joy to all the brothers.[1] [4]†When they came to Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the church and the apostles and the elders, and they declared all that God had done with them. [5]†But some believers who belonged to the party of the Pharisees rose up and said, “It is necessary to circumcise them and to order them to keep the law of Moses.”

[6]†The apostles and the elders were gathered together to consider this matter. [7]†And after there had been much debate, Peter stood up and said to them, “Brothers, you know that in the early days God made a choice among you, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe. [8]†And God, who knows the heart, bore witness to them, by giving them the Holy Spirit just as he did to us, [9]†and he made no distinction between us and them, having cleansed their hearts by faith. [10]† Now, therefore, why are you putting God to the test by placing a yoke on the neck of the disciples that neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear?
[11]†But we believe that we will be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, just as they will.”

[12]†And all the assembly fell silent, and they listened to Barnabas and Paul as they related what signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles. [13]† After they finished speaking, James replied, “Brothers, listen to me. [14]†Simeon has related how God first visited the Gentiles, to take from them a people for his name. [15]And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written,

[16]‡ “‘After this I will return, and I will rebuild the tent of David that has fallen;

I will rebuild its ruins,
and I will restore it, 17 that the remnant[1] of mankind may seek the Lord,
and all the Gentiles who are called by my name,
says the Lord, who makes these things
18 known from of old.’

19 ‡ † Therefore my judgment is that we should not trouble those of the Gentiles who turn to God, 20 † but should write to them to abstain from the things polluted by idols, and from sexual immorality, and from what has been strangled, and from blood. 21 † For from ancient generations Moses has had in every city those who proclaim him, for he is read every Sabbath in the synagogues.”

The Council’s Letter to Gentile Believers

22 ‡ † Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men from among them and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. They sent Judas called Barsabbas, and Silas, leading men among the brothers, 23 † with the following letter: “The brothers, both the apostles and the elders, to the brothers[2] who are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greetings. 24 † Since we have heard that some persons have gone out from us and troubled you[3] with words, unsettling your minds, although we gave them no instructions, 25 † it has seemed good to us, having come to one accord, to choose men and send them to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, 26 † men who have risked their lives for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ. 27 † We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who themselves will tell you the same things by word of mouth. 28 † For it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay on you no greater burden than these requirements: 29 † that you abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled, and from sexual immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well. Farewell.”

30 † So when they were sent off, they went down to Antioch, and having gathered the congregation together, they delivered the letter. 31 † And when they had read it, they rejoiced because of its encouragement. 32 † And Judas and Silas, who were themselves prophets, encouraged and strengthened the brothers with many words. 33 † And after they had spent some time, they were sent off in peace by the brothers to those who had sent them.[1] 35 † But Paul and Barnabas remained in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

Paul and Barnabas Separate

[36] ‡ † And after some days Paul said to Barnabas, “Let us return and visit the brothers in every city where we proclaimed the word of the Lord, and see how they are.” [37] † Now Barnabas wanted to take with them John called Mark. [38] But Paul thought best not to take with them one who had withdrawn from them in Pamphylia and had not gone with them to the work. [39] † And there arose a sharp disagreement, so that they separated from each other.
Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed away to Cyprus, [40] † but Paul chose Silas and departed, having been commended by the brothers to the grace of the Lord. [41] † And he went through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

16 [1]‡†Paul[2] came also to Derbe and to Lystra. A disciple was there, named Timothy, the son of a Jewish woman who was a believer, but his father was a Greek. [2]He was well spoken of by the brothers[3] at Lystra and Iconium. [3]†Paul wanted Timothy to accompany him, and he took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in those places, for they all knew that his father was a Greek. [4]†As they went on their way through the cities, they delivered to them for observance the decisions that had been reached by the apostles and elders who were in Jerusalem. [5]† So the churches were strengthened in the faith, and they increased in numbers daily.

The Macedonian Call

6 ‡ ‡ † And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia. 7 † And when they had come up to Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them. 8 † So, passing by Mysia, they went down to Troas. 9 † And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: a man of Macedonia was standing there, urging him and saying, “Come over to Macedonia and help us.” 10 † And when Paul[1] had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go on into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel to them.

The Conversion of Lydia

11 †So, setting sail from Troas, we made a direct voyage to Samothrace, and the following day to Neapolis, 12 †and from there to Philippi, which is a leading city of the[2] district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. We remained in this city some days. 13 † And on the Sabbath day we went outside the gate to the riverside, where we supposed there was a place of prayer, and we sat down and spoke to the women who had come together.
14 †One who heard us was a woman named Lydia, from the city of Thyatira, a seller of purple goods, who was a worshiper of God. The Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what was said by Paul. 15 † And after she was baptized, and her household as well, she urged us, saying, “If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay.” And she prevailed upon us.

Paul and Silas in Prison

16 ‡†As we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a slave girl who had a spirit of divination and brought her owners much gain by fortune-telling. 17 ‡She followed Paul and us, crying out, “These men are servants[3] of the Most High God, who proclaim to you the way of salvation.” 18 And this she kept doing for many days. Paul, having become greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her.” And it came out that very hour.

19 †But when her owners saw that their hope of gain was gone, they seized
Paul and Silas and dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers.
20 †And when they had brought them to the magistrates, they said, “These men are Jews, and they are disturbing our city. 21 †They advocate customs that are not lawful for us as Romans to accept or practice.” 22 †The crowd joined in attacking them, and the magistrates tore the garments off them and gave orders to beat them with rods. 23 And when they had inflicted many blows upon them, they threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to keep them safely. 24 †Having received this order, he put them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Converted

25 ‡ † About midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them, 26 and suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. And immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's bonds were unfastened. 27 † When the jailer woke and saw that the prison doors were open, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped. 28 † But Paul cried with a loud voice, "Do not harm yourself, for we are all here." 29 And the jailer[1] called for lights and rushed in, and trembling with fear he fell down before Paul and Silas. 30 ‡ † Then he brought them out and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" 31 † And they said, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household." 32 † And they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house. 33 † And he took them the same hour of the night and washed their wounds; and he was baptized at once, he and all his family.
34 † Then he brought them up into his house and set food before them. And he rejoiced along with his entire household that he had believed in God.

35 † But when it was day, the magistrates sent the police, saying, "Let those men go." 36 And the jailer reported these words to Paul, saying, "The magistrates have sent to let you go. Therefore come out now and go in peace." 37 † But Paul said to them, "They have beaten us publicly, uncondemned, men who are Roman citizens, and have thrown us into prison; and do they now throw us out secretly? No! Let them come themselves and take us out." 38 The police reported these words to the magistrates, and they were afraid when they heard that they were Roman citizens. 39 † So they came and apologized to them. And they took them out and asked them to leave the city. 40 † So they went out of the prison and visited Lydia. And when they had seen the brothers, they encouraged them and departed.

Paul and Silas in Thessalonica

17 [1] Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews. [2] And Paul went in, as was his custom, and on three Sabbath days he reasoned with them from the Scriptures, [3] explaining and proving that it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead, and saying,
"This Jesus, whom I proclaim to you, is the Christ." [4] And some of them were persuaded and joined Paul and Silas, as did a great many of the devout Greeks and not a few of the leading women. [5] But the Jews were jealous, and taking some wicked men of the rabble, they formed a mob, set the city in an uproar, and attacked the house of Jason, seeking to bring them out to the crowd. [6] And when they could not find them, they dragged Jason and some of the brothers before the city authorities, shouting, "These men who have turned the world upside down have come here also, [7] and Jason has received them, and they are all acting against the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another king, Jesus." [8] And the people and the city authorities were disturbed when they heard these things. [9] And when they had taken money as security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.

Paul and Silas in Berea

10 ‡ ‡ The brothers[1] immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night to Berea, and when they arrived they went into the Jewish synagogue. 11 ‡ Now these Jews were more noble than those in Thessalonica; they received the word with all eagerness, examining the Scriptures daily to see if these things were so. 12 ‡ Many of them therefore believed, with not a few Greek women of high standing as well as men. 13 But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was proclaimed by Paul at Berea also, they came there too, agitating and stirring up the crowds. 14 ‡ Then the brothers immediately sent Paul off on his way to the sea, but Silas and Timothy remained there. 15 ‡ Those who conducted Paul brought him as far as Athens, and after receiving a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him as soon as possible, they departed.

Paul in Athens

16 ‡ † Now while Paul was waiting for them at Athens, his spirit was provoked within him as he saw that the city was full of idols. 17 † So he reasoned in the synagogue with the Jews and the devout persons, and in the marketplace every day with those who happened to be there. 18 † Some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers also conversed with him. And some said, “What does this babbler wish to say?” Others said, “He seems to be a preacher of foreign divinities”—because he was preaching Jesus and the resurrection. 19 † And they took him and brought him to the Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this new teaching is that you are presenting?
20 † For you bring some strange things to our ears. We wish to know therefore what these things mean.” 21 † Now all the Athenians and the foreigners who lived there would spend their time in nothing except telling or hearing something new.

Paul Addresses the Areopagus

22 So Paul, standing in the midst of the Areopagus, said: “Men of Athens, I perceive that in every way you are very religious. 23 For as I passed along and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, ‘To the unknown god.’ What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you. 24 The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man,[1] 25 nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything. 26 And he made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their dwelling place, 27 that they should seek God, in the hope that they might feel their way toward him and find him. Yet he is actually not far from each one of us, 28 for

> “‘In him we live and move and have our > being’;[1]

as even some of your own poets have said,

> “‘For we are indeed his offspring.’[2]

29 Being then God’s offspring, we ought not to think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of man. 30 The times of ignorance God overlooked, but now he commands all people everywhere to repent, 31 because he has fixed a day on which he will judge the world in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.”

32 Now when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked.
But others said, “We will hear you again about this.” 33 So Paul went out from their midst. 34 But some men joined him and believed, among whom also were Dionysius the Areopagite and a woman named Damaris and others with them.

Paul in Corinth

18 [1]†‡After this Paul[3] left Athens and went to Corinth. [2]†And he found a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus, recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. And he went to see them, [3]†and because he was of the same trade he stayed with them and worked, for they were tentmakers by trade. [4]†And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and tried to persuade Jews and Greeks.

[5]†When Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul was occupied with the word, testifying to the Jews that the Christ was Jesus. [6]†And when they opposed and reviled him, he shook out his garments and said to them, "Your blood be on your own heads! I am innocent. From now on I will go to the Gentiles." [7]†And he left there and went to the house of a man named Titius Justus, a worshiper of God. His house was next door to the synagogue. [8]†Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord, together with his entire household. And many of the Corinthians hearing Paul believed and were baptized. [9]†And the Lord said to Paul one night in a vision, "Do not be afraid, but go on speaking and do not be silent, [10]†for I am with you, and no one will attack you to harm you, for I have many in this city who are my people." [11]†And he stayed a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

[12]†But when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews made a united attack on Paul and brought him before the tribunal, [13]†saying, "This man is persuading people to worship God contrary to the law." [14]But when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, "If it were a matter of wrongdoing or vicious crime, O Jews, I would have reason to accept your complaint. [15]†But since it is a matter of questions about words and names and your own law, see to it yourselves. I refuse to be a judge of these things." [16]And he drove them from the tribunal. [17]†And they all seized Sosthenes, the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him in front of the tribunal. But Gallio paid no attention to any of this.

Paul Returns to Antioch

18 ‡ † After this, Paul stayed many days longer and then took leave of the brothers[1] and set sail for Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila. At Cenchreae he had cut his hair, for he was under a vow. 19 † And they came to Ephesus, and he left them there, but he himself went into the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews. 20 ‡ When they asked him to stay for a longer period, he declined. 21 But on taking leave of them he said, “I will return to you if God wills,” and he set sail from Ephesus.

22 † When he had landed at Caesarea, he went up and greeted the church, and then went down to Antioch. 23 † After spending some time there, he departed and went from one place to the next through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

Apollos Speaks Boldly in Ephesus

24 ‡† Now a Jew named Apollos, a native of Alexandria, came to Ephesus.
He was an eloquent man, competent in the Scriptures. 25 † He had been instructed in the way of the Lord. And being fervent in spirit,[1] he spoke and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus, though he knew only the baptism of John. 26 † He began to speak boldly in the synagogue, but when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him and explained to him the way of God more accurately. 27 † And when he wished to cross to Achaia, the brothers encouraged him and wrote to the disciples to welcome him. When he arrived, he greatly helped those who through grace had believed, 28 † for he powerfully refuted the Jews in public, showing by the Scriptures that the Christ was Jesus.

Paul in Ephesus

19 [1] † † And it happened that while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul passed through the inland[2] country and came to Ephesus. There he found some disciples. [2] † And he said to them, “Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?” And they said, “No, we have not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit.” [3] † And he said, “Into what then were you baptized?” They said, “Into John’s baptism.” [4] † And Paul said, “John baptized with the baptism of repentance, telling the people to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, Jesus.” [5] † On hearing this, they were baptized in[3] the name of the Lord Jesus. [6] † And when Paul had laid his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they began speaking in tongues and prophesying. [7] There were about twelve men in all.

[8] † And he entered the synagogue and for three months spoke boldly, reasoning and persuading them about the kingdom of God. [9] † But when some became stubborn and continued in unbelief, speaking evil of the Way before the congregation, he withdrew from them and took the disciples with him, reasoning daily in the hall of Tyrannus.[1] [10] † This continued for two years, so that all the residents of Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

The Sons of Sceva

11 ‡‡And God was doing extraordinary miracles by the hands of Paul, 12 so that even handkerchiefs or aprons that had touched his skin were carried away to the sick, and their diseases left them and the evil spirits came out of them. 13 †Then some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists undertook to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, “I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul proclaims.” 14 †Seven sons of a Jewish high priest named Sceva were doing this. 15 ‡But the evil spirit answered them, “Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize, but who are you?” 16 And the man in whom was the evil spirit leaped on them, mastered all[2] of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.
17 †And this became known to all the residents of Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks. And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was extolled. 18 †Also many of those who were now believers came, confessing and divulging their practices. 19 †And a number of those who had practiced magic arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all.
And they counted the value of them and found it came to fifty thousand pieces of silver. 20 †So the word of the Lord continued to increase and prevail mightily.

A Riot at Ephesus

21 ‡ † Now after these events Paul resolved in the Spirit to pass through Macedonia and Achaia and go to Jerusalem, saying, “After I have been there, I must also see Rome.” 22 † And having sent into Macedonia two of his helpers, Timothy and Erastus, he himself stayed in Asia for a while.

23 † About that time there arose no little disturbance concerning the Way.
24 † For a man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of Artemis, brought no little business to the craftsmen. 25 † These he gathered together, with the workmen in similar trades, and said, “Men, you know that from this business we have our wealth. 26 ‡ And you see and hear that not only in Ephesus but in almost all of Asia this Paul has persuaded and turned away a great many people, saying that gods made with hands are not gods.
27 And there is danger not only that this trade of ours may come into disrepute but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis may be counted as nothing, and that she may even be deposed from her magnificence, she whom all Asia and the world worship.”

28 † When they heard this they were enraged and were crying out, “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!” 29 † So the city was filled with the confusion, and they rushed together into the theater, dragging with them Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians who were Paul’s companions in travel. 30 But when Paul wished to go in among the crowd, the disciples would not let him. 31 † And even some of the Asiarchs,[1] who were friends of his, sent to him and were urging him not to venture into the theater. 32 † Now some cried out one thing, some another, for the assembly was in confusion, and most of them did not know why they had come together. 33 † Some of the crowd prompted Alexander, whom the Jews had put forward. And Alexander, motioning with his hand, wanted to make a defense to the crowd. 34 But when they recognized that he was a Jew, for about two hours they all cried out with one voice, “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!”

35 † And when the town clerk had quieted the crowd, he said, “Men of Ephesus, who is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple keeper of the great Artemis, and of the sacred stone that fell from the sky?[2] 36 Seeing then that these things cannot be denied, you ought to be quiet and do nothing rash. 37 †For you have brought these men here who are neither sacrilegious nor blasphemers of our goddess. 38 † If therefore Demetrius and the craftsmen with him have a complaint against anyone, the courts are open, and there are proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another. 39But if you seek anything further,[3] it shall be settled in the regular assembly. 40 † For we really are in danger of being charged with rioting today, since there is no cause that we can give to justify this commotion." 41And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Paul in Macedonia and Greece

20 [1]‡†After the uproar ceased, Paul sent for the disciples, and after encouraging them, he said farewell and departed for Macedonia. [2]†When he had gone through those regions and had given them much encouragement, he came to Greece. [3]†There he spent three months, and when a plot was made against him by the Jews as he was about to set sail for Syria, he decided to return through Macedonia. [4]†Sopater the Berean, son of Pyrrhus, accompanied him; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy; and the Asians, Tychicus and Trophimus. [5]†These went on ahead and were waiting for us at Troas, [6]†but we sailed away from Philippi after the days of Unleavened Bread, and in five days we came to them at Troas, where we stayed for seven days.

Eutychus Raised from the Dead

7 ‡†On the first day of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul talked with them, intending to depart on the next day, and he prolonged his speech until midnight. 8 There were many lamps in the upper room where we were gathered. 9 †And a young man named Eutychus, sitting at the window, sank into a deep sleep as Paul talked still longer. And being overcome by sleep, he fell down from the third story and was taken up dead. 10 †But Paul went down and bent over him, and taking him in his arms, said, “Do not be alarmed, for his life is in him.” 11 †And when Paul had gone up and had broken bread and eaten, he conversed with them a long while, until daybreak, and so departed. 12 And they took the youth away alive, and were not a little comforted.

13 †But going ahead to the ship, we set sail for Assos, intending to take
Paul aboard there, for so he had arranged, intending himself to go by land.
14 And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and went to Mitylene. 15 And sailing from there we came the following day opposite Chios; the next day we touched at Samos; and[1] the day after that we went to Miletus. 16 †For Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he might not have to spend time in Asia, for he was hastening to be at Jerusalem, if possible, on the day of Pentecost.

Paul Speaks to the Ephesian Elders

17 ‡ † Now from Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called the elders of the church to come to him. 18 ‡ And when they came to him, he said to them:

"You yourselves know how I lived among you the whole time from the first day that I set foot in Asia, 19 † serving the Lord with all humility and with tears and with trials that happened to me through the plots of the Jews; 20 † how I did not shrink from declaring to you anything that was profitable, and teaching you in public and from house to house, 21 † testifying both to Jews and to Greeks of repentance toward God and of faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. 22 † And now, behold, I am going to Jerusalem, constrained by[1] the Spirit, not knowing what will happen to me there, 23 except that the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city that imprisonment and afflictions await me. 24 † But I do not account my life of any value nor as precious to myself, if only I may finish my course and the ministry that I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify to the gospel of the grace of God. 25 † And now, behold, I know that none of you among whom I have gone about proclaiming the kingdom will see my face again. 26 † Therefore I testify to you this day that I am innocent of the blood of all of you, 27 † for I did not shrink from declaring to you the whole counsel of God. 28 † Pay careful attention to yourselves and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to care for the church of God,[2] which he obtained with his own blood.[3] 29 † I know that after my departure fierce wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock; 30 † and from among your own selves will arise men speaking twisted things, to draw away the disciples after them. 31 † Therefore be alert, remembering that for three years I did not cease night or day to admonish everyone with tears. 32 † And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up and to give you the inheritance among all those who are sanctified. 33 I coveted no one's silver or gold or apparel. 34 † You yourselves know that these hands ministered to my necessities and to those who were with me. 35 † In all things I have shown you that by working hard in this way we must help the weak and remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

[36] † And when he had said these things, he knelt down and prayed with them all. [37] † And there was much weeping on the part of all; they embraced Paul and kissed him, [38] being sorrowful most of all because of the word he had spoken, that they would not see his face again. And they accompanied him to the ship.

Paul Goes to Jerusalem

21 [1]‡‡‡And when we had parted from them and set sail, we came by a straight course to Cos, and the next day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara.[1] [2]And having found a ship crossing to Phoenicia, we went aboard and set sail. [3]When we had come in sight of Cyprus, leaving it on the left we sailed to Syria and landed at Tyre, for there the ship was to unload its cargo. [4]† And having sought out the disciples, we stayed there for seven days. And through the Spirit they were telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. [5]†When our days there were ended, we departed and went on our journey, and they all, with wives and children, accompanied us until we were outside the city. And kneeling down on the beach, we prayed [6]and said farewell to one another. Then we went on board the ship, and they returned home.

[7]†When we had finished the voyage from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and we greeted the brothers[2] and stayed with them for one day. [8]†On the next day we departed and came to Caesarea, and we entered the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the seven, and stayed with him. [9]†He had four unmarried daughters, who prophesied. [10]†While we were staying for many days, a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea. [11]† And coming to us, he took Paul's belt and bound his own feet and hands and said, "Thus says the Holy Spirit, 'This is how the Jews at Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt and deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.'" [12]When we heard this, we and the people there urged him not to go up to Jerusalem. [13]†Then Paul answered, "What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be imprisoned but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus." [14]†And since he would not be persuaded, we ceased and said, "Let the will of the Lord be done."

[15]†After these days we got ready and went up to Jerusalem. [16]†And some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us, bringing us to the house of Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we should lodge.

Paul Visits James

17 ‡ † When we had come to Jerusalem, the brothers received us gladly.
18 † On the following day Paul went in with us to James, and all the elders were present. 19 † After greeting them, he related one by one the things that God had done among the Gentiles through his ministry. 20 † And when they heard it, they glorified God. And they said to him, “You see, brother, how many thousands there are among the Jews of those who have believed.
They are all zealous for the law, 21 † and they have been told about you that you teach all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children or walk according to our customs.
22 What then is to be done? They will certainly hear that you have come.
23 † Do therefore what we tell you. We have four men who are under a vow; 24 † take these men and purify yourself along with them and pay their expenses, so that they may shave their heads. Thus all will know that there is nothing in what they have been told about you, but that you yourself also live in observance of the law. 25 † But as for the Gentiles who have believed, we have sent a letter with our judgment that they should abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled,[1] and from sexual immorality.” 26 † Then Paul took the men, and the next day he purified himself along with them and went into the temple, giving notice when the days of purification would be fulfilled and the offering presented for each one of them.

Paul Arrested in the Temple

27 When the seven days were almost completed, the Jews from Asia, seeing him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd and laid hands on him, 28 crying out, “Men of Israel, help! This is the man who is teaching everyone everywhere against the people and the law and this place.
Moreover, he even brought Greeks into the temple and has defiled this holy place.” 29For they had previously seen Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, and they supposed that Paul had brought him into the temple.
30Then all the city was stirred up, and the people ran together. They seized Paul and dragged him out of the temple, and at once the gates were shut.
31 And as they were seeking to kill him, word came to the tribune of the cohort that all Jerusalem was in confusion. 32He at once took soldiers and centurions and ran down to them. And when they saw the tribune and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul. 33 Then the tribune came up and arrested him and ordered him to be bound with two chains. He inquired who he was and what he had done. 34Some in the crowd were shouting one thing, some another. And as he could not learn the facts because of the uproar, he ordered him to be brought into the barracks. 35 And when he came to the steps, he was actually carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the crowd, 36for the mob of the people followed, crying out, “Away with him!”

Paul Speaks to the People

37 ‡ † As Paul was about to be brought into the barracks, he said to the tribune, “May I say something to you?” And he said, “Do you know Greek?
38 † Are you not the Egyptian, then, who recently stirred up a revolt and led the four thousand men of the Assassins out into the wilderness?” 39 † Paul replied, “I am a Jew, from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no obscure city. I beg you, permit me to speak to the people.” 40 † And when he had given him permission, Paul, standing on the steps, motioned with his hand to the people. And when there was a great hush, he addressed them in the Hebrew language,[1] saying:

22 1 † “Brothers and fathers, hear the defense that I now make before you.”

2 † And when they heard that he was addressing them in the Hebrew language, they became even more quiet. And he said:

3 † “I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city, educated at the feet of Gamaliel[2] according to the strict manner of the law of our fathers, being zealous for God as all of you are this day. 4 † I persecuted this Way to the death, binding and delivering to prison both men and women, 5 † as the high priest and the whole council of elders can bear me witness. From them I received letters to the brothers, and I journeyed toward Damascus to take those also who were there and bring them in bonds to Jerusalem to be punished.

6 † “As I was on my way and drew near to Damascus, about noon a great light from heaven suddenly shone around me. 7 And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?’
8 † And I answered, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And he said to me, ‘I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.’ 9 † Now those who were with me saw the light but did not understand[3] the voice of the one who was speaking to me. 10 And I said, ‘What shall I do, Lord?’ And the Lord said to me, ‘Rise, and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all that is appointed for you to do.’ 11 And since I could not see because of the brightness of that light, I was led by the hand by those who were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 † “And one Ananias, a devout man according to the law, well spoken of by all the Jews who lived there, 13 came to me, and standing by me said to me, ‘Brother Saul, receive your sight.’ And at that very hour I received my sight and saw him. 14 ‡† And he said, ‘The God of our fathers appointed you to know his will, to see the Righteous One and to hear a voice from his mouth; 15 † for you will be a witness for him to everyone of what you have seen and heard. 16 † And now why do you wait? Rise and be baptized and wash away your sins, calling on his name.’

17 ‡† “When I had returned to Jerusalem and was praying in the temple, I fell into a trance 18 † and saw him saying to me, ‘Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept your testimony about me.’ 19 † And I said, ‘Lord, they themselves know that in one synagogue after another I imprisoned and beat those who believed in you. 20 † And when the blood of Stephen your witness was being shed, I myself was standing by and approving and watching over the garments of those who killed him.’ 21 † And he said to me, ‘Go, for I will send you far away to the Gentiles.’”

Paul and the Roman Tribune

22 ‡ † Up to this word they listened to him. Then they raised their voices and said, “Away with such a fellow from the earth! For he should not be allowed to live.” 23 † And as they were shouting and throwing off their cloaks and flinging dust into the air, 24 † the tribune ordered him to be brought into the barracks, saying that he should be examined by flogging, to find out why they were shouting against him like this. 25 † But when they had stretched him out for the whips,[1] Paul said to the centurion who was standing by, “Is it lawful for you to flog a man who is a Roman citizen and uncondemned?” 26 When the centurion heard this, he went to the tribune and said to him, “What are you about to do? For this man is a Roman citizen.”
27 So the tribune came and said to him, “Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?”
And he said, “Yes.” 28 † The tribune answered, “I bought this citizenship for a large sum.” Paul said, “But I am a citizen by birth.” 29 † So those who were about to examine him withdrew from him immediately, and the tribune also was afraid, for he realized that Paul was a Roman citizen and that he had bound him.

Paul Before the Council

30 ‡ † But on the next day, desiring to know the real reason why he was being accused by the Jews, he unbound him and commanded the chief priests and all the council to meet, and he brought Paul down and set him before them.

23 1 † And looking intently at the council, Paul said, “Brothers, I have lived my life before God in all good conscience up to this day.” 2 † And the high priest Ananias commanded those who stood by him to strike him on the mouth. 3 † Then Paul said to him, “God is going to strike you, you whitewashed wall! Are you sitting to judge me according to the law, and yet contrary to the law you order me to be struck?” 4 † Those who stood by said, “Would you revile God’s high priest?” 5 † And Paul said, “I did not know, brothers, that he was the high priest, for it is written, ‘You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.’”

6 † Now when Paul perceived that one part were Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, “Brothers, I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees. It is with respect to the hope and the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial.” 7 † And when he had said this, a dissension arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the assembly was divided. 8 † For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, nor angel, nor spirit, but the Pharisees acknowledge them all. 9 † Then a great clamor arose, and some of the scribes of the Pharisees’ party stood up and contended sharply, “We find nothing wrong in this man. What if a spirit or an angel spoke to him?”
10 † And when the dissension became violent, the tribune, afraid that Paul would be torn to pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him away from among them by force and bring him into the barracks.

11 † The following night the Lord stood by him and said, “Take courage, for as you have testified to the facts about me in Jerusalem, so you must testify also in Rome.”

A Plot to Kill Paul

12 ‡† When it was day, the Jews made a plot and bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they had killed Paul. 13 There were more than forty who made this conspiracy. 14 † They went to the chief priests and elders and said, “We have strictly bound ourselves by an oath to taste no food till we have killed Paul. 15 † Now therefore you, along with the council, give notice to the tribune to bring him down to you, as though you were going to determine his case more exactly. And we are ready to kill him before he comes near.”

16 † Now the son of Paul’s sister heard of their ambush, so he went and entered the barracks and told Paul. 17 † Paul called one of the centurions and said, “Take this young man to the tribune, for he has something to tell him.” 18 So he took him and brought him to the tribune and said, “Paul the prisoner called me and asked me to bring this young man to you, as he has something to say to you.” 19 † The tribune took him by the hand, and going aside asked him privately, “What is it that you have to tell me?” 20 ‡ And he said, “The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul down to the council tomorrow, as though they were going to inquire somewhat more closely about him. 21 But do not be persuaded by them, for more than forty of their men are lying in ambush for him, who have bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they have killed him. And now they are ready, waiting for your consent.” 22 So the tribune dismissed the young man, charging him, “Tell no one that you have informed me of these things.”

Paul Sent to Felix the Governor

23 ‡ ‡ Then he called two of the centurions and said, “Get ready two hundred soldiers, with seventy horsemen and two hundred spearmen to go as far as Caesarea at the third hour of the night.[1] 24 Also provide mounts for Paul to ride and bring him safely to Felix the governor.” 25 † And he wrote a letter to this effect:

26 † “Claudius Lysias, to his Excellency the governor Felix, greetings.
27 † This man was seized by the Jews and was about to be killed by them when I came upon them with the soldiers and rescued him, having learned that he was a Roman citizen. 28 And desiring to know the charge for which they were accusing him, I brought him down to their council. 29 † I found that he was being accused about questions of their law, but charged with nothing deserving death or imprisonment. 30 † And when it was disclosed to me that there would be a plot against the man, I sent him to you at once, ordering his accusers also to state before you what they have against him.”

31 † So the soldiers, according to their instructions, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris. 32 † And on the next day they returned to the barracks, letting the horsemen go on with him. 33 When they had come to Caesarea and delivered the letter to the governor, they presented Paul also before him. 34 † On reading the letter, he asked what province he was from.
And when he learned that he was from Cilicia, 35 † he said, “I will give you a hearing when your accusers arrive.” And he commanded him to be guarded in Herod’s praetorium.

Paul Before Felix at Caesarea

24 [1]‡†And after five days the high priest Ananias came down with some elders and a spokesman, one Tertullus. They laid before the governor their case against Paul. [2]‡And when he had been summoned, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying:

"Since through you we enjoy much peace, and since by your foresight, most excellent Felix, reforms are being made for this nation, [3]†in every way and everywhere we accept this with all gratitude. [4]But, to detain[1] you no further, I beg you in your kindness to hear us briefly. [5]†For we have found this man a plague, one who stirs up riots among all the Jews throughout the world and is a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes. [6]†He even tried to profane the temple, but we seized him.[2] [8]By examining him yourself you will be able to find out from him about everything of which we accuse him."

[9]†The Jews also joined in the charge, affirming that all these things were so.

[10]†And when the governor had nodded to him to speak, Paul replied:

"Knowing that for many years you have been a judge over this nation, I cheerfully make my defense. [11]† You can verify that it is not more than twelve days since I went up to worship in Jerusalem, [12]†and they did not find me disputing with anyone or stirring up a crowd, either in the temple or in the synagogues or in the city. [13]†Neither can they prove to you what they now bring up against me. [14]†But this I confess to you, that according to the Way, which they call a sect, I worship the God of our fathers, believing everything laid down by the Law and written in the Prophets, [15]†having a hope in God, which these men themselves accept, that there will be a resurrection of both the just and the unjust. [16]†So I always take pains to have a clear conscience toward both God and man. [17]†Now after several years I came to bring alms to my nation and to present offerings. [18]While I was doing this, they found me purified in the temple, without any crowd or tumult. But some Jews from Asia— [19]†they ought to be here before you and to make an accusation, should they have anything against me. [20]†Or else let these men themselves say what wrongdoing they found when I stood before the council, [21]other than this one thing that I cried out while standing among them: ‘It is with respect to the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial before you this day.’”

Paul Kept in Custody

22 ‡ † But Felix, having a rather accurate knowledge of the Way, put them off, saying, “When Lysias the tribune comes down, I will decide your case.” 23 † Then he gave orders to the centurion that he should be kept in custody but have some liberty, and that none of his friends should be prevented from attending to his needs.
24 † After some days Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, and he sent for Paul and heard him speak about faith in Christ Jesus. 25 † And as he reasoned about righteousness and self-control and the coming judgment, Felix was alarmed and said, “Go away for the present. When I get an opportunity I will summon you.” 26 † At the same time he hoped that money would be given him by Paul. So he sent for him often and conversed with him. 27 † When two years had elapsed, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. And desiring to do the Jews a favor, Felix left Paul in prison.

Paul Appeals to Caesar

25 [1]†Now three days after Festus had arrived in the province, he went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea. [2]† And the chief priests and the principal men of the Jews laid out their case against Paul, and they urged him, [3]asking as a favor against Paul[1] that he summon him to Jerusalem—because they were planning an ambush to kill him on the way. [4]Festus replied that Paul was being kept at Caesarea and that he himself intended to go there shortly. [5]"So," said he, "let the men of authority among you go down with me, and if there is anything wrong about the man, let them bring charges against him."

[6]† After he stayed among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down to Caesarea. And the next day he took his seat on the tribunal and ordered Paul to be brought. [7]†When he had arrived, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood around him, bringing many and serious charges against him that they could not prove. [8]Paul argued in his defense, "Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar have I committed any offense." [9]But Festus, wishing to do the Jews a favor, said to Paul, "Do you wish to go up to Jerusalem and there be tried on these charges before me?" [10] † But Paul said, "I am standing before Caesar's tribunal, where I ought to be tried. To the Jews I have done no wrong, as you yourself know very well. [11] † If then I am a wrongdoer and have committed anything for which I deserve to die, I do not seek to escape death. But if there is nothing to their charges against me, no one can give me up to them. I appeal to Caesar." [12]†Then Festus, when he had conferred with his council, answered, "To Caesar you have appealed; to Caesar you shall go."

Paul Before Agrippa and Bernice

13 ‡ † Now when some days had passed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at Caesarea and greeted Festus. 14 And as they stayed there many days, Festus laid Paul's case before the king, saying, "There is a man left prisoner by Felix, 15 † and when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews laid out their case against him, asking for a sentence of condemnation against him. 16 † I answered them that it was not the custom of the Romans to give up anyone before the accused met the accusers face to face and had opportunity to make his defense concerning the charge laid against him. 17 † So when they came together here, I made no delay, but on the next day took my seat on the tribunal and ordered the man to be brought. 18 When the accusers stood up, they brought no charge in his case of such evils as I supposed. 19 † Rather they had certain points of dispute with him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus, who was dead, but whom Paul asserted to be alive. 20 Being at a loss how to investigate these questions, I asked whether he wanted to go to Jerusalem and be tried there regarding them. 21 But when Paul had appealed to be kept in custody for the decision of the emperor, I ordered him to be held until I could send him to Caesar." 22 Then Agrippa said to Festus, "I would like to hear the man myself." "Tomorrow," said he, "you will hear him."

23 † So on the next day Agrippa and Bernice came with great pomp, and they entered the audience hall with the military tribunes and the prominent men of the city. Then, at the command of Festus, Paul was brought in.
24 And Festus said, "King Agrippa and all who are present with us, you see this man about whom the whole Jewish people petitioned me, both in Jerusalem and here, shouting that he ought not to live any longer. 25 But I found that he had done nothing deserving death. And as he himself appealed to the emperor, I decided to go ahead and send him. 26 † But I have nothing definite to write to my lord about him. Therefore I have brought him before you all, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that, after we have examined him, I may have something to write. 27 † For it seems to me unreasonable, in sending a prisoner, not to indicate the charges against him."

Paul’s Defense Before Agrippa

26 [1] †So Agrippa said to Paul, “You have permission to speak for yourself.” Then Paul stretched out his hand and made his defense:

[2] †“I consider myself fortunate that it is before you, King Agrippa, I am going to make my defense today against all the accusations of the Jews, [3] †especially because you are familiar with all the customs and controversies of the Jews. Therefore I beg you to listen to me patiently.

[4] “My manner of life from my youth, spent from the beginning among my own nation and in Jerusalem, is known by all the Jews. [5] †They have known for a long time, if they are willing to testify, that according to the strictest party of our religion I have lived as a Pharisee. [6] †And now I stand here on trial because of my hope in the promise made by God to our fathers, [7] to which our twelve tribes hope to attain, as they earnestly worship night and day. And for this hope I am accused by Jews, O king! [8] †Why is it thought incredible by any of you that God raises the dead?

[9] “I myself was convinced that I ought to do many things in opposing the name of Jesus of Nazareth. [10] †And I did so in Jerusalem. I not only locked up many of the saints in prison after receiving authority from the chief priests, but when they were put to death I cast my vote against them. [11] †And I punished them often in all the synagogues and tried to make them blaspheme, and in raging fury against them I persecuted them even to foreign cities.

Paul Tells of His Conversion

12 ‡‡‡“In this connection I journeyed to Damascus with the authority and commission of the chief priests. 13At midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, that shone around me and those who journeyed with me. 14 †And when we had all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice saying to me in the Hebrew language,[1] ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.’ 15And I said, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And the Lord said, ‘I am Jesus whom you are persecuting. 16†But rise and stand upon your feet, for I have appeared to you for this purpose, to appoint you as a servant and witness to the things in which you have seen me and to those in which I will appear to you, 17delivering you from your people and from the Gentiles—to whom I am sending you 18†to open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are sanctified by faith in me.’

19“‘Therefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, 20†but declared first to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem and throughout all the region of Judea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, performing deeds in keeping with their repentance.
21For this reason the Jews seized me in the temple and tried to kill me. 22To this day I have had the help that comes from God, and so I stand here testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses said would come to pass: 23†that the Christ must suffer and that, by being the first to rise from the dead, he would proclaim light both to our people and to the Gentiles.”

24 †And as he was saying these things in his defense, Festus said with a loud voice, “Paul, you are out of your mind; your great learning is driving you out of your mind.” 25But Paul said, “I am not out of my mind, most excellent Festus, but I am speaking true and rational words. 26†For the king knows about these things, and to him I speak boldly. For I am persuaded that none of these things has escaped his notice, for this has not been done in a corner. 27King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know that you believe.” 28†And Agrippa said to Paul, “In a short time would you persuade me to be a Christian?”[1] 29 †And Paul said, “Whether short or long, I would to God that not only you but also all who hear me this day might become such as I am—except for these chains.”

30 Then the king rose, and the governor and Bernice and those who were sitting with them. 31 † And when they had withdrawn, they said to one another, “This man is doing nothing to deserve death or imprisonment.” 32 †And Agrippa said to Festus, “This man could have been set free if he had not appealed to Caesar.”

Paul Sails for Rome

27 [1] ††And when it was decided that we should sail for Italy, they delivered Paul and some other prisoners to a centurion of the Augustan Cohort named Julius. [2] †And embarking in a ship of Adramyttium, which was about to sail to the ports along the coast of Asia, we put to sea, accompanied by Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica. [3] †The next day we put in at Sidon. And Julius treated Paul kindly and gave him leave to go to his friends and be cared for. [4] †And putting out to sea from there we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were against us. [5] And when we had sailed across the open sea along the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra in Lycia. [6] †There the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy and put us on board. [7] †We sailed slowly for a number of days and arrived with difficulty off Cnidus, and as the wind did not allow us to go farther, we sailed under the lee of Crete off Salmone.
[8] Coasting along it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near which was the city of Lasea.

[9] †Since much time had passed, and the voyage was now dangerous because even the Fast[2] was already over, Paul advised them, [10] †saying,
"Sirs, I perceive that the voyage will be with injury and much loss, not only of the cargo and the ship, but also of our lives." [11] †But the centurion paid more attention to the pilot and to the owner of the ship than to what Paul said. [12] †And because the harbor was not suitable to spend the winter in, the majority decided to put out to sea from there, on the chance that somehow they could reach Phoenix, a harbor of Crete, facing both southwest and northwest, and spend the winter there.

The Storm at Sea

13 Now when the south wind blew gently, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, they weighed anchor and sailed along Crete, close to the shore. 14 † But soon a tempestuous wind, called the northeaster, struck down from the land. 15 † And when the ship was caught and could not face the wind, we gave way to it and were driven along. 16 † Running under the lee of a small island called Cauda,[1] we managed with difficulty to secure the ship's boat. 17 † After hoisting it up, they used supports to undergird the ship. Then, fearing that they would run aground on the Syrtis, they lowered the gear,[2] and thus they were driven along. 18 Since we were violently storm-tossed, they began the next day to jettison the cargo. 19 And on the third day they threw the ship's tackle overboard with their own hands.
20 † When neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope of our being saved was at last abandoned.

21 Since they had been without food for a long time, Paul stood up among them and said, "Men, you should have listened to me and not have set sail from Crete and incurred this injury and loss. 22 † Yet now I urge you to take heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship.
23 † For this very night there stood before me an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I worship, 24 † and he said, 'Do not be afraid, Paul; you must stand before Caesar. And behold, God has granted you all those who sail with you.' 25 † So take heart, men, for I have faith in God that it will be exactly as I have been told. 26 But we must run aground on some island."

27 † When the fourteenth night had come, as we were being driven across the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors suspected that they were nearing land. 28 So they took a sounding and found twenty fathoms.[3] A little farther on they took a sounding again and found fifteen fathoms.[4] 29 And fearing that we might run on the rocks, they let down four anchors from the stern and prayed for day to come. 30 † And as the sailors were seeking to escape from the ship, and had lowered the ship's boat into the sea under pretense of laying out anchors from the bow, 31 † Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless these men stay in the ship, you cannot be saved.”

32 Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the ship’s boat and let it go.

33 † As day was about to dawn, Paul urged them all to take some food, saying, “Today is the fourteenth day that you have continued in suspense and without food, having taken nothing. 34 Therefore I urge you to take some food. For it will give you strength, for not a hair is to perish from the head of any of you.” 35 And when he had said these things, he took bread, and giving thanks to God in the presence of all he broke it and began to eat.
36 Then they all were encouraged and ate some food themselves. 37 † (We were in all 276[5] persons in the ship.) 38 † And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, throwing out the wheat into the sea.

The Shipwreck

39 †Now when it was day, they did not recognize the land, but they noticed a bay with a beach, on which they planned if possible to run the ship ashore.
40 †So they cast off the anchors and left them in the sea, at the same time loosening the ropes that tied the rudders. Then hoisting the foresail to the wind they made for the beach. 41 But striking a reef,[1] they ran the vessel aground. The bow stuck and remained immovable, and the stern was being broken up by the surf. 42 †The soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners, lest any should swim away and escape. 43 But the centurion, wishing to save Paul, kept them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and make for the land, 44 †and the rest on planks or on pieces of the ship. And so it was that all were brought safely to land.

Paul on Malta

28 [1]†After we were brought safely through, we then learned that the island was called Malta. [2]†The native people[2] showed us unusual kindness, for they kindled a fire and welcomed us all, because it had begun to rain and was cold. [3]†When Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and put them on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat and fastened on his hand. [4]†When the native people saw the creature hanging from his hand, they said to one another, “No doubt this man is a murderer. Though he has escaped from the sea, Justice[3] has not allowed him to live.” [5]He, however, shook off the creature into the fire and suffered no harm. [6]†They were waiting for him to swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But when they had waited a long time and saw no misfortune come to him, they changed their minds and said that he was a god.

[7]†Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the chief man of the island, named Publius, who received us and entertained us hospitably for three days. [8]†It happened that the father of Publius lay sick with fever and dysentery. And Paul visited him and prayed, and putting his hands on him healed him. [9]And when this had taken place, the rest of the people on the island who had diseases also came and were cured. [10]They also honored us greatly,[4] and when we were about to sail, they put on board whatever we needed.

Paul Arrives at Rome

11 ‡ † After three months we set sail in a ship that had wintered in the island, a ship of Alexandria, with the twin gods[5] as a figurehead. 12 Putting in at Syracuse, we stayed there for three days. 13 † And from there we made a circuit and arrived at Rhegium. And after one day a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli. 14 † There we found brothers[6] and were invited to stay with them for seven days. And so we came to Rome. 15 † And the brothers there, when they heard about us, came as far as the Forum of Appius and Three Taverns to meet us. On seeing them, Paul thanked God and took courage. 16 † And when we came into Rome, Paul was allowed to stay by himself, with the soldier that guarded him.

Paul in Rome

17 †After three days he called together the local leaders of the Jews, and when they had gathered, he said to them, “Brothers, though I had done nothing against our people or the customs of our fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans. 18 †When they had examined me, they wished to set me at liberty, because there was no reason for the death penalty in my case. 19 But because the Jews objected, I was compelled to appeal to Caesar—though I had no charge to bring against my nation. 20 †For this reason, therefore, I have asked to see you and speak with you, since it is because of the hope of Israel that I am wearing this chain.” 21 †And they said to him, “We have received no letters from Judea about you, and none of the brothers coming here has reported or spoken any evil about you. 22 †But we desire to hear from you what your views are, for with regard to this sect we know that everywhere it is spoken against.”

23 †When they had appointed a day for him, they came to him at his lodging in greater numbers. From morning till evening he expounded to them, testifying to the kingdom of God and trying to convince them about Jesus both from the Law of Moses and from the Prophets. 24 †And some were convinced by what he said, but others disbelieved. 25 †And disagreeing among themselves, they departed after Paul had made one statement: “The Holy Spirit was right in saying to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet:

26 †“‘Go to this people, and say,
You will indeed hear but never understand,
and you will indeed see but never perceive.
27 For this people’s heart has grown dull, and with their ears they can barely hear,
and their eyes they have closed;
lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and turn, and I would heal them.’

28 ††Therefore let it be known to you that this salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles; they will listen.”[1]

30 †He lived there two whole years at his own expense,[2] and welcomed all who came to him, 31 †proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness and without hindrance.

Introduction to Acts

Reading Acts

Every scroll collected by the synagogue is laid out and rolled open. Readers flock around them like grazing sheep around patches of grass, devouring the lines of text and chewing on the young rabbi's suggestion that the Messiah has come, has suffered death, and has risen again. "Would the Messiah save the Gentiles too?" someone wonders aloud. "Without circumcision, without the customs of the Law? How can these things be?"

The preaching of salvation through Jesus, confirmed by the gift of the Holy Spirit, "turned the world upside down" (17:6). In Acts, Luke continues the story of Jesus' work in and through the apostles and other disciples. Acts records the progress of God's mission to reach the ends of the earth with the promise of forgiveness and everlasting life in Christ—a mission that continues today as the Lord works through His Church.

Luther on Acts

Contrary to what has sometimes been the practice, this book should not be read or regarded as though St. Luke had written about the personal work or history of the apostles simply as an example of good works or good life. Even St. Augustine and many others have looked upon the fact that the apostles had all things in common with Christians [Acts 2:44–45; 4:32–37] as the best example which the book contains. Yet this practice did not last long and in time had to stop. Rather it should be noted that by this book St. Luke teaches the whole of Christendom, even to the end of the world, that the true and chief article of Christian doctrine is this: We must all be justified alone by faith in Jesus Christ, without any contribution from the law or help from our works.

This doctrine is the chief intention of the book and the author's principal reason for writing it. Therefore he emphasizes so powerfully not only the preaching of the apostles about faith in Christ, how both Gentiles and Jews must thereby be justified without any merits or works, but also the examples and the instances of this teaching, how the Gentiles as well as Jews were justified through the gospel alone, without the law.

As St. Peter testifies in chapters 10[:34–47] and 15[:7–11], in this matter God made no distinction between Jews and Gentiles; just as he gave the Holy Spirit through the gospel to the Gentiles who were living without the law, so he gave him to the Jews through the gospel, and not through the law or because of their own works and merits. Thus in this book St. Luke puts side by side both the doctrine about faith and the examples of faith.

Therefore this book might well be called a commentary on the epistles of St. Paul. For what Paul teaches and insists upon with words and passages of Scripture, St. Luke here points out and proves with examples and instances to show that it has happened and must happen in the way St. Paul teaches, namely, that no law, no work justifies men, but only faith in Christ. Here, then, in this book you find a beautiful mirror in which you can see that this is true: Sola fides justificat, "faith alone justifies." For all the examples and incidents contained in this book are sure and comforting testimonies to this doctrine; they neither deceive nor lie to you.

For consider how St. Paul himself was converted [Acts 9:1–19], and how the Gentile, Cornelius, was converted through St. Peter's word—the angel telling him beforehand that Peter would preach to him and that thereby he would be saved [Acts 10:1–8, 30–33]. Look at the proconsul Sergius [Acts 13:7] and at all the cities where Paul and Barnabas preached. Look at the first council of the apostles at Jerusalem, in chapter 15; look at all the preaching of SS. Peter, Paul, Stephen, and Philip. You will find that it all adds up to one thing: we must come into grace and be justified only through faith in Christ, without law and works.

By means of this book, used in this way, we can silence in a masterly and effective way the loquacity of opponents who [keep on] pointing us to the law and to our own works, and reveal their foolish unwisdom before all the world. Therefore St. Luke says too that these illustrations of faith amazed the pious Jews who had become believers, and that the unbelieving Jews became maddened and foolish over it. And this was no surprise, for they had been raised in the law and had been accustomed to it ever since Abraham. So it was bound to vex them that the Gentiles, who were without law and God, should be equal to themselves in God's grace. (AE 35:363–64)

Challenges for Readers

Relationship to the Gospel according to Luke. As the opening words show (Ac 1:1–3), Acts cannot be considered separate from Luke. See pp 1700–1701. Acts differs from Luke in that Luke was himself an eyewitness to the events he records in Acts (cf Lk 1:1–4). For example, scholars have noted several "we" passages (Ac 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1–28:16) where Luke writes as a companion of Paul, beginning with Paul's second missionary journey (c AD 49–51).

Speeches in Acts. Critics have noted the unity of style present in the various speeches Luke recorded in Acts. They point to this unity as proof that Luke made up the speeches and that they do not reflect real or faithful history. Certainly Luke was not an eyewitness to every speech, and it is also natural that his style as a narrator would come through, especially since some speeches were originally delivered in Hebrew and Aramaic (e.g., 22:2). But Luke never claims to record speeches word for word. He presents summaries of speeches, and he even lets the reader know when he is not quoting a source (see note, 23:25). Paraphrases and summaries were perfectly acceptable ways of presenting historical events both in the first century and today. We cannot condemn Luke's approach as unhistorical based on modern standards of documentary history.

Work of the Holy Spirit. Some interpreters treat Acts like mere history. However, the Book of Acts may rightly be called "The Acts of Jesus and the Holy Spirit." See pp 1841, 1876.

Christianity and Empire. Luke seems very concerned to demonstrate that Christianity is no threat to the Roman Empire and that Christians are loyal citizens. He is not shy in recording the fact that the Gospel brought controversy, whether among Jews in Jerusalem or Gentiles in Ephesus. Yet Luke wants the reader to understand that, when carefully examined by Roman officials, Christians are innocent of any charges of rebellion. Christians spread their doctrine throughout the known world and even to the capital without resorting to violence, even though they were often persecuted. See p 1892.

Peter, Paul, and Church Unity. Perhaps the most important feature of Luke's account is that he demonstrates the unity of apostolic mission and ministry through two important leaders of the Early Church: Peter and Paul.

Although James the brother of Jesus features importantly as leader of the Church at Jerusalem (ch 15), Luke focuses on the two apostles responsible for the spread of the Gospel to the Gentiles and the fact that this was the express will of Jesus (1:8; 9:15), the heavenly Father (2:38–39; 15:16–17), and the Holy Spirit (8:14–17; 10:44–48). See note, 16:6–10. The Jerusalem Council (ch 15) demonstrates the consensus of all.

The Resurrection. Luke places special emphasis on reporting the miracle of the resurrection both as a demonstration of Jesus' calling and divinity (2:22–33) and that God's work in the world has changed following the resurrection (cf 17:29–31). By raising Christ to life again, God shows that He gives life in Christ to those who believe (2:28; 3:15; 11:18).

Paul's Visits to Jerusalem. A challenge arises for readers comparing Acts with Paul's Letters. In his Letters, Paul mentions three visits to Jerusalem (Gal 1:18; 2:1; Rm 15:25–26). Acts describes five visits (9:26; 11:27–30; ch 15; 18:22; 21:17). The first and last visits recorded in Acts correspond to the first and last visits mentioned in Paul's Letters. However, scholars debate when the Gal 2:1 visit occurred and how it fits with the examples from Acts. For more on this, see chronology, p cviii.

Blessings for Readers

By writing his Gospel and Acts, Luke wrote about 25 percent of the NT, more text than any other NT writer. In these two books, Luke provides an account of God's work from the announcement of Jesus' birth to the announcement in Rome of salvation in Jesus (AD 58). Luke shows that, through poor and helpless people on the margin of society, God spread His Word.

As you study the Book of Acts, consider how the Lord calls every believer—including you—to bear witness to Jesus' death and resurrection and to the salvation in His name. Acts records how God works through His Word, whether spoken or written, to bring people to faith in Christ. Through the Gospel, the Lord is turning the world upside down and advancing His kingdom from person to person and from nation to nation.

A Blessed Life

The God revealed through the Bible is the God whose gifts to sinners often go beyond human expectations. The lame man at the Jerusalem temple did not seem to have so high expectations as to be healed (Acts 3:1–10), nor did the paralyzed man in Capernaum expect to be treated in both body and soul (Mark 2:1–12). Simon the magician was so amazed at the power of the Spirit working through the disciples that he attempted to purchase some of it (Acts 8). True power to conquer all that would hinder human entrance into a blessed life eternal resides in Jesus' hands and is given to those who follow Him.

Even if the Christian knows someone would try to cast a spell on him, he lives in perfect peace in Christ who bore sin's worst spell upon a Jerusalem cross in the sinner's place. The Christian has full protection and victory over the enemy through the Triune God who created him, redeemed him, and sanctified him. When the Christian stops breathing in his mortal body, he knows that he is taken to the presence of His Lord, as it was in the case of Stephen (Acts 7:54–60). …

The Christian concept of Baptism is that in that action, God the Holy Spirit is at work to connect the baptized to the Triune God and the life that knows no end (Titus 3:5). Through Christian Baptism, one becomes the temple of the Holy Spirit, empowered and protected by the Triune God to live in joy and holiness. (Rom. 6:4–6; 1 Peter 3:21–22).

Pentecost

At the beginning of the twentieth century, the Pentecostal movement raised a question for biblical interpreters. Pentecostals studied the events of the Day of Pentecost and concluded that every Christian's life should imitate the experience of the early Christians on that day. Most pointedly, they concluded that all Christians should speak in tongues or prophesy as described in Ac 2. In contrast, other interpreters view these events as unique and miraculous—not something Christians must imitate.

Based on ancient Jewish sources, this article will explore the setting for the miraculous events of Pentecost. It will help you gain a deeper understanding of God's true purpose behind this remarkable event: the inclusion of every tongue, tribe, and nation in God's kingdom.

The Gathering

According to Josephus (War 6:299), on Pentecost eve, the priests began to gather at the inner court of the temple. Jewish people from around the ancient Near East would already have filled the city, because they could not travel far on the previous day, the Sabbath (Ant 13:251–52).

On Pentecost morning, farmers from around Jerusalem gathered baskets with several types of food (see Mishnah Bikkurim 1:3, 10; see also pp 200–201). A flute player led the farmers up Mount Zion as they sang the Songs of Ascents (Ps 120–36). This liturgy of procession and psalms was known as the Great Hallel (Hbr Hallel Hagadol). Psalm 136 served as a climax of praise to God, "who alone does great wonders" (v 4; Hbr Naphla'oth gedoloth): creating the earth, delivering the people out of Egypt, and conquering the Promised Land from which the farmers gathered their offerings.

As the procession neared the city, officials went out to join the procession up to the Temple Mount. The king placed a basket of food on his shoulder and led the people into the temple courts as the Levites sang Ps 30, written for the temple dedication (see note, Ps 30).

The Offering

In the temple courts, the farmers would present their baskets before the priests. Each farmer would step forward and say the liturgy of recitation (Dt 26:3). He would remove the basket from his shoulder and tip it toward the priest. The priest took hold of the basket, and the two of them swayed it back and forth as a "wave" offering. Then the farmer would recite in Hebrew, "A wandering Aramean was my father …" (Dt 26:5–10a). He would leave the basket, bow before the Lord, and make way for the next farmer.

But a controversy arose about the recitation. The priest would have to lead the people who could not speak Hebrew. He would say a part in Hebrew, and the person making the offering would repeat it. This apparently embarrassed people. They stopped bringing their offerings. As a result, the priests decided that they would lead all the people in the recitation, whether or not they knew Hebrew. In this way, they continued to receive everyone's offering but also retained Hebrew as the language of temple services.

Rejoice, Remember, and Follow

According to Dt 26:11 and 16:11–12, "rejoicing" and "remembering" followed the offering. The rabbis tell us that the priests led the people in prayer according to the daily prayer customs. This likely included recitation of the 18 Benedictions and the Shema (Dt 6:4–9). They also sang the festival psalms known as the Egyptian Hallel (Ps 113–18). They shouted Ps 118:15–17, 22–23 (cf Mt 21:1–11).

A service of covenant renewal called by King Asa during the third month of the year is described in 2Ch 15:10–15. It is likely that this renewal was during the Festival of Pentecost. Later Jewish tradition made an oath to the covenant part of the Pentecost celebration (see the pseudepigraphal book Jubilees, especially chs 6 and 22). The people promised to follow the teachings of the covenant each year on Pentecost.

The Miracle of Pentecost

The Festival of Pentecost gives us a better understanding of the events described in Ac 2. For example, Jewish people who spoke a variety of languages would have gathered at the temple courts to make their offering and repeat the recitation in Hebrew. They would sing psalms extolling the wonders of God and participate in a ceremony of renewal.

The miraculous gift of tongues ("languages," see p 1969) demonstrated to everyone who heard them that God desired all people to have His Word, not just the Hebrew speakers. This use of foreign language was a sign to the Jewish people, who had failed to heed the prophets and call the nations to repentance (Is 28:11–12; 1Co 14:21; see p 751). They heard the first Christians praising God for His great deeds, such as those recorded in the Great Hallel. Finally, Peter's sermon culminates in a service of renewal: Baptism in the name of the Savior Jesus!

Genuine Renewal

On Pentecost, the Lord called His people to abandon the language barrier they had set up. The miraculous events of Ac 2:1–4 do not describe everyday Christian life but God's special lesson for the first Jewish Christians: God poured out His Spirit because He wanted to include all nations and tongues in the new covenant. God replays this lesson throughout Acts as new people join the Church (the Samaritans and Ethiopians, Ac 8; the Gentiles, Ac 10; and the disciples of John the Baptist, Ac 19:1–7).

Ac 2:42 describes how the early Christians enjoyed the very things that shape and guide everyday Christian life today. Rather than emphasizing that all believers must imitate the experience of Ac 2:1–4, the Book of Acts emphasizes God's mission of carrying the Gospel to all people (e.g., 1:8, 21–22; 3:24–26; 4:12, 31; 6:1; 7:51–53) and joining them in the Body of Christ through Baptism (e.g., 2:37–39, 41; 8:12–13, 36–38; 10:47–48; 16:15, 33; 18:8).

Today, the renewal the Church needs is the same renewal God gave the first Christians: Baptism. In Baptism, God pours out His Holy Spirit. He forgives sins and includes people in the apostolic fellowship. Rather than trying to imitate the events of Pentecost, turn to God's promise of renewal in Baptism through daily repentance. Then, filled with peace through Christ, turn with joy to the people around you—no matter who they are or where they come from—and bear witness to them of the renewal you have received in Christ.

The Acts of Whom?

Before His ascension, Jesus gave His disciples a promise: "I am with you always, to the end of the age" (Mt 28:20). Did they consider this statement nothing more than typical parting words, the same sort we might utter when telling friends we are "with them" in thought even though separated from them? Whatever the disciples may first have thought about Jesus' words, it soon became clear that He was with them in far more than a symbolic sense.

Luke opens his history (Acts) with a significant clue as to what is going on—and who is leading. "In the first book," he notes, "I have dealt with all that Jesus began to do and teach" (Ac 1:1). The Gospel story (Luke) is not simply an account of what Jesus did; it is the story of what He began to do. And its sequel (Acts) records what Jesus continued to do. The risen Christ continues His ministry of salvation and restoration through the acts and works of His apostles. And the apostles, for their part, provide a stunning display of the truth behind Paul's statement: "It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me" (Gal 2:20). The One who said, "This is My body; this is My blood" when He instituted that Holy Meal, by which He comes among us and into us, continues to abide with us.

The Acts of the Spirit

Jesus, however, is not the only one living and acting in the lives of the apostles. He not only told them He would be with them, but He also promised that His Spirit would likewise be with them (Jn 16:7). His presence is seen everywhere in Acts (mentioned 57 times). Make no mistake—the apostles serve as the Lord's instruments, but the Lord Himself is the one acting through them. As Luke outlines the growth of the Church, he insists on one fundamental point. This numerical growth is attributable to no human endeavors; rather, "the Lord added to their number" (Ac 2:47).

Ironically, a rather unlikely individual also seconds this most important point. When Gamaliel, a Pharisee, stood before the Sanhedrin (the Jewish Council), he advised them: "Let [these men] alone, for if this plan or this undertaking is of man, it will fail; but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them" (Ac 5:38–39). The irony increases as we read his words two thousand years later. The activity of the disciples—or rather, of God Himself—has not failed! It continues even today as Christ's Gospel is proclaimed and His Sacraments administered and as the Church continues to grow.

Lights! Camera! Action!

What Luke, the apostles, and even Gamaliel make so plain is, strangely enough, something we often tend to forget. The Church grows where and when God Himself is at work. We are incredibly privileged; we, like the apostles, have been chosen to serve as His instruments. But we should never dare to think our acts alone are effective or sufficient in matters of salvation.

No matter how clever our programs or how eloquent our speech, if they do not bear witness to the salvation won by Christ we should not think the Spirit is using them to build up the kingdom of God. (Many have been deceived by this notion. Various cults and false religions have grown at alarmingly rapid rates. Is this evidence of the work of Christ and His Spirit? Not at all!) Jesus endowed His people with His Spirit that they might testify to Him, to His death and resurrection, and to the forgiveness of sins that He alone provides. Any preaching that does not do so can claim to flow neither from Christ or His Spirit.

The sure promise given to the apostles is our promise yet today. Where Christ and His cross are preached, there Christ Himself is active. There His Spirit is present, calling, enlightening, and sanctifying His people. Each of us has been given a walk-on role in the divine drama of salvation, but the Lord Himself remains the actor with top billing. He acts in us, through us, and for us, even to the end of the age.

Grace, Power, and Martyrdom

A pirouetting ballerina is graceful; a charging bull is powerful. We do not often think of the terms "grace" and "power" together. To refer to a martyr as "full of grace and power," as Stephen is described in Ac 6:8, may seem strange. A martyr is powerless, a victim of those who hold the power of life and death. Also, martyrdom is far from a graceful affair. Bones are crushed under a hail of stones, limbs are severed between the teeth of Colosseum lions, flesh melts in the heat of a blazing fire. It is far more gruesome than graceful.

In the Book of Acts, there is more to martyrdom than may at first be apparent. The Greek word martyr means, literally, "witness." That is precisely what Stephen was, even before his death. In fact, it was his testimony to God's grace that precipitated his death. And when he preached grace, he did so with power. Luke describes him as "a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit" (Ac 6:5). And Jesus had promised His followers, "You will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you" (Ac 1:8). They bear witness to God's grace and bear witness by God's power. In the person of Stephen—and in all witnesses and martyrs of the Church—we see this central theme of Acts.

Witnesses True and False

As the events of Stephen's death make clear, all witnesses are not equal. When Stephen gave testimony of Christ by the power of the Holy Spirit, the human wisdom of his opponents could not refute him. So, Luke tells us, "they set up false witnesses" (Ac 6:13). They falsely charged that Stephen had blasphemed against God and His prophets and rejected the divine Law of Israel. But as Stephen narrated to them the history of Israel, it quickly became evident that his accusers were the ones guilty of rejecting God's Law and prophets. Stephen's testimony exposed them, so they killed him.

The sham trial of Stephen bears remarkable similarity to that of his Lord. As Christ stood before Caiaphas, "the chief priests and the whole Council were seeking false testimony against Jesus that they might put Him to death, but they found none, though many false witnesses came forward" (Mt 26:59–60). When Jesus finally opened His mouth to confess truthfully that He was the Son of God, He was promptly charged with blasphemy and sentenced to death.

Just as false witnesses are found throughout Scripture, so false martyrs abound even today. Suicide bombers in the Middle East, imprisoned terrorists starving on hunger strikes—we are often led to believe that all who commit suicide in the name of a cause, even when wrong or misguided, deserve a certain amount of respect for the strength of their convictions. Many would argue that they at least deserve a headline. They are, we are told, martyrs. However, we do well to recall the sentiment of the early Christians. Death does not make a martyr, they would agree, but the content of one's testimony while still alive does.

The Seed of the Church

The early Christian writer Tertullian (c 160–c 225) asserted, "The blood of Christians is seed" (ANF 3:55). Through the spectacle of martyrdom, he meant, the Church gained victory over those who would destroy it. The patient suffering of Christians inspired more people to follow Christ. Basil the Great, another ancient Church teacher, wrote: "The blood of the martyrs, watering the Churches, nourished many more champions of true religion, each generation [preparing] for the struggle with the zeal of those that had gone before" (NPNF 2 8:216).

However, other Christian writers recorded stories of zealous but confused believers who went to great lengths to seek out martyrdom. For example, the mother of a young man named Origen was forced to hide his clothing in order to prevent him from leaving the house in search of a martyr's death.

But Scripture is clear. The death of sinners—even the death of those who are also saints—is not the foundation on which the Church is built. The Church is built on one foundation: Jesus Christ. Only the proclamation of His death and its saving benefits is responsible for the Church's growth on earth. And only those who by the Spirit's power proclaim God's grace in Christ are truly His witnesses, or martyrs. This is so even if they do not meet death for their faithful testimony.

Seeing Heaven Open

Though you may not experience the dramatic death associated with martyrdom, you certainly cannot expect to escape death itself. Death entered our world on account of sin. St Paul reminds us, “Death spread to all men because all sinned” (Rm 5:12). The fact of your mortality is a constant reminder that you are a sinful being living in a sinful world. Nothing within your power can change that.

But you, like the witnesses and martyrs of the earliest Church, have not been left to your own power. In the waters of Baptism, God bestowed on you His own grace and power. Like Stephen, even you are “full of grace and power.” By His grace, you are saved. And by His power, you can now testify to the salvation He has provided for all. This, in fact, is precisely what you have been called to do. This is what the Holy Spirit has empowered you to do. You are to be a witness. You are to be, in the original meaning of the term, a martyr.

You may not, as Stephen did, see heaven open as you fall under a hail of stones. That is probably good news. But what is certainly good news is that you will indeed see heaven open when you depart this earthly life. And there you will see the Savior in all His power and glory, graciously welcoming you home.

Conflict among Christians

The story of the Apostolic Council in Ac 15 actually begins in Ac 11. Some men from Cyprus and Cyrene traveled to Antioch of Phoenicia. Antioch at this time may have been packed with over a quarter million people—a large number being Jews. These men "spoke to the Hellenists [Greeks] also, preaching the Lord Jesus" (11:20). Barnabas from Jerusalem went to serve them, fetching Saul (Paul) from Tarsus to help teach the rapidly growing numbers of new Christians (11:25–26).

Later, these leaders began their first mission journey from this great city of the Roman Empire. When Paul and Barnabas returned to the Church at Antioch from their first journey, they reported how God "had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles" (14:27). But when word of these Gentile conversions drifted back to Jerusalem, some there became deeply concerned.

Dealing with Conflict

Some Jewish believers wanted to slam the door of the Church in the face of Gentile believers. The Church's leaders gathered for the first Church assembly. The gathering had an issue before it, followed a definite strategy, carried on responsible deliberation, and experienced a happy outcome.

The Issue. Some men, "zealous for the law" (21:20), came down from Judea to Antioch. They were teaching the believers, "Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved" (15:1). At the Jerusalem Council, some believing Pharisees insisted, "It is necessary to circumcise them and to order them to keep the law of Moses" (15:5). They insisted that Gentiles follow the Law, or they could not be saved.

The Strategy. Following intense preliminary discussion, the Church at Antioch chose responsible leaders, including Paul and Barnabas. These leaders went to meet with the apostles and elders in Jerusalem about the question at issue. All these Church leaders gathered for extended debate, public testimony, and reasoned discussion based on experience and scriptural arguments. A formal resolution of the issue was reached and communicated responsibly to the Church at Antioch.

Responsible Deliberation. Peter testified from personal experience at the house of Cornelius (ch 10) that God through him had arranged for the Gentiles to hear and believe the Gospel. They, too, received the Holy Spirit. God saved the Jews by the grace of the Lord Jesus, just as He saved the Gentiles! Therefore, Peter concluded, they should not burden them with the yoke of the Law. Barnabas and Paul buttressed Peter's arguments with personal testimony. They "related what signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles" (15:12).

The Outcome. Finally, James delivered incisive scriptural arguments to prove the correctness of Peter's witness. He showed that the Gentile mission was God's work, prophesied and fulfilled. The Scriptures proved that "God first visited the Gentiles [hear 'uncircumcised'], to take from them a people for His name" (15:14). God's promise through Amos to "rebuild the tent of David that has fallen" (15:16) was fulfilled in His gracious claiming of the Gentiles as His very own people. God was acting to rebuild a human temple as His own dwelling place by His Spirit (cf Eph 2:22). Thus, the Gentiles did not need circumcision to be saved.

The Council accepted a proposal put forth by James: for the sake of Christ's mission, Jewish Christians would not require Gentile Christians to be circumcised. For the sake of Christ's mission, Gentile Christians would respect the sensitivities of Jewish Christians. They would agree to abstain from practices offensive to Jews (Lv 17–18). They would avoid food polluted by idols (sold in marketplaces), sexual immorality (perhaps illegal marriage described in Mosaic Law), meat from strangled animals, and meat not properly drained of its blood. In summary, the Church in love reached agreement through concessions in matters of Christian liberty.

The Church at Antioch received with joy and great relief the decision delivered by letter through responsible leaders. "When they had read it, they rejoiced because of its encouragement" (Ac 15:31). The Apostolic Council yielded the happy outcome of harmony in the Church and the advancement of the Lord's saving mission.

Paul and Barnabas Divided

Disagreements often arise between Christians. Sometimes these disputes revolve around matters of mere strategy. At other times they are over questions of clear scriptural teaching and practice. “A sharp disagreement,” for example, erupted between none other than Paul and Barnabas (Ac 15:39). Barnabas wanted to take his cousin John Mark along on the second mission journey. Paul thought this was inadvisable. So strong was their disagreement that they had to part ways for a time. The matter evidently was resolved later, for Paul mentions his partnership with Barnabas in 1Co 9:6.

On another occasion (Gal 2:11–14), however, the disagreement centered on “the truth of the gospel.” Paul publicly rebuked Peter when Peter’s actions implied that circumcision was necessary for Gentiles (otherwise, they could not have table fellowship with Jewish Christians). This dispute was also resolved later.

Blessings of Resolution

Deadly to Christian unity are two opposing errors. We may quickly and wrongly elevate mission strategy questions to the level of doctrine. Or, we may carelessly and wrongly dismiss questions of doctrine as mere strategy. Both errors may fuel a party spirit, a work of the flesh as described in Gal 5:19–21, which undermines trust and unity among Christians. Resolution of conflict in the Church requires careful discernment, responsible discussion, patience, and devotion to fellow members of Christ's Body.

To a divided congregation, Paul wrote, "God is faithful, by whom you were called into the fellowship of His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord" (1Co 1:9). Because of the forgiving grace of our Lord Jesus bestowed on each Christian in Baptism, Christians are one with Him and with one another in His Body. Therefore, God desires that they seek to be one in their external relationship to one another. In the very next verse, Paul says exactly this: "I appeal to you, brothers, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree, and that there be no divisions among you" (1:10).

The Work of the Spirit

In the Book of Acts and in his Gospel, Luke often describes the work of the Holy Spirit. The following charts provide an overview of the Spirit's work so that you may discern His blessings for God's people in the past and also today.

Throughout his writings, Luke emphasizes the work of the Holy Spirit. In particular, he emphasizes that God gives His Spirit through Holy Baptism (Ac 2:38) or in close association with Baptism. (Note Paul's emphasis in Eph 4:5. Beware of groups who insist on a second "baptism" in the Spirit!) The Spirit "fills" God's people so that they may boldly proclaim God's Word. Take note also of the role of the apostles or specially called disciples in giving the Spirit (Ac 2:38; 8:18–20; 9:17; 10:45; 19:6). The Spirit worked with and through these ministers, confirming their authority and the unity of the Church under their leadership. How easily the Church might have splintered into Jewish, Samaritan, or Gentile groups if everyone claimed this calling (cf Ac 8:17).

The Work of the Spirit Today

As you reflect on the claims of groups that emphasize speaking in tongues or ecstatic experiences, remember that tongues are mentioned only three times in Luke's writings. He places far greater emphasis on bearing witness to Christ and serving others. Each example of tongues in Acts also served as a special sign when a new group of believers was welcomed into the Church: the Diaspora Jews, the uncircumcised Gentiles, and the disciples of John the Baptist. Luke never suggests that speaking in tongues should be a regular part of Christian life or worship but associates tongues with the giving of the Spirit through the special ministry of the apostles. These events served God's purpose in spreading the Gospel during apostolic times (2Co 12:12).

Rather than blindly seeking after ecstatic experiences, put your focus where the Spirit puts His focus in the Book of Acts: the ministry of God's Word and service to one another. Through the Word, the Spirit will edify and build up the Church. Through the Word, He will bring others to the saving knowledge of Christ. Through the Word, He will bless and comfort you as you live by the Gospel, full of God's Holy Spirit.

The Empire in Acts

This article will help you understand the terminology for governmental offices, officeholders, and other aspects of Roman rule. It will greatly enhance your reading of Ac 13–28. (Historians agree that terms can have various usages and meanings, depending on location in the empire.)

Governmental Offices

Caesar (17:7; 25:8, 10, 11, 12, 21; 26:32; 27:24; 28:19)
Proper name that came to mean "emperor."
Proconsul (13:7–9, 12; 18:12; 19:38)
Head of government in a Roman senatorial province; a former member of the Roman Senate acting "for the consul" (in behalf of the Senate); governor.
Governor (23:24, 26, 33; 24:1, 10; 26:30)
Term used for Roman legates, procurators, and proconsuls. The governor kept the peace of his province, commanded troops in its borders, applied law, and collected taxes.
Magistrates (16:19–20, 22, 35, 36, 38)
Properly called duoviri ("two men"; i.e., two men who were in charge of a Roman colony). They were sometimes called "praetors." They presided in the courts, supervised the public treasury, and administered the law accumulated by Roman legislation and decree.
Police (16:38)
Official attendants (lictors) of the chief magistrates in Rome and Roman cities. In official processions, they carried symbolic bundles of rods, sometimes with an ax inserted. They served to inflict both corporal and capital punishment.
City Authorities (17:6, 8)
A magistrate (politarch) who formed a part of a town or city council; thus, a "city official." A term for chief magistrates (5 or 6) who ruled in Macedonian cities. These officials were non-Roman; present at Thessalonica, for instance.
Town Clerk (19:35)
Chief executive officer of a governmental entity. The clerk executed decrees of popular assemblies in cities, drafted decrees, and had them engraved when passed. A kind of liaison officer between civic government and Roman provincial administration.
Citizen (21:39; see also "Roman[s]" in 16:21, 37–38; 22:25–29; 23:27; 25:16; 28:17)
Possessed the following rights: (1) vote in popular assemblies, (2) exemption from payment of certain taxes, (3) trial by local or Roman courts, (4) appeal of capital offenses, and (5) protection from scourging, whipping, torture, or injury.

Military Offices and Terminology

Jailer (16:23, 27, 29, 36)
Called desmophylax; keeper of a prison.

Roman officer commanding c 100 soldiers.
Soldier (21:32, 35, 37; 23:23, 31; 27:31–32, 42; 28:16 [cf 10:7; 12:4, 6, 18])
Called stratiotes; served in groups of 100 (century), 200 (maniple), 600 (cohort), and (6,000) legion. In Judea, soldiers served as auxiliary troops with a potential strength of 760 foot soldiers and 240 cavalry (23:23, 32). Soldiers also served as spearmen (23:23).

Locations and Gatherings

District (16:12)
Term used for one of four parts into which Macedonia was divided by the imperial government.

Sea Travel in Paul's Day

Ancient sources indicate that travel on the Mediterranean Sea was governed by the seasons. March 10–May 27 was risky; May 28–September 14 was considered safe; September 15–November 11 was risky; and November 12–March 9 was dangerous, with disasters common.

Paul mentions "the Fast" in Ac 27:9, which refers to Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement. Since this Jewish feast day occurred in September or October, we can assume that the journey to Rome took place during a "risky" season.

For most of his seafaring journey from Caesarea to Rome, St Paul traveled on two Alexandrian grain ships (Ac 27:6; 28:11). Here is what we know about such ships from Luke's account and from other ancient sources.

Cargo

Corn, wheat, and barley grown in Egypt were loaded on the ship in bulk (not in sacks or bins). Shifting weight, therefore, could cause ballast problems, and wet grain could swell in the hull, requiring adjusted ballast or undergirding of the ship (Ac 27:17–18).

Route

The route traveled from Egypt to Rome took an average of 10–20 days with favorable winds. Ships had to sail 1,000 nautical miles to make this trip.

Size

Some grain ships could be as large as 180 ft long, 45 ft wide, and 40 ft deep. They could carry as much as 150,000 tons per year. Josephus claimed to have traveled on a ship like this loaded with 600 passengers. "This was the largest mercantile fleet known to Europe before the 1700s," notes one scholar (Craig Keener, The IVP Bible Background Commentary: New Testament [Downers Grove, IL: InterVarsity Press, 1993], 401, 403).

Beyond the Temple

Luke begins [Acts] with Jesus giving the promise of the Holy Spirit and the prediction that the disciples will be his "witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth" (Acts 1:4 and 7–8). … Luke is very careful in following the geographical movement of the gospel: from Jerusalem (Acts 1, and Temple in Luke 1 and 2) to Rome (Acts 28). …

Up to [Acts] Chapter 6, the preaching activities of the apostles have been exclusively in Jerusalem around the temple. But, Jesus' command to stay in Jerusalem (1:4) took on a new direction after they had received the Holy Spirit. Once they had received the promised gift, they were free to leave, so that they could fulfill what the giving of the power through the Spirit (1:8) intended, that is, to be in mission to the ends of the earth. Stepping beyond Jerusalem took place in a strange way. It was through the persecuted Christians, excluding the apostles. The immediate flame of such a "great persecution" (8:1) was ignited by Stephen's speech. The implied message of the speech is that the Temple is no longer the focal place for true worship, nor are the Jews the true worshipers. Stephen arrived at this conclusion from lessons of the past.

Thus, Stephen's speech provides the Christians, who were persecuted and scattered, the lost paradigm of true mission. The speech attempts to restore and rediscover true worship and God's transcendent nature beyond Jerusalem. God's presence is not confined to Jerusalem or the Temple. God can be worshiped outside Jerusalem. With this assurance and promise, the "new Israelites" were forced to scatter as Jesus predicted. Their scattering beyond Jerusalem resulted in bringing the Gospel to Samaria, and this marked the actual parting between Christianity and Judaism.

The Office of the Public Ministry

The office of the public ministry is not merely a divine suggestion but a divine mandate. God has declared that the church should carry out its functions not only in private, individual actions and speaking, but also corporately by selecting men who meet God's criteria and whom He then places into office of the public ministry.

The office and its functions are not called "public" because the functions are always discharged in public, but because they are performed on behalf of the church. The acts of one who is called to fill the office of the public ministry are "public" even when they are performed privately with one individual. Moreover, the word "public" connotes accountability to those who have placed them into "public" office. … As a father manages his household, so the bishop stands at the head of his congregation as one who is charged with the duty of caring for the church of God [1Tm 3:1; other passages on the office include 1Tm 5:17; Heb 13:7; Eph 4:11–12]. …

Of great significance for the nature of New Testament ministry are the expressions: the "ministry of the Word" (Acts 6:4); the "ministry of a new covenant" (2 Cor 3:6); the "ministry of the Spirit" (2 Cor 3:8); the "ministry of reconciliation" (2 Cor 5:18); and Paul's reference to himself as a "minister of the Gospel" (Col 1:23).

Paul writes in Titus 1:5, "This is why I left you in Crete that you might amend what was defective (what is absent, lacking, missing) and appoint elders in every town as I directed you." In Acts 14:23, the examples of the apostles are recorded. They appointed ordained elders for them in every church. In Acts 20:17 and Acts 20:28, the terms elder and bishop are used interchangeably, as in Titus 1:5 and 7. In Acts 20:28, Paul admonishes the elders: "Take heed to yourselves and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to care for the church of God which He obtained with the blood of his own Son."

A picture emerges from these references of an office that was instituted by God, in and with the apostolate, for which very specific qualifications are listed. The essence of this is properly defined in the Augsburg Confession as "teaching the Gospel and administering the Sacraments" (AC V) on behalf of and with the accountability to the church (AC XIV).

The supervision of the shepherd-elder-bishop is a supervision of the teaching of the Word and administration of the Sacraments. In this way they are leaders to be obeyed in their speaking of the Word of God. They are supervisors of spiritual life, faith, and Christian service of the Church and its members. This is a heavy responsibility that no man can take upon himself; rather to which he must be legitimately called by the church (cf. Acts 1:23–26, 13:2–3, 14:23, 2 Cor 8:19, AC XIV).

Study Notes

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1 first book. Lk and Ac form a two-part account, with Ac depicting the growth of the apostolic Church as a consequence of Christ's life, death, and resurrection. Theophilus. See note, Lk 1:3. all … teach. Despite Jesus' ascension, He constantly exercises active lordship over the Church as He works and speaks through His apostles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:2 taken up. The Father exalted, crowned, and enthroned the Son, giving Him as man a full share in His own divine glory. See notes, Php 2:9, 11. commands through the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit conceived Jesus' human nature in Mary's womb, descended on Jesus at His Baptism, and worked with Jesus in His ministry. Mentioned 57 times in Ac, the Holy Spirit, with the exalted Christ, exercises ongoing lordship over the Church. See pp 1815, 1920. apostles. The Twelve minus Judas. See p 1901.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:3 many proofs. The resurrection's compelling evidence moved the apostles to believe this startling truth; Christianity rests on a bedrock of hard fact. kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:4 wait for. The proper attitude of the faithful in both testaments; cf Ps 27:14. promise of the Father. Cf Jn 16:7. Cyr Jer: "After His resurrection He breathed on them. [Jn 20:22] But though He bestowed His grace then, He was to lavish it yet more bountifully. … Receive it in part now; then, you shall wear it in its fulness. For he who receives, often possesses the gift but in part; but he who is clothed, is completely enfolded by his robe" (NPNF 2 7:127).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:5 Just as John poured water onto people's bodies, the Holy Spirit would be poured out lavishly on the apostles and all Christians. See notes, 2:17; Mt 3:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:6 come together. On the Mount of Olives (cf 1:12). restore the kingdom to Israel? The apostles have experienced God's mighty works, and they expect Him to sweep away instantly the old order of things. They may also be clinging to a political idea of Jesus' Messiahship. See pp 1565–66.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:7 Only the Father knows when His Son will return in glory. Speculation is out of place; confident hope is in.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:8 power. The Holy Spirit provides the superhuman strength that enables the Church to fulfill God's commands.

See p 1903. My witnesses. The Lord charges these and all His people to bear brave (and often costly) witness to what they have seen, heard, and touched (1Jn 1:1–3; Ps 145:4–13). Luth: " 'Bearing witness' is nothing but God's Word spoken by angels or men, and it calls for faith" (AE 20:213). end of the earth. The account of the Church's mission is headed for Rome (chs 27–28) and beyond. Luth: "This promise is to be found in all the prophets, namely that through the Seed of the woman the blessing will come upon all nations; … the Holy Spirit is given through Christ to all who hear the Word of Christ and believe in Him." (AE 8:254). "Without any doubt God also knows and has determined for everyone the time and hour of his call and conversion. But this time has not been revealed to us. Therefore, we have the command always to keep proclaiming the Word, entrusting the time and hour 'of conversion' to God (Acts 1:7)" (FC SD XI 56).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:9 lifted up. See notes, 1:2; Lk 24:51. cloud. OT symbol of God's immediate, majestic presence (e.g., Ex 16:10). Jesus takes His throne at the Father's right hand. See "right hand," p 843.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:10 two men … white robes. Angels appear here at the ascension as they had at the annunciation (Lk 1:26–27), Jesus' birth (Lk 2:8–14), ministry (Mk 1:13; Lk 22:43), and resurrection (Mt 28:2–7). As God's messengers, they explain the significance of these events.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:11 Jesus … will come in the same way. In the supernatural, divine way marked by the image of the cloud (cf v 9). See note, 2Th 1:10; see also "Son of Man," p 2098. Jn D: "The Lord shall come out of heaven, just as the holy apostles beheld Him going into heaven, perfect God and perfect man, with glory and power, and will destroy the man of lawlessness, the son of destruction, with the breath of His mouth" (NPNF 2 9:99).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1–11 Jesus, truly risen in His body from the dead, reigns as unseen King over the here and now. He will return in full sight of all in the Father's good time. Therefore, do not let the evil one lock Jesus in the past or reduce His ministry to you now. Boldly pray to Jesus, and acknowledge Him as your Lord. Your good standing today and your eternal tomorrow flow from Jesus' victory over the grave and His enthronement at the Father's right hand. • Lord, increase our faith in Jesus' past, present, and future triumph, and make us bold witnesses to Him in every facet of our lives. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:12 Olivet. See note, v 6. a Sabbath day's journey. Pious Jews were expected to stay within the permitted distance of 2,000 cubits (just over ½ mi) from home on the holy day (Ex 16:29; Nu 35:5; Jsh 3:4).
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:13 upper room. Possibly the site of the Last Supper, though Luke uses a different word here than in his Gospel. See note, 12:12.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:14 one accord. Because the early Christians were close to Christ, the earliest Church had a natural unity that has since been tragically fractured. devoting themselves to prayer. With undivided attention, their hearts and minds were open to receive the promised Spirit. the women. See note, Lk 8:2–3; cf 23:55; 24:1–10. brothers. Listed in Mk 6:3; James and Jude were the most notable in the Early Church. See p 2134.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:15 In those days. During the 50 days between Easter and Pentecost (see note, 2:1). brothers. Used differently than in v 14. See p 1901. about 120. In a suddenly widening circle of disciples, Peter strengthened his brothers (Lk 22:32) as Jesus had predicted (Jn 21:15–17). The location in vv 15–26 may no longer be the upper room of v 13, due to the number of people. A courtyard would better accommodate such a large group.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:16 Scripture … the Holy Spirit spoke. All Scripture is God-breathed, with the Holy Spirit as its primary author. See pp xxvi–xxx, 1245. David. Co-author with the Holy Spirit of the psalms quoted in v 20. As a prophet, David glimpsed the future fulfillment of his own calling in the life of Christ. Judas. Our Lord regarded Judas's betrayal as the fulfillment of prophecy (see note, Jn 17:12). See also note, Ps 41:9.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:17 share. Usually rendered as "lot" and has two senses in the Bible: a plot of land, one's goodly heritage in the Promised Land; and a means of determining God's will, carried out prayerfully and solemnly. See note, Jsh 14:2; see also "portion," p 7. ministry. See note, v 25; see also "service," p 1904.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:18–19 Luke digresses from Peter's speech to give an account of Judas's fate.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:18 reward. Payment Judas received from the Council for betraying Christ. He bought the field indirectly, because the Council did this with the money Judas returned (see notes, Mt 27:3–8). falling headlong. The rope Judas hanged himself with (Mt 27:5) likely broke, causing his already decaying corpse (see ESV note) to fall and rupture.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:19 Akeldama. Aram name. Field of Blood. See note, Mt 27:8.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:20 Vicious attacks on King David were ultimately directed at God and gave a preview of the trouble in store for Christ, the greater David.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:21 men. Gk aner, "male," "husband." Christ chose only men for the apostolic ministry (Lk 6:13–16). He also treasured the service of women (see notes, Lk 8:2–3; 24:9; Ac 9:36). The early Christians maintained a clear division in the callings of men and women. See p 1972. accompanied. Witness to the whole public activity of Christ, up to the resurrection. in and out. Hbr idiom encompassing everything Jesus did (cf Dt 28:6).
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:22 baptism of John. See note, Mt 3:6.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:23 Joseph … Barsabbas … Justus. Hbr, Aram, and Lat names. Considerable detail concerning someone not chosen or mentioned again. He was likely well known in the Early Church. Matthias. Short form of Mattathias, a name famous as a result of the war to liberate Israel from the tyranny of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (cf 1Macc 2:1).
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:24–25 The apostles hold together despite Judas's defection; they remain intact even after the martyrdom of James the Great (cf 12:2).
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:24 You have chosen. Apostles are chosen directly by Christ Himself. He appoints overseers and elders indirectly through the mutual consent of clergy and people (cf 20:17, 28).
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:25 this ministry. In the NT, almost always specific, a concrete form of service laid on a particular person. See "service," p 1904. apostleship. Gk apostole; the ambassadorial office Jesus instituted in Lk 6:13. See p 1901.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:26 cast lots. See notes, Jsh 14:2; Pr 18:18. eleven apostles. Twelve apostles were needed to confront the 12 tribes of Israel on the day of Pentecost.
ACTS—NOTE ON 1:12–26 The disciples and others seek the Lord's will concerning the candidate of His choice to replace Judas as a leader of the Church, the new Israel. Today, entrust your future to the Lord in prayer. He will prepare your way before you. Since our Lord is present with us till the end of the age, He will knit together in love His faithful people with Himself and with one another. • Jesus, our King, may we never tire of watching in prayer before Your throne, and may Your will be our delight. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:1 day of Pentecost. Fifty days after the Passover Sabbath (Lv 23:15–21). See pp 200–201. Pentecost likely also commemorated the giving of the Law on Sinai, as later rabbis attest. On this new day in Ac, God's people are publicly formed through the bestowal of the Holy Spirit. They acquire the names "Church" and "Christians" in the NT but also stand in faith with believers of the OT, who trusted in the coming Savior. Cf Mt 8:11. arrived. Gk has sense of "fill up, complete" (cf Lk 9:51; Gal 4:4). they. Possibly just the 12 apostles (cf 1:26; 2:14), though the fulfillment described in vv 17–18 hints that the 120 are meant. (Reference to the 120 is much more remote; 1:15.) Chrys: "Was it upon the twelve that [the Holy Spirit] came? Not so; but upon the hundred and twenty. For Peter would not have quoted to no purpose the testimony of the prophet" (NPNF 1 11:25). all together. Continuing their practice of fellowship and worship. in one place. Setting unclear. Possibly the building containing the Upper Room (1:13), though how the apostles' message could reach the crowd (vv 5–11) is unclear and never explained. This has led some interpreters to suggest the temple courts as a likely location.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:2–3 like … wind … as of fire. The manifestations were indescribable because they revealed God's miraculous activity.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:2 house. Gk oikos. Luke usually uses this term to denote a private dwelling (or for the family as a "household") but also uses it for the temple (Lk 6:4; 19:46; Ac 7:47, 49; cf Lk 24:53; Ac 2:46). The setting for Peter's sermon (vv 14–41) had to accommodate thousands of people. According to later Christian tradition, the house with the Upper Room was located on Mount Zion (southwest hill of Jerusalem) and would have been outside the city wall.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:3 tongues as of fire. Luke describes the scene with a comparison. The emphasis in the wording is on the mouth ("tongue," "speak," "utterance"), which may indicate where the "fire" appeared (see Moses' appearance in Ex 34:29). The fire appropriately appears as tongues of flame, since the Holy Spirit works through the apostles' speech. In the OT, angelic spirits were described as fire (see note, Ps 104:3–4). Fire also represented the presence of God's Spirit (Ex 3:2–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:4 filled with the Holy Spirit. Anointing with the Holy Spirit brings a startling transformation. The Spirit never becomes a personal possession but remains a heavenly gift, received by the repentant through faith. See p 1876. speak in other tongues. Miraculous ability to communicate in foreign languages the speakers had never learned (vv 7–11). See p 1969. Cyr Jer: "The Holy Spirit taught them many languages at once, languages which in all their lives they never knew" (NPNF 2 7:128).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:5 Jews, devout men from every nation. Jews dispersed throughout the world who piously observed the Law, now in Jerusalem to observe the required feasts. See note, Ex 34:23; see also "Dispersion," p 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:6 God brings the people together to hear His Word. These miraculous events are God's extended appeal for Israel to receive Jesus as their Messiah and to become part of the new Israel, the Church. speak in his own language. The hearers understood the proclamation neither in Aram nor in common Gk but in their local languages.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:7–8 An obvious miracle. Working men from Galilee would hardly be accomplished linguists.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:9–11 These groups, coming from all corners of the earth, point forward to the universal character of the Church. Twelve diverse regions signify all people. The Jewish Dispersion had spread to all these places (see p 1556). The mention of the capital city of Rome represents the empire, which encompassed the known world (see note, 1:8). Jews and proselytes. Represents all worshipers of the God of Israel, whether ethnic Jews or Gentile converts. Cretans and Arabians. Has the sense of all from west and east, from island and mainland.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:11 proselytes. See p 1557. mighty works of God. Cf Dt 11:2; Ps 71:19; 105. Luth: "When God wanted to spread the gospel throughout the world by means of the apostles he gave the tongues for that purpose [Acts 2:1–11]. Even before that, by means of the Roman Empire he had spread the Latin and Greek languages widely in every land in order that his gospel might the more speedily bear fruit far and wide" (AE 45:359).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:12 This extraordinary work of God needed explanation.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:13 Just as some rejected the earthly Jesus, so mockers and skeptics have always dismissed the Church's message (cf Mt 10:22; Jn 15:18–20). Cyr Jer: "In truth the wine was new, even the grace of the New Testament; but this new wine was from a spiritual Vine, which had oftentimes [before] this borne fruit in Prophets, and had budded in the New Testament" (NPNF 2 7:128).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:1–13 The Holy Spirit descends as a gift, sounding forth one message in many tongues, showing that Israel will soon burst its ethnic bounds. Cynics of all eras belittle God's mighty deeds and explain them away. However, humility before the Holy Spirit is in order, along with sheer wonder that God gives Himself to people of all nations. • "Come, holy Fire, comfort true, Grant us the will Your work to do And in Your service to abide; Let trials turn us not aside." Amen. (LSB 497:3)

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14 Peter. Spokesman for the Twelve; always named first in lists of the apostles. His work is the focus of chs 1–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:15 third hour of the day. Hour of prayer and sacrifice at the temple. See p 1567.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:17–21 See notes, Jl 2:28–32.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:17 last days. Peter quotes Joel's prophecy to state that the decisive stage and climax of history has arrived with Christ and the Church (cf 1Co 10:11; Heb 1:2; 1Pt 1:20). See p 1245. pour out My Spirit. God gives His people not just things, but Himself in the Third Person of the Godhead. The promised Baptism with the Spirit was "poured," showing that the term "baptism" was not regarded strictly as immersion (cf v 33). See notes, Ezk 36:25; Mk 7:3–4. all flesh. God's salvation is universal in scope; He pours out the Spirit on all kinds of people. prophesy … visions … dreams. See pp 1077–83.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:18 servants. Like Mary (Lk 1:38) and Paul (Rm 1:1), all Christians are bond servants of the Lord. He gives them His Spirit, yet they belong to Him. See p 1904.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:19 wonders … signs. Works that demonstrate the arrival of the last days, begun in the earthly life of Christ (see "Jesus' Signs," p 1775) and continued here in Ac (cf v 43; 4:16, 22, 30; 5:12; 6:8; 8:6, 13; 14:3; 15:12). above … below. Emphasizes the dramatic top-to-bottom change in creation that God enacts.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:20 the day of the Lord. When Christ returns in glory. See p 1079.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:21 calls upon. A cry from the heart, lamenting sin and imploring mercy. name of the Lord. See "Lord," p 2098; see also "name," p 843.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:22 Men of Israel. Not ethnic or geographical (v 14) but a strictly religious form of address. Nazareth. See note, Mt 2:23. attested to you by God. God richly supplied Jesus' credentials in His works. See "Jesus' Signs," p 1775.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:23 delivered up. Betrayed. foreknowledge of God. Paradoxically, God uses man's free work for His purposes (see note, Jn 2:24–25). you crucified and killed. Distinction between mere death and accursed crucifixion. lawless men. Jesus was handed over to the Romans, who were not under the yoke of Moses' Law.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:24 loosing the pangs of death. LXX translation of Hbr "cords of Sheol" (cf 2Sm 22:6), which applies to death an image usually associated with giving birth. Because death's pangs are terminal, not temporary, only God can overcome them. Luth: "[Christ] came back to life, and this became an opportunity for life, which before had been an opportunity for death. In this way death has become the door to life for us; disgrace has become the elevation to glory; condemnation and hell, the door to salvation. And this has happened through Christ, who was sinless, etc." (AE 19:31).
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:25–28 David ("I") speaks in two dimensions. First, the king rejoices that God will not allow death to cut off David's or God's covenant people. Second, through David, Christ speaks prophetically of His own soul's deliverance and His body's escape from corruption.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:25 David says. See note, 1:16. I … me. David speaks for Jesus, his descendant. saw the Lord. Christ has always beheld God, His heavenly Father. at my right hand. Helper from all distress. See "right hand," p 843.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:27–28 Though David himself hopes for bodily resurrection, v 27 is about Christ.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:29 patriarch David. Head of his dynasty, which lasted in Judah for 422 years. Ranked with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:30 prophet. See pp 1077–83. God had sworn. Cf 2Sm 7:12–16; Ps 132:11.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:31 the Christ. First use of the term in Ac. See p 2098.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:32 witnesses. Cf 1:8.
ACTS—NOTE ON 2:33 exalted at the right hand of God. Jesus has equality with God the Father. See "right hand," p 843. poured out. See note, v 17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:34–35 David reverses conventional speech by addressing one of his descendants as his superior. Christ, David's son, is David's Lord. See note, Ps 110:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:36 made. Appointed to office. Through the resurrection, God clearly reveals Jesus' status as Son, Lord, and Messiah. Lord and Christ. The Church has always confessed that Jesus is God. See p 2098. you crucified. Though only some people were directly responsible for Jesus' trial and murder, His death was required to remove the guilt of all people's sin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:37 cut to the heart. Deepest emotional wound. apostles. See p 1901. Brothers. Fellow Jews. Shows how Peter and the Spirit won the empathy of his hearers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:38 Repent and be baptized. Recognize your desperate state, confess your sins, and be washed by God. See note, Mt 3:6; see also p 1369. in the name of Jesus Christ. Distinguishes the Baptism mandated by Christ from that of John the Baptist and other Jewish groups. See p 1369. This does not rule out use of the full trinitarian wording in Baptism (Mt 28:19). for the forgiveness of your sins. Chief blessing of Baptism, esp helpful emphasis in view of v 37. receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is received through Baptism. See note, Jn 3:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:39 the promise. The gift of the Spirit. See note, 1:8. for you … for all. God is gracious to all people regardless of age or race. See note, Mt 19:14. "Children are to be baptized. … Being offered to God through Baptism, they are received into God's grace" (AC IX 2). "God's approval of the Baptism of little children is shown by this: He gives the Holy Spirit to those baptized. … For if this Baptism would be empty, the Holy Spirit would be given to no one. No one would be saved. And finally, there would be no Church" (Ap IX 53).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:40 Save yourselves. Or, "be saved."

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:41 those who received his word were baptized. Not all believed. three thousand souls. Describes the stunning growth of the Church. Cf 1:15. Luke places special emphasis on the growth and spread of the Church (2:47; 4:4; 5:14, 16; 6:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14–41 Peter shows from the Scriptures that Jesus is Israel's Lord as well as Savior of the nations. Rejoice that God pours out His Spirit in Baptism and multiplies His blessings to us in daily repentance and forgiveness. He makes a new Israel, a new house of David—the Church! • Lord, grant that I may confess and proclaim You with confidence, as Peter did. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:42 devoted. With rapt attention. apostles' teaching. Summary of the apostles' faith and proclamation. fellowship. See p 1902. breaking of bread. See note, Lk 24:30. Could include the Holy Supper. "Although we do not object if some interpret these passages as referring to the Sacrament, it does not make sense that only one part of the Sacrament was given. According to the ordinary usage of language, naming one part also means the other" (Ap XXII 7). the prayers. See p 1567. The Jews had liturgical-style prayers they memorized and recited, a practice continued in the Christian Church, as the use of the Lord's Prayer shows. See p 959.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:43 awe. Lit, "fear." See p 1001. wonders and signs. See note, v 19. At this time, more miracles are happening through the apostles than Luke has space to record (cf Jn 21:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:44–45 all things in common. See note, 4:32.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:46 day by day, attending the temple. The apostles (even as late as 21:26) exercise the maximum possible participation at the Jerusalem temple, which Jesus called His Father's house (Lk 2:49; Jn 2:16). breaking bread in their homes. Covers both the agape meal (cf Jude 12) and the Lord's Supper.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:47 favor with all the people. The respect they received from the ordinary folk contrasts with the spitefulness of the rulers (ch 4). the Lord added to their number. God alone, through grace, builds His Church. See note, v 41.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:42–47 The early Christians lived only for their Lord and for the other members of His Body, the Church. How cheap in comparison is our indifference to the Church; how sad are our compromises with the world. Yet the Holy Spirit still dwells and works among us; we still have the apostles' teaching embodied in the NT Scriptures. How blessed are we in such heavenly fellowship! • Lord, open our eyes to Your reality, order our priorities, and let Your light transfigure these latter days. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:1 the hour of prayer. Devout Jews had developed patterns of prayer at specific times. See p 1567. Features of early Christian prayers recorded in The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles (aka the Didache, c first century; cf 2:42) resemble features of Jewish prayers associated with the temple services (cf Ex 29:38–42).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:2 laid daily at the gate. Destitute, but the beneficiary of community care. Beautiful Gate. Location unknown; traditionally identified with the Shushan Gate, and by some moderns with the Nicanor Gate. to ask alms. A positive aspect of Judaism was its emphasis on doing good to a neighbor in need (affirmed by our Lord, Mt 6:1–4).
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:3–5 The beggar receives personal attention from the apostles but not the gift he expects. See note, v 6.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:6 In the name of Jesus Christ. The name of Jesus is exalted, supremely holy, and worthy of praise (cf 5:40–41). It is the deposit of salvation, which it powerfully enacts (2:38). See "name," p 843; see also note, Jn 16:23. Ambr: "He gave not money, but he gave health. How much better it is to have health without money, than money without health!" (NPNF 2 10:63).
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:8–10 Praising God, the cured man sets the best example for all who receive the healing gifts of Word and Sacrament.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:1–10 In this highest form of almsgiving, Peter and John dispense God's own gift: mercy. Present through the Spirit in His holy name, the exalted Jesus makes the crippled man stand, that he may leap for joy. Shudder when you hear people use Jesus' holy name as a curse rather than as a cure. Call on Him in all your needs, and use His name reverently and gladly to bestow the Father's gifts on others. • Fill us, Holy Spirit, that our hearts and lips may honor Jesus' holy name. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:11 portico called Solomon's. On east side of the court of Gentiles. See diagram, p 1838; see also note, Jn 10:23.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:13 servant. Gk paidion, "child." Not "slave" (cf 2:18) or "minister," as is used sometimes of apostles. Derived from LXX version of Is 52:13, where it expresses both submission to the Lord and intimacy with Him. you delivered over and denied. Strong emphasis on their complicity in Jesus' death. Perhaps some faces were familiar from Pilate's courtyard and from Calvary.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:14 the Holy and Righteous One … a murderer. Pointed contrast between Jesus' innocence and the guilt of the criminal Barabbas. Yet Jesus placed Himself under the curse of all sin. See "righteous," p 843.
ACTS—NOTE ON 3:15 the Author of life. As "founder" (Heb 2:10; 12:2), Jesus serves as "the firstborn among many brothers" (Rm 8:29). See notes, Col 1:15, 18; Jn 1:12–13. Luth: "[The OT saints] believed that He would come in the future; but we believe that He has appeared, and that He has gone away to the Father to prepare dwelling places for us (John 14:2), and that He is sitting at the right hand of the Father and is interceding for us" (AE 1:348).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:16 by faith in His name. Jesus' holy name works not by magic but through trust, or faith. faith … through Jesus. Faith in Jesus completes the people's existing faith in the God of Israel and His promised Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:17 ignorance. Because Christ rarely showed His divine majesty on earth, the people did not fully understand who He was.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:18 Christ would suffer. Cf v 13; Is 52:13; see p 1178.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:19 Repent … turn again. See "turn," p 1080. blotted out. See notes, Ex 32:32; Ps 103:11–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:20 times of refreshing. Like "breathing space," times free from end-times distress. Christ appointed. See note, 2:36.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:21 heaven must receive. Christ ascended to the Father, yet His present reign still links Him with His Church. See note, Mt 28:20. restoring all the things. He will undo all the damage done to humankind in the fall. Cf Is 65:17–25. God spoke by. See note, Dt 18:18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:22 a prophet like me. Moses and Jesus are both prophets and deliverers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:23 A sobering threat (cf Rv 2:9). Cf Dt 18:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:24 all the prophets … proclaimed these days. They announced God's coming reign, which arrived in Jesus. See p 1245.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:25 sons of the prophets and of the covenant. These hearers should welcome Jesus as a fulfillment of God's promise. in your offspring … be blessed. See note, Gal 3:8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:26 His servant. See note, v 13. bless. See p 842.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:11–26 Peter shows the crowd at the temple that all the prophets have pointed to Jesus as the Christ. The risen Lord brings to light our hidden guilt and lifts the burden that crushes every sinner. Though His Word points out your shame, His grace will wipe away your sin. • Lord Jesus, come boldly to both Jew and Gentile, to accuse and to forgive, to wound and to heal. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:1 captain of the temple. Chief of temple police, a Levite second only to the high priest in the temple hierarchy. Sadducees. See p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:2 proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection. Many Jews (esp the Pharisees; see p 1557) had expected the resurrection of all the dead at the end of time. Jesus' resurrection proved that the end had already appeared in one man. See note, Jb 19:26.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:3 evening. Started at 3 p.m. See p 1567.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:4 many … believed. The temple authorities could not destroy the Spirit's work. five thousand. Significant growth since Pentecost. See note, 2:41.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:5 rulers … elders … scribes. See p 1556–57.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:6 Annas the high priest and Caiaphas. See note, Jn 11:49. John. Likely son of Annas, Caiaphas's successor. Alexander. Unknown from other sources. high-priestly family. Hasmoneans. See pp 1556, 278.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:7 power … name. Perhaps echoing the accusation that Jesus performed miracles by sorcery (cf Mt 12:24).
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:8 filled with the Holy Spirit. The authorities' force is powerless against Peter's prophetic inspiration, a fulfillment of Lk 12:11–12; 21:14–15. See note, 2:4.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:9 healed. See note, Lk 7:50; see also "save," p 1904.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:10 See note, 3:6; cf Php 2:10–11.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:11 stone that was rejected. The Holy One was treated as accursed (Gal 3:13), as sin itself (2Co 5:21). cornerstone. Jesus burst forth from the tomb as the Second Adam, able to support the whole spiritual temple, the Church. See note, Ps 118:22.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:12 Christianity is the one true faith because Jesus, the only source of salvation, rescues us from the evil one. He delivers all people from a verdict of damnation and heals ills of body and soul. "Christ's name is received only by faith. Therefore, we are saved by confidence in Christ's name, and not by confidence in our works. For 'the name' here means the cause that is mentioned, because of which salvation is gained. To call upon Christ's name is to trust in His name as the cause, or price, because of which we are saved" (Ap IV 98). Luth: "We should learn to magnify and extol our blessings, which are incomparably greater and more illustrious than the blessings of the fathers. We have the Keys, the Gospel, the sacraments, and the forgiveness of sins and life richly offered to us in many ways" (AE 8:312–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:13 uneducated, common men. Unschooled fishermen; it was unthinkable that these apostles should speak with such force and passion. See note, Pr 1:8. they had been with Jesus. Their accents betrayed their Galilean origin; their faces were likely recognized by some.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:15 council. See p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:16 Like Pilate (Jn 18:38), the authorities disregard truth.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:17–18 The vested interests of the ruling class triumph over obvious truth. The Judean leadership refuses God's gracious appeal, with dire consequences in time (Jerusalem destroyed in AD 70) and eternity (Jn 3:18; 2Jn 9).
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:19–20 Allegiance to God alone is the antidote to all totalitarianism. See note, 5:29.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:21 no way to punish them. Simple force would rebound against the Council, so they must tread softly—for now. Cf 7:54–8:3; on the Council, see p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:22 This single act of healing pointed to a greater cure available to all through Christ the healer. Because of his age, this man's crippled condition would have been widely known.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:1–22 Locking their hearts, the religious authorities also close their eyes and cover their ears to silence the Word. But the crippled man still stands, the name of Jesus displays its power, and salvation resides in Him alone. Today, the Lord wants you to stand along with His bold apostles. He pledges His life and blessing to you in the midst of all difficulties. • Christ, our Savior, give us courage to stand firm. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:23 friends. Lit, "their own [people]." The Church is more close-knit than any family. chief priests … elders. See p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:24 Sovereign Lord. Or, "Master." God rules in fatherly love as an absolute, powerful ruler. See note, Na 2:13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:25–26 Used in the coronation liturgy of Davidic kings, Ps 2 describes Satan's ongoing war against God and against Jesus as the Christ. See notes, v 27; Ps 2:4.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:25 father David. David's intimate relationship with God prefigures Jesus' unique relationship with Him. Your servant. See note, 3:13. said by the Holy Spirit. See note, 2Pt 1:21.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:27 holy servant Jesus, whom You anointed. Identifies Jesus with the figure of Ps 2:2. Hatred of Christianity is ultimately loathing of Christ Himself. See "Christ," p 2098.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:28 predestined. God directs events while allowing human choices, all to achieve His saving plan. See note, Rm 8:30.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:29 The Holy Spirit fills believers with boldness in the face of intimidation.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:30 signs and wonders. See note, 2:19. Your holy servant Jesus. See note, 3:13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:31 the place … was shaken. The Holy Spirit shows His presence by a sign similar to, but distinct from, what occurred at 2:2 (cf Ex 19:18). filled with the Holy Spirit. See note, 2:4. speak the word of God with boldness. Cf v 29. Their prayer was answered.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:23–31 Mounting pressure drives the apostles to prayer. They recite God's sure Word and ask Him for boldness and a demonstration of His presence. Remember to pray for boldness when faced with persecution. Rejoice that the Lord refashions you in His image by His Word and Spirit. • Lord, grant Your Church throughout the world such a prayer for boldness, said with one heart and one Spirit. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:32 one heart and soul. Church unity in every respect. Cf 2:42–47. everything in common. Preview and foretaste of the restoration of Paradise-like conditions in heaven. God gives us property and resources for our neighbor's benefit. The early Christians fully shared with one another, but not in the same way as the failed communist experiments of the twentieth century. Here there is no compulsion or involvement of the State —only believers are affected, and only goods are shared, not their production.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:33 with great power the apostles. Such preaching was the opposite of dull, distant reading from a manuscript. great grace. Likely high esteem from the average person in Jerusalem. Cf Mk 7:37.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:35 distributed … as any had need. Voluntary, commendable. See note, v 32.
ACTS—NOTE ON 4:36 Joseph … Barnabas. The nickname would distinguish Joseph from his many Jewish namesakes. encouragement. A role he would fulfill later in the mission to the Gentiles. Levite. See p 228. Barnabas stands in contrast to Ananias and Sapphira (ch 5). He will play a major role, beginning in ch 13, when he becomes Paul's co-worker.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:32–37 As the early Christians loved their Lord, they loved His Bride, the Church, giving of themselves freely. As you gather goods that perish, consider that "it is more blessed to give than to receive" (20:35). Lavish love on your brothers and sisters in Christ, just as Jesus lavished His love on us all and gave Himself unto death for the worst of sinners. • Grant us, Lord, to live each hour in the knowledge that "love never ends" (1Co 13:8). Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:1 Ananias. Hbr Hananiah, "The LORD is gracious." Sapphira. Aram for "beautiful." Likely not Jews of the Dispersion, but natives of Judea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:2 Hypocrisy. This wealthy couple had the right to retain their property, but they sinned grievously by pretending to offer it all. (See the hypocrisy of the Pharisees in Mt 23, of Achan in Jsh 7.) Their pious playacting and deceit disrupted the marvelous unity of the Church (4:32). This is the first deliberate sin recorded in the Church's history. Their actions contrast with Barnabas's openhanded generosity (4:36–37).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:3–4 lie to the Holy Spirit … lied … to God. The Holy Spirit, source of this power, is Himself fully God, equal to the Father and the Son. Ambr: "Peter teaches that the same is the Holy Spirit Who is the Spirit of the Lord" (NPNF 2 10:101). Ambr: "The Spirit of the Lord is the very Spirit of God" (NPNF 2 10:142). The power (1:8) manifested in the apostolic ministry of the Church, if abused, brings serious consequences. Ananias's love of riches set him on Judas's accursed path (cf Jn 13:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:5 breathed his last. Grievous sin threatens to extinguish spiritual life. Here it brings about bodily death also. Ananias's death is a divine chastisement understood in light of the biblical witness to God's holiness (cf Ex 19:12; Lv 10; 1Sm 6:6; Heb 12:29). great fear. "Servile fear"; terror of God's judgment. Contrast with "fear of the LORD." See p 1001.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:6 The speed of burial underlines Ananias's terrifying brush with God's holiness.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:9 to test the Spirit of the Lord? Cf Ex 17:2; Nu 20:13, 24. To trifle with the Holy Spirit is to trifle with God (see note, vv 3–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:10 breathed her last. See note, v 5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:11 church. First mention in Luke's writings, but the reality has been present since 1:12–15. See p 1901–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:1–11 Ananias and Sapphira pay a high price for their hypocrisy, taking grace for granted and forgetting that "we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ" (2Co 5:10). Woe to those who disturb and deceive the Lord's Church! Yet, "the fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom" (Pr 9:10). "If anyone does sin, we have an advocate with the Father" (1Jn 2:1). • Lord, let a goodly measure of "fear and trembling" (Php 2:12) inform our trust in You. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:12 signs … regularly done. See note, 2:19. This season of unstoppable miracles would not always be the case. Cf 8:1; 14:22; see note, 2Co 12:12. by the hands of the apostles. An answer to prayer (4:29–30) as God continued to use the apostles for His work. together in Solomon's Portico. Seemingly the apostles' favorite retreat. See note, 3:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:13–14 the rest. Many Christians kept their distance from the apostles on account of the fate of Ananias and Sapphira, but conversions continued at a brisk rate.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:15 Cf Lk 4:40; 6:18–19. shadow. God's work through Peter is amazing. See note, 19:11–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:16 all healed. Cf Jn 14:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:12–16 God heals many people through the apostles. This massive outpouring of God's love and power comes with His serious appeals for repentance. God's power to change lives is still at work today. His greatest work always remains the forgiveness of sins. • Lord, fill us with all due reverence for You and Your mysteries. Stretch forth Your hand to heal the sicknesses of our bodies and souls. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:17 high priest … Sadducees. See p 1557. filled with jealousy. Envy, unchecked, leads to murder (e.g., 7:58; 12:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:18 arrested the apostles. Apparently all 12 (cf v 29). public prison. City jail.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:19 an angel of the Lord. Cf Lk 22:43. opened the prison doors. Not with the guards' keys, but miraculously. Cf 12:7–10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:20 all the words of this Life. The message focused on the life of the risen Christ. Cf 1Jn 1:2; see pp 1784–85.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:21 entered the temple at daybreak. C 6 a.m. They probably went directly to the temple courts. (Josephus states that the temple gates were opened at midnight. They were likely closed after the evening sacrifice.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:23 The angel and the departing apostles had not attracted the guards' attention. Perhaps the Lord caused their sleep, a violation of a guard's service.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:24 captain of the temple. See note, 4:1. chief priests. See p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:26 not by force. Temple guards wisely avoided a riot. "Superiors should therefore be honored by us with whatever respect we can, but in such a way that we do not reject or deny the Word of Christ and the promise of grace on their account and lose the spiritual blessing. For all respect, honor, and services of every kind are to be paid to magistrates with a good conscience and joyful heart if they remain within the prescribed limits, that is, provided that obedience to God and confession of the Word remain intact" (AE 6:168). stoned. Penalty for blasphemy. The people acknowledged divine power at work through the apostles.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:27 council. See p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:28 bring this man's blood upon us. Indicates the high priest's guilty conscience.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:29 obey God rather than men. "It is necessary for Christians to be obedient to their rulers and laws. The only exception is when they are commanded to sin" (AC XVI 6–7). Hus: "As we are commanded to obey our superiors in things lawful and honorable, with the circumstances taken into consideration, so we are commanded to resist them to the face when they walk contrary to the divine counsels or commandments" (The Church, p 222). Luth: "One of these two things has to happen: either the Word of God will abide and conquer them; or at least they will be unable to suppress it, even if they refuse to accept all its grace and goodness and salvation" (AE 21:121).
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:30 hanging Him on a tree. Judean expression for crucifixion. Cf Dt 21:22–23; see note, Gal 3:13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:31 exalted … at His right hand. Jesus' ascension. See notes, Eph 1:20; Rm 8:34; see also "right hand," p 843. Leader. See note, 3:15.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:32 so is the Holy Spirit. Cf 1:8; see note, Jn 15:26. given to those who obey. See note, Rm 1:5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:34 Pharisee. See p 1557. Gamaliel, a teacher of the law. See "Hillel, House of," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:36 Theudas. Josephus mentions such a rebel active in AD 45–46 (Ant 20:97–98). Luke likely refers to an earlier incident (see also Ant 17:271–72).
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:37 Judas the Galilean. Active during a troubled time in Judea. days of the census. Josephus dates this census to c AD 6, when Quirinius became imperial legate of Syria. Papyrus census forms show that such censuses were taken every 14 years.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:38–39 Gamaliel's proposal, fulfilled by the growth and endurance of Christianity, shows the power of God that protects Christian faith. A mixture of shrewd pragmatism and pious caution, it poses a thoughtful suggestion to present-day Judaism.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:40 they beat them. Likely "forty lashes less one," inflicted five times on Paul (2Co 11:24). not to speak in the name of Jesus. See note, 19:13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:42 teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ. See note, Php 2:11.
ACTS—NOTE ON 5:17–42 God's patience (Rm 2:4) is running out. Those at the head of Israel are dangerously close to judgment. Under fire, the Church holds firm, confesses the truth, and accepts the suffering that follows. Today, pray for bold witness and the blessing of peaceful service. When trouble threatens, have confidence that the crucified and risen Savior will keep us steadfast in His grace. • Lord, protect and deliver Your holy people who are still persecuted countless times each day. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 6:1 disciples. First of 25 occurrences of this term in Ac; emphasizes personal adherence to Christ (though cf 9:25). See note, Mt 5:1. Hellenists. See pp 1556–57. Hebrews. Jews resident in Jerusalem, speaking Aram as their primary (and perhaps only) language; generally resistant to Hellenistic culture. See p 751. distribution. Gk diakonia, "service," "ministry." The social service described in 4:34–35 remained a striking feature of the Jerusalem Church and was attractive to outsiders. It benefited esp widows, who were often subject to dire hardship. See notes, 1Tm 5:3–16. Cultural factionalism had broken out, threatening the Church's unity described in the two previous summaries (2:42–47; 4:32–35).
ACTS—NOTE ON 6:2–6 Example of a local church council; this burning issue affected only the local church of Jerusalem. See p 1867. Luth: "The diaconate is the ministry, not of reading the Gospel or the Epistle, as is the present [medieval] practice, but of distributing the church's aid to the poor" (AE 36:116).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:3 good repute. See the qualifications for deacons in 1Tm 3:1–13. full of the Spirit and of wisdom. Both spiritual and practical aptitudes. See note, 2:4. we will appoint. The people chose the deacons; the apostles instituted their office.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:4 Christ mandated to the apostles the ministry of prayer and the Word. Later, this apostolic ministry is passed on to the elders and overseers (14:23; 20:28). By instituting the separate office of deacon, the ministry of directing the practical affairs of the Church (esp relief of the poor) is entrusted to a different set of office bearers. Though Christ alone had authority to establish the apostolic ministry (see note, Mt 10:1), the apostles could establish other offices according to the Church's needs (see list in Eph 4:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:5 full of faith and of the Holy Spirit. Stephen's spiritual gifts anticipate his confrontation with the authorities at Jerusalem (ch 7). See note, 2:4. proselyte of Antioch. Originally a Gentile. See p 1557. The deacons' Gk names suggest that they were likely Hellenists, though some Judeans also had Gk names.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:6 they prayed and laid their hands on them. Consecration was a means of solemnly assigning offices (e.g., Nu 8:10; 27:18–23). Luth: "We are all equally priests, that is to say, we have the same power in respect to the Word and the sacraments. However, no one may make use of this power except by the consent of the community or by the call of a superior. (For what is the common property of all, no individual may arrogate to himself, unless he is called.) And therefore this 'sacrament' of ordination, if it is anything at all, is nothing else than a certain rite whereby one is called to the ministry of the church" (AE 36:116).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:7 word … continued to increase. More people received the apostolic message. See note, 2:41. priests. Given the priests' vested interest in the continuance of their careers at the temple, they may have been the most difficult to change. But God's Word can bring faith to any heart. See p 228; see also "Zadokites," pp 1557–58. obedient to the faith. See note, Rm 1:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:1–7 The apostles deal with complaints about the relief of the Church's poor, instituting the office of deacon. Church conflict can often be resolved for the benefit of the ministries, preaching, teaching, and physical care of God's people. If your congregation is experiencing conflict, take counsel and comfort from this passage. Also, rest your heart and confidence in the Lord, who sends His Spirit and heals His Church. • Lord, let love rule our life, and supply us with pastors and deacons for Your glory and for the good of Your flock. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:8 full of grace and power. Cf 2:4. wonders and signs. See note, 2:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:9 synagogue. The NT provides some of the earliest references to synagogues. Later, the Jerusalem Talmud numbered 480 synagogues in Jerusalem; the Babylonian Talmud numbered 394. The early Christians may have been regarded as their own synagogue. See note, Jn 9:22. Freedmen. Gk transliteration of Lat, likely indicating Jews from Italy who had been freed from slavery.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:10 wisdom and the Spirit. Cf v 3. Stephen received the gifts promised by his Lord (cf Lk 12:12). See note, 2:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:11 blasphemous words against Moses and God. Stephen may have declared how Christ fulfilled the Law, altering the people's relationship to the Law of Moses and the temple services (insights later associated esp with Paul). People feared that the Christians would despise worship at the temple.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:12 elders … scribes … council. See pp 1556–57.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:13 false witnesses. Same strategy that led to Jesus' arrest and condemnation. Cf Mk 14:56–59. this holy place. The temple (cf 7:44–50). the law. See p 971.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:14 destroy this place. See notes, vv 11, 13. customs that Moses delivered to us. Oral law taught by the rabbis. See "Sadducees," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:15 Stephen's face likely shone with heavenly light, a sign of Christ's indwelling and the nearness of God's presence. See note, Lk 24:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:8–15 Stephen is the new target of persecution. Synagogue leaders twist his words, accusing him of treason against Judaism. When persecution confronts you, be faithful to Jesus, whatever the consequences may be. Remember that He is always faithful to you and can deliver you. • Lord, may we, like Stephen, never falter when under attack for You. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:1 high priest. Perhaps Annas. Cf 4:6; Mt 26:57–68; Mk 14:53–65; Lk 22:66–71; Jn 18:12–14.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:2 God of glory. Stephen asserted that the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob is both the subject and source of his message. See "glory of the LORD," pp 6–7.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:4 this land. An essential element of the old covenant was the Promised Land (cf Gn 12:1–9; 15:18–21; 17:1–14).
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:5 no inheritance. See "portion," p 7. Abraham held title to the Promised Land only by faith. After God called him, he became a sojourner. His nomadic existence in obedience to the Lord is further emphasized by the need to purchase Sarah's burial site (Gn 23). He lived in tents, despite God's promise that the land would be his and belong to his descendants. He built altars as part of the covenant's purpose for the land. God intended His chosen people to occupy the Promised Land as a "kingdom of priests and a holy nation" (Ex 19:6). The inheritance of land was inseparable from God's covenant of grace. foot's length. Measurement; also, ownership was demonstrated by stepping onto one's property.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:6 four hundred years. See note, Gn 15:13–14. In God's covenant with Abraham, He foresaw the 400 years of slavery in Egypt, a land they would fill and build but not possess. Their hopes were to be in His Promised Land.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:7 worship Me in this place. See notes, vv 4–5. The purpose of the land was not merely possession, but worship and service to the Lord (cf Dt 4:1–8).
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:8 covenant of circumcision. Cf Gn 17:1–14.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:9 jealous. The 12 sons of Jacob came from four different wives. Jacob's favoring of Rachel and their son Joseph fostered conflict (Gn 37:3–4). See p 54–55.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:10 Despite slavery, false accusations, and prison, Joseph was in God's care. Eventually, Pharaoh released Joseph from prison and elevated him to second in command over Egypt.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:11–13 Joseph saw the power of God, which both harnessed and overcame his brothers' evil plans. Working through famine, the Lord preserved Jacob's family and kept His covenant with Abraham.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:14 seventy-five. Stephen may have arrived at this total by adding the five sons of Manasseh and Ephraim mentioned in Nu 26:28–37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:15–16 Cf Gn 50:6 and Pharaoh's invitation for Joseph to bury his father.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:17–18 time of the promise. Within the Lord's framework of eternity, He made certain that events and situations served His plan of deliverance. Although the new pharaoh did not recognize Joseph or his contribution, this actually signaled a crucial step in the Lord's plan of deliverance.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:20 beautiful. See note, Ex 2:2.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:22 Moses had the educational benefits of a royal upbringing.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:23 came into his heart. Suggests that Moses, though he enjoyed the advantages of living among the Egyptian royalty, was aware of his identity as an Israelite and the plight of his fellow Israelites. Cf Heb 11:24–25.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:24–26 Cf Ex 3:11–14.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:27 thrust him aside. Undergirds the theme for Stephen's speech. Moses, thrust aside by the very person whom he saved, would be rejected (v 39) by the people God called him to deliver. Likewise, Christ, the Anointed One, would be denied by the people He came to save. On the cross, Christ was not only rejected by those who mocked Him (Mt 27:39–44) but also forsaken by the Father (Mt 27:46), that He might complete His mission as the sacrifice for our sins.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:28–29 Cf Ex 2:14–22; see note, Ex 2:22.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:30–32 an angel appeared to him. See note, Ex 3:2. did not dare to look. Ex 3:6 recounts how Moses hid his face out of fear of God. Later, Moses spoke face-to-face with God (Ex 33:11), but he was not allowed to see God's unveiled glory. Cf Ex 34:29.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:33–35 God selected whom man rejected.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:35–36 ruler and redeemer. The Lord called Moses to be His instrument of Israel's deliverance, a redeemer, and to be His mouthpiece to Israel (Ex 3:18). Dt 34:10–12 testifies to Moses' service. by the hand of the angel. God called Moses and designated an angel to support him in the work of deliverance. Cf Ps 91:11.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:37 a prophet like me. Pointing to Christ (see note, v 27). Christ is the stone the builders rejected (Lk 20:17), the one "of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote" (Jn 1:45).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:38 living oracles. The living God (Rv 7:2) is the author of the living words from which believers receive strength and refreshment.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:39–41 See note, v 27. In thrusting Moses aside, they also rejected God and committed idolatry. Israel's pattern of apostasy, begun under the leadership of Moses (Nu 11), continued under the leadership of Joshua (Jsh 7), the judges (Jgs 2), and the kings (1Ki 11).
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:42–43 host of heaven. Cf Dt 17:3. tent of Moloch … Rephan. See notes, Am 5:25–27.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:44 On Mount Sinai, the Lord gave Moses the pattern for the tabernacle (Ex 26), which the builders followed (Ex 36:1; 40). See diagram, p 139.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:45–48 The tabernacle represented the wanderings in the wilderness, where the Israelites camped by tribe in relationship to the tabernacle (Nu 2). Although David wanted to build a permanent house of worship, the Lord planned for Solomon to build the temple (2Sm 7).
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:49–50 God intended His people to worship Him in spirit and in truth, without focus on their rituals or places of worship apart from Him. Cf Am 5:21–25; Mi 6:6–8; Jn 4:23.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:51 stiff-necked. See note, Ex 32:9; cf Ne 9:16, 26. uncircumcised in heart and ears. See note, Lv 26:41. resist the Holy Spirit. See notes, Is 63:10; Eph 4:30. Cf Mt 23:37; Lk 13:34 for the rejection of Jesus by Jerusalem. The Holy Spirit works through the Word to turn a heart of stone into one of faith (Ezk 36:26–27). "God does not force a person to become godly. (Those who always resist the Holy Spirit and persistently oppose the known truth are not converted)" (FC SD II 60).
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:52 the Righteous One. See note, Jer 23:5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:53 delivered by angels. The Lord assigned an angel to guard the children of Israel on the way out of Egypt (Ex 23:20). The commander of the Lord's army appeared to Joshua. See note, Jsh 5:14; cf Jsh 24:8.
ACTS—NOTE ON 7:1–53 Stephen's message recounts how God's chosen people, by rejecting Moses, rejected God. Israel's refusal to follow God ended in their dismissal of God's Son. However, Jesus took upon Himself the sins of the world, that we would be reconciled to God the Father. In Holy Baptism, He gives us new hearts and pours out His Spirit for us. • Father, for Jesus' sake, forgive my sins. Circumcise my heart, that I trust in You above all things. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:54 ground their teeth. See p 1276.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:55–56 full of the Holy Spirit. See note, 2:4. glory. See p 1902. Jesus standing at the right hand of God. Stephen's vision confirmed Christ's prophecy that He would be seen at the right hand of God (Mt 26:64; Lk 22:69). Christ promised He would send the Holy Spirit, who would teach His disciples what to say when persecuted (Lk 12:11–12; Jn 14:15–26). Luth: "When you are baptized, partake of Holy Communion, receive the absolution, or listen to a sermon, heaven is open, and we hear the voice of the Heavenly Father; … Heaven is open, as St. Stephen saw it open (Acts 7:55); and we hear God when He addresses us in Baptism, in Holy Communion, in confession, and in His Word as it proceeds from the mouth of the men who proclaim His message to the people" (AE 22:202).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:57 Cf Jn 8:44. Those of the devil refuse to hear the truth but rather attack it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:58 Stephen's vision and witness guaranteed his condemnation. His witnesses immediately judged him guilty, stoning him outside the city. They did not fear reprisal from the crowds, as they had in their opposition to Jesus. Cf Mt 21:46; Mk 11:18; Lk 20:19; 22:2. a young man named Saul. Though young, Saul was old enough to bear public authority (8:3; 9:1–2). Cf Nu 1:3; 4:3. Saul. Saul's name reminds one of the OT king Saul, who also came from the tribe of Benjamin and strayed from God's way. Cf 1Sm 15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:59–60 receive my spirit … do not hold this sin against them. Cf Lk 23:34, 46, Christ's crucifixion. he fell asleep. Because Christ conquered sin, death, and the power of the devil, when believers die, their death leads to everlasting life. Cf Rv 14:13; see p 1750.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:54–60 Stephen displays the heart of one touched and changed by Jesus' love. Normally we do not forgive people until they ask for forgiveness. Here we see a second type of forgiveness, spoken and requested from God before a person asks for it (v 60). When betrayal, persecution, or abuse breaks your heart, recall Stephen's words. Pray that the Lord would lead you to this type of forgiveness. Know that the Lord, who forgave the soldiers who crucified Him, can forgive all your sins. He can likewise heal your wounds of body and soul. So great is His mercy. • "Jesus, in Your dying woes, Even while Your lifeblood flows, Craving pardon for Your foes: Hear us, holy Jesus. … Oh, may we, who mercy need, Be like You in heart and deed, When with wrong our spirits bleed: Hear us, holy Jesus." Amen. (LSB 447:1, 3)

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:1 Saul approved. Saul's eagerness to support Stephen's death anticipates his future persecution of Christians. great persecution. Through Stephen, the line of division between Christianity and Judaism was sharply drawn for the first time. Persecution came not only on the apostles but on the whole Church. scattered … except the apostles. The apostles' responsibilities to the Church required them to stay in Jerusalem under threat of arrest and death. They had faced arrest before (5:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:2 Cf Jn 19:38.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:3 Saul was ravaging the church. See note, Php 3:6. With hindsight, Luke shows that Christ's command to proclaim the Gospel in Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and to the end of the earth (1:8) was partially fulfilled because of this persecution and the scattering of the Church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:1–3 Stephen's death and Saul's persecution of Christ's followers illustrate the fulfillment of the prophecy that the world would hate the Gospel and kill those who believed it (Mt 24:9–10). The omnipotent God made the world's fanatical hatred serve His purpose in proclaiming the Gospel throughout the entire world. When you are persecuted for the sake of the Gospel, trust that your Lord is at work in the midst of such circumstances. As the cross shows, He can work blessings for you and for others, despite all curses and condemnations. • "Praise for the first of martyrs Who saw You ready stand To help in time of torment, To plead at God's right hand. Like You, our suff'ring Savior, His enemies he blessed, With 'Lord, receive my spirit,' His faith, by death, confessed." Amen. (LSB 517:7)

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:4–5 Philip proclaimed the Gospel in Samaria in fulfillment of Jesus' prophecy (1:8). city of Samaria. Never named. Sebaste, Sychar, and Shechem are likely candidates. See map, p 1584. Jesus had preached in the area (Jn 4) and was known to some of the Samaritan people (Jn 4:39–42). See "Samaritans," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:6–8 Philip preached, taught, healed, and cast out demons. Christ had given the disciples authority to heal the sick and cast out demons (Mt 10:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:4–8 The ancient hatred between Jews and Samaritans underscores the corrosion of sin in the world. Christ, however, through His death and resurrection, makes all people one in Him (Eph 2:11–22). View people of every race and kind as precious to Jesus. His blood washes away all sin, and His Spirit makes us one. • Father, beat down Satan under our feet, and give us faithful laborers for Your harvest field. Through Your Word of salvation, give to all nations peace and harmony. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:9 Simon … practiced magic. Such practices were common in the ancient world (cf 19:19). Archaeologists often find ritual incantations that invoke spiritual powers, curse people, or cast spells (Hbr term for "magician" means an engraver or writer). See note, Dt 18:9. Simon may have been a religious priest or shaman of superstitious practices rather than a priest of the Samaritan religion and temple at Mount Gerizim.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:10 Simon cleverly deceived many into believing he had divinely imparted powers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:12 they believed … good news. The power of the Gospel overcame the empty show of Simon's magic. See note, Rm 1:16. kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66. baptized, both men and women. Under the old covenant, only males were circumcised (Gn 17:10). But in the new covenant, Baptism consecrates both men and women in the one faith (Gal 3:28; Eph 4:5; Col 2:11–14). See p 1369.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:13 The Lord's miracles and the convincing power of the Gospel converted even Simon, who then accompanied Philip by heeding his teaching or supporting his work.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:14–17 The outward gift of the Spirit through the apostles' prayers and laying on of hands served to unify the Church, binding together Jews and Samaritans who practiced different yet related religions. The two elements of Baptism are water and the Word (Eph 5:26; cf Mt 28:19; Jn 3:5; Ac 2:38). Notice that Peter and John did not rebaptize those who had been baptized. The one Baptism conveyed the gifts of faith in Christ and eternal salvation, which are worked by the Spirit through water and the Word.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:15–16 Spirit … had not yet fallen. On Pentecost, a public demonstration of the Spirit's approval was given. Luke records that this public demonstration appears as new groups were received into the one Church through the ministry of the apostles: Samaritans (ch 8), Gentiles (ch 10), and the disciples of John the Baptist (ch 19). Note that in each case, these groups knew God's Word and the promise of the Messiah from the OT. The preaching and gift of the Spirit confirm to them that Jesus is indeed the Messiah. See p 1835.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:17 Cyr Jer: "Peter and John came down, and with prayer, and the laying on of hands, imparted the fellowship of the Holy Ghost" (NPNF 2 7:130).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:18–19 he offered them money. Simon assumed that his money and former persuasive ability would bring him new powers. power. Gk exousia, "authority." He sought to purchase apostolic authority and continue his influence among the Samaritans.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:20 Peter pronounces a curse on Simon to emphasize rejection of Simon's offer. See "curse," p 6. the gift of God. God commanded His people to provide for servants of the Word (Nu 18:24; Ac 28:10; 1Tm 5:17). However, the Gospel, and the blessings thereof, cannot be bought or sold. God's blessings and authority are gifts of God (Eph 2:8– 10; 4:7–14). The Early Church Fathers attribute the beginning of heresies to Simon, though this is likely a simplification of the history. Iren: "This man, then, was glorified by many as if he were a god; and he taught that it was himself who appeared among the Jews as the Son, but descended in Samaria as the Father while he came to other nations in the character of the Holy Spirit" (ANF 1:348). Simon became known as the "arch-heretic," and the attempt to buy authority in the Church was named "simony."

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:21 Without hesitation, Peter condemned this lust for power and warned Simon that he had sinned.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:22 Repent … and pray. Peter's warning to Simon is similar to John the Baptist's warning to the Pharisees and Sadducees (Mt 3:2) and Jesus' warning to the Pharisees (Mt 12:25). if possible. The matter is so serious Peter anticipates swift judgment (cf 5:1–5; Nu 12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:23 gall of bitterness … bond of iniquity. Simon is enslaved to sin. Cf Rm 6:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:24 Unlike Ananias and Sapphira (5:1–5), Simon immediately asked Peter to intercede on his behalf and to remove the curse. Cf 1Jn 1:8–10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:25 The apostles expanded Philip's work of preaching and teaching. See note, Jn 4:44.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:9–25 The power of the Gospel, which reaches even the most unlikely people, is illustrated in the lives of the Samaritans. God and His grace cannot be bought. A person's life is transformed only by the power of the Holy Spirit working through the Word. Today, ask the Lord to bless your study of His Word. He will transform you and bless your service according to His gifts and good pleasure. • Father, all too often I have treated Your grace as something I could purchase or earn. Forgive me, for Jesus' sake, and let Your Holy Spirit work mightily in my life, that I might imitate Philip and proclaim Your Word of life. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:26 an angel of the Lord. See p 1227. road … to Gaza. See map, p 1857. desert. Or, "uninhabited." The Lord moves Philip from the exciting, expanding work in Samaria to a place with no people.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:27–28 Ethiopian. OT "Cushite," known to Israelites through contacts with Egypt and Sheba. Judeans fled into Egypt during the Babylonian exile (see map, p 717) and settled on the island of Elephantine in Upper Egypt (near modern Aswan). They likely spread the faith southward into Nubia (Sudan) and Ethiopia. The Falasha religion of Ethiopia likely had ancient Jewish roots. eunuch. See note, 2Ki 9:32. Candace. Likely Amantitere (c AD 25–41; called Kandake in inscriptions), who ruled at Meroë and is mentioned by Roman authors. come to Jerusalem to worship. A convert to Judaism likely returning from an annual festival. Cf Ex 34:23. reading … Isaiah. A man of considerable means (affording a large scroll) and education.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:29 join this chariot. The Spirit may have given Philip the swiftness to catch the chariot (cf 1Ki 18:46), or the Ethiopian travelers may have been resting.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:30–31 heard him reading. In ancient times, people typically read aloud. Luth: "It pleased God not to give the Spirit without the Word. … He could, of course, do this apart from the Word; but He does not want to do it that way" (WLS § 2050). unless someone guides. The Ethiopian eagerly acknowledged that he did not understand the prophet. Luth: "We should hear God's Word with fear and study in it with humility; we should not pounce upon it with our own notions of what is right" (WLS § 4758). Contrast the Ethiopian's eager listening with the arrogance of the synagogue of the Freedmen (6:9–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:32–33 Prophecy regarding Jesus' suffering and death for the sins of the world.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:34 Classic questions for interpreters of Is 53. See p 1178.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:35 Philip demonstrated that Jesus fulfilled Isaiah's prophecy. Cf Mt 3:15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:36 Philip's testimony about Christ likely included accounts of Baptism. Luth: "Whoever is baptized in Christ is baptized through His suffering and blood, or, to state it more clearly, through Baptism he is bathed in the blood of Christ and is cleansed from sins" (WLS § 127). Cf Is 56:3–4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:38 As a convert to Judaism, the Ethiopian was already well-instructed in biblical teaching. Therefore, Philip did not hesitate to baptize him. See note, Mt 28:19; see also p 1369.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:39 the Spirit of the Lord carried Philip away. See note, v 29. The Lord provided both the resources and means to carry out the mission. See notes, Ezk 3:12, 14; cf 2Co 12:2. eunuch … rejoicing. The message of salvation through Christ goes out to all people, bringing forgiveness and blessing (Rm 1:5, 16). Ethiopian Christians trace their beginning to this man, though Ethiopian kings did not officially adopt Christianity until c AD 350.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:40 Azotus. Identified with Ashdod. One of five chief cities of Philistia, between Gaza and Joppa, where Jews and Gentiles likely dwelt side by side.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:26–40 God leads Philip to bear witness to and baptize an important official from Ethiopia, ensuring that Jews in Africa and also Ethiopians would likewise receive the Gospel. The Holy Spirit brings the eunuch to faith through the Word and Baptism. Today, rejoice in the Word and Baptism you have received, through which the Holy Spirit continues to work in your life. • Father, through Your Holy Spirit, rekindle my desire to read and hear Your Word, acknowledge Your gifts in Baptism, and respond with joy and care for others. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:1 murder. Saul was intoxicated with hatred. We do not have a specific report that he actually killed Christians, though those he imprisoned were executed (22:4). high priest. See note, 7:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:2 synagogues at Damascus. Saul was intent on halting the spread of the Gospel. We are not told which disciple spread the message to Damascus, a Syrian city on a plateau (2,300 ft above sea level). It was watered by the rivers Abana and Pharpar (2Ki 5:12). See map, p 1857. the Way. Name for Christianity; only in Ac. The origin of the term remains obscure. See "way," p 844.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:3–9 Some interpreters treat Saul's experience as a model for Christian conversion, as though every person has to experience a crisis in order to become a Christian. This is misleading. Though God can and does work in people's lives through crises, conversion is always the work of the Holy Spirit through the means of grace. Saul's conversion actually takes place in vv 17–18 as he receives God's Word and Sacrament. Let no one question your salvation because you came to faith quietly, without some dramatic experience. What matters is trust in Jesus as the Savior, which is truly what made Saul a Christian.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:3 light from heaven flashed. The Lord often used elements of nature to serve His purpose. See note, Ex 19:18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:4 persecuting Me? Cf 26:14. Saul's persecution of Jesus' disciples was persecution of the Son of God. Believers are the "Body of Christ." See p 1965. Luth: "When [the Word of God] strikes the heart, it is like a thunderbolt which overthrows even the most strongly fortified places by its force. … Paul hated the Gospel with such an obstinate heart that he was like an immovable rock. Yet he is shattered by the hammer of the Word. For 'God kills and brings to life; He brings down to Sheol and raises up' (1 Sam. 2:6)" (AE 3:348).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:5–6 Lord? Not an expression of faith but of respect. Up to this moment, Saul was convinced that his mission pleased God. I am Jesus. See pp 1784–85. The Lord answers Saul's question concerning His identity by speaking and acting as God, directing Saul on where to go and saying no more.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:8–9 he saw nothing. Physical afflictions can turn an individual toward repentance and contrition (e.g., Zechariah's muteness, Lk 1:20; Miriam's leprosy, Nu 12:10). Saul's murderous energy (v 1) contrasts with his meek dependence here. neither ate nor drank. The heavenly vision (26:19) may have driven Saul to fast as part of his repentance and contrition. Cf Ezr 9:5; Ne 1:4; Dn 9:3; see p 189.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:10 disciple at Damascus. One of the people Saul would have brought "bound to Jerusalem" (v 2). Ananias. Common name. Cf 5:1. vision. Prophesied in 2:17 (cf 10:9–16; 11:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:11–12 street called Straight. Major street in the city. Ananias's help for Saul illustrates how the Lord brings otherwise disparate people into fellowship through the Gospel. he is praying. Expression of his repentance. seen in a vision. See note, v 10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:13 Saul's reputation and his authorization to hunt down believers had reached Damascus, c 135 mi from Jerusalem. saints. See p 1904.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:14 See note, v 2. call on Your name. See p 1901.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:15–16 chosen instrument. The Lord often calls those considered least likely to serve His plan of salvation. Recall how the Lord directed Samuel in anointing David as Saul's successor (1Sm 16). suffer for the sake of My name. God's name is inseparable from His covenant of grace with humankind. (Cf Ac 4:12; Ezk 36:22; Rv 21:6.) Christ instructed His disciples regarding the cost of discipleship. The disciple is not above the teacher (Mt 10:24), and His disciples would be condemned by religious and civil authorities for His sake (Mt 10:17). See "for Your name's sake," p 842.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:16 Luth: "All Christendom is a small group that must submit to, suffer, and bear more than all other people whatever grief the devil and the world can inflict on it. Now who, in view of what they appear to be and are subjected to, will recognize and learn that they are genuine Christians? Reason will surely not show this. The Holy Spirit must do so. He is called 'the Spirit of truth' because in spite of what they appear to be and are subjected to … He strengthens and preserves hearts in the faith" (AE 24:358).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:17 laying his hands on him. See note, 1Tm 4:14. Brother. See p 1901. filled with the Holy Spirit. See note, 2:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:18 scales. Similar description appears in Tobit 3:17. There is also a spiritual healing, allowing true insight of God in Christ. baptized. Baptism clothes the believer with Christ, removes former barriers, and bestows the Spirit. Cf 2:38–39; Mt 28:19–20; Jn 3:5–6; Rm 6:1–4; 1Co 6:11; Gal 3:27–28; Eph 4:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:1–19a Jesus confronts Saul and converts him through the Gospel and Baptism. Though Saul was convinced of his righteous mission of persecution, he learned that true righteousness comes only through Christ. All we are and all we do depends on His blessing and calling. • "Praise for the light from heaven And for the voice of awe; Praise for the glorious vision The persecutor saw. O Lord, for Paul's conversion, We bless Your name today; Come shine within our darkness, And guide us on our way." Amen. (LSB 517:12)

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:19b Cf vv 20–22. Christ's disciples received Saul into fellowship due to sincere faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:20 The Holy Spirit breathed new life into him who formerly breathed threats and murders.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:21 called upon this name? To call on the Lord is to believe in Him and to pray. Cf 2:21; Rm 10:9, 14; 2Tm 2:22; 1Pt 1:17; see p 842.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:22 confounded the Jews. Marking Saul's separation from his former beliefs and from that community. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775. proving that Jesus was the Christ. OT prophecies were fulfilled in Christ. See p 1245.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:19b–22 The Holy Spirit opened Saul's eyes and heart to forgiveness through Christ so he boldly confessed His name to his fellow Jews. Today, trust that the Lord is able to change people's lives—even people you regard as utterly lost and despicable. How great is our Lord and His grace! • Father, as Your Holy Spirit opened Saul's heart to the Gospel, open my heart, that I might believe and make a fearless testimony of Christ. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:23–24 Saul, who formerly hunted Christ's disciples, would himself be hunted. Cf Mt 24:9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:25 his disciples. Term used for those who followed a prophet. See note, Is 8:16. opening in the wall. First of several recorded accounts of Saul being delivered from death. Christians should not seek out martyrdom, but seek to honor and proclaim the Gospel, whether by life or death. Bern: "Paul blushed not to be let down in a basket over a wall … and so to escape the hands of those who were seeking his life. He escaped not to spare his life, but to give place to wrath; not to avoid death, but to attain life" (SLSB, p 136).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:23–25 The Christians show sincere faith by welcoming Saul, supporting his teaching of salvation through Christ. For the sake of the Gospel today, support and defend the witness of your brothers and sisters in Christ. The Lord your Savior is your defender. • Father, through Your Word, strengthen my faith in Christ. Make me, like those who assisted Saul, faithful in serving the proclamation of the Gospel. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:26 Cf vv 1–2, 13. Underscores the savagery with which Saul executed his campaign of persecution against Christ's disciples.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:27 Barnabas validated Saul's conversion, emphasizing that Saul had seen and heard the Lord. Cf vv 3–19; 1Jn 1:1–4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:28 in and out among them. See note, 1:21. The disciples in Jerusalem received Saul into fellowship (cf 1Jn 1:6–7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:29 Hellenists. See pp 1556–57. seeking to kill him. See note, v 16; cf Jn 11:53.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:30 brothers. See p 1901. Again, Christ's disciples ensured Saul would escape. Caesarea. C 23 mi S of Mount Carmel; built (25–13 BC) by Herod the Great; Roman capital of that region (cf 18:22; 21:8, 16; 23:23, 33; 25). Tarsus. Chief city of Cilicia on Cydnus River; home of Paul (cf 9:11; 21:39; 22:3). See map, p 1857.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:31 When Saul, former persecutor of Christians, was converted, peace returned to the Church. The Lord ended the first serious persecution. walking. See p 1904. fear of the Lord. See p 1001. comfort of the Holy Spirit. See note, Jn 14:16. multiplied. See p 1850.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:26–31 Due to Saul's past, Christians are suspicious of him. Due to his new faith, enemies of the Christian faith plot to kill him. Nevertheless, the Holy Spirit brings Saul to other believers who help him escape. Through the power of the Gospel, the Church continues to grow. The Lord will likewise watch over the future of your congregation. Proclaim Christ! The Savior will bless and keep you. • Father, thank You for allowing me to hear the lifesaving news of the Gospel and to share in the fellowship of believers. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:32 saints. See p 1904. Lydda. Town in plain of Sharon, 11 mi SE of Joppa. See map, p 1857.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:33 paralyzed. Cf Mt 9:2; Mk 2:3; Lk 5:18.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:34 Jesus Christ heals you. See notes, 3:6; 8:6–8; cf Mt 4:23; 9:35.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:35 they turned to the Lord. See "turn," p 1080.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:32–35 Aeneas, paralyzed for eight years, is healed through the power of the Gospel. Seeing this miracle, the residents of Lydda and Sharon repent and believe in the Lord. As God grants you opportunity, share the love of Jesus by caring for the sick. His abiding care will sustain you in every need. • Father, thank You for healing me from the paralysis and death of sin and giving me the hope of eternal life. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:36 Joppa. See map, p 1857. disciple. Gk mathetria, female disciple. See note, Mt 5:1. Only time used in Scripture. However, see note, Lk 8:2–3. Tabitha … full of good works and acts of charity. Tabitha's example shows that as believers grow in faith in Christ, they bear the fruit of faith, imitating Christ. Cf Mt 25:31–40; Ac 2:44–45; 1Tm 5:3–16. See note, 2Th 1:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:37 Typical preparation for burial of a person of ordinary means (cf Mt 27:59; Jn 11:44). The wealthy anointed their dead with spices and perfumes (cf Jn 12:7; 19:39).
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:38 Peter … Please come to us. An invitation to attend the funeral. Burial had to take place soon. Yet, Christ gave His disciples authority to raise the dead (Mt 10:8).
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:39 tunics and other garments. Testimony to Tabitha's works of charity.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:40 knelt down and prayed. See p 1276. Tabitha, arise. Cf Lk 7:22; 1Ki 17:19; 2Ki 4:32–34.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:41 saints and widows. Distinction may suggest that some widows were not yet believers. However, see note, 1Tm 5:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:42 many believed in the Lord. Cf Mt 4:24; Mk 1:28; Lk 4:14 on how Christ's fame spread.
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:43 Simon, a tanner. Ceremonially unclean due to contact with dead animals. That Peter chose to stay with a tanner showed how his views of cleanliness were changing. God will take Peter a step further by Peter's visit to Cornelius's home (10:24–43).
ACTS—NOTE ON 9:36–43 An untimely death comes to Tabitha, a beloved servant. However, those who mourn Tabitha's death witness the power of Christ through her restoration to life. How great is the Lord's kindness! • Father, when my last hour comes, take me to be with You in heaven, through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:1 centurion. Roman officer in command of 100 soldiers (cf Mt 8:5; Mk 15:39; Lk 7:1–10). Italian Cohort. The Roman legion, nominally 6,000 men, was divided into 10 cohorts, or regiments, each of approximately 600 soldiers.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:2 devout. Although he was pious and generous, he did not yet know Jesus as his Savior from sin. He would have known there was a coming Messiah. See note, v 37. Ancient inscriptions have shown that Gentile patrons gave gifts to synagogues. "Cornelius, living among the Jews, had heard long before about the coming Messiah, through whom he was righteous before God (Acts 10:1–2). In such faith, his prayers and alms were acceptable to God (since Luke calls him devout and Godfearing)" (SA III VIII 8).
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:3 ninth hour. C 3 p.m., a traditional time of prayer. vision. See note, 9:10; cf Jl 2:28. In ch 9, the Lord gave both Ananias and Saul visions, which confirmed His will.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:4 terror. In the presence of the holy God, one stands in terror because of one's sins.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:5 Joppa. See map, p 1857. Simon … Peter. His Hbr name required explanation. See note, Mt 16:17.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:6 Simon, a tanner. See note, 9:43.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:7 a devout soldier. Note emphasis (cf v 2). See note, Lk 3:14. By contrast, observe how easily the chief priests and elders bribed the soldiers after Christ's resurrection (Mt 28:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:8 Cornelius would have related the vision only to those whom he trusted.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:1–8 The Lord prepares Cornelius to learn more about Jesus. Likewise, He prepares and guides our lives in accordance with His good purposes. Therefore, commend your life and ways to your Lord, who at all times has you on His heart. • Father, Your Law reminds me daily that as good as I think I am, I can never be good enough to inherit eternal salvation. Thank You for sending Jesus to fulfill all righteousness for me. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:9 housetop. Some homes had a flat roof reached by an external stairway. Cf Lk 5:19. Peter likely went up to the housetop for solitude to pray (cf Mt 14:23; Jn 6:15). See note, Jsh 2:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:10 a trance. An inspired dream. (Cf 26:13; Ezk 1:1; Dn 7:1; 2Co 12:1.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:11 heavens opened. Cf Lk 3:21.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:13–14 Peter, in accordance with ceremonial law, would have avoided eating unclean animals. See notes, Lv 11:3–23; see also p 300.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:15–16 second time … three times. Threefold repetition would have removed all doubt that this vision came from the Lord. (Three times Jesus had asked Peter, "Do you love Me?"; Jn 21:15–17.)

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:17–21 Peter, thoroughly perplexed, could not interpret the vision on his own. The Holy Spirit interpreted the vision and, as often seen in Ac, sent him on a journey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:22 See notes, vv 1, 2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:23 brothers. Six fellow Christians accompanied Peter and would become eyewitnesses to God's work (cf Dt 17:6; Mt 18:19–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:24 Cornelius's gathering of relatives and close friends underscores their confidence in him and his eagerness to hear Peter's message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:25–26 The man of God clearly shows that wisdom and counsel, forgiveness and salvation come from the one true God. Cf Gn 41:16; Dn 2:27–28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:27 See note, v 24.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:28 unlawful … to associate. Due to issues of ritual purity. See p 1907; see also note, Jn 18:28. common. Impure or unholy. Cf Mk 7:1–23; Rm 14:13–14.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:29 Cf vv 20–24.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:30 a man … in bright clothing. Cf Mt 28:2–3; Mk 16:5; Lk 24:2–4; Jn 20:12.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:31 remembered before God. Cf Dn 9:20–21, where the angel Gabriel appeared to Daniel while he was still praying.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:33 here in the presence of God. Cornelius recognized that not only had a holy man arrived but that God also drew near through the words Peter was about to speak. See p 843.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:9–33 Through a vision, the Lord teaches Peter that holiness is not determined by people, but by what God Himself has ordained as holy and clean. We are powerless to hallow anything. Pray that God's gifts and blessings may be hallowed among us. Through the Gospel, the Lord cleanses and hallows us. • Father, thank You for making me righteous and acceptable through Your Word. Let Your Holy Spirit move me to confess Christ, that others might be made acceptable in Your sight. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:34–35 God's message of salvation goes out to all people because all the earth is His. God will write His Word on the hearts of all who believe (Jer 31:33). Cf Rm 14:11; Rv 14:6. fears. See p 1001.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:36 preaching good news of peace. The hallmark of the kingdom of God is the announcement of peace, healing, and forgiveness. He is Lord of all. A brief confession or creed, appropriate among Gentiles who had worshiped idols and who perhaps wondered whether the true God would be their God. See note, 1Co 12:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:37 you yourselves know. Though they had heard about Jesus' ministry, Peter gave them an eyewitness account of Jesus' ministry, death, and resurrection. Cf 1Jn 1:1–4.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:38 anointed … with the Holy Spirit and with power. Christ, the Anointed One, fulfilled the prophecies regarding the Messiah (Gn 3:15; 49:10; Is 7:14; Mi 5:2; Mt 1:20; Jn 1:1). with Him. See "be with," p 5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 10:39 Jesus' condemnation on the cross came despite God's anointing, the power of the Holy Spirit, and His gracious healing of many. tree. Adam and Eve's willful reach for Eden's tree was cured by Christ's willing grasp of the cross. Cf Dt 21:23; Gal 3:13; 1Pt 2:24.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:40–41 God demonstrated Jesus to be His Son esp through the resurrection, as believers realize (Rm 1:4). See "The Resurrection," p 1829.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:42 Luth: "Who will harm the man when the great God and Savior, Jesus Christ, to whom the Day of Judgment belongs, is on his side and stands before him with all His glory, greatness, majesty, and might?" (WLS § 2178).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:43 all the prophets bear witness. See note, Lk 24:44. forgiveness of sins through His name. "Peter says we receive forgiveness of sins through Christ's name, that is, for His sake. It is not for the sake of our merits, not for the sake of our contrition, attrition, love, worship, or works. He adds: When we believe in Him. Peter requires faith. For we cannot receive Christ's name except by faith" (Ap IV 83). Luth: "Cornelius (Acts 10:43) had to be brought to the new faith that Christ had already come" (WLS § 2125).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:34–43 Peter affirms for devout Cornelius that Jesus is truly the Christ; the Spirit affirms for Peter that the Gospel applies to all people without partiality. The Holy Spirit unites one and all in the Body of Christ. • Father, thank You for the gift of salvation through Your Son, Jesus Christ. Make me a faithful witness of Your love. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:44 The Holy Spirit comes through the Word to everyone who hears and believes. Cf Rm 10:17; 15:13; 1Co 2:10–14; 6:11; 1Pt 2:9. Luth: "[Faith is] a living spiritual flame, by which hearts are set afire, born anew and converted through the Holy Spirit, so that they desire, will, do, and are exactly what the law of Moses expressly commands and requires [Jer 31:33; 2Co 3:3; Rm 3:27; 8:2; 2Co 4:13]. … For the living Word of Christ, when preached, imparts the Spirit, who writes the law of God in our hearts with living fire, as happened to Cornelius in Acts 10 [:44], and again Gal. 4 [3:2]: 'Did you receive the Spirit by works or by the preaching of faith?' Hence the gospel is called a word of life in John 6[:68]" (AE 36:200–201).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:45 See notes, 2:38, 39; cf Gal 5:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:46 speaking in tongues and extolling God. See pp 1835, 1969.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:47 See note, 8:14–17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:48 baptized in the name of Jesus. See note, 2:38.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:44–48 The Holy Spirit demonstrates to the Jewish believers that God indeed desires to pour out His Spirit on "all flesh" (2:17), even Gentiles. The water, the Word, and the Holy Spirit go together. So Peter urges that the Gentiles be baptized right away, without concern for circumcision or ritual purity according to the old covenant. These blessings of Word and Sacrament abide with us today. • Lord, give us Your Word, that our thankfulness points many to Your grace. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:1 apostles. See p 1901. brothers. Jewish converts to Christianity. See p 1901. received the word of God. Specifically, the affirmation of Christ as the Messiah and Savior.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:2 circumcision party. Those who insisted on circumcision along with saving faith. Cf Gal 3. Since the uncircumcised Gentiles were only beginning to be received into the Church, this title may be retrospective—we see the party forming from this incident. Cf Ac 15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:3 ate with them. The Pharisees had criticized Jesus for eating with sinners and tax collectors (Mk 2:15–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:4–18 See notes, 10:9–48.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:12 Six brothers represent twice the number of witnesses needed to establish testimony (Mt 18:19–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:14 saved. See p 1904.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:16 Peter comments on what went through his mind during the events of 10:44–48. Pentecost was the fulfillment of this prophecy about Baptism and the Spirit (ch 2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:17 God gave the same gift. God withheld neither the gift of grace nor the Holy Spirit from the Gentiles. Peter, having seen Christ's ministry, death, and resurrection, was also an eyewitness of the Gentiles' receiving of the Holy Spirit through the proclamation of the Gospel.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:18 repentance that leads to life. See "repent," p 1080.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:1–18 Through the Law, God condemns all sinners and drives them to repentance; through the Gospel, He grants life everlasting. Live a life of daily repentance, and glorify God for His lavish blessings and gifts to you and all people. • Lord, let our likeness to some not be a barrier to others. Draw everyone to You, O Holy Spirit, even the unlikely. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:19 See note, 8:1. According to tradition, Luke was a Gentile from Antioch.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:20 Hellenists. See p 1556–57.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:21 the hand of the Lord. See p 842. was with them. See "be with," p 5. turned to the Lord. See p 1080. Luth: "Faith is an unceasing and constant looking … which turns the eyes upon nothing but Christ, the Victor over sin and death and the Giver of righteousness, salvation, and life eternal" (WLS § 1374).
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:22–24 they sent Barnabas. See note, 9:27; cf 1Co 9:6; Gal 2:1, 9, 13; Col 4:10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:25–26 See note, 9:15–16.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:26 Christians. Gk christianos; from a Lat noun that indicates allegiance to Christ. A title used by outsiders, reflecting their attitude. Hus: "The faithful were first called disciples and brethren, and later Christians" (The Church, p 63). Luth: " 'On this rock, that is, on me, Christ, I will build all of my Christendom, just as you and the other disciples are built on it through my Father in heaven, who revealed it to you.'… Thus Luke in Acts 11 [:26] says that the disciples in Antioch were first called Christians, which is why names have survived such as, 'Christians, Christendom, Christian faith,' etc. … Whoever believes in Christ is built on this rock and will attain salvation, even against all the gates of hell; whoever does not believe in Christ is not built on this rock and must be damned, with all the gates of hell" (AE 41:314–15).
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:27 prophets. See pp 1077–83. came down. From the heights of Jerusalem. See map, p 971.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:28 Agabus … foretold by the Spirit. The Spirit demonstrated power through foretelling of the future. See p 1876. great famine … in the days of Claudius. Claudius ruled as Roman emperor AD 41–54. Josephus mentions these economic troubles (Ant 20:51).
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:29 send relief. Cf 2Co 9:1–5. brothers. See p 1901.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:30 elders. See note, 20:17; see also p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 11:19–30 Though persecution scatters the believers, the Lord uses the persecution to proclaim the Gospel even more broadly. As believers grow in faith, they commit themselves to acts of service. Men of God, such as Barnabas, not only confirm the work of the Holy Spirit among believers but also ensure that new believers are nurtured in the faith through instruction (Mt 28:19–20). • "Awake, Thou Spirit, who didst fire The watchmen of the Church's youth, Who faced the Foe's envenomed ire, Who witnessed day and night Thy truth, Whose voices loud are ringing still And bringing hosts to know Thy will." Amen. (TLH 494:1)

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:1 Herod the king. Probably Herod Agrippa I (AD 37–44), tetrarch of Galilee, Judea, and Samaria. See "Herodians," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:2 James … John. Sons of Zebedee and Salome; present with Peter at the transfiguration and in Gethsemane. See p 1780.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:3 pleased the Jews. See note, 9:1; cf Mt 26:3–4; Mk 14:1; Lk 22:1–2. days of Unleavened Bread. See pp 200–201.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:4 four squads. Extra security. A heavily armed force was sent to apprehend Jesus (Mt 26:47; Lk 22:47; Jn 18:3). after the Passover. Notice the emphasis that timing played in both this account and the account of Christ's crucifixion. The leaders showed fearful respect for the crowds and their festivals.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:5 Praying with faith in Christ brings wondrous results (Jas 5:16). How much more so when believers gather with one accord, letting their requests be made known to God with thanksgiving for His gifts (Ac 1:14; Php 4:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:1–5 As Christ had prophesied, His disciples share in His suffering, being arrested, beaten, and even killed. By His crucifixion and resurrection, Christ has passed through death and draws us safely through to life. He alone holds the keys of death and will leave none of His own behind. • Father, in the righteousness of faith in Christ, hear my prayer for believers who face persecution for Your name's sake. Keep them faithful unto death, that they may receive the crown of life. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:6 The prison enacted maximum security procedures.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:7 God continues to work through the means of both angels and apostles. Angels serve primarily as messengers of salvation and freedom from persecution throughout Ac (e.g., 5:19; 10:3; 12:23, 27:23), often emphasizing that they are real rather than a mere vision (e.g., 12:9, 11; 23:8). See "angel of the LORD," p 1227.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:8 Dress yourself. As a means of punishment, the guards had likely deprived him of warm clothing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:10 iron gate … opened. The reality of the angelic escort was seen in the iron gate's opening. The number of guards and the iron gate suggests a maximum security prison. went along one street. An odd detail; the angel abides with dazed Peter.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:11 all that the Jewish people were expecting. Given the death of James (v 2), many would expect Peter to be killed at this time. Two of Jesus' closest followers would be eliminated. Cf Jn 21:18–19; 2Pt 1:14 regarding Peter's coming death.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:12 house. Later tradition suggested this was the site of the Upper Room, where Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper. A church was built on the traditional site. See note, 1:13. Mary. Probably the sister of Barnabas and the hostess of one of the house churches in Jerusalem. See note, 1Co 14:23. John … Mark. See notes, Mk 14:51–52. The Lat name "Markus" may indicate his involvement with Roman culture or administration.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:13 door of the gateway. Indicates an outer courtyard. servant … Rhoda. Suggests that Mary was relatively wealthy.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:15 Their doubt about Rhoda's discovery recalls Peter's unwillingness to accept the testimony of Mary Magdalene and others after Christ's resurrection (Lk 24:10–12). his angel! See note, Mt 18:10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:17 James. Brother of Jesus, who served as the acknowledged leader of the Jerusalem Church (see pp 2130–33). brothers. See p 1901. another place. Recall how the disciples assisted Paul in escaping (9:25, 30).
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:19 The disappearance of Peter fulfills the warning of Gamaliel that the authorities will find themselves struggling against God (5:39). put to death. For delinquent duty.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:6–19 The death of James at the hand of Herod and the imprisonment of Peter demonstrate the world's hatred of the Gospel. Yet, nothing can separate believers from the love of Christ. He fulfills His purpose for us in life and in death; therefore, we have joy. • Father, may Rhoda's joy at seeing Peter overflow in my life as I have fellowship with other believers. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 12:20 Events of AD 44. Herod was angry. Never explained. Herod followed the Herodian pattern of intrigue and violence (Mt 2:1–18; 14:3; Mk 6:17; Lk 3:19–20; 13:32). See note, v 1. Blastus, the king's chamberlain. Position of influence in Herod's court. depended … for food. See note, 11:28. Positioned on the Phoenician coast, Tyre and Sidon gained their wealth through shipping but remained vulnerable to food shortages.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:21–23 See also the pride of Nebuchadnezzar (Dn 4:28–33) and Belshazzar (Dn 5). an angel of the Lord. See p 1227. he did not give God the glory. Falling into pride and idolatry. eaten by worms. Likely a disorder of the digestive tract. Josephus mentions his stomach trouble (Ant 19:346, 350).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:24 word of God increased and multiplied. Despite internal tensions and outside persecution. "[Rulers] should work toward the preservation and growth of divine things, that is, the Gospel of Christ on the earth. … As God's representatives, they should defend the life and safety of the innocent" (Ap XXI 44).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:25 completed their service. Probably refers to the relief effort entrusted to Barnabas and Saul. John … Mark. See note, v 12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:20–25 Herod's violence and intrigue illustrate how evil breeds evil. Yet God can decisively topple evil. In mercy to us, He sent His Son to the cross to condemn evil and rescue us. Living in forgiveness, we eagerly await the day when our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ takes us to live with Him forever in heaven. • "By all Your saints in warfare, For all Your saints at rest, Your holy name, O Jesus, Forevermore be blest! For You have won the battle That they might wear the crown; And now they shine in glory Reflected from Your throne." Amen. (LSB 517:1)

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:1 Antioch. Political, military, and commercial center for Roman Syria and the Persian frontier; one of the most important cities of the empire. See map, p 1857. prophets and teachers. Prominent roles in the Early Church (cf 1Co 14:3–4, 29–32; Eph 4:11). Simeon. Hbr; he was probably Jewish with a dark complexion. Niger. See ESV note. Cyrene. In North Africa. Manaen. Hbr name Menachem. member of the court. Lit, "nourished together" or brought up with Herod. Herod the tetrarch. Herod Antipas ruled Galilee from 4 BC to AD 39, during the time of Jesus' ministry (cf Lk 23:6–12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:2 worshiping the Lord. The Early Church gathered for worship often, even daily, and generally in homes (cf 2:46). fasting. Discipline of depriving oneself of food in order to focus on God and spiritual matters (cf Mt 6:16–18). See p 189. Spirit said. Perhaps audibly and directly, but more likely through one of the prophets. Set apart. For a special purpose. Note that Barnabas is mentioned first. called. Gk tense emphasizes the ongoing effects of God's call. See pp 1901, 1899–1901. Luth: "Why does he call himself only the apostle to the Gentiles, but Peter and the others the apostles to the circumcised? … The other apostles had remained in Judea and Jerusalem until God called them elsewhere. … But as Acts 13:2 writes, Paul was set aside by a special call as the apostle to the Gentiles and was sent out from Judea to journey through the Gentile lands. And although he also went into Jewish synagogs, he preached elsewhere to the Gentiles—in the public forum, in private homes, on the riverbank" (AE 26:101).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:3 fasting and praying. The Spirit of God acted first (v 2); the Church responded with further fasting and praying. laid their hands … sent. Placed the blessings and Spirit of God on them (cf 2Tm 1:6). See note, Mk 5:23. Chem: "A call ought to have the public witness of the church. … Thus Paul, although called immediately, still is sent to Ananias, who was to lay hands on [him], that it might be evident to the church concerning [his] call; … when he was to be sent among the gentiles, he was made a regular teacher of the gentiles, again by the laying on of hands" (LTh 2:704).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:1–3 The momentous missionary journeys of Saul (later Paul) begin with the calling and equipping by the Spirit. The Holy Spirit calls us by the Gospel and enlightens us with His gifts, especially those of teaching and spreading God's Word, which we use in God's service and to the benefit of others (cf 1Co 12). • Thank You, God, for those whom Your Spirit has gifted to share Your Word in my life. Enable me to use my gifts to serve others in Jesus' name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:4 sent out by the Holy Spirit. The Spirit directed the work of Barnabas and Saul. Cf 16:6–10; 21:10–11; 27:21–26. See p 1876.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:5 proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues. It was Saul's pattern to begin his mission work in a city's synagogue, preaching the Gospel first to the Jews and then to the Gentiles (cf Rm 1:16; 11:13). See "synagogue," p 1557; see also "Dispersion," p 1556. John. John Mark, author of the second Gospel. See pp 1652–54. He will return home midway through the journey (v 13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:6 magician. Used demonic spells and incantations prohibited by the OT (cf Ex 22:18; Lv 19:26; 20:27; Dt 18:9–14). See notes, Ac 19:13, 18, 19; Dt 18:9, 10–11. Bar-Jesus. Aram, "son of Jesus." "Jesus" was a common name, equivalent to "Joshua." In contrast to the true prophets (v 1), this false prophet, also known as Elymas (v 8), misused and misapplied God's Word.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:7 proconsul, Sergius Paulus. Chief official on Cyprus; his name has been found on an inscription in Rome. In Luke's books, Roman officials are generally portrayed positively and as testifying to the integrity of Christianity. See note, 19:38; see also p 1892.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:8 the faith. God's Word or teaching, which brings a person to faith.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:9 Saul … Paul. Saul, his Jewish name, is still used, though it is more than a decade after his conversion (see chronology, pp cvii–cix). "Paul" is used in Gk contexts and regularly through the rest of Ac. filled with the Holy Spirit. Note the prominence of the Spirit's work (cf vv 2, 4). See p 1876.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:10–11 Elymas temporarily experienced physical blindness to make him see the spiritual blindness that possessed him.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:10 Contrast God's work to straighten our crooked ways (Lk 3:5).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:12 proconsul believed. The Gospel imparts faith (Rm 10:17) but may be accompanied by signs and wonders as well (cf Ac 14:3; 2Co 12:12). astonished at the teaching. The Word of God they taught was living and active (Heb 4:12). See note, Lk 4:32.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:4–12 At the first mission stop, there is both opposition to and belief in the Gospel. Jesus says, "Whoever is not with Me is against Me" (Lk 11:23). God's powerful Word will create and strengthen faith in us and in those who hear His Word from us (Rm 10:17). • Dear God, I confess that in my sinful nature I am opposed to Your will and Your ways. Thank You for Your powerful Word, which has brought me to faith in Jesus. May I use it to battle the evil within me and around me. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:13 John Mark returns to Jerusalem; later this event becomes a point of contention between Paul and Barnabas (15:37–40).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:14 synagogue. See note, v 5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:15 reading from the Law and the Prophets. See notes, Lk 4:16–17. rulers of the synagogue. See note, Lk 8:41. Brothers. Fellow Jews who also looked for the promised Messiah (cf vv 43–45; Rm 11:17–24). See p 1901. word of encouragement. Qualified visitors to the synagogue were normally invited to give the message, like guest preachers.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:16 Men of Israel. Paul addresses the Jews of the Dispersion as a united people. He appeals to their heritage, reaching back to the unity of the tribes under David and Solomon. See "Dispersion," p 1556. you who fear God. See "God-fearers," p 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:17 chose. See notes, Dt 7:6–8; see also "chosen," p 1901. uplifted arm. Way of describing God reaching out to save, as in the exodus. See "arm," p 842.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:18 For 40 years, Israel tested God's patience. See p 212–14.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:19 inheritance. The land was a gift to Israel from God, who had promised it to the patriarchs. See "portion," p 7.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:20 450 years. Ex 12:40 says Israel was in Egypt for 430 years; Paul's approximate number ("about") may include the years in the wilderness and perhaps the time during which Joshua conquered the Promised Land. See chronology, pp xcv–xcvi. judges until Samuel the prophet. After Joshua, various judges ruled until the last judge, Samuel, anointed kings. See pp 431–34.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:21 Cf 1Sm 8–9.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:22 removed him. King Saul rejected the Lord's Word (see note, 1Sm 15:26) and engaged in acts of disobedience. As a result, the Lord rejected Saul. man after My heart, who will do all My will. David was not perfect, but he set his heart on doing God's will, and he repented when he failed (cf 1Sm 16:7; 2Sm 12:13).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:23 Savior, Jesus. Cf 5:31; Lk 1:47; see p 2098.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:24 baptism of repentance. See notes, Mt 3:6; Lk 3:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:26 See notes, vv 15–16.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:27 those who live in Jerusalem and their rulers. The crowds who insisted on Jesus' crucifixion were residents of the city, stirred up and controlled by local religious leaders, including Caiaphas, the high priest. Cf Lk 23:21–23. read every Sabbath. God's people have gathered together around His Word for centuries; one purpose of the Sabbath was to remember God's saving acts as written in Scripture (Dt 5:15). See "synagogue," p 1557.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:28 Pilate declared Jesus innocent three times (Lk 23:4, 14, 22).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:29 tree. Wooden cross. Cf Dt 21:23; see note, Gal 3:13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:30 Key verification of the Christian faith (cf 1Co 15:3–20); the NT confesses both that Jesus rose from the dead and that the Father raised Him. See note, Rm 8:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:31 His witnesses. Jesus commissioned this role, and it is key throughout Ac, particularly to attest to the resurrection (1:22; 2:32). people. The Jews.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:32 Paul has rehearsed the basic Gospel, or "good news," which is firmly rooted in the OT promises. See "Gospel," p 1902.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:33 Ps 2:7 speaks of Israel's king at his coronation. Jesus fulfills the words in a literal and far greater sense (cf Heb 1:5). See note, Ps 2:7. Chem: "In the resurrection there was manifested and set forth that which previously lay hidden under weakness (namely that this person of the Son was begotten of the Father from eternity)" (LTh 1:104).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:34 you. Plural in Gk. Is 55:3 addresses Israel; here it applies initially to Christ, who then extends the blessings promised to David for the sake of all believers in Israel. See notes, 2Sm 7:11–13.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:35 In Ps 16:10, David is not speaking of himself but instead is prophesying of Jesus' resurrection, as Peter made clear on Pentecost (Ac 2:29–31).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:36 served the purpose of God. As king, David received God's promise and shepherded God's people in a generally faithful manner. God calls each believer to serve Him and His people—to live lives of faith and purpose. laid with his fathers and saw corruption. Since David died, he could not have been speaking about himself in Ps 16:10. See note, 1Ki 2:10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:37 Culmination of Paul's message: miraculous resurrection. See note, 1:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:38 brothers. See note, v 15. through this man forgiveness of sins. Fulfillment of Lk 24:47. The objective message of salvation is the proclamation of forgiveness in Jesus.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:39 A concise summary of Paul's message about the Law that is expanded in Rm and Gal, where he also uses legal "justification" terminology to describe salvation. freed. See ESV note; see also "justify," p 1903. The Gospel is personally applied to people who receive God's general declaration of justification by faith (cf Rm 1:16–17). from everything. Chem: "[The Gk refers] to the troubles from which we are delivered" (LTh 2:717).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:41 Hab 1:5 was initially spoken to rebellious Judah c 600 BC, just prior to the invasion of the Babylonians. See notes, Hab 1:5–

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:42 begged. How eagerly the Gospel was sought!
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:43 converts. See "proselytes," p 1557. continue in the grace of God. Lit, "abide" or "remain" in the grace of God that had come to them (cf Jn 15:4–6). See note, Jn 6:56.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:44 whole city. Hyperbole stressing the great turnout of people, both Jews and Gentiles.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:45 Many first-century Jews, when confronted with Jesus as the promised Messiah, responded with violent opposition. Jesus experienced the same hostility, also at times out of envy (Mt 27:18). See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:46 The Gospel is brought first to the lost sheep of Israel, the Jews (Mt 15:24; Rm 1:16). No one is worthy of eternal life, but in Christ God declares us to be so. To reject this Gospel is to condemn oneself (Jn 3:18). Luth: "Where the Law is not truly preached, unrecognized sins cannot be reproved. … If one preaches man's own merits, when will he preach repentance and grace? What is not evil does not need the Gospel and therefore neither the revealing of sin nor the revealing of the cure. … Thereafter they will be deprived not only of prophets and priests of their own nation but also of apostles and their successors" (AE 16:60).
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:47 Outreach to Gentiles is not unique to the NT. Is 49:6 and many other OT passages envisioned it (cf Rm 15:9–12). Cf Ac 15.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:48 appointed to eternal life believed. God "enrolls" or "sets in order" that both Jews and Gentiles receive eternal life through believing in Christ. See "chosen," p 1901.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:49 A recurring theme in Ac. See note, 2:41.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:50 Jewish opponents were able to convince religious and influential citizens to oppose Paul. district. Area not under the authority of the city's leaders.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:51 shook off the dust. See note, Lk 9:5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:52 joy. Prominent theme in Lk and Ac. Holy Spirit. The work of the Spirit nicely frames the chapter (cf v 2). See p 1876.
ACTS—NOTE ON 13:13–52 Paul's visit to Pisidian Antioch is typical of his missionary technique and preaching. Today, the unbelieving world often responds in opposition to the message of salvation. Yet, the Gospel of Christ's death and resurrection, which fulfilled the OT promises of salvation, "is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes" (Rm 1:16). • Thank You, heavenly Father, for Your Scriptures. Help me to read them as Paul did, to see Your gracious activity there, and to realize that all of Your promises and actions are fulfilled in Jesus Christ to give me eternal life. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:1 Jewish synagogue. See note, 13:5. Usually "synagogue" would not require the modifier "Jewish." Perhaps whole synagogues were converting to Christianity, making this distinction necessary. spoke in such a way. Preaching God's Word, though it involves persuasion and clarity, is finally the work of the Holy Spirit, who produced a believing response by Jews and Gentiles. Cf 1Co 1:18–31; 2:14–16. Greeks. Proselytes. See p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:2 poisoned. Lit, "made them evil" in opposition. brothers. The believers at the synagogue. See p 1901.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:3 Other events testified to the authenticity and power of the Word. signs and wonders. As in Jesus' ministry, miraculous events accompanied the spoken Word. See note, 13:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:4 apostles. At times, the term is used in a broad sense (1Th 2:6 refers to Paul and probably his colleagues), but usually it refers to the office of apostle (Ac 1:21–26; 1Co 9:1; Gal 1:19); see p 1901. Here and in v 14, Barnabas seems to be numbered among this select group.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:5 stone them. The prescribed penalty among Jews for blasphemy (Lv 24:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:6–7 Rather than simply running away to save their own lives, Paul and Barnabas were also running toward new mission opportunities after planting a Christian community in Iconium. See note, 9:25.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:1–7 Paul's visit to Iconium follows the pattern set in Pisidian Antioch. The message of grace again encounters violent opposition. The word of grace from God is sufficient for us (2Co 12:9), but the Lord may accompany His message with miraculous signs that testify to its power. • Heavenly Father, thank You for Your powerful Word. May it bear abundant fruit as You have promised, even in the midst of opposition. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:8–10 The healing of this man "crippled from birth" parallels a miracle of Jesus (Lk 5:17–26) and a miracle of Peter and John (Ac 3:1–10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:9 seeing that he had faith. Either the man's intense listening to the message was a sign, or the Spirit gave Paul insight into his heart. made well. Lit, "be saved"; able to walk. See "save," p 1904.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:11 Lycaonian. Language spoken in the district of Lycaonia, east of Pisidia. The population may have originally emigrated from Crete. gods. According to their logic, the healing showed Paul and Barnabas to be divine beings.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:12 Zeus. Chief god in the Gk pantheon; patron of Lystra. A temple nearby was dedicated to him. Hermes. A god who served as spokesman for the other gods. The more important god (Zeus) was thought to work through a spokesman (Hermes).
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:13 priest of Zeus. Served at the temple of Zeus, just outside the city. oxen and garlands. Typical offerings to these Gk gods.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:14 tore their garments. A sign of revulsion and horror (cf Mt 26:65). See p 1277.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:15 men, of like nature. Merely fellow human beings, not gods. good news. Paul wants to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus but does not get that far. turn. See p 1080. vain things. Pagan rites. living God. The true God is not a statue or sculpture made by humans; instead, He is the Maker of heaven and earth. See note, Lk 20:37–38; see also p 1227.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:16–17 The blessings of creation (providence) provide a powerful witness to a Creator God who graciously gives good things (cf Ps 19:1–6; 145:15–16; Mt 5:45; Rm 1:19–20). See notes, 17:25–26.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:18 The words of Paul and Barnabas barely kept the crowds from sacrificing to them as gods, and they were unable to proceed to speak of Jesus.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:8–18 Lystra has no synagogue, so when God miraculously heals someone, Paul testifies to the people that God graciously blesses all creation. People by nature tend to worship gods of their own making and in their own ways (Rm 1:22–25). Yet, God's bounty in creation, and especially His Word, come to turn us away from idolatry and toward Him. • Praise to You, O Lord, the King of creation. "The eyes of all look to You, and You give them their food in due season. You open Your hand; You satisfy the desire of every living thing" (Ps 145:15–16). Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:19 Jews … stoned Paul. Cf v 5; see note, 2Co 11:25.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:20 disciples. See note, Mt 5:1. he rose up. Paul was certainly severely wounded, apparently to the point of death (v 19). Yet, miraculously, he gets up and walks back into the city where he had just been stoned.
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:22 strengthening the souls. Encouragement affects their whole being. through many tribulations we must enter the kingdom of God. Evident here from Paul's suffering (cf 2Co 11:23–29). Pressure, hardship, and opposition are to be expected by God's people on their earthly journey toward their full experience of His heavenly kingdom. See note, Rm 2:9. Bern: "None the less ought we to sympathize with our friends whom we see placed in care and grief" (SLSB, p 47). "They will bring every possible misfortune and grief upon us. For where God's Word is preached, accepted, or believed and produces fruit, there the holy cross cannot be missing" (LC III 65). Luth: "Curses will not be lacking. But go forth to face them more boldly, be strong, and cling steadfastly to the blessing, no matter how much everything seems to be full of a curse. For this is what we should conclude: It is sure that I have been baptized. I have heard the Word from the mouth of the minister. I have made use of the Sacrament of the Altar. This is the divine and unchangeable truth. Even though I am weak, it is sure and unalterable. … You are children of the kingdom, your sins are forgiven, the devil has been overcome and laid low under your feet, sin and death will do you no harm; but you are blameless. Therefore bear the hostile curses with equanimity" (AE 5:145–46).
ACTS—NOTE ON 14:23 appointed. Formed from Gk for "hand," indicating either the stretching out or laying on of hands, or perhaps election by a show of hands. See notes, Ex 29:9, 10. "Formerly, the people elected pastors and bishops [Acts 14:23]. Then came a bishop, either of that church or a neighboring one, who confirmed the one elected by the laying on of hands [1 Timothy 4:14]. Ordination was nothing else than such a ratification" (Tr 70). elders. Pastors. Cf 20:17, 28; Ti 1:5–9; see p 1556. prayer and fasting. Lit, "praying with fasting," as practiced in Antioch (see notes, Ac 13:2, 3). See also note, Est 4:3. committed them to the Lord. Placed them before God in prayer and entrusted the new believers to His care.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:19–23 The conclusion of Paul's work in Lystra illustrates both suffering for the Gospel and the power of the Gospel. God's people should expect opposition from a sinful world. Yet, the Gospel is crowned with success! It grants us entrance into God's kingdom, while strengthening and encouraging us along the way. • Lord, strengthen my soul so that in faith I may say, "Why should cross and trial grieve me? Christ is near With His cheer; Never will He leave me." Amen. (LSB 756:1)

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:24–26 Paul and Barnabas journey south to the coast and take a ship back to Syria. See map, p 1886.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:26 Paul and Barnabas return to the congregation that had sent them out to face many trials, but had also given them over to God's grace, which enabled them to fulfill such great work. commended. The congregation literally "handed them over" to God. grace. See p 1902.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:27 declared all. They announced what God accomplished through them. opened a door of faith. People can only believe when God opens the door of faith to them; Paul's first journey showed God was opening this door to Gentiles as well as Jews. See notes, Jn 6:37; Eph 2:8–9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:28 disciples. See note, Mt 5:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:24–28 Paul and Barnabas end their journey by reporting to those who sent them everything God has done. Neither our faith nor our missionary achievements are ultimately our doing. It is God who opens the door of faith—for us and for those to whom we witness. • Heavenly Father, may Your Spirit move Your Church to spread Your Word. Bring many more people into Your kingdom, and strengthen all believers to endure the trials they face on their way to heaven. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1 A critical debate arises between Jewish Christians from Judea and the Jewish and Gentile believers in Antioch. See p 1867. circumcised according to the custom of Moses. As recorded in the Books of Moses. Cf Gn 17; Ex 12:43–48. Those from Judea insist that uncircumcised Gentile believers must be circumcised. Suppression of circumcision was a major cause of the Maccabean revolt (167 BC; cf 1Macc 1:11–15, 60–64). you cannot be saved. Paul's Letter to the Galatians addresses this same issue prior to the decision reached in Jerusalem. See "save," p 1904; see also pp 2000–2001. "The false apostles pushed circumcision (Acts 15:1) in order to establish their false doctrine that the works of the Law were necessary for righteousness and salvation [2 Corinthians 11:13]. They misused circumcision to confirm their error in people's minds" (FC SD X 12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:2 appointed. The Church in Antioch "sets it in order" for an official delegation to travel to Jerusalem to resolve this dispute (see note, v 1). go up. Jerusalem is c ½ mi above sea level, a higher elevation than Antioch. See map, p 971. the apostles and the elders. Here, the 12 apostles and other church leaders. See pp 1901, 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:3 Phoenicia and Samaria. Stops for encouragement were made on the way south. See map, p 1857. conversion of the Gentiles. Through the mission work of Paul and Barnabas (chs 13–14). joy to all the brothers. Believers in these non-Jewish places approved of the results.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:4 The delegation is positively received by the believers in Jerusalem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:5 party of the Pharisees. Christian Pharisees, something still possible at this point. See p 1557. circumcise … keep the law of Moses. The necessity of circumcision for salvation is restated (cf v 1); it is significant that the Pharisees added the requirement to obey all the Law, as Paul describes in Gal 5:3. See note, Gal 3:10; see also "Law," p 971.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:6 The Church leaders in Jerusalem gather to resolve the issues raised in vv 1, 5. This meeting is called the Jerusalem (or Apostolic) Council and is regarded as the first ecumenical council of the Church. See note, 6:2–6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:7 early days. Peter describes events that occurred about a decade earlier. by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word. God sent Peter to the house of Cornelius (ch 10). believe. See note, Rm 10:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:8 knows the heart. God sees one's true inner being (1Sm 16:7; cf Lk 5:22). See note, Jn 2:24–25. bore witness … by giving them the Holy Spirit. As on Pentecost (Ac 2:1–4), visible and audible signs of the Spirit's presence were given to Cornelius and his family—in that instance prior to Baptism (10:44–48). See p 1876.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:9 no distinction. The particular distinction to be overcome in this context is between Jew and Gentile; God receives all people through repentance and faith (10:34–35). cleansed their hearts by faith. Faith receives the purifying work of Christ for us. "Through faith, as St. Peter says, we have a new and clean heart [Acts 15:9–11], and God will and does account us entirely righteous and holy for the sake of Christ, our Mediator [1 Timothy 2:5]" (SA III XIV 1). Mel: "If faith only refers to knowledge, such as even the devils have, this statement would be utterly inane. But it is evident in this very passage that that argument pertains to justification, and it is established beyond debate that hearts are not purified by the righteousness of the Law" (Chem, LTh 2:487).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:10 putting God to the test. God had made His acceptance of Gentiles evident; laying additional requirements on them for full acceptance into the fellowship of believers would be an affront to Him. Cf Dt 6:16. yoke. The obligation of circumcision and obedience to the Law, which even Jews were unable to keep (v 5; cf 13:39). See note, Mt 11:29. "If the Gospel says that Moses' ceremonies—which were divinely instituted—do not justify, how much less do human traditions justify! Neither do the bishops have the power to institute services, as though they justified, or were necessary for justification. … Peter declares this effort to burden the Church a great sin" (Ap XV 30–31). disciples. Gentile believers; see note, Mt 5:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:11 The heart of biblical faith. Salvation for both Jew and Gentile is a free gift of grace in Christ. saved. See p 1904. grace. See p 1902. Luth: "It is necessary beyond measure to know this doctrine about faith in the Christ to be revealed [the expected Messiah] and in the Christ already revealed. … For now that Christ has been revealed, we cannot be saved by faith in the coming Christ; but we are obliged to believe that He has already come, has fulfilled everything, and has abrogated the Law" (AE 26:210).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:12 signs and wonders. See note, 14:3.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:13 James. Half brother of Jesus; cf Mk 6:3. See pp 2130–33. James the brother of John had already been killed by Herod Agrippa I (12:2).
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:14 Simeon. Alternate (Semitic) spelling of Simon, i.e., Peter. a people for His name. The name of God (Yahweh) and of Jesus convey His presence and blessing (e.g., Nu 6:22–27; Mt 28:19); here it is extended to Gentiles (cf 2:21; 4:12). See "for Your name's sake," p 842.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:16–18 See notes, Am 9:11, 14. After punishment and exile, God would restore David's royal house (cf Lk 1:32–33). The citation from Am also declared that Gentiles would be called by the Lord's name along with the faithful remnant of Israel.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:19–21 Based on the testimony of Peter (vv 7–11) and the Scriptures (vv 16–18), James draws the matter to its conclusion. The place of Gentiles in the fellowship of believers should not depend on circumcision and obedience to the Law. Indeed, Christ fulfilled the commands of the OT (Mt 5:17; Rm 10:4); e.g., He declared all foods clean (Mk 7:19).
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:19 turn to God. God's word of grace calls and empowers people to turn to Him, as it had through the sending of Paul and Barnabas. See p 1080.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:20 The considered request of the apostles and elders. polluted by idols. Sacrificed to them (cf 1Co 8–10). sexual immorality. Conduct commonly practiced by Gentiles, but clearly sinful and particularly offensive to Jews. See note, 1Co 6:13; see also p 1911. strangled. So the blood remained with the meat. blood. Eating it violated Jewish custom (Gn 9:4; Lv 17:10–12). See p 1907. "Not even the apostles themselves wanted to burden consciences with bondage to traditions. They forbid the eating of the blood for a time to avoid giving offense. For in this decree we must always keep in mind what the aim of the Gospel is" (AC XXVIII 65–66).
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:21 Obedience to the ceremonial law was never intended to be a requirement for salvation; neither is it a prerequisite for acceptance in the Church. James acknowledges that Jewish Christians are free to continue these ancient practices but asks Gentile believers to abide by a few rules so as not to hinder the faith of Jewish believers. This would also enhance outreach to the synagogues. See note, Mk 7:3–4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1–21 The Jerusalem Council resolved the critical issue of who God's chosen people are and affirmed that Jews and Gentiles are saved by grace alone (v 11). Obedience to the Law is a burden or yoke no one can bear, neither Jew nor Gentile (v 10; cf 13:39). However, our salvation through faith alone also empowers us to live with care and respect for others. • Heavenly Father, I praise You for saving us through the grace of our Lord Jesus. Empower and guide Your people to live in that grace, and to live out that grace, for the sake of others within and outside of the Church. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:22 Judas called Barsabbas, and Silas. Delegates from Jerusalem will solidify and clarify the written decision; Silas accompanied Paul on his second and third missionary journeys. See map, p 1886. leading men among the brothers. Well respected by the Jerusalem believers. See "brothers," p 1901.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:23 letter. The decision is also delivered in writing (v 20); this letter, or "epistle," follows the standard first-century format and resembles a Jewish festal letter. See pp 1899–1901. The brothers, both the apostles and the elders. "Brothers" here simply means fellow believers, among whom are apostles and elders. See pp 1901, 1556. brothers who are of the Gentiles. The matter specifically concerns the inclusion of Gentiles in the Church, in response to vv 1, 5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:24 some persons. Jewish Christians (v 1), particularly those who still held to Pharisaic teachings (v 5). we gave them no instructions. Neither the teachers nor the teaching had the approval of the Church leaders in Jerusalem.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:25 having come to one accord. The matter has been resolved as a whole. See p 1867. beloved Barnabas and Paul. They have had the approval of the Jerusalem leadership for some time (cf 4:36–37; 9:27–29; 11:22–26; Gal 2:7–9).
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:26 As on the first missionary journey.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:27 word of mouth. Official witnesses. See note, v 22.
ACTS—NOTE ON 15:28 good to the Holy Spirit and to us. It is not clear how the Spirit made His intention known (cf 13:2). However, God works through the appointed leaders of His Church, esp through the Word, which the leaders consulted (vv 16–17). requirements. Lit, "necessary things," not for salvation (vv 10–11) but as accommodations to enable fellowship among Jewish and Gentile believers. Chem: "[God] does not lay upon religious people the ceremonial or civil laws, but only the Decalog. … We do not condemn godly and useful ordinances if they work to edify the church. But we must beware that they do not become snares for consciences or hinder our Christian liberty" (LTh 2:343, 580).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:29 See notes, vv 20–21.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:30 congregation. Lit, "multitude"; probably believers from various house churches throughout Antioch. See note, 1Co 14:23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:31 encouragement. The letter and delegation affirmed the place of Gentile believers among God's people.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:32 prophets, encouraged and strengthened. NT prophets took God's Word and will (i.e., the decision of the Jerusalem Council) and applied it to people in their situation. See notes, v 31; 13:1; see also pp 1077–83.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:33 Since the matter had arisen in Antioch (v 1), the letter and delegation responded specifically to that setting. But Paul and others also shared these affirmations with Gentiles elsewhere (cf 16:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:35 As they had done earlier (11:25–26), Paul, Barnabas, and many others continued in Antioch for a time, teaching and evangelizing with the Word of the Lord.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:22–35 The decision reached in Jerusalem is delivered by delegation and by letter to the believers in Syrian Antioch, affirming the teaching of the council. Today, seek peace based on God's Word and mutual care of fellow believers. The Lord, who cares deeply for you, will bless and provide for you in Christ, our peace. • Heavenly Father, may Your Spirit work through the Scriptures and human messengers to affirm the good news of our salvation and to teach us Your will. Help all of Your people to listen and to respond in faith and love. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:36 They wish to return to the cities of their first journey (chs 13–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:37 John called Mark. See note, 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:39 A "sharp disagreement" works out for good: two missionary teams are now active, dividing up the task of revisiting the believers in Cyprus and Galatia (16:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:40 Though Silas had returned to Jerusalem (v 33), after a while (cf v 36) he returned to Antioch and joined Paul. commended.

As before, they are sent out on their second journey by the Christians in Antioch. See notes, 13:3; 14:26. grace. See p 1902.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:41 Syria and Cilicia. Paul traveled north and then west to the land of his birth. See map, p 1886.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:36–41 After disagreement over John Mark, two missionary teams are sent out from Antioch. Believers are also sinners (even Paul and Barnabas) and will at times have sharp disagreements. Yet, God promises to work all things for good, even our faults and failings (cf Rm 8:28; Gn 50:20), as He forgives our sins in Christ. • Heavenly Father, when dissension arises among Your people, forgive our sins and continue to work among us, even through our conflicts. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:1 disciple. See note, Mt 5:1. Timothy. See pp 2066–67. father was a Greek. In the Dispersion, such marriages were common; language implies his Gk father was not a Christian.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:3 Paul's first journey began with three people (13:5); the second journey also begins with a team of three. circumcised him. When circumcision was alleged to be a requirement for salvation, Paul refused to circumcise Titus (Gal 2:1–5). With the issue resolved in Ac 15, Paul treats circumcision as an acceptable practice to enable better outreach among Jews. If circumcision is a legalistic requirement, it must be resisted. But as a matter of Christian freedom (adiaphora), it may be practiced in ways beneficial to the faith (cf Gal 5:6; 6:15). See notes, 1Co 9:19, 20. Luth: "When [Paul] encountered the stubborn Jews who insisted upon circumcision and the law, he took delight in teaching and doing the very opposite; he would not be coerced [Gal. 2:3–5]. But when he came to the weak and simple people he even practiced circumcision [Acts 16:3] and let the law stand, until such time as he might strengthen them and deliver them from the law" (AE 36:253).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:4 delivered … the decisions. Cf ch 15; see notes, 15:10–11, 19–21.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:5 strengthened. The apostles reassured the Gentile believers in the cities of Paul's first journey. This verse concludes the section on the uniting of Jew and Gentile (13:1–16:5); see pp 1828–30. increased. See note, 2:41.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:1–5 Paul begins his second journey with Silas and Timothy. Through them, God continues to reach out with His message, using people as His messengers. Encouragement is still a great blessing to our faith. Share your hope and joy! Jesus is our strength amid all troubles and challenges. • Lord Jesus, may wisdom and love characterize all that we do. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:6–10 Holy Spirit … Spirit of Jesus … God. Note the unity of mission expressed by the persons of the Holy Trinity.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:6 Whether by direct revelation or by circumstances (e.g., hostility, illness), Paul was prohibited from traveling west toward Ephesus at this time, as well as north (v 7). Many times Paul's own travel plans did not go as he intended (cf chs 21–23; Rm 1:13; 15:22–32).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:7 Spirit of Jesus. The Holy Spirit is sent by Jesus (2:33; Jn 14:26; 15:26; 16:14); the Spirit "proceeds from the Father and the Son" (Nicene Creed). See p 1815.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:8 Troas. On the coast of the Aegean Sea. See map, p 1886.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:9 vision. Perhaps in a dream during the night. See pp 1077–83. Macedonia. West across the Aegean Sea; modern northern Greece. This may be the first time the Gospel moves from Asia onto the continent of Europe. See map, p 1886.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:10 we. First of the so-called "we" sections of Ac (see "Relationship to the Gospel according to Luke," p 1829).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:6–10 God guided Paul and his companions in unexpected directions. Our plans in general, and in particular our plans for the spread of the Gospel, do not always proceed as we hope. Yet, God directs us as His messengers to the people and places He would have us go. His grace is not bounded by our weakness but serves His good purposes in Christ. • Heavenly Father, continue to send workers into Your harvest field. Enable missionaries, evangelists, and pastors to always see their ministry as a calling from You. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:12 Roman colony. See pp 2029–30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:13 Sabbath. Regular day of worship for those who followed the God of Israel. See pp 200–201. riverside … a place of prayer. Apparently there were few Jews, particularly Jewish men, and therefore no synagogue in Philippi. See "synagogue," p 1557. women. Lk and Ac highlight the role of women, the only worshipers of God present on this occasion. See note, Lk 8:2–3; see also p 1726.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:14 Thyatira. City in Asia Minor; a center for the manufacture of purple dye. seller of purple goods. The expensive dye made a profitable trade. See p 141. worshiper of God. Cf 13:16; see "God-fearers," p 1556. The Lord opened her heart. Paul spoke the message, and the Lord worked through it to create a faithful response. See note, 14:27. "With this Word the Holy Spirit is present and opens hearts, so that people (like Lydia in Acts 16:14) pay attention to it and are converted only through the Holy Spirit's grace and power, who alone does the work of converting a person" (FC Ep II 5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:15 she was baptized, and her household. As is common in Ac, Baptism is granted immediately and is bestowed on the entire household along with its head (cf 10:44–48). household. Term includes children and servants. See p 1369. faithful to the Lord. See "faith," p 1902. stay. Lydia offered the hospitality of her home, which likely became a gathering place for the Philippian believers. See notes, Gn 18:4; 1Co 14:23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:11–15 Paul begins his work in Philippi through Lydia. At times, Christians may feel isolated from worship and fellowship. Yet, God opens the hearts of people to believe, provides others who are faithful to the Lord, and binds them together in homes and families. • Heavenly Father, we thank You for opening the door of faith to many faithful women throughout the ages—Sarah, Deborah, Ruth, Esther, Elizabeth, Mary, and Lydia. Guide and bless women today to be equally receptive to Your Word. In the name of our Lord Jesus, the Son of Mary. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:16 spirit of divination … fortune-telling. Demonic powers are able to predict the future, so it is no certain sign that God is at work in a person (cf Dt 13:1–5). Here the girl is being used to generate profit. See note, 8:9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:17–18 As in Jesus' ministry, the demons recognize God's presence at work and are driven to respond (cf Lk 4:34, 41).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:19 marketplace before the rulers. The rulers were apparently overseeing the buying and selling that took place at the city's main place of commerce (Gk agora). See pp 1944–46.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:20 magistrates. Unusual term of respect, probably because of Philippi's status as a Roman colony (v 12). See p 1892. Jews.

The antagonism between Jews and Gentiles went both ways; here the contrast is with the Romans.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:21 customs that are not lawful. Slanderous statement, since the OT religion was officially sanctioned and legally practiced (religio licita) in the empire. Christianity was not yet distinguished from Judaism (cf 18:12–15; see note, 18:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:22 City officials order Paul and Silas to be stripped of their clothes and severely beaten, an illegal punishment (v 37).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:24 inner prison. Place of added security, and perhaps additional torture as well; archaeologists have located this city jail in Philippi's ruins. s tocks. Secure and painful.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:16–24 Paul heals a demon-possessed girl, and as a result, he and Silas are beaten and jailed. Believers who do God's will, even when striving to help others, can expect mistreatment and abuse from the people and institutions of this world. However, the same name and power that freed this slave girl from demonic captivity deliver us from suffering to eternal life. • Heavenly Father, the powers of evil still try to torment us. As we strive to do Your will, deliver us from evil, and assure us that through Christ's death and resurrection, the victory over evil is already won. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:25 praying and singing. Inspiring response to harsh mistreatment. prisoners were listening. Their worship was a powerful witness to others in the jail.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:27 If a Roman guard lost his prisoner, the penalty was death; the jailer is about to carry out what he assumes is inevitable.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:28 all here. Despite the open doors, no prisoner had left! The jailer did not need to fear punishment.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:30–33 Walth: "The Gospel does not require anything good that man must furnish: not a good heart, not a good disposition, no improvement of his condition, no godliness, no love either of God or men. It issues no orders, but it changes man. It plants love into his heart and makes him capable of all good works. It demands nothing, but it gives all. Should not this fact make us leap for joy? … Observe that the Gospel bestows the faith which it demands" (L & G, p 16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:30 Sirs, what must I do to be saved? The ultimate question. Those who ask it often place the emphasis on what they must do (e.g., Lk 10:25; 18:18); here the jailer stresses his need for rescue and salvation. saved? See p 1904.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:31 Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved. A concise summary of the Christian faith (see note, v 14; cf 15:11; Rm 10:9). your household. The message would permeate his household. Others are saved not by the jailer's faith but by their own hearing and believing (v 32).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:32 word of the Lord. Whether using OT texts or words of the Lord Jesus (or both), Paul and Silas speak the message of salvation to the entire household. Salvation came to them through the Word and the Sacrament of Baptism (v 33).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:33 washed their wounds. From the earlier beating (v 22). baptized at once, he and all his family. Reminiscent of Peter's visit to Cornelius's household (10:34–48). Baptism is immediate and for the entire family (see note, v 15; cf 8:36–38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:34 house. Before, described members of the jailer's household (v 32); now Paul and Silas enter the actual home. rejoiced. The jailer's faith in the Lord Jesus had turned his suicidal fear into joy! See "joy," p 1903.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:35 police. Officers sent by the city's leaders (cf v 20). After the previous day's punishment, Paul and Silas are going to be released.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:37 Roman citizens. Magistrates could punish noncitizens without proper legal proceedings, but Paul and Silas were Roman citizens; hence the dismay of the city officials (vv 38–39).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:39 The city officials could now be in trouble. They politely ask Paul and Silas to leave.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:40 they went out of the prison. Either Paul and Silas had returned to the prison earlier in the morning, or they were at the jailer's home nearby. encouraged. Before leaving, they visited Lydia and the other believers, who were certainly uplifted by these events. See note, v 15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:25–40 Paul and Silas are freed from prison. The Lord brings a Philippian jailer and his family to faith. Like Paul and Silas, God's people today can respond to mistreatment with a powerful testimony of prayer and praise to God. Like the despairing jailer (v 27), all people are sinners who face death (Rm 3:9; 6:23). But all are saved by trusting in the Lord Jesus. • Father, assure me of the simplicity of this good news:

"Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved" (v 31). Then move me to respond with a life of worship and praise to You, whatever my earthly situation may be. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:1 synagogue. Unlike Philippi, Thessalonica had a Jewish community and synagogue. See p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:2 as was his custom. See note, 13:5. reasoned … from the Scriptures. Paul began where people were. If they had the OT Scriptures and accepted them, Paul utilized them; contrast his approach in vv 22–31.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:3 Following a pattern set by Jesus, Paul uses the OT to demonstrate God's work of salvation, which depends on Jesus as the promised Messiah (Lk 24:26–27, 44–45; cf Is 52:13–53:12). See p 1245.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:4 Paul regularly has some success at the synagogues among Jews and God-fearing Gentiles there (see note, 13:5; cf 14:1). leading women. Culturally, women more easily converted from one religion to another, as commonly happened through marriage. Inheritance and other issues placed more restrictions on men; e.g., circumcision hindered male converts to Judaism. See "God-fearers," p 1556. Regarding Luke's focus on women, see p 1726.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:5 Jason. Perhaps hosted Paul and Silas in his home during their time in Thessalonica, as Lydia had in Philippi (16:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:6 turned the world upside down. Lit, "shaking or stirring up the inhabited (i.e., Roman) world" in a negative, seditious manner. In a more profound sense, Christianity does invert the ways of this world (e.g., Lk 1:51–53; 6:20–26; 9:46–48; 18:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:7–8 another king, Jesus. An issue in Jesus' trial (Lk 23:2–3; Jn 18:37; cf Lk 1:32–33); the lordship of Christ may have been part of Paul's message. Asserting a rival king to Caesar was a serious charge and greatly disturbed the city. See pp 1565–66.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:9 money as security. Jason (see note, v 5) was required to place his money and property on the line to guarantee that there would be no further disruptive events.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:1–9 At Thessalonica, Paul and Silas continue the pattern of preaching at the synagogue, gaining converts, and experiencing harsh opposition. The offense and foolishness of the cross (1Co 1:23) may well provoke a harsh response from the world. Yet Jesus, the Messiah, suffered, died, and rose, and "turned the world upside down." Sinners are forgiven, the humble and poor are raised up, and the proud and rich are brought low. The first will be last, and the last, first. • Heavenly Father, may the Good News of Jesus Christ, the King of kings, continue to turn this world upside down. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:10 brothers. Christians in Thessalonica. See p 1901. Jewish synagogue. See notes, 13:5; 14:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:11 In contrast to the Thessalonian Jews, the dominant group in the Berean synagogue is open to listening to Paul's message. They use the OT Scriptures to discern its validity. Luth: "We must go back to the Old Testament and learn to prove the New Testament from the Old. There we shall see the promise concerning Christ, as Christ Himself declares in John 5:39: 'You search the Scriptures … and it is they that bear witness to Me.' Likewise (v. 46): 'If you believed Moses, you would believe Me; for he wrote of Me' " (AE 30:18–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:12 Greek women of high standing. Socially prominent women seem to have been commonly present in Jewish synagogues and among those who accepted Christianity (cf vv 4, 34; 16:14). See note, v 4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:14 Hostility of Thessalonian Jews must have been directed most vehemently against Paul, who is sent off, while Silas and Timothy continue the work in Berea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:15 conducted Paul. Others go along with Paul to ensure his safety. command. Paul instructs his escort to tell Silas and Timothy to join him soon (cf 1Th 2:17–3:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:10–15 Persecution follows the Gospel, even when the Bereans eagerly receive it. God's people should follow the noble example of the Bereans, who studied the Scriptures daily in order to receive further truths and to examine what they were being taught. Because the OT Scriptures also testify to Jesus Christ (Jn 5:39), searching them brings God's blessings of salvation (Is 55:10–11). • Heavenly Father, thank You for the truth of Your Word. May it be "a lamp to my feet and a light to my path" (Ps 119:105). Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:16 Athens had many idol statues and temples. The most prominent was Athena, patron goddess of the city, whose temple was the Parthenon. This wanton idolatry irritated and angered Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:17 synagogue. See note, 13:5. devout persons. See "God-fearers," p 1556. marketplace. Paul also reasoned and debated with those in the commercial hub of the city (Gk agora), which archaeologists have excavated.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:18 Epicurean and Stoic. The philosophical fame of Athens is evident. Epicureanism emphasized seeking a pleasurable life, though not merely in a sensual way. Stoicism stressed the rational order of nature and urged people to accept their fate within it. These two Gk philosophies were the most popular of the day. foreign divinities. At least some may have thought Paul was preaching a divine Jesus and a goddess, Anastasia (Gk for "resurrection"). preaching Jesus and the resurrection. This was the heart of Paul's message, emphasized in Ac (cf 1Co 15:3–4). See p 1829.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:19 Areopagus. Lit, "hill of Ares." Ares was a Gk god of war linked with Mars by the Romans; therefore, the location is also called Mars Hill. Early in the history of Athens, citizens met here to govern the city, so "Areopagus" also came to describe the city council. Paul seems to be in the place called the Areopagus, near the Acropolis, rather than at a formal meeting of citizens. He would be in view of the massive Parthenon, dedicated to Athena. new teaching. Since there was at least one synagogue in Athens (v 17), the Athenians likely knew of the OT. But the good news of Jesus' death and resurrection was new to them.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:20 Their openness is reminiscent of the Bereans (vv 11–12), as well as those at Pisidian Antioch (13:42).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:21 This parenthetical comment heightens the philosophical reputation and character of the city of Athens, from the time of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle on.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:16–21 At Athens, Paul engages the dominant religious and philosophical teachings of the day. The Gospel message is foolishness to people of this world. Yet, God desires to engage all people with His Word and, by the Spirit's power, to open their hearts and minds to the good news of Jesus and His resurrection. • Father, the Gospel of Jesus is the power by which we are saved (1Co 1:18–25). Guide Your people to engage the world with this message. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:22 Areopagus. See note, v 19. religious. Gk term could have a positive ("religious") or negative ("superstitious") meaning. Here Paul most likely speaks positively in order to get a fair hearing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:23 To the unknown god. The Greeks had many gods; this altar was built to ensure no significant deity was missed. Its existence is confirmed by other sources.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:24 does not live in temples. Pagans generally built temples for their gods to "live" in, as evidenced by the statues contained therein. The God of creation transcends earth and any structure on it.
ACTS—NOTE ON 17:25 God is not dependent upon His creation or anything human beings do. Instead, God is the giver of life to all, as well as the giver of all that we have.
ACTS—NOTE ON 17:26 one man every nation. All people are descended from Adam. determined allotted periods and the boundaries. God is involved in the lives of all peoples and nations on earth, even setting in order the times and places of their existence. Cf Gn 10–11; see note, Jb 38:4.
ACTS—NOTE ON 17:27 seek God. The goodness and power of God revealed in creation should lead people to seek Him (cf Rm 1:19–21). feel their way. Apart from God's direct revelation, it is like groping for God in the darkness. See notes, Rm 1:20–23. not far. Chem: "Paul says that God can almost be contacted through these evidences. … Nine proofs are listed [by Melanchthon]: (1) the very order of nature itself, (2) the nature of the human mind, (3) the difference between the honorable and the shameful, (4) the truthfulness of natural knowledge, (5) the terrors of conscience, (6) the structure of human society, (7) the orderly process of cause and effect, (8) the signs of future events, (9) the ultimate purpose of things. … These proofs of the natural knowledge of God can be quite favorably compared with the arguments of Paul by which in his preaching to the gentiles he marshals his argument concerning the natural knowledge of God" (LTh 1:52). Cf Ac 14:15.
ACTS—NOTE ON 17:28 In Him we live. Paul here refers to pagan poets who, through their natural knowledge of God (Rm 1:20–21), correctly assessed and asserted this truth about the Creator God. C 600 BC, Epimenides concluded that one god is the creator and sustainer of all life. "In order that God's creation and work in mankind may be distinguished from the devil's work, we say that it is God's creation that a person has body and soul. Also, it is God's work that a person can think, speak, do, and work anything" (FC SD I 42). Chem: "[God] watches over and sustains the order which He has established in nature" (LTh 1:167). See p 1291. For we are indeed His offspring. Both Aratus and Cleanthus made this statement c 300 BC. It agrees with Paul's assertion in v 26 (cf Ps 8; Jn 10:34–35).

offspring. Gk genos, similar in meaning to Eng "generation." Luth: "Natural life is a part of eternal life and its beginning, but it ends through death because it does not acknowledge nor honor him from whom it comes. Sin cuts it off, so that it must die eternally. On the other hand, those who believe in him, and acknowledge him from whom they have their being never die. Their natural life will be stretched out into life eternal, so that they never taste death" (AE 52:55).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:29 God's offspring. God created Adam; as Adam's offspring, we are similarly God's creation and offspring; see note, v 26. Note that elsewhere Paul and other apostles distinguish the children of God (believers) from the world (unbelievers). See notes, Jn 1:12; Rm 8:17. art and imagination of man. We cannot make God in our image or find Him in the gods of other religions. See p 141. Original sin drives all people to idolatry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:30 times of ignorance God overlooked. Cf Rm 2:12–16. With the coming of Christ, God's revealed Word is sent out into the world. Now it has come to Athens through Paul. Chem: "God by His determination has decided how long He wills to wait for repentance and where He is going to crush wickedness" (LTh 1:211). Cf Rm 2:4; 9:22; 1Pt 3:20. all people. "No one is an exception who is a human being. This repentance teaches us to discern sin: We are completely lost; there is nothing good in us from head to foot; and we must become absolutely new and different people" (SA III III 34–35). repent. The proper response to God's message is repentance (Lk 3:3; 10:13; 13:3, 5), but it must be His gift and work through His Word (cf Ac 2:38; 5:31; 10:44). See note, Mt 3:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:31 judge the world in righteousness by a man. Jesus will come again in glory to judge; He will do so in accordance with the righteousness required by God and freely granted through faith. See p 1903. appointed. See note, 2:36. raising Him from the dead. Paul identifies the resurrection as the event that publicly declared Jesus to be God's Son (cf Rm 1:4) and, therefore, the one entrusted to judge (cf Jn 5:22; Mt 28:18). See "The Resurrection," p 1829.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:32 mocked. Derisive reaction to the bodily resurrection, an unthinkable event for Platonic philosophers, who emphasized the spirit and ideas over the body and physical reality (cf 1Co 15:12, 35).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:34 Dionysius the Areopagite. First named convert in Athens; tradition says he became a church leader there. woman named Damaris. Another leading female convert (cf 16:14; 18:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:22–34 Paul reaches out to Athenians who do not know the Scriptures. He uses teachings from their philosophy and literature to point them to the God of creation, who sent His Son, Jesus. All people need to repent before Christ comes again to judge the living and the dead. The Creator desires that all people seek after Him. In love, He has come to us with the message of Jesus Christ, who has saved us by His resurrection. • Heavenly Father, move all people to seek You through repentance and to come to the true knowledge that You have already reached out to them in Christ. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:1 Paul journeyed west to the strategic, sea-trading city of Corinth, set on a narrow isthmus. This is the setting of his two Letters to Thessalonica. See pp 2050–51, 2059–60.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:2 Aquila … Priscilla. This couple become prominent co-workers with Paul. They were from northern Asia Minor, but came to Corinth from Rome. See "Cultural Diversity in Roman Corinth," p 1945. Jews to leave Rome. The Roman historian Suetonius relates how the emperor Claudius expelled Jews from the city in AD 49 because of their squabbling over a "Chrestus," probably a reference to Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:3 tentmakers. Gk skenopoios, "tent making" or "leather making." This could refer to material for tents or canvas for sails. Paul probably learned his trade as a youth; Pharisees regularly had an occupation, and Paul often worked to provide for himself.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:4 reasoned in the synagogue. See note, 13:5; cf 17:1–2. Evidence of a synagogue in Corinth has been found, including the doorpost, an inscription, and other artifacts.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:5 occupied with the word … the Christ was Jesus. Using OT Scriptures, as was Paul's custom at the synagogue (cf 13:16–41; 17:2–3), to demonstrate Jesus was the promised Messiah. See p 2098.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:6 Some Jews, though not all (vv 7–8), become hostile. shook out his garments. Sign of rejection (cf Lk 9:5; 10:11). Your blood be on your own heads! They are responsible for the judgment they will face before God's throne. See note, Ezk 3:18. go to the Gentiles. See note, Ac 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:7 Titius Justus, a worshiper of God. A Gentile who had been at the synagogue. See "God-fearers," p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:8 Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue. An important Jewish convert who then brought his household to the faith. See note, Lk 8:41. believed and were baptized. The witness of Crispus was understandably quite effective in Corinth. See note, 16:15.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:9 vision. Either a physical appearance or a dream in the night. Note Paul's continuing personal contact with Jesus (cf 9:4–6). See pp 1077–83.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:10 I am with you. Jesus is with us always (Mt 28:20); here He is present esp to bless Paul's work in Corinth. See "be with," p 5. I have many in this city. The fields are ripe for harvest in Corinth (cf Lk 10:2).
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:11 a year and six months. Opposition usually drove Paul from a city within a short time. His lengthy stay in Corinth reflects the promise in v 10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:12 proconsul. Roman governor of the province; see note, 19:38. An inscription found at Delphi, Greece, places Gallio in this position from AD 51 to 52. See p 1892. tribunal. See notes, 25:6; Mt 27:19.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:13 contrary to the law. See note, 16:21. The charge of the Jews was that Paul's teachings did not fall under Rome's policy of religious tolerance.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:15 your own law. Gallio properly concludes that the dispute is an internal matter not addressed by Roman law. Christianity is not disruptive of proper authority. Roman officials typically viewed Christians as a sect of Judaism until the Jewish Bar Kokhba revolt (AD 132–35) forced a clear distinction and different policies.
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:17 they. Either Greeks showing their anti-Semitism or Jews venting their frustration or perhaps both. Sosthenes. The new synagogue ruler (cf v 8).
ACTS—NOTE ON 18:1–17 Paul's stay in Corinth demonstrates two lessons: (1) The Gospel is the power of God for salvation, even in the face of rejection. (2) Opposition to the Gospel—not the Gospel itself—disrupts proper authority. Hostility to the message of Jesus is to be expected. Nevertheless, His Gospel remains the only power for eternal good. • Heavenly Father, thank You for governments that allow us to practice our faith and to share it with the rest of the world. May Jesus' presence continue to be among His people to bless their labors in His name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:18 set sail for Syria. As at the end of his first journey, Paul plans to report back to the believers in Syrian Antioch who sponsored his work. See map, p 1886. Priscilla and Aquila. Paul's co-workers travel along with him but are left to work in Ephesus (v 19); see note, v 2. cut his hair … a vow. Most likely refers to Paul, not Aquila. Perhaps he had taken a temporary Nazirite vow (Nu 6:1–21) in thanksgiving. See "vow," p 7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:19 synagogue and reasoned. See notes, vv 4–5; 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:20–21 Paul moves on quickly, but according to God's will, he does return for an extended stay in Ephesus (19:1–10). See pp 2014–15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:22 went up and greeted the church. Brief stop in Jerusalem, perhaps to confer with colleagues there (see note, 15:2). Paul then returns to Antioch in Syria and completes his second missionary journey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:23 strengthening all the disciples. Third visit to the Galatian believers begins Paul's third journey; this ongoing fellowship builds up their faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:18–23 These travels conclude Paul's second missionary journey and begin his third. Travel plans and visits may not always turn out the way you intend. When you travel, begin with prayer, and serve the Lord with purpose. Place your life in God's hands; He works all things according to His good and gracious will. • Heavenly Father, whenever and wherever I travel in this world, watch over me through Your guardian angels and strengthen me by the presence of my fellow believers. Empower me to live according to Your will. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:24 Apollos. A Jew from Egypt. an eloquent man, competent in the Scriptures. Lit, "a man [with] words … being powerful in the [OT] Writings." He likely learned the Scriptures from Jewish teachers in Alexandria and had training in rhetoric.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:25 instructed in the way of the Lord. Likely a reference to the Way (cf 19:9, 23); Apollos trusted in the coming Messiah. See "way," p 1904. fervent in spirit. Perhaps the charisma of his teaching, but more likely the Holy Spirit. knew only the baptism of John. John's Baptism was a temporary institution, in preparation for the coming Messiah and the Baptism He would institute (cf Lk 3:3; 5:33–35; 7:26–29; Mt 28:19). Somehow Apollos did not know the distinction of Christian Baptism. Luth: "If [a Christian] is in a place where there are no Christians he needs no other call than to be a Christian, called and anointed by God from within. Here it is his duty to preach and to teach the gospel to erring heathen or non-Christians, because of the duty of brotherly love, even though no man calls him to do so. … In such a case a Christian looks with brotherly love at the need of the poor and perishing souls and does not wait until he is given a command or letter from a prince or bishop" (AE 39:310).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:26 synagogue. Apollos, like Paul, began teaching about Jesus in the synagogue. See note, 13:5. Priscilla and Aquila. Christians continued worshiping and witnessing in the synagogue as long as they were allowed. took him and explained. They privately instructed the learned teacher Apollos, particularly about Christian Baptism.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:27 Apollos heads to Achaia, including Corinth, with the written approval of the believers in Ephesus (cf 1Co 3:4–6). through grace had believed. Believing is a work of God's grace, by which we are saved. See p 1902.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:28 refuted the Jews in public. The debate begun by Paul at Corinth's synagogue (v 4) had spilled out into the public square. the Christ was Jesus. The same message Paul preached; see note, v 5; see also p 2098.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:24–28 Apollos is a gifted teacher with sincere faith, yet he needs to grow in his knowledge of the faith. While our knowledge in this life will always be incomplete, teachers should strive to learn everything God has revealed and teach it fully and properly to His people. God's Word, including His Word in the Baptism instituted by Jesus Christ, is the power by which we believe. • Heavenly Father, thank You for Your gracious gift of Baptism. Spread Your Word, that it may be received and taught as Your means to wash away our sins and adopt us into Your family. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:1 Apollos. See note, 18:24. inland country. Lit, "upper country"; Paul traveled through the mountainous regions of Galatia and Phrygia on his way to Ephesus. See map, p 1886. found some disciples. They appeared to be fellow Christians. Their understanding of the Christian faith is described in vv 2–3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:2 receive the Holy Spirit. If they were Christians, they would have received the Spirit, because He creates faith in Christ (1Co 12:3; Ti 3:5–6). Paul might therefore be asking if they were baptized in the triune name of God, which refers to the Spirit (Mt 28:19), or if any special signs occurred when they were baptized, as had happened with other Christians in Ac (4:31; 8:17; 10:44–46; 11:15). Chem: "It is impossible to understand this passage in Acts 19:2 to mean that the disciples of John the Baptist had never heard of the person of the Holy Spirit in his sermons" (LTh 1:141). Cf Jn 1:32–33.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:3 Paul seeks to determine what type of baptism these men received. John's baptism. See notes, v 4; Mt 3:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:4 baptism of repentance. See note, 18:25; cf Mk 1:4–5; Lk 3:3. Luth: "This is the difference between the Baptism of Christ and that of John: John neither gives nor brings forgiveness of sin; he only points people to Him who does bestow it. In John's Baptism forgiveness is promised; in Christ's Baptism it is given. Thus John's Baptism is no longer valid now" (AE 22:177).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:5 On the basis of further instruction by Paul (v 4), these disciples received Christian Baptism, which removed any doubts about their status as Christians. See note, 2:38.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:6 laid his hands on them. Sign of blessing (cf Gn 48:14; Nu 27:23; Ac 6:6). Holy Spirit came on them … speaking in tongues and prophesying. A special outpouring of the Holy Spirit accomplished through God's appointed apostle (cf 2:4; 10:44–46; 11:15). See p 1876.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:8 synagogue. See note, 13:5. kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:9 the Way. See note, 9:2. hall of Tyrannus. Possibly a lecture hall or school where Paul taught about salvation through Jesus. The disciples may have rented the building (cf Lk 22:11–12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:10 all … heard. Luke expresses how widespread the Word of the Lord became during Paul's time in Ephesus. Assistants of Paul undoubtedly helped spread the Word in the surrounding area, as many congregations were started (such as those mentioned in Rv 2–3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:1–10 Paul arrives at Ephesus and begins a very productive period of his ministry. Apart from Christ, there is no salvation. The Word of God clearly shows that Jesus Christ is the fulfillment of God's promises of eternal salvation for all. Through Holy Baptism, He consecrates us as His beloved people. • Lord Jesus, help us always to believe in You for eternal life. Help us also to share Your Good News. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:11–12 As the Lord had worked through Peter, He now worked powerfully through Paul, even through the agency of clothing that had touched him. The purpose of these miracles was to attest to the truth of Paul's preaching (cf Rm 15:19; see note, 2:22). The Lord may have worked these special miracles because of the Ephesians' interest in exorcisms and magic.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:13 itinerant Jewish exorcists. Among the many practitioners of magic and sorcery in Ephesus were traveling Jewish exorcists. According to Josephus, men like these may have used a technique for casting out demons that was attributed to Solomon (Ant 8:45–48). Cf Tob 6:2–8, 14–19; 8:2–3. the name of the Lord Jesus. Instead of whatever name they may have used to cast out evil spirits before, they began using Jesus' name because it appeared to be more powerful. Ancient magical papyri are filled with names of deities from all manner of religions.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:14 Jewish high priest named Sceva. Could mean Sceva called himself "high priest," not that he served at the temple in Jerusalem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:15–16 Because Jesus is God, He is known to the demons (cf Lk 4:34). Because Paul was one of Jesus' powerful workers, the evil spirits knew him also. Because the sons of Sceva did not believe in Jesus as God, they were simply using Jesus' name as part of a formula; thus they had no power over the evil spirit.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:17 The residents of Ephesus recognized the great power of Jesus' name: from Paul's lips, Jesus' name worked miracles, but used by the Jewish exorcists, His name brought a demonic attack.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:18 confessing and divulging their practices. Acts of repentance. Ephesus was rife with those who practiced various forms of magic. The practices here refer to magical spells. Those who had become followers of Jesus no longer wanted to take part in a way of life they now recognized as sinful.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:19 magic arts. See note, v 18. books … burned. Those who practiced magic owned small papyrus scrolls that contained magical formulas and spells. See note, 8:9. Such books were quite valuable; burning them publicly demonstrated complete rejection of such a lifestyle.

fifty thousand pieces of silver. A piece of silver was the daily wage for a common worker.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:20 The power of God's Word is recognized by all. See note, 12:24.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:11–20 God continues to work through mighty miracles and His Word. Magic, the occult, and even using our Lord's name as an expression of good luck are all sins against the Second Commandment. By the power of Jesus' name, you have been forgiven of all sin (2:38) and rescued from the fiercest evil, the devil himself! Jesus gives you life in His name alone. • "Create in me a new heart, Lord, That gladly I obey Your Word. Let what You will be my desire, And with new life my soul inspire." Amen. (LSB 704:3)

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:21 resolved in the Spirit. Or, "in the spirit" (referring to Paul's determination). Either way, God directs Paul's decisions. See note, 16:6. Rome. Cf Rm 1:9–15. The preaching of the Gospel in Rome is the goal toward which Luke's account is moving. See "Christianity and Empire," p 1829; see also note, 1:8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:22 Timothy. Cf 1Co 4:17; 16:10; see pp 2066–67. Erastus. See note, Rm 16:23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:23 the Way. See note, 9:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:24 Demetrius. Common name; difficult to determine exact identity. Apparently he was a leader of the guild of the silversmiths. silver shrines of Artemis. Probably sold to worshipers for use as votive gifts in the temple of Artemis, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Artemis of the Ephesians was a fertility goddess, worshiped throughout Asia (vv 27–28). craftsmen. Refers to Demetrius's fellow silversmiths.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:25 workmen. Refers either to those who made shrines out of some other material or to the less-skilled laborers of the silver shrine trade.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:26–27 Demetrius presents two primary concerns if Paul is not stopped: the industry of silver Artemis shrines will continue to suffer; and people may begin disregarding Artemis herself, along with her temple.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:28 enraged. Demetrius's speech had the desired effect of working the tradesmen into a fury.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:29 theater. The theater in Ephesus could hold c 25,000 people and was often used for large public gatherings. Gaius and Aristarchus. Otherwise unknown, unless Aristarchus is the man mentioned in 20:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:31 Asiarchs. Men of substance and influence; Paul's friends among them did not think it wise for him to enter the fray, even to defend his companions and the Christian faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:32 The confusion inadvertently fulfills the purpose of Demetrius: to save the livelihood of the craftsmen by counteracting Paul's preaching. assembly. See note, 20:28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:33 Alexander. A Jew (v 34) who is not known otherwise but whom Luke's readers must have known. The Jews probably wanted Alexander to defend their reputations so the assembly would not associate them with Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:35 town clerk. Principal municipal officer of Ephesus, whom the Roman government would hold responsible for civic disorder. temple keeper. This designation brought great honor to the city. Ephesus was widely known as the special seat of Artemis worship (see note, v 24). sacred stone. According to legend, the statue of Artemis had fallen from the sky (it may have been a meteorite) and now resided in the temple dedicated to her.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:37 sacrilegious. Lit, "temple robbers." Worshipers of false gods sometimes levied this charge against the Jews. The town clerk assures the assembly that Paul and his companions are not guilty of this serious charge. blasphemers of our goddess. He also makes the claim that Paul and his companions had not spoken harsh words against Artemis simply by preaching about Christ Jesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:38 courts are open. Town clerk emphasizes that if a legitimate complaint against Paul is to be made, there is a proper and legal method to follow. proconsuls. Roman administrators of senatorial provinces, such as Asia, were given this title. They were also the supreme judges of their territories.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:40 Roman government took a dim view of rioting, and the town clerk warns the crowd that it is close to crossing the line from assembling into rioting.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:21–41 Another episode shows that opponents of the Gospel cause the troubles associated with the Christian faith. Believers in Christ may suffer unjustly or, at times, justly because of their sins. In either case, the Lord brings us through suffering to His eternal kingdom, even while giving us opportunities to serve. Christ, who suffered for us, is always with us. • "Jesus, lead Thou on Till our rest is won. Heav'nly leader, still direct us, Still support, console, protect us, Till we safely stand In our fatherland." Amen. (LSB 718:4)

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:1 disciples. Paul's fellow Christians in Ephesus. See note, Mt 5:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:2 encouragement. He bore witness to Christ and so strengthened them.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:3 plot … by the Jews. Luke does not record any details of this conspiracy against Paul; other plots are mentioned elsewhere (9:23–24; 23:12). See note, v 19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:4 Probably representatives of the Gentile churches who were to bring their gifts to the poor saints in Jerusalem. See note, 24:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:5 us. Luke likely rejoins Paul and his group after being left in Philippi (cf 16:40; see note, 16:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:6 days of Unleavened Bread. Seven days following the Passover. See pp 200–
201. This was also the anniversary of Jesus' resurrection from the dead.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:1–6 Paul and his companions begin the trip back to Jerusalem, encouraging fellow Christians along the way. Our faith is often not what it should be. However, Jesus encourages us in the faith through His Word. "A bruised reed He will not break, and a faintly burning wick He will not quench" (Is 42:3). • Lord Jesus, in Your mercy You always encourage us to remain in You. Through that same mercy, remind us to encourage our fellow Christians, especially in difficult days. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:7 first day of the week. Sunday, the day of Christ's resurrection, became the regular day of worship for Christians (cf Lk 24:1; Mt 28:1). This would ultimately distinguish Christians from Jews, who worshiped on Saturday. break bread. See note, 2:42. prolonged his speech. Because of his few days with this group of fellow believers, Paul felt compelled to make a long address (cf 28:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:9 Eutychus. Means "fortunate." third story. Refers to the upper room of v 8. Luke adds this detail as part of his eyewitness account.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:10 his life is in him. Paul is not contradicting the fact of Eutychus's death but expressing the assurance that the young man would be brought back to life (cf 1Ki 17:17–24; 2Ki 4:32–36).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:11 Paul and possibly some of the others take nourishment during this long night prior to Paul's departure the next morning.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:13 Assos. From Troas, a ship would need to go around a small peninsula. See map, p 1886. himself to go by land. The walk would give Paul more time away from sea travel and perhaps further opportunity to speak with disciples from Troas (cf v 7).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:16 A stop at Ephesus would most likely have delayed his journey. However, Paul meets with Ephesian elders in Miletus (see note, v 17). Pentecost. See p 1835.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:7–16 The end of Paul's time in Troas is noteworthy for the resurrection of Eutychus. At times, we may become alarmed when a fellow Christian dies because we harbor doubts about God's power to make that person alive again. Jesus assures us: "I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in Me, though he die, yet shall he live, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall never die" (Jn 11:25–26). • Dear Jesus, thank You for Your resurrection from the dead, which guarantees our resurrection. Through Your Holy Spirit, grant us faith always to remember that physical death is not the end of true life with You. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:17 Miletus … Ephesus. See map, p 1886. elders. The pastors of the Church at Ephesus, whom Paul had appointed by the authority of the Holy Spirit (cf v 28; see note, 14:23).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:18–35 The only address recorded in Ac that Paul makes to a Christian audience. Paul recalls the work he did among the Ephesians (vv 18–21) and then speaks of the imprisonment and afflictions awaiting him in the future (vv 22–24). Since the Ephesian Christians will encounter similar trials (vv 29–30), Paul encourages the elders to watch out for the sheep under their care, faithfully exercising their office (v 28), as Paul had been faithful in the exercise of his office (vv 26–27, 31, 33–35). The power and strength to carry out their duties comes only from God and His Word (v 32).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:19 humility. Reflects the true servant attitude with which Paul carried out his apostolic ministry (cf 2Co 10:1; 11:7). tears. Due to Paul's love and compassion for the Ephesians. trials. Ac records no specific trials of Paul at Ephesus, but the apostle alludes to them in 1Co

15:30–32 (and possibly in 2Co 1:8–10). plots. Luke records no specifics, but since such plots had occurred in other places, it is not surprising that they would happen in Ephesus as well. See notes, v 3; 9:23–24.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:20 Cf 19:8–9.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:21 repentance toward God. "To repent means nothing other than to truly acknowledge sins, to be heartily sorry for them, and to stop doing them" (FC SD V 8). faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. After turning away from sin, one turns to the Savior, trusting in Him for forgiveness and eternal life (cf 16:31).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:22 constrained by the Spirit. Luke often emphasizes how the Holy Spirit directs Paul (cf 13:2, 4, 9; 16:6–7).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:24 finish my course. Paul uses race terminology to describe his ministry (cf 1Co 9:24–27). ministry. Cf 9:6, 15; 26:16–18; see p 1903. received from the Lord Jesus. Christ Himself made Paul an apostle (cf 1Co 1:1; Gal 1:12). gospel of the grace of God. See p 1902.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:25 none … will see my face again. Paul is offering his own opinion here; he did return to Ephesus later (see note, 1Tm 1:3). kingdom. See pp 1565–66.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:26 innocent of the blood. Paul knows that in the future, some of the pastors will fall away from the faith. Cf vv 29–30.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:27 whole counsel of God. Paul proclaimed the entire OT Scriptures, as all pastors, preachers, and teachers of God's Word should.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:28 flock. Common biblical term for God's people (cf Jer 23:1–4; Jn 10:11–16). overseers. Same as "elders" (v 17); both are common NT terms for the pastoral office (1Tm 3:1; Ti 1:5, 7). See p 1902. church of God … His own blood. The Church consists of those who believe in Jesus as Savior; they were ransomed with the very blood of the Son of God. See "church," pp 1901–02. "God's Son truly suffered for us. However, He did so according to the attributes of the human nature, which He received into the unity of His divine person and made His own. He did this so that He might be able to suffer and be our High Priest for our reconciliation with God" (FC Ep VIII 14). Chem: "Ekkle¯sia [is used] of citizens when a citywide gathering is held of those who, bound together by certain laws, are citizens of one commonwealth. … Therefore in order to distinguish the New Testament church from other gatherings, in Scripture the term 'church of God' is used" (LTh 2:693).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:29 fierce wolves. Used also by Jesus to describe false teachers and their destructive nature. “Just as the Church has the promise that it will always have the Holy Spirit, so it also has warnings that there will be wicked teachers and wolves [Acts 20:29]. Yet, the Church in the proper sense has the Holy Spirit. Although wolves and wicked teachers run rampant in the Church, they are not properly Christ’s kingdom” (Ap VII and VIII 22).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:30 Paul graphically contrasts his message of the whole counsel of God (v 27) with what the false teachers will proclaim: malformed messages that will mislead the faithful.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:31 three years. Time Paul spent in Ephesus. admonish everyone with tears. See note, v 19.
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:32 I commend you to God. Paul entrusts the welfare of the Ephesians to God Himself. able to build you up. God’s Word is powerful (Rm 1:16). Through it, He makes Christians strong in their faith. See note, 2Th 1:3. inheritance. Final goal for Christians is the gift of eternal life in heaven. See “portion,” p 7. sanctified. Paul refers to Christians, those who have been “made holy” through faith in Jesus. See “holy,” p 1902. Chem: “In order that there may always be a church, so also there will always be true teachers, but these promises are not tied to certain persons, to a certain succession, or a certain seat” (LTh 2:711).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:34 See note, 18:3. Paul did not want to be a burden to those he served with the Gospel (1Th 2:3–10; 2Th 3:7–9).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:35 help the weak. People who cannot support themselves because of sickness. All others are to support themselves (1Th 4:10–12; 2Th 3:10–12). Lord Jesus, how He Himself said. Though not recorded in any of the four Gospels of the NT, the saying is nevertheless genuine. This demonstrates that Jesus’ sayings, and stories about Jesus, continued to circulate among believers and were regarded as authoritative, useful admonitions. See note, Jn 7:53–8:11. It is more blessed to give. The Gospel Paul preached centers on giving: God gives forgiveness and eternal life through His Son, Jesus; God’s heirs give to others based on what God has given them (Mt 25:35–40).
ACTS—NOTE ON 20:36 knelt … prayed. Usual posture for prayer was standing. Kneeling to pray was a posture assumed at emotional times (cf 21:5; Lk 22:41). See p 1276.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:37 The Ephesian elders express the depth of their love for Paul with great emotion (cf Gn 33:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:17–38 Paul's farewell address to the Church leaders of Ephesus emphasizes the significance of the work of the ministry. We are often inclined more toward receiving than giving. Jesus has given—and still gives—temporal and eternal blessings, so we likewise are to give of ourselves to others. Yet, we can never outgive our generous Savior. • "Take my life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee. … Take myself, and I will be Ever, only, all for Thee." Amen. (LSB 783:1, 6)

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:1–4 At first, Paul and his companions sailed on a smaller ship that hugged the coast. At Patara, they boarded a larger vessel that could make the 400-mi trip across open water to Tyre. See map, p 1886.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:1 we. The "we" section resumes from 20:15; see "Relationship to the Gospel according to Luke," p 1829.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:4 sought out the disciples. The Gospel first came to Phoenicia after Stephen's martyrdom (11:19). through the Spirit. The Holy Spirit gave some of these fellow Christians a vision or revelation about Paul. Cf 13:2. not to go on to Jerusalem. This message was in accord with what Paul had told the Ephesian elders—trouble awaited him in Jerusalem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:5 kneeling down … we prayed. See note, 20:36.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:7 we greeted the brothers. See p 1901.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:8 Philip the evangelist. Last mentioned in 8:40, after his encounter with the Ethiopian eunuch. He is called "the evangelist" only here, perhaps meaning that he spread the Gospel well. one of the seven. Chosen to assist in the distribution of food in the early days of the Church in Jerusalem (6:1–6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:9 unmarried daughters, who prophesied. Cf Jl 2:28; see p 389.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:10 prophet named Agabus. See notes, 11:27–28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:11 Similar to prophets of the OT, Agabus was directed by the Spirit to use this object lesson to foretell Paul's future (cf Is 20:2–3; Ezk 4:1). See p 1220. Thus says the Holy Spirit. Formula common to OT prophets (cf Am 3:11; Na 1:12), clearly indicating this message was from God. See pp 1077–83. bind … deliver. Wording is similar to descriptions of Jesus' arrest and trial (Lk 18:32; Mt 27:2). As at the trial of Jesus, Gentile authorities consistently find no fault with Paul (Ac 23:29; 25:25; 26:31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:13 breaking my heart? Paul gently rebukes the others for trying to dissuade him from his goal of going to Jerusalem. imprisoned but even to die. Even though Agabus's prophecy did not predict Paul's death, Paul states his willingness to die for the sake of Christ (cf Lk 9:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:14 Those with Paul recognized not only Paul's resolve but also the divine hand behind upcoming events (cf Lk 22:42).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:15 up to Jerusalem. See note, 15:2; see also map, p 971.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:16 disciples from Caesarea. Assisted with the c 55-mi trip to Jerusalem. Mnason of Cyprus. An early convert in the Jerusalem Church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:1–16 Paul completes his journey to Jerusalem despite warnings about the dangers he will encounter there. Many times, due to fear or a lack of understanding, we fail to do the Lord's will. Contrary to all human logic, God's plan of salvation was carried out through Christ for the forgiveness of all our failures. This shows us that God can make all things—however fearful or illogical they may seem to us—work out for our good. We are always on His heart. • Heavenly Father, grant me a portion of Your wisdom as I strive to carry out Your will in my life. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:17 brothers. See p 1901. received us gladly. The Christians at Jerusalem were happy to see Paul and his companions, allaying any concerns Paul may have had (cf Rm 15:31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:18 James, and all the elders. See notes, 12:17; 15:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:19 the things that God had done. Summary statement of the wondrous works God did through Paul's ministry. Paul made other such reports (cf 15:3–4, 12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:20 they glorified God. The Church leaders praised God for working so powerfully through Paul, and likely also for the offering Paul had collected and brought (see note, 24:17). thousands … among the Jews. Cf 2:41; 4:4; 6:7. Thousands indeed! zealous for the law. The Jewish Christians continued to abide by many of the OT ceremonial laws regarding food, circumcision, the Sabbath, etc. See p 1671.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:21 Most likely, Jewish converts from the areas in which Paul had spread the Gospel had innocently reported that they were no longer compelled to observe all the OT ceremonial laws. forsake Moses. The reports of the Jewish converts had been distorted, making it sound as if Paul were advocating a complete break from the Law of Moses (cf 6:13–14). our customs. Circumcision as well as any of the other OT ceremonial laws. See note, Col 2:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:23 under a vow. For various reasons, the Jews periodically put themselves under a vow (cf Nu 6:1–21). "We are not to swear in support of evil, that is, to support falsehood, or to swear when there is no need or use. But we should swear for the support of good and the advantage of our neighbor. For such swearing is truly a good work, by which God is praised, truth and right are established, falsehood is refuted, peace is made among men, obedience is rendered, and quarrels are settled" (LC I 66). See "vow," p 7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:24 purify yourself … pay their expenses. Paul is to purge himself of the suspicion that he has become a traitor to the Jewish people and their customs by publicly associating himself with these men and paying the considerable expenses involved in the sacrificial ceremony of purification. shave their heads. Done at the fulfillment of a vow (Nu 6:18–19). live in observance of the law. Paul's participation would refute the false charges made against him. See notes, 15:21, 28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:25 letter with our judgment. The principles outlined by the Jerusalem Council agree with the suggestion of James and the elders.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:26 went into the temple, giving notice. Apparently Paul was required to inform the appropriate priests when these offerings would be presented. offering. If the men were under the Nazirite vow, the offering required is detailed in Nu 6:14–15, 18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:17–26 The Church at Jerusalem rejoices at what God has done through Paul. The leaders ask him to dispel rumors among Jewish Christians about his ministry by taking part in an OT purification ceremony. Today, we are often tempted to judge fellow Christians on the basis of things not specifically directed in God's Word. Jesus, by His life, death, and resurrection, forgives our sins, including those of judging others. He is our peace. • Praise be to You, Jesus, for setting us free from sin and death! Thank You for allowing us to live in freedom. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:27 Paul's break with the synagogue at Ephesus and his subsequent missionary success (19:9–10) had made the Jews from Asia esp bitter toward him (cf 20:19). They were present in Jerusalem for Pentecost (cf 20:16).
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:28 They accused Paul of speaking against God's people (the Jews), against the OT (cf v 21), and against the temple. The last charge was most serious (cf Mk 14:57–58). Greeks … defiled this holy place. Cf v 29. Gentiles could enter the outer court of the temple. Notices were posted in Gk and Lat at the entrance to the inner courts, barring Gentiles from entering. Doing so was punishable by death. See diagram, p 1838.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:29 Trophimus the Ephesian. One of Paul's companions on this journey to Jerusalem; he would have been known to the Jews from Ephesus.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:30 gates were shut. Temple police closed inner and outer courts so that additional defilement of the temple would not occur. See note, 5:21.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:31 tribune. Claudius Lysias (cf 23:26), the Roman officer in charge of 760 infantrymen and 240 cavalrymen. cohort. Stationed at the Roman fortress Antonia, outside the northwest wall of the temple. See note, 10:1.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:32 centurions. See note, 10:1. Since there were at least two centurions called out, up to 200 soldiers may have been summoned. beating Paul. Members of the angry mob beat Paul because they misunderstood what was happening.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:33 The tribune believed Paul to be the wrongdoer because he was the one being attacked. His men take custody of Paul, placing him in chains.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:34 barracks. At the fortress Antonia (War 6:23–26); see note, v 31.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:35 steps. Two flights of steps connected the fortress and the outer court of the temple. carried by the soldiers. The pressing mob prevented Paul from walking up the steps, so the soldiers lifted him.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:36 The crowd at Jesus' trial raised the same cry.
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:27–36 Paul's enemies unjustly accuse him of defiling the temple, and the Roman authorities intervene. The mob mentality of Paul's accusers may appall us, yet we may jump to similar unfounded conclusions. As God's forgiven people, we are motivated and inspired to seek the truth in all matters, especially as we interact with our neighbor. Jesus allowed Himself to be charged unjustly so He could win forgiveness for us. He is our peace. • Dear Jesus, make us slow to speak accusations. Lead us to seek and speak the truth instead of falsehood (Eph 4:25). Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:37 Do you know Greek? The tribune was either surprised Paul spoke Gk, or that he spoke it so well. The crowd was probably shouting in Aramaic (see note, v 40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:38 the Egyptian. The tribune mistook Paul for the man who had convinced a number of people he was a prophet a few years earlier. He led 4,000 troops against the Romans at Jerusalem, promising that the walls of the city would fall simply because of his presence. The Romans crushed the revolt, but the Egyptian escaped (War 2:261). Assassins. See "Sicarii," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:39 Jew … citizen. Paul makes his status clear to the tribune. See note, 16:37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:40 Hebrew language. Indicates that Paul now spoke to the crowd in Aramaic, the common language of Judea. See pp 719–20.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:1 Brothers and fathers. Paul expresses his kinship with the angry Jews while giving deference to the Jewish leaders. Stephen's address began the same way (7:2). defense. Gk apologia. First of five such defenses Paul will make in Ac.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:2 Luke adds this detail to show the mob's surprise at being addressed in their native language instead of in Gk, the common language of the day.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:3 educated at the feet of Gamaliel. See "Hillel, House of," p 1557. strict manner of the law. The Pharisees were known for their strict interpretation and observance of God's Law. zealous for God. See note, 21:20. Paul's zeal was shown in his persecution of Christians (cf Gal 1:13–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:4 I persecuted this Way to the death. Paul later relates his approval of Stephen's death (v 20) and speaks of his approval of the execution of Christians (26:10). See notes, 9:1–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:5 high priest. See note, Jn 11:49. council of elders. See "Council, The," p 1556. letters to the brothers. In this case, Paul describes fellow Jews, such as those he is currently addressing. See note, 2:37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:6 about noon a great light. The natural brightness of the day did not detract from the supernatural brightness.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:8 Lord? See note, 9:5–6. Jesus of Nazareth. The only one of the three accounts of Paul's conversion to include this self-description of Jesus (cf 9:1–19; 26:12–18).
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:9 Although Paul's companions heard the voice, they did not understand what Jesus said.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:12 Paul emphasizes Ananias's noble traits to appeal to his Jewish audience. devout man. See note, 2:5.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:14–16 Paul quotes Ananias at greater length here than Luke records in 9:17, to assure his audience that the true God directed Ananias.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:14 see the Righteous One. Title for the Messiah (Is 53:11). See notes, 3:14; Jer 23:5; see also "righteousness," p 1904.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:15 witness. Like the other apostles, Paul could testify that he had seen the risen Lord (cf 1:22; 26:16; 1Co 9:1).
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:16 wash away your sins. Ananias vividly describes what Baptism does. Cf Lk 3:3; Eph 5:26; Ti 3:5. See p 1369. calling on His name. Jesus' name encompasses everything revealed about Him in Scripture. See p 842.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:17–21 Paul describes a vision he had when he went to Jerusalem three years after being converted (9:26–30; Gal 1:18).
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:17 trance. See note, 10:10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:18 Him. From v 19, it is clear Paul refers to Jesus. they. Jews in Jerusalem.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:19 Lord. Having been brought to faith, Paul addresses Jesus with the name of God from the OT. See p 2098.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:20 Stephen Your witness. Stephen had also seen the risen Lord (7:55) and thus was His witness. See note, 1:8. standing … approving … watching. Cf v 4. Though Paul's physical role in Stephen's death may have been minimal, he emphasizes his guilt in the matter.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:21 Jesus echoes what He said to Ananias. Paul speaks about his own work in this way (Rm 11:13; Gal 2:7).
ACTS—NOTE ON 21:37–22:21 Paul addresses an angry mob of Jews, vividly describing his life-changing encounter with the risen Jesus on the road to Damascus as well as another time when Christ appeared to him. Pursuing your own agenda often leads to a dead end. But because Christ washes away your sin, like Paul you can pray, "What shall I do, Lord?" And you can be sure that your Lord will hear and guide you. • I praise You, Father, for Your infinite wisdom in sending Jesus as my Savior, and for bringing me into Your family through Your means of grace. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:22 Up to this word. When Paul mentioned "the Gentiles" (v 21), the crowd was reminded of why they wanted him dead in the first place: for supposedly bringing Gentiles into the temple and defiling it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:23 The crowd was ready to stone Paul on the spot (cf 7:58).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:24 tribune. See note, 21:31. barracks. See note, 21:34. examined by flogging. Such a method of interrogation was commonly used when slaves and foreigners were involved. See note, Mt 10:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:25 stretched him out. A prisoner being flogged was stripped to the waist and forced to bend over a low pillar with his feet and hands secured to the floor. Roman citizen and uncondemned? See note, 16:37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:28 bought this citizenship. The tribune evidently doubted that a man such as he saw before him had the means to purchase a Roman citizenship, as he himself had done. See pp 2029–30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:29 The tribune later lies to keep himself from getting in trouble for mistreating Paul. See note, 23:27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:22–29 Paul's address does not avert the crowd's hatred. However, as a Roman citizen, he receives help from a Roman tribune. God established the governing authorities to bring a degree of peace and civil righteousness to our troubled world. However, our ultimate hope is in the Lord. Christ's Gospel brings eternal peace and righteousness before the highest court: heaven. • Lord Jesus, thank You for giving me righteousness before God. Teach me to forgive those who falsely accuse me. Help me also not to accuse anyone falsely. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:30 commanded. "Summoned" might well capture the tone here. The tribune was probably seeking advice from the Jewish leaders concerning Paul's case. chief priests and all the council. See p 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:1 Brothers. See notes, 22:1, 5. all good conscience. Paul declares his conscience is free from guilt regarding the charges against him.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:2 high priest Ananias. Son of Nedebaeus; served as high priest from c AD 47 to 58. He was cruel and despised and was assassinated by the Sicarii (see p 1557) in AD 66. strike him. This violent act probably stemmed from Ananias's violent character. Jesus received similar treatment (Jn 18:22).
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:3 God is going to strike you. Whether a curse or a prediction of the future (see note, v 2), Paul's brash statement demonstrates his dismay at being hit unjustly. whitewashed wall! Paul paints the high priest as one whose fair exterior conceals from human eyes the corruptness of one doomed to God's judgment. contrary to the law. Perhaps a reference to Lv 19:15. Luth: "A Christian may act as a judge and sentence a murderer to death, yet not on his own behalf or for his own ends but on behalf of others and by virtue of his office. Then it is the same as if God had done it, for His ordinance is doing it. In short, it is permissible to curse on account of the Word of God; but it is wrong to curse on your own account for personal vengeance or some other personal end" (AE 14:258).
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:4 revile. Paul's words were understood as an insult of Ananias.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:5 brothers. See notes, 22:1, 5. You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people. One of a series of commands God gave His people after the Ten Commandments.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:6 a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees. See p 1557. Paul refers to his training under Gamaliel (see note, 22:3), his way of life, and his Pharisaic ancestry, employing a "divide and conquer" strategy; cf v 8. the hope and the resurrection. Or, "the hope of the resurrection." Jesus' resurrection from the dead and the believers' resurrection were key concepts in what the apostles preached (e.g., 2:32; 3:15; 4:10).
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:7 divided. Because the Pharisees and Sadducees disagreed about the resurrection.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:8 resurrection … angel … spirit. The Sadducees did not believe in these things, though they could find them in the Books of Moses (e.g., Gn 16; 19; 22; see note, Lk 20:37–38). They seemed to deny much of what could be called spiritual or otherworldly. See p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:9 scribes. See pp 719–20. They held themselves to be the authority in matters of interpreting Scripture. What if a spirit or an angel spoke to him? They had no problem believing Paul might have had such a supernatural experience.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:10 dissension became violent. Luke intensifies a word used in v 7; the Council has become an angry mob. tribune. See note, 21:31. barracks. See note, 21:34.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:11 the Lord stood by him. Not clear whether this refers to a vision or to another post-resurrection appearance of Jesus. you must testify also in Rome. Paul had already expressed the desire to preach the Gospel in Rome, and Jesus now confirms that it is part of His divine plan for Paul. See note, 19:21; see also pp 1905–6.
ACTS—NOTE ON 22:30–23:11 Paul boldly speaks of Christ's resurrection before the Council, and in so doing, he cleverly divides the Council. At times, you may be in situations where you are afraid to share openly your Christian beliefs. The crucified and risen Christ forgives you for any past failures to confess Him before others, yet He also promises to always be at your side and support your testimony (Mt 28:20). • Dear Jesus, You are the resurrection and the life. Make me bold, like Paul, so that I am never ashamed to speak Your truth. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:12 plot. See note, 20:19. bound themselves by an oath. The conspirators vowed they would be cursed by God if they did not fulfill their sinister mission. See "vow," p 7.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:14 chief priests and elders. See p 1556.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:15 The conspirators must have known that at least some members of the Council were corrupt enough to go along with their plot.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:16 son of Paul's sister. Paul's nephew is mentioned only here in Scripture. It is not known whether he was a Christian. entered the barracks. Since Paul was not convicted of a crime, he was allowed to have visitors.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:17 young man. Usually refers to a male between the ages of 20 and 40.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:19 took him by the hand. Context implies that the tribune literally pulled him aside to speak with him. The phrase is also evidence of eyewitness testimony.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:20–22 The tribune had already witnessed the Jews' anger against Paul (21:30–36; 22:22–24; 23:10). A plot such as Paul's nephew described was certainly feasible. The tribune wanted to do what he could to protect Paul, a Roman citizen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:12–22 Forty Jews, in conjunction with their leaders, create a plot to kill Paul. But Paul's nephew intervenes. He is an example to us of how family members may support one another in trying times and call upon legitimate authority in support of God's people. Good government and family are blessings of God's providence that enable the Gospel to spread among us. • Thank You, God, that we can always count on Your unchanging Word and Your goodwill. Grant us confidence in You and Your blessings. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:23–24 The tribune wanted to diffuse a volatile situation, so he provided a heavy military escort to take Paul by night to Caesarea, c 55 mi away. This city was the administrative center for the governor of the province of Judea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:25 to this effect. Luke provides the sense of the letter, perhaps based on an oral report about it. See "Speeches in Acts," p 1829.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:26 Claudius Lysias. First mention of the tribune's name (see note, 21:31). governor Felix. Served as governor of Judea from AD 52 to 60. He was known to be cruel; see note, 24:2–4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:27 learned that he was a Roman citizen. Claudius Lysias presents the events to cover up the fact that he ordered Paul to be flogged before learning he was a Roman citizen (22:24–26); see note, 22:29.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:29 charged with nothing deserving death or imprisonment. During Paul's appearance before the Council, the matter of him bringing a Gentile into the inner courts of the temple had not been raised.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:30 disclosed to me … a plot. Vv 20–22. The tribune explains the action of Paul's nephew without naming names.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:31 Antipatris. C 30 mi S of Caesarea. The escort had traveled about half the distance to the destination.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:32 They judged that enough distance was now between Paul and the conspirators, and they were also in territory inhabited primarily by Gentiles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:34 what province. Felix wanted to determine who had jurisdiction in Paul's case (cf Lk 23:6–7).
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:35 accusers. Originally, Jews from Asia (21:27); the accusers that come to Paul's hearing are the high priest and some elders from Jerusalem (24:1). Herod's praetorium. Herod the Great had built for himself a palace at Caesarea. It became the home of the governor of the province.
ACTS—NOTE ON 23:23–35 Claudius Lysias turns Paul's case over to Felix the governor. All circumstances point to the apostle's innocence of any crimes against the state. Life sometimes brings unjust suffering, especially to Christ's followers. Christ's death on the cross provides for our forgiveness when we have been unjust to others and gives us strength to bear our sufferings in His abiding grace. • Lord, I praise You because You are just and You have justified me through faith in Jesus. Forgive me when I am unjust to others, and give me strength to bear even unjust suffering. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1 high priest Ananias. See note, 23:2. elders. See p 1556. spokesman, one Tertullus. Mentioned only here in the NT; functions almost as a lawyer on behalf of the Jewish delegation.
ACTS—NOTE ON 24:2–4 Typical for the times, Tertullus begins his speech by attempting to capture the goodwill of Felix (see note, 23:26). Most of the praise is undeserved: Felix had caused much conflict, which eventually led to the revolt of the Jews in AD 66.
ACTS—NOTE ON 24:3 in every way and everywhere. Typical rhetoric.
ACTS—NOTE ON 24:5 plague. "Public enemy"; same word as "scoffers" (Ps 1:1) and "worthless men" (1Sm 2:12) in LXX. Tertullus is accusing Paul of being harmful to the well-being of the Jews. sect. Gk hairesis, "religious party," source of Eng "heresy"; used negatively. Nazarenes. Used only here in the NT to describe Christians; refers to Jesus' hometown. The Jews considered Christians to be another party within Judaism, such as the Pharisees or Sadducees. See "Opposition from the Jews," p 1775. Luth: "We are not impressed when our opponents are offended and shout that no good will come of the preaching of the Gospel. … We who believe see the enormous and innumerable benefits and results of the Gospel, even though outwardly and temporarily we are oppressed by many evils, despised, despoiled, slandered, condemned … put to death, and inwardly crushed by the consciousness of our sin and vexed by demons. For we are alive in Christ, in whom and through whom we are kings and lords over sin, death, the flesh, the world, hell, and every evil. … Therefore the doctrine of justification must be learned diligently; it alone can strengthen us against those endless offenses and comfort us in all trials and persecutions" (AE 26:452–53).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:6 tried to profane the temple. Apparently the Jews had failed to substantiate this charge.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:9 Jews. Ananias and the elders accompanying him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:10 Paul matches Tertullus's rhetorical style (see note, vv 2–4) and attributes to Felix broader experience than simply that of governor, expressing that Felix's knowledge of the Jewish people and their ways is a benefit. Paul appeals to Felix to be a fair judge.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:11 not more than twelve days. Cf 22:30; 23:11, 12, 32.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:12 synagogues. See p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:13 Neither can they prove. If Paul had truly been a "plague" throughout the entire world (v 5), they should have been able to come up with proof of his guilt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:14 the Way. See note, 9:2. a sect. See note, 24:5. Law … Prophets. See note, Lk 24:44. Paul states his adherence to God's Word, esp as it is fulfilled in Jesus Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:15 themselves accept … resurrection. See notes, 23:6–9. The Pharisees believed in the resurrection, as did most of the Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:16 Paul expresses his commitment to avoid offending either God or other people in his work as an apostle.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:17 alms. Donations Paul had been collecting from churches he had started; these were intended to help fellow Christians in and around Jerusalem. Bringing money into the area while it was experiencing economic troubles would likely endear Paul to the hearers (see note, 11:28). offerings. Gifts to God (21:26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:19 Roman law required that one's accusers be present to make their case. See note, 23:35.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:20 before the council. Cf 22:30–23:9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1–21 Paul defends himself before the Roman governor, Felix. He claims to follow what is written in the Scriptures, focusing especially on the resurrection of the dead. Paul uses the opportunity to bear witness concerning Jesus, who has given him new life.

Through Jesus' sacrificial death and His resurrection from the dead, God forgives us and builds us up. He empowers us to proclaim His mercy. • Lord, forgive us for wrongful speech, and give us a clear conscience toward You and our fellow man. Help us always to believe Your unchanging Word and to hope in the resurrection. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:22 Felix. See notes, 23:26; 24:2–4. accurate knowledge of the Way. Felix may have had this knowledge because his wife was Jewish (v 24) and because of the large numbers of Christians in Judea. See note, 9:2. Lysias the tribune. See note, 21:31.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:23 The custody into which Felix placed Paul was akin to house arrest. Paul was allowed to have visitors who could provide for his basic needs, such as clothing and food. He was held in Caesarea for two years (v 27). See chronology, p cviii.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:24 Drusilla, who was Jewish. Daughter of Herod Agrippa I, who was ruthless in his treatment of Christians (cf 12:1). Drusilla was only 19 but had already left her first husband (King Azizus of Syria) to marry Felix. faith in Christ Jesus. Paul teaches the basics of the Christian faith, stressing certain applicable aspects (v 25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:25 righteousness. See p 1904. self-control. A fruit of the Spirit (Gal 5:22–23). Restraint of desires (esp sexual) is key to understanding this term. coming judgment. God will judge each of us when we die (Heb 9:27); His decision will be made public on Judgment Day (cf Mt 25:31–46). alarmed. Clearly Felix and Drusilla needed to hear of these important matters (see note, v 24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:26 money would be given him. Though illegal, Felix was hoping for a bribe, knowing Paul had come to Judea with considerable money (v 17). conversed with him. While Paul undoubtedly kept preaching God's Word to Felix, Felix continued to be interested in obtaining a bribe from Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:27 Festus became governor of Judea in AD 59 or 60. Felix may have been trying to avoid complaints from the Jews to Emperor Nero (see note, vv 2–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:22–27 Although Felix listens as Paul proclaims God's Word, Felix is most interested in a bribe. So he ignores Paul's message and leaves him in custody. God's Law can hurt our pride; we would rather avoid hearing about our sins and eternal judgment. Though God's Law and judgment are sharp, His Gospel grants full release. Rather than eternal death, Jesus grants us the riches of eternal life. • We praise You, O God, for giving us many opportunities to listen to Your Word and for giving us fullness of life in Christ. Thank You for making us spiritually rich in this life and in the life to come. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:2 chief priests. See p 1556. principal men of the Jews. Perhaps elders (cf 24:1), or simply other leading members of the Council.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:6 tribunal. Official seat from which a judge made rulings (cf 18:12, 16). The Gk word is also used of God's judgment seat (Rm 14:10; 2Co 5:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:7 Once again, Luke shows that troubles surrounding the preaching of the Gospel are due to groundless provocation by its enemies.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:10 Caesar's tribunal. In a trial, the Roman governor carried the same authority as the emperor himself.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:11 Since it appeared that Festus might concede to the Jews and have Paul's trial moved to Jerusalem, Paul requests a change of venue. Every Roman citizen had the right to have his case heard in the emperor's court in Rome. The current emperor, Nero, had not yet become a terrible persecutor of the Church, as he had by AD 68, when Paul and Peter were martyred. See chronology, p cix.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:12 council. Group of men who gave advice to the governor, esp regarding legal matters. However, the final decision concerning what to do with Paul rested solely on the governor.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:1–12 The lack of justice in Paul's trial continues under Festus, moving Paul to appeal to Caesar's court in Rome. Governments exist to punish evil and promote good in this life. Support the proper functions of government. But rejoice that ultimate deliverance from evil comes when God declares us "not guilty" for the sake of Christ. • Lord, before Your judgment seat, I deserve to die because of my sins. Thank You that, because Jesus took my punishment, You count me innocent. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:13 Agrippa the king. Herod Agrippa II, son of Herod Agrippa I (cf 12:1), ruled a territory that expanded over the years. He had authority over the temple in Jerusalem. Bernice. Agrippa's sister; they were involved in an incestuous relationship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:15 chief priests … elders. See p 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:16 See note, 24:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:17 tribunal. See note, v 6.
ACTS—NOTE ON 25:19 Festus understood the charges against Paul were of a religious nature, nothing that would condemn him before the Roman government. Festus also understood that the controversy revolved around Jesus, specifically whether or not He was alive. See "The Resurrection," p 1829.
ACTS—NOTE ON 25:23 great pomp. Probably Agrippa and Bernice, as well as all the other officials present, were dressed in their finest. audience hall. Probably in the palace of Herod, where trials were heard. military tribunes. See note, 21:31. There were five cohorts in Caesarea. prominent men. Most likely Gentiles who were well respected and viewed as leaders.
ACTS—NOTE ON 25:26 write to my lord. Whoever presented a case to the emperor had to do so in writing. Festus wanted to appear competent to the emperor, not simply to repeat the religious charges of the Jewish leaders (v 19).
ACTS—NOTE ON 25:27 charges. Cf v 26.
ACTS—NOTE ON 25:13–27 Festus brings Paul's case before King Agrippa and Bernice so they may formulate charges to send with Paul to Rome. Festus fails to set Paul free, even though he knows Paul is innocent. We sin in a similar way when we hold a grudge against someone. Repent of all grudges. Jesus, who was innocent of all charges against Him, took the punishment we deserve for all the times we hold grudges. • Christ Jesus, thank You for Your willingness to be charged unjustly and for taking our punishment! Because of You, we no longer have any charges against us in the heavenly Father's court. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 26:2–3 On Paul's rhetoric, see note, 24:10.
ACTS—NOTE ON 26:3 customs and controversies. Agrippa's great-grandfather Herod the Great was a convert to Judaism (Ant 14:403) but ruled Judea ruthlessly. See note, Mt 2:3. Thus Agrippa would be familiar with the differences between the various religious groups among the Jews. See p 1557.
ACTS—NOTE ON 26:5 party. Translated "sect" in 24:5 (see note); used here simply to designate a group of Jews. Pharisee. See p 1557. Jesus often condemned their self-righteousness (cf Mt 15:1–11; 23:26; Lk 18:10–14).
ACTS—NOTE ON 26:6 hope in the promise. In this context, Paul specifically means God's promise of the resurrection of the dead, grounded in the resurrection of Jesus (cf 23:6). Jesus is also the ultimate fulfillment of the hope the Jews held and the ultimate fulfillment of the promises of the OT.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:8 As a whole, the Jews believed in the resurrection of the dead. Hence, it does not follow that Paul should be (unjustly) accused simply for proclaiming that Jesus' resurrection is the basis for the believer's resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:10 saints. See p 1904. chief priests. See p 1556. put to death. Paul refers to Christians who were martyred for their faith. Stephen's death at the hands of the Jewish leaders was only the first such death recorded. I cast my vote against them. Some argue Paul refers to his membership in the Council, by which he would be allowed to vote in matters of such executions. More likely, Paul acted as an agent for the Council. Even if Paul did not actually cast a vote, his approval to these executions was tantamount to voting.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:11 make them blaspheme. Paul attempted to get them to deny their Christian faith or to profess it in a way that Jewish officials would regard as blasphemous.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:1–11 Paul makes his defense before King Agrippa. He describes his zealous opposition to Jesus and the Gospel message. Because we are born in sin (Ps 51:5), we all have an ungodly past, even if we have never persecuted Christians the way Paul did. Be assured that Christ forgives and delivers us, just as He did Paul. • Jesus, thank You for bearing my sin. Let me see others with the love You have for them, and empower me to share the Gospel of Your love with them. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:12–18 Cf 9:1–19; 22:6–16. Paul adds more details to the account: (1) everyone with Paul fell to the ground; (2) Jesus spoke in Hbr or Aram; (3) Jesus' words, "It is hard for you to kick against the goads" (v 14); and (4) Jesus' explanation of Paul's mission (vv 16–18). Paul also omits several details: that it was Jesus of Nazareth speaking, any mention of his blindness, God restoring his sight through Ananias, and the words Ananias spoke.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:12 chief priests. See p 1556.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:14 Hebrew language. Since Paul is speaking to Romans and Gentiles, he adds details about the language he heard. kick against the goads. Gk proverb. A goad was a pointed stick used to guide or drive certain livestock. See note, Jgs 3:31. Jesus may have meant that Paul's opposition was futile, or that Paul needed to repent of his sin of opposing Jesus and believe in Him instead.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:16 servant. Paul was to assist Jesus in His divine work (cf 13:5, where this word, translated "assist," describes John Mark's work). See p 1904. witness. See note, 22:15. I will appear to you. Jesus promises additional appearances to Paul (cf 18:9; 22:17–18; 23:11; 2Co 12:1–10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:18 turn from darkness to light. A picture of the sinner's conversion from unbelief to faith, focusing on inner transformation (cf Is 42:16; Eph 5:8; Col 1:12–13; 1Pt 2:9). See "turn," p 1080. "The Scriptures flatly call natural man in spiritual and divine things darkness (Ephesians 5:8; Acts 26:18)" (FC SD II 10). from the power of Satan to God. Another way of describing conversion, emphasizing under whose authority one lives. forgiveness of sins. Received when someone is brought to faith (cf 2:38; 22:16). sanctified by faith in Me. Expression referring to those who have been converted to faith, i.e., Christians, emphasizing that the object of faith is Jesus. See p 1904.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:20 repent. See p 1080. turn to God. See p 1080. The essence of what Paul (and the other apostles) preached to unbelievers (cf v 18; 3:19; 20:21). See note, Mt 3:2. deeds in keeping with their repentance. When people are brought to faith, their actions demonstrate their new standing before God. John the Baptist preached a similar message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:23 Christ must suffer. All of Scripture shows that the Christ would have to suffer to save the world (cf 17:3; Is 53). See p 1245. first to rise. Paul emphasizes that Jesus' resurrection from the dead ensures the resurrection of believers. proclaim light. The light of the Gospel, the message of life and salvation, is what Jesus preached (cf 13:47; Is 49:6; see notes, Ac 26:18; Jn 1:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:24 Festus recognizes Paul is quite well educated, but he cannot comprehend what Paul is saying (cf 1Co 1:18). Most problematic for Festus would be the idea of a Savior who would die for His people and the concept of a resurrection from the dead.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:26 done in a corner. Paul uses another Gk proverb to show that information about Jesus and the proclamation of Him as the Savior were common knowledge.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:28 persuade me to be a Christian? Paul's response (v 29) shows that Agrippa is not yet a believer; he is being sarcastic or making a joke.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:29 become such as I am. Paul wants all his hearers to become Christians. Luth: "This noble word naturally brings with it a burning hunger and unquenchable thirst that can never be filled. Even though many thousands of people believed in it, we would still desire that no person would want for it. Such thirst is ever active and knows no rest, but impels us to speak. … However, this thirst not only is not slaked by its speaking, it is also made worse with gall and vinegar, as was the thirst which Christ experienced on the cross [John 19:29]. St. Paul felt such a thirst, Acts 26 [:29], when he wished that everyone were as he himself—except for his chains. … You too have been given such a thirst for the salvation of your brethren, which is a reliable sign of a genuine faith" (AE 43:62–63).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:31 Festus and Agrippa agree that Paul is not guilty of the crimes with which the Jews charged him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:32 Agrippa's comment implies that Festus should have declared Paul innocent before his appeal to Caesar.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:12–32 Paul continues his defense before King Agrippa, recounting how the Lord converted him from an ardent persecutor of the faith to an avid apostle. To refuse to listen to God's clear Word is to remain in—or turn back to—darkness. The Lord turns us from darkness to light when we hear and believe the beautiful message of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection. • We give thanks to You, Jesus, for turning us from the darkness of eternal death to Your eternal light. Make us witnesses of what You have done for us and for all people. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1 we. Luke is now with Paul; this begins the third "we" section. See "Relationship to the Gospel according to Luke," p 1829. centurion of the Augustan Cohort. The military division is known to have been stationed in Syria at this time, but the origin and significance of the term "Augustan" is not clear. See note, 10:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:2 Aristarchus. Accompanied Paul when he brought the offering for the poor in Jerusalem (cf 20:4; see note, 24:17). He also was with Paul while Paul was imprisoned in Rome (Col 4:10; Phm 24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:3 Sidon. The Gospel had been preached in this area earlier (Phoenicia; 11:19). See color map 4. go to his friends. Fellow Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:4 lee of Cyprus. The ship sailed on the east and north sides of the island so that it was shielded from strong westerly winds.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:6 Most likely, the ship hauled grain from Alexandria, Egypt, to Asia Minor and Rome (cf v 38). Switching to another ship was part of the centurion's plan for the transport of the prisoners.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:7 lee of Crete. The ship sailed to the east and south of the island to avoid strong northwest winds. See note, v 4.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:9 dangerous. See p 1892. Fast. See ESV note. It was now Oct or later.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:10 Most likely Paul is offering advice based on his experience as a seasoned traveler; he had already endured three shipwrecks (2Co 11:25). Paul later prophesies concerning the voyage (vv 22–24).
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:11 pilot. Probably referring to the person in charge of the day-to-day operations of the ship; might also refer to the captain of the ship.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:12 Winter months for sea travel were considered Nov 11–Mar 10. See p 1892.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:14 northeaster. From a word combining Gk "east wind" and Lat "northeast wind." This particular northeaster probably blew down from Mount Ida on Crete. See map, p 1886.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:15 could not face the wind. Lit, "could not look the wind in the eye." The sailors were unable to bring the bow of the ship into the wind.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:16 Cauda. Small island 22 mi S of Crete. secure the ship's boat. A small boat, used for transporting passengers and as a lifeboat, was usually pulled behind the larger ship. Here the small boat was probably brought aboard.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:17 supports to undergird. Large cables or ropes were secured around the hull of the ship to help it weather fierce storms. Syrtis. One of two treacherous sandbars (here the larger one is meant) off the coast of Libya. They were much feared by ancient sailors.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:20 no small tempest. Understatement; the storm prevented them from navigating by the sun or the stars.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:22–26 Paul focuses on building up the hope of those on the ship through his powerful and reliable God.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:23 the God to whom I belong. Paul powerfully expresses his trust and confidence in the one true God by emphasizing God's ownership of him. See notes, Ex 6:7; Ac 17:28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:24 stand before Caesar. This vision gives divine assurance that God's promise to Paul regarding Rome would be fulfilled. Luth: "Because there are some godly men, or only one godly man, in the same ship, the ship must reach port safe and sound, however much it has been tossed about by a heavy storm, even though a thousand devils have been fighting in opposition and causing tumult in the same ship. So also for the sake of Paul alone, a ship is saved and 276 men who were with him in the ship" (AE 6:217).
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:25 Paul bases his encouragement on his faith that God would fulfill His precise promises of deliverance. Perhaps the shipmates listened closely because of their perilous situation.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:27 For 14 days, the storm drove the ship west from Cauda to Malta. See map, p 1895.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:30 The sailors tried to make it appear that they were attempting to secure the ship's position, but they were actually seeking to escape under the cover of darkness.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:31 If all the experienced sailors abandoned the ship, the prospect of safety for the remaining passengers was dim.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:33–35 Paul encourages the men to eat, leading by example. He was not officiating at the Lord's Supper, as some suppose (consider all the unbelievers present), but simply giving thanks to God for his food.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:37 276 persons. Other ancient accounts of travel by ship show that such a large number of passengers on a grain ship was entirely possible; alternatively, see ESV note.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:38 throwing out the wheat. Some of the cargo had already been thrown off. As a last resort, the remainder of the wheat was thrown overboard.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1–38 Grave difficulties beset Paul's journey to Rome, yet the Lord assures Paul that he will reach his journey's goal. When the trials of life weigh us down, it is easy for us to lose hope and stop trusting God. Yet God promises He will never leave us nor forsake us (Dt 31:6, 8; Heb 13:5). Through Jesus' saving work, the Father keeps us with Him forever. • Father, be with us always in this world, especially when we are tossed about by the everyday storms of life. Grant us safe passage until we reach our final destination of heaven. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:40 Apparently the throwing overboard of the ship's tackle (v 19) did not include the anchors or the foresail.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:42 kill the prisoners. The guards were subject to punishment if their prisoners escaped. See note, 16:27; cf 12:18–19.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:44 all were brought safely to land. Paul's promise from God is fulfilled. Divine intervention causes everyone to be rescued.
ACTS—NOTE ON 27:39–44 After a harrowing journey, the ship carrying Paul wrecks on an island. However, all the passengers are saved. Have you ever blamed God for the problems in your life? Have you forgotten that even through hardships, God is working for your benefit (Rm 8:28)? Rejoice today that His love and care for you are infinite (Rm 8:38–39)! • Lord, put all the problems in my life to good use. I praise You that nothing compares to the grace and mercy You show me, now and forever. Amen.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:2 native people. Lit, "bearded ones." They were of Phoenician descent and spoke a Phoenician dialect.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:3 viper. A venomous snake.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:4 murderer. The natives concluded that Paul must have been guilty of a serious crime, and that he was now being punished with certain death. Justice. Among the Gk gods and goddesses, Justice was the daughter of Zeus who exacted revenge on humans. However, the natives might possibly be speaking of "justice" in the general sense of the word.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:6 Since Paul overcame a bite from a deadly snake, the people figured he was more than human. Paul had faced a similar misconception in Lystra (14:8–13). Most likely Paul corrected their false notions.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:7 chief man … Publius. Perhaps a prominent citizen or benefactor of the island, or someone operating under the authority of the Roman official of Sicily.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:8–9 With God's power, Paul healed Publius's father from his sickness. Hearing of this miracle, sick people from all over the island came to Paul and likewise were healed. It is likely Paul preached the Gospel as he healed.
ACTS—NOTE ON 28:1–10 At Malta, Paul amazes the native people by surviving a snakebite, and they believe he is a god. As he heals many sick people, they will learn that his power comes from the one true God, not from Paul himself. By God's miraculous power in Christ, He rescues His people from sin, death, and ignorance. • Thank You, Holy Spirit, for showing us the true God! Keep our faith in Him, that we may always know His forgiveness and life. Amen.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:11 twin gods. Castor and Pollux, sons of the Gk god Zeus, were believed to be the patrons of sailors. The constellation Gemini was associated with them.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:13 made a circuit. In sailing, this is known as tacking, the changing of direction by bringing the bow into the wind.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:14 brothers. See p 1901.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:15 the Forum of Appius and Three Taverns. C 33 and 43 mi from Rome, respectively. Both were located on the Appian Way. See map, p 1895. thanked God and took courage. Luth: "When a plague and other misfortunes assail us, we, too, should say that … Satan is raging and is angry, but that God is merciful and is kindly disposed toward us because we believe in His Son. And in this manner the saintly martyrs overcame death and all dangers; for they were sure that God was kind to them. … Therefore they even rejoiced in their adversities and scoffed at Satan" (AE 3:264).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:16 Paul was allowed a certain level of freedom, being placed under house arrest with a guard chained to him (cf v 20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:17 Brothers. Here used to address Jews, specifically the local leaders; see notes, 22:1, 5. Paul's innocence under Roman law is again asserted. customs. The oral law. See "Pharisees," p 1557.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:18 death penalty. Paul would have to be found guilty of a crime under Roman law in order to be executed, though he was not guilty.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:20 hope of Israel. The hope of the resurrection (cf 24:15; 26:6–8; see notes, 26:6, 8), fulfilled in Christ Jesus. Paul's use here could also include the fulfilled hope of the Jews, the kingdom of God (v 23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:21 brothers. Paul's Jewish listeners refer to fellow Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:22 this sect … is spoken against. The Jewish leaders refer to the Christians (see note, 24:5), whom other Jews denounced.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:23 kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66. convince them about Jesus. Paul's message centered on Jesus and His saving work as the fulfillment of the Jews' expectations. Law of Moses … Prophets. See note, Lk 24:44.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:24 Once more Paul learns by experience that "not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel" (Rm 9:6). See notes, Rm 9:6–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:25 Holy Spirit was right. The Holy Spirit inspired the Scriptures (2Tm 3:16; 2Pt 1:21); thus what He had spoken through Isaiah was true.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:26–27 Words taken from God's call of Isaiah (Is 6:1–13). The communication assigned to Isaiah was not a pleasant one. He was to proclaim to an apostate nation that their land would become utterly desolate. Because the people would refuse to heed the call to repentance, only a stump would remain when Israel, the tree of the Lord's planting (cf Jer 11:16–17), was felled by the axe of divine judgment. Paul tells his Jewish audience that this warning of God applies also to them. Chem: "The bondage of the unregenerate man is described. … The statement in Acts 28:26–27 is sad, pointing out that even when God gives His Word, men are not enlightened" (LTh 1:240).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:28–31 Luke concludes his account by emphasizing the progress of the Gospel (see note, 1:8). Paul was later released, may have travelled to Spain (Rm 15:24), and was likely beheaded at Rome in AD 68 under the emperor Nero. See chronology, p cix. Luke may have chosen to break the story here to end on a positive note but more likely he wrote Ac before Paul's death.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:28 salvation. Attained through the work of Christ Jesus (cf Lk 2:30–32). See p 1904. Gentiles; they will listen. Third time in Ac that Paul makes such a statement (cf 13:46–47; 18:6). He also hopes that such a strong statement of the Law will produce repentance in the hearts of his Jewish listeners. Note that the Gentiles have never been shut out from God's promises (cf Ps 67:2–3; Is 65:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:30 at his own expense. Some argue this phrase should be "in his own rented quarters" or the like. It is more likely that, being under house arrest, Paul still had to provide for his own needs; see note, 24:23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:31 Completes the story of Ac, outlined in 1:8 (cf Lk 24:47); with Paul's unhindered preaching and teaching in Rome, the Gospel had gone throughout the earth (see pp 1828–30). proclaiming the kingdom of God. Summary statement of Paul's preaching (cf v 23), which was also what Jesus preached (cf 1:3). See pp 1565–66.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:11–31 Paul reaches Rome safely and peacefully. Although not all of Paul's fellow Jews believe the Gospel, Paul proclaims it without hindrance to the Gentiles, thus fulfilling Christ's promise that the Gospel would be proclaimed to all nations. Today, pray that the Lord would break up the hardness of your heart. Rejoice in the message of forgiveness and life through Jesus Christ that is for all people, including you. • Lord, through Your eternal Word, soften my heart. Grant me Your salvation so I may be counted among Your faithful people and proclaim Your name. Amen.

ROMANS THROUGH PHILEMON

The Pauline Epistles

> When you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers…. You received from us how you ought to walk and to please God…. For you know what instructions we gave you through the Lord Jesus. (1Th 2:13; 4:1, 2)

The earliest collection of New Testament documents was the 13 Epistles, or Letters, of the apostle Paul. The early Christians immediately regarded these Letters as God's Word, like the writings of the Prophets (2Pt 3:15–16).

The Apostle Paul

The apostle Paul grew up as Saul of Tarsus in Cilicia (Ac 9:11; see map, p 1857). His father was a Diaspora Jew and a freedman in Roman society (Ac 16:37–38; 22:25–29). Paul was apprenticed as a tentmaker (Ac 18:3) but also studied the Scriptures as a Pharisee at Jerusalem under Rabbi Gamaliel the Elder (Ac 22:3). Gamaliel was the grandson of Rabbi Hillel, who was known for his progressive attitudes toward proselytes and for founding a key school of Jewish thought, Beth Hillel. See p 1558.

Paul zealously defended his Jewish faith by arresting Christians and supporting their execution, since he regarded them as false teachers (Ac 7:58; 8:1–3; 26:9–11). In AD 36, Jesus confronted Paul while he traveled to Damascus to arrest Christians there (Ac 9:1–9). Jesus turned Paul's heart. Paul was baptized and immediately began to proclaim Jesus as the Messiah (Ac 9:10–22). Retreating from persecution, Paul spent some years east of Damascus in the Arabian Desert before returning to Damascus and to Antioch as a teacher (Ac 11:25–26; Gal 1:17–18). In AD 47, the Holy Spirit directed the congregation at Antioch to send Paul out as a missionary (Ac 13:1–3; see map, p 1886), a calling he fulfilled until AD 68, when the Roman emperor Nero ordered Paul's execution. Paul's Letters were written during his missionary journeys and while he was in prison for proclaiming Christ (see p 2042). He typically had the help of a scribe (see notes, Rm 16:22; Gal 6:11); friends hand-delivered the Letters (see note, Ti 3:13).

The Format of the Epistles

Early Christian scribes began to gather, copy, and circulate the apostle Paul's Letters almost immediately. In this respect, Paul's 13 Epistles shaped the New Testament, earliest Christian teaching (e.g., the Apostles' Creed), and earliest practice. After Jesus Himself, no other leader had greater influence on Christianity's direction. Using the Old Testament, Paul helped the other apostles recognize the full implications of Jesus' teaching, sacrifice, resurrection, and commission to spread the Gospel (Ac 15:1–29). Though the claim of some critics that Paul "created" Christianity is bizarre, one can hardly exaggerate Paul's importance. Luther wrote, "No one stresses the grace we have through Christ so valiantly as St. Paul does" (AE 30:4).

Paul established the format and style for Christian letters until the fourth century. Paul's Letters still greatly influence how Christians relate to one another today. These should be among the first books of Scripture people study. To support the spread of the Gospel and the faith of new believers, the apostle Paul made letter writing an important activity for the earliest Christians.

Ancient Letters

Paul's Letters are not the first to appear in the Bible. In Old Testament times, letters in Hebrew or Aramaic were common means for administration (cf 2Sm 11:15; 1Ki 21:8–10; 2Ki 5:5–6; 10:1–3, 6; 19:10–14; 2Ch 2:11–16; 21:12–15; Ezr 1:1–4; Ne 6:5–7; Jer 29:1–23, 25–28). Archaeologists have also discovered numerous ostraca (pot shard) letters for brief, official communications in Israel.

The Apocrypha (see pp 1562–64) shows how the tradition of letter writing continued after the tribe of Judah returned from exile in Babylon. For example, the priestly leadership in Judah sent letters to Jewish communities in Egypt and elsewhere to organize the Jewish feasts (cf 2Macc 1:1–9). Jewish "encyclicals" were delivered by envoys who ensured that the letters' contents were applied among those who received them (cf Ac 9:1–2; 15:22–32; 28:21). Elements of these Jewish letters influenced the way Paul wrote and worked as a spiritual leader.

However, the format and rhetoric of Greek letters also greatly influenced Paul. Archaeologists have discovered "handbooks" for writing Greek letters that illustrate various styles and occasions for writing, much as one may adapt and use form letters today. Paul likely studied such Greek letters.

The Style of Paul's Letters

Paul commonly wrote his Letters in an exhortative or sermonic style, admonishing and encouraging his readers on the basis of biblical doctrines and stories. By applying God's Law and Gospel, Paul called his readers to account when they strayed and announced God's forgiveness for them when they repented.

Paul's Letters are clearly more intimate than administrative letters of the time. They are more like family letters, since he viewed the churches as households. Paul's Letters are also much longer than most Greek letters. Christian Letters were carefully written to convey apostolic instruction, which flowed from Christ, the Head of the Church. Not all apostolic Letters were preserved, since not every Letter would always apply for future congregations (see pp 1979–80). However, as illustrated by the quotes above, the NT apostolic Letters were received as God's Word.

Below are listed typical elements of Paul's Letters. As you study Paul's Letters, be sure to compare the outline of each with the elements below to discover the character of Paul's work. Many of these features also appear in the General Epistles, written by other apostles and Christian leaders (see pp 2099–2101).

Just as the early Christians learned to love Christian doctrine and value the warmth of fellowship in Christ by reading Paul's Letters, draw on these blessings and examples for the life of your family and congregation. Paul's Letters will teach you the meaning and use of the Old Testament and will instill in you an enduring love for the Gospel of Jesus.

Key Terms and Phrases in Paul's Epistles

The apostle Paul wrote about doctrine more thoroughly than any other biblical author. Whereas the evangelists taught through stories, Paul taught by expounding key passages of the Old Testament and key events in Jesus' life. He defined terms, produced commonsense arguments, and applied these teachings to life. The Gospels and Acts focus on what happened (see p 1572); Paul emphasizes why things happened. As a result, Paul is the most consulted theologian in Christianity.

To gain a deeper understanding of Christian teaching, study the list of terms used by Paul, many of which are rooted in the Old Testament. The list shows how Paul's terms interrelate and center on particular doctrines.

accursed. Gk anathema; used in LXX for Hbr cherem, one meaning of which is "something devoted to God for destruction" (Lv 27:28–29; Dt 7:26; Jsh 6:17) and thus "cursed" (cf Rm 9:3; 1Co 12:3; 16:22). See "curse," p 6.

adoption. Gk huiothesia, "placing as a son." A Greco-Roman legal term signifying the granting of the full rights and privileges of sonship in a family to which one does not belong by birth (Rm 8:15, 23; 9:4; Gal 4:5; Eph 1:5). OT passages describing God's relation to Israel certainly informed Paul's expression (Ex 4:22–23; Hos 11:1). See heir.

amen. From Hbr 'aman, "to be strong" or "trustworthy." Derives from synagogue services. In worship, believers responded "affirmatively" to God's Word for their lives (1Co 14:16; cf Rm 11:36; 15:33; Gal 6:18). See "faithfulness," p 842.

apostle. Gk apostolos; comparable to Hbr shaliach. Both from verbs meaning "to send." The one sent goes with the full authority of the sender. Paul's words are God's words, as are the words of Moses, Elijah, Elisha, and Ezekiel, each of whom was known as a shaliach of God. Paul called himself an apostle in all of his Epistles except Php, 2Th, and Phm. Paul thus firmly established his authority as one appointed directly by the risen Lord, whom he had seen (1Co 4:1; 9:2; 11:23; 15:8). Unlike any others to whom this title is applied (by Paul himself or others), Paul and the Twelve were called and sent directly by Jesus.

apostolic ministry. Gk apostole, a technical term for the office and work of an apostle of Christ (Ac 1:25; Rm 1:5; 1Co 9:2). See apostle.

baptize. Gk baptizo; in common Gk lit, "to wash, purify, or dip." Paul often used the term to mean "wash" or "cleanse" with OT cleansing rituals informing this sense (1Co 6:11; Eph 5:26–27; Ti 3:5–6; cf Ezk 36:25–27). This term occurs more often in the Gospels, but Paul gives a more thorough doctrine of Baptism (Rm 6:1–11). See clean.

beloved. Gk agapetoi, fellow Christians. See love.

bless. Gk eulogeo, "praise" or "speak well of." Paul used prayers based on the Israelite berakah ("blessed") pattern (Dn 2:20–23; 2Co 1:3–4; 1Pt 1:3–5). See p 842.

Body of Christ. Gk soma christou. Paul repeatedly describes the Church as the Body of Jesus, believers united under one head. See member, church, and fellowship.

brothers. Gk adelphoi, a general term Paul used for fellow Christians (Rm 8:29; Eph 6:23) and co-workers in Christ's mission (Php 4:21), whether male or female. However, Paul also used the term specifically for men who led congregations (see note, 1Co 12:1). By grace and in Baptism, the Father adopts Christians into the sonship that belongs to Jesus by nature (Gal 3:25–29). This makes people unrelated by blood true siblings to one another. See adoption, in Christ, Body of Christ, and fellowship.

by faith. Gk ek pisteos. Paul's use is based on Hab 2:4; cf Rm 1:17; Gal 3:11; Heb 10:38. Faith serves as the instrument of key gifts in Paul's teaching: life, justification, righteousness, and blessing.

by no means. Gk me genoito, "may it not be."

call. Gk kaleo, "to summon," and thereby "to choose." See chosen.

chosen. Gk eklektos; Eng "elect." Key NT description of Christians (1Th 1:4; 2Th 2:13; 1Pt 1:1–2; Rv 17:14). Although God chose us "before the foundation of the world" (Eph 1:4), His choice was not arbitrary. He chose us to be saved by Christ and in union with Christ, who Himself is God's "Chosen One" (Lk 9:35; 1Pt 2:4–6). God chose us in love, not anger or judgment; Paul speaks only of a choosing for redemption. Cf Rm 8:29–33; 11:5; Jn 15:16. See p 1929.

church. Gk ekklesia, "ones called out" for a public gathering. The term would not immediately have sacred association in the minds of Gentile converts; it could simply mean "assembly." It is most often used by Paul for a local congregation, but also for the universal Church (Eph 1:22). The Church is the body of believers created and sustained by God (1Co 12), the new Israel (Gal 6:16), people called together by faith through God's Word and Sacrament. Paul also uses the term to replace "kingdom," found in the Gospels. See "great congregation," p 842.

clean. Gk katharos, "pure"; used in opposition to ritual uncleanness as described in the OT. See baptize; see also p 6.

coming. Gk parousia; commonly described a royal visit. Used 18 times in NT for Christ's reappearing in glory for the Last Day.

condemn. Gk katakrino, a legal term embracing both sentence and punishment (cf Rm 8:1). See judge, weigh.

confess. Gk homologeo, lit, "to say the same thing." To bear witness before God, the congregation, and the world. Believers speak the same truths, which they have heard from God, namely the faith they learned in the Word. See p 1975.

conscience. Gk syneidesis, an internal ability to make some discernment between right and wrong. The conscience is a gift from God but is fallen and fallible. Greeks equate it with a personal moral code of behavior (1Co 10:25–26). All people have a "conscience" (2Co 4:2), whether Christian (1Co 8:7) or non-Christian (Rm 2:14–16; 1Co 10:29). It is not separate from an individual but is shaped by a person's experience (2Co 5:11).

covenant. Gk diatheke, "a formal agreement." See "covenant," p 6.

deacon. Gk diakonos, "servant" or "helper." An office in early Christianity, also in Hellenistic culture. The term is applied to women (Rm 16:1) as "deaconesses."

delivered. Gk paradidomi, "to hand over" as one passes on a tradition. See tradition, received.

directed. Gk diatasso, "to order or command." See submit.

elder. See note, Ti 1:5.

end. Gk telos; in NT usage it can mean either "termination" (cessation) or "goal" (outcome). See perfect.

faith. Gk pistis, "trust." A gift of God's grace (Eph 2:8–9), not a naturally human power that we are to offer to God. Faith is the instrument by which believers receive God's blessings (e.g., "through faith"). See by faith.

fellowship. Gk koinonia, "sharing," "participation in a common thing." Christian fellowship has both a heavenly and an earthly dimension (1Co 1:9; cf 1Co 10:16; 2Co 8:4; 13:14; Eph 3:6 Php 3:10; Phm 6).

flesh. Gk sarx ; lit, refers to a body (e.g., Gal 3:3) or a human being (Gal 1:16), but Paul uses the term often to mean the "sinful nature" as inherited from our parents (Rm 7:5, 18; 8:8; Gal 5:16, 24). The fallen human nature has self-seeking desires that oppose God. Paul does not mean that the physical world is inherently evil, a teaching in Greek culture and in later Gnosticism.

forgive. Gk aphiemi, "to let go" or "dismiss" sin or debt. A consequence of justification. See freedom.

freedom. Gk eleutheria, "liberty," the opposite of slavery. A consequence of justification. See forgive.

fruit. Gk karpos (singular). Spiritual fruit is the good works of a life produced and guided by God the Holy Spirit—in contrast to deeds (plural) of the self-indulgent life.

gifts. Gk charismata, gracious gifts or abilities from God, connected with an office of service in the congregation. See grace.

give thanks. Gk eulogeo, "to praise," "bless" God in prayer (Eng "eulogy"). See "bless," p 842.

glory. Gk doxa, "brightness," "majestic power," or "fame." God's radiant presence awaiting believers in heaven (2Co 4:17). In the OT, God's glory refers to His visible presence among His people. See pp 6–7.

Gospel. Gk euangelion, "good news" or "message." Based on aggelo, "to bear a message." Summarized by Paul in 1Co 15:1–4; implications described in Rm 1:16. See preach. See also pp xxi–xxxii, 1571–74.

grace. Gk charis, God's generous mercy toward undeserving people (Rm 5:12–21; Ti 3:3–7). God's free and undeserved favor toward sinful humanity is demonstrated in Christ's work of redemption. It is an unearned and undeserved gift, a weighty teaching for Paul. See mercy ; see also "favor," p 6, and "steadfast love," p 843.

heir. Gk kleronomos, "one who receives the promise" or "chosen one." Describes the relationship of believers to the heavenly Father, based on grace. See grace, chosen, adoption, and offspring; see also "portion," p 7.

holy. Gk hagios, "sacred" or "dedicated to God." Set apart to or consecrated to God. Though all Christians are holy before God through Baptism, the apostles and prophets are "set apart" for a unique office (Rm 1:1). See clean, saints; see also p 7.

hope. Gk elpis, confident trust in what is not seen (Heb 11:1). Key to Paul's presentation of the Gospel (Rm 4:18; 5:2, 4–5; 15:4, 13). Grounded in Christ's resurrection, with patient expectation, believers hope in the promise of His return in glory. See promise, resurrection, and faith.

household. Gk oikos or oikonomia, a core family group, including the slaves and children, sharing a home. Paul described a congregation as a household (Gal 6:10). See church.

in Christ. Can mean "by or through Christ," as the agent of our salvation. Christ is also the One in whom we find God's gifts. We are baptized "into Christ" (Gal 3:26–27) and experience what He has (Eph 2:4–6). See fellowship; see also p 1920.

inheritance. See heir.

joy. Gk chara, a mental and emotional appreciation for good things received. A result of God's grace toward believers. See p 2094.

judge. Gk krino and related forms that often connect with Paul's teaching about justification. Christians are to consider things in view of God's Word. See weigh, condemn, and justify.

justify. Gk dikaioo¯, "to declare righteous or free." The basis for the dominant theological truth in Paul's Letters and the Scriptures. When referring to the sinner's relationship to God, "justify" means a verdict, a legal act whereby a person is declared righteous, i.e., forgiven (Gal 3:8, 11, 24; 5:4). Justification of the sinner (Rm 5:6–9) does not depend on obedience to the Law ("works" of the Law, i.e., what the Law requires). See righteousness; see also p 843.

Law. Commonly refers to the Law of Moses, which included moral, civil, and ceremonial commands (as well as instruction about God's mercy). However, see pp 971, 1911.

love. Gk agape, self-giving, sacrificial concern for another person. The word was esp adopted by Christians; it characterizes God and is the basis of His actions toward us in Christ. Those loved by God show love toward others. The weight of Paul's teaching about justification has obscured how frequently he emphasizes love (cf 1Co 13); he uses the term more often than even the apostle John (cf 1Jn). See beloved, brothers, household, and grace; see also "steadfast love," p 843.

member. Gk melos, "limb or part of the body." See Body of Christ, church.

mercy. Gk eleos, "pity," "compassion," moved by the troubles of others. See grace.

message. See preach.

minister. Gk doulos, "slave" or "servant." One who is wholly owned and who owes undivided allegiance and obedience to a master. Many OT believers were called servants of God: Moses (Ps 105:26), Joshua (Jsh 24:29), David (2Sm 7:5), and the prophets (Jer 7:25). Paul uses this term to describe both the pastoral office and his own apostolic office (cf Rm 1:1; 1Co 4:1). See p 101.

mystery. Gk mysterion, "secret," previously kept hidden, but now openly revealed to all (1Co 4:1). God's plan of salvation was hidden in OT times in shadows and types. The mystery is revealed in the Word of God —in Christ. See note, 1Co 14:2. Pagan religions also used "mystery" for secret knowledge that was tightly controlled and limited to a few. Paul stresses that the revelation of Christ is for all people (Eph 3:9).

obey. Gk hypakouo; emphasizes "listening." Cf Rm 1:5.

offspring. Gk sperma, "seed," denoting physical descent or ethnicity. God made promises to Abraham (Gn 12:1–3, 7; 13:14–17; 17:8; 22:16–18; 24:7) about his "offspring" (singular "seed"; Hbr zera'), meaning either a single descendant or many descendants (collective sense; Gal 3:29). In rabbinic fashion, Paul uses this grammatical point to prove a pivotal theological point. Through the one Seed (Christ), believers become the seed of Abraham. See heir.

overseer. Gk episkopos, which is also translated as "bishop." This Early Church pastoral office was made up of Christian men responsible for the well-being of a group or groups in a congregation. See p 2080. See note, Ti 1:5.

participation. See fellowship.

partnership. See fellowship.

peace. Gk eirene; not just absence of war, but wholeness, well-being, unity, and salvation. Christ makes peace and is also the one in whom peace is found (Eph 2:15; cf Lk 2:14; Jn 14:27; 20:19). "Peace" translates Hbr shalom, a common Semitic greeting, consisting of oneness with God (Rm 5:1; Col 1:20) and consequently with others (Eph 2:14–17; 4:3). Peace is present also within believers by God's kindness (Rm 15:13; Php 4:6–7).

perfect. Gk teleios, "something or someone complete." See end.

power. Gk dynamis; forms Eng "dynamic" and "dynamite."

preach. Gk kerysso, the activity of a herald whose role was to make a public announcement or declaration. Paul often uses the Gospel as its object.

promise. Gk epangelia, "an offer to do something" on the basis of a vow. From the same root as "Gospel." See Gospel, covenant. See "vow," p 7, see also p xxxi–xxxii.

ransom. See redemption.

received. Gk paradidomi, a technical term for the handing on and receiving of a divinely given tradition (cf 1Co 15:1–3). See tradition.

redeem. See redemption.

redemption. Gk apolytrosis and related terms, "to buy back" a slave or captive, to set someone free. See pp 101, 843.

resurrection. Gk anastasis, lit, "raise up" from the dead. Paul emphasizes a bodily resurrection (1Co 15) and that Christ's resurrection prepares the way for a believer's resurrection on the Last Day. See coming, end.

revelation. Gk apokalypsis, a disclosure of something previously hidden. See mystery.

righteousness. Gk dikaiosune, the same Gk root term as "justify." Christ's righteousness, His holy "status," was conferred and credited to the world's account because of His death and resurrection (Rm 5:20–21; 1Co 1:30). See p 843.

saints. Gk hagioi, "the holy ones." Christians are made holy and complete through faith in Christ Jesus (Col 1:26–28). See holy; see also "saints," p 843.

salvation. See save.

sanctification. See holy, saints.

save. Gk sozo, "to rescue or deliver." See "salvation," p 843.

servant. Often Gk doulos, slave. See minister. Also Gk diakonos, an office of the Church (cf 1Tm 3:8, 12) or general service (cf Rm 13:4). See service.

service. Gk diakonia; could refer to specific ministry in the Church or to Christian service in general. See servant.

share. See fellowship, taking part.

slave. See minister.

spiritual gifts. Gk pneumatikon, which can describe spiritual gifts, offices, works, or people, as in Gal 6:1.

submit. Gk hypotasso and other forms of tasso, describes orderly relationships, not simply judgments of worth or importance. Cf Lk 2:51.

suffer. Gk pascho, originally meant "experience" or anything "moving" (as in Eng "passion") but came to describe injustice done by one person to another. Paul frequently suffered persecution for preaching the Gospel.

taking part. Gk koinonia, "fellowship," "sharing." Christians share in (1) apostolic doctrine, (2) the Lord's body and blood in Holy Communion, and (3) specific acts of mutual love. See fellowship.

teach. Gk didasko, commonly used by Paul to describe teaching and preaching. Also Gk katecheo, "to instruct" (Rm 2:18; 1Co 14:19; Gal 6:6), as in Eng "catechism" and "catechesis." Such instruction was not yet a highly structured ministry of the Word in the NT. However, see p 1965; see also preach.

thanksgiving. Gk eucharistia, "gratitude," "a prayer of thanksgiving." Eng "Eucharist." See bless.

tradition. Gk paradosis, something "handed down" or "handed over." Paul described the teachings of God's Word and the Sacrament with this term in contrast to mere human tradition. See delivered, received.

type. Gk typos; of objects, a "shape" or "model"; of ideas, a "pattern," as in Eng "prototype." Paul saw in OT persons and events examples for teaching Christians (1Co 10:6, 11) and also prophetic prototypes of NT persons and events (Rm 5:14).

walk. Gk stoicheo, "be in line with" or "keep in step with" (also translated from other terms). Common in ethical sections of Paul's Letters (Eph 4:1, 17; 5:2; 1Th 4:1). See way; see also p 7.

way. Gk hodos, "path" or "manner." See walk; see also "way," p 844.

weigh. Gk diakrino, "to distinguish, to judge." See judge, condemn.

wisdom. Gk sophia. See pp 775–78, 1016.

witness. Gk martyreo, "to testify," "bear witness." The Eng "martyr" is one who dies for his or her testimony. See preach, confess.

works. See fruit.

wrath. Gk orge, the "anger" of God incited by sin, which offends God's righteousness and holiness. As a result, God judges or condemns sinners. However, Christ bore God's wrath for us on the cross. See judge, righteousness, and justify; see also "day of the Lord," p 1079.

Greeting

1 [1]†‡†Paul, a servant[1] of Christ Jesus, called to be an apostle, set apart for the gospel of God, [2]†which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, [3]‡concerning his Son, who was descended from David[2] according to the flesh [4]and was declared to be the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, [5]†through whom we have received grace and apostleship to bring about the obedience of faith for the sake of his name among all the nations, [6]†including you who are called to belong to Jesus Christ,

[7]†To all those in Rome who are loved by God and called to be saints:
Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Longing to Go to Rome

8 † † First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is proclaimed in all the world. 9 † For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I mention you 10 † always in my prayers, asking that somehow by God's will I may now at last succeed in coming to you. 11 † For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift to strengthen you— 12 † that is, that we may be mutually encouraged by each other's faith, both yours and mine. 13 † I want you to know, brothers,[1] that I have often intended to come to you (but thus far have been prevented), in order that I may reap some harvest among you as well as among the rest of the Gentiles. 14 † I am under obligation both to Greeks and to barbarians,[2] both to the wise and to the foolish. 15 † So I am eager to preach the gospel to you also who are in Rome.

The Righteous Shall Live by Faith

16 ‡ † For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek.
17 † For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith for faith,[3] as it is written, “The righteous shall live by faith.”[4]

God’s Wrath on Unrighteousness

18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth. 19For what can be known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. 20For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse. 21For although they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they became futile in their thinking, and their foolish hearts were darkened. 22 Claiming to be wise, they became fools, 23 and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man and birds and animals and creeping things.

24Therefore God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, to the dishonoring of their bodies among themselves, 25 because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever! Amen.

26For this reason God gave them up to dishonorable passions. For their women exchanged natural relations for those that are contrary to nature; 27and the men likewise gave up natural relations with women and were consumed with passion for one another, men committing shameless acts with men and receiving in themselves the due penalty for their error.

28And since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, God gave them up to a debased mind to do what ought not to be done. 29They were filled with all manner of unrighteousness, evil, covetousness, malice. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness. They are gossips, 30slanderers, haters of God, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil, disobedient to parents, 31foolish, faithless, heartless, ruthless. 32Though they know God’s decree that those who practice such things deserve to die, they not only do them but give approval to those who practice them.

God’s Righteous Judgment

2 [1]†† Therefore you have no excuse, O man, every one of you who judges. For in passing judgment on another you condemn yourself, because you, the judge, practice the very same things. [2]† We know that the judgment of God rightly falls on those who practice such things. [3]Do you suppose, O man—you who judge those who practice such things and yet do them yourself—that you will escape the judgment of God? [4]† Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God’s kindness is meant to lead you to repentance? [5]† But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God’s righteous judgment will be revealed.

[6]† He will render to each one according to his works: [7]† to those who by patience in well-doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, he will give eternal life; [8]† but for those who are self-seeking[1] and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury. [9]† There will be tribulation and distress for every human being who does evil, the Jew first and also the Greek, [10]† but glory and honor and peace for everyone who does good, the Jew first and also the Greek. [11]† For God shows no partiality.

God’s Judgment and the Law

12 ‡† For all who have sinned without the law will also perish without the law, and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. 13 † For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law who will be justified. 14 † For when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do what the law requires, they are a law to themselves, even though they do not have the law. 15 † They show that the work of the law is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them 16 † on that day when, according to my gospel, God judges the secrets of men by Christ Jesus.

17 † But if you call yourself a Jew and rely on the law and boast in God 18 † and know his will and approve what is excellent, because you are instructed from the law; 19 † and if you are sure that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness, 20 † an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of children, having in the law the embodiment of knowledge and truth— 21 you then who teach others, do you not teach yourself? While you preach against stealing, do you steal? 22 † You who say that one must not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples? 23 † You who boast in the law dishonor God by breaking the law. 24 † For, as it is written, “The name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you.”

25 † For circumcision indeed is of value if you obey the law, but if you break the law, your circumcision becomes uncircumcision. 26 † So, if a man who is uncircumcised keeps the precepts of the law, will not his uncircumcision be regarded[1] as circumcision? 27 † Then he who is physically uncircumcised but keeps the law will condemn you who have the written code[2] and circumcision but break the law. 28 † For no one is a Jew who is merely one outwardly, nor is circumcision outward and physical.
29 † But a Jew is one inwardly, and circumcision is a matter of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the letter. His praise is not from man but from God.

God’s Righteousness Upheld

3 [1]‡†Then what advantage has the Jew? Or what is the value of circumcision? [2]†Much in every way. To begin with, the Jews were entrusted with the oracles of God. [3]† What if some were unfaithful? Does their faithlessness nullify the faithfulness of God? [4]†By no means! Let God be true though every one were a liar, as it is written,

> “That you may be justified in your words, > and prevail when you are judged.”

[5]†But if our unrighteousness serves to show the righteousness of God, what shall we say? That God is unrighteous to inflict wrath on us? (I speak in a human way.) [6]By no means! For then how could God judge the world?
[7]‡But if through my lie God’s truth abounds to his glory, why am I still being condemned as a sinner? [8]†And why not do evil that good may come?
—as some people slanderously charge us with saying. Their condemnation is just.

No One Is Righteous

9 What then? Are we Jews[1] any better off?[2] No, not at all. For we have already charged that all, both Jews and Greeks, are under sin, 10 as it is written:

"None is righteous, no, not one; 11 no one understands;
no one seeks for God.
12 All have turned aside; together they have become worthless;
no one does good,
not even one."
13 "Their throat is an open grave;
they use their tongues to deceive."
"The venom of asps is under their lips." 14 "Their mouth is full of curses and bitterness."
15 "Their feet are swift to shed blood;
16 in their paths are ruin and misery,
17 and the way of peace they have not known."
18 "There is no fear of God before their eyes."

19 Now we know that whatever the law says it speaks to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be stopped, and the whole world may be held accountable to God. 20 For by works of the law no human being[3] will be justified in his sight, since through the law comes knowledge of sin.

The Righteousness of God Through Faith

21 ††But now the righteousness of God has been manifested apart from the law, although the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it— 22 † the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe. For there is no distinction: 23 †for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, 24 † and are justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, 25 †whom God put forward as a propitiation by his blood, to be received by faith. This was to show God's righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over former sins. 26 †It was to show his righteousness at the present time, so that he might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

27 † Then what becomes of our boasting? It is excluded. By what kind of law? By a law of works? No, but by the law of faith. 28 †For we hold that one is justified by faith apart from works of the law. 29 Or is God the God of Jews only? Is he not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also, 30 † since God is one—who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith. 31 †Do we then overthrow the law by this faith?
By no means! On the contrary, we uphold the law.

Abraham Justified by Faith

4 1 ††What then shall we say was gained by[1] Abraham, our forefather according to the flesh? 2 †For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God. 3 †For what does the Scripture say? “Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him as righteousness.” 4 ‡Now to the one who works, his wages are not counted as a gift but as his
due. 5 And to the one who does not work but believes in[2] him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted as righteousness, 6 † just as David also speaks of the blessing of the one to whom God counts righteousness apart from works:

7 ‡ “Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven,
and whose sins are covered;
8 blessed is the man against whom the Lord will not count his sin.”

9 † Is this blessing then only for the circumcised, or also for the uncircumcised? We say that faith was counted to Abraham as righteousness.
10 How then was it counted to him? Was it before or after he had been circumcised? It was not after, but before he was circumcised. 11 † He received the sign of circumcision as a seal of the righteousness that he had by faith while he was still uncircumcised. The purpose was to make him the father of all who believe without being circumcised, so that righteousness would be counted to them as well, 12 † and to make him the father of the circumcised who are not merely circumcised but who also walk in the footsteps of the faith that our father Abraham had before he was circumcised.

The Promise Realized Through Faith

13 For the promise to Abraham and his offspring that he would be heir of the world did not come through the law but through the righteousness of faith. 14 For if it is the adherents of the law who are to be the heirs, faith is null and the promise is void. 15 For the law brings wrath, but where there is no law there is no transgression.

16 That is why it depends on faith, in order that the promise may rest on grace and be guaranteed to all his offspring—not only to the adherent of the law but also to the one who shares the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all, 17 as it is written, “I have made you the father of many nations”— in the presence of the God in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into existence the things that do not exist. 18 In hope he believed against hope, that he should become the father of many nations, as he had been told, “So shall your offspring be.” 19 He did not weaken in faith when he considered his own body, which was as good as dead (since he was about a hundred years old), or when he considered the barrenness of Sarah’s womb. 20 No distrust made him waver concerning the promise of God, but he grew strong in his faith as he gave glory to God, 21 fully convinced that God was able to do what he had promised. 22 That is why his faith was “counted to him as righteousness.” 23 But the words “it was counted to him” were not written for his sake alone, 24 but for ours also. It will be counted to us who believe in him who raised from the dead Jesus our Lord, 25 who was delivered up for our trespasses and raised for our justification.

Peace with God Through Faith

5 [1]‡†Therefore, since we have been justified by faith, we[1] have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. [2]† Through him we have also obtained access by faith[1] into this grace in which we stand, and we[2] rejoice[3] in hope of the glory of God. [3]‡†More than that, we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, [4]and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, [5]†and hope does not put us to shame, because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us.

[6]† For while we were still weak, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly. [7]‡For one will scarcely die for a righteous person—though perhaps for a good person one would dare even to die— [8]but God shows his love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. [9]†Since, therefore, we have now been justified by his blood, much more shall we be saved by him from the wrath of God. [10]† For if while we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by his life. [11]†More than that, we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

12 Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all sinned—13 for sin indeed was in the world before the law was given, but sin is not counted where there is no law. 14 Yet death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those whose sinning was not like the transgression of Adam, who was a type of the one who was to come.

15 But the free gift is not like the trespass. For if many died through one man's trespass, much more have the grace of God and the free gift by the grace of that one man Jesus Christ abounded for many. 16 And the free gift is not like the result of that one man's sin. For the judgment following one trespass brought condemnation, but the free gift following many trespasses brought justification. 17 For if, because of one man's trespass, death reigned through that one man, much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and the free gift of righteousness reign in life through the one man Jesus Christ.

18 Therefore, as one trespass[1] led to condemnation for all men, so one act of righteousness[2] leads to justification and life for all men. 19 For as by the one man's disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man's obedience the many will be made righteous. 20 Now the law came in to increase the trespass, but where sin increased, grace abounded all the more, 21 so that, as sin reigned in death, grace also might reign through righteousness leading to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

6 [1]‡‡What shall we say then? Are we to continue in sin that grace may abound? [2]†By no means! How can we who died to sin still live in it? [3]†Do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? [4]†We were buried therefore with him by baptism into death, in order that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life.

[5]†For if we have been united with him in a death like his, we shall certainly be united with him in a resurrection like his. [6]†We know that our old self[1] was crucified with him in order that the body of sin might be brought to nothing, so that we would no longer be enslaved to sin. [7]†For one who has died has been set free[2] from sin. [8]Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him. [9]†We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him. [10]†For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. [11]†So you also must consider yourselves dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.

[12]†Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, to make you obey its passions. [13]† Do not present your members to sin as instruments for unrighteousness, but present yourselves to God as those who have been brought from death to life, and your members to God as instruments for righteousness. [14]†For sin will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace.

Slaves to Righteousness

15 ‡ † What then? Are we to sin because we are not under law but under grace? By no means! 16 † Do you not know that if you present yourselves to anyone as obedient slaves,[3] you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? 17 † But thanks be to God, that you who were once slaves of sin have become obedient from the heart to the standard of teaching to which you were committed, 18 † and, having been set free from sin, have become slaves of righteousness. 19 † I am speaking in human terms, because of your natural limitations. For just as you once presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness leading to sanctification.
20 † For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. 21 † But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.
22 † But now that you have been set free from sin and have become slaves of God, the fruit you get leads to sanctification and its end, eternal life. 23 † For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Released from the Law

7 [1]†† Or do you not know, brothers[1]—for I am speaking to those who know the law—that the law is binding on a person only as long as he lives?
[2]†† For a married woman is bound by law to her husband while he lives, but if her husband dies she is released from the law of marriage.[2] [3]Accordingly, she will be called an adulteress if she lives with another man while her husband is alive. But if her husband dies, she is free from that law, and if she marries another man she is not an adulteress.

[4]† Likewise, my brothers, you also have died to the law through the body of Christ, so that you may belong to another, to him who has been raised from the dead, in order that we may bear fruit for God. [5]† For while we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit for death. [6]† But now we are released from the law, having died to that which held us captive, so that we serve in the new way of the Spirit and not in the old way of the written code.[1]

The Law and Sin

7 ‡ † What then shall we say? That the law is sin? By no means! Yet if it had not been for the law, I would not have known sin. For I would not have known what it is to covet if the law had not said, “You shall not covet.” 8 † But sin, seizing an opportunity through the commandment, produced in me all kinds of covetousness. For apart from the law, sin lies dead. 9 † I was once alive apart from the law, but when the commandment came, sin came alive and I died. 10 † The very commandment that promised life proved to be death to me. 11 † For sin, seizing an opportunity through the commandment, deceived me and through it killed me. 12 † So the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

13 † Did that which is good, then, bring death to me? By no means! It was sin, producing death in me through what is good, in order that sin might be shown to be sin, and through the commandment might become sinful beyond measure. 14 † For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of the flesh, sold under sin. 15 ‡ For I do not understand my own actions. For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate. 16 Now if I do what I do not want, I agree with the law, that it is good. 17 So now it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me. 18 For I know that nothing good dwells in me, that is, in my flesh. For I have the desire to do what is right, but not the ability to carry it out. 19 For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I keep on doing. 20 Now if I do what I do not want, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me.

21 † So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand. 22 † For I delight in the law of God, in my inner being, 23 † but I see in my members another law waging war against the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members. 24 † Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death? 25 † Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I myself serve the law of God with my mind, but with my flesh I serve the law of sin.

Life in the Spirit

8 [1]‡†There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.[1] [2]†For the law of the Spirit of life has set you[2] free in Christ Jesus from the law of sin and death. [3]†For God has done what the law, weakened by the flesh, could not do. By sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin,[3] he condemned sin in the flesh, [4]†in order that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. [5]†For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on the things of the Spirit. [6]†For to set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace. [7]‡For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God, for it does not submit to God's law; indeed, it cannot. [8]Those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

[9]†You, however, are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if in fact the Spirit of God dwells in you. Anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. [10]†But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness. [11]†If the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, he who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit who dwells in you.

Heirs with Christ

12 ††So then, brothers,[1] we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh. 13 †For if you live according to the flesh you will die, but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. 14 †For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons[2] of God. 15 †For you did not receive the spirit of slavery to fall back into fear, but you have received the Spirit of adoption as sons, by whom we cry, “Abba! Father!” 16 † The Spirit himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, 17 †and if children, then heirs—heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ, provided we suffer with him in order that we may also be glorified with him.

Future Glory

18 ‡ † For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worth comparing with the glory that is to be revealed to us. 19 † For the creation waits with eager longing for the revealing of the sons of God. 20 † For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of him who subjected it, in hope 21 † that the creation itself will be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God. 22 † For we know that the whole creation has been groaning together in the pains of childbirth until now. 23 † And not only the creation, but we ourselves, who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, groan inwardly as we wait eagerly for adoption as sons, the redemption of our bodies. 24 ‡ For in this hope we were saved. Now hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for what he sees? 25 But if we hope for what we do not see, we wait for it with patience.

26 † Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness. For we do not know what to pray for as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words. 27 † And he who searches hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because[1] the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God. 28 † And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good,[2] for those who are called according to his purpose. 29 † For those whom he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, in order that he might be the firstborn among many brothers. 30 † And those whom he predestined he also called, and those whom he called he also justified, and those whom he justified he also glorified.

God’s Everlasting Love

31 What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be[3] against us? 32 He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things? 33 Who shall bring any charge against God’s elect? It is God who justifies. 34 Who is to condemn? Christ Jesus is the one who died—more than that, who was raised—who is at the right hand of God, who indeed is interceding for us.[4] 35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword? 36 As it is written,

> “ For your sake we are being killed all the day > long;
> we are regarded as sheep to be > slaughtered.”

37 No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. 38 For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, 39 nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

God’s Sovereign Choice

9 [1]‡†I am speaking the truth in Christ—I am not lying; my conscience bears me witness in the Holy Spirit— [2]† that I have great sorrow and unceasing anguish in my heart. [3]† For I could wish that I myself were accursed and cut off from Christ for the sake of my brothers,[1] my kinsmen according to the flesh. [4]† They are Israelites, and to them belong the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the worship, and the promises. [5]† To them belong the patriarchs, and from their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ who is God over all, blessed forever. Amen.

[6]†But it is not as though the word of God has failed. For not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel, [7]† and not all are children of Abraham because they are his offspring, but “Through Isaac shall your offspring be named.” [8]†This means that it is not the children of the flesh who are the children of God, but the children of the promise are counted as offspring. [9]†For this is what the promise said: “About this time next year I will return, and Sarah shall have a son.” [10]†And not only so, but also when Rebekah had conceived children by one man, our forefather Isaac, [11]†though they were not yet born and had done nothing either good or bad—in order that God’s purpose of election might continue, not because of works but because of him who calls— [12]† she was told, “The older will serve the younger.” [13]†As it is written, “Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.”

[14]† What shall we say then? Is there injustice on God’s part? By no means! [15]†For he says to Moses, “I will have mercy on whom I have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I have compassion.” [16]†So then it depends not on human will or exertion,[1] but on God, who has mercy. [17]†For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, “For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I might show my power in you, and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth.” [18]†So then he has mercy on whomever he wills, and he hardens whomever he wills.

[19]† You will say to me then, “Why does he still find fault? For who can resist his will?” [20]†But who are you, O man, to answer back to God? Will

what is molded say to its molder, “Why have you made me like this?” 21 † Has the potter no right over the clay, to make out of the same lump one vessel for honorable use and another for dishonorable use? 22 † † What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience vessels of wrath prepared for destruction, 23 † in order to make known the riches of his glory for vessels of mercy, which he has prepared beforehand for glory— 24 † even us whom he has called, not from the Jews only but also from the Gentiles? 25 † As indeed he says in Hosea,

“Those who were not my people I will call ‘my people,’
and her who was not beloved I will call ‘beloved.’” 26 “And in the very place where it was said to them, ‘You are not my people,’ there they will be called ‘sons of the living God.’”

27 † And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel: “Though the number of the sons of Israel[1] be as the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will be saved, 28 for the Lord will carry out his sentence upon the earth fully and without delay.” 29 † And as Isaiah predicted,

“If the Lord of hosts had not left us offspring,
we would have been like Sodom and become like Gomorrah.”

Israel's Unbelief

30 What shall we say, then? That Gentiles who did not pursue righteousness have attained it, that is, a righteousness that is by faith; 31 but that Israel who pursued a law that would lead to righteousness[2] did not succeed in reaching that law. 32 Why? Because they did not pursue it by faith, but as if it were based on works. They have stumbled over the stumbling stone, 33 as it is written,

> "Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone of > stumbling, and a rock of offense;
> and whoever believes in him will not be > put to shame."

10 1 Brothers,[3] my heart's desire and prayer to God for them is that they may be saved. 2 For I bear them witness that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge. 3 For, being ignorant of the righteousness of God, and seeking to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness. 4 For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes.[4]

The Message of Salvation to All

5 ‡†For Moses writes about the righteousness that is based on the law, that the person who does the commandments shall live by them. 6 ‡ But the righteousness based on faith says, “Do not say in your heart, ‘Who will ascend into heaven?’” (that is, to bring Christ down) 7or “‘Who will descend into the abyss?’” (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead). 8†But what does it say? “The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart” (that is, the word of faith that we proclaim); 9†because, if you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. 10†For with the heart one believes and is justified, and with the mouth one confesses and is saved. 11 † For the Scripture says, “Everyone who believes in him will not be put to shame.”
12† For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, bestowing his riches on all who call on him. 13†For “everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.”

14†How then will they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him of whom they have never heard?[1] And how are they to hear without someone preaching? 15 ‡ † And how are they to preach unless they are sent? As it is written, “How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news!” 16 † But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, “Lord, who has believed what he has heard from us?” 17 † So faith comes from hearing, and hearing through the word of Christ.

18†But I ask, have they not heard? Indeed they have, for > “Their voice has gone out to all the earth, > and their words to the ends of the world.”

19‡†But I ask, did Israel not understand? First Moses says,

> “I will make you jealous of those who are not > a nation;

with a foolish nation I will make you angry."

[20]† Then Isaiah is so bold as to say,

"I have been found by those who did not seek me;
I have shown myself to those who did not ask for me."

[21] † But of Israel he says, "All day long I have held out my hands to a disobedient and contrary people."

The Remnant of Israel

11 [1]†† I ask, then, has God rejected his people? By no means! For I myself am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham,[1] a member of the tribe of Benjamin. [2]† God has not rejected his people whom he foreknew. Do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he appeals to God against Israel? [3]‡ "Lord, they have killed your prophets, they have demolished your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life." [4]But what is God's reply to him? "I have kept for myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal." [5]†So too at the present time there is a remnant, chosen by grace. [6]† But if it is by grace, it is no longer on the basis of works;
otherwise grace would no longer be grace.

[7]† What then? Israel failed to obtain what it was seeking. The elect obtained it, but the rest were hardened, [8]†as it is written,

> "God gave them a spirit of stupor, > eyes that would not see > and ears that would not hear, > down to this very day."

[9]‡And David says,

> "Let their table become a snare and a trap,
> a stumbling block and a retribution for them; > [10] let their eyes be darkened so that they > cannot see,
> and bend their backs forever."

Gentiles Grafted In

11 ‡†So I ask, did they stumble in order that they might fall? By no means!
Rather through their trespass salvation has come to the Gentiles, so as to make Israel jealous. 12 †Now if their trespass means riches for the world, and if their failure means riches for the Gentiles, how much more will their full inclusion[2] mean!

13 ‡Now I am speaking to you Gentiles. Inasmuch then as I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry 14 in order somehow to make my fellow Jews jealous, and thus save some of them. 15 †For if their rejection means the reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance mean but life from the dead? 16 † If the dough offered as firstfruits is holy, so is the whole lump, and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

17 ‡† But if some of the branches were broken off, and you, although a wild olive shoot, were grafted in among the others and now share in the nourishing root[1] of the olive tree, 18 do not be arrogant toward the branches.
If you are, remember it is not you who support the root, but the root that supports you. 19 † Then you will say, “Branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in.” 20 †That is true. They were broken off because of their unbelief, but you stand fast through faith. So do not become proud, but fear.
21 †For if God did not spare the natural branches, neither will he spare you.
22 † Note then the kindness and the severity of God: severity toward those who have fallen, but God’s kindness to you, provided you continue in his kindness. Otherwise you too will be cut off. 23 †And even they, if they do not continue in their unbelief, will be grafted in, for God has the power to graft them in again. 24 †For if you were cut from what is by nature a wild olive tree, and grafted, contrary to nature, into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, the natural branches, be grafted back into their own olive tree.

The Mystery of Israel's Salvation

25 Lest you be wise in your own sight, I want you to understand this mystery, brothers:[2] a partial hardening has come upon Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in. 26 And in this way all Israel will be saved, as it is written,

> "The Deliverer will come from Zion,
> he will banish ungodliness from Jacob"; > 27 "and this will be my covenant with them > when I take away their sins."

28 As regards the gospel, they are enemies of God for your sake. But as regards election, they are beloved for the sake of their forefathers. 29 For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable. 30 For just as you were at one time disobedient to God but now have received mercy because of their disobedience, 31 so they too have now been disobedient in order that by the mercy shown to you they also may now[1] receive mercy. 32 For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

33 Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways!

> 34 "For who has known the mind of > the Lord,
> or who has been his counselor?" > 35 "Or who has given a gift to him > that he might be repaid?"

36 For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

A Living Sacrifice

12 [1]‡†I appeal to you therefore, brothers,[2] by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship.[3] [2]† Do not be conformed to this world,[4] but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect.[1]

Gifts of Grace

3 ‡†For by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned.
4 †For as in one body we have many members,[2] and the members do not all have the same function, 5 †so we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another. 6 ‡† Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, in proportion to our faith; 7 †if service, in our serving; the one who teaches, in his teaching; 8 †the one who exhorts, in his exhortation; the one who contributes, in generosity;
the one who leads,[3] with zeal; the one who does acts of mercy, with cheerfulness.

Marks of the True Christian

9 Let love be genuine. Abhor what is evil; hold fast to what is good.
10 Love one another with brotherly affection. Outdo one another in showing honor. 11 Do not be slothful in zeal, be fervent in spirit,[4] serve the Lord. 12 Rejoice in hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer. 13
Contribute to the needs of the saints and seek to show hospitality.

14 Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. 15 Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep. 16 Live in harmony with one another. Do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly.
[5] Never be wise in your own sight. 17 Repay no one evil for evil, but give thought to do what is honorable in the sight of all. 18 If possible, so far as it depends on you, live peaceably with all. 19 Beloved, never avenge yourselves, but leave it[6] to the wrath of God, for it is written, “Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord.” 20 To the contrary, “if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him something to drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals on his head.” 21 Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Submission to the Authorities

13 [1]‡†Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. [2]†Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed, and those who resist will incur judgment. [3]†For rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Would you have no fear of the one who is in authority? Then do what is good, and you will receive his approval, [4]†for he is God's servant for your good. But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword in vain. For he is the servant of God, an avenger who carries out God's wrath on the wrongdoer. [5]†Therefore one must be in subjection, not only to avoid God's wrath but also for the sake of conscience. [6]†For because of this you also pay taxes, for the authorities are ministers of God, attending to this very thing. [7]† Pay to all what is owed to them: taxes to whom taxes are owed, revenue to whom revenue is owed, respect to whom respect is owed, honor to whom honor is owed.

Fulfilling the Law Through Love

8 † † Owe no one anything, except to love each other, for the one who loves another has fulfilled the law. 9 †For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery, You shall not murder, You shall not steal, You shall not covet,” and any other commandment, are summed up in this word: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” 10 † Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

11 †Besides this you know the time, that the hour has come for you to wake from sleep. For salvation is nearer to us now than when we first believed. 12 † The night is far gone; the day is at hand. So then let us cast off the works of darkness and put on the armor of light. 13 Let us walk properly as in the daytime, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and sensuality, not in quarreling and jealousy. 14 †But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to gratify its desires.

Do Not Pass Judgment on One Another

14 [1]‡‡†As for the one who is weak in faith, welcome him, but not to quarrel over opinions. [2]† One person believes he may eat anything, while the weak person eats only vegetables. [3]†Let not the one who eats despise the one who abstains, and let not the one who abstains pass judgment on the one who eats, for God has welcomed him. [4]† Who are you to pass judgment on the servant of another? It is before his own master[1] that he stands or falls. And he will be upheld, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

[5]† One person esteems one day as better than another, while another esteems all days alike. Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind.
[6]†The one who observes the day, observes it in honor of the Lord. The one who eats, eats in honor of the Lord, since he gives thanks to God, while the one who abstains, abstains in honor of the Lord and gives thanks to God.
[7]‡‡For none of us lives to himself, and none of us dies to himself. [8]†For if we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord. So then, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's. [9]†For to this end Christ died and lived again, that he might be Lord both of the dead and of the living.

[10]†Why do you pass judgment on your brother? Or you, why do you despise your brother? For we will all stand before the judgment seat of God; [11]†for it is written,

> "As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow > to me,
> and every tongue shall confess[1] to God."

[12]†So then each of us will give an account of himself to God.

Do Not Cause Another to Stumble

13 ‡‡‡ Therefore let us not pass judgment on one another any longer, but rather decide never to put a stumbling block or hindrance in the way of a brother. 14 † I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus that nothing is unclean in itself, but it is unclean for anyone who thinks it unclean. 15 †For if your brother is grieved by what you eat, you are no longer walking in love.
By what you eat, do not destroy the one for whom Christ died. 16 † So do not let what you regard as good be spoken of as evil. 17 † For the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking but of righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. 18 †Whoever thus serves Christ is acceptable to God and approved by men. 19 †So then let us pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding.

20 † Do not, for the sake of food, destroy the work of God. Everything is indeed clean, but it is wrong for anyone to make another stumble by what he eats. 21 † It is good not to eat meat or drink wine or do anything that causes your brother to stumble.[2] 22 †The faith that you have, keep between yourself and God. Blessed is the one who has no reason to pass judgment on himself for what he approves. 23 †But whoever has doubts is condemned if he eats, because the eating is not from faith. For whatever does not proceed from faith is sin.[3]

The Example of Christ

15 [1]‡†We who are strong have an obligation to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves. [2]† Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, to build him up. [3]†For Christ did not please himself, but as it is written, “The reproaches of those who reproached you fell on me.” [4]† For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. [5]‡ † May the God of endurance and encouragement grant you to live in such harmony with one another, in accord with Christ Jesus, [6]†that together you may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. [7]†Therefore welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you, for the glory of God.

Christ the Hope of Jews and Gentiles

8 ‡ ‡For I tell you that Christ became a servant to the circumcised to show
God's truthfulness, in order to confirm the promises given to the patriarchs, 9 ‡and in order that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. As it is written,

> "Therefore I will praise you among the > Gentiles,
> and sing to your name."

10 ‡And again it is said,

> "Rejoice, O Gentiles, with his people."

11 ‡And again,

> "Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, > and let all the peoples extol him."

12 ‡And again Isaiah says,

> "The root of Jesse will come,
> even he who arises to rule the > Gentiles;
> in him will the Gentiles hope."

13 ‡May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.

Paul the Minister to the Gentiles

14 ‡† I myself am satisfied about you, my brothers,[1] that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge and able to instruct one another. 15 †But on some points I have written to you very boldly by way of reminder, because of the grace given me by God 16 † to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. 17 † In Christ Jesus, then, I have reason to be proud of my work for God. 18 †For I will not venture to speak of anything except what Christ has accomplished through me to bring the Gentiles to obedience—by word and deed, 19 † by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God—so that from Jerusalem and all the way around to Illyricum I have fulfilled the ministry of the gospel of Christ; 20 † and thus I make it my ambition to preach the gospel, not where Christ has already been named, lest I build on someone else's foundation, 21 †but as it is written,

> "Those who have never been told of him > will see,
> and those who have never heard will > understand."

Paul’s Plan to Visit Rome

22 ‡† This is the reason why I have so often been hindered from coming to you. 23 † But now, since I no longer have any room for work in these regions, and since I have longed for many years to come to you, 24 † I hope to see you in passing as I go to Spain, and to be helped on my journey there by you, once I have enjoyed your company for a while. 25 † At present, however, I am going to Jerusalem bringing aid to the saints. 26 † For Macedonia and Achaia have been pleased to make some contribution for the poor among the saints at Jerusalem. 27 † For they were pleased to do it, and indeed they owe it to them. For if the Gentiles have come to share in their spiritual blessings, they ought also to be of service to them in material blessings. 28 † When therefore I have completed this and have delivered to them what has been collected,[1]
I will leave for Spain by way of you. 29 † I know that when I come to you I will come in the fullness of the blessing[2] of Christ.

30 † I appeal to you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in your prayers to God on my behalf, 31 † that I may be delivered from the unbelievers in Judea, and that my service for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints, 32 † so that by God’s will I may come to you with joy and be refreshed in your company. 33 † May the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Personal Greetings

16 [1]‡‡‡I commend to you our sister Phoebe, a servant[3] of the church at Cenchreae, [2]†that you may welcome her in the Lord in a way worthy of the saints, and help her in whatever she may need from you, for she has been a patron of many and of myself as well.

[3]†Greet Prisca and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus, [4]†who risked their necks for my life, to whom not only I give thanks but all the churches of the Gentiles give thanks as well. [5]†Greet also the church in their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who was the first convert[4] to Christ in Asia. [6]†Greet Mary, who has worked hard for you. [7]†Greet Andronicus and Junia,[5] my kinsmen and my fellow prisoners. They are well known to the apostles,[6] and they were in Christ before me. [8]† Greet Ampliatus, my beloved in the Lord. [9]Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and my beloved Stachys. [10]†Greet Apelles, who is approved in Christ. Greet those who belong to the family of Aristobulus. [11]†Greet my kinsman Herodion. Greet those in the Lord who belong to the family of Narcissus. [12]†Greet those workers in the Lord, Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Greet the beloved Persis, who has worked hard in the Lord. [13]†Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord; also his mother, who has been a mother to me as well. [14]† Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brothers[1] who are with them. [15]†Greet Philologus, Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them. [16]† Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

Final Instructions and Greetings

17 ‡† I appeal to you, brothers, to watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; avoid them. 18 † For such persons do not serve our Lord Christ, but their own appetites,[2] and by smooth talk and flattery they deceive the hearts of the naive. 19 † For your obedience is known to all, so that I rejoice over you, but I want you to be wise as to what is good and innocent as to what is evil. 20 †
The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 ‡† Timothy, my fellow worker, greets you; so do Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my kinsmen.

22 † I Tertius, who wrote this letter, greet you in the Lord.

23 † Gaius, who is host to me and to the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the city treasurer, and our brother Quartus, greet you.[3]

Doxology

25 Now to him who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery that was kept secret for long ages 26 but has now been disclosed and through the prophetic writings has been made known to all nations, according to the command of the eternal God, to bring about the obedience of faith— 27 to the only wise God be glory forevermore through Jesus Christ! Amen.

Introduction to Romans

Reading Romans

The tap of a centurion's staff quietly roused the soldiers. With the day at hand, the men would need to wipe leisure from their eyes and shake sloth from their limbs. Dawn meant armor, attention, and duty. Such discipline by Roman troops enabled the Roman Empire to rise and conquer its enemies.

St Paul's Letter to the Romans alludes to the duty and discipline of troops, comparing their calling to the Christian's calling (13:11–14). However, Paul's encouragement to "put on the Lord Jesus Christ" reminds us also that our attention to duty is not the basis for our salvation. Our conquering champion, Jesus, brought salvation to us through His personal sacrifice and atoning death. His victory has roused us from the darkness of death. Clothed in His righteousness alone, we stand steadfast—more than conquerors through Him who loved us.

Luther on Romans

> This epistle is really the chief part of the New Testament, and is truly the purest gospel. It is worthy not only that every Christian should know it word for word, by heart, but also that he should occupy himself with it every day, as the daily bread of the soul. We can never read it or ponder over it too much; for the more we deal with it, the more precious it becomes and the better it tastes….
>
> In this epistle we thus find most abundantly the things that a Christian ought to know, namely, what is law, gospel, sin, punishment, grace, faith, righteousness, Christ, God, good works, love, hope, and the cross; and also how we are to conduct ourselves toward everyone, be he righteous or sinner, strong or weak, friend or foe—and even toward our own selves. Moreover this is all ably supported with Scripture and proved by St. Paul's own example and that of the prophets, so that one could not wish for anything more. Therefore it appears that he wanted in this one epistle to sum up briefly the whole Christian and evangelical doctrine, and to prepare an introduction to the entire Old Testament. For, without doubt, whoever has this epistle well in his heart, has with him the light and power of the Old Testament. Therefore let every Christian be familiar with it and exercise himself in it continually. To this end may God give his grace. Amen. (AE 35:365, 380)

Challenges for Readers

As Luther notes, Romans is St Paul's clearest systematic declaration of the Gospel. For that reason, Romans is one of the most popular NT books to study. However, despite Paul's careful and clear statements, significant debates about Romans have arisen.

Groups in Romans. Names are often used in a variety of ways in Scripture. Here are some definitions and distinctions of groups important to the study of Romans. Also, consult the historical background of various groups and terms on pp 1556–58, 1901–4.

Israelites: Descendants of Israel (Jacob), who typically believed in Yahweh (the LORD), the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. However, see pp 1565–66.

Hebrews: A cultural description of Israelites based on their heritage language, Hebrew.

Jews: Used after the time of the OT, typically for Judeans or people adhering to the Judeans' later religious beliefs: (1) Israelites who resettled the region of Israel during the time of the second temple; (2) adherents of Judaism, a religion based on the beliefs of the Judeans and Israelites who maintained religious affiliation with the Jerusalem temple after the time of the OT. See "Judah," p 1079. Judaism is not the Christ-centered faith of the OT.

Israeli: A citizen of the modern state of Israel (post 1948), which is not the same as Israel in the OT.

Terms for Righteousness. An obstacle for English readers is that Paul frequently uses the Gk dikaioo¯ to form verbs, nouns, and adjectives; dikaioo¯ may be translated in English with words such as "right" or "just." To follow Paul's arguments, recognize that he's using the same basic Greek term throughout. See p 1904.

Universal Justification. Paul clearly teaches that Jesus gave His life for the sins of the world. Because Jesus gave His life for all people, God declares all people justified by Christ's sacrifice (4:5; 5:7–8, 10). However, God applies the benefits of His declaration to individuals through the Gospel (this is called "subjective justification"). Paul does not teach "universalism," which holds that God saves all people in order for hell to be empty. Despite God's gracious declaration of justification, not every individual receives salvation, because some reject the Savior and persist in sin and unbelief. There will be judgment in eternity. See p 1942.

Righteousness and Early Judaism. Some scholars argue that Paul did not correctly understand or represent the teachings of Judaism about righteousness, because early Jewish literature clearly emphasizes themes of election, grace, and faith. Note that, in contrast to Judaism, Paul taught that God saves us by grace through faith alone, without our merit or obedience to the Law.

Paul, the Law, and Sin. Scholars also debate about to whom the "I" refers in ch 7. Some hold that, when Paul describes a person struggling against sin, he is talking about someone before conversion and faith. However, in ch 7, Paul is describing himself (note that the verbs are in the present tense), as Christians continue to struggle against sin even after their conversion. The Law still applies to believers because the sinful nature remains with us.

The Israel of God. Based on 11:26, millennialist groups teach that all Jewish people will be saved at the end of the world. However, Paul teaches that the new Israel is all who trust in Christ, be they Jews or Gentiles. These references in Romans actually describe the Church and not an end times conversion of all Jews (cf 9:6; Gal 6:15–16).

Blessings for Readers

The teachings in Romans are foundational to the Christian faith, so make Romans one of the first books you study! Romans explains, step-by-step, why and how God saves us in Jesus. As you read the Letter, reflect on the examples of faith Paul provides from the OT and from his personal struggles. These examples show how God works through the Word in our lives, despite our weaknesses. The final chapters apply these Christian teachings in practical ways for individuals, families, and congregations. This most detailed Letter of Paul truly offers us a wealth of comfort.

Boundaries for the Church

When architects draw up blueprints, they must outline the boundaries of the structure they will build. In a similar way, when the apostle Paul wrote Romans, he taught that Christians should "welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you" (15:7). Later, he added, "Watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; avoid them" (16:17). In this way, he draws up the boundaries of the congregations.

Paul does not envision a congregation whose beliefs are so loose that it has no structure. Nor could he imagine a church so strict that it had no doors or windows through which to welcome others. By setting out the boundaries of love and protection, Paul gives a realistic description of a congregation.

Paul warns against the false teachers because "they deceive the hearts of the naive" (16:18). He recognizes that they may prey on some members of a congregation who lack depth of faith. Christians should look out for one another and warn one another against falsehood. When we understand Paul's admonition in this way, we see that Rm 16:17 expresses love rather than a spirit of dissention.

Christ Welcomed You

Paul also encourages unity among the believers at Rome based on the way God has treated them. He writes, "Welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you" (15:7, emphasis added). Consider how Christ has welcomed you. Hasn't He called you to repent? Didn't He wash you in Baptism? Truth be told, Christ has not welcomed you just the way you are. He has paid the dearest price of all in order to welcome you: sacrificing His life for you on the cross.

Christ welcomed you through the anguish of His betrayal, trial, and death. He did not welcome you freely but in order to set you free from your sins! When Paul writes, "Welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you," this is what he had in view. Christians welcome one another through the costly, forgiving love of Christ.

Serve God's Truth

Take special note that just after Rm 15:7 and again, just after 16:17, Paul writes about service. At the heart of Paul's concern about "church architecture" is what properly serves God's people and the advancement of God's kingdom. Just as architects must consider how something they build will function, Paul considered how the Church would function when people sin and need to repent. Nothing must hinder this chief function or service of the Church: proclaiming God's Word as it calls people to repentance and forgiveness through Jesus Christ.

God's Law

In Romans, the apostle Paul uses the word law in a variety of ways. This chart explains his distinctions. Just as members of a construction crew use a plumb line to keep their work aligned, our Creator gave us His Law to keep our lives aligned with His will. Sadly, as sinners, we have fallen into disobedience. Therefore, God's Law has turned into a tool of condemnation. The Law reveals our crooked ways and calls for God's judgment.

But thanks be to God! Christ saves us by His grace. He redeems us through the Gospel. He restores us as God's servants and equips us to work with Him in His kingdom.

Occasionally, Paul uses the Gk term nomos (law) to mean the rule or governance of one thing over another. For example, "the law of my mind" (7:23) struggles to rule over "the law of sin and death" (8:2; cf 7:21–23, 25). This refers to a Christian's desire to do good despite sinful thoughts and desires.

Also, "God's law" refers to God's rule or will at work in the heart of the believer over against sin and death (7:22, 25; 8:7). The term law does not always mean a written code. It can describe God's loving rule in the lives of His people. See p 971.

Homosexuality and Biblical Teaching

The Bible never provides a detailed psychological answer for homosexuality. However, Romans clearly condemns homosexuality as a corruption of God's created order. The male body is not designed to copulate with another male body. The female body is not designed to copulate with another female body. The fact that people crave such relationships proves that something has gone terribly wrong with creation. Paul argues that homosexual behavior results from idolatry and a corrupt understanding of creation (1:26–28).

An Example of Corruption

Many Roman citizens viewed homosexual behavior with disgust because they knew that it had undermined the Greek civilization. Such Romans prided themselves on their pro-society attitudes and held that homosexual behavior was against nature. But Paul uses the example of homosexuality to make a greater point.

A Roman who read Paul's Letter might think, "Yes, homosexual behavior is bad because it is bad for society. We don't do such things!" However, to Paul's readers who shake their heads in self-righteous disgust, he springs a trap with these words: "Since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, God gave them up to a debased mind to do what ought not to be done. They were filled with all manner of unrighteousness, evil, covetousness, malice. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness. They are gossips, slanderers, haters of God, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil, disobedient to parents, foolish, faithless, heartless, ruthless" (1:28–31).

Each item in the list above undermines society. And no Roman (or reader today) could claim to be free from such sins. Starting with homosexuality, Paul indicts all people for doing things that destroy society. Everyone is born with a depraved mind that leads to every kind of wickedness. Homosexual behavior is no more damning than gossip, greed, or jealousy. Those who commit such sins will face God's judgment unless they repent. The one who practices homosexual behavior will face the same Judge as a gossip, slanderer, or liar. Homosexuality stands first in the list for the apostle Paul because it so clearly demonstrates how people rebel against the Creator's order.

Marriage with God's Blessing

God created sex for the procreation of children and to strengthen the marital bond that supports those children (see note, Gn 1:28). Within the confines of marriage, sex is a wonderful blessing. Outside that relationship, it is idolatry—people rejecting God's order, worshiping what is created rather than the Creator.

Christians should abhor the sin of homosexual behavior as they abhor all sins. But at the same time, Christians should see homosexuals as people for whom Christ shed His precious blood. God wants us to recognize that "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and are justified by His grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (3:23–24). A homosexual, like any other sinner, needs to hear God's word of Law and Gospel applied to his or her life with the goal of repentance and faith.

Baptized into Christ

The following chart lists concerns some Christians voice about baptizing infants or children. It also lists passages from Romans and other parts of Scripture that address these concerns.

Children will grow in understanding of what God has done for them in their Baptism, just as they grow to appreciate their physical conception and birth. They will learn what it means to live a new life as a child of God. But Baptism is the beginning of that life in Christ. See p 1369.

The Life-Giving Spirit in Romans

Romans reveals that, along with the heavenly Father and Jesus, the Holy Spirit receives special emphasis in Paul's teaching. In fact, Rm 8 mentions the Holy Spirit more often than any other chapter in the Bible! To understand how the Holy Spirit works in your life and the lives of fellow believers, carefully study the following chart.

God's Unfailing Promise

By the end of the second century, Christian churches had been established in North Africa, the region we know today as Libya, Tunisia, Algeria, and Morocco. By the end of the fourth century, these dynamic North African churches had produced some of the greatest Christian thinkers: the lay writer Tertullian, Bishop Cyprian of Carthage, and St Augustine of Hippo. The insights and ardor of these Christian leaders still inspire us today. However, when the Muslims invaded North Africa in the seventh century, they quickly subdued and converted the North Africans to their new religion. Though some Christians held out into the eleventh century, the churches of North Africa literally disappeared among the ruins of the Roman Empire.

The failure and disappearance of churches has happened repeatedly across the centuries: the Donatists of North Africa, the Nestorians of Asia, and both Roman Catholics and Protestants in much of Europe today. If you attend a struggling congregation, you may wonder, "Why can't our congregation enjoy peaceful growth? Must our congregation fail?"

Old Testament Examples

Various Christian thinkers have proposed different reasons why congregations and individuals fail or fall away from the Lord. But in Romans 9–10, the apostle Paul wants us to concentrate on the mystery of the Gospel. He wants us to understand how the Christian faith spreads to new regions and remains lively. Through three Old Testament examples, Paul shows that God's Word enlivens His people and sustains their congregations.

Paul's first example comes from the story of Jacob and Esau (Gn 25–33). In His mercy, God determined to send Jesus as the Savior of the world and to do this through the descendants of Jacob (Israelites). As God's plan of salvation, the promise of new life and forgiveness through Christ applied to Esau just as it did to Jacob. But Esau hardened his heart to God's Word. He rebelled against his parents and sought to satisfy himself in the ways of the Canaanites. By despising God's Word and promise, Esau cursed his own descendants.

A similar situation arose when Pharaoh held the children of Israel captive in Egypt (Ex 1–15). God's word of promise—salvation through the coming Savior—was true not only for the Israelites but also for their Egyptian masters. However, the Book of Exodus shows us again and again that Pharaoh rejected God's Word (Ex 7:13, 22; 8:15, 19, 32). He hardened his heart and refused to let God's people go. As a result, Pharaoh became an enduring example of God's wrath.

A third example shows that the Israelites, too, rejected God's promise of mercy. They had God's Word. They knew that He would send the Savior. But instead of rejoicing in this great news, many Israelites turned to other gods (e.g., Jgs 2:10–23). They hardened their hearts toward God's Word and made themselves objects of God's wrath (1Sm 6:6; 2Ch 36:13; Ps 95:8; Pr 28:14; Zec 7:12). Just as God hardened Pharaoh's heart because he rejected the promise of mercy, God also hardened the hearts of the Israelites who rejected the promise of the coming Savior.

God's Life-Giving Word

The three examples that Paul provides from the Old Testament may discourage you. They reveal the hardness of human hearts and God's wrathful response. They show how quickly people turn away from the truth or grow callous toward God's forgiveness.

But thanks be to God! In contrast to Paul's Old Testament examples, the abiding presence of Christian churches in Palestine and Egypt reveals the surprising nature of God's Word of promise. Ironically, the Palestinian descendants of Esau (Edomites) received the promise of Christ in the first century. When Christian ministers proclaimed God's Word to them, many believed! Even today, a remnant of Christians continues to call on Jesus' name in Palestine.

Equally amazing, the descendants of Pharaoh believed the Gospel when Christian missionaries visited them in the earliest days of the Church (cf Is 19:16–25). The Christians of Egypt and Ethiopia have passed God's Word from one generation to the next. Despite economic and political weaknesses, these congregations have survived the threats that destroyed so many other churches.

Also, many physical descendants of Israel (Jews) are now converting to Christ. They are God's children not because of their heritage as physical descendants of Abraham but because of the life-giving Word of the Gospel.

Though a family may fail to share its faith with its children or its neighbors, God's Word does not fail. People harden their hearts and, yes, God responds in judgment. Yet, in His mercy, God also breaks sin-hardened hearts and opens them to the Gospel. Though Esau, Pharaoh, and Israel rejected or ignored the promise of salvation through Christ, the Lord has graciously turned the hearts of many of their descendants through the Gospel.

Focus on God’s Word

If your congregation struggles to survive, do not focus on the glory days of your past. Do not let hardened hearts and attitudes discourage you. Look to Holy Scripture for help. Focus on God’s Word. Let the life of your congregation—everything you do—connect with God’s Word of promise in Jesus Christ.

God’s Word does not fail (Rm 9:6). Though people harden their hearts, God’s Word softens the heart (Rm 10:17). Like Paul, keep your eyes on God’s promises through which He bestows His blessings. Just as the Lord created the faith and life that built your congregation, He will sustain you through His word of promise.

Chosen in Christ

This eternal election of God is to be considered in Christ, and not outside of or without Christ. For "in Christ," the apostle Paul testifies, "He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world," as it is written, "He has blessed us in the Beloved" (Ephesians 1:4, 6). However, this election is revealed from heaven through the preaching of His Word … [Matthew 17:5; 11:28; John 16:14] … So the entire Holy Trinity—God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—directs all people to Christ, as to the Book of Life, in whom they should seek the Father's eternal election…. Christ Himself says, "No one comes to the Father except through Me" (John 14:6). (FC SD XI 65–66)

Living Sacrifices … in View of God's Mercy

When archaeologists unearthed the house-church of Dura Europas in eastern Syria, they learned much about the personal character of early Christian congregations. The rooms would hold no more than 50 people. Humble frescoes decorated the walls, illustrating biblical stories. A wealthy member had either donated the building at Dura Europas or allowed the congregation to gather there. Instead of the "public" character most Christians associate with church today, early Christians would have regarded their gatherings as more personal or private.

In chs 1–11, the apostle Paul describes the personal and fearsome ability of the Law to motivate people. The Law urges us to do good—or else! In contrast, as Paul describes the Christian life for the congregation of Rome (chs 12–16), he seeks to motivate them not with the Law but with the Gospel and with personal care for one another. He asks them to present their bodies as living sacrifices in view of God's mercy.

Motivated by the Gospel

In 12:1, Paul uses the Greek term oiktirmon to move the Roman Christians to active care for one another. This term is plural: "God's mercies." In chs 1–11, Paul lists the incredible acts of kindness God had performed for His people and continued to perform: choosing the patriarchs, rescuing Israel from Egypt, preserving a remnant of believers, and saving both Jew and Gentile through Christ. Paul reminds his readers that God continually has mercy on His people.

The Roman Christians would have immediately recognized oiktirmon from the Psalms, which they sang when they gathered for worship. The Psalms of the Greek Old Testament (Septuagint) use this word repeatedly to describe the surpassing loving-kindnesses and graces of God.

Most likely, the Roman Christians followed the Jewish prayer custom of requesting God's mercies. When the Romans gathered for prayer and Paul's new Letter was read to them, they would have heard 12:1 in this context. After asking God for His mercies, the apostle's Letter would encourage them—on the basis of those mercies—to sacrifice their lives to the Lord. Rather than intimidating the congregation with the Law, Paul seeks to move his hearers by the mercies of the Gospel.

Transformed by the Gospel

As Paul encourages the Roman Christians with the Gospel of God's mercies, he has both particular goals and general counsel for them. The rest of ch 12 outlines these goals and gives us a picture of what was most needed in the Roman congregation.

Paul begins by urging the Romans to conform no longer to the pattern of this world. The Christian life is one of transformation, leaving behind the former ways and attitudes. Even for the believers who had grown up in the Church, this would be a challenge. The world and its patterns constantly pulled at them, demanding conformity.

As we travel life's road, the patterns of the world work like ruts into which we slip. They pull us down into the ways of self-righteousness, self-interest, and bitterness. Once we fall into such patterns, only God can pull us out. Therefore, Paul urges, "be transformed" (12:2). We trust that the Lord will transform us through the mercies of the Gospel.

Moved to Service

Once the Gospel transforms us, God calls us to greater service. We serve the Lord as He enables us. Each member of the Body of Christ serves with his or her particular gift or gifts.

An unfortunate concern that plagues many churches is that a handful of people usually ends up doing much of the work. Three problems contribute to this situation. First, many people fail to recognize that God wants them to actively serve in the congregation. Second, pride and impatience on the part of some congregation members easily discourages others from serving. People stay at home because they feel that their service is neither needed nor appreciated. Third, most of us keep ourselves too busy. We fill our time with things that do not encourage us or anyone else in the faith. How easily we slip back into the ruts!

Remember the Mercies

As you consider your pattern of life and the pattern in your congregation, remember the mercies of God rather than focusing on the Law. God's Law, though it is holy, righteous, and true, will never properly motivate you or the people around you. God does not want you to conform. He wants to transform you in view of His mercies.

As a Christian, only the mercies of God can properly motivate you to genuine service. When discouraged, certainly remember what God says in His Law. But more important, look for His mercies in your Bible readings, in the services of your congregation, and in your day-to-day life. You are God's precious child. He has given the life of His Son, Jesus, for your salvation. He continues to bless and sustain you each day. Even now, He prepares a place for you in His joyous presence. Therefore, serve willingly —in view of His mercies.

Controversies over Romans

Controversies: Universalism

False Understanding: Rm never mentions hell. Therefore, God will not send anyone to hell or punish anyone eternally. Eventually, all people will be saved. (A variation holds that perhaps some people will be annihilated, but they will not suffer eternally.)

True Understanding: Though Paul never mentions hell by name, he frequently describes God's wrath against sin (e.g., Rm 2:5–10; Gal 1:8–9; 2Th 1:6–10).

Controversies: Individual Justification Alone

False Understanding: No one is declared righteous until believing in Christ.

True Understanding: God declared all sinners righteous in Christ at His crucifixion and resurrection. We appropriate the benefits of this universal declaration when we are individually brought to Christ. See p 1906.

Controversies: Antinomianism

False Understanding: Because God has forgiven Christians, the Law no longer applies to them (Rm 6:14). There is no "third use" of the Law, which guides Christians in doing good works.

True Understanding: Paul teaches that the Law still applies to all who commit sin. Because Christians are justified by grace, they do not live under the Law's condemnation. However, because Christians continue to sin, the Law still speaks to them and calls them to repent (Rm 6:1–2).

Controversies: Law-Based Sanctification

False Understanding: Because Christ has forgiven Christians, they have the ability to progressively grow more holy. Christ saved people so they could fulfill the Law (Rm 13:8–10).

True Understanding: Christians cannot fulfill the Law by their own strength. The Spirit of Christ sanctifies them and fulfills the Law in them (Rm 8:3–4, 9a).

Controversies: Double Predestination

False Understanding: Before the creation, God chose to save some people by grace but damn others to eternal punishment (Rm 9:22–24).

True Understanding: Rm 9:22–24 provides questions, not statements of fact. Paul does not answer these questions by writing that God predestined people for eternal punishment. He affirms salvation for the Gentiles and the remnant of Israel (9:25–29).

Controversies: Dispensationalism

False Understanding: God divides up history into different dispensations, during which different rules, even different means of salvation, apply. At the end of time, God will grant the Jews an era of grace, during which all Israelites will be saved (Rm 11:26).

True Understanding: "All Israel" includes both Jews and Gentiles (Rm 11:25). In other words, "Israel" in this passage refers to the Church, not a particular nation or ethnic group. Cf Gal 6:15–16. God saves all people through Christ alone and always works through Law and Gospel. See note, Ex 34:6–7.

Controversies: Law Motivation

False Understanding: Preachers should use the Law to make Christians feel guilty, to prod and motivate them so that they do good works. That is what Paul does in Rm 12–15.

True Understanding: Paul bases motivation for good works on God's mercy rather than the Law (Rm 8:3–4; 12:1; 15:7). Rm 1–11 lays out the Gospel motivation for the Christian life. The Gospel is the foundation for both justification and sanctification.

Controversies: Open Fellowship

False Understanding: God loves and accepts everybody, no matter what they do or teach. Therefore, the Church should openly accept and work with all people despite their beliefs or actions (Rm 15:7).

True Understanding: Paul bases acceptance of one another on the means by which Christ accepts us: repentance and faith (Rm 10:1–4). In other words, Christians call one another to repentance. Paul warns against false teachers who undermine this doctrine (Rm 16:17–18).

Controversies: Ordination of Women

False Understanding: Junia/Junias was a female apostle in the Early Church (Rm 16:7), but male clergy covered up her legacy and the legacy of other female ministers. Since Junia/Junias was a female apostle, all churches should ordain women as pastors.

True Understanding: Junia/Junias can be a male or female name. See ESV note, Rm 16:7. In his other letters, Paul clearly distinguishes between the roles of men and women (1Co 14:33–35; Eph 5:22–33; 1Tm 2:11–12).

Historically, female apostles were unknown among early Christians. See pp 1726, 1972.

Study Notes

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 1 Luth: "It is right for a preacher of the gospel in the first place by revelation of the law and of sin to rebuke and to constitute as sin everything that is not the living fruit of the Spirit and of faith in Christ, in order that men should be led to know themselves and their own wretchedness, and to become humble and ask for help. This is therefore what St. Paul does. He begins in chapter 1 to rebuke the gross sins and unbelief that are plainly evident. These were, and still are, the sins of the heathen who live without God's grace. He says: Through the gospel there shall be revealed the wrath of God from heaven against all men because of their godless lives and their unrighteousness. For even though they know and daily recognize that there is a God, nevertheless nature itself, without grace, is so bad that it neither thanks nor honors God. Instead it blinds itself, and goes steadily from bad to worse until, after idolatry, it blatantly commits the most shameful sins, along with all the vices, and also allows others to commit them unreprimanded" (AE 35:372).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1–7 Formal greeting. Paul identifies himself, his divinely given authority, and his message. He addresses the recipients, describing them as God sees them. Finally, he blesses them with grace and peace. Gk letters typically employed this general structure (see pp 1899–1901), but Paul is careful to focus on the triune God and His grace, setting the Epistle's tone.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1 servant. Or slave. Paul belongs to Christ and lives to serve Him. called. Paul did not appoint himself; God called him (Ac 9:15–16). apostle. One called directly by Christ to proclaim the Gospel everywhere. See p 1901. set apart. Consecrated, chosen to proclaim the Gospel. gospel of God. The Good News of salvation through faith in Christ. Paul's call is to proclaim Christ's grace. See "Gospel," p 1902.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:2 The Gospel is not something new; it is God's eternal will, first proclaimed in the Hbr Scriptures. God always planned to send Christ to save us.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:3–4 from David. The Messiah came, as prophesied (cf Dt 18:15), from David's line (cf 2Sm 7:12–13). declared … Son of God. Lit, "made Son of God" in the sense of an appointment to an office. Spirit of holiness. An expression found in early Christian Aram for the Holy Spirit, given by the resurrected Christ. It shows Jesus' power and testifies to Christ's identity. resurrection. Jesus' bodily resurrection affirms His deity and the completion of His saving work. our Lord. Confession of faith: they believe in Jesus. These verses have the character of an early Christian creed. See p 1975.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:5 grace and apostleship. Christ saved Paul (by grace) and called him into service (apostleship). See pp 1902, 1901. obedience of faith. Lit, "by the listening of faith," i.e., to trustingly hear and follow what someone says. Not sanctification (obedience that results from faith) but justification (obedience that consists of faith). Faith hears and believes the message, then responds appropriately (cf 10:17; 15:18; Heb 11:1). all the nations. Salvation is not for the Jews alone, but for all (cf Mt 28:18–20). God called Paul esp to reach the Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:6 God calls Christians to faith and incorporates us into His body. We passively receive His grace. See "call," p 1901.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:7 loved … called. The initiative is God's; He loved, called, and saved us. saints. Always plural in Paul's Letters. Those declared holy because of Christ's saving work, i.e., the community of believers God calls and sets apart by faith. See p 1904.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1–7 Paul affirms three callings from God: he is called to be an apostle, the Romans are called to belong to Christ, and they are called to be saints. We sinners are prone to think that we control every aspect of our lives, and we tend to live only for ourselves. Knowing the futility of this, Christ Jesus sacrificed Himself on the cross that we might be redeemed. He calls us out of sin and death and into life. Praise God! We are called to belong to Him and to love and serve others. • Lord Jesus, thank You for making me Your own and for all of Your gifts. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:8 your faith is proclaimed. Others are thankful that God brought the Romans to faith. Paul focuses on the fact that they have faith, not on its strength or on their works. all the world. Christians everywhere knew of their brothers and sisters in Rome.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:9–10 Paul repeatedly prayed for the opportunity to visit the Roman Christians. my witness. Paul has been praying for the Romans. God, who hears prayer, is Paul's witness. serve. Gk latreuo, to serve or worship. Paul used this term of worship to describe his special ministry on behalf of the congregation. Cf 2Co 1:11. with my spirit. Paul was not bodily present with them, so he served them in prayer.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:10 by God's will. Paul could go to Rome only if God wanted him to, so he prays for God's help. at last … coming. Paul had long wanted to visit Rome (15:23) but previously had been unable.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:11 I long. God is in charge, but Paul is eager to visit this Church at Rome that he loves. impart … spiritual gift. Paul does not identify specific gifts here (as he will in 12:6–8), but promises that God will bless them. See "gifts," p 1902. Chrys: "He does not say that I may teach you, that I may instruct you … but, 'that I may impart;' showing, that it is not his own things which he is giving them, but that he was imparting to them what he had received" (NPNF 1 11:345).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:12 mutually encouraged. A blessing esp of the Gospel, as forgiveness is shared (see SA III IV). by each other's faith. This strengthened faith may be the "spiritual" gift described in v 11. Both Paul and the Church will be blessed as they serve each other.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:13 brothers. Not exclusive to men; it includes all siblings. An affectionate greeting (used 10 times in Rm) showing Paul's kinship with the believers—men and women—in Rome (see personal greetings in ch 16). See p 1901. As children of one Father, Christians are members of one family. prevented. Paul does not specify what hindered him. He used the same verb ("hindered") in 15:22, see note. God had work for Paul to do before he could visit Rome. reap some harvest. To see God's work in their lives (cf Mt 9:37–38; 1Co 3:6–9). rest of the Gentiles. Paul's primary mission was to evangelize Gentiles. He had seen God's work in other Gentile communities; now he wants to see it in Rome.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:14 obligation. God called Paul to minister to the Gentiles. Therefore, Paul must do this work (cf v 15). Greeks … barbarians … wise … foolish. Hellenistic rhetoric. Those who spoke Gk (including the Romans) considered themselves to be the world's wise, civilized, and cultured people. "Barbarians," who spoke other languages, were considered foolish and contemptible. Such human judgments are irrelevant; Paul intends to proclaim the Gospel to all.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:15 eager to preach the gospel. The obligation to preach the Gospel is a joyful opportunity. Renewed by the Spirit, Paul is compelled to preach. See "preach," p 1903.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:8–15 Paul was sent to the Greeks and barbarians, to the wise and foolish. Today, we may be tempted to keep the Gospel to ourselves or limit it to people who are like us. However, Jesus did not limit His work. He redeemed the whole world—even barbarians and fools like us. He commissions us to reach out to all people. • Triune God, strengthen me to be Your witness to all people. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:16 not ashamed of the gospel. The Gospel appears foolish to the world, which may ridicule or persecute Christians, but we are proud of what Christ has done (1Co 1:18). power of God for salvation. The reason for Christian confidence. The Gospel is not simply words; the Spirit works faith and brings us salvation through it. God does this work, not us. "Justification happens only through the Word" of the Gospel (Ap IV 67). power. See note, 16:25. believes. While the Gospel always has God's power, we receive its power through faith. Jew … Greek. See note, v 14. People are saved only by grace through faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:17 righteousness of God. See p 1904. The Gospel is neither human righteousness nor a characteristic of God. It identifies everything that God does to save His people through Christ. Luth: "At first I clearly saw that the free grace of God is absolutely necessary to attain to light and eternal life; and I anxiously and busily worked to understand the word of Paul in Rom. 1:17: The righteousness of God is revealed in the Gospel. I questioned this passage for a long time and labored over it, for the expression 'righteousness of God' barred my way. This phrase was customarily explained to mean that the righteousness of God is a virtue by which He is Himself righteous and condemns sinners. In this way all the teachers of the church except Augustine had interpreted the passage. They had said: The righteousness of God, that is (id est), the wrath of God. But as often as I read this passage, I wished that God had never revealed the Gospel; for who could love a God who was angry, who judged and condemned people? This misunderstanding continued until, enlightened by the Holy Spirit, I finally examined more carefully the word of Habakkuk: 'The just shall live by his faith' (2:4). From this passage I concluded that life must be derived from faith…. Then the entire Holy Scripture became clear to me, and heaven itself was opened to me. Now we see this brilliant light very clearly, and we are privileged to enjoy it abundantly" (WLS § 2600). revealed from faith for faith. Faith is God's gift created by the Gospel, and faith receives the gifts of the Gospel. It is entirely God's work. righteous … faith. Or, "the one who is righteous by faith shall live." Hab 2:4, quoted here, shows that this teaching is not new but was proclaimed in the OT. See p 1902. by faith. Not a description of how we live but rather how we are righteous. "The righteousness of faith … is nothing else than the forgiveness of sins and the gracious adoption of the poor sinner for the sake of Christ's obedience and merit alone" (FC SD III 54). Mel: "We shall be just not when we look to the Law, not when we set out virtues and deeds before God, but when we declare that God is propitious to us by faith … that he hears us, wants to save us, and that we expect salvation" (Romans, p 71).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:16–17 Many of us have, at times, been embarrassed about our faith or have hidden our Christian identity. We have yielded to the world's pressures and may have been ashamed of our Savior, but He is not ashamed of us. He bore our sin, guilt, and shame on the cross and gives us His life and forgiveness. Receiving those gifts by faith, and empowered by the Spirit, we are no longer ashamed of the Gospel. We know it is God's power "for salvation to everyone who believes." • Jesus, thank You for redeeming me and giving me Your righteousness. In faith, I will boldly proclaim Your name. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18–32 The chief sin Paul addresses here is idolatry, from which other sins emerge.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18 wrath. Gk orge, "anger," "revenge." The opposite of God's grace; a just and holy response to human rebellion. Sin deserves punishment and destruction. "The New Testament keeps and urges this 'office of the Law'" (SA III III 1). revealed from heaven. God expresses His wrath, allowing sinners to experience some of the consequences. The following verses show some of the ways this happens. See notes, v 24; 2:5. suppress the truth. By rejecting God and His Word, all people reject the truth. Because the truth does not change, it continues to accuse and convict sinners who have rejected God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:19 Those who do not know the Gospel (v 17) still receive some of God's revelation and should know God exists. shown. Knowledge of God through creation is not random; God chose to reveal Himself in this way. See note, v 20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:20 invisible attributes. God is not visibly present, but the universe shows His existence and nature. creation. Nature testifies to God's existence and character. His "fingerprints" are everywhere. they. Paul begins to speak more specifically about the Gentiles, who had not believed the Gospel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:21 they knew God. Creation demonstrates that God truly exists (v 19). honor … give thanks. God's existence was clear, but the nations did not recognize or respond to Him. futile. Their reason and thoughts are fallen. Without God, they are separated from the greatest reality and so fail to understand many things. hearts were darkened. In addition to failing minds, their hearts are affected. They did not respond to God mentally or emotionally. Even when the most ingenious and learned people on earth read or hear the Gospel of God's Son and the promise of eternal salvation, "they cannot by their own powers perceive, apprehend, understand, or believe and regard it as true" (FC SD II 9). See note, Pr 28:9.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:22 An example of suppressing the truth (v 18). Unbelievers reject the most important things in life, thinking they are wise. In reality, they are foolish.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:23 exchanged. Gk allasso, "change," "alter." Unbelievers naturally substitute false gods for the one true God (cf v 25). "The knowledge of God from the Gospel is far different from that which is taught and learned from the Law. Even the pagans, to a certain extent, had a knowledge of God from the natural law. But they neither knew Him nor glorified Him correctly" (FC SD V 22). glory of the immortal. Ps 106:20 uses similar language to describe Israel's idolatry with the golden calf (Ex 32). False gods cannot compare to the glory of the true God. images. Idols of any kind.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:24 God gave them up. Although God does not force the unrighteous to sin, He does not prevent their sinful, degrading acts. Thinking they are free, humans choose the harmful bondage of sin. impurity. Idolatry in the ancient world frequently involved sexual immorality (cf 1Co 6:9; Gal 5:19). Any sin makes people impure as they reject the purity that God gives in Christ.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:25 exchanged. See note, v 23. worshiped and served the creature. Essence of idolatry: worshiping something God made and not God Himself. Creator … Amen. Paul's theological argument evokes a confession of faith and worship.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:26 God gave them up. See note, v 24. dishonorable passions. Paul is not condemning all passion or sexual desire. Only the misuse of God's gift of sexuality brings dishonor. exchanged. See note, v 23. Sin substitutes inferior things for God's good gifts. contrary to nature. As God's existence and character are seen in nature (vv 19–21), so

His Law is also evident. Homosexual activity, referred to here, is a departure from the natural order. See p 1911.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:27 As in v 26, homosexual activity exchanges a natural desire for the opposite sex for an unnatural lust for one's own sex. shameless acts. Homosexual behavior. due penalty for their error. Participation in degrading, unnatural acts is, in itself, part of the judgment for sin. Paul's candid discussion of homosexuality may surprise or offend some readers. The Greco-Roman world was generally open to homosexuality, though there were critics, including Jews, Christians, and some philosophers. Homosexuality is an example of how something that seems obvious from nature (the relation of two sexes; the body was not designed for homosexual activities) is exchanged for something unnatural. This is a further effect of exchanging the worship of God for the worship of idols. Luth: "Holy Scripture declares that sin came from the devil, whom, contrary to God's Word, our parents obeyed. They became disobedient to God and thereby brought a terrible punishment upon themselves. For through this sin (of the Fall) not only our bodies have become so weakened that they have changed from immortal into mortal bodies, but the intellect, heart, mind, and will are entirely corrupted and turned evil (verboset). For man has lost the right and true knowledge of God. Moreover, his will is so entirely corrupted that he desires and wants nothing but that which is evil" (WLS § 4131).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:28 acknowledge God. Though they saw the evidence, they refused to acknowledge God's authority. debased mind. Their thinking (v 21) about these issues was taken to the lowest sinful level.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:29–31 These things disrupt the harmonious life and relationships that God would have us enjoy. Though some of these sins seem more significant than others, each one evidences idolatry and rebellion against God. This list shows that all have sinned (3:23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:32 they know God's decree. God's Law is on their hearts (2:15). deserve to die. Any violation of God's Law merits death (6:23). they. Unrighteous people depicted in vv 18–32.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18–32 We love to condemn the sins of others. We might not have committed some of the acts Paul condemns here, but we all have sinned. We have exchanged God's truth for human foolishness. Seeing sin, we ought not respond defensively but in confession. We know God's response to sin: He sent His Son to die for sinners. • Lord have mercy on me, a sinner. Grant me sincere confession and compassion for other sinners. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 2 Luth: "In chapter 2 [Paul] extends his rebuke to include those who seem outwardly to be righteous and who commit their sins in secret…. This is the nature of all hypocrites, to think of themselves as pure, and yet to be full of covetousness, hatred, pride, and all uncleanness, Matthew 23[:25–28]. These are they who despise God's goodness, and in their hardheartedness heap wrath upon themselves. Thus St. Paul, as a true interpreter of the law, leaves no one without sin, but proclaims the wrath of God upon all who would live well simply by nature or of their own volition. He makes them to be no better than the obvious sinners; indeed, he says they are stubborn and unrepentant" (AE 35:372–73).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:1 judges. Jews or Greeks who condemned the idolatry and immorality presented in 1:18–32.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:2 rightly falls. God's judgment is just and warranted (cf v 5). such things. Sins discussed in 1:18–32.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:4 presume on. "Think little of" or "despise." forbearance. Patiently withholding judgment. God's kindness … repentance? God has not immediately punished sin; He wants sinners to repent and be forgiven.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:5 hard and impenitent heart. A hard heart does not respond to God, but refuses to repent. Cf Ex 4:21. storing up wrath. Unforgiven sins will be punished on Judgment Day. See note, Jl 2:30–31. righteous judgment. God's judgment will be perfectly fair and appropriate.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:6–7 according to his works. Deeds described here are only found in Christ. Cf 3:21–30; see note, v 7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:7 Does not mean that we are justified by our works. Chs 1–2 clearly indicate that we all have sinned and are incapable of saving ourselves. People are only good in God's sight when they are justified by Christ. Apart from Christ, vv 7, 10, and 13 might lead self-righteous readers to think that they are capable of perfect obedience, of earning salvation. Paul will confront them with evidence showing that this is impossible (cf Mt 19:16–22). See note, 3:20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:8 obey the truth. See note, 1:5. obey unrighteousness. Those who base life not on God but on sinful things.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:9–10 tribulation. Gk thlipsis, affliction or troubles from outside oneself. the Jew first. Not in value, but in time or sequence. The covenant was first made with the ancestors of the Jews, who were to take the covenant to the Gentiles (cf Is 19:18–25). The Messiah appeared in Israel, but commissioned His Church to make disciples of all nations (Mt 28:18–20). The Gospel first came to the Jews, then the Gentiles (1:16). If either reject the Gospel, they will be judged.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:10 See note, v 7.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:11 God does not favor one people over another. He judges all by the Law and always saves people by the Gospel.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:1–11 When we pass judgment on another, we condemn ourselves (v 1). It is easy to recognize and condemn sin in others while overlooking our own sin. Paul's teachings are clear: all have sinned. Without God's patience and forbearance, we would all be condemned. • O God, thank You that our Savior, Jesus, has redeemed us! Send us forth today to proclaim this Good News. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:12 without the law. Gentiles did not have the revealed Law, the Torah. See p 971. perish … judged. Synonyms; sin merits death. under the law. Having received the Torah, the Israelites were bound to keep it, but failed to do so.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:13 See note, v 7. doers of the law who will be justified. Hypothetical statement. One who could keep the Law perfectly might be justified, but this is impossible because all people sin. We can be justified only by grace apart from our works (cf 3:28).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:14 by nature. Because of God's created order, the Gentiles know right and wrong without the assistance of God's revealed Word. However, sin has corrupted their understanding. a law to themselves. The conscience shows their sinfulness and need for a Savior. See p 1911.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:15 law is written on their hearts. Just as God partially reveals Himself in nature (1:19), He gives all people some knowledge of His Law. "The Ten Commandments are written in all people's hearts" (LC II 67). conscience. See p 1902. thoughts accuse or even excuse. The conscience makes one feel guilty when it is violated, but it also makes one feel that certain actions are right.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:16 according to my gospel. See "Gospel," p 1902. God judges … by Christ. God judges us in view of our relationship to Christ. secrets of men. God judges thoughts, motives, and actions.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:17 call yourself a Jew. Paul's attention turns from Gentiles to Jews, who are proud of their heritage. boast in God. This may be done appropriately (2Co 10:17) or in a self-righteous way that belittles others (cf Lk 18:9–14).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:18 know His will. By knowing the Scriptures. instructed. Gk katecheo, "catechized." Believers were taught God's Word.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:19 Those spiritually enlightened by God's Word could lead others in this dark world.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:20 children. Those with an immature knowledge due to age or ignorance. embodiment of knowledge and truth. Believing themselves to have perfect knowledge and the ability to use it appropriately.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:22 rob temples? Some Jews stole from pagan temples to show their contempt for idolatry, but this violated the Seventh Commandment. See Ant 4:207.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:23 boast in the law. Pride in being a Jew and having the Law that others lacked.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:24 Israel's failures caused the Gentiles to mock and blaspheme God. Here the hypocritical actions of Jews give rise to similar blasphemy.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:25 circumcision. Outward sign of God's covenant with the Jews (Gn 17:10–14). your circumcision becomes uncircumcision. Outward signs without faith are worthless.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:26 precepts of the law. Things required by the Law. See p 971. regarded as circumcision? Circumcision was synonymous with God's OT people, Israel.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:27 the written code. Revealed Law, the Torah.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:28 a Jew … outwardly. Following ceremonial laws such as circumcision or kosher regulations. nor is circumcision outward. Covenant was not about a physical act but about faith.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:29 matter of the heart. God called His people to faith. Outward ceremonies were not an end in themselves. See note, Gn 15:6. by the Spirit, not by the letter. Many followed the Law in detail, though they lacked genuine faith in God's forgiveness through the Messiah, Jesus. See note, 2Co 3:6. His praise. Humans may be impressed by outward acts, but God sees the heart and motives.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:12–29 Paul warns against being praised by people but not by God (v 29). Pride desires recognition and praise from the world, but this may come in ways that are inconsistent with God's will. Our priorities are misplaced when we seek the world's acclaim. We are blessed when we place God first, knowing He loves and forgives us. He approves of us because of Jesus. That's all the praise we will ever need. • Heavenly Father, in faith I do not seek the praise of the world, but I rejoice in Your gifts. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 3 Luth: "In chapter 3 [Paul] throws them all together in a heap, and says that one is like the other: they are all sinners before God. Only, the Jews have had the word of God. Though not many have believed that word, this does not mean that the faith and truth of God are exhausted. He quotes incidentally a verse from Psalm 51[:4], that God remains justified in his words. Afterward he comes back to this again and proves also by Scripture that all men are sinners, and that by the works of the law nobody is justified, but that the law was given only that sin might be known.

"Then he begins to teach the right way by which men must be justified and saved. He says: They are all sinners making no boast of God; but they must be justified without merit [of their own] through faith in Christ, who has merited this for us by his blood, and has become for us a mercy-seat by God. God forgives all former sins to demonstrate that we are helped only by his righteousness, which he grants in faith, and which was revealed at that time through the gospel and was witnessed to beforehand by the law and the prophets. Thus the law is upheld by faith, though the works of the law are thereby put down, together with the boasting of them" (AE 35:373).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:1 In other words, what was the point of Judaism if it did not earn salvation?

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:2 oracles of God. God's specific revelation in the Scriptures.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:3 Although Israel broke the covenant, God kept His promises.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:4 By no means! See p 1901. God will not break His promises. That you … judged. Frank confession of sin. God is right; we are sinners.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:5 Explaining v 4. God is righteous. We deserve punishment because we are sinners. a human way. Paul is showing the complaints behind the questions and is speaking rhetorically.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:7–8 Though Paul is falsely accused of antinomianism (see p 1942), he includes himself as a sinner. God's faithfulness is greater than our sin (vv 3, 5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:8 some people. Jews or Jewish Christians who thought that teaching justification by faith would lead to lawlessness. Charge will be refuted in ch 6. condemnation. God knows the truth and condemns the false witness of these critics.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:1–8 Human sinfulness shows the radical difference between God's holiness and humanity's unrighteousness. God made covenants with His people, but we have broken our promises. How blessed we are that our unfaithfulness cannot nullify His faithfulness. He redeems us because He is gracious. • Loving Father, thank You for Your grace and faithfulness. Empower me by Your Spirit to be faithful to You. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:9 all … are under sin. All people are guilty of sin and remain under its power; this is why we keep sinning.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:10–18 Six OT quotes demonstrate human sinfulness, summarized by v 10, "None is righteous." "Through Adam's fall is all corrupt, Nature and essence human" (FC Ep I 8). The cause of this unrepentant sin is that no one has faith, the "fear of God" (v 18). See p 1001.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:19 the law says. God's voice, recorded in the Law. under the law. Those subject to the Law; in this case, the Jews. Scripture proved their guilt. mouth may be stopped. While some proclaim innocence, the evidence of sinfulness is clear.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:20 by works … in His sight. Conclusion shows that statements of 2:7, 10, 13 were hypothetical. Works cannot earn salvation. through the law comes knowledge of sin. The Law serves as a mirror. When we hear its commands, it clearly shows us that we have sinned and are guilty.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:9–20 While we are tempted to think that obedience to the Law can save, Paul shows the Law's diagnosis: we are sinners incapable of saving ourselves (v 20). Only when we see this are we prepared for the Good News of what Christ has done for us. • Lord, I know that I am a sinner. Forgive me. Help me see Jesus and trust in Him alone. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21 righteousness of God. See note, 1:17. Paul revealed our unrighteousness; now he reveals the righteousness of God, which is Christ Jesus. apart from the law. Jesus' sacrifice fulfills the OT Law. Paul now defines righteousness and the righteous community, functions formally held by the Torah in Israel. God's righteousness is not earned by our works. Law and the Prophets. Entire OT bears witness to Christ (Lk 24:27). See note, Jn 5:39.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:22 through faith in Jesus Christ. Paul uses forms of this expression often (Gal 2:16; Php 3:9; 1Tm 1:14; 2Tm 1:13; 3:15). Grammatically, the expression may speak of our faith, which trusts in Christ and His work. It may also indicate Christ's faithfulness in completing the work of salvation (see ESV note, Gal 2:16). Both explanations teach true doctrine: Christ earned our salvation by His faithfulness and gives us the benefits of His work through the gift of faith.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:23 all. Every human, aside from Christ. fall short. Some may seem to come closer than others, but no one can live a holy life. "Scripture shouts everywhere that we are far away from the perfection that the Law requires" (Ap XIIB 45).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:24 justified by His grace as a gift. Grace cannot be earned; it must be given by God. See p 1903. redemption. Gk apolytrosis, the buying back of a slave or captive, to set the person free. See p 1904. Christ gave His life to set all people free when He died on the cross. "We receive the mercy promised in Him by faith and set it against God's wrath and judgment" (Ap IV 82). in Christ Jesus. See note, 8:1.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:25 propitiation. Gk hilasterion, in the LXX, the ark of the covenant's cover, where the high priest sprinkled the blood of the sacrifices. See note, Ex 25:17. As the propitiation covered the ark of the covenant, Christ's righteousness covers the sinner. He is the sacrifice for sin. by faith. Faith does not earn anything; it receives God's gift. See p 1901. show God's righteousness. Christ's work shows that God both justly punishes sin and graciously forgives sinners. See p 1904. forbearance. Patience with sinners. passed over former sins. God did not ignore sin. He delayed the punishment until Christ paid it. Some thoughtless modern theologians have likened Paul's teaching on the atonement to child abuse because the Father sent the Son as a sacrifice. This assertion ignores Christ's willingness to make full satisfaction for sins. Christ is true God "reconciling the world to Himself" (2Co 5:19). The Father sent the Son the way a patriotic father sends his son to war for the good of his nation. A father does not send a son cheerfully, but sincerely, anticipating sacrifice, victory, and reunion. See LSB 556:4–9.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:26 present time. God's righteousness in Christ is still effective.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:27 our boasting? No one deserves salvation; all receive it by grace. law. Or, principle. The Law does not save; it shows our need for God's redemption, which is received through faith. law of faith. Chrys: "What is the 'law of faith?' It is, being saved by grace" (NPNF 1 11:379). See p 1911.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:28 we. Paul and fellow Christians. justified by faith. See note, v 22. "Upon this article [justification] everything that we teach and practice depends … we must be certain and not doubt this doctrine. Otherwise, all is lost" (SA II I 5). See p 2016.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:30 God is one. Likely from the "Shema" confession (Dt 6:4) used in the synagogue liturgy and perhaps in early Christian gatherings. The OT and NT reveal the same God, who wants all to be saved. by faith … through faith. No distinction is implied by the change from "by" to "through." See note, v 22. The means of God's salvation have always been the same. There are not different ways of salvation for different groups or dispensations. See note, Gn 15:6.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:31 we uphold the law. The Gospel does not ignore the Law; the Law is upheld because Christ perfectly fulfilled it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21–31 Vv 23–24 demonstrate human equality —all have sinned and fall short of God's glory. We are alike in our corruption and fallenness. But all humanity has also been redeemed by Christ. Sinners may draw distinctions between people, but God does not. He would save us all through Christ. • Lord Jesus Christ, Redeemer of the world, thank You for Your salvation. Empower me to share Your gift with others. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 4 Luth: "After the first three chapters, in which sin is revealed and faith's way to righteousness is taught, St. Paul begins in chapter 4 to meet certain remonstrances and objections. First he takes up the one that all men commonly make when they hear that faith justifies without works. They say, 'Are we, then, to do no good works?' Therefore he himself takes up the case of Abraham, and asks, 'What did Abraham accomplish, then, with his good works? Were they all in vain? Were his works of no use?' He concludes that Abraham was justified by faith alone, without any works, so much so that the Scriptures in Genesis 15[:6] declare that he was justified by faith alone even before the work of circumcision. But if the work of circumcision contributed nothing to his righteousness, though God had commanded it and it was a good work of obedience, then surely no other good work will contribute anything to righteousness. Rather, as Abraham's circumcision was an external sign by which he showed the righteousness that was already his in faith, so all good works are only external signs which follow out of faith; like good fruit, they demonstrate that a person is already inwardly righteous before God.

"With this powerful illustration from the Scriptures, St. Paul confirms the doctrine of faith which he had set forth in chapter 3. He cites also another witness, David, who says in Psalm 32[:1–2] that a man is justified without works—although he does not remain without works when he has been justified. Then he gives the illustration a broader application, setting it over against all other works of the law. He concludes that the Jews cannot be Abraham's heirs merely because of their blood, still less because of the works of the law; they must inherit Abraham's faith, if they would be true heirs. For before the law—before the law of Moses and the law of circumcision—Abraham was justified by faith and called the father of all believers. Moreover the law brings about wrath rather than grace, because no one keeps the law out of love for it and pleasure in it. What comes by the works of the law is thus disfavor rather than grace. Therefore faith alone must obtain the grace promised to Abraham, for these examples too were written for our sakes [Rom. 15:4], that we too should believe" (AE 35:373–74).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:1 See note, 3:1. Having shown that circumcision does not merit salvation, Paul now applies this to Abraham, the first to receive God's covenant of circumcision (Gn 17:10–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:2 Hypothetical point. Many rabbis assumed that Abraham was justified by keeping the Law perfectly. If this were true, Abraham had reason to boast. But he could not boast before God, who knew that Abraham was not justified by works but by faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:3 Elderly Abraham believed God's promise that he would be the father of a great nation (Gn 15:1–6). His faith is noted, not his works. counted … righteousness. Abraham did not act righteously; God declared him righteous because of his faith. "Faith itself is credited for righteousness. Faith is the thing God declares to be righteousness. Paul adds that righteousness is credited freely" (Ap IV 89). See "righteousness," p 1904.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:4–5 Including works in salvation destroys grace. If we save ourselves, then God is not our Savior! God justifies sinners who cannot deserve His grace.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:6 apart from works. "For the holy apostle Paul writes, 'Of grace,' 'without merit,' 'without Law,' 'without works,' 'not of works.' All these words together mean that we are justified and saved through faith alone in Christ" (FC Ep III 10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:7–8 Ps 32:1 shows how the OT teaches justification through faith. The confession reveals that David was not relying on his works, but on grace. Although we are sinners, God forgives us and covers us with His righteousness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:9 blessing. God's forgiveness. See p 842. We. Paul and fellow Christians.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:11 sign of … righteousness. Not circumcision, but God's declaration—His Word—made Abraham righteous (Gn 15:6). while … uncircumcised. Abraham was counted as righteous before God instituted circumcision (Gn 17:10–14). father of all who believe. Abraham, the physical ancestor of Israel, is the spiritual ancestor of all who, like him, are justified by faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:12 who also walk in the footsteps of the faith. Israelites who believed what Abraham did.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:1–12 Abraham's circumcision did not save him; it was a response to his salvation. We are constantly tempted to give our works a role in salvation, but this detracts from God's work. Christ saves us apart from our works, so anything we do responds to what He has already done for us. • Gracious God, grant us hearts that trust like Abraham, who trusted in You alone. Thank You for declaring us righteous. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:13 promise to Abraham. God promised to multiply Abraham's descendants (Gn 15:5) and to bless all nations through him. This was a prophecy about Jesus. See note, Gn 12:3. heir of the world. As Abraham became the father of many nations, the world would, in a sense, belong to him. See "portion," p 7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:14 the heirs. Those receiving the blessings promised to Abraham. See p 1902.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:15 Humans inevitably violate God's Law and are condemned by it. "The Law always accuses and terrifies consciences" (Ap IV 38). no law … no transgression. The Law stands as a boundary. Without such a boundary, there can be no violation.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:16 it. Salvation. "If the promise were to depend upon our works, it would not be sure…. When would we know that we had received it?" (Ap XX 87). all his offspring … us all. All who share Abraham's faith.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:17 I have made you. God's promise, spoken before Abraham's son Isaac was born, was so certain that it is in the past tense: I have done this. presence of the God. God personally spoke this promise to Abraham. It did not come through another person. who gives life … do not exist. God's power is seen in His gift of life and in creation.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:18 Abraham's descendants would be as numerous as the stars in the sky.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:19 weaken in faith. Abraham did not doubt. Faith may vary in strength, but even weak faith justifies because of Christ's work (see note, vv 20–21). a hundred years old. Considered too old to father a child. barrenness of Sarah's womb. Sarah was 90 (Gn 17:17), past childbearing age.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:20–21 These things can only be truly said of Abraham as a forgiven sinner. His actions demonstrate some doubts (cf Gn 16). When sins are forgiven, only the fruit of faith remains.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:20 strong. Abraham drew strength and confidence from his faith.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:24 It. Faith. Him who raised. The Father, working through the Holy Spirit (cf 8:11). The entire Trinity was involved in the resurrection.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:25 The crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus are, essentially, one act. Jesus was crucified to pay the penalty for our sins. His resurrection demonstrates His power, assures us that God approves of His work, and is a promise of our resurrection (1Co 15:17).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:13–25 Abraham trusted that God was able to do what He promised. Trials and challenges may tempt us to doubt God's promises. As He did with Abraham, God will strengthen our faith, assure us of His promises, help us to trust, and fulfill all He said He would do. • Lord, I believe. Assure me when I doubt, and strengthen my faith. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 5 Luth: "In chapter 5 [Paul] comes to the fruits and works of faith, such as peace, joy, love to God and to every man, as well as confidence, assurance, boldness, courage, and hope amid tribulation and suffering. For all this follows, if faith be true, because of the superabundant goodness that God shows us in Christ, causing Christ to die for us before we could ask it of him, indeed, while we were still enemies. Thus we have it that faith justifies without any works; and yet it does not follow that men are therefore to do no good works, but rather that the genuine works will not be lacking. Of these the work-righteous saints know nothing. They dream up works of their own in which there is no peace, joy, confidence, love, hope, boldness, or any of the qualities of true Christian work and faith.

"After this he digresses and makes a pleasant excursion, telling whence come sin and righteousness, death and life, and comparing Adam and Christ. He means to say that Christ had to come as a second Adam bequeathing his righteousness to us through a new spiritual birth in faith, just as the first Adam bequeathed sin to us through the old fleshly birth. Thus he declares and proves that no one by his own works can raise himself out of sin into righteousness, any more than he can prevent the birth of his own body. This is proved also by the fact that the divine law—which ought to assist toward righteousness, if anything can—has not only not helped, but has even increased sin. For the more the law forbids, the more our evil nature hates the law, and the more it wants to give reign to its own lust. Thus the law makes Christ all the more necessary, and more grace is needed to help our nature" (AE 35:374–75).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1 justified by faith. Not by works; summary of chs 1–4. See p 1903. peace with God. Justification does not merely mean escaping punishment; we are now in a positive relationship with God. See p 1903. Luth: "Note how the apostle places this spiritual peace only after righteousness has preceded it. For first he says, 'since we have been justified … by faith,' and then 'we have peace' " (AE 25:285). "Spiritually inexperienced people despise this teaching. However, God-fearing and anxious consciences find by experience that it brings the greatest consolation" (AC XX 15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:2 grace in which we stand. Grace is not a one-time gift; we live in it eternally. Chrys: "If then He has brought us near to Himself, when we were far off, much more will He keep us now that we are near" (NPNF 1 11:396). hope of the glory of God. The promise of eternal life in heaven. See p 1903. "St. Paul … credits the beginning, middle, and end to faith alone" (FC SD IV 34).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:3–5 Paul is not listing virtues that his readers will achieve by their own will. These are effects of the Holy Spirit's work in Christian lives. As God helps us through suffering, He teaches endurance, He develops character in us, and He gives us hope. Suffering is transformed by our relationship with God.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:3 rejoice in our sufferings. Suffering cannot steal the peace Christ brings. Christians do not rejoice in suffering per se, but they realize that God can produce good things through suffering. See p 837.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:5 put us to shame. By being false. poured into our hearts. An abundance of love. Holy Spirit … given to us. The indwelling Holy Spirit shows that our hope is not misplaced. See p 1920.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:6 still weak. Gk term describes someone afflicted with illness, one who is completely powerless. right time. The perfect timing, known by God.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:7–8 Humans are reluctant to sacrifice for others. A few people might die for one who seemed particularly righteous or for one who had done them some good, but these are rare occurrences. Christ died, not for righteous people or for those who had helped Him, but for sinners. This is grace. See "grace," p 1902.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:9 justified by His blood. Our redemption required Christ's sacrifice. wrath of God. We may experience the temporal consequence of sin, but the justified never experience God's wrath in eternity. See note, 1:18.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:10 enemies. Candid assessment of sin. We were completely opposed to God. reconciled. A personal, loving relationship between God and humans has been restored by Christ. See note, 2Co 5:18. saved by His life. Christ's resurrection brings salvation. See "save," p 1904.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:11 Christians pondering what they have received through Christ's death and resurrection will respond in worship and praise.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1–11 We naturally seek to avoid pain and suffering. Yet, there are times when suffering is unavoidable. Focused on Christ's suffering, death, and resurrection, we know that suffering is not the whole story. God will use afflictions for our good and to bless others. He will keep His promises, and we will overcome our sufferings by faith. • Lord Christ, You suffered for us. When we must suffer, lead us in faith. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12 sin … one man. There was no sin in God's perfect creation until the fall of Adam (Gn 3:1–7). death through sin. Death is a consequence of sin. spread. Parents have transmitted mortality to their children since the fall. all sinned. Adam's fall brought sin to all humanity. We inherited his guilt and the desire to sin. Here, Paul stops abruptly, confronting us with the reality of original sin and our guilt. "This hereditary sin is such a deep corruption of nature that no reason can understand it. Rather, it must be believed from the revelation of Scripture" (SA III I 3). See p 959.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:13 Though the Torah had not yet been revealed, Adam had heard and broken God's Law. See note, v 12.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:14 death reigned. All humans were mortal and under death's power. Moses. The writer of God's Law (Torah). not like the transgression of Adam. Adam violated a specific command that he heard from God. Others may not have heard the command as clearly as Adam did, but they still sinned. type. See p 1904. one who was to come. Adam prefigured and foreshadowed Christ (cf vv 15–17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:15 free gift. God's grace in Christ. trespass. Adam's sin. Adam, with his sin, is not a perfect parallel to Christ with His grace. many … one. Rabbinic form of logic uses contrast to show that one man saved everyone. many died. All humans are subject to death. grace of God … free gift. The terms complement and reinforce each other. See "grace," p 1902.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:16 result … judgment. Sin rightly resulted in judgment. one … many. See note, v 15.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:17 death reigned through that one man. Cf vv 12, 14. The death Adam merited spread to all humanity. grace … free gift of righteousness. God gives Christ's righteousness to cover our sin. See note, 6:23; see also p 1902. reign in life … Jesus Christ. Death no longer reigns over God's people; God has restored our dominion in life. Cf Ps 8:6–7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:18 one act of righteousness. Christ's work in death and resurrection. one … all men. See note, v 15.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:19 one … many. See note, v 15. obedience. Christ's fulfillment of the Law and substitutionary death. "God's eternal, unchangeable righteousness, revealed in the Law, has been satisfied" (FC SD III 57).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:20 increase the trespass. The Law reveals sinfulness. This is its "second use," a mirror to show sin. grace abounded all the more. God's grace is enough to forgive every sin revealed by the Law. "Mercy is more comprehensive than sin" (Ap V 29).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:21 grace … righteousness. Grace is concretely expressed in Christ's work, which declares sinners righteous. See p 1902. leading to eternal life. Or, "into" eternal life. Christ's righteousness gives eternal life to sinners.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12–21 Adam's sin brought guilt, the desire to sin, and mortality to all humans. We continue to sin and deserve condemnation. Praise God, He did not stop with Adam. He sent a Second Adam to begin a new humanity. Christ fulfilled the Law. He was obedient to the Father, and He paid the penalty for our sin. One man—Christ—has redeemed us and changed humanity forever. • O Lord, Your grace abounds for me so that I may enjoy justification, life, and peace as Adam enjoyed before the fall into sin. Reign over me, gracious Lord, that I may reign over trespasses and death, inheriting all the blessings of the Second Adam—Jesus. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 6 Luth: "In chapter 6 [Paul] takes up the special work of faith, the conflict of the spirit with the flesh for the complete slaying of the sin and lust that remain after we are justified. He teaches us that we are not by faith so freed from sin that we can be idle, slack, and careless, as though there were no longer any sin in us. Sin is present; but it is no longer reckoned for our condemnation, because of the faith that is struggling against it. Therefore we have enough to do all our life long in taming the body, slaying its lusts, and compelling its members to obey the spirit and not the lusts. Thus we become like the death and resurrection of Christ, and complete our baptism—which signifies the death of sin and the new life of grace—until we are entirely purified of sin, and even our bodies rise again with Christ and live forever.

"All this we can do, he says, because we are under grace and not under law. He himself explains what this means. To be without the law is not the same thing as to have no laws and to be able to do what one pleases. Rather we are under the law when, without grace, we occupy ourselves with the works of the law. Then sin certainly rules [us] through the law, for no one loves the law by nature; and that is great sin. Grace, however, makes the law dear to us; then sin is no longer present, and the law is no longer against us but one with us.

"This is the true freedom from sin and from the law. He writes about this down to the end of the chapter, saying that it is a freedom only to do good with pleasure and to live well without the compulsion of the law. Therefore this freedom is a spiritual freedom, which does not overthrow the law but presents what the law demands, namely, pleasure [in the law] and love [for it] whereby the law is quieted and no longer drives men or makes demands of them. It is just as if you owed a debt to your overlord and could not pay it. There are two ways in which you could rid yourself of the debt: either he would take nothing from you and would tear up the account, or some good man would pay it for you and give you the means to satisfy the account. It is in this latter way that Christ has made us free from the law. Our freedom is, therefore, no carefree fleshly freedom which is not obligated to do anything, but a freedom that does many works of all kinds, and is free of the demands and obligations of the law" (AE 35:375–76).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1–2 Paul forcefully rejects the notion that we should ignore God's will and deliberately sin, knowing that He will forgive. That is an abuse of grace. we. Paul and fellow Christians.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:2 died to sin. In Baptism, God applies Christ's death to us so that we receive the benefits of Christ's sacrifice. See SC, Baptism, pp xxxix–xl. Belonging to Him, we reject the illogical question in v 1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:3 baptized into Christ Jesus. Baptism connects us with Christ's work, clothing us in His righteousness. baptized into His death? Christ paid the penalty of our sin. Christ's work is applied to us in Baptism.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:4 buried … by baptism. As Jesus was covered by the earth in His burial, we are buried in baptismal water. Early Christian baptismal practices reflected the Jewish tebilah rite of purification, which was by immersion. However, there were other ways to wash or baptize. See p 1369. just as Christ was raised. We are united to Christ's death and burial so that we will be united to His resurrection and life. by the glory of the Father. God's power was gloriously revealed in the resurrection. walk in newness of life. Christ's work gives us a new life, free from the guilt of sin. Luth: "Imagine there was a doctor somewhere who understood the art of saving people from death or, even though they died, could restore them quickly to life so that they would afterward live forever. Oh, how the world would pour in money like snow and rain. No one could find access to him because of the throng of the rich! But here in Baptism there is freely brought to everyone's door such a treasure and medicine that it utterly destroys death and preserves all people alive" (LC IV 43).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:5 united with Him. Christ identifies Himself with us; His death pays for our sins, and His righteousness is credited to us. a death like His. His death was on the cross; ours is in Baptism, which gives the benefits of His work on the cross. a resurrection like His. New life has already begun for the child of God; at Christ's return, our bodies will be raised to life again.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:6 old self. Our sinful nature. body of sin. The whole person, controlled by sin. brought to nothing. Loses its destructive power. enslaved to sin. Completely controlled by the sinful nature. "The Law of the Lord is also necessary so that the old Adam … may not use his own will, but may be subdued against his will" (FC Ep VI 4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:7 Those crucified with Christ in Baptism have been freed from sin's effects.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:9 Christ lives eternally. He is not subject to death; He conquered it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:10 He died to sin. Chrys: "He was not subject even to [sin], but for our sin, that He might destroy it, and cut away its sinews and all its power, therefore He died" (NPNF 1 11:410). once for all. Christ's single death paid for all sins. He lives to God. Christ's eternal life is devoted to the Father.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:11 Because Christ has united Himself to us, we do not use forgiveness as an excuse to sin (v 1); instead, we joyfully live in service to Him. in Christ Jesus. See note, 8:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:12 reign in your mortal body. Christians are called to struggle against sin. The impulse to sin remains in us even after we receive God's forgiveness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:13 Having been redeemed, we should not waste our lives pursuing opportunities to sin; we are called to follow and serve Christ. members. See p 1903.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:14 Sin does not control our lives (cf v 9). "The Holy Spirit does not permit sin to have dominion, to gain the upper hand so it can be carried out, but represses and restrains it from doing what it wants. If sin does what it wants, the Holy Spirit and faith are not present" (SA III III 44). not under law but under grace. For true good works, we are motivated by the Gospel, not the Law. God's grace changes our lives. See "grace," p 1902.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1–14 We may be tempted to make grace an invitation to sin. Because God will forgive me, why not do what I want? This immature attitude misses this point: Christ unites Himself to us. In His death and resurrection, we receive forgiveness and life. He calls us to live in His life, not to turn back to a life dominated by sin. He enables us to live in the freedom of His grace. • Risen Savior, You died my death and gave me Your life. Abide with me that I may walk with You. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:15 Paul again asks if forgiveness provides an excuse to sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:16 Whatever we choose to serve, whether God or sin, will control us and shape our lives.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:17 obedient from the heart. Not forced obedience, but a willing commitment. standard of teaching. The content of faith—the Gospel. committed. The Romans did not commit themselves; they were committed, by God's power, in Baptism.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:18 free from sin. The guilt and dominion of sin have been removed by Christ. slaves of righteousness. Every aspect of our lives is used in service to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:19 human terms. Image of slavery illustrates the fact that we will serve something or someone. However, the illustration needs to be understood properly, lest we think it burdensome to serve God. See p 101. your natural limitations. The Romans are prone to fall into sin and need to be encouraged to serve God. Cf 12:1. sanctification. Gk hagiasmos, "holiness." See "saints," p 1904. Lives lived in response to the Gospel seek to serve God and others.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:20 One who serves sin has no desire to serve God and pays little attention to His will.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:21 what fruit. Rotten results of sinful actions. now ashamed? Only after conversion did the Romans fully recognize the sinfulness of their past lives. end … death. Unforgiven sin results in death.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:22 slaves of God. See p 101. fruit … sanctification. Lives devoted to sin yield sinful results (v 21); lives devoted to God yield holy results. The Holy Spirit sanctifies us. See p 1902. its end, eternal life. Sanctification does not earn eternal life. Christ won salvation and eternal life; through faith, the Holy Spirit imparts them to us and sanctifies us.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:23 wages of sin. Death is the just punishment for sin. "All preparation for condemnation is by the devil and a person, through sin. In no way does it come from God, who does not want any person to be damned" (SD XI 81). free gift. Nothing can earn God's grace. He gives it to people who can never deserve it, for Christ's sake (cf 5:17). Chrys: "After speaking of the wages of sin … he does not say, the wages of good deeds, 'but the gift of God;' to show, that it was not of themselves that they were freed, nor was it a due they received, neither yet a return, nor a recompense of labors, but by grace" (NPNF 1 11:417). in Christ Jesus. See note, 8:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:15–23 Although many people consider freedom to be the ultimate human right, no one is truly free spiritually. We were slaves to sin and bound to death. Knowing this, Jesus came to serve us by giving His life on the cross and rising for us. Freed from sin, we can now serve God. Only when we are "slaves" to God will we have freedom to be the people He created us to be. • My Savior, thank You for serving me. Lead me to serve You and others. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 7 Luth: "In chapter 7 [Paul] supports this [freedom] with an analogy from married life. When a man dies, his wife is also alone, and thus the one is released entirely from the other. Not that the wife cannot or ought not take another husband, but rather that she is now for the first time really free to take another—something which she could not do previously, before she was free from her husband. So our conscience is bound to the law, under the old man of sin; when he is slain by the Spirit, then the conscience is free, and the one is released from the other. Not that the conscience is to do nothing, but rather that it is now for the first time really free to hold fast to Christ, the second husband, and bring forth the fruit of life.

"Then he depicts more fully the nature of sin and of the law, how by means of the law sin now stirs and becomes mighty. The old man comes to hate the law all the more because he cannot pay what the law demands. Sin is his nature and of himself he can do nothing but sin; therefore the law to him is death and torment. Not that the law is bad, but the old man's evil nature cannot endure the good, and the law demands good of him; just as a sick man cannot stand it when he is required to run and jump and do the works of a well man.

"Therefore St. Paul here concludes that the law, correctly understood and thoroughly grasped, does nothing more than to remind us of our sin, and to slay us by it, making us liable to eternal wrath. All this is fully learned and experienced by our conscience, when it is really struck by the law. Therefore a person must have something other than the law, something more than the law, to make him righteous and save him. But they who do not correctly understand the law are blind. They go ahead in their presumption, thinking to satisfy the law by means of their deeds, not knowing how much the law demands, namely, a willing and happy heart. Therefore they do not see Moses clearly; the veil is put between them and him, and covers him [Exod. 34:29–35; II Cor. 3:12–16].

"Then he shows how spirit and flesh struggle with one another in a man. He uses himself as an example, in order that we may learn how properly to understand the work of slaying sin within us. He calls both the spirit and the flesh 'laws'; for just as it is in the nature of the divine law to drive men and make demands of them, so the flesh drives men and makes demands. It rages against the spirit, and will have its own way. The spirit, in turn, drives men and makes demands contrary to the flesh, and will have its own way. This tension lasts in us as long as we live; though in one person it is greater, in another less, according as the spirit or the flesh is stronger. Nevertheless the whole man is himself both spirit and flesh, and he fights with himself until he becomes wholly spiritual" (AE 35:376–77).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:1 brothers. Intimate term introduces a section revealing Paul's personal struggles. See note, 1:13. those who know the law. Either Jews or Gentiles familiar with the Law would know the laws of marriage (vv 2–3). binding. The Law demands obedience. as long as he lives? Laws apply only to living people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:2–3 View of marriage reflects teachings of the Torah, but would also have been familiar to most Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:2 A widowed spouse does not violate wedding vows by remarrying.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:4 The Law was fulfilled by Jesus' obedience and sacrificial death. United to Him in Baptism (6:3–5), we are now free from the Law's condemnation. See note, 8:1. bear fruit. See note, 6:22. Our lives are devoted to God's service.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:5 living in the flesh. Controlled by sin. flesh. See p 1902. passions. Can be sinful or righteous; Paul describes control by sinful desires. aroused by the law. Rebellion against the Law may incline sinners to commit more sins. Mel: "The Law even increased sin. For when it accuses and terrifies, doubt is kindled, and there follows indignation against God and despair" (Romans, p 153). members. See p 1903. fruit for death. Apart from Christ, our lives serve sin, not God. This leads to death.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:6 now … released from the law. United to Christ, we have been freed from the Law. new way of the Spirit. A life of faith, given by the Holy Spirit, who sanctifies. See p 1920. old … written code. The Law, epitomized in the Ten Commandments. The Law can command but cannot empower us to keep it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:1–6 As the Law confronts fallen human nature, it accuses and condemns, revealing sinfulness and the unreachable standard of God's holiness. Faithless people may be driven to sin and despair by the Law (v 5). Thanks be to God, in Christ we have died to the Law (v 4). Now we need not live in bondage and fear, but in a new life in the Spirit. • O Holy Spirit, fill me with faith and new life, so that I may bear the fruit of love for You. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:7 More rhetorical questions from Paul (cf 6:1, 15). we. Christians who have been "released from the Law" (v 6). law. See p 1911. covet. The internal sin of evil desires leads to outward sinful acts, yet is not recognized as sinful until we hear God's forbidding command. "Defects and concupiscence are both sin and punishment" (Ap II 47).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:8 sin, seizing. Personification shows sin's iron grip, which corrupts even our hearing of the Commandments. covetousness. God's Ninth and Tenth Commandments may cause fallen humans to rebel and do the exact opposite. apart from the law, sin lies dead. Something is only sinful if God forbids it. The Law naturally stirs up rebellion in sinners.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:9 once alive apart from the law. Paul thought that he was alive and keeping the Law, but he was really dead in sin (Eph 2:1–2). sin came alive. He realized sin and guilt had been in him all along.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:10 One who kept the Law perfectly was promised life (Lv 18:5), but no sinful human could reach this standard of holiness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:11 deceived me. Sin is personified as the fall (Gn 3). Paul fell into sin just as Adam fell.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:12 The Law's effect shows a problem in us, not in the Law. God's Law remains good, even though we cannot keep it.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:13 through what is good. God's Law, intended for our good (v 12). sinful beyond measure. Sin is not inconsequential. We are not to excuse our sins; we are completely sinful.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:14 law is spiritual. Of divine origin. of the flesh. Part of the fallen world. See note, v 5. sold under sin. See p 101.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:15–20 As a Christian, Paul struggles with his sinful nature. He has sinful desires but knows they are wrong. He tries to avoid sin but inevitably fails. Even as a Christian, he cannot overcome sin by his efforts. Luth: "Both expressions are true, that he himself does it and he himself does not do it. He is like a horseman. When his horses do not trot the way he wants them to, it is he himself and yet not he himself who makes the horse run in such and such a way. For the horse is not without him, and he is not without the horse. But because a carnal man certainly consents to the law of his members, he certainly himself does what sin does" (AE 25:331; see SA III III 40).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:21 a law. A regular occurrence: Whenever Paul attempts good, he still sins. See p 1911.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:22 delight. Although our fallen nature rebels, the new nature rejoices in God's truth. law. See p 1911. my inner being. God's redeemed and forgiven child. See "soul," note, Ps 103:1–2.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:23 my members. See p 1903. law of my mind. The inner being (v 22) that delights in God's Word. law of sin. The power or control of sin over us. See p 1911.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:24 Wretched. Paul detests his continued sinfulness. body of death? This enslaving sin merits death.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:25 with my mind. We are fallen sinners who are bound to sin, yet as God's new creation we want to serve and obey Him. Paul neither ignores his sinfulness nor gives up. He relies on Christ alone. Luth: "The old man is infected with all vices and has by nature nothing good in him [Romans 7:18]. Now, when we have come into Christ's kingdom [John 3:5], these things must daily decrease. The longer we live the more we become gentle, patient, meek, and ever turn away from unbelief, greed, hatred, envy, and arrogance" (LC IV 66–67).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:7–25 Our struggle with sin is not a past event; it is a present reality. We know God's will and desire to serve Him, but we cannot overcome sin. Even if we try, we fail. We cry out, "Who will deliver me from this body of death?" There is only one answer: "Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord!" Jesus rescues us. Though we sin daily, He continues to forgive and restore us. • Lord Jesus, I love You. Lead me in daily repentance. Forgive my sin and strengthen my faith. By Your Spirit, deliver me. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 8 Begins with "no condemnation … in Christ" and closes with the victorious affirmation of no separation from God's love in Christ. In between is an unparalleled presentation of the Spirit's work (referred to 19 times in vv 1–27) to sanctify and keep us in the faith. There are no imperatives in the chapter, for we are led by the Spirit, not driven by the Law. Luth: "In chapter 8 [Paul] comforts these fighters, telling them that this flesh does not condemn them. He shows further what the nature of flesh and spirit is, and how the Spirit comes from Christ. Christ has given us his Holy Spirit; he makes us spiritual and subdues the flesh, and assures us that we are still God's children, however hard sin may be raging within us, so long as we follow the spirit and resist sin to slay it. Since, however, nothing else is so good for the mortifying of the flesh as the cross and suffering, he comforts us in suffering with the support of the Spirit of love, and of the whole creation, namely, that the Spirit sighs within us and the creation longs with us that we may be rid of the flesh and of sin. So we see that these three chapters (6–8) drive home the one task of faith, which is to slay the old Adam and subdue the flesh" (AE 35:377–78).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:1 now no condemnation. God's Law declares that all people are guilty of sin and deserve to die (cf 7:5, 10–11, 13, 24). Paul now concisely summarizes God's reverse declaration for those in Christ: "Not guilty!" See note, v 3. Luth: "We fell under God's wrath and displeasure and were doomed to eternal damnation, just as we had merited and deserved. There was no counsel, help, or comfort until this only and eternal Son of God—in His immeasurable goodness—had compassion upon our misery and wretchedness. He came from heaven to help us [John 1:9]. So those tyrants and jailers are all expelled now. In their place has come Jesus Christ, Lord of life, righteousness, every blessing, and salvation. He has delivered us poor, lost people from hell's jaws, has won us, has made us free [Romans 8:1–2], and has brought us again into the Father's favor and grace" (LC II 28–30). in Christ Jesus. Expression in Rm for union with Christ and His saving work (3:24; 6:11, 23; 8:39; 15:17; 16:3). Those who believe and are baptized into Him (6:3–4) are now and forever free from the Law's cold verdict and terrifying sentence. See p 1903.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:2 law. "Principle" here (see note, 3:27), something like today's "operating system." See p 1911. Spirit of life. The Holy Spirit "daily cleanses and sweeps out the remaining sins and works to make a person truly pure and holy" (SA III III 40). set you free. Freedom from a binding relationship of ownership or control and authority. See p 101. law of sin and death. System in which sin brings death (6:16, 21, 23) and the Law condemns to death (7:5, 10–11, 13, 24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:3 law, weakened by the flesh. The Law is good (7:12), but it is powerless because the sinful nature cannot keep it. sending His own Son. Expression implies Christ's preexistence. likeness of sinful flesh. Paul guards against two opposing errors: that Jesus was Himself sinful like other human beings, or that He did not become fully human. Jesus is completely like us (fully human), yet without sin (2Co 5:21; Heb 4:15). condemned. See p 1902. Cf v 1. Sin personified was sentenced to die and executed when Jesus died—in the very realm where it previously reigned: the flesh.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:4 righteous requirement. Gk dikaioma, see p 1904. Reference to God's will revealed in the Law. might be fulfilled in us. God is the one who fulfills the Law for us. Note the passive voice of the verb. Cf Php 2:13. walk. See p 7. Used by Jewish rabbis to denote lifestyle of obedience to the Law (cf Eph 5:2). according to the Spirit. Under the Spirit's power and direction. See p 1920.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:5 things of the flesh. Everything that our fallen, self-centered human nature desires and does (cf Gal 5:16–21). things of the Spirit. New mind-set and actions that the Spirit produces (cf Gal 5:22–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:6 death. Spiritual death and eternal separation from God. life and peace. Total well-being. These eternal blessings are already ours (cf v 1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:7–8 Unregenerate mind, heart, and will are "entirely evil, perverse, and hostile to God" (FC SD II 17). submit. To be subject to, and thus obey. cannot please God. Those controlled by their sinful nature have no power whatsoever to please God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:9 You. Plural in Gk. Paul now addresses his readers, the Christians at Rome. Spirit of God … Spirit of Christ. As the Nicene Creed confesses, the Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son. dwells in you. Christians as a body (the Church) are the place of God's abiding presence (1Co 3:16–17; 2Co 6:16–18; Eph 2:21–22). The Third Person of the Trinity, not merely some "force," resides in them. not belong to Him. Lit, "not His." A person in whom the Spirit does not dwell is not a Christian. See p 1920.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:10 Paul describes the forces at work within a believer. Christ is in you. Where the Spirit is, there is Christ. you. Plural, meaning the congregation. the body is dead. From birth, our body travels toward death. It is thus a "body of death" (7:24; cf 6:12; 8:11b). Spirit is life. May mean the Holy Spirit, through whom the dead are raised (8:11b), or the believer's renewed spirit. righteousness. See note, 1:17.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:11 Him who raised. God the Father (4:24; Ac 2:32). will also give life. According to Paul, the Spirit is a down payment, or guarantee, of our resurrection from the dead (v 23; cf 2Co 1:22; 5:1–5; Eph 1:13–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:1–11 Because Christ justifies sinners, God's life-giving Spirit dwells in believers. He frees us from the bondage of sin and death. Those who are preoccupied with satisfying their selfish desires often become angry with God and rebel against Him. God promises release from this deadly cycle and brings life and peace. • Father, by Your Spirit, direct our hearts to Christ, where true joys are found. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:12 brothers. See note, 1:13. debtors, not to the flesh. Our fallen nature no longer has any claim on us (vv 1–11). Therefore, we are no longer obligated to obey its impulses or satisfy its desires (contrary to the flesh's claim "I owe it to myself"; cf Gal 5:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:13 live according to the flesh. A lifestyle marked by personal refusal to repudiate sin or "renounce the Devil and all his works and all his ways" (Rite of Baptism, LSB, pp 268–71). by the Spirit. Through the power or agency of the Holy Spirit. put to death. Gk indicates ongoing action, as in extracting a bad tooth (cf Gal 5:4; Mk 9:43–47). Luther "taught that these remnants of original sin [after Baptism] are not, by nature, adiaphora in people, but that we need Christ's grace so that they are not counted against us as sin. And, to put them to death [mortify them], we need the Holy Spirit" (Ap II 45). deeds of the body. The body and its members are the instruments, so to speak, by which our rebellious will acts.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:14 led by the Spirit. Led, as by the hand of a beloved and trusted father, not as shackled prisoners or sternly disciplined troops. "Good works are evidences of [the Spirit's] presence and indwelling" (FC Ep IV 15). sons of God. Expression broadly means "children of God" (v 16; Gal 3:26; cf 2Co 6:18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:15 spirit of slavery. The Holy Spirit does not place us back under the Law's terrifying condemnation. adoption. See p 1901. Those baptized into Christ (ch 6) receive full status as God's children. Abba! Aram "Father." Conveys childlike intimacy and confidence (Mk 14:36; Gal 4:6). Perhaps an expression from the baptismal liturgy. Jesus gave us the privilege of addressing God as our dear Father ("Abba!") when He gave us the Lord's Prayer (cf Mt 6:9–13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:16 The Spirit causes us to believe in our gracious Father, to whom Christ has given us access (Jn 14:6; Eph 3:11–12; see AE 25:358–60).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:17 heirs. Our full status as God's children makes us beneficiaries of everything Christ possesses. We are truly His co-heirs (see Luther's "glorious exchange"; AE 51:316). suffer with Him. As Christ suffered, Christians will, and even must, suffer because of their allegiance to Him (2Co 1:5; Php 3:10; cf Col 1:24; 2Tm 2:11–12). glorified with Him. As Christ entered "into His glory" (Lk 24:26), so shall we—with joy (1Pt 4:13)!

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:12–17 The Holy Spirit leads us to trust confidently that we are heirs, privileged to call God "our Father" and to receive eternal glory at the end of present suffering. The path to glory, however, is not an easy street, for it entails daily rejection of personal sins. When God's judgment frightens us, the Spirit assures us that God loves us in Christ. • Lord, by Your Spirit, comfort us when we are afraid. Lead us to see You as our dear Father and to see ourselves as Your dear children. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:18 sufferings. Forms of distress and danger because of loyalty to Christ, as in v 35. Present anguish also includes pains of human frailty brought on by the fall (cf vv 19–23). See pp 779–82. glory. See p 1902. God's radiant presence awaiting believers in heaven (2Co 4:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:19 creation. Personification of all created beings and things. waits. Intense expectation. revealing of the sons of God. Full disclosure of the new, transformed existence in heaven.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:20 creation was subjected to futility. Cf Gn 3:17–19 and God's curse on the ground. him. Adam. Because of Adam's sin, the creation also came under God's judgment. Nothing in creation has since been able to fulfill its God-given purposes. in hope. See note, Gn 3:15; cf Eph 1:10; Php 2:10–11; Col 1:20.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:21 When freedom from "the law of sin and death" (v 2) reaches its glorious consummation, creation itself will experience a new beginning (cf Ps 102:25–28; Is 35; 65:17–25). bondage to corruption. Creation is now trapped in the endless cycle of deterioration leading to death. freedom of the glory of the children of God. Paul focuses on the indescribable glory that awaits believers.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:22 Powerful metaphor for creation's yearning to be free from the change and death in its current state. pains of childbirth. Gk implies that there will be an end to the anguish.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:23 firstfruits of the Spirit. As the firstfruits of the harvest (Ex 23:19; Lv 23:10–11; Nu 18:12; Dt 18:4) indicate more is to come, so the Holy Spirit and His work guarantee future blessing (see notes, v 11; 1Co 15:20). groan inwardly. See note, v 22. adoption. See p 1901. Christians have this status now (v 15), and yet do not have it in its fullness (v 19). redemption of our bodies. Transformation of our bodies in the resurrection (Php 3:21).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:24–25 hope. See p 1903.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:26 Spirit helps us. He comes to assist us. weakness. Frailty of our present condition hinders our prayer life. what to pray. Our mental horizons are severely limited compared to what God knows and wills. the Spirit Himself intercedes. Christ prays for us in heaven (v 34; Heb 7:25; 1Jn 2:1), but the Spirit intercedes within us. groanings too deep for words. Gk alaletos, without words to express present longings (cf v 23), but the Spirit brings these longings to God.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:27 He. God. mind of the Spirit. What the Holy Spirit is thinking. saints. See note, 1:7. according to the will of God. Lit, "according to God," i.e., in tune with His will.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:28 for those who love God. Emphasized in Gk. Not people in general, but believers, who are loved by God first (5:8; 8:35, 37, 39; 1Jn 4:19). all things work together for good. Even the "accidents" of history are God working for our good. called according to His purpose. God planned our salvation in advance. purpose. Gk prothesis, eternal election in Paul's writings (9:11; Eph 1:11; 3:11; 2Tm 1:9). The Spirit, in history, has called us by the Gospel (cf 1:7, 16–17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:29 foreknew. Not referring to God's advance knowledge of what will happen to good and evil people alike (which indeed He has), but to His gracious choice of those called, i.e., the elect (cf 1Pt 1:1–2). predestined. God in grace alone made a decision beforehand (Eph 1:5, 11). For more on predestination, see chs 9–11. conformed to the image. God makes us to be like Jesus, Himself the image of God (2Co 4:4; Col 1:15). firstborn. Gk prototokos, signifies preeminence of the exalted Lord Jesus (see notes, Col 1:15, 18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:30 Paul summarizes God's action to save, beginning with God's eternal counsel, taking place in history (including our personal history) and climaxing in glory. Paradoxically, God already accomplished this. "The entire teaching about God's purpose, counsel, will, and ordination belongs to our redemption, call, justification, and salvation" (FC SD XI 14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:18–30 The Holy Spirit ministers to God's dear children by giving us hope in our suffering, help in our weakness, and assurance that all things work out to fulfill God's eternal purposes in our lives. When our hope in God dims, we easily succumb to impatience in distress. The Spirit helps us in our frailty, assuring us of God's steadfast love. • Father in heaven, never leave or forsake us. Turn our complaints into prayers and our condemnation into glory. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:31 Rhetorical questions demanding a powerful, even defiant, challenge: "No one!"

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:32 did not spare His own Son. Just as Abraham did not withhold his only son (Gn 22:12, 16), so God gave His only Son (Jn 3:16). gave Him up. Gk "handed over." Judas (Jn 18:5), the chief priests and elders (Mt 27:2), the people of Jerusalem (Ac 3:13), and Pilate (Mk 15:15) all handed over, betrayed, and delivered Jesus. But here, God delivers Him over to death (4:25; cf Is 53:6, 12). for us. "God for us" is a "three-word summary of redemptive history" (Franzmann, p 157). how will He not … all things? Another rhetorical question. Everything belonging to God's Son now also belongs, by grace, to believers, truly co-heirs (see note, v 17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:33 Using legal language, Paul asks what prosecutor can bring any charges against the elect. The answer: none; the case is closed. God has declared the defendant not guilty! God's elect? Those whom God has graciously chosen from eternity. justifies. "The word justify means … 'to absolve, that is, to declare free from sins' " (FC Ep III 7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:34 Who is to condemn? See notes, vv 1, 3. Christ Jesus … hand of God. Because Christ, our Savior, died for our sins, was raised by God for our justification (4:25), and has been exalted to God's throne on high, we know that there is "now no condemnation" (v 1). interceding. From Christ's heavenly office "as the Mediator, Atoning Sacrifice, High Priest, and Intercessor" before God, "He has promised that He will hear our prayer" and that this is "the worship He approves above all other worship, that He be called upon in all afflictions" (AC XXI 2–3; cf 1Jn 2:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:35 Rhetorical questions with mounting intensity. The same answer follows—"nothing and no one!" Shall tribulation … sword? Paul lists seven things that threaten to come between us and Christ's love—all of which Paul himself experienced. Cf 2Co 11:16–33.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:36 God's people were troubled, almost to despair, by the suffering they endured—a temptation familiar to all God's people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:37 more than conquerors. Heightened form of Gk nikao, "to prevail completely." loved us. To the point of death on the cross (5:6–8). Christ gained total victory for us.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:38–39 Tenfold list is all-embracing inventory of superhuman realities that threaten, in vain, to break the grip of Christ's love. (See FC SD XI 48–49.)

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:38 angels … rulers … powers. Unseen cosmic forces. Though created by God (Col 1:16), they now stand in opposition to God's eternal purpose because of the fall (Eph 3:10; 6:12; Col 1:16). They threaten to separate us from Christ's love, but Christ has triumphed over them (Eph 1:20–23; Col 2:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:39 in Christ Jesus. See note, v 1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:31–39 Christ's death, resurrection, and exaltation at God's right hand guarantees our victory over anything and everything that would separate us from His love. When following Christ brings distress, we sometimes distance ourselves from Him. But Christ never draws back from us. • Lord Jesus, though You are exalted at the Father's right hand, You still hold us. Keep us in Your love to the end. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Chs 9–11 Paul now addresses the question of Jewish rejection of the Gospel. How can it be that the Gospel for "the Jew first" (1:16) has failed in its appeal to Israel? Is it really, therefore, the Gospel "of God" (1:1), and is it consistent with His plan of salvation? See note, 9:6. "Paul first directs people to repentance [Romans 1–2], to knowledge of sins [Romans 3:1–20], to faith in Christ [Romans 3:21–5:21], to divine obedience [Romans 6–8]. Then he speaks of the mystery of God's eternal election [Romans 9–11]. This doctrine is useful and consolatory to the person who proceeds in this way" (FC Ep XI 11).

Luth: "In chapters 9, 10, and 11 [Paul] teaches of God's eternal predestination—out of which originally proceeds who shall believe or not, who can or cannot get rid of sin—in order that our salvation may be taken entirely out of our hands and put in the hand of God alone. And this too is utterly necessary. For we are so weak and uncertain that if it depended on us, not even a single person would be saved; the devil would surely overpower us all. But since God is dependable—his predestination cannot fail, and no one can withstand him—we still have hope in the face of sin.

"Here, now, for once we must put a stop to those wicked and high flying spirits who first apply their own reason to this matter. They begin at the top to search the abyss of divine predestination, and worry in vain about whether they are predestinated. They are bound to plunge to their own destruction, either through despair, or through throwing caution to the winds.

"But you had better follow the order of this epistle. Worry first about Christ and the gospel, that you may recognize your sin and his grace. Then fight your sin, as the first eight chapters here have taught. Then, when you have reached the eighth chapter, and are under the cross and suffering, this will teach you correctly of predestination in chapters 9, 10, and 11, and how comforting it is. For in the absence of suffering and the cross and the perils of death, one cannot deal with predestination without harm and without secret anger against God. The old Adam must first die before he can tolerate this thing and drink the strong wine. Therefore beware that you do not drink wine while you are still a suckling. There is a limit, a time, and an age for every doctrine" (AE 35:378).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1 not lying. Rhetoric, not a defense. He is setting up his new topic. my conscience bears me witness. Paul's clear conscience provides testimony to his truthfulness; he feels deep compulsion to speak. in the Holy Spirit. Paul speaks as God's child having the indwelling Spirit (8:15–16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:2 Paul continually feels deep personal distress because of his sense of solidarity with his own people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:3 If it were possible to ask this of God (which it really is not), Paul would share Moses' desire to be blotted out of the book of life for the sake of his people (Ex 32:32). Luth: "A most excellent and entirely apostolic way of speaking here of love both toward Christ as well as toward the Jews" (AE 25:380). accursed. See p 1901. my brothers. Only place where Paul uses this term for Jews, his kinsmen by race.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:4 Israelites. Sacred name that marks the Jews as elect and favored recipients of the revelation, the grace, and the promises of God (cf Eph 2:12). Spanning the OT, Paul gives a compact summary of the magnificent privileges belonging to God's people: adoption, Ex 4:22–23; glory, Ex 16:7, 10; 24:16; 40:34–35; 1Ki 8:10–11; covenants, Gn 15:18; Ex 24; 2Sm 23:5; giving of the law, Ex 20; Dt 4:8; worship, Lv 1–9; promises, esp messianic (2Sm 7:12, 16, 28–29; Is 9:6–7; 53; Jer 23:5; 31:31–40).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:5 patriarchs. Lit, "fathers"—Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and his 12 sons, the recipients of the promises. their race. Lit, "from whom," i.e., the patriarchs. Christ who is God over all. Some scholars place a period after "Christ" (the Gk text was originally not punctuated), ascribing this praise to "God." However, "God" is a direct reference to Christ, who is "blessed forever." Calling Jesus God would not be unusual for Paul, given what he says elsewhere (8:32, 34; Php 2:9–11; Col 2:9; see note, Rm 10:13). "Christ Jesus is now in one person at the same time true, eternal God, born of the Father from eternity, and a true man, born of the most blessed Virgin Mary" (FC SD VIII 6). blessed forever. Amen. Words common in the devotional language of Jews, who daily prayed the "Eighteen Benedictions" or blessings. Always doxological for Paul (cf 1:25; 2Co 1:3). See p 1901.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:6 word of God has failed. That Paul grieves for Israel (9:1–5) does not mean God's Word has failed to achieve its purpose (a conclusion one might draw). See p 1929. For not all … Israel. Key distinction to understanding chs 9–11: Israel according to physical descent and Israel according to faith in the promise (cf vv 7–8). Millennialists ignore this key distinction.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:7 children of Abraham. Descendants who believe God's promise (4:16). his offspring. See p 1903. Luth: "He says that those are not the children of Abraham who are his descendants merely according to the flesh but that those are his children who share his faith (Gal. 3:7). This Moses, too, implies in a hidden manner when he expressly says: 'Blessed be the Lord God of Shem' (Gen. 9:26); for he signifies thereby that the blessing is to be found only where the God of Shem is found. Therefore no Jew will share this promise unless he has the God of Shem, that is, unless he believes" (WLS § 2122).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:8 Paul's commentary on Gn 21:12 (cited in v 7). In contrast to Jewish belief that the physical descendants of Israel will naturally inherit everlasting life (see Mishnah Sanhedrin 10:1). Paul argues from Gn 21:12 that only descendants born as a result of God's promise are the "seed" (true successors of Abraham). In other words, the offspring receive the promise by faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:9 Words of promise spoken to Abraham that called Isaac into being.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:10 Someone in Paul's audience might argue that God chose Isaac to be the son of promise because he was born of Sarah, Abraham's wife—and not of Hagar, a slave woman. by one man. God's elective choice is esp clear in the case of Jacob and Esau, for both were born of the same father and mother.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:11 God's elective purpose has not fallen by the wayside (v 6), but remains at work in history. not because of works … calls. Part of v 12 in most English versions. "It is false and wrong when it is taught that not only God's mercy and Christ's most holy merit, but also something in us is a cause of God's election, on account of which God has chosen us to eternal life…. Before we were born, yes, even before the foundations of the world were laid, He elected us in Christ" (FC SD XI 88).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:12 The older will serve the younger. Esau's descendants, the Edomites, would serve Jacob's descendants, the Israelites (cf 2Sm 8:14; 1Ki 22:47). The topic here is God's work in history, not spiritual election or predestination as in 8:28–30.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:13 Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated. Refers to the nations of Israel and Edom. The "love/hate" language emphasizes preference of one over another, not literal hatred (compare Gn 29:30 to 29:31).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:14 Paul anticipates an objection to his argument in ch 9 thus far. By no means! See note, 3:4. Emphatic rejection of any implication that God is unjust for choosing one over another in Israel's history.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:15 God's reply to Moses' request, "Please show me Your glory," as Moses intercedes for Israel because of the worship of the golden calf. God's answer reveals that not by justice, but only by mercy can anyone (including Moses) stand before God.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:16 it. God's mercy.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:17 Scripture says to Pharaoh. Remarkable expression indicating that from Paul's perspective, Scripture is God's Word. God's word of judgment reveals that also in dealing with rebellious Pharaoh, God is free to carry out His purpose in history. See note, Ex 4:21.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:18 whomever He wills. God acts in freedom to accomplish His purpose. His actions are not fickle or arbitrary. hardens whomever. Cf 1:24, 26, 28; see notes, Ex 4:21; 9:12. Again, the subject here is not spiritual election or predestination.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:19 Second anticipated objection (cf v 14): If God's sovereign will is always done, how can anyone be held responsible for his or her actions?
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:20 God's created humans are in no position to put God on trial. The contrast between the potter and the clay (cf Is 29:15–16; 45:10; Jer 18:1–6) shows how arrogant it is for us to act as though we can hold God accountable for His actions. The potter using a foot-powered wheel was a common sight in biblical times.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:21 God certainly has the right over the clay (people). The Creator is free to exercise His will and right, but that does not mean He does so without mercy.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:22–24 Paul responds further to any suggestion that God has acted unjustly. On the contrary, His forbearance and all-embracing mercy rule out any injustice on God's part.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:22 patience. Gk makrothymia, "bearing up under provocation." vessels of wrath. People under God's wrath. prepared. Implies readiness for (as in "ripe for") destruction, not irreversibly foreordained destruction.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:23 glory. See p 1902. vessels of mercy. People under God's mercy.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:24 Objects of mercy come from both Jews and Gentiles.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:25–26 Two quotes from the prophet Hosea. Paul contends that if God could restore the 10 tribes of Israel (Northern Kingdom; see map, p 558), who had abandoned Him, He can also call Gentiles to be the recipients of His mercy (cf 1Pt 2:10).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:27–28 Quotes pertain to the Jews. As the prophet Isaiah said of the exiles, "A remnant shall return … to the mighty God" (Is 10:21), so only a remnant of the Jews will be saved as God acts with speed and finality.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:29 Just as only a handful at Sodom and Gomorrah were spared by God's mercy, so only a small number of Jews will believe in the promise.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1–29 The unbelief of his fellow Jews, to whom God had given so much, caused Paul great sorrow. Countering likely objections, Paul insists that God's Word has not failed and He is not unjust in His choices. Unbelievers sit under God's judgment, placing themselves in spiritual peril. Yet God is patient, desiring to show mercy on us all. • Lord, give us a penitent heart and confidence in Your grace. Thank You for choosing us and calling us to faith in Christ. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:30 What shall we say, then? Rhetoric. Paul sums up a previous argument (cf 4:1; 6:1; 7:7; 9:14). did not pursue righteousness. In fact, Gentiles were aggressively unrighteous and ungodly (1:18–24; cf 2Tm 3:1–5), disqualifying them from attaining righteousness. That Gentiles should obtain what they did not pursue was confusing to the Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:31 pursued a law … righteousness. The Jews wanted righteousness based on the Torah. reaching. The Gk term here means "to attain" or "arrive at" a particular state (cf Php 3:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:32 they did not pursue it by faith. Pursuit of the Law itself is not wrong. But a right standing with God cannot be attained by works of the Law, but only by grace through faith. Faith lays hold of Christ, who was put to death for our sins and raised for our justification (4:25). stumbling stone. A comparison drawn directly from Is 28:16 (cf v 33). Christ's death on the cross is offensive and arouses opposition because it undermines self-righteousness and proves that we cannot save ourselves (cf 1Co 1:23; Gal 2:21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:33 a stone of … offense. God, in judgment, became an offense to Israel, who trusted in themselves and rejected His deliverance, even though in Is 8 God had predicted the Assyrian invasion of Israel and promised to be the Israelite's place of refuge (Is 8:13–15). whoever believes … shame. The Messiah, Jesus Christ, was prophesied as "a stone, a tested stone, a precious cornerstone" in Zion (Is 28:16; cf 1Pt 2:4–6; Lk 20:17–18), laid by God to rescue believers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 10 See note, chs 9–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:1 Brothers. See note, 1:13. In chs 9–11, Paul is not writing an abstract treatise, but a letter to the Church communicating a deep concern for the Israelites. them. The Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:2 zeal for God. Before his conversion, Paul was also a zealot for God, known esp for "opposing the name of Jesus of Nazareth" and all who bore that name (Ac 26:9–11; cf Ac 22:3; Gal 1:14). knowledge. A personal recognition of God's revelation of Himself and His saving mercy in the person of His Son, Jesus.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:3 righteousness of God. He is the giver of righteousness, the righteousness imputed to us for Christ's sake. See p 1904. their own. Righteousness based on their works. did not submit. Failed to admit guilt before God and receive His righteousness as a free gift through faith in Jesus Christ (Php 3:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:4 Cf 3:21. "To those who believe the Gospel, God forgives all their sins through Christ, adopts them as children for His sake, and out of pure grace—without any merit on their part—justifies and saves them. However, He does not do this in such a way that they may abuse God's grace and may sin hoping for grace [Romans 6:1]. Paul thoroughly and forcefully shows this in the distinction between the Law and the Gospel (2 Corinthians 3:6–9)" (FC SD V 25–26). end. Here, a "termination" (cessation). See p 1902. righteousness. Paul previously contrasted two opposing and mutually exclusive kinds of righteousness: "righteousness that is by faith" (9:30) and a righteousness "based on works," which one cannot succeed in attaining (9:31–32).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:30–10:4 Paul looks backward to God's sovereign choice in Israel's history (9:1–29) and forward to the necessity of faith and the guilt of unbelief (10:5–21). Every effort to get right with God by works of the Law, however sincere, is doomed to failure. God is the giver of righteousness to everyone who believes. • "O my God, in You I trust; let me not be put to shame" (Ps 25:2). Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:5 See note, 7:10.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:6–7 righteousness … says. Paul personifies "righteousness," having it speak in the language of Dt 30:11–14. Righteousness based on Law is unattainable. But Christ is not unreachable or distantly remote. He does not require us to search for Him in inaccessible regions high or low. For He has become one of us, has died, and has risen from the dead for our justification (4:25; 6:4; 8:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:8 near you. Main point of comparison with what is said of the Law in Dt 30. Christ has already accomplished everything for us, and now He is easily accessible (5:1–2). word of faith. The Gospel is the source of faith because it both invites and creates faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:9 confess … believe. Two aspects of a single reality. See note, v 10. Following Dt 30:14, Paul says there is an inseparable link between faith as expressed outwardly and possessed inwardly. heart. See notes, Pr 2:10; Dt 6:5. Jesus is Lord. Early Christian confession and clear testimony to Christ's deity (the Gk word for "Lord" was used over 6,000 times in the LXX to translate God's name Yahweh, and to identify the risen Christ; cf Php 2:9). It may have been a confession from the baptismal liturgy.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:10 believes … confesses. Reverse order from v 9 reinforces the oneness of faith and confession in the Christian experience, as well as the blessings received. "We think that the adversaries admit that confession justifies or saves, not by the outward act, but only because of the faith of the heart. Paul says that confession saves in order to show what sort of faith receives eternal life, namely, that which is firm and active. That faith, however, that does not present itself in confession is not firm" (Ap V 263–64).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:11 Everyone. Paul's wording of Is 28:16, which has already been quoted in 9:33, stresses that Christ's salvation is available to all. not be put to shame. Believers in Christ await a forgiving Father, not a stern, condemning Judge.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:12 no distinction. As all Jews and Gentiles are equally sinners (3:23), so the gates of God's mercy are open to all. Lord of all. In Christ, distinctions between Jews and Gentiles are finally irrelevant. bestowing His riches. God is inexhaustibly generous with His gifts (Eph 3:8) to all who embrace Him in faith, a theme esp evident in Eph (1:7–8 [grace]; 1:18 [glory]; 2:4 [mercy]; 2:7 [grace, kindness]).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:13 God promises deliverance to all who call on Him in faith, in the face of "the great and awesome day" of judgment (Jl 2:31). Lord. Paul cites Joel to give the exalted Christ the name "Lord," reaffirming Christ's deity and announcing salvation in His name (v 9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:14 With mounting rhetorical force, Paul's questions are designed to teach that by God's design, faith is created only through the Word proclaimed. preaching? See p 1903.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:15–16 Paul quotes Is 52:7, where people rejoiced at the heralds who brought good news of release from the Babylonian captivity, saying "Your God reigns!" But then he quotes Is 53:1 to tell how quickly Israel rejected the Good News and to indicate that Israel's reception of God's Suffering Servant (cf Is 53:3; Mk 9:12) was not unexpected.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:15 sent? See "apostle," p 1901. Preachers proclaim as divinely authorized representatives (cf Lk 10:16). God speaks through them (cf Rm 1:16). How beautiful are the feet. Proclaimers of the Gospel are a beautiful sight to behold!

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:16 obeyed the gospel. See note, 1:5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:17 hearing. NT meanings include the act of hearing, the ear, or the message heard. The message is the meaning here. "Although the work is done and the forgiveness of sins is secured by the cross [John 19:30], it cannot come to us in any other way than through the Word" (LC V 31). "It is God's will that His Word should be heard and that a person's ears should not be closed (Psalm 95:8). With this Word the Holy Spirit is present and opens hearts, so that people (like Lydia in Acts 16:14) pay attention to it and are converted only through the Holy Spirit's grace and power, who alone does the work of converting a person" (FC Ep II 5). word of Christ. The spoken word of the Gospel—the content being Christ—is a means by which God creates faith. "Repentance consists of two parts. One part is contrition, that is, terrors striking the conscience through the knowledge of sin. The other part is faith, which is born of the Gospel [Romans 10:17] or the Absolution and believes that for Christ's sake, sins are forgiven. It comforts the conscience and delivers it from terror. Then good works are bound to follow, which are the fruit of repentance" (AC XII 3–6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:18 have they not heard? With this rhetorical question, Paul replies to an implied objection: the Israelites rejected the Gospel because not all had heard. Paul dismisses this excuse with a quotation from Ps 19:4. all the earth … world. As God makes known His presence and power in all creation, so the Gospel has been widely preached in the inhabited world.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:19–21 not understand? A second objection: Israel does not understand the Word concerning Christ. Paul cites the Law and the Prophets to prove that this excuse will not hold up, for God will provoke Israel to jealousy and anger when He reveals Himself to the Gentiles. If even the Gentiles understand, Israel cannot plead ignorance. His quotes were originally written in the contexts of God's judgment of Israel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:19 those who are not a nation. The Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:20 those. The Gentiles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:21 held out My hands. Gesture of welcome. Israel's problem is much worse than ignorance. They have responded to God's tender and gracious invitation with blatant disobedience and obstinacy.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:5–21 Like a loving father waiting for his children to come home, God yearns to show mercy on all (cf Lk 15:11–32). Those who refuse to accept God's gracious invitation to share in the riches of His grace are accountable to Him for their unbelief. However, Christ Jesus is always near to us in His Word. He stands ready to forgive and renew us. • We praise You, O Lord, for welcoming us through the words of all those who bring to us the Good News of Your love. Place that faith-creating Word on our lips, that we may speak to those who have not yet heard or believed. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 11 See note, chs 9–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:1 has God rejected. Gk grammar requires negative answer. The idea that God should push aside or repudiate His people is unthinkable (Ps 94:14; 1Sm 12:22). By no means! See note, 3:4. Benjamin. Beloved younger son of Jacob and Rachel; Jacob's only son born in the Promised Land (Gn 35:16–18). The tribe of Benjamin gave Israel her first king (Paul's namesake, Saul; 1Sm 9:1–16) and was regarded highly by Jews. Within its borders stood Jerusalem and the temple (Jgs 1:21). To belong to this tribe was a privilege that Paul stresses (Php 3:5.)

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:2 He foreknew. God chose Israel to be His people through whom He would carry out His saving purpose.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:3–4 Two quotations dealing with Elijah. In Elijah's day, God had preserved for Himself a remnant in a nation that had, as a whole, rejected Him. So also in Paul's day, God—faithful to His promises—has kept for Himself a faithful remnant.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:5 remnant. Gk leimma, "small remainder." Used only here in NT; describes those who believed in the Gospel. See p 1080. chosen by grace. Remnant exists as a result of God's gracious election and is a sign of hope in the world.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:6 Grace and works are mutually exclusive. God's election of the remnant is on the basis of grace alone; works are excluded. See "grace," p 1902.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:7 elect. Those in Israel who have believed the Gospel. hardened. God's judgment against unbelief (see note, 9:18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:8 Support for Paul's previous reference to God's judgment against those who refused to listen to God's word of judgment and promise (cf Is 6:9–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:9–10 Psalmist's suffering at the hands of his persecutors prefigures Christ and His Passion (see the use of Ps 69 in Mt 27:34; Jn 2:17; 15:25; Ac 1:20). Paul, in turn, applies the psalm to unbelieving Israel, quoting verses that call on God to vindicate His Suffering Servant and to bring judgment on His enemies.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:1–10 Paul, chosen by God's grace revealed in Jesus Christ, is a living example that God has preserved for Himself a remnant in Israel. Those who become hardened and spiritually callous are in danger of God's frightening judgment. However, through the suffering for sin that Christ endured, even the sin of unbelief is forgiven in those who trust in His grace. • O Lord, may the physical descendants of Abraham receive the promised salvation delivered in the Gospel of Jesus. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:11 So I ask. The question is inevitable from what precedes. Had Israel stumbled to the point of being forever lost? By no means! See note, 3:4. through their trespass. As the outcome of their sin (rejection of the Gospel). to make Israel jealous. The Gentiles' salvation, in God's divine plan, was intended to lead the Jews to covet (in the good sense) the blessings of salvation for themselves. (Paul is referring to Dt 32:21.)

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:12 riches. Blessings for the world. full inclusion. See ESV note. Expression clearly does not mean that all Jews will be saved. It could be translated with the active wording "their fulfilling" (i.e., their fulfilling of God's will). In any case, God intends in history to bring to completion the full number of those who belong to spiritual Israel ("the Israel of God," Gal 6:16). These are the true heirs of the promise through faith in Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:13–14 you Gentiles. Probably the majority in the congregation. apostle to the Gentiles. Paul's special call (cf Ac 22:21; Gal 1:16; 2:7, 9). my ministry. Paul's apostolic office as Christ's servant for the Gospel's sake (cf 1Co 3:5; Eph 3:7). save some of them. Paul does not envision a mass conversion of the nation of Israel. This is important for the interpretation of "all Israel" in v 26. See note, v 26.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:15 Paradoxically, through the Israelites' rejection of the Messiah, God brought reconciliation (cf 5:10–11; 2Co 5:18–20). However, God's rejection of unbelieving Israelites was temporary, for some would be accepted through faith and receive a new life to be consummated in the resurrection from the dead (cf Ezk 37:1–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:16 Paul uses metaphors to illustrate God's gracious election of Israel. What happened to the patriarchs (e.g., Abraham, who believed the promise) affected their descendants (v 28). As the firstfruits consecrated the whole (Lv 23:10–11; Nu 15:17–21) and branches grow from the root, so God's gracious choosing of His people leads to inclusion of others who follow later.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:17–24 Metaphor reflects ancient practice of invigorating an olive tree by grafting in branches from a wild tree. An olive tree grows slowly, maturing over 30 years. Pruning and grafting enables a tree to produce fruit for centuries or even millennia. See p 236. The cultured olive tree represents Israel, God's people and heirs of the promise. The wild olive tree represents the Gentiles. By faith, individual branches, Jews and Gentiles, are incorporated into God's true people, the new Israel, the Church.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:17 broken off. Equivalent expressions (e.g., "hardened," v 7; "fall," "trespass," v 11; "rejection," v 15) describe the current failure of some Israelites to believe, with the hope that they will come to faith. were grafted. God, by His grace, miraculously brings Gentiles into His Church, the new Israel.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:19 A possible protest of overly proud and self-confident Gentiles who feel superior to the Jews.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:20 you stand fast through faith. A reminder that only through the gift of faith does anyone become a member of God's people. become proud. Lit, "think lofty thoughts." fear. In the sense of reverence. See p 1001.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:21 you. Singular in Gk; directs stern warning to the individual "branches" of the tree, Jew and Gentile, who will be held accountable for their unbelief.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:22 kindness … severity. Christians must live their whole life in holy fear, with full awareness that they depend entirely on God's grace.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:23 if they do not continue. Paul reaffirms the hope that his unbelieving kinsmen will believe. power. God, by His grace, has the power to do what from a human perspective is impossible: graft branches cut off (unbelieving Jews) back into the olive tree.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:24 Summary of the preceding argument (vv 17–23), expanding on God's power in the service of His grace.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:11–24 Paul warns the Gentile believers against pride and reminds them of their role in God's mission to Jewish unbelievers. To look down on any nonbeliever is sinful rejection of God's gracious purposes. In goodness and kindness, God can restore to faith those who have fallen. • Heavenly Father, be merciful to all those who have drifted away from You, especially family members and friends. Graft them in again by Your Word and grace. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:25 wise in your own sight. Lit, "wise in yourselves," i.e., filled with arrogance (over the Jews). Cf Pr 3:7. mystery. See p 1903. Cf Eph 3:6. a partial hardening. Not all Israelites have stubbornly resisted the Gospel (v 7), for some have believed (the remnant, v 5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:26–27 Prove Paul's lead assertion that "all Israel will be saved." Christ came from Zion (the Jews) to the Gentiles (see note, Jn 4:22; cf Ac 1:8). He will forgive the sins of Jews "if they do not continue in their unbelief" (v 23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:26 in this way. Gk houtos, the manner in which it is accomplished. Not "then," as understood by some holding millennialist views. all Israel will be saved. Refers to "children of the promise" in 9:8 (the spiritual Israel), not "children of the flesh" (the nation of Israel). All the elect, both Jews and Gentiles, will be saved throughout history. Cf 9:6.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:28 enemies of God for your sake. The Jews are objects of God's hostility as far as the Gospel is concerned because they oppose it. But in God's plan, this was for the Gentiles' benefit. beloved for the sake of their forefathers. With respect to His choice of Israel and for the sake of the patriarchs, God loves the Jewish people. They are objects of God's love and of His wrath at the same time.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:29 God still has His gifts (9:4–5) and His gracious invitation for His people to receive the salvation offered through His Son. God remains faithful to His promises.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:30–31 The experience of Jews and of Gentiles are parallel. Both have received mercy in the face of disobedience. Because of Israel's disobedience(1:18–32), undeserving Gentiles received mercy. Because of mercy to the Gentiles, disobedient Jews will receive mercy (cf v 11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:32 Paul summarizes not only vv 30–31 but also the overriding purpose of God's mercy in chs 9–11. All people—Jews and Gentiles—are imprisoned in their disobedience, with no possibility of escape unless God in His mercy releases them. "We should not reach conclusions about our election to eternal life based on reason or God's Law…. 'The true judgment about predestination' must be learned alone from the Holy Gospel about Christ" (FC Ep XI 9–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:33–36 Ascription of praise in doxological form as Paul ponders in awe God's inscrutable ways (cf Eph 3:21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:33 riches … wisdom … knowledge. The wealth of God's grace and glory (2:4; 9:23; 10:12; cf 2Co 8:9), the wisdom of His purposeful actions in history to save (cf 1Co 1:18–31; Eph 1:8; 3:10; Col 2:2–3), and His intimate knowledge of us (cf 8:29; 11:2; 1Co 8:3) are too deep for human beings to fathom. judgments. God's decisions (the ways He thinks). See "rules," p 971. ways! God's actions. See p 843.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:34 Rhetorical questions highlighting the absurdity of anyone teaching God anything. We have no access to God's thinking except what He chooses to reveal to us.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:35 Rules out any thought that the Creator God owes us anything.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:36 from Him and through Him and to Him. With three prepositions, Paul declares God, Creator and Savior, to be the source, means, and goal of everything. He is Alpha and Omega.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:25–36 In ways beyond our understanding, God has acted in mercy to bring salvation to Jews and Gentiles. Human beings cannot exchange roles with God, presuming to sit in judgment of Him. But we in whom His Spirit dwells praise Him for His inexhaustible kindness toward us in Christ Jesus. • To You alone, O triune Lord, belongs all glory forever. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 12 Luth: "In chapter 12 [Paul] teaches what true worship is, and makes all Christians priests. They are to offer not money or cattle, as under the law, but their own bodies, with slaying of the lusts. Then he describes the outward conduct of Christians, under the spiritual government, telling how they are to teach, preach, rule, serve, give, suffer, love, live, and act toward friend, foe, and all men. These are the works that a Christian does; for, as has been said, faith takes no holidays" (AE 35:378).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1 brothers. See note, 1:13. by the mercies of God. Key to understanding the rest of Rm. God's mercies have been fully expressed in Christ and powerfully articulated in chs 1–11 (note esp 11:30–32). The exhortations to follow are the proper response to those mercies; however, obedience does not earn or add to God's favor. See p 1934. living sacrifice … worship. In the OT, animals were offered by putting them to death. See pp 170–71. Christ's one sacrifice replaced the need for such sacrifices (6:10). We can dedicate our entire lives to God. The terms "worship" and "sacrifice" are related to all of one's earthly life, not simply to time spent in church. "A true and not a false putting to death [mortification] happens through the cross and troubles, by which God exercises us…. They are the spiritual exercises of fear and faith. In addition to this putting to death, which happens through the cross, there is also a necessary, voluntary exercise" (Ap XV 45–46). spiritual worship. "Paul has spoken of reasonable service (logike latreia; Romans 12:1), namely, of the worship of the mind, of fear, of faith, of prayer, of thanksgiving, and so on" (Ap XXIV 88).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:2 conformed. Outwardly molded to fit a pattern. Believers should not be molded by the ways of this world. transformed. Same Gk word is used of Jesus' transfiguration (Mk 9:2–3). God has changed us in Baptism (6:2–4); the passive verb form conveys that God does this work. renewal of your mind. God has restored our minds to the manner of thinking He created them to have. testing. Background of the word involves testing of metals. We are to examine how to live in a manner "acceptable to God" (v 1). The "gold standard" for discerning God's will is His Word.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1–2 Keep Paul's opening words in mind as you study chs 12–16. He urges us to present ourselves as living sacrifices because it is the proper response to "the mercies of God" (v 1). On this side of heaven, we are not fully renewed (7:14–25). As a result, the exhortations of chs 12–16 show us that we still sin and fall short (3:23). But that is not the only purpose for this section; it is a guide for Christian living (see FC Ep and SD VI). God has shown us His undeserved mercies in Christ. God has transformed our lives in Baptism and continues to renew us daily by His Spirit. • Thank You, heavenly Father, for Your mercies in Jesus Christ and for the transforming work You began in my Baptism. Empower me by Your Spirit to present my body as a living sacrifice of worship acceptable to You in Jesus Christ. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:3 grace given to me. Grace is the free, undeserved, and immeasurable gift given to Paul, the chief of sinners, as an example for all of us (1Tm 1:16). See "grace," p 1902. sober judgment. We have different gifts and callings, but it is God who calls and gives. Sober judgment recognizes all gifts are from grace. Christ's humble attitude is the pattern for our thinking (cf Php 2:5–8). Luth: "In God's presence all must tuck their tails and be glad that they can gain forgiveness. Let no one think that as long as he lives here he can reach such a position that he will not need such forgiveness [1 John 1:8]. In short, if God does not forgive without stopping, we are lost" (LC III 90–91). measure of faith that God has assigned. Faith receives gifts of grace from God's hand (cf v 6). This realization counters the human tendency to be puffed up about one's gifts. The measure corresponds to one's calling, as vv 6–8 show.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:4 members. See p 1903.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:5 one body in Christ … members one of another. Cf 1Co 12:13. Members of Christ's body are never alone. We have been joined eternally to Him, as well as to one another (14:7–8). See p 1965.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:6–8 Paul lists grace gifts elsewhere (1Co 12:7–11, 28–30; Eph 4:11–12). Each list is different and provides specific examples. No list is exhaustive; there may be other gifts. The key is to receive all gifts humbly in faith and to use them to serve others.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:6 gifts. See p 1902. prophecy. Mentioned first and highly valued by Paul in 1Co 14. Instead of merely predicting the future, prophecy more often takes God's Word and will (v 2) and applies it to people in their situation. See pp 1077–83. in proportion to our faith. Cf v 3. The measure is not the gift, but faith, which justifies before God (3:28) and receives all else as gifts from Him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:7 service. Gk diakonia, could refer to specific ministry in the Church or to Christian service in general.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:8 Focus of these gifts is their use within the Christian community.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:3–8 God graciously bestows various gifts to be used for the benefit of others. Our abilities can cause us to think of ourselves too highly. Paul urges Christians to avoid that temptation while exhorting us to use God's gifts to serve others. Paul repeatedly emphasizes the gracious gifts of God that are received in faith. • Thank You, God, for bringing me into the Body of Christ and for the gifts You give to those who have served me in many and various ways. Enlighten me with Your gifts, and empower me to be a living sacrifice, that I may humbly use my gifts to serve others. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9–21 Illustrations of genuine love (cf 1Co 13:4–8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9 genuine. Lit, "without hypocrisy." This love is not concerned with whether it receives anything in return. Abhor. Despise and be repulsed.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:10 brotherly affection. Those in Christ's family should exhibit familial love toward one another. Outdo. Implies to go out ahead first; do not wait to be loved first.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:11 fervent in spirit. Lit, "boiling over with the Spirit," who fills our lives and flows out from us to others.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:12 Cf 5:1–5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:13 Contribute to the needs. Share with others in need. saints. See p 1904. hospitality. Lit, "love of strangers." In the Dispersion, Jews likely had the custom of welcoming fellow Jewish travelers into their homes. Paul would be encouraging the continuation of this custom. See note, Gn 18:4.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:14 Bless. Speak well of and pray to God on their behalf; follow Jesus' example (Mt 5:44; Lk 23:34). See p 1901.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:15 See Jesus' words in the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5:4). Though Paul was not one of Jesus' original 12 disciples, he was well informed about the content of Jesus' teaching and the historical content of the Gospel writers (see notes, 1:3–4; 9:5; 15:3). Cf 1Co 15:3–8 for Paul's summary of the Gospel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:16 Paul again warns against regarding oneself too highly (v 3; cf Lk 14:11). harmony. Have the same attitude toward one another (cf Php 2:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:17 honorable in the sight of all. Preoccupy yourself with doing excellent things before all people that they may also glorify God (Mt 5:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:18 live peaceably with all. Now the focus extends beyond the believing community. Peace may not always be possible, but believers should never intentionally cause hostility.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:19 never avenge yourselves. Christians do not take vengeance into their own hands, but leave it to God, the highest authority. See note, 13:1. "Private remedy is prohibited not by advice, but by a command (Matthew 5:39; Romans 12:19). Public remedy, made through the office of the public official, is not condemned, but is commanded and is God's work, according to Paul (Romans 13). Now the different kinds of public remedy are legal decisions, capital punishment, wars, and military service. Clearly, many writers have thought wrongly about these matters. They were in the error that the Gospel is an outward, new, and monastic form of government. Also, they did not see that the Gospel brings eternal righteousness to hearts, while it outwardly approves the public state" (Ap XVI 59–60). Vengeance is Mine. Sung by Moses just before Israel conquered the Promised Land. God's wrath will ultimately avenge (2:5, 8). Cf 13:1–5 for one way God carries out His vengeance now.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:20–21 In Ps 140:10, this image is a sign of harsh judgment. But Paul's quote from Pr 25:21–22 points toward driving the enemy to repentance (cf v 14).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9–21 Here is what a life of genuine love (v 9) looks like in specific detail. It is a life that follows Christ's example (Php 2:1–11) and models His words from the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5–7). We all fail to live up to this standard. However, as living sacrifices, we have been transformed to live according to God's loving will (vv 1–2). This serves as a powerful witness to others (cf Mt 5:16; Jn 13:34–35). God in Christ has first loved us in this way and, by His mercies (v 1), our salvation is secure and not dependent on how we love. • Father, thank You for loving me first and forever by sending Your Son and making me a part of His Body. Train my heart in hope and my hand in mercy in harmony with Jesus' words and deeds. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 13 Luth: "In chapter 13 [Paul] teaches honor and obedience to worldly government. Although worldly government does not make people righteous before God, nevertheless it is instituted in order to accomplish at least this much, that the good may have outward peace and protection and the bad may not be free to do evil in peace and quietness, and without fear. Therefore the good too are to honor it even though they themselves do not need it. Finally, he comprehends it all in love, and sums it up in the example of Christ: as he has done for us, we are also to do, following in his footsteps" (AE 35:379).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:1 subject. Military term meaning to march in the proper order (cf Eph 5:21). instituted by God. Paul's words are inclusive because all authority originates from God, the higher authority to whom ultimate obedience is due both from those in authority and under it (cf Ac 5:29). See note, 12:19. Although Jews had occasionally clashed with Roman authorities during the Dispersion, they had long recognized the wisdom in supporting governments under which they lived. Paul encourages similar attitudes among Christians.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:2 resists. Believers may at times resist governmental authorities on account of God's Word, but they must be ready to suffer the consequences (cf Ac 5:40–41).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:3 good conduct. A Christian's outward conduct toward those in authority should be peaceful and respectful (cf 12:18; 1Tm 2:1–2). receive his approval. A general truth, yet there are also evil rulers. Although they receive their authority from God, He does not dictate how they use it. Governments all too often abuse their authority. See "Application," p 997.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:4 servant. Gk diakonos, as in 12:7, but here the term is applied to those in earthly positions of authority who are to serve God and people. sword. God allows governments to use the death penalty. See note, Gn 9:6. avenger. See note, 12:19; cf 1Ki 2:31.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:5 for the sake of conscience. Christians can, in good conscience, come to different conclusions about how to respond to governments that fall short of God's standard in varying degrees. See "conscience," p 1902.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:6 pay taxes. Jesus also asserts this (Mt 22:15–22). ministers of God. Priestly term that elevates both the source of authority and the responsibility of those in power.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:7 respect. Includes fear. honor. Implies a positive attitude.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:1–7 While all governments fall short, Paul implies that the first-century Roman government was adequately carrying out its two essential functions: approving those who do good and punishing evildoers. Paul acknowledges that all authority comes from God, to whom ultimate obedience is due. "We must obey God rather than men" (Ac 5:29).

Believers are to honor those in authority, obey the government, and pay their taxes (cf 1Pt 2:13–17). To fail to do so is to suffer the consequences from those in authority and possibly from God as well. God is the ultimate authority; He used His power to save us (1:16). • Thank You for caring for me through those You have placed in authority over me: my parents, teachers, and government officials. Guide them to use their authority according to Your will and help me to obey them. Bless those believers who live under corrupt governments, and guide their consciences to respond in ways pleasing to You. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:8 Owe no one anything. Paul does not oppose all loans but urges us to pay whatever we owe. except to love. Previously, Paul said to pay taxes as owed (v 7); here he speaks of a higher duty—to love others. fulfilled the law. One who loves perfectly would fulfill the requirements of God's Law and be righteous before Him (cf Lk 10:25–28). Earlier, Paul excluded that possibility because of our sinfulness (3:20). Here, we strive to live according to God's Law because we have been declared righteous "by the mercies of God" (12:1; cf 1Jn 4:10–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:9 "Paul, when encouraging the regenerate to do good works, clearly presents to them the Ten Commandments" (FC SD VI 21). love your neighbor. Jesus similarly identifies this as an apt summary of the Law (Mt 22:37–40; cf Gal 5:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:10 Love does no wrong. To love is to place another before self; this is to be a "living sacrifice" (12:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:11 sleep. Spiritual inattentiveness. salvation is nearer. Christ's death and resurrection have provided salvation, but He will come again and lead us to experience it fully (cf 5:9–10; Heb 9:28). Each day, His second coming is one day closer.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:12 night … day. The picture is of an approaching dawn. This present age of darkness is passing away; light is dawning. works of darkness. Deeds of the sinful nature (cf Gal 5:19–21). put on the armor of light. Reflect the light of Christ and exhibit the fruit of His Spirit (Mt 5:16; Gal 5:22–23; cf Eph 6:10–17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:14 put on the Lord Jesus Christ. Baptismal language (Gal 3:27). Refers to living out our Baptism each day (see SC, Baptism, Part 4, p xl). no provision for the flesh. Believers still have sinful, fleshly desires that at times lead them astray (7:14–15), but they should not plan to gratify those desires.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:8–14 The requirements and essence of God's Law have not changed from the OT. The Law shows us how to love others as we have been loved by God in Christ. "All have sinned and fall short" of God's requirement to love Him and others (3:23). The Gospel calls us to rely on God's mercy in Christ, which then motivates us to love as we have been loved. The context of Rm assures us that God declares us righteous, not because of our ability to love, but solely because of Christ, who "is the end of the law" (10:4). • Father, You have loved me in Christ and declared me to be Your righteous child. Empower me to love and serve others through Christ. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 14 Luth: "In chapter 14 [Paul] teaches that consciences weak in faith are to be led gently, spared, so that we do not use our Christian freedom for doing harm, but for the assistance of the weak. For where that is not done, the result is discord and contempt for the gospel; and the gospel is the all-important thing. Thus it is better to yield a little to the weak in faith, until they grow stronger, than to have the teaching of the gospel come to nothing. And this work is a peculiar work of love, for which there is great need even now, when with the eating of meat and other liberties, men are rudely and roughly—and needlessly—shaking weak consciences, before they know the truth" (AE 35:379).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1–15:7 Deals with debates over matters of freedom within the Christian community. The "weak" in faith are unsure of the extent of their freedom.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1 welcome him. Receive the "weak" because God and Christ have welcomed both of you (v 3; 15:7). quarrel over opinions. First-century Jews and Gentiles in Rome were likely divided over the applicability of OT dietary laws and festivals.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:2 eat anything. Jesus declared all foods clean (cf Lv 11; 17:10–16; Mk 7:18–19; Ac 10:9–15). Believers are free from the restrictions of OT food laws. NT believers are also free to continue abiding by those laws and so to refuse unclean foods. Eating meat offered to pagan idols may also be involved (as in 1Co 8–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:3 God has welcomed him. Within the Christian community, God has accepted each one of us to Himself in Christ (15:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:4 The issues here are not of right and wrong, but opinions on matters now debatable (v 1). Our common Lord and Master

Jesus Christ has freed us in regard to these issues; we are not free to judge His servants concerning them.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:5 one day as better. The Sabbath, Passover, and other OT festivals had been "holier" days (cf Lv 23). But Christ has freed us from the requirement to observe them (see notes, Mt 12:8; Mk 2:28; Lk 6:5; cf 1Co 5:7).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:6 One may continue to observe the Sabbath and other OT festivals as a matter of freedom and a way to honor the Lord Jesus. abstains. Probably abstaining from unclean foods. One is able to voluntarily do so in honoring the Lord.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:7–8 Life and death itself cannot separate us from Christ (8:38–39); therefore a "quarrel over opinions" (v 1) ought not separate us.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:7 In Christ's Body, we are joined one to another (12:5); we are never alone and ought not live to ourselves.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:8 we are the Lord's. Now, at death, and for all eternity, we are with Jesus (1Th 4:14; cf Php 1:23).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:9 Lord both of the dead and of the living. Jesus is Lord of all (Php 2:11); to God all are alive (Lk 20:38).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:10 pass judgment … despise. See note, v 4. judgment seat. God will hold accountable those who pass judgment on others where He has not done so.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:11 In Is 45:22, the Lord refutes the existence of other gods. In Php 2:11, Jesus is declared to be the Lord with the same words.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:12 Those entering heaven by grace will still be called to give an account of their earthly lives (cf Mt 25:14–30).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1–12 OT food and festival laws had been significant religious issues, but Christ freed us to observe or not to observe them. Christians may judge the conduct of others only on the basis of God's Word (see FC Ep and SD X). We should not go beyond it and pronounce judgment in matters of Christian freedom. Those who do so wound other believers and will have to account for such behavior before God Himself. In Baptism, we were joined with Christ and one another. Not even death can sever that bond. • In life and in death, O Lord, You promise to abide with me. Thank You for the assurance that I am Yours both now and for eternity.

Teach us to speak according to Your Word, but to remain silent where Your Word grants freedom. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:13–23 Paul now gives counsel on how mature Christians use their freedom.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:13 pass judgment. See note, Mt 7:1. stumbling block or hindrance. The conduct of mature Christians should not cause others to stumble in their faith. "Special care should be taken to exercise patience toward the weak in faith" (FC Ep X 5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:14 nothing is unclean in itself. Christ, who is the end of the Law (10:4), "declared all foods clean" (Mk 7:19); Paul here places himself among the strong. thinks it unclean. If one believes it is outside of God's will to engage in certain conduct, then it is wrong for that person to do so.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:15 walking in love. Love places concern for others before self (12:9). destroy. Certain actions may be permissible, but if they offend others to the point of ruining their faith in Christ, they must be avoided (cf 1Co 8:13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:16 Behavior in which Christians are free to engage can be blasphemous if by it one (knowingly, it would seem) destroys another for whom Christ has also died (1Co 8:11–12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:17 kingdom of God. See pp 1565–66. righteousness and peace and joy. Key blessings of the Gospel. See pp 1903–4. "The Gospel should stand out as the most prominent teaching in the Church, in order that Christ's merit may be well known and faith, which believes that sins are forgiven for Christ's sake, be exalted far above works. Therefore, Paul also lays the greatest stress on this article, putting aside the Law and human traditions, in order to show that Christian righteousness is something other than such works" (AC XXVI 4–5). "The bishops have no right to enact traditions in addition to the Gospel, so that people must merit the forgiveness of sins, or that they think are services that God approves as righteousness" (Ap XXVIII 8). in the Holy Spirit. Christ's kingdom is not merely something outward but is bestowed on us now and eternally by the Spirit (cf 2:25–29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:18 Those devoted to Christ use their freedom responsibly and with concern for others.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:19 Paul calls us to avoid divisive judgmentalism wherever possible; it is the opposite of peace (cf 12:18). Believers strive to build up others in the faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:20 work of God. The faith He has given a fellow Christian (cf 1Co 8:11). Everything is indeed clean. See note, v 14; see also p 300. stumble. See note, v 13.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:21 drink wine. Mature believers willingly give up activities they are free to engage in if doing so would be harmful to the faith of others (e.g., consumption of alcohol; see note, Pr 20:1).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:22 keep. Do not flaunt your God-given freedom; rather, let your faith influence your public conduct. judgment on himself. For harming the faith of others (v 15).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:23 Cf v 14; if one's conscience is not clear before God regarding certain behaviors, one dare not engage in them. not from faith. Believers are called to live according to their faith and are called not to sin by acting contrary to faith. Paul also teaches that, apart from justifying faith, we are all in bondage to sin (cf 3:9; Gal 3:22). "People truly sin, even when—without the Holy Spirit—they do virtuous works. This is because they act with a wicked heart" (Ap IV 35).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:13–23 Paul continues to deal specifically with first-century controversial issues among Jewish and Gentile Christians (foods and holy days). Paul knows all foods are clean, but flaunting his freedoms will give offense in the presence of Jewish Christians who still observe OT food laws. In a similar manner, we should not engage in behaviors that would cause other believers to stumble in their faith. When we commit actions against our own Spirit-informed Christian conscience, we sin. Freedom in Christ is not simply freedom from the Law, but freedom given for a purpose, to serve others in love (Gal 5:13). God's kingdom (14:17) has been given to us through Jesus Christ and by the Holy Spirit. • Father, thank You for the freedom You give me in the kingdom of Your Son, Jesus. May I enjoy my freedom by using it to serve others. Show me when I ought to limit my freedom for the benefit of my brothers and sisters in the faith. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 15 Luth: "In chapter 15 [Paul] sets up Christ as an example: we are to tolerate also those other weak ones who fail in other ways, in open sins or in unpleasing habits. We are not to cast them off, but to bear with them until they too grow better. For so Christ has done with us, and still does every day; he bears with our many faults and bad habits, and with all our imperfections, and helps us constantly.

"Then, at the end, he prays for them, praises them, and commends them to God. He speaks of his own office and of his preaching, and asks them kindly for a contribution to the poor at Jerusalem. All that he speaks of or deals with is pure love" (AE 35:379).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:1 strong … weak. Cf 14:1–6. The strong, like Paul, grasp the extent of their freedom; the weak are still uncertain (14:14). failings. Inadequate recognition of freedoms in Christ. not to please ourselves. Paul urges us to use and, if necessary, give up our freedoms in order to serve others (14:13–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:2 build him up. See note, 14:19.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:3 Ps 69, the third most quoted in the NT, is a significant messianic psalm. Jesus suffered the reproaches we deserve from God because of our sins. On the cross, He also bore the judgmental and harmful actions we impose on fellow believers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:4 written for our instruction. OT is still God's teaching for us. endurance. Lit, to "remain under" the message of God's mercy given in Scripture. encouragement … hope. Scripture grants blessings that never disappoint (5:5). "When this consolation and hope [of salvation] are weakened or entirely removed by Scripture, it is certain that [the Scripture] is understood and explained contrary to the Holy Spirit's will and meaning" (FC SD XI 92).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:5–7 Paul's prayer for the Roman Christians summarizes his hope for how they will respond to the entire Letter. Paul makes clear that the specific unity he seeks to reinforce is between Jew and Gentile.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:5 harmony. Believers differ in many ways (12:4) but are united in Christ. in accord with Christ Jesus. Have His attitude; cf Php 2:1–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:6 one voice. Despite any difference and "quarrel over opinions" (14:1) we may have, believers are one Body in Christ (cf 12:4–5) and are called to praise God together.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:7 Basic thrust of Christianity. Christ has taken us to Himself despite our sins (cf 14:3). In response, believers display that same attitude of mercy toward one another (cf Eph 4:32). All this brings glory to God. See p 1907.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:1–7 Concludes the section begun in 14:1. Paul has dealt with quarrels over opinions and here resolves them. There are strong and weak among us in the Church. We should follow Christ's example of accepting and striving to please others. Despite your sin and weaknesses, Christ bore the reproaches your sins deserved and welcomed you into God's family (15:7). • Dear Father, lead me into Your Word, where I receive endurance, encouragement, and hope from You. Empower me then to welcome others, especially those weak in faith. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:8 servant to the circumcised. Jesus was sent to the lost sheep of Israel (Mt 15:24); Paul also asserts "to the Jew first" (1:16). to confirm the promises. The OT promises to Abraham and Israel are fulfilled in Jesus (cf 4:16; see note, Php 1:7). Vv 9–12 confirm the promise to all nations.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:9 Therefore … Your name. At the end of his life, David prophesied that God's name would also be praised among the Gentile nations (cf Mt 28:19).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:10 Just prior to his death, Moses prophesied that Gentiles would praise God along with Israel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:11 The shortest psalm (Ps 117) summons all nations to praise Israel's God for His love and faithfulness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:12 Jesse was King David's father. David's royal house was cut down (see application note, 2Ki 25:27–30), but the Messiah arose like a root from the stump of an olive tree. Is 11 also announced that Gentile nations would hope in Christ and be under His reign.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:13 Paul's prayer and wish for those who read this Letter. hope. Cf v 4; 5:2–5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:8–13 The OT looked ahead to a day when Jews and Gentiles would worship God together. This day has come in Christ. Gentiles in particular should remember their hopeless existence apart from Christ (cf Eph 2:11–12). According to His prophetic promises, God has raised up Jesus. In Him, Jews and Gentiles are united to "glorify God for His mercy" (v 9). • Thank You, God, for Your Word and for Jesus, who embodies and fulfills it. By Your Holy Spirit, fill me with hope and "joy and peace in believing" (v 13). Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14 brothers. See note, 1:13. able to instruct one another. All who have received the words of this Letter are competent to instruct (cf 1Co 1:5–7). There may be some hyperbole here.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:15 reminder. Particularly needed in Rome was the reminder of the equal place of Jews and Gentiles under both Law and Gospel, as well as within the Church. grace given me. See note, 12:3.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:16 minister … Gentiles. Paul's special calling was to reach out to Gentiles (11:13; Gal 2:9), but this did not exclude his testifying to Jews as well (cf Ac 17:1–3; 26:17, 20). priestly service … offering. "The Gentiles may be offerings acceptable to God through faith. In the Law the slaying of victims illustrated both Christ's death and the preaching of the Gospel, by which this old flesh should be put to death and new and eternal life be begun in us" (Ap XXIV 34). Perhaps also a reference to the collection Paul is gathering for Jerusalem (cf 15:25). sanctified by the Holy Spirit. The Spirit would make the Gentiles holy before God and also set apart their offerings. See p 1920.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:17 In Christ Jesus. See note, 8:1. proud. Word was previously excluded as boasting before God (3:27), but under Christ, it can be done properly (5:2; 2Co 10:12–18; Php 3:3–14).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:18 accomplished through me. Cf Gal 2:20. "May the Gospel be received in faith and work and live in us, so that through the Word and the Holy Spirit's power [Romans 15:18–19], Your kingdom may triumph among us" (LC III 54). obedience. Lit, to "hear under." They heard the Word (10:17), believed, and responded appropriately in their lives.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:19 signs and wonders. As with Jesus' ministry, miracles marked Paul's apostolic ministry (Ac 14:8–10; 16:16–18; 2Co 12:12). See note, 2Co 12:12. power of the Spirit. The Spirit was at work through the power of the Gospel in all Paul and Jesus did (1:16; Ac 10:38). Jerusalem. Early location of Paul's ministry (Ac 26:20; cf Is 2:3). Illyricum. Roman province across the Adriatic Sea, northeast of Rome. See map, p 1895. Exactly when Paul was there is uncertain. fulfilled the ministry. Carried out the tasks Christ assigned him (Ac 22:21). See note, v 23.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:20 my ambition. Paul's special gift, skill, and desire. not … already been named. Where there were not yet any Christians; Paul was primarily an evangelistic missionary. someone else's foundation. Paul's drive was to the lay the foundation of a believing community, i.e., to till new soil for Christ (cf 1Co 3:6–11).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:21 This is part of the description of Jesus as the Suffering Servant (Is 52:13–53:12), which also says the Servant will "sprinkle many nations" with His purifying blood. Those. The nations.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14–21 Paul lays out the practice and scope of his mission work. Apart from God's intervention through servants such as Paul, we would not have seen, heard, or understood God's grace. Christ's servants are to respond to His calling and use their gifts in dedicated service as Paul did. Anything we do is simply "what Christ has accomplished through" us (v 18). It is all by grace and is sanctified and empowered by the Holy Spirit. • Lord, I praise You that the message of Your grace has reached me and that I have come to believe it by the power of Your Holy Spirit. Use me and the gifts You have given to me as an acceptable offering to You. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:22 Paul may have been hindered by Satan, but, more likely, by the obligations of his previous work in the eastern Mediterranean.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:23 no longer have any room for work. The foundation of the Christian Church had been laid in that part of the world through Paul's previous missionary journeys. Paul apparently understood that his service was to plant churches in major cities. many years. Paul's conversion and call occurred c AD 36. His active mission work began from Syrian Antioch c AD 47 (Ac 13). It was probably AD 55 when he wrote Rm.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:24 Spain. Paul desires to lay a foundation where Christ has not yet been named. Clement of Rome wrote that Paul reached the limits of the West (Spain or Portugal). helped. A technical term implying financial support for Paul's mission work (Ac 15:3; 1Co 16:6, 11). Syrian Antioch had provided this in the East (Ac 13:1–3; 14:26–27; 18:22–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:25 aid to the saints. Paul has overseen a collection of money for believers in Jerusalem and is on his way there (Ac 20:1–5; 2Co 8–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:26 the poor. Church in Jerusalem was apparently quite poor and undergoing a famine (cf 2Co 8:13–15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:27 owe. Ongoing obligation to love others (13:8). share in their spiritual blessings. By God's work in Christ, Gentiles have become part of the community of God's people, and they share in Israel's blessing (11:17; Eph 2:11–22). material blessings. The financial offering Paul is bringing with a delegation (cf vv 25–26). See "blessed," p 842.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:28 collected. Cf vv 25–26.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:29 fullness of the blessing. The Gospel gives all the fullness we need; still, Paul's presence in Rome will be an added source of fellowship and encouragement (cf 1:11–12).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:30 brothers. Fellow Christians in Rome. See note, 1:13. love of the Spirit. Not our love of the Spirit, but the love that the Holy Spirit gives as a fruit (Gal 5:22–23). The persons of the Trinity are invoked.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:31 unbelievers in Judea. Jews who rejected Christ as Messiah and, at times, violently opposed Paul (Ac 23:12). my service … to the saints. Paul prays that the Jewish Christians in Jerusalem will receive the offering (cf v 25). Gentile offerings coming to Jerusalem fulfill OT prophecies (Is 60:5–9; 66:20; Hg 2:7).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:32 by God's will. If God opens the way to come and/or removes the obstacles of Satan. Cf v 22; 1:13. refreshed. Cf v 29; 1:11–13.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:33 God of peace. See "peace," p 1903. be with you. Perhaps "is with you." Paul assures them of God's promised presence.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:22–33 Paul lays out his current travel plans. Our desires to serve God may be hindered if we are not willing to accept gifts from others. Christ empowered Paul's mission work and gave it the fullness of His blessing (v 29). He will give us joy, refreshment, and peace as well. • Thank You, God, for spiritual blessings of peace and joy, as well as for the encouragement given to me by my brothers and sisters in Christ. I praise You also for the material blessings You have entrusted to me. Guide me to use them wisely and to share with those in need. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON Ch 16 Luth: "The last chapter is a chapter of greetings. But [Paul] mingles with them a noble warning against the doctrines of men, which break in alongside the teaching of the gospel and cause offense. It is as if he had certainly foreseen … the whole squirming mass of human laws and commandments, which have now drowned the whole world and wiped out this epistle and all the Holy Scriptures…. God save us from them. Amen" (AE 35:379–80).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1–16 By sending specific greetings to 26 named people who know him, Paul seeks to establish his credentials among all Christians in Rome before he arrives. Note the prominent number of Jews (kinsmen) and women.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1 commend. Could mean "introduce" (cf v 2). sister Phoebe. A fellow Christian who likely delivered the Epistle. servant. Gk diakonos, a masculine noun that may also describe a woman, as it does here. Could refer to a particular position "of the church" (cf 1Tm 3:8–13); however, the word also denotes general service (see note, 13:4). Cenchreae. Corinth's eastern port. See map, p 1886.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:2 help her. Lit, "receive her to yourselves" as she comes delivering this Letter to Rome. patron. She may have given financial support or other assistance to Paul.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:3 Prisca and Aquila. Worked with Paul as fellow tentmakers in Corinth, but are now back in Rome (cf Ac 18:2–3). fellow workers. Labored with Paul in sharing the Gospel and teaching the faith (Ac 18:24–26). in Christ Jesus. See note, 8:1.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:4 risked their necks. In danger because of their support for Paul.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:5 church in their house. Prior to the fourth century, Christians generally gathered in homes like those of Prisca and Aquila. See "church," pp 1901–2. my beloved. Related to Gk agapetos; denotes a loved brother in Christ (cf 13:8–9). first convert. To Christianity. Asia. Roman province of Asia Minor, now western Turkey (cf Ac 16:6).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:6 Mary. One of six Marys in the NT; probably unknown.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:7 Junia … known to the apostles. See p 1942. kinsmen. See note, v 21. fellow prisoners. They had been under arrest with Paul; the apostle was detained numerous times (e.g., Ac 16:24; 2Co 11:23). in Christ. Believed in Jesus as the Christ/Messiah prior to Paul's conversion (Ac 9). See p 1903.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:8 Ampliatus. Common Latin name for a slave.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:10 approved in Christ. Tested as metals in fire, refined and genuine.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:11 kinsman. See note, v 21.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:12 worked hard. Labored to the point of exhaustion.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:13 Rufus. Mark's Gospel, likely written to Rome, notes that Simon of Cyrene was the father of a Rufus (Mk 15:21). chosen in the Lord. May refer to common calling of all the "elect" or to a special calling given to him. mother to me. Cared for and perhaps housed Paul at some time.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:14 brothers. See note, 1:13.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:15 saints. See p 1904.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:16 holy kiss. Common way of sharing the peace of the Lord in that culture; perhaps a liturgical term (cf 1Co 16:20; 2Co 13:12; 1Th 5:26). churches of Christ. While there is one true Church, the plural is natural for Paul, who generally uses "church" to refer to a local congregation. See p 1901–2.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1–16 Paul greets 26 people by name. Many of these believers have labored long and hard for Christ with Paul. They serve as examples and role models for us. Christ unites Jew and Gentile, male and female. He breaks through all other human bonds in His Church. He also establishes a committed and dear relationship among believers. • Thank You, Father, for people who bless our relationship with Christ. Amen.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:17 those who cause divisions. Unnamed people divided the Church from within, probably along Jew/Gentile lines. contrary to the doctrine. No false teaching is acceptable for God's Church, whether it contradicts the Law or the Gospel. Ign: "Some are in the habit of carrying about the name [of Jesus Christ] in wicked guile, while yet they practice things unworthy of God, whom you must flee as you would wild beasts" (ANF 1:52). Pol: "Let us be zealous in the pursuit of that which is good, keeping ourselves from causes of offence, from false brethren, and from those who in hypocrisy bear the name of the Lord, and draw away vain men into error" (ANF 1:34). avoid them. As in Galatians, believers are to reject any false teachings and refuse to associate with those who advocate them. Some have applied this to any and every different teaching, but here it refers specifically to issues that strike at the heart of the Gospel. Cf ch 14. See p 1907.
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:18 appetites. Basic, sinful human desires. smooth talk and flattery. Unlike Paul, false teachers snare hearers with false praise (1Co 2:1–5; 1Th 2:3–6).
ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:19 your obedience. Cf 15:18. wise … innocent. Actively engaged in the practice of good; having no personal experience with evil (cf 12:9, 21; Mt 10:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:20 God of peace. See "peace," p 1903. soon crush Satan. Alludes to Gn 3:15. soon. Can mean "suddenly" or "quickly" (cf Rv 22:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:21–23 Combined evidence places Paul in Corinth when he wrote Rm. He stayed there for three months toward the end of his third journey and was on his way to Jerusalem (cf 15:25–27; Ac 19:21; 20:1–3). See map, p 1886.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:21 Timothy. Traveled with Paul on his second journey beginning in Ac 16:1–4; listed as co-author of Php, 1 and 2Th; recipient of 1 and 2Tm. kinsmen. Fellow Jews; Timothy's mother was Jewish, though his father was Greek (Ac 16:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:22 Tertius was an "amanuensis," a scribe to whom Paul dictated the Letter. See pp 1899–1901. His greeting "in the Lord" means he was a Christian.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:23 Gaius … host. May have been baptized by Paul (1Co 1:14), who is now staying at his home. whole church. House church gathers in Gaius's home. See note, v 5. city treasurer. An inscription discovered in 1929 near the theater in Corinth mentioned Erastus and identified him with this office (cf 2Tm 4:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:17–23 Paul warns against those who cause divisions and promises God will overcome them. Those who advocate a false Gospel are to be avoided entirely. As "living sacrifices" to God (12:1), we are to be actively engaged in good and uninvolved with evil. As promised in Gn 3:15, God will bring about the final culmination of our salvation by crushing the power of Satan, sin, death, and hell forever (cf Rv 20:10, 14). • Heavenly Father, guard and protect Your Church from all who would corrupt Your precious Gospel. As we await the final consummation of our salvation, may our obedience to Your will be "known to all" around us. Amen.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:25 Him. Refers to "the only wise God" of v 27. able. Form of word translated "power" in 1:16. my gospel … preaching of Jesus Christ. Synonymous terms; the former emphasizes the content, while the latter refers to the active proclamation. revelation of the mystery. The OT did not make all things clear. In the NT, the mystery is now revealed. God in Christ has united Jew and Gentile together in one Body (cf Eph 3:4–6). See p 1903.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:26 prophetic writings. The OT (cf 2Pt 1:20–21). eternal God. God is without beginning or end. obedience of faith. See note, 1:5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:27 only wise God. God is all-knowing, but also all-wise in providing for our salvation. See pp 775–78.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:25–27 Paul's closing words encompass the entire good news of God, from the prophetic OT writings to the proclamation of Jesus Christ being made known to all nations. God's eternal being, His wisdom, knowledge, and power, are all far beyond ours. He calls those of faith to respond in obedience to His will. The Gospel of Jesus Christ was entrusted to Paul and faithfully proclaimed among the nations in accordance with God's will. • At the bottom of his music, Johann Sebastian Bach wrote "S.D.G" (Lat Soli Deo Gloria), "to God alone the glory." Paul ends his marvelous expression of Law and Gospel in Rm on the same note. He then adds that this is all in and through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory. Amen!

Greeting

1 [1] † Paul, called by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and our brother Sosthenes, [2] † To the church of God that is in Corinth, to those sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints together with all those who in every place call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, both their Lord and ours:

[3] † Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving

4 ‡ † I give thanks to my God always for you because of the grace of God that was given you in Christ Jesus, 5 † that in every way you were enriched in him in all speech and all knowledge— 6 † even as the testimony about Christ was confirmed among you— 7 † so that you are not lacking in any spiritual gift, as you wait for the revealing of our Lord Jesus Christ, 8 † who will sustain you to the end, guiltless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9 † God is faithful, by whom you were called into the fellowship of his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Divisions in the Church

10 ††I appeal to you, brothers,[1] by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and the same judgment. 11 †For it has been reported to me by Chloe's people that there is quarreling among you, my brothers.
12 †What I mean is that each one of you says, "I follow Paul," or "I follow Apollos," or "I follow Cephas," or "I follow Christ." 13 †† Is Christ divided?
Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul? 14 I thank God that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius, 15 †so that no one may say that you were baptized in my name. 16 †(I did baptize also the household of Stephanas. Beyond that, I do not know whether I baptized anyone else.) 17 †For Christ did not send me to baptize but to preach the gospel, and not with words of eloquent wisdom, lest the cross of Christ be emptied of its power.

Christ the Wisdom and Power of God

18 For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God. 19 For it is written,

> "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, > and the discernment of the discerning I will > thwart."

20 Where is the one who is wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world? 21 For since, in the wisdom of God, the world did not know God through wisdom, it pleased God through the folly of what we preach to save those who believe. 22 For Jews demand signs and Greeks seek wisdom, 23 but we preach Christ crucified, a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles, 24 but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. 25 For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

26 For consider your calling, brothers: not many of you were wise according to worldly standards,[1] not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth. 27 But God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise; God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong; 28 God chose what is low and despised in the world, even things that are not, to bring to nothing things that are, 29 so that no human being[2] might boast in the presence of God. 30 And because of him[3] you are in Christ Jesus, who became to us wisdom from God, righteousness and sanctification and redemption, 31 so that, as it is written, "Let the one who boasts, boast in the Lord."

Proclaiming Christ Crucified

2 [1]‡†And I, when I came to you, brothers,[4] did not come proclaiming to you the testimony[5] of God with lofty speech or wisdom. [2]†For I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified. [3]†And I was with you in weakness and in fear and much trembling, [4]†and my speech and my message were not in plausible words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, [5]†that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

Wisdom from the Spirit

6 †† Yet among the mature we do impart wisdom, although it is not a wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, who are doomed to pass away. 7 † But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, which God decreed before the ages for our glory. 8 † None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. 9 † But, as it is written,

> "What no eye has seen, nor ear heard,
> nor the heart of man imagined, > what God has prepared for those who love
> him"—

10 † these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God. 11 † For who knows a person's thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God. 12 † Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God. 13 † And we impart this in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit, interpreting spiritual truths to those who are spiritual.[1]

14 † The natural person does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are folly to him, and he is not able to understand them because they are spiritually discerned. 15 † The spiritual person judges all things, but is himself to be judged by no one. 16 † "For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?" But we have the mind of Christ.

Divisions in the Church

3 [1]†But I, brothers,[2] could not address you as spiritual people, but as people of the flesh, as infants in Christ. [2]† I fed you with milk, not solid food, for you were not ready for it. And even now you are not yet ready, [3]†for you are still of the flesh. For while there is jealousy and strife among you, are you not of the flesh and behaving only in a human way? [4]†For when one says, “I follow Paul,” and another, “I follow Apollos,” are you not being merely human?

[5]† What then is Apollos? What is Paul? Servants through whom you believed, as the Lord assigned to each. [6]† I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the growth. [7]†So neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God who gives the growth. [8]†He who plants and he who waters are one, and each will receive his wages according to his labor. [9]†For we are God’s fellow workers. You are God’s field, God’s building.

[10]† According to the grace of God given to me, like a skilled master builder I laid a foundation, and someone else is building upon it. Let each one take care how he builds upon it. [11]†For no one can lay a foundation other than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. [12]†Now if anyone builds on the foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw— [13]† each one’s work will become manifest, for the Day will disclose it, because it will be revealed by fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each one has done. [14]†If the work that anyone has built on the foundation survives, he will receive a reward. [15]†If anyone’s work is burned up, he will suffer loss, though he himself will be saved, but only as through fire.

[16]† Do you not know that you[1] are God’s temple and that God’s Spirit dwells in you? [17]†If anyone destroys God’s temple, God will destroy him. For God’s temple is holy, and you are that temple.

[18]† Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you thinks that he is wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise. [19]‡For the wisdom of this world is folly with God. For it is written, “He catches the wise in their craftiness,” [20]and again, “The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile.” [21]†So let no one boast in men. For all things are yours, [22]† whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world or life or death or the present or the future—all are yours, [23]† and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

The Ministry of Apostles

4 [1] † This is how one should regard us, as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God. [2] † Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found trustworthy. [3] † But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by any human court. In fact, I do not even judge myself. [4] † For I am not aware of anything against myself, but I am not thereby acquitted. It is the Lord who judges me. [5] † Therefore do not pronounce judgment before the time, before the Lord comes, who will bring to light the things now hidden in darkness and will disclose the purposes of the heart. Then each one will receive his commendation from God.

[6] † I have applied all these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit, brothers,[1] that you may learn by us not to go beyond what is written, that none of you may be puffed up in favor of one against another. [7] † For who sees anything different in you? What do you have that you did not receive? If then you received it, why do you boast as if you did not receive it?

[8] † Already you have all you want! Already you have become rich! Without us you have become kings! And would that you did reign, so that we might share the rule with you! [9] † For I think that God has exhibited us apostles as last of all, like men sentenced to death, because we have become a spectacle to the world, to angels, and to men. [10] † We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ. We are weak, but you are strong. You are held in honor, but we in disrepute. [11] † To the present hour we hunger and thirst, we are poorly dressed and buffeted and homeless, [12] † and we labor, working with our own hands. When reviled, we bless; when persecuted, we endure; [13] † when slandered, we entreat. We have become, and are still, like the scum of the world, the refuse of all things.

[14] † I do not write these things to make you ashamed, but to admonish you as my beloved children. [15] † For though you have countless guides in Christ, you do not have many fathers. For I became your father in Christ Jesus through the gospel. [16] † I urge you, then, be imitators of me. [17] † That is why I sent[2] you Timothy, my beloved and faithful child in the Lord, to remind you of my ways in Christ,[1] as I teach them everywhere in every church.

[18] †Some are arrogant, as though I were not coming to you. [19] †But I will come to you soon, if the Lord wills, and I will find out not the talk of these arrogant people but their power. [20] †For the kingdom of God does not consist in talk but in power. [21] †What do you wish? Shall I come to you with a rod, or with love in a spirit of gentleness?

Sexual Immorality Defiles the Church

5 [1]†It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and of a kind that is not tolerated even among pagans, for a man has his father's wife. [2]†And you are arrogant! Ought you not rather to mourn? Let him who has done this be removed from among you.

[3]†For though absent in body, I am present in spirit; and as if present, I have already pronounced judgment on the one who did such a thing.
[4]†When you are assembled in the name of the Lord Jesus and my spirit is present, with the power of our Lord Jesus, [5]†you are to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord.[2]

[6]† Your boasting is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump? [7]†Cleanse out the old leaven that you may be a new lump, as you really are unleavened. For Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed. [8]†Let us therefore celebrate the festival, not with the old leaven, the leaven of malice and evil, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

[9]†I wrote to you in my letter not to associate with sexually immoral people— [10]† not at all meaning the sexually immoral of this world, or the greedy and swindlers, or idolaters, since then you would need to go out of the world. [11]†But now I am writing to you not to associate with anyone who bears the name of brother if he is guilty of sexual immorality or greed, or is an idolater, reviler, drunkard, or swindler—not even to eat with such a one.
[12]†For what have I to do with judging outsiders? Is it not those inside the church whom you are to judge? [13]†God judges[1] those outside. "Purge the evil person from among you."

Lawsuits Against Believers

6 [1]When one of you has a grievance against another, does he dare go to law before the unrighteous instead of the saints? [2]Or do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to try trivial cases? [3]Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life!
[4]So if you have such cases, why do you lay them before those who have no standing in the church? [5] I say this to your shame. Can it be that there is no one among you wise enough to settle a dispute between the brothers, [6]but brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers? [7]To have lawsuits at all with one another is already a defeat for you. Why not rather suffer wrong? Why not rather be defrauded? [8]But you yourselves wrong and defraud—even your own brothers![2]

[9]Or do you not know that the unrighteous[3] will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived: neither the sexually immoral, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor men who practice homosexuality,[4] [10]nor thieves, nor the greedy, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God. [11]And such were some of you. But you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.

Flee Sexual Immorality

12 ‡ ‡ ‡ “All things are lawful for me,” but not all things are helpful. “All things are lawful for me,” but I will not be enslaved by anything. 13 † “Food is meant for the stomach and the stomach for food”—and God will destroy both one and the other. The body is not meant for sexual immorality, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body. 14 † And God raised the Lord and will also raise us up by his power. 15 ‡ Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and make them members of a prostitute? Never! 16 Or do you not know that he who is joined[1] to a prostitute becomes one body with her? For, as it is written,
“The two will become one flesh.” 17 But he who is joined to the Lord becomes one spirit with him. 18 † Flee from sexual immorality. Every other sin[2] a person commits is outside the body, but the sexually immoral person sins against his own body. 19 † Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? You are not your own, 20 † for you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body.

Principles for Marriage

7 [1]‡†Now concerning the matters about which you wrote: “It is good for a man not to have sexual relations with a woman.” [2]†But because of the temptation to sexual immorality, each man should have his own wife and each woman her own husband. [3]† The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband. [4]†For the wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. Likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does. [5]†
Do not deprive one another, except perhaps by agreement for a limited time, that you may devote yourselves to prayer; but then come together again, so that Satan may not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

[6]†Now as a concession, not a command, I say this.[3] [7]† I wish that all were as I myself am. But each has his own gift from God, one of one kind and one of another.

[8]†To the unmarried and the widows I say that it is good for them to remain single as I am. [9]†But if they cannot exercise self-control, they should marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

[10]‡To the married I give this charge (not I, but the Lord): the wife should not separate from her husband [11](but if she does, she should remain unmarried or else be reconciled to her husband), and the husband should not divorce his wife.

[12]‡To the rest I say (I, not the Lord) that if any brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she consents to live with him, he should not divorce her.
[13]If any woman has a husband who is an unbeliever, and he consents to live with her, she should not divorce him. [14]†For the unbelieving husband is made holy because of his wife, and the unbelieving wife is made holy because of her husband. Otherwise your children would be unclean, but as it is, they are holy. [15]†But if the unbelieving partner separates, let it be so. In such cases the brother or sister is not enslaved. God has called you[1] to peace. [16]†For how do you know, wife, whether you will save your husband?
Or how do you know, husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

17 ‡† Only let each person lead the life that the Lord has assigned to him, and to which God has called him. This is my rule in all the churches. 18 † Was anyone at the time of his call already circumcised? Let him not seek to remove the marks of circumcision. Was anyone at the time of his call uncircumcised? Let him not seek circumcision. 19 † For neither circumcision counts for anything nor uncircumcision, but keeping the commandments of God. 20 † Each one should remain in the condition in which he was called.
21 † Were you a slave[2] when called? Do not be concerned about it. (But if you can gain your freedom, avail yourself of the opportunity.) 22 ‡ For he who was called in the Lord as a slave is a freedman of the Lord. Likewise he who was free when called is a slave of Christ. 23 You were bought with a price; do not become slaves of men. 24 † So, brothers,[3] in whatever condition each was called, there let him remain with God.

The Unmarried and the Widowed

25 ‡ † Now concerning[4] the betrothed,[5] I have no command from the Lord, but I give my judgment as one who by the Lord's mercy is trustworthy. 26 †I think that in view of the present[1] distress it is good for a person to remain as he is. 27 †Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be free. Are you free from a wife? Do not seek a wife. 28 †But if you do marry, you have not sinned, and if a betrothed woman[2] marries, she has not sinned. Yet those who marry will have worldly troubles, and I would spare you that. 29 †This is what I mean, brothers: the appointed time has grown very short. From now on, let those who have wives live as though they had none, 30 †and those who mourn as though they were not mourning, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they had no goods, 31 †and those who deal with the world as though they had no dealings with it. For the present form of this world is passing away.

32 †I want you to be free from anxieties. The unmarried man is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to please the Lord. 33 †But the married man is anxious about worldly things, how to please his wife, 34 †and his interests are divided. And the unmarried or betrothed woman is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to be holy in body and spirit. But the married woman is anxious about worldly things, how to please her husband.
35 †I say this for your own benefit, not to lay any restraint upon you, but to promote good order and to secure your undivided devotion to the Lord.

36 †If anyone thinks that he is not behaving properly toward his betrothed, [3] if his[4] passions are strong, and it has to be, let him do as he wishes: let them marry—it is no sin. 37 †But whoever is firmly established in his heart, being under no necessity but having his desire under control, and has determined this in his heart, to keep her as his betrothed, he will do well.
38 †So then he who marries his betrothed does well, and he who refrains from marriage will do even better.

39 † A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies, she is free to be married to whom she wishes, only in the Lord. 40 †Yet in my judgment she is happier if she remains as she is. And I think that I too have the Spirit of God.

Food Offered to Idols

8 [1]†Now concerning[5] food offered to idols: we know that “all of us possess knowledge.” This “knowledge” puffs up, but love builds up. [2]† If anyone imagines that he knows something, he does not yet know as he ought to know. [3]†But if anyone loves God, he is known by God.[1]

[4]†Therefore, as to the eating of food offered to idols, we know that “an idol has no real existence,” and that “there is no God but one.” [5]For although there may be so-called gods in heaven or on earth—as indeed there are many “gods” and many “lords”— [6]†yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

[7]†However, not all possess this knowledge. But some, through former association with idols, eat food as really offered to an idol, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled. [8]† Food will not commend us to God. We are no worse off if we do not eat, and no better off if we do. [9]†But take care that this right of yours does not somehow become a stumbling block to the weak. [10]†For if anyone sees you who have knowledge eating[2] in an idol’s temple, will he not be encouraged,[3] if his conscience is weak, to eat food offered to idols? [11]†And so by your knowledge this weak person is destroyed, the brother for whom Christ died. [12]†Thus, sinning against your brothers[4] and wounding their conscience when it is weak, you sin against Christ. [13]†Therefore, if food makes my brother stumble, I will never eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble.

Paul Surrenders His Rights

9 [1]†Am I not free? Am I not an apostle? Have I not seen Jesus our Lord? Are not you my workmanship in the Lord? [2]‡If to others I am not an apostle, at least I am to you, for you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

[3]This is my defense to those who would examine me. [4]† Do we not have the right to eat and drink? [5]† Do we not have the right to take along a believing wife,[1] as do the other apostles and the brothers of the Lord and Cephas? [6]†Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working for a living? [7]‡ Who serves as a soldier at his own expense? Who plants a vineyard without eating any of its fruit? Or who tends a flock without getting some of the milk?

[8]Do I say these things on human authority? Does not the Law say the same? [9]For it is written in the Law of Moses, “You shall not muzzle an ox when it treads out the grain.” Is it for oxen that God is concerned? [10]Does he not speak entirely for our sake? It was written for our sake, because the plowman should plow in hope and the thresher thresh in hope of sharing in the crop. [11]† If we have sown spiritual things among you, is it too much if we reap material things from you? [12]†If others share this rightful claim on you, do not we even more?

Nevertheless, we have not made use of this right, but we endure anything rather than put an obstacle in the way of the gospel of Christ. [13]†Do you not know that those who are employed in the temple service get their food from the temple, and those who serve at the altar share in the sacrificial offerings? [14]† In the same way, the Lord commanded that those who proclaim the gospel should get their living by the gospel.

[15]†But I have made no use of any of these rights, nor am I writing these things to secure any such provision. For I would rather die than have anyone deprive me of my ground for boasting. [16]†For if I preach the gospel, that gives me no ground for boasting. For necessity is laid upon me. Woe to me if I do not preach the gospel! [17]†For if I do this of my own will, I have a reward, but if not of my own will, I am still entrusted with a stewardship.

18 †What then is my reward? That in my preaching I may present the gospel free of charge, so as not to make full use of my right in the gospel.

19 ††For though I am free from all, I have made myself a servant to all, that I might win more of them. 20 † To the Jews I became as a Jew, in order to win Jews. To those under the law I became as one under the law (though not being myself under the law) that I might win those under the law. 21 †To those outside the law I became as one outside the law (not being outside the law of God but under the law of Christ) that I might win those outside the law. 22 † To the weak I became weak, that I might win the weak. I have become all things to all people, that by all means I might save some. 23 †I do it all for the sake of the gospel, that I may share with them in its blessings.

24 †Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one receives the prize? So run that you may obtain it. 25 †Every athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable. 26 †So I do not run aimlessly; I do not box as one beating the air. 27 †But I discipline my body and keep it under control,[1] lest after preaching to others I myself should be disqualified.

Warning Against Idolatry

10 [1]For I want you to know, brothers,[2] that our fathers were all under the cloud, and all passed through the sea, [2]and all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea, [3]and all ate the same spiritual food, [4]and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from the spiritual Rock that followed them, and the Rock was Christ. [5]Nevertheless, with most of them God was not pleased, for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

[6]Now these things took place as examples for us, that we might not desire evil as they did. [7] Do not be idolaters as some of them were; as it is written, “The people sat down to eat and drink and rose up to play.” [8] We must not indulge in sexual immorality as some of them did, and twenty-three thousand fell in a single day. [9]We must not put Christ[1] to the test, as some of them did and were destroyed by serpents, [10]nor grumble, as some of them did and were destroyed by the Destroyer. [11]Now these things happened to them as an example, but they were written down for our instruction, on whom the end of the ages has come. [12]Therefore let anyone who thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall. [13]No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.

[14]Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry. [15]I speak as to sensible people; judge for yourselves what I say. [16] The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ? [17]Because there is one bread, we who are many are one body, for we all partake of the one bread.
[18]Consider the people of Israel:[2] are not those who eat the sacrifices participants in the altar? [19]What do I imply then? That food offered to idols is anything, or that an idol is anything? [20]No, I imply that what pagans sacrifice they offer to demons and not to God. I do not want you to be participants with demons. [21]You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons. You cannot partake of the table of the Lord and the table of demons. [22]† Shall we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than he?

Do All to the Glory of God

23 ‡† “All things are lawful,” but not all things are helpful. “All things are lawful,” but not all things build up. 24 † Let no one seek his own good, but the good of his neighbor. 25 † Eat whatever is sold in the meat market without raising any question on the ground of conscience. 26For “the earth is the Lord’s, and the fullness thereof.” 27 ‡† If one of the unbelievers invites you to dinner and you are disposed to go, eat whatever is set before you without raising any question on the ground of conscience. 28 ‡ But if someone says to you, “This has been offered in sacrifice,” then do not eat it, for the sake of the one who informed you, and for the sake of conscience—29I do not mean your conscience, but his. For why should my liberty be determined by someone else’s conscience? 30If I partake with thankfulness, why am I denounced because of that for which I give thanks?

31 ‡So, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God. 32 † Give no offense to Jews or to Greeks or to the church of God, 33 †just as I try to please everyone in everything I do, not seeking my own advantage, but that of many, that they may be saved.

11 1 ‡† Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.

Head Coverings

2 ‡ † Now I commend you because you remember me in everything and maintain the traditions even as I delivered them to you. 3 † But I want you to understand that the head of every man is Christ, the head of a wife[1] is her husband, and the head of Christ is God. 4 † Every man who prays or prophesies with his head covered dishonors his head, 5 ‡ but every wife[2] who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head, since it is the same as if her head were shaven. 6 For if a wife will not cover her head, then she should cut her hair short. But since it is disgraceful for a wife to cut off her hair or shave her head, let her cover her head. 7 ‡ For a man ought not to cover his head, since he is the image and glory of God, but woman is the glory of man. 8 For man was not made from woman, but woman from man. 9 Neither was man created for woman, but woman for man. 10 † That is why a wife ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels.[3] 11 † Nevertheless, in the Lord woman is not independent of man nor man of woman; 12 † for as woman was made from man, so man is now born of woman. And all things are from God. 13 ‡ † Judge for yourselves: is it proper for a wife to pray to God with her head uncovered? 14 † Does not nature itself teach you that if a man wears long hair it is a disgrace for him, 15 † but if a woman has long hair, it is her glory? For her hair is given to her for a covering. 16 † If anyone is inclined to be contentious, we have no such practice, nor do the churches of God.

The Lord’s Supper

17 ‡ † But in the following instructions I do not commend you, because when you come together it is not for the better but for the worse. 18 † For, in the first place, when you come together as a church, I hear that there are divisions among you. And I believe it in part,[1] 19 † for there must be factions among you in order that those who are genuine among you may be recognized. 20 † When you come together, it is not the Lord’s supper that you eat. 21 † For in eating, each one goes ahead with his own meal. One goes hungry, another gets drunk. 22 † What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise the church of God and humiliate those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I commend you in this? No, I will not.

23 † For I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you, that the Lord Jesus on the night when he was betrayed took bread, 24 ‡ † and when he had given thanks, he broke it, and said, “This is my body which is for[1] you.
Do this in remembrance of me.”[2] 25 † In the same way also he took the cup, after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me.”26 † For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the Lord’s death until he comes.

27 ‡ † Whoever, therefore, eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty concerning the body and blood of the Lord.
28 † Let a person examine himself, then, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup. 29 † For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body eats and drinks judgment on himself. 30 † That is why many of you are weak and ill, and some have died.[3] 31 ‡ But if we judged[4] ourselves truly, we would not be judged. 32 But when we are judged by the Lord, we are disciplined[5] so that we may not be condemned along with the world.

33 ‡ † So then, my brothers,[6] when you come together to eat, wait for[7] one another— 34 ‡ if anyone is hungry, let him eat at home—so that when you come together it will not be for judgment. About the other things I will give directions when I come.

Spiritual Gifts

12 [1]‡†Now concerning[1] spiritual gifts,[2] brothers,[3] I do not want you to be uninformed. [2]†You know that when you were pagans you were led astray to mute idols, however you were led. [3]†Therefore I want you to understand that no one speaking in the Spirit of God ever says “Jesus is accursed!” and no one can say “Jesus is Lord” except in the Holy Spirit.
[4]‡Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; [5]and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; [6]and there are varieties of activities, but it is the same God who empowers them all in everyone. [7]† To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good. [8]‡†For to one is given through the Spirit the utterance of wisdom, and to another the utterance of knowledge according to the same Spirit, [9]†to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by the one Spirit, [10]†to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another the ability to distinguish between spirits, to another various kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues. [11]†All these are empowered by one and the same Spirit, who apportions to each one individually as he wills.

One Body with Many Members

12 For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so it is with Christ. 13For in one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—Jews or Greeks, slaves[1] or free—and all were made to drink of one Spirit.

14For the body does not consist of one member but of many. 15If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. 16And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. 17If the whole body were an eye, where would be the sense of hearing? If the whole body were an ear, where would be the sense of smell? 18 But as it is, God arranged the members in the body, each one of them, as he chose. 19If all were a single member, where would the body be? 20As it is, there are many parts,[2] yet one body.

21The eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you,” nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.” 22On the contrary, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, 23and on those parts of the body that we think less honorable we bestow the greater honor, and our unpresentable parts are treated with greater modesty, 24 which our more presentable parts do not require. But God has so composed the body, giving greater honor to the part that lacked it, 25that there may be no division in the body, but that the members may have the same care for one another. 26If one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together.

27 Now you are the body of Christ and individually members of it.
28 And God has appointed in the church first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles, then gifts of healing, helping, administrating, and various kinds of tongues. 29Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles? 30Do all possess gifts of healing? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret? 31 But earnestly desire the higher gifts.

And I will show you a still more excellent way.

The Way of Love

13 [1]†† If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. [2]† And if I have prophetic powers, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. [3]† If I give away all I have, and if I deliver up my body to be burned,[1] but have not love, I gain nothing.

[4]† Love is patient and kind; love does not envy or boast; it is not arrogant
[5]or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful;[2] [6]it does not rejoice at wrongdoing, but rejoices with the truth. [7] Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

[8]† Love never ends. As for prophecies, they will pass away; as for tongues, they will cease; as for knowledge, it will pass away. [9]† For we know in part and we prophesy in part, [10]† but when the perfect comes, the partial will pass away. [11]† When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I gave up childish ways. [12]† For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face.
Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I have been fully known.

[13]† So now faith, hope, and love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

Prophecy and Tongues

14 [1]‡†Pursue love, and earnestly desire the spiritual gifts, especially that you may prophesy. [2]†For one who speaks in a tongue speaks not to men but to God; for no one understands him, but he utters mysteries in the Spirit.
[3]† On the other hand, the one who prophesies speaks to people for their upbuilding and encouragement and consolation. [4]‡The one who speaks in a tongue builds up himself, but the one who prophesies builds up the church.
[5]Now I want you all to speak in tongues, but even more to prophesy. The one who prophesies is greater than the one who speaks in tongues, unless someone interprets, so that the church may be built up.

[6]† Now, brothers,[1] if I come to you speaking in tongues, how will I benefit you unless I bring you some revelation or knowledge or prophecy or teaching? [7]‡If even lifeless instruments, such as the flute or the harp, do not give distinct notes, how will anyone know what is played? [8]And if the bugle gives an indistinct sound, who will get ready for battle? [9]† So with yourselves, if with your tongue you utter speech that is not intelligible, how will anyone know what is said? For you will be speaking into the air.
[10]There are doubtless many different languages in the world, and none is without meaning, [11]†but if I do not know the meaning of the language, I will be a foreigner to the speaker and the speaker a foreigner to me. [12]†So with yourselves, since you are eager for manifestations of the Spirit, strive to excel in building up the church.

[13]† Therefore, one who speaks in a tongue should pray for the power to interpret. [14]† For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays but my mind is unfruitful. [15]† What am I to do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will pray with my mind also; I will sing praise with my spirit, but I will sing with my mind also. [16]‡ Otherwise, if you give thanks with your spirit, how can anyone in the position of an outsider[2] say “Amen” to your thanksgiving when he does not know what you are saying? [17]For you may be giving thanks well enough, but the other person is not being built up. [18]‡I thank God that I speak in tongues more than all of you. [19]Nevertheless, in church I would rather speak five words with my mind in order to instruct others, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

20 †Brothers, do not be children in your thinking. Be infants in evil, but in your thinking be mature. 21 ‡ In the Law it is written, “By people of strange tongues and by the lips of foreigners will I speak to this people, and even then they will not listen to me, says the Lord.” 22 Thus tongues are a sign not for believers but for unbelievers, while prophecy is a sign[1] not for unbelievers but for believers. 23 † If, therefore, the whole church comes together and all speak in tongues, and outsiders or unbelievers enter, will they not say that you are out of your minds? 24 ‡ But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or outsider enters, he is convicted by all, he is called to account by all, 25 the secrets of his heart are disclosed, and so, falling on his face, he will worship God and declare that God is really among you.

Orderly Worship

[26]‡†What then, brothers? When you come together, each one has a hymn, a lesson, a revelation, a tongue, or an interpretation. Let all things be done for building up. [27]‡If any speak in a tongue, let there be only two or at most three, and each in turn, and let someone interpret. [28]But if there is no one to interpret, let each of them keep silent in church and speak to himself and to God. [29]†Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others weigh what is said. [30]†If a revelation is made to another sitting there, let the first be silent.
[31]†For you can all prophesy one by one, so that all may learn and all be encouraged, [32]†and the spirits of prophets are subject to prophets. [33]†For God is not a God of confusion but of peace.

As in all the churches of the saints, [34]‡ the women should keep silent in the churches. For they are not permitted to speak, but should be in submission, as the Law also says. [35]If there is anything they desire to learn, let them ask their husbands at home. For it is shameful for a woman to speak in church.

[36]‡Or was it from you that the word of God came? Or are you the only ones it has reached? [37] If anyone thinks that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord. [38]†If anyone does not recognize this, he is not recognized. [39]‡So, my brothers, earnestly desire to prophesy, and do not forbid speaking in tongues. [40] But all things should be done decently and in order.

The Resurrection of Christ

15 [1]‡†Now I would remind you, brothers,[1] of the gospel I preached to you, which you received, in which you stand, [2]†and by which you are being saved, if you hold fast to the word I preached to you—unless you believed in vain.

[3]†For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures, [4]that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures, [5]‡and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve. [6]Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have fallen asleep. [7]Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles. [8]†Last of all, as to one untimely born, he appeared also to me. [9]†For I am the least of the apostles, unworthy to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God. [10]†But by the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace toward me was not in vain. On the contrary, I worked harder than any of them, though it was not I, but the grace of God that is with me. [11]†Whether then it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

The Resurrection of the Dead

12 ‡ ‡ † Now if Christ is proclaimed as raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? 13 But if there is no resurrection of the dead, then not even Christ has been raised. 14 And if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain. 15 We are even found to be misrepresenting God, because we testified about God that he raised Christ, whom he did not raise if it is true that the dead are not raised. 16 † For if the dead are not raised, not even Christ has been raised. 17 † And if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins. 18 † Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. 19 If in Christ we have hope[1] in this life only, we are of all people most to be pitied.

20 † But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep. 21 ‡ For as by a man came death, by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. 22 For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. 23 † But each in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, then at his coming those who belong to Christ. 24 † Then comes the end, when he delivers the kingdom to God the Father after destroying every rule and every authority and power. 25 ‡ For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. 26 The last enemy to be destroyed is death. 27 For "God[2] has put all things in subjection under his feet." But when it says, "all things are put in subjection," it is plain that he is excepted who put all things in subjection under him. 28 † When all things are subjected to him, then the Son himself will also be subjected to him who put all things in subjection under him, that God may be all in all.

29 ‡ † Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf? 30 † Why are we in danger every hour? 31 † I protest, brothers, by my pride in you, which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die every day!
32 ‡ † What do I gain if, humanly speaking, I fought with beasts at Ephesus?
If the dead are not raised, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." 33
Do not be deceived: "Bad company ruins good morals."[1] 34 † Wake up from your drunken stupor, as is right, and do not go on sinning. For some have no knowledge of God. I say this to your shame.

The Resurrection Body

35 But someone will ask, “How are the dead raised? With what kind of body do they come?” 36 You foolish person! What you sow does not come to life unless it dies. 37 And what you sow is not the body that is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or of some other grain. 38 But God gives it a body as he has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. 39 For not all flesh is the same, but there is one kind for humans, another for animals, another for birds, and another for fish. 40 There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the glory of the heavenly is of one kind, and the glory of the earthly is of another. 41 There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for star differs from star in glory.

42 So is it with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is perishable;
what is raised is imperishable. 43 It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory.
It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. 44 It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body. 45 Thus it is written, “The first man Adam became a living being”;[2] the last Adam became a life-giving spirit. 46 But it is not the spiritual that is first but the natural, and then the spiritual. 47 The first man was from the earth, a man of dust; the second man is from heaven. 48 As was the man of dust, so also are those who are of the dust, and as is the man of heaven, so also are those who are of heaven. 49 Just as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall[3] also bear the image of the man of heaven.

Mystery and Victory

50 ††I tell you this, brothers: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable. 51 †Behold! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 † in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.
53 †For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and this mortal body must put on immortality. 54 † When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written:

"Death is swallowed up in victory."
55 "O death, where is your victory?
O death, where is your sting?"

56 †The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law. 57 †But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.
58 † Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

The Collection for the Saints

16 [1]‡‡Now concerning[1] the collection for the saints: as I directed the churches of Galatia, so you also are to do. [2]†On the first day of every week, each of you is to put something aside and store it up, as he may prosper, so that there will be no collecting when I come. [3]‡And when I arrive, I will send those whom you accredit by letter to carry your gift to Jerusalem. [4]If it seems advisable that I should go also, they will accompany me.

Plans for Travel

5 ‡† I will visit you after passing through Macedonia, for I intend to pass through Macedonia, 6 †and perhaps I will stay with you or even spend the winter, so that you may help me on my journey, wherever I go. 7For I do not want to see you now just in passing. I hope to spend some time with you, if the Lord permits. 8 †But I will stay in Ephesus until Pentecost, 9 †for a wide door for effective work has opened to me, and there are many adversaries.
10 † When Timothy comes, see that you put him at ease among you, for he is doing the work of the Lord, as I am. 11 †So let no one despise him. Help him on his way in peace, that he may return to me, for I am expecting him with the brothers.

Final Instructions

12 ‡† Now concerning our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to visit you with the other brothers, but it was not at all his will[1] to come now. He will come when he has opportunity.
13 ‡ Be watchful, stand firm in the faith, act like men, be strong. 14 Let all that you do be done in love.
15 ‡ Now I urge you, brothers[2]—you know that the household[3] of Stephanas were the first converts in Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves to the service of the saints— 16 be subject to such as these, and to every fellow worker and laborer. 17 † I rejoice at the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because they have made up for your absence, 18 † for they refreshed my spirit as well as yours. Give recognition to such men.

Greetings

19 ‡† The churches of Asia send you greetings. Aquila and Prisca, together with the church in their house, send you hearty greetings in the Lord. 20 † All the brothers send you greetings. Greet one another with a holy kiss.
21 † I, Paul, write this greeting with my own hand. 22 ‡ If anyone has no love for the Lord, let him be accursed. Our Lord, come![4] 23 The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you. 24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Introduction to 1 Corinthians

Reading 1 Corinthians

A variety of shops line the walls of the marketplace or macellum. Along with people bartering in Greek, Latin, and other tongues, hogs grunt, sheep and goats bleat, chickens cluck, doves coo, and cattle low. The animals smell and see the fresh produce and baked goods close to their pens. The smell of blood and cooked meat hangs in the air, wafting from the market area and from the dining halls in the nearby temples. Worshipers gather in the temple to make sacrifices, and businessmen recline at tables to discuss the latest issues, while Asclepius, Serapis, and other gods stand in mute approval. Outside these temples, members of a new piety walk past the temples to the macellum in search of food for a private supper to be hosted by their Lord.

The cosmopolitan markets at Corinth supplied a diverse population of settlers, travelers, and slaves. The interests and differences between these groups influenced the divisions in the house churches at Roman Corinth. Paul's Letter provided detailed instructions about these dividing issues and directed the Corinthians to what he taught them before—Christ crucified unites all who believe.

Luther on 1 Corinthians

In this epistle St. Paul exhorts the Corinthians to be one in faith and love, and to see to it that they learn well the chief thing, namely, that Christ is our salvation, the thing over which all reason and wisdom stumbles….

[St. Paul] had taught his Corinthians Christian faith and freedom from the law. But then the mad saints came along, and the immature know-it-alls. They broke up the unity of the doctrine and caused division among the believers. One claimed to belong to Paul, the other to Apollos; one to Peter, the other to Christ. One wanted circumcision, the other not; one wanted marriage, the other not; one wanted to eat food offered to idols, the other not. Some wanted to be outwardly free [leiblich frey]; some of the women wanted to go with uncovered hair, and so on. They went so far that one man abused his liberty and married his father's wife, some did not believe in the resurrection of the dead, and some thought lightly of the sacrament.

In short, things got so wild and disorderly that everyone wanted to be the expert and do the teaching and make what he pleased of the gospel, the sacrament, and faith. Meanwhile they let the main thing drop—namely, that Christ is our salvation, righteousness, and redemption—as if they had long since outgrown it. This truth can never remain intact when people begin to imagine they are wise and know it all….

Therefore St. Paul most severely rebukes and condemns this shameful wisdom, and makes these connoisseur saints out to be fools. He says outright that they know nothing of Christ, or of the Spirit and gifts of God given to us in Christ, and that they had better begin to learn. It takes spiritual folk to understand this. The desire to be wise and the pretense of cleverness in the gospel are the very things that really give offense and hinder the knowledge of Christ and God, and create disturbances and contentions. This clever wisdom and reason can well serve to make for nothing but mad saints and wild Christians. Yet such people can never know our Lord Christ, unless they first become fools again and humbly let themselves be taught and led by the simple word of God. This is what St. Paul deals with in the first four chapters.

In chapter 5 he rebukes the gross unchastity of the man who had married his father's wife. He would put this man under the ban and give him over to the devil. Thus he points out the right way of using the ban, that it should be laid with the consent of the believing congregation upon obvious transgressions, as Christ also teaches in Matthew 18[:17].

In chapter 6 he rebukes contention and disputing in the courts, especially before heathen and unbelievers. He teaches them that they should settle their cases among themselves, or suffer wrong.

In chapter 7 he gives instruction concerning chastity and married life. He praises chastity and virginity, saying that these are helpful in allowing closer attentiveness to the gospel, as Christ also teaches in Matthew 19[:12] concerning celibates who are chaste for the sake of the gospel or the kingdom of heaven. But Paul wills that it be practiced without force or compulsion, or the risk of greater sin; otherwise, marriage is better than a chastity which is continually aflame with passion.

In chapters 8 to 12 he discusses many different ways in which weak consciences are to be guided and regarded in external matters such as eating, drinking, apparel, and receiving the sacrament. Everywhere he forbids the strong to despise the weak, since he himself, even though he is an apostle, has refrained from many things to which he really had a right. Moreover the strong may well be afraid, because in ancient Israel so many were destroyed, all of whom had been led out of Egypt by miracles. Besides this, he makes several digressions into worthwhile teachings.

In chapters 12 and 13 he discusses the many different gifts of God, among which love is the best. He teaches the people not to exalt themselves but to serve one another in unity of spirit, since there is one God, one Lord, one Spirit, and everything is one, however great the diversity.

In chapter 14 he teaches the preachers, prophets, and singers to use their gifts in an orderly manner; they are to display their preaching, skill, and understanding for edification only, and not in order to gain honor for themselves.

In chapter 15 he takes those to task who had taught and believed wrongly concerning the resurrection of the body.

In the last chapter he exhorts the people to give brotherly assistance to the needy in the form of material aid. (AE 35:380–83)

Challenges for Readers

The setting for Paul's Letter and the issues he addresses present many challenges for interpreters. Here are some of the most important issues:

Cultural Diversity in Roman Corinth. The Romans had destroyed Greek Corinth in 146 BC; Julius Caesar then built a Roman colony there in 44 BC. The first settlers were Roman veterans from Caesar's armies. Freed slaves, merchants, and tradesmen also came to Corinth, including a significant number of Jews (cf Ac 18). Roman Corinth had a prosperous harbor and numerous visitors. As in the earlier Greek city, immorality and prostitution were common. People held a wide variety of superstitious, religious, and philosophical beliefs. The varieties of culture, language, and religion seem to have made Roman Corinth an especially difficult place to plant a Christian church. Throughout 1 Corinthians, Paul addresses problems that culture had raised for the congregation.

Eschatology. Paul writes 1 Corinthians in view of Jesus' promised return and the resurrection of the body. His goal is that the congregation will stand "guiltless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1:8). Misunderstandings about Jesus' ministry and return have confused them (ch 15), leading to false doctrines and sinful practices.

Passages and Slogans. Paul frequently quotes statements used by the Corinthians. He is interacting both with a report about the congregation and a letter from the congregation (cf 1:11; 7:1). Failing to recognize that Paul is citing their words can lead to contradictory interpretations of the Epistle. The ESV translators have placed quote marks around likely statements from the Corinthians (e.g., 1:12; 3:4; 6:12–13; 7:1; 8:1; 10:23; cf 15:12).

Rhetoric and Logic. Though Paul plays down his abilities as a speaker (2:4), he demonstrates skillful use of rabbinic and Greek styles of argument. As you read this Letter, remember that Paul uses contrasts, rhetorical questions, logic, hyperbole, and other methods to make his points. Interpreters who fail to recognize Paul's rhetoric conclude that Paul contradicts himself. However, Paul persistently speaks from God's Word—the OT and the Gospel message—as the basis for the congregation's doctrine and practice.

Lord's Supper. Even Christ's Supper, intended for uniting the Lord and His people, has become a point of controversy and division in Corinth. Paul carefully describes the Supper's meaning and use (chs 10–11), but interpreters remain confused by Paul's statements about Christ's body and blood, fellowship, and worthiness.

Speaking in Tongues. See p 1969.

Blessings for Readers

In 1 Corinthians, Paul describes a divided and struggling congregation, not unlike struggling congregations today. As you read and study, consider how the Lord brought the Corinthians through their struggles, using the sound theology and counsel of the apostle Paul, focusing on salvation through the Lord Jesus Christ. History shows that, despite early struggles, the congregation survived and prospered (e.g., we have Clement of Rome's letter to them from 40 years later). Just as the Corinthians came to view Israel's struggles and God's mercies for them as examples and instruction (10:11), let us receive the things recorded in Paul's Letter as examples and instruction for today. Avoid their excesses and sins. Rejoice in God's promises to the Corinthians, especially the promised unity through the Gospel.

Preparing for the Lord's Supper

To understand Paul's instruction "Let a person examine himself, then, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup" (11:28) requires some background. Paul was not encouraging the mistaken idea that faith and religion are strictly private matters. He was calling the members to compare their own beliefs with the doctrine and practice he, as the Lord's apostle, had taught them. Here are other places in 1 Corinthians Paul refers to teaching the congregation:

> "I fed you with milk" (3:2).
> "Do you not know … ?" (3:16; 6:9, 15–16; 9:13).
> "I sent you Timothy … to remind you of my ways in Christ" (4:17).
> "I commend you because you … maintain the traditions even as I delivered them to you" (11:2).
> "What I also delivered to you" (11:23).
> "I would remind you, brothers, of the gospel I preached to you, which you received" (15:1).
> "I delivered to you … what I also received" (15:3).

From these passages, we see that Paul had taught the Corinthians about right and wrong, Jesus' person and work (the Gospel), and the proper understanding and practice of the Lord's Supper. He had likewise administered Baptism and led them in prayer and worship. The term delivered implies a formal process of instruction and reception of the truths and practices, known as catechesis (see "teach," p 1904; c f 15:1, 3).

When you examine yourself before Communion, refresh yourself with the thorough teaching you received in the Lord's Word. Ask yourself these questions:

> Have I confessed and repented of my sins?
> Do I believe that in the blessed Sacrament I am receiving the actual body and blood of Christ, under the bread and wine, into my mouth, for the forgiveness of my sins?
> Do I share the confession and unity of this congregation?
> Will I, with the Lord's help, amend my sinful life?

The Holy Spirit will assist you and pray for you in this faithful discipline. See SC, Confession and The Sacrament of the Altar, pp xl–xli.

Baptized into One Body

The image of the body was often used by Greco-Roman authors concerned for the unity of the body politic. Here Paul's concern is the unity of the church. The analogy of the body and its members was a favorite of his. The unity of the body of Christ is grounded in its members' Baptism into that body (1 Cor 12:13; Gal 3:27–28) and their constant reception of Christ's body and blood in the Lord's Supper (1 Cor 10:16–17). "The sacramental body 'bodies' together the ecclesiastical 'body' " (J. Gibbs, "An Exegetical Case for Close(d) Communion," Concordia Journal 21:151). [See notes, 10:16, 17.]

Just as the human body is a unit, a single entity comprised of many parts, "so also is Christ" (12:12). We would have expected Paul to conclude the sentence, "so also is the church." But he is using metonymy, a shortened way of saying "so also is the church, which is the body of Christ" (cf. the juxtaposition of "body of Christ" and "the church" in 12:27–28).

The basis for the unity of many diverse parts within the body of Christ is their common Baptism "with one Spirit into one body" (12:13). Paul has in mind here the Sacrament of Christian Baptism, whereby a person is incorporated into the body of Christ (Gal 3:27–28).

Speaking in Tongues

The issue of what "speaking in tongues" was at Corinth is long-standing. Many interpreters are content to offer no clear resolution. Nevertheless, there are three basic approaches to interpreting what Paul's Letter says about "speaking in tongues." They are described below, beginning with the most recent views and concluding with views typically offered by the Church Fathers and the reformers, which guided the study notes.

Charismatic View

This approach is often associated with the rise of Pentecostalism in 1901 but has roots in the teachings of the French Prophets (Camisards; c 1702), Shakers (c 1747), Mormons, and Irvingites (c 1831). In this view, the Holy Spirit fills people and causes them to speak in human or angelic languages for the purposes of prayer or prophecy (see p 1876). Many charismatics view speaking in tongues as a necessary sign of being Spirit-filled, of perfect sanctification, or even of salvation. They regard such speaking in tongues as a normal activity for Christians that was lost in the early years of the Church. Some groups view Christians who do not speak in tongues as spiritually weak, cold, or dead.

Religious Psychology View

This approach stems from the comparative study of religions and from modern psychiatry (the latter arising c 1792). It began with C. G. Bardili (1761–1808), who compared speaking in tongues with records of ecstatic utterances by ancient Greek prophetesses at the oracle of Delphi. The critical scholar J. G. Eichhorn (1752–1827) popularized Bardili's opinion around the time that the experiences of Shakers, Mormons, and Irvingites began to be documented. In this view, speaking in tongues is an ecstatic, psychological state that is common to all radical religions and is evoked by religious fervor. The religious psychology view was important for the rise of the charismatic view because it legitimized religious ecstasy as common and blunted theological evaluation of the activity.

Cultural-Historical View

This approach was taught by the Church Fathers and the reformers, who viewed the gift of tongues as a special miracle for demonstrating God's acceptance of new believers (cf Ac 10:44–48; 11:17) and as a special ability to learn and use languages for the good of the Church. It holds that tongues are genuine human languages, as described in Ac 2:5–11. It points to the use and translation of various languages in the early Christian communities, which were culturally diverse.

The expression "to speak in a tongue" is common in Hebrew and Aramaic, where it means to speak or read another language (cf Dt 28:49; Ne 13:24; Es 1:22; Is 28:11; 33:19; Jer 5:15; Mishnah; Targums). Rabbis regarded Hebrew as the proper language for prayer (Sotah 7:1–2; Megillah 2:1) and the holy or heavenly language (spoken by angels, Babylonian Talmud, Sotah 33a). They wrestled with the issue of which language(s) to use during worship (see Concordia Journal 22:295–302). In the first century, Hebrew was still the language of temple liturgy in Jerusalem (see p 1835), but Aramaic or Greek was spoken by most people in Galilee and Judea (Mk 5:41; Jn 19:20; Ac 6:1; 21:37–22:2; 26:14). As Jewish Christians traveled, they naturally took their languages and synagogue practices with them.

The Corinthian congregation began from Paul's preaching at a Jewish synagogue (Ac 18:4–8). Members of the Corinthian congregation knew various languages. Paul's Letters to them are written in Greek but include Hebrew or Aramaic liturgical terms and titles (1Co 1:12; 3:22; 9:5; 14:15; 15:5; 16:22; 2Co 1:20). Roman Jews were also present (Ac 18:2), and inscriptional evidence shows the importance of Latin at Corinth, since the Romans rebuilt Corinth as a colony. It is easy to see how language in worship could become an issue, especially when proud "Hebrews" came to teach at the church (2Co 11:13, 22).

Luther on Tongues

The cultural-historical view was what Luther had in mind as he interpreted 1Co 12–14, and was the setting assumed in the Lutheran Confessions (AC XXIV 3–4; Ap XXIV 2–5). See Luther's comments at notes 12:10; 14:1–5; and throughout chs 12–14. See p 1876.

Men and Women in the Church

Whenever the Gospel has free course, it has a liberating effect on women (as indeed the Gospel liberates all people, Jn 8:31–36). In the South Pacific nation of Papua New Guinea, for example, where women were traditionally treated as chattels, the advent of Christianity has often brought them a new dignity and respect. Indeed there are countless societies where many women, once regarded merely as garden beds for raising children—to be discarded if they proved unfruitful—have found their Christian husbands treating them with courtesy and affection.

This Christian regard for women is, of course, inspired by "the meekness and gentleness of Christ" (2 Cor 10:1). Jesus himself set the pattern for his church by his own respect for women, beginning with his childhood submission to his mother (Lk 2:51). To women he extended his healing hand; with women he was happy to converse, to the amazement of his disciples (Jn 4:27); to women and men alike he taught the Word of God. Luke records how on one occasion the Lord took time to teach a class consisting of one woman, Mary, who received his praise because she "chose the best part, which will not be taken away from her" (Lk 10:38–42). Paul commands husbands to love their wives "as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her" (Eph 5:25). Peter counsels husbands to "live considerately … with [their] wives, bestowing honor [on the women] as joint heirs of the grace of life" (1 Pet 3:7). Thus biblical Christianity elevates women, honors them as equal members of the Christian community, and encourages them to study the Scriptures. The same is true of the Lutheran church in particular. The Lutheran Confessions sharply criticize misogyny: "Daniel says that it is characteristic of Antichrist's kingdom to despise women" (Ap XXIII 25, citing Daniel 11:37)….

At the opposite extreme from rabbinic Judaism, the Greco-Roman culture of Paul's day frequently allowed women a leading role in religious rites. Whereas the Jewish Torah restricted the priesthood to men, there were no explicit prohibitions of priestesses in other religions. Thus women priests may be found at any time and in any place in the Hellenistic world….

In the light of the contrasts with its religious environment, the apostolic teaching on the role of women in worship is countercultural. Whereas the male chauvinism characteristic of some cultures (in Paul's day and ours) regards women as mere chattels, and rabbinic Judaism tended to treat them as second-class members of the community, the apostles counsel husbands to cherish and honor their wives. On the other hand, in contrast to the permissiveness of pagan religions, which often allowed women to serve as priestesses and instructors in the cult, the biblical revelation does not permit them to serve as priests (Ex 28:1) or pastors (1 Tim 3:2; Titus 1:6). Thus Paul's command that the women be silent in the churches (1 Cor 14:34) must be understood, in part, as countercultural and antisyncretistic. It is a command that distinguishes and separates the Christian church from other religions. Inspired by the Spirit of God, its roots are deep in the biblical revelation, which always runs counter to the spirit and wisdom of this world (2:12)….

Just as not all are apostles, not all are prophets, so not all are pastors and teachers (1 Cor 12:29; Eph 4:11). And not only women are excluded from the pastor office, but also most men. For most men have not been called to the office, nor have they been given sufficient aptitude in teaching. The ministry can be difficult enough, in these turbulent times, even for men who are "apt to teach" (1 Tim 3:2). This catechetical aptitude is the one qualification on Paul's list of qualifications for pastors (1 Tim 3:2–7; Titus 1:6–9) which is not required of every Christian man. Since God has called the church into existence through the Gospel, he has every right to select those whom he chooses to be pastors, and to establish such qualifications as he desires pastors to have. Just as in Israel the eleven other tribes had no right to cry foul because God selected only the Levites to serve at his sanctuary, and only the sons of Aaron to be his priests, so Christians have no right to criticize God for limiting the pastoral office to those who meet his qualifications, including that of gender. It is not inconsistent for the God of the Gospel also to establish such an order in his church: "God is not [a God] of disorder" (1 Cor 14:33)….

The Gospel provides the motivation for men and women joyfully to take their appointed places in God's order, especially in the church. It is possible to resist and reject the Gospel, as Paul himself once did, but such rejection is "to kick against the goads" (Acts 26:14). On the other hand, the person of faith—the new creation in Christ—delights in God's order (cf. Pss 1:2; 112:1; 119:15, 24, 35). See p 1291.

Jesus, the New Testament, and the Creeds

There is no question that the New Testament writers saw Jesus as utterly unique and of central importance in their lives and in the life of faith. One of the earliest confessions of faith was "Jesus is Lord." Other titles were given to Him in Scripture as well, for example, "Messiah" (or its Greek equivalent, "Christ"), which is found throughout the Bible. Many Jews of Jesus' day desired and expected the coming of God's Anointed One, His Messiah, whom they believed would overthrow the hated Roman rulers. But if Jesus was the Messiah, He was a different kind of Messiah. Instead of defeating the Romans, He was crucified by them. For some of His Jewish followers, this likely meant a loss of faith. But for those who remained loyal to Jesus, His death on the cross was intimately tied up with God's salvation plan, which came to light in His resurrection.

A number of other biblical titles given to Jesus portray a special relationship to His heavenly Father and, at the same time, Jesus' relationship with us, His fellow human beings. For the Gospel of John, Jesus was the Word that was with God before the beginning of the world and through whom all things were made (Jn 1:1). At the same time, John recorded that Jesus was the Word made flesh (Jn 1:14). For the apostle Paul, Jesus was the Son of God according to the power of His resurrection and the son of David according to the flesh (Rm 1:1–5). He is also the "Second Adam," who is from heaven, unlike the first Adam, who is from earth (1Co 15:21–22). This Second Adam came as God's gift of righteousness, withstood all temptation in constant obedience as the form of God in the form of a slave (Php 2:5–11), and died for us, for which He is glorified. He received into Himself God's judgment against Adam and us all and rose also for us as the seal of our own resurrection unto eternal life (Rm 8:19–21; 1Co 15:20, 23). The author of Hebrews tells us that Jesus is the perfect high priest because He is sent by God, but taken from among men (Heb 4:14–16).

Evidently a few of Jesus' early followers embraced Him as a great teacher and even as God's Messiah, but as only a man. This group may have given rise to what was later known as the Ebionites. But these folk were always a tiny minority. In fact, from the earliest times, Christians of all kinds, despite whatever else they disagreed about, consistently referred to Jesus in terms that were otherwise used to refer only to God.

The Gospel writers saw Jesus as the one who came, taught, comforted, admonished, healed both body and soul, cast out demons, and was finally crucified and killed. However, this was not the end because Jesus rose again on the third day. None of the Gospel writers, of course, was writing a mere biography. Each inspired writer presents Jesus to us as a way of witnessing to some important aspect of His person and His ministry.

The Church, as it struggled with these and other issues that impinged on the question of the canon of Scripture, found an increasing commonness concerning those books considered to be acceptable. Although there was no official council or edict that proclaimed the acceptable writings, by about AD 200 there had developed something approaching a consensus on the matter. The collection of writings the Church had at this time was the same, or nearly the same, as what we today call the New Testament.

The formulation of creeds was also common during this early period of the Church. It seems that each congregation or district had its own confession of faith that was connected with the Baptism ceremony. These creeds were largely in the form of questions—"Do you believe …?"—to which was given the answer, "I believe …" Creeds were almost always threefold, following Jesus' command to baptize in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit (Mt 28:19).

As the theological battles of the second century were waged, creeds became insistent on affirming what the Gnostics and Marcionites rejected: the God we worship is the Creator; Jesus Christ really was born and really died; it is the body, not just the spirit, that is resurrected. The creed that is the mainstay of Western Christianity, the Apostles' Creed, is modeled on an ancient Roman baptismal formula, known as the Old Roman Symbol, which probably originated during the period of Irenaeus (the second century) or shortly thereafter. See note, 1Co 15:3.

Study Notes

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 called by the will of God. By grace, God calls all Christians. Similarly, God chose and appointed Paul to be an apostle. apostle. See p 1901. brother. See p 1901. Sosthenes. A Corinthian synagogue ruler (Ac 18:17) beaten by the frustrated crowd at Paul's trial.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 church. God's people in Christ, esp as they congregate in His name. See pp 1901–2. Corinth. See pp 1944–46. sanctified. Made holy, specifically in Baptism (6:11). This is God's work in the life of the sinner, through Christ, not the holiness of the person's conduct. Such people are called "saints." call upon the name. An expression common in the OT (Ps 116:13, 17), indicating the response of one called by the Gospel (Ac 2:21; Rm 10:13). See p 842.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 See pp 1899–1901.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 grace. See p 1902.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:5 enriched in Him. Usually Paul speaks of God's riches (cf Php 4:19), but here God causes His people to share in His wealth of "all speech and all knowledge." See note, 14:6.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:6 Preaching gives witness to Christ, and the Corinthians' faithful receiving of it demonstrates the Spirit's confirmation of the message.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:7 spiritual gift. See notes, 12:1, 4–6. These blessings originate in the Spirit of God. Our redemption is the chief gift (Rm 5:15) and consequently the means God has given to equip His Church to minister to one another with that gift. wait for the revealing. Anticipation for Christ's return in glory.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:8 sustain you to the end. The gift of Christ's holiness made the saints holy; therefore, they will be kept "guiltless" in His innocence until His return.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:9 God is faithful. Even when we are faithless (2Tm 2:13), God will sustain those who are "called" (see note, v 1). fellowship. The support of fellow believers. See p 1902.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4–9 Paul highlights the strengths of the congregation, strengths God extends to all believers by His grace. We rejoice in our relationship to God: He has called us and sanctified us, and

He will sustain us. • We hear Your call, heavenly Father, in the Gospel of Your Son. Keep us to the end. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10 brothers. See p 1901. agree … no divisions … united … same mind … same judgment. With repetition, Paul emphasizes the main point of his Letter. Christian unity depends on faithfulness to Christ, not chasing one's own agendas or ideas. In Php 2:1–11, Paul gives the ultimate example of sacrificing self-interest, encouraging single-mindedness among the Christians. "Both our churches and our schools should persevere in the pure doctrine of God's Word and in that longed-for and godly oneness of mind" (Preface to the Christian Book of Concord, Concordia, 5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:11 Chloe's people. Christian travelers, perhaps pursuing business on Chloe's behalf.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:12 I follow Paul … Apollos … Cephas. These leaders did not intend to attract loyalty to themselves, but groups arose with an allegiance to each. Paul was the first missionary, and perhaps his teaching was regarded as most authentic. Apollos. His teaching may have been more advanced than Paul's (cf 3:6). Cephas. Aram for "Peter"; often associated with the Jewish origins of the faith (see p 1969), Peter may have carried particular authority as a follower of Jesus in His earthly ministry. I follow Christ. The nature of the "Christ" party is not certain; the slogan disparaged believers, and so betrayed a partisan spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:13–17 Paul does not suggest that Corinthians were baptized in other people's names. Such baptisms could lead to a cult of celebrity or new sects (cf Ac 19:3, "John's baptism").

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:13 Rhetorical, sarcastic questions. Paul indicates that loyalty to him is misplaced; he is but a messenger and servant.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:15 baptized in my name. Baptism is administered in the name of the triune God, thus in Jesus' name (see note, Ac 2:38). It means being buried and raised with Christ. The logical conclusion of the "divided Christ" mentality (cf v 13) would elevate the servants into Christ's place, though they have nothing to offer of themselves.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:16 household. Gk oikos, "house"; all who lived there, including slaves and children. I do not know. Paul confesses the weakness of his memory. For Paul, it was not important that he might have baptized, but that a person was baptized into Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:17 not send … to baptize. Jesus Himself did not baptize but entrusted this to others (Jn 4:1–2). As an apostle (see p 1901), Paul emphasized his calling to preach and to plant congregations. eloquent wisdom. Paul downplays his skills as a speaker. emptied. The Gospel stands on its own and is not strengthened by rhetoric or logic. However, a speaker may use these skills in service to the Gospel.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10–17 Divisions in the Church are a denial of the one Baptism into Christ, who was crucified for all. His faithful servants preach the Gospel and are not to become objects of unhealthy devotion. The triune God alone is the object of our faith and hope. • Grant us such faithful ministers, dear Lord, who baptize and preach in Your name and authority. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18 Key note for the Letter. "The Gospel … preaches righteousness and gives the Spirit" (FC SD V 22). perishing … saved. Those who see only foolishness in the cross deny its power to save them from eternal destruction. power of God. The cross is the instrument of God's salvation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:19 This quote speaks against people who "draw near with their mouth and honor Me with their lips, while their hearts are far from Me" (Is 29:13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:20 scribe? … debater. Jewish scribes and Greek philosophers sought wisdom through debate, but they are "of this age," in contrast to God's timeless wisdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21 Human wisdom cannot lead to God, who reveals Himself in the message of the cross. "The forgiveness of sins … cannot come to us in any other way than through the Word. How would we know about it otherwise?" (LC V 31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:22 Jews demand signs. Judaism sought miraculous confirmation as God's support for messenger and message. See note, Jn 4:48. Greeks seek wisdom. The Gk for "philosophy" means "love of wisdom."

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 Christ crucified. The Jews expected a Messiah (Hbr for "Christ"), but did not expect that He should be crucified. stumbling block. Gk skandalon, a cause for offense and rejection, as in Eng "scandal."

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:24 called. See p 1901.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:25 foolishness of God. God's ways appear foolish to those who do not understand them (cf Is 55:8).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:26 calling. Life responsibilities, vocation. worldly standards. The mind, limited by earthly considerations, makes inappropriate judgments. noble birth. Though some may have acquired wealth and authority, they were not of high rank in society.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:27 shame the wise. The foolish, weak, and despised bring down and prohibit the boasting of the wise, strong, and esteemed.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:28 things that are not. Worthless things, nobodies.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:29 presence of God. God's standards are the genuine basis of judgment.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:30 Our life, spiritual and physical, comes from God. wisdom … righteousness … sanctification … redemption. See p 1904. Paul traces from God (1) revelation given in His Word, (2) the acquittal won by His Son, (3) the holiness that follows for us, and (4) full salvation from sin and death. "This happens because of the righteousness of another, namely, of Christ" (Ap V 184).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:31 boast. All gifts in v 30 are from God; therefore, all pride in ourselves is excluded. Though Jesus' death appears shameful and foolish, it is the only basis of our salvation. "We cannot boast of many merits and works, if they are viewed apart from grace and mercy" (SA III XIII 3).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18–31 We should avoid pride and boasting about anything we do for God or for others. We bring nothing but sin into our relationship with God but receive all good things from Him. • Heavenly Father, give Your people grace to recognize that all praise belongs to You alone. Amen.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1 I came to you. Cf Ac 18:1–17; Paul's second missionary journey. testimony. Paul spent 18 months in Corinth testifying that the Christ was Jesus (Ac 18:5, 11). lofty speech. See note, 1:17.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:2 The heart of the Gospel is Jesus' atoning sacrifice, "the power of God" (1:18). Paul contrasted his simpler, focused missionary message with the more complex ideas of other teachers (e.g., Apollos, Cephas).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:3 in weakness. Paul's weakness and that of his hearers emphasized God's power. in fear … trembling. There was violent opposition to his message from the Jews in Corinth (Ac 18:12–17). Paul was meek, perhaps also recalling the beating, rioting, and indifference he experienced on the mission trip (Ac 16:16–17:34).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:4 plausible words. See note, 1:17. demonstration. Miracles. The Spirit creates faith through Jesus' miraculous death, resurrection, and His gift.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:5 power. See note, 1:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1–5 The Good News is conveyed not through eloquence, but through humble messengers testifying about the cross. We look there for God's power and rest in His wisdom. • Dear Lord, thank You for revealing Yourself to me by Your cross. Receive this weak sinner and strengthen me for service. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6 mature. Well-grounded in the faith, benefiting from a deeper understanding (cf 14:20).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:7 secret. Paul's message is hidden only from a sinful and unreceptive world (cf Lk 10:21; see "mystery," p 1903). before the ages. Before creation. glory. Realized in the world to come. See p 1902.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:8 rulers. The leaders at Jerusalem or the spiritual rulers and authorities against which we contend (Eph 6:12). Lord of glory. Jesus is the embodiment of glory and the source of our glory (cf v 7). "God's Son truly suffered for us. However, He did so according to the attributes of the human nature, which He received into the unity of His divine person and made His own. He did this so that He might be able to suffer and be our High Priest for our reconciliation with God" (FC Ep VIII 14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:9 What. Miraculous acts of salvation in the OT, now surpassed by the mystery and miracles of Jesus' works. prepared. God has already provided these great things.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:10 revealed. The Spirit reveals God's mysteries through the Gospel, even through the words Paul writes. depths of God. There will always be mystery about God's person and nature, but we are given a glimpse of His ways through the cross.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:11 spirit. The immaterial aspect of a person: mind, soul, and personality. comprehends. By comparison, only God's Spirit can understand God's mind.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:12 spirit of the world. The fashionable ideology of this fallen world. things freely given. Provided by His grace. Only by the Spirit can we begin to understand His grace. "Through the Word He reveals and preaches, He illumines and enkindles hearts, so that they understand, accept, cling to, and persevere in the Word" (LC II 42).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:13 taught by the Spirit, interpreting spiritual truths. The Spirit revealed truths to the apostle and teaches us the meaning through the apostolic word He has inspired (cf 2Pt 1:21).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:14 natural person. One without God's Spirit. spiritually discerned. Accessible only through faith. "They still do not know what His mind toward them is and cannot expect any love or blessing from Him. Therefore, they abide in eternal wrath and damnation. For they do not have the Lord Christ, and, besides, are not illumined and favored by any gifts of the Holy Spirit" (LC II 66).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:15 judges all things. Refers to the spiritual assessment of every aspect of life, not necessarily condemnation. judged by no one. No "natural person" (v 14) can make spiritual judgments about a Christian.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:16 instruct Him? The Lord did not need human aid when He created the world. mind of Christ. Cf Mt 11:27.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6–16 The message of the cross is simple, but the spiritual wisdom that comes with it touches every area of life and faith. In view of this, we see unbelievers with new compassion, as people with no true spiritual comprehension. The Holy Spirit grants such understanding only through the Gospel. • Enlighten us with spiritual insight, Holy Spirit. Strengthen us to share Your Word. Amen.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1 brothers. See p 1901. spiritual … flesh. The Corinthians behaved like the "natural person" (see note, 2:14), not like believers.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:2 milk. The simple message of Christ crucified (2:2). solid food. The great depth of spiritual insight that builds upon Christ. not ready. See note, 2:6; cf Heb 6:1. Spiritual growth, like physical growth, takes time.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:3 still of the flesh. See p 1902. As they had not reached maturity, the spiritual outlook had not yet permeated the Corinthians' thinking, which helps to explain many of the difficulties experienced in their community. jealousy and strife. Markers of immaturity (cf 1:11). in a human way? As a natural, fallen person.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:4 I follow Paul. See note, 1:12.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:5 Servants through whom you believed. Faith comes through hearing the Word (Rm 10:14, 17). assigned to each. Each worker is assigned a different sphere, perhaps geographically or perhaps by type of service. Each service is equally important, a theme taken up in ch 12.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:6 planted. Sowed the Word. watered. Nurtured the faith. See note, 12:13. God gave the growth. By the Spirit's power through the Word proclaimed by the apostles.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:7 anything. Those privileged to share in this ministry may regard themselves as the world regards the Church, as nobodies (cf 1:28). "For without His grace, and if He does not grant the increase, our willing and running, our planting, sowing, and watering (1 Corinthians 3:5–7)—are all nothing" (FC Ep II 6).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:8 one. Equal and united. wages. The reward for faithful service, not implying that one can earn salvation. God's favor is unmerited (e.g., Eph 2:8). The joy of success in Christ surpasses any payment. "We teach that rewards have been offered and promised for the works of believers. We teach that good works have merit, not for forgiveness of sins, for grace, or for justification (for these we receive only through faith), but for other rewards, bodily and spiritual, in this life and after this life" (Ap V 73).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:9 God's fellow workers. As part of God's team, they participate in His work. See note, v 8. God's field, God's building. Common NT depictions of the Church (e.g., Mt 13:24–33; 1Pt 2:5). Both projects call for laborers.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:10 grace. Gk charis, generally means "God's favor" (see p 1902), but here Paul refers to God's gift of strength or ability for service. See "gifts," p 1902. given to me. Paul begins to describe his own work (cf 15:10). master builder. A competent craftsman apprenticed in his trade. foundation. The preaching of Christ (2:2; 3:11). someone else. Apollos (v 6). Some who "built" at Corinth did so inappropriately, undoing Paul's foundation (e.g., the "super-apostles," 2Co 11:5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:11 Jesus Christ. See note, 2:2.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12 Some materials are less durable than others, yet each contribution has its part (e.g., straw may be more appropriate than stone for a roof). "The 'foundation' is the true knowledge of Christ and faith. There are also many weak persons, who build upon the foundation stubble that will perish (v 12), holding certain harmful opinions. Nevertheless, because the weak do not overthrow the foundation, they are both forgiven and corrected. The writings of the Holy Fathers declare that sometimes even they built stubble upon the foundation, but that this did not overthrow their faith" (Ap VII and VIII 20–21).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:13 Day will disclose it. On Judgment Day, all people will be called to account for their work. fire will test. Fire is a means of purification. As in 1Pt 1:7, "fire" will demonstrate faithfulness. Christians understood persecution as a purifying and testing ordeal (cf 1Pt 4:12).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14 reward. The same word is translated "wages" in v 8.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:15 he himself will be saved. The person will be saved through faith in Christ, not because of work in building His Church.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:16 Do you not know. Implies that the Corinthians should know. See p 1965. you. The congregation. God's temple. In the OT, the temple was established as God's place among His people; in the NT, such a building is redundant because "God's Spirit dwells in you" as God has promised. See p 1815.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:17 God will destroy him. To destroy the "temple" is to destroy God's Church or its individual members who share the Spirit. holy. Because God dwells there. See pp 1902, 1705. "In the elect (who are justified by Christ and reconciled with God), God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit (who is the eternal and essential righteousness) dwells by faith" (FC SD III 54).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:18 wise in this age. By worldly standards (cf 1:20). become a fool. By trusting God's way.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:19–20 wisdom … folly. See p 1016. catches the wise in their craftiness. In Jb 5:13, the lowly are exalted (cf 1Co

1:18–25). Cf Ps 94:8–11.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:21 boast in men. Dividing the congregation by loyalty to a particular leader.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:22 all are yours. The Corinthians should benefit from all of God's servants, rather than being exclusively devoted to one. Cf Rm 8:32; see "heir," p 1902. "In 1 Corinthians 3, Paul makes ministers equal. He also teaches that the Church is superior to 'or: more than' the ministers. Superiority or lordship over the Church or the rest of the ministers is not attributed to Peter" (Tr 11).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:23 you are Christ's. Through Baptism in His name (6:11, 14–15, 19–20). Christ is God's. Our life, inheritance, and authority have their source in Jesus, who has His source in the Father from eternity. Cf 15:24–28.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Ch 3 There is no ground for pride in human achievement in Christ's Church. Such an attitude undermines the very nature of His gifts of salvation and service. God accomplishes everything, living in us by His Spirit. • "O Holy Spirit, enter in, and in our hearts Your work begin, Your dwelling place now make us." Amen. (LSB 913:1)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:1 regard. The apostles were not esteemed appropriately, and the situation worsened by the time of 2Co. servants … stewards. They minister on behalf of another: God. See "The Gospel and the Sacraments" (Ap XXIV 80). mysteries of God. See p 1903.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:2 trustworthy. Stewards must faithfully administer only that entrusted to them.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:3 judged by you. Cf 2:15. human court. Lit, "human day," as opposed to Judgment Day. do not even judge myself. Paul is God's servant, and only his Master's assessment matters.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:4 "Christ remains Mediator, and we should always be confident that for His sake we have a reconciled God, even though we are unworthy" (Ap V 42).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:5 do not pronounce judgment. See note, Mt 7:1. before the Lord comes. The time for judgment is not before the Son of Man comes in His glory (Mt 25:31–32), in the light of which, human judgments lose all significance. things now hidden. All the evidence, such as inner motives, will be heard (cf Pr 21:2). disclose … commendation. Until the heart is opened, there is no basis for praise. Cf 3:14–15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:6 benefit. That which follows in v 6b. beyond what is written. The words of OT Scripture or apostolic letters, which became Scripture. puffed up. Conceited and cliquish.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:7 Rhetorical questions. No people should perceive in themselves any superiority or ground for boasting as though they were self-made and independent.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:8 Paul sarcastically mimics their boasts.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:9 More sarcasm. exhibited … last of all. The last people herded through the streets in a Roman military procession were captives, condemned to death. a spectacle. Like gladiators condemned to fight to the death.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:10 Still more sarcasm. fools. Perhaps a term used by those who disparaged the apostles.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:11–13 Using hyperbole, Paul reminds them of his suffering on their behalf.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:12 working with our own hands. It was Paul's practice to support his ministry with paid work, so as not to burden his hearers (1Th 2:9). When reviled, we bless; when persecuted, we endure. Following Jesus' example, they do not render evil for evil (Mt 5:44).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:13 scum … refuse. After sweaty exercise, Greeks and Romans would sprinkle themselves with sand, then scrape themselves off with a stick as a means of removing dead skin and filth. "Spiritual fathers must be … like the filth of the world and everyone's refuse and footrag" (LC I 160).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:14 admonish … beloved children. Shaming is negative, but Paul's admonition has the constructive aim of setting things right through Law and Gospel. See p 2025.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:15 guides in Christ. See notes, Gal 3:24; 4:1–2. Paul acknowledges the legitimate role of the other teachers. fathers. Fatherhood is a lifelong commitment, a comparison emphasizing Paul's authority, patience, and forgiving attitude toward the Corinthians. They come to faith through his ministry. "The only ones called spiritual Fathers are those who govern and guide us by God's Word" (LC I 158–59).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:16 imitators. Children imitate their fathers. As Paul himself seeks to imitate Christ, those who copy him will copy Christ (11:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:17 Timothy. May be the bearer of this Letter (cf Ac 19:22). faithful child. Both the Corinthians and Timothy were "beloved" (cf v 14), but the Corinthians were not always faithful. my ways. How Paul put into practice his teaching. See p 1904. I teach them everywhere in every church. Early Christian catechesis had a uniform theme and content, as every church shared the same needs. Paul takes the Corinthians back to their catechesis repeatedly in 1Co. See p 1965.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:18 Some. Perhaps the "super-apostles" of 2Co (cf 11:5), who usurp the authority of Paul by disparaging him. coming to you. Paul is planning a visit, despite the charges of the arrogant.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:19 if the Lord wills. As Jesus prayed (Mt 26:39) and James taught (Jas 4:15), Paul qualifies his plans with the acknowledgment that they may be overridden by God's plans. their power. See note, 1:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:20 kingdom of God. A phrase rarely used in Paul's letters. See pp 1565–66. talk … power. See note, 1:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:21 Continuing the image of father and children from vv 14–15, Paul clearly favors coming with love, but it depends on the response of the Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Ch 4 People despise God's messenger because the Spirit's power is concealed in lowly, suffering leaders like Paul. The crowd always yearns for flashy leadership and despises those who teach the basics and lead by example. God sends us spiritual fathers to nurture us, entrusting to them both the Law and the Gospel for our spiritual good. • "Oh, may Thy people faithful be And in Thy pastors honor Thee And with them work and for them pray And gladly Thee in them obey." Amen. (TLH 493:3)

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Ch 5 "Truly Christian excommunication, is this: Open and hard-hearted sinners are not admitted to the Sacrament and other communion of the Church until they amend their lives and avoid sin" (SA III IX).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1 reported. Perhaps from Chloe's people (1:11). The sudden change in tone and topic suggests the report has just been received. his father's wife. Probably not incest, because she is not referred to as his mother, but relations with a stepmother, forbidden in Lv 18:8. Greek and Roman culture also rejected the practice, specifically in the Institutes of Gaius 1.63.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:2 arrogant! The same verb as "puffed up" in 4:6. Conceit was to openly flaunt shameful behavior. mourn? As over spiritual death. be removed. Excommunicated. The sinner has damaged the Church's fellowship. He must be removed. (Cf Mt 18:8.)
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:3 present in spirit. Paul still presides at Corinth. His authority and pastoral concern are undiminished. pronounced judgment. This is a practical decision about immoral behavior. Only God can condemn the sinner eternally.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:4 assembled. At worship, where the Lord promises to be present (Mt 18:20). This is a gathering of all members, not just a household congregation, because worship is the activity of the whole Church. in the name. Under the authority of the One named. my spirit is present. Representatives can carry out his administrative duties; therefore, Paul is with them in spirit.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:5 deliver this man to Satan. The only "fellowship" outside fellowship with Christ. Excommunication handed the sinner back to the ruler of this age (2:6; cf Col 1:13). This is not simply a ban from the Lord's Supper or from a leadership position. "But those who refuse to learn are to be told that they are denying Christ and do not belong to Him. They are not to be admitted to the Sacrament, accepted as sponsors at Baptism, or allowed to exercise Christian liberty in any way. They should instead be simply directed back … to Satan himself" (SC, Preface, p xxxiv). spirit may be saved. The Law and guilt will drive this man to repentance. day of the Lord. Judgment Day. See p 1079.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:6 a little leaven. A small amount of leavened dough was mixed with new dough so the yeast could spread. Cf Mk 8:15; see note, Gal 5:9
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:7 old leaven. Jesus removed all traces of leaven (sin) at Passover, so the congregation must remove all vestiges of the old carnal world (v 8). new lump. New creation in Christ (2Co 5:17). Christ, our Passover lamb. See pp 170–71; see also notes, Ex 12:7–13. sacrificed. Christ's sacrifice delivered His people from death.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:8 celebrate the festival. Not the annual Passover, but every Eucharist that proclaims the Lord's death (11:26). unleavened bread of sincerity and truth. Morally pure character, brought about by repentance and forgiveness.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:9 my letter. Earlier, unknown correspondence. associate. Gathering in congregational fellowship.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:10 Immoral company, esp evident in Corinth, could not be avoided. Members could still carry on business relations.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11 bears the name of brother. One who claims to be a fellow Christian (see p 1901). if he is guilty. His life outwardly exhibits these sins. not even to eat. Table fellowship implied a shared lifestyle or values (cf 2Jn 10). Persistent, unrepentant sinners were excommunicated. "Others, who are not such callous and wicked people, and who desire to be godly, must not absent themselves. This is true even though otherwise they are feeble and full of infirmities. For St. Hilary also has said, 'If anyone has not committed sin for which he can rightly be put out of the congregation and be considered no Christian, he ought not stay away from the Sacrament, lest he should deprive himself of life' " (LC V 59).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:12 outsiders? Those not of the household of faith. those inside the church whom you are to judge? As in v 3, Paul does not condone petty complaints, cliques, and judgmentalism. He refers to formal congregational discipline based on Law and Gospel.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:13 God judges. See notes, Rm 1:18, 24. Purge. Keep the community pure by driving out evil, as was needed in the nation of Israel. The new Israel, the Church, does this through congregational discipline rather than civil law, as under the old covenant.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Ch 5 Sins such as sexual immorality are out of place among the people of God. Christ, our Passover Lamb, has taken our sins upon Himself. Through repentance and absolution, He renews us as His undefiled creation. • Forgive our waywardness and make our hearts pure, dear Maker and Redeemer. Lead us to call one another to repentance so our congregations enjoy true peaceful fellowship at Your Holy Supper. Amen.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1 grievance. A legal complaint that requires redress. go to law. Roman legal proceedings at Corinth were held at the bema, a raised platform at the city center, surrounded by the forum courtyard and merchant shops. A Roman court proceeding (tribunal) was public, and anyone passing through the markets could have listened in or even participated in the proceedings (cf Ac 18:12–17). The congregation at Corinth may have included some important city officials, such as Erastus, the city treasurer (Rm 16:23), whose name archaeologists found on an inscription at the Corinthian theater. before … the saints? Within the Body of Christ is the option of forgiveness and reconciliation. unrighteous. Earlier, Paul contrasted the worldly and spiritual realms (2:14–16; 5:10). Worldly people presided and juried at the secular courts.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:2 saints will judge the world? Cf 2:15. Jesus promised that He would enthrone us with Him to participate in the judgment. incompetent to try trivial cases? This is a minor responsibility but a significant test of fellowship and unity.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:3 judge angels? Cf Jude 6; 2Pt 2:4. God's faithful people, though inferior in power, will nevertheless judge Satan and the wicked angels.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:4 Paul rebukes the embarrassing exposure of the congregation's weakness and inability to manage conflict. no standing in the church? In 1:28, God's elect were "despised" in the eyes of the world. Paul uses the same Gk word here to describe the status of unbelievers (v 6) with respect to God's chosen ones.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:5 shame. Guilt worked by God's Law. brothers. See p 1901.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:6 before unbelievers? Cf v 4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:7 defeat. One enters into a lawsuit with a view to winning. There are no winners when the congregation is shamed. suffer wrong? … defrauded? Enduring wrong is more victorious than to put a fellow believer under worldly authority.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:8 you yourselves wrong. Paul acknowledges the Corinthians' lack of moral superiority.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:9–10 unrighteous. Those perishing (1:18). See "righteous," p 843. inherit the kingdom. See note, 4:20. Paul lists habitual sins, which imply a life choice incompatible with the holiness of God's kingdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:11 such were some of you. God, in mercy, called the unrighteous into His kingdom. washed … sanctified … justified. Terms of salvation, used interchangeably (see pp 1903–4). Baptism makes us new creatures, holy with Christ's righteousness. "Whenever God's Word is taught, preached, heard, read, or meditated upon, then the person, day, and work are sanctified. This is not because of the outward work, but because of the Word, which makes saints of us all. Therefore, I constantly say that all our life and work must be guided by God's Word, if it is to be God-pleasing or holy" (LC I 92). in the name of the Lord Jesus … Spirit … God. Trinitarian, as is fitting with reference to Baptism.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1–11 When the old sinful nature rises to cause grievances between Christians, it also tempts us to seek satisfaction through secular processes. God calls churches to settle grievances through Law and Gospel before matters get out of hand. He has already judged us "not guilty" in view of Jesus' sacrifice, and He has washed us pure in Holy Baptism. • Spare us, Lord, from the temptation to resort to the ways of the world. Purify us, Holy Spirit, through the daily washing of repentance. Seat us, O God, in Your kingdom as people with true discernment. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12–13 The quoted words may be slogans to which Paul is responding. See "Passages and Slogans," p 1945.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12 All … lawful. An expression of freedom. not all … helpful. Freedom, however, includes the ability to make unproductive and destructive choices. enslaved. "Freedom of choice" can itself become a master if we follow our will rather than God's.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:13 Food … for the stomach. Suggests freedom from dietary laws (cf Mk 2:27). destroy both. Neither is eternal. This does not mean they are unimportant. The body … for the Lord, and the Lord for the body. The body is important to the Lord, who made it. It is a temple dedicated to God (v 19). not … for sexual immorality. Sin naturally destroys both body and soul, which even unbelievers could recognize.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:14 God raised the Lord … us. A crucial fact: the Lord cares enough for the body that He resurrects and glorifies it (cf 15:20). His power. Cf Rm 8:11.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:15–17 members. Gk melos, "limb" or "part" of a body. See p 1903. members of a prostitute? Sexual intercourse is a union so intimate that the two become one flesh (Gn 2:24). A fornicator or adulterer involves Christ and all the Church in his or her sin. Never! See note, Rm 3:4. joined to the Lord. Union with God is not crassly physical, like that with the prostitute, but spiritual (cf 3:1). See p 1965.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:18 Flee. Not a call to monasticism (cf 5:10), but a call to live in the world without accommodating its morality. outside the body. Paul is focused on self-indulgent sins (6:9–10) rather than self-destructive sins such as suicide or murder. Sexual sins uniquely involve sinning against others with the body as an instrument, in contrast with gluttony, drunkenness, etc.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:19 your body. A word to the congregation; "body" is singular and "you" is plural throughout the passage. This is a bold illustration of congregational unity with one another and with God. See pp 1944–46, 1965. a temple of the Holy Spirit. See note, 3:16. not your own. In contrast to the Corinthians' slogan (v 12), the believer is God's child, a member of His household.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:20 bought. See "redemption," p 1904; cf 1Pt 1:18–19. glorify. Not simply in personal goodness, but in faith and hope as members of Christ's Body.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12–20 Because Christ has united us with Him and with one another, immorality has no place among us. Freedom to live in Christ excludes living in opposition to Him. When we fall into sin, we can repent of the disunity we have brought. Jesus Christ will restore and renew us as His very own. • Father, be glorified in our freedom, which You grant us in Jesus. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1 Now concerning. Introduces issues to be addressed (cf v 25; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1). matters about which you wrote. At the request of the Corinthians. Cf 5:9; see "Passages and Slogans," p 1945. not to have sexual relations. Quotation marks indicate that this may be what they wrote, to which Paul gives qualified agreement.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:2 temptation. Immediately, the suggestion of v 1 raises a problem: it is impractical. own wife … own husband. Marriage, rather than celibacy, better avoids temptation. "Since our priests wanted to avoid these open scandals, they married wives and taught that it was lawful for them to enter into marriage" (AC XXIII 3).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:3 conjugal rights. "Rights," as commonly demanded, are alien to biblical thought. Spouses owe love, fidelity, and physical affection to each other.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:4 authority. Freedom is abused if exercised without taking account of one's spouse. In this sense, each spouse looks to the authority of the other. See note, Eph 5:22.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5 deprive. Fidelity carries the responsibility of giving a fulfilled physical relationship. agreement for a limited time. In Jewish tradition, abstinence for a time (as in fasting) was observed to heighten spiritual devotion. This is a matter for each couple to decide. Satan may not tempt. Satan uses any opportunity for temptation, which is frustrated by the exercise of "self-control."

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:6 concession. Paul allowed the practice of mutually agreed abstinence, but he is not representing it as a divine command. Throughout chs 7–14, Paul offers pragmatic counsel while also presenting ideal practices.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:7 as I myself am. Paul is probably not referring to being single, because the grammar implies a wish that can be achieved. He likely presents himself as an example of self-control. gift. God sets the order of each person's life by the strength He provides. Each believer is to live according to this.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:8 remain single as I am. "Single" does not appear in Gk, but probably captures Paul's intention to advise that those who are unmarried should ideally remain so. Throughout ch 7, the apostle recommends that Christians should stay as they are because of the "present distress" (v 26).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:9 better to marry. Paul is not against marriage; he appreciated the benefits of celibacy in the present circumstances. to burn. With unfulfilled sexual appetite. "Even though they abstain from the act, their hearts are so full of unchaste thoughts and evil lusts that there is a continual burning and secret suffering, which can be avoided in the married life" (LC I 215).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:10–11 not I, but the Lord. God's revealed instruction, based on Scripture. separate … divorce. Under Jewish law, only the husband had the right to divorce. Paul's counsel affirms equality in marriage, excluding divorce from the husband as from the wife. Paul's counsel against divorce is like that found in the Dead Sea Scrolls and in some rabbinic literature. remain unmarried. Cf v 8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:12–13 I, not the Lord. See note, vv 10–11. unbeliever. The non-Christian spouse still belongs to "those who are perishing" (1:18). should not divorce. Disagreement in faith does not dissolve marriage. Yet such a marriage does not change the fact that the Christian is a new creature, and the marriage partner might not agree to live with this new person.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:14 made holy. One is often led to faith through the example and testimony of a faithful spouse; therefore, they are made holy in Christ (see "saints," p 1904). your children … are holy. Children may be nurtured in faith by the believing parent. An unequal marriage does not automatically corrupt them. Rather, through receiving the Word, they are made saints clothed in Christ's holiness.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:15 separates. See note, vv 10–11. not enslaved. Marriage is, of course, a lifelong commitment, but in this case, the bond is broken by the unbelieving partner. called you to peace. The marriage in which the Christian is not accepted could be a disharmonious one.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:16 you will save. By leading another to faith. In this case, the mixed marriage would become a blessing.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1–16 Marriage brings obligations, but being in Christ forms a new being. Treasure marriage because of the blessings God provides through it. In marriage, Christians can encourage one another, non-Christians may be drawn to belief, and children can be brought up in the faith. • God, I thank You for this most precious vestige of the perfection You gave our first parents. Preserve me faithfully according to Your love and Your gifts. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:17 lead the life … assigned. In terms of work and station in life, God assigns a sacred vocation. called. Gk kaleo, "call by name," "designate." Eng "vocation" is based on the Vulg translation of this term. See p 1901. The new life in Christ does not cancel one's place in society but transforms the way it is viewed and practiced. my rule in all the churches. Paul's teaching is consistent in all of the Christian communities.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:18 remove the marks of circumcision. The intertestamental book of 1Macc (1:15) speaks of those who "made themselves uncircumcised," somehow disguising their circumcision as they participated in athletic events unclothed, as was the Gk custom. Paul's expression may imply a wider rejection of Jewish heritage. not seek circumcision. See note, Gal 5:2.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:19 counts. Outward appearances have no bearing on salvation. keeping the commandments of God. Completed by Christ. The covenant of circumcision is no longer binding.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:20 condition … called. Married or single, whichever is one's vocation (cf vv 21–24).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:21 slave. Also a calling, which could be exercised in a God-pleasing way (cf Eph 6:5–8). See p 101. Do not be concerned about it. In Christ, there is neither slave nor free (Gal 3:28), so being a slave does not affect one's position as a free child of God. gain your freedom. See p 101.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:22–23 freedman of the Lord. Cf Gal 5:1. In Christ, we are delivered from bondage to sin and death. slave of Christ … bought. Slave and free equally belong to their Redeemer (6:20). slaves of men. In Christ, we are free from bondage to human opinions and esp to their insistence on a law we cannot keep.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:24 remain with God. The summary of vv 17–23 and the new life in Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:17–24 The Lord transforms believers from our previous existence and makes us members of His household. We now live out the new life in the station to which God has appointed us. • With Your help, everlasting God, may we live our eternal life already in this passing world. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:25 betrothed. Lit, "the virgins." no command. See note, vv 10–11. my judgment. Sometimes it is necessary to make judgments where God gives no specific instruction. These matters are known as adiaphora, and the conscience, with Scripture in mind, makes its best attempt to discern what pleases God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:26 present distress. Christians faced special challenges in that hour, which Paul regarded as the last times.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:27 bound. In marriage, a man "hold[s] fast to his wife" (Gn 2:24). Do not seek a wife. Planning for marriage would be an additional responsibility in difficult times. The instruction has the character of advice (cf v 28) rather than command.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:28 betrothed woman. Eligible to marry. worldly troubles. Constant companions of Paul in his work (2Co 12:10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:29 appointed time. The end of time (cf Dn 8:19; 11:27, 29, 35).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:30 as though they were not mourning. Mourning is a temporary feature of this present world (Rv 21:4). Christians experience the pain of separation, but they understand that release from these things is assured. Therefore, they do not grieve as those who have no hope (1Th 4:13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:31 present form. Everything will be dissolved to make way for the new heavens and new earth (2Pt 3:13). passing away. Describing the end of this world (cf 2Pt 3:10).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:32 anxieties. Paul counsels against anxiety in general (Php 4:6), but these are anxieties that accompany family responsibilities. things of the Lord. Spiritual matters of individual holiness and service to God. "Neither Christ nor Paul praise virginity because it justifies, but because it is freer and less distracted by domestic occupations in praying, teaching, and serving" (Ap XXIII 40).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:33 please his wife. A healthy marriage thrives on attending the needs and wishes of one's spouse, but Jesus also set down priorities in this regard (Mt 10:37).
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:34 divided. One can love God through loving one's spouse, but if these are in conflict, one cannot serve two masters (Mt 6:24). unmarried or betrothed. Both terms describe women, the latter having never been married. holy in body and spirit. See p 1902. Pleasing God is the priority.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:35 restraint. Freedom in Christ is naturally directed by the Holy Spirit and loving concern (cf Rm 8:2). good order. Implies respectability. devotion. The Gk word is used in Scripture only here and seems to imply constant service.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:36 not behaving properly. Falling into disgraceful passions. passions. Or, lust. marry—it is no sin. Marriage is the safe and appropriate environment for such feelings.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:37 keep her as his betrothed. Perhaps marriage without sex, or a pledge of exclusive devotion without marriage and physical relationship.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:38 Singleness is not the lesser of two evils, but the superior of two God-given options under current circumstances at Corinth.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:39 bound. See note, v 27. free. See p 101. in the Lord. A variation on the formula "in Christ," which refers to what a person is or does as part of the new creation. See "in Christ," p 1903.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:40 happier. Paul's judgment, which others dispute. I too have the Spirit. Paul is careful not to present his own opinion as a divine command, yet his opinion is framed by a mind sanctified by the Holy Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:25–40 Paul outlines two blessed estates, that of marriage and that of celibacy. We are often aware of the blessings of marriage, God's unique gift that survived humanity's fall into sin. Yet there are also responsibilities with marriage, and it is particularly important for the Christian to consider these when sitting down to "count the cost" of discipleship (Lk 14:28). In the Lord and by His grace, each person is fitted to one or to the other. • Lord, help me understand my gifts and calling in accordance with Your Word and mission. O Christ, deliver me from all shame. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Chs 8–10 Questions had arisen over whether Christians should eat food sacrificed to idols. This food was eaten in a temple dining room (8:7–13; see note, 8:10), at sacrifices involving actual idol worship (10:14–22), purchased in the marketplace (10:23–26), or eaten in an unbeliever's home (10:27–30). Some in Corinth argued that idols were not real gods, so the sacrifices did not matter and the food could be eaten. Paul agreed that the idols were not real (8:4–6; 10:26), but the decision of whether to eat the food was to be based on the way that other people interpreted that action (8:10; 10:29). Because some Corinthians had formerly worshiped these idols and eaten the meals as if the god were present, their perspective, shaped by these former associations, had to be taken into account. The Corinthians' behavior had to be both faithful to God's commands and loving toward their fellow believers in Christ. The situation is different from Rm 14, where Paul instructs the Romans to stop passing judgment on one another in the matter of what foods to eat. In that context, eating or not eating was simply a matter of preference in a situation for which there is genuine Gospel freedom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1 "knowledge" puffs up. Only the person who holds it benefits. love builds up. Love guides relationships between Christians (cf ch 13), promoting mutual care.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:2 as he ought. Knowledge that does not result in love is self-delusional and false.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:3 known by God. Recognized and received by the Lord. Cf 13:12.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:4 we know. Both the apostle and those who eat idol food in Corinth share a basic knowledge about God and about idolatry. has no real existence. There is only one God; all other "so-called gods" (v 5) are mere human creations. Cf Rm 1:22–23. Some Corinthians took this "knowledge" and decided that they could eat any food that had been sacrificed to the idols because the idols were not real.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:6 one God … one Lord. This common early Christian expression focused on the Father and the Son (cf Php 2:6–11). through whom. The Son was active in the creation of life and in the new creation of faith (2Co 5:17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:7 this knowledge. That idols are nothing (v 4). former association. Some in the Corinthian Church had worshiped idols before becoming Christians. conscience. See p 1902. being weak. Because their moral outlook is not yet firmly grounded in a Christian perspective, they have a "weak" perspective on idols; they recall worshiping these very false gods. When they see someone eating idol sacrifices, they think that such people are worshiping the idol to whom it was sacrificed. defiled. They were led to sin because they think they are worshiping an idol.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:8 We are no worse off … no better off. It is not necessarily wrong to eat the food sacrificed to idols, but eating it is not beneficial because it leads away from God and harms the neighbor. "The Gospel does not advise about distinguishing clothing and meats and the giving up of property" (Ap XXVII 26).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:9 right. The conclusion of the "strong" is correct: there is no other god, so what is sacrificed to an idol is nothing (cf 10:19, 26). stumbling block. Eating this food, even though it is morally defensible, may lead others to sin (v 7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:10 eating in an idol's temple. A different situation from that in 10:14–22, where idol rituals were involved. Many Greco-Roman temples had what we would consider dining or banqueting facilities. Meals were commonly eaten there, particularly for business or social functions such as birthday or wedding celebrations.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:11 Because the new believer is led to worship what had formerly been considered a real god, the person breaks the First Commandment and is in danger of losing faith.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:12 sin against Christ. By nullifying Christ's saving work in the new believer, the strong destroy the person's faith and sin against Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:13 never eat meat. What might lead another to sin and unbelief is avoided in that person's presence. Paul took a different attitude toward those who demanded certain practices as a basis of righteousness (cf Gal 3:10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON Ch 8 The rights and the freedom of the Gospel are wrongly promoted in the Corinthian Church, leading the believers to adopt too easily the behaviors and practices of the surrounding culture. No believer has the right or freedom to destroy the faith of others, especially those whom Paul describes as weak in the faith. Faith is not a private matter. Faithful Christians will be zealous to pray for and carry out God's will that all be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth (1Tm 2:3–4). How marvelously our Savior bears with our weaknesses! Most important, He took away our sin and builds us up in love. • From selfishly seeking our own rights at the expense of others, deliver us, O Lord. From unwittingly leading Your chosen saints into sin, deliver us, O Lord. Stir us up to worship and honor You alone, and through Your Spirit use us to turn others to You. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:1 free? In Christ, no man-made laws apply (Gal 5:1). apostle? See p 1901. It would seem an apostle would have more "rights" than others, but Paul later emphasizes that even an apostle surrenders his rights for the sake of others. seen Jesus. Cf Ac 9; 1Co 15:3–11; Gal 1:12. my workmanship. The Corinthians know Christ because Paul preached the Gospel to them, thereby giving him authority to rebuke their actions. Cf 4:14–21.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:2–3 others … those. The people at Corinth who questioned Paul's authority (4:1–5; 2Co 10–12). seal. Proof that the Gospel preached by Paul is the true Gospel, hence proving his apostleship. See note, Jer 32:10.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:4 eat and drink? To receive daily sustenance so Paul could commit fully to service in the congregation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:5 take along a believing wife. On missionary trips, wives of apostles would also be supported by the congregations. Some apostles were married (e.g., Simon Peter; cf Mk 1:29–31). brothers of the Lord. Mk 6:3 names James, Joses, Judas, and Simon. James was later considered an apostle (Gal 1:19). Cephas? Peter. See note, 1:12.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:6 Barnabas. He and Paul had a disagreement (Ac 15:36–41) prior to reaching Corinth (Ac 18), but Barnabas likely also worked at a trade while he evangelized (Ac 13–14).

refrain from working. Although congregations were scripturally obligated to support the missionaries who worked among them (cf v 9), Paul and Barnabas did not accept money from the Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:7–10 Paul uses both human examples (v 7) and scriptural authority (vv 8–9) to demonstrate the missionaries' right to be financially supported by the congregations. Shepherds in the field subsisted almost solely on the flock's milk because they could not leave them to search for other resources. You shall not muzzle an ox. Paul applies Dt 25:4 ("written for our sake," v 10) to church workers (cf 1Tm 5:8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:11 sown spiritual things. Preaching of the Gospel (cf 3:5–7). reap material things. Support for the work of preaching the Gospel (vv 7–10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:12 others. Perhaps Peter or Apollos (3:5–9, 22). we have not made use of this right … obstacle. Paul's unique example of not accepting support shows that "rights" must be put aside when the faith of others may be shaken.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:13 the temple service … altar. General reference to any religious service, whether Jewish or Greco-Roman.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:14 This naturally concludes the argument of vv 8–13, but with additional reference to Jesus' teaching in Lk 10:7. The teaching applies both to the missionaries of the apostolic period and to present-day servants of the Gospel. living. The resources necessary to allow servants of the Gospel to dedicate themselves fully to their work.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:15 Paul uses himself as a positive example of not using his rights so that no one can accuse him of preaching the Gospel for his own benefit and thereby discrediting the Gospel.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:16 no ground for boasting … necessity. Paul did not choose to become a preacher of the Gospel; Christ called him directly (Gal 1:15–16; Ac 9:15–16). The glory for Paul's work belongs to Christ alone.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:17 reward. Pay (cf v 18). entrusted with a stewardship. Called by God to preach Christ (Gal 1:11–12).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:18 reward? That Christ would be preached with no tangible benefit to Paul. No one could reject the Gospel as something Paul had created for his own benefit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:19–23 Highlights Paul's complete focus on the needs of the people to whom he was preaching.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:19 made myself a servant to all. Paul was willing to give up his own habits, preferences, and rights so that nothing would keep people from responding to his preaching of the Gospel. "The community of God in every place and every time has, according to its circumstances, the good right, power, and authority to change and decrease or increase ceremonies 'that are truly adiaphora'. They should do this thoughtfully and without giving offense, in an orderly and appropriate way, whenever it is considered most profitable, most beneficial, and best for good order, Christian discipline, and the Church's edification. Furthermore, we can yield and give in with a good conscience to the weak in faith in such outward adiaphora" (FC SD X 9). Luth: "A Christian is a perfectly free lord of all, subject to none. A Christian is a perfectly dutiful servant of all, subject to all" (AE 31:344). The Gospel not only frees us from sin but also frees us for service. Every aspect of our lives (v 22) is to be adapted to the needs of others so that they might come to faith in Christ. Paul is not advocating changing the Gospel message to suit the hearers. There is only one name given under heaven by which we must be saved (1:18–31; Ac 4:12). However, the changeless Gospel empowers us to sacrifice our own rights, tastes, interests, and preferences so that others might hear the message of Christ in all its power.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:20 Jews. Though himself Jewish, Paul refers specifically to religious behaviors through which the Jews defined their relationship to God. Paul had already abandoned such rites as circumcision (7:19), food laws (8:8), and the observance of certain days (Col 2:16). However, to prevent people from dismissing his preaching of the Gospel, Paul did on occasion "practice" some of these (e.g., his circumcision of Timothy "because of the Jews" in Ac 16:3). under the law. Repeated for emphasis, showing that observance of "the Law" (as understood by Judaism) was of no value before God. not being myself under the law. Paul willingly submitted to the Law so that the Gospel might be heard.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:21 outside the law. Gentiles, i.e., non-Jews. under the law of Christ. A play on words. Paul is not "under the Law" (v 20), but neither is he lawless. Rather, he is "under the law of Christ," transformed for a life of service to God and neighbor (cf Rm 7:25; Gal 6:2, 15–16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:22 weak. See note, 8:7. Paul affirms the importance of learning about, respecting, and identifying with one's hearers in order to reach them effectively.
1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:23 blessings. Salvation and life in Christ. "Knowledge" of God is not sufficient (8:1); those who lead others to sin, and destroy their faith, sin against Christ (8:12). In so doing, they destroy their own faith.
